Entertainment Series Slate Seven Programs

Piano Team Opens This Year's Schedule Tuesday, October 27

The Entertainment Series for 1953-54 will begin with the appearance of a famous piano team of Whitehead and Lowe, on October 27, and will be followed by six other highly rated features.

Assistant Secretary James W. Butler, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, announced the booking of the Grand Theatre of Virginia, and the Associated Album of Familiar Music during the months of November and December.

The January date on the Entertainment Series will feature a name band in concert and dance. As yet, the name of the band has not been announced.

Guest artist is Anna Russell, now appearing in her own show on Broadway. The March feature is the New Crossed Singers, and Dancers. There is a tentative engagement with the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, Mr. Butler said.

There will be movies presented during the Austin Auditorium on Saturday nights unless there is conflict with a football or basketball game or some other feature attraction. When there is a conflict on Saturday night movies, will be shown on Friday night.

Church Groups Help Orientate New Students

During the 25th Annual Orientation Program for new students at East Carolina College, religious organizations on the campus and in Greenville sponsored a series of programs of welcome and fellowship.

The first of a series of weekly chapel services scheduled for the 1953-1954 term were held Tuesday evening in Austin auditorium. Dr. Carl V. Harris, director of religious activities and chairman of the chapel committee at the college, addressed the group.

Dr. Harris joined the faculty of East Carolina at the beginning of the fall quarter, September 7. He is a graduate of Mars Hill, Wake Forest, and Yale, and holds the doctor's degree from Duke. During 1947-1950 he was a faculty member at Mars Hill. Immediately before coming to East Carolina, he was connected with the Division of Corrections of the state Department of Welfare and Institutions, Richmond, Va.

Church "Get-Acquainted Night" was observed on the campus last Thursday. Dr. Harris presided at a meeting of new students and introduced to them representatives of city churches. Meetings of denominational groups followed. During the evening chapel services and a social hour were held in the Y Hut on the campus, with members of the YMCA and the YWCA of the college in charge.

Air Force Offers Graduate Study To Old Cadets

Department of the Air Force is offering an opportunity for graduate study to AFROTC students commissioned last June at ECC.

Colleges and universities having AFROTC and subdetachments were awarded 9,500 commission in June, 1953.

Air Force personnel changes will delay calling officers for active duty. Flight training officers will be called first. The remaining two-thirds will be called in three groups of 2,100 each on October 1, 1953, February 1, 1954, and May 1, 1954. Seniors scheduled to be called on May 1 who rank in the top fourth of their class will have the opportunity of graduate study in a broad range of subjects at any institution of their choice.

For additional information, interested cadets may consult Col. Fuller of the college AFROTC department.

Student Pianists Present Recital Sunday Afternoon

Walter Noona of Norfolk, Va. and Rachel Mundine of Newport, pianists and students of music at East Carolina College, will appear in recital Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Austin building. The program, sponsored by the college music department, will be open to the public.

These two students played recently in auditions conducted by the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra in Chapel Hill. Sunday's program will include concertos which they presented there. They will use a Steinway grand piano acquired this week by East Carolina College. Both are pupils of Robert Carter of the college faculty.

Walter will play Beethoven's Emperor Concerto. Rachel will present Mozart's E Flat Piano Concerto. Appearing at second piano at the recital will be Mr. Carter, with Walter, and Christopher Giles of Wake Forest, with Miss Mundine.

Walter, a senior, has given recitals on the campus, has played as soloist with the East Carolina Symphony Orchestra, and has appeared in programs before civic, cultural and social organizations throughout the state. Last spring he received recognition of his ability as a pianist when the won state and regional awards offered by the National Federation of Music Clubs and top rating in the National Piano Recording Festival sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

Rachel, a freshman, will appear Sunday for the first time under the sponsorship of the college music department. Before coming to East Carolina, she studied music under Mrs. Charles Abernethy of New Bern. Her performances as a pianist have attracted attention in music contests over this state.

The talent show featured freshmen entertainers plus upper-classmen guest performers. Mitchell Saieed, president of the Student Government Association, was the master of ceremonies.

Gipsy Wrenn from Salisbury sang "Everything I Have Is Yours." Ed and Bob Powell, brothers from Petersburg, Va., performed acrobatics. Frank Bodkin from Greenville sang "Embraceable You." O. D. Gilley sang "Nevertheless."

Bruce Phillips portrayed a Negro preacher and Emo Boado imitated Joe Lewis. These two then teamed for a rendition of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

Between performances the Collegians played several selections and also rendered a few concert pieces as part of the talent show.

At the end of the show Dr. Kenneth Cuthbert, head of the Music Department, led everyone in group singing accompanied by George Perry at the piano.

Refreshments and a dance followed.

Deadline To Drop Courses Announced

Dr. Orval L. Phillips, registrar, announces that October 7 is the last day for dropping a course without receiving a five on the subject. He asks that all students officially drop the course with his office.

If the student does not notify the registrar's office of the course dropped he will automatically receive a five on the course. Wednesday of this week was the last day to drop-add a course.

Get Your Idea Cards

There will be no more identification cards issued after next Tuesday, September 22, Billy Laughinghouse, SGA treasurer, said.

If a person loses his identification card they will have to stop by the Budget office and pick up a ticket for each event. This was passed by the SGA legislature at their meeting Wednesday night. Students who have not received their ID card must bring their schedule cards with them.

A student may purchase one student guest card for each game for $1 from the Budget office.

In order for students to gain admission into the stadium and into the student stands for football games, they must have their own student identification cards with their signature on it.

No one will be admitted without this card except by buying a ticket. If someone presents a ticket other than his own, it will be confiscated.

'East Carolinian' Staff Convenes; Greets Newcomers

Plans for operation of the "East Carolinian," college weekly, were discussed Monday night when returning staff members and new members met in the basement of Austin building.

Various aspects of newspaper work were explained. T. Parker Maddrey, editor, greeted the newcomers of the staff and assigned stories to all members. Dr. Clinton Prewett, director of student personnel, addressed the members in telling them the advantages of working on a college paper.

Refreshments were served to the approximately 25 old and new members.

Several from last year's staff were present. Among these were Emily Boyce, Rich Square; Faye O'Neal, Selma; Kay Johnston, Nashville; Bob Hildrup, Fredericksburg, Va.; and Bruce Phillips, Raeford.

New members included Betty Carol Barnes, Spring Hope; Jackie Stephens, Raleigh; William G. Spivey, Jackson; Pat Humphrey, Kinston; Joyce Smith, Selma; Erolyn Blount, Nashville; Marilyn Weeks, Fayetteville; Margaret Anne Mellon, Winterville; Margaret Evans, Greenville; Betty Salmons, Creeds, Va.; Frances Williamson, Cerro Gordo; Faye Lanier, Burgaw; Annie Zawaski, Burgaw; and Eugene Hayman, Coinjock.

Marine Reserve Takes Dropped AFROTC Cadets

An officer from the NEOTC, Marine branch, Quantico, Va., was here yesterday to give examinations to former AFROTC cadets here and others interested in the Marine Corps.

Col. Roger Fuller, head of the Air Science and Tactics department here, said that he did not know how many cadets had dropped from the department since the new flight regulations was put in effect.

Forty-five Join
Forty-five students here are planning for a commission in the Marine Corps. All freshmen, sophomores, and juniors go to Quantico, Virginia, six weeks for two summers. Upon graduation from college and the successful completion of the two summer terms, these men will become sergeants. The seniors will become second lieutenants after the completion of a similar ten week course for two summer terms.

All new East Carolina Marine lieutenants will attend a special officers school for five months in various parts of the United States.

Taking Of Individual Pictures For Yearbook Begins Monday

Photographers will be here Monday to begin the taking of individual pictures for the 1954 "Buccaneer," according to Editors Mildred Reynolds and Torale Lupton.

A group of approximately 30 persons attended the first weekly meeting of the annual staff Monday night. Assignments were made to some of the members and others were told that they would receive assignments at the next meeting.

Plans call for the photographer to begin snapping shots at 2 p.m. Monday and to work through 5 p.m. After the opening day work will begin each morning at 9 a.m. and continue through 5 p.m., with an hour off for lunch from 12 noon to 1 p.m.

Each individual sitting will take approximately three minutes, as the photographer will take four different poses. Five persons should sign up to have pictures taken every fifteen minutes.

All persons should sign up for having individual pictures taken in the East Office lobby on posters that will be on the bulletin board.

National Group Installs Club On Local Campus

East Carolina College has a new club. On Tuesday evening a number of business education majors met in Flanagan Auditorium and organized a local chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America. This organization replaces the old Commerce Club.

The FBLA is a national organization for students in business education. It is sponsored by the United Business Education Association, which is a department of the National Education Association with headquarters in Washington, D. C. Included among the purposes of the FBLA are developing competent, aggressive business leadership; strengthening the confidence of young men and women in themselves and their work; creating more interest and understanding in the intelligent choice of business occupations; and the developing of character and training for youthful citizenship.

During the business meeting the constitution was adopted and committee appointments were made by the president, Julian Vainright, Betty Sue Branch, vice-president of the organization, was in charge of the program and presented a humorous skit "Maizie at the Office." Yvonne Blackwell played the part of the hapless Maizie.

Other officers of the club are: secretary, Faye Jones; treasurer, Howard Rooks; East Carolinian reporter, Bobbie Lou Avant; Buccaneer reporter, Airlie Barbour; parliamentarian, Kenneth Bordeaux. Faculty sponsors are Dr. White and Mr. Cameron.

Homecoming Queen
A Homecoming Queen will be elected this year for the first time. This queen will be elected by the student body in a general election soon. Dormitories and Day Student counselors will submit one candidate from their group. Pictures of each candidate will be placed in the post office lobby.

There will be three prizes for the best floats this year. The prizes will be $25, $15 and $5. Last year there was only one prize offered which was $15.

Possibilities for a Friday night dance before Homecoming Day will be looked into by the committee.

Budget Changes Officers
At the meeting changes were made in the officers of the Budget office. Ann Bynum, who will graduate in August, resigned her position as first assistant treasurer. Since Billy Laughinghouse, treasurer, will graduate in May and the incoming treasurer for the year 1954-1955 must have served one quarter as first assistant treasurer, Ann consented to resign in order that the candidate of next year will have met the requirements.

Third Assistant Treasurer Howard Rooks was elected to fill the vacancy. Ann was elected as third assistant treasurer. Milton Foley remained as second assistant treasurer.

Dr. Kenneth Cuthbert's new college fight song, "East Carolina Victory," was approved by the legislature and is to be printed in next year's Student Handbook.

Other Business
A committee was appointed to investigate possibilities of arranging a schedule for all organizations to hold their meetings on non-conflicting dates. Gene Russ, Mairied Morris and Janie Parker were appointed to this committee.

Wade Cooper was appointed as a committee of one to investigate transportation to Florida for two football games played there by the Pirates for interested supporters from the student body and possibly the college band.

President Mitchell Saieed announced that the Veterans club's Victory Bell would be up by Homecoming according to his report from the club's president, Fred Joseph.

Dr. H. A. Coleman, social studies professor, was elected as a faculty advisor for the Student Legislature in the absence of Dr. Robert Holt, who resigned from the faculty last spring.

The legislature approved Herbert Carter's request for $150 for band uniforms. The drum major will receive a new uniform from these funds.

Freshmen Elect Class Officers On Wednesday

Freshmen began organization of their class for 1953-1954 and nominated candidates for major offices at a meeting Tuesday of this week in the Austin auditorium.

Mitchell Saieed, president of the Student Government association at the college, presided at the meeting. William Penul of Goldsboro, representing the SGA as chairman of the freshman elections committee, assisted the new students in conducting nominations and outlined SGA rules and regulations regarding voting.

Balloting will take place next Wednesday, from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. in the lobby of the South Dining hall. Candidates for office have already begun their campaigns, and freshmen are taking a lively interest in choosing their class officers.

SGA Talks Homecoming Plans; Budget Officers Swap Posts

by Betty Salmons
Charlie Klutz was named general chairman of the Homecoming committee by the Student Legislature Wednesday night.

Other plans were discussed at the meeting for the event slated Saturday, October 10.

Serving with Charlie on the committee will be Bob Neilson as parade committee chairman. A Homecoming committee was elected composing seven members, Sue Cooke, Ann Bowles, Bob Pennington, Jane Kanoy, Louis Clark, Ann Butler, and the president of the freshman class.

Homecoming Queen
A Homecoming Queen will be elected this year for the first time. This queen will be elected by the student body in a general election soon. Dormitories and Day Student counselors will submit one candidate from their group. Pictures of each candidate will be placed in the post office lobby.

There will be three prizes for the best floats this year. The prizes will be $25, $15 and $5. Last year there was only one prize offered which was $15.

Alumni Set Event For October 10; Plans Underway

Preparations are being made for the 1953 Homecoming Day, Saturday, October 10, reports Alumni Secretary James W. Dotler, chairman of the Homecoming committee.

Alumni of East Carolina College are expected to return to the East Carolina College campus in large numbers.

Most of the day will be devoted to the reunion of the faculty and the students with the alumni, the committee announced.

There will be a meeting of the alumni committee at 11:00 a.m. with president James L. Whitfield presiding, officers and chapter presidents will attend. The alumni luncheon will be held in the North dining hall at 12:45.

The Homecoming Parade will begin at 3 p. m. There will probably be five high school bands participating in the parade. A large number of floats are expected also.

In the evening there will be a football game against an old conference rival, Elon. A dance will follow in Wright auditorium.

Students here are also making preparations for the annual event. Charlie Klutz, recently appointed general chairman of the student committee, reports that he and the committee are gathering ideas and plans "for a big day."

Dormitories and the "Y" Shop will be decorated. Judges will decide the best decorated dorm.

101 EC Seniors Practice Teach During Quarter

East Carolina College launched this week its fall program of student teaching when 101 seniors began work as instructors in public school classrooms.

They have assignments in 13 schools in Greenville and other towns in Eastern North Carolina.

Dr. J. L. Oppelt, director of student teaching and placement at the college, is coordinator of the program. Supervising teachers from the college faculty and from the public schools concerned direct the activities of the seniors preparing themselves for careers in education.

The present group of student teachers from the college includes 66 women and 35 men. Thirty-one are doing full-time work in the elementary and grammar school including grades one through eight. Four of the seniors, majors in the college department of music, are dividing their time between the Greenville High School and the campus Training School so as to gain experience on all levels of instruction in public school music.

Sixty-six of the student teachers are working in eleven high school areas of instruction. Their subjects include art, business education, English, home economics, industrial arts, mathematics, music, physical education, science, Spanish and the social studies.

Schools where East Carolina seniors are now gaining experience are the Greenville High School, the Training School at the college, and high schools at Ayden, Belvoir, Chisold, Winterville, Farmville, Washington, Fremont, Kinston, Tarboro and Robertsonville.

Life Saving Course Set For Fall Quarter

The Senior Red Cross life saving course will be offered this quarter. Those students interested may give their names to Nell Stallings or Dr. Charles DeShaw of the physical education department as soon as possible. Candidates for the course must be 14 years of age to take the course, which will be held in the college swimming pool.

The Red Cross water safety instructor course will be offered in the spring quarter. Qualifications for taking this course will be the same as for the life saving course.

No Entertainment Kicks, Please

In our opinion the Entertainment Series schedule released today (see story on Page 1) is one of the best here in recent years.

Jim Butler, Alumni secretary and chairman of the Entertainment Committee, has attempted to arrange the schedule in good faith with the selections chosen by the student body in last Spring's balloting.

Now that the schedule has been released some students will doubtless complain that the program, in one way or the other, does not suit their tastes. It must be remembered, however, that the student body selected the 1953-54 Series and if it proves unsatisfactory then we students can blame none other than ourselves.

A large number of students felt that the 1952-53 Series was not quite on par with their desires and said so in no uncertain terms. There can be no excuse for that kind of comment this year.

It would be well to remember that, when the opportunity to vote for this year's entertainments was presented to us last spring, less than 500 students took advantage of it.

The proposed program this year is a good one. Let's hope we all find it enjoyable. RPH

Parking Problem Solution

East Carolina has a parking problem. There are over 300 student cars registered and a number of uncounted faculty vehicles. In all probability there are a lot of unregistered student cars. Where do all these cars park?

Quite a number of them are parked in illegal parking zones which blocks traffic or pins in other cars. Cars parked in illegal zones in front of the dormitories present a serious problem. In case of an emergency there has to be a place for an ambulance or a fire truck to park. We hope that there will be no such calls for emergency, but a vacant spot should be available at all times if one arises.

Dr. Clinton Prewett, director of student personnel, said the only real solution to the parking problem would be cooperation among student and faculty members with cars. That is, there are plenty of spaces on adjoining streets of the campus and around dormitories to park. If students left their cars parked near their dorms and walked the short distance to classes it would also help eliminate the problem, he added.

Owners of cars parked in illegal zones will receive tickets. This action is enforced and violators must pay fines, he said.
Dr. Prewett informed us that the college engineer and architect are now working on plans to add two additional parking zones on campus. These zones will be constructed similar to those of the gym and Slay Hall. One will be established behind Austin next to the old Home Management building. The other will be near Flanagan on the Arboretum side.

Until these are constructed, the only real solution of the parking situation we know is to follow Dr. Prewett's plan of cooperation.

Are You An Alcoholic?

(From the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church Clippingsheet)

Who, me? Yes, you!
Do you drink because you "need" alcohol to overcome shyness or the "blues"? If you find you "need" it, Mister, you had better let it alone; you are in danger.

Do your friends appear to have noticed that you unduly enjoy drinking in company?

Have you ever had a twinge of conscience after drinking? If you have, just remember what your conscience is for.

Have you checked up on how much money you are spending for liquor?

If you had the money you have spent for liquor during the past year in the bank, would it have your self-respect?

Do you find yourself drinking with those who are not your equal in intelligence and character?

How about your ambition? Is it getting a bit bedraggled?

Think this one twice: Have you ever had a memory as a result of drinking?

Are your answers these questions won't do you any good? If the answers look unsatisfactory to you, don't take our 30-day test: Let liquor—

—be your enemy in doing this, you'd better stop and stay stopped, because you

Ye Editor's Say

by T. Parker Maddrey

After three months out of college life for some of us, it's a little difficult to get back into the old routine. One routine, studying, is a little hard to jump back into all at once, but the library was filled this week. This is a little unusual for the beginning of the quarter. As a rule the library has its biggest business during the exam season. But more power to you studious students!

Another thing that worries us is remembering people from the '52-'53 term. It is embarrassing to meet an old classmate and says, "Hi John, I mean Bill—Jack—Tom—er—Bill." And then get a reply, "I'm Fred, remember?" Maybe after a few weeks everybody will be known to each other again and can reminisce over last year's good times.

Professors can relate amusing things in their classes to supplement the text-book knowledge. This week a professor was reading an old news story about a fellow shooting another on account that the latter had insulted the former's dog.

In government class we were told that a certain African tribe in the 19th century required their women to weigh 200 pounds to be eligible for marriage. It was the law. It's a shame that Doc Kinsey and Co. wasn't around in those days.

These Alpha Phi Omega boys really did a commendable job during registration as well as many volunteer upperclassmen. Dr. Orval Phillips, registrar, said that registration "ran the smoothest" he had ever seen and extended his praises to those who assisted freshman registration.

Another word of praise goes to "East Carolinian" staff members who returned early to put out an issue the first week of school. Bob Hilldrup, sports editor, Emily Boyce, feature writer, Edna Massad and Faye Jones of the business staff, and Tommie Lupton, advisor, made the first edition possible.

There was a large turnout for the staff meeting Monday night with a lot of freshmen offering their assistance for the coming year. If any of you missed our meeting and would like to join our staff, just drop by the office anytime. There is always room for more journalists.

Excuse us, please, F. D. Duncan, college treasurer, informs us that there were two errors in last week's issue. The proposed two new dormitories on campus will be ready probably in the summer of 1955 instead of the summer of 1954. There will be an approximate total of 60 phones all together instead of an additional 60 when the switchboard is installed on campus. This does not include pay phones. This will mean adding about 25 new phones to the present number. Mr. Duncan adds that the switchboard should be ready by the latter part of next week.

We regret these errors and will be happy to correct any that are brought to our attention.

Couple Of The Week

by Kay Johnston

This week's couple are two seniors of whom most of us are already acquainted, for they are none other than Gail Dorsy, a redhead from Wilmington, and W. C. Sanderson (better known as Sandy) from Seven Springs.

Gail and Sandy have been going together since last October. "I was on my way home from the dining hall," Gail said, "when I was confronted by a rather tired looking boy changing a flat tire. This tired looking boy turned out to be Sandy, who managed to leave his manual labor long enough to ask me for a date. Since I had never met him, I thought he was just kidding, but I was very glad to find that he wasn't!"

Sandy, a baseball player, holds the position of first baseman. (Gail, it seems, has made first base too!) Rain or shine, Gail can usually be seen on the eighth row, fourth seat on the bleachers, yelling her head off for the Pirates, but especially for one.

"We always have fun together," Gail said, "but we particularly enjoy fishing. I certainly do wish ECC would install a few fishing ponds around here!"

Well, Gail and Sandy, here's wishing luck to you on your love life as well as your fishing!

(Editor's note: By being named "Couple of the Week," Gail and Sandy will each be given a carton of Chesterfields, a free pass to the Pitt theatre, a free meal at the Olde Towne Inn and an item from Saslow's Jewellers.)

Who's Who At East Carolina

by Kay Johnston

Barbara Moore, a brunette from Raleigh, is our choice for this week's Who's Who. Barbara, who is 21 years old, is a senior and a grammar grade major (which will probably be a great disappointment to many a high school male).

Barbara graduated from Hugh Morrison High School and attended Meredith College for one year before coming to ECC. She thinks that her Alma Mater is "the greatest" and plans to begin work on her Master's degree after her graduation this winter quarter. "I'm really looking forward to practice teaching winter quarter," Barbara said, "for I've always wanted to teach and I know I'm going to enjoy it."

A lover of all sports, and a member of the WAA, Barbara particularly enjoys participating in swimming and tennis. Watching football and basketball are two of her favorite pastimes also.

Many Activities
Since coming to ECC, Barbara has become a very outstanding student and takes all of her studies very seriously. However, she has still found plenty of time to take part to and excel in many extra activities. She is a member of the Student Government, the WAA, the YWCA and the FTA. She was president of Cotten Hall during the year 1951-'52, and was the president of the Woman's Judiciary during the year '52-'53.

In the May Court last year, Barbara was an attendant. Some of her better friends have nick-named her "Pretty" (which is a rare compliment coming from the female species, for most girls are rather stingy when handing out compliments to one of their own sex!) Barbara's sweet personality and consideration of others has won her many friends at ECC.

Plans For Family
Of course Barbara, like most average American girls, intends to marry, settle down and have children of her own. "I hope the education that I've had dealing with children, and my experiences teaching them will help with the many problems that I'm sure to come up against, when I begin raising my own children," Barbara stated.

When Barbara leaves ECC she will be greatly missed by her instructors as well as her friends, but her outstanding record and character will not be forgotten.

Cuthbert's New College Song Introduces Tomorrow's Game

by Veleria Shearon

"Stand up and cheer for East Carolina!" The words are already ringing in many East Carolinian's ears. However, in case you have not heard the good news, here it is: East Carolina has a brand new school song. For this latest musical contribution, we are indebted to our music department head, Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert.

When asked to tell us the story of the song, Dr. Cuthbert modestly confirmed the fact that the accomplishment was achieved at 2 a.m. after some hours of sleeplessness. This occurred during the last session of summer school. The melody is original.

The first two lines:
"Stand up and cheer for East Carolina;

Get up and yell for victory."

and the last two lines:
"So for the Purple and Gold, we will fight! Fight! Fight! Hey!

Fight on to victory!"

are his own, but he gives the students in music fundamentals class credit for the four intervening lines.

On Saturday night at the first football game, the song will be introduced just before game time. To aid in the introduction the Men's Varsity Glee Club, accompanied by the College Band, will let the words and music fly. Students are urged to clip the words, which are printed below, and bring them to the game.
East Carolina Victory is snappy

Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert

and loaded with spirit and enthusiasm. Says Dr. Cuthbert, "I hope they like it."

East Carolina Victory
Words and Music, Dr. K. N. Cuthbert
Stand up and cheer for East Carolina;
Get up and yell for victory.
Old Pirate Team, there is no finer,
Fight on for Pirate History.
Go out and win for East Carolina,
For win or lose we're all for you.
So for the Purple and Gold, we will Fight; Fight! Fight! Hey!
Fight on to victory.

Two 'Latin Lovers' Available To Girls Here, Writers Find

by Anne George

"American girls are friendly!" exclaims Fernando Lazarus Cerrato, freshman student from Honduras, a quaint country in Central America settled by the Spaniards three centuries ago.

Fernando first became interested in East Carolina College while attending Louisiana State University, where he took a seven-week course in English. There he met Dr. Thompson, director of Latin American students, who recommended East Carolina, as it offered the two-year accounting course, Fernando's major.

"The United States is a great country, especially the steaks, football, Dixieland music, poker and the women!" He added, "Also I'm a Charleston fan."
Before coming to East Carolina he went to the Instituto Central de Varones for ten years and the Instituto San Francisco in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, for two years.

The freedom offered in the United States' colleges impressed him, as in Honduras they separate the girls and boys and chaperones are ever present.

Fernando's father owns a coffee plantation in Honduras. His older brother attends Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, New York, where he is studying civil engineering.

particular size band, and "Discourse in F," written by Bill Glasgow, a former student at ECC, has been adopted as the theme song.

Another activity of the Collegians has been recording for the Greenville radio station. This work was done last year, but the recordings have been featured on a Greenville disc jockey show.

by Cecil Roberson

We have with us this year a South American, Oscar Rota, from Lima, Peru. Oscar, a freshman, complimented the college highly as being the best and the students as being the friendliest he has seen.

He is five feet 11 inches tall, with black hair and dark skin. He likes South American music, car races, tennis, swimming and most of all, dating girls.

His room-mate, Fernando Lazarus, is a native of Honduras, Central America. Girls! This is your chance to date a couple of Latin lovers. Oscar's dislikes are none. His favorite movie actress is the one and only Marilyn Monroe.

TIMELY TOPICS

By Bob Hilldrup

Now that the Korean war has ended and many of the prisoners of war are on their way home, the people of the United Nations can look back on three years of hardship, misery and death to see what has been accomplished.

For whatever history may record, the United States must accept the responsibility. The backbone of the western nations, America was the first to assist the Republic of South Korea following the June 25, 1950 attack and constantly provided more soldiers, more materiel and more leadership than any other nation involved.

And now that the fighting has ended and more peace discussions are slated, it becomes more and more apparent that the principles for which our nation has always stood have been violated. In other words, though the shooting may have ceased and the Communist armies badly mauled, the United Nations has done but a half-way job in Korea.

The fault does not lie with the military of any of the Western forces engaged in Korea. It is the politicians, both national and international, who are to blame for the type of war that was fought in Korea.

For three long and bloody years men fought—and died—believing that their ultimate goal was victory. And yet, apparently from the start, this was not to be.

General James Van Fleet, former commander of the 8th Army in Korea, told recently in a Reader's Digest article of the frustrating feeling that comes when victory is not the goal. This belief that if one fights, one must fight to win, was not only shared by the 8th Army commander but by millions of others as well. A fitting tribute for the United Nations cemeteries—These Dead Did Die In Vain.

How silly the whole prospect sounds when we compare it with an everyday incident such as a football game. Who ever heard of a team which, when playing away from home, was afraid to defeat their opponents for fear of what the spectators might do to them?

That, it seems to us, is the history of Korea. The politicians of the United Nations and of America have let the South Koreans down.

A jumbled mess, the Korean situation has been. It has been personified by courage on the battlefield and cowardice on the political front. And Syngman Rhee—what of this man who has devoted his life to the basic principles of democracy?

For 78 years he has set as his goal the unity of Korea. May Americans be ashamed that one of another race can practice the words of Lincoln, "a house divided against itself cannot stand," better than we.

POT POURRI

by Emily S. Boyce

The resolution made for the continuance of Pot Pourri for this coming year was made unanimous during the last staff meeting. So once again the author will be pounding out copy and comments on a grand variety of subjects every week. Some of the articles may be dull and some interesting, but they will be different. Try following this column, readers; who knows, you may even like it.

The following letter is from an enthusiastic junior. She welcomes the freshman such . . . and the author of this column welcomes the freshman by printing it.

September 17, 1953

Dear Freshman,

We are glad to have you with us and issue you a hearty welcome! Since it has been almost three years since I was one of you, I am simply bursting to tell you of my discovery. Why I have found a most marvelous family and we all belong to it! A family maybe you didn't know existed, but now a family that every one of you are a major part of. It's a family you will be proud of—you guessed it, it's East Carolina College! The family is rather unusual, but do we have fun.

The Student Government Association and the school faculty make up the head of the family. Being the representative and controlling body, they are always eager to help those who need help and they take grand care of us. What fine parents they are!

The Seniors are the oldest group with us. They have struggled amid studies and fun to the top of the ladder. They are the old timers, firmly settled in various clubs, organizations and manage to find time to have a grand time their last year here. The biggest worry of the Seniors lies in practice teaching and checking all records to make sure they will graduate at the appointed time. They'll be leaving us soon, leaving a perfect family.

The Juniors have been with us for over two years. Just long enough to start thinking about having to leave. They have a lot to think about these days, finishing up required courses, spelling tests and dances and football games. They are interested in the entertainment series in the selection of their electives, in a great many things. The Junior-Senior Dance is coming up!

Oh, the Sophomores have pulled through the Freshman year and still belong with us. They have completed the required frosh courses and are working at their major. They are glad to be back with the family once more.

Freshman, you are just beginning to become acquainted with the family here at ECC. We are glad to have you with us and before long we hope you will recognize the closely knit family that you now belong to as one of the best ever! Good luck to every one of you.

Sincerely,
A Junior

A regrettable misunderstanding concerning cheerleaders at the Pirates' football games during the 1953 season arose this week.

First reports which circulated on campus indicated that an order from the Administration building had been issued which said that the girl cheerleaders were to be replaced by boys.

This is not the case.

It has long been the wish of certain groups on campus that the cheerleading squad be composed of boys as well as girls and it was a re-emphasis of this issue that brought about the misunderstanding.

The upshot of the issue forced cancellation of the scheduled cheerleader tryouts Monday night and cheerless has thrown the girls off their schedule of preparations for tomorrow night's opening game.

the switch back to the single platoon is one of the best things that's ever happened to the great American game.

Whatever the case, let's hope that the entire student body is on hand tomorrow as the Bucs inaugurate the 1953 season. We're giving Wilson and 12—any takers?

Gymnasium Pool Prepared For Use Every Week Day

Dr. Charles DeShaw, of the Athletic department, has announced that the swimming pool in the college gymnasium is now open for student use. All students are urged to make use of the pool.

It will open from 4 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Swimming suits will be furnished by the physical education department. These suits will be regulation and no other suits will be allowed in the pool. There will be no laundry fee as was charged last year. Girls also must wear bathing caps.

Specific regulations as formulated by the physical education department are as follows:

1. Admission to the pool is refused to all persons having any contagious disease, infectious condition, such as colds, ringworms, fevers, foot infections, skin lesions, pimples, inflamed eyes, ear discharges, or any other condition which has the appearance of being infectious.

2. No food, drinks, chewing gum or tobacco will be allowed in the pool.

3. All persons will be required to take a shower in the nude with soap and warm water before being allowed in the pool.

The Veterans Club of East Carolina is well on their way toward the end of their project of erecting a "Victory Bell" near the gymnasium. The bell, which should be completed in time for Homecoming, will be used to celebrate each win by East Carolina athletic squads.

Congratulations to the Vets for their contribution.

Another item sorely needed at East Carolina for quite a while has been installed in the lobby of Memorial Gym. A trophy case, donated by the EPCU campus "service" fraternity, is now receiving its final touches and soon will be displaying awards won by the Pirates over the past 20 years.

Tomorrow night area sports fans will get a look at which pre-season experts have tabbed "the greatest Pirate" football squad in East Carolina history." An added attraction to the opening night festivities, will be the return of one-platoon football for the first time in several seasons.

From where we sit it appears that *Indicates lettermen.

Note: This roster was compiled early in the season. Therefore it may not be complete or may carry names of players no longer on the varsity squad.

We flip on a jersey, helmet-up, fall in behind the typewriter, pluck in the gridiron ribbon, roll up our sleeves and commence to give you this analysis of the coming Pirate pigskin panorama!

Tomorrow evening about eight Coach Jack Boone will have a dynamite charge set to go off against the invading Wilson Teachers. The 1953 edition of the Purple and Gold has been tabbed as the favorites in the North State conference. In the clear, cut-and-dried words of the experts "East Carolina is loaded!" Barring a catastrophe, the Pirates should run through the conference like a dose of salts (or like an army of locusts through a wheat field, anyway).

Coming back to the powder in Coach Boone's charge tomorrow night—the veteran talent on hand, plus the array of freshman is as plentiful as corn pone at fish fry. The tutoring staff will depend on some of these prep recruits to add depth to the club.

Here is a spot-check of the more promising newcomers: At end is Bill Cain, who has shown agility and art at snagging passes. Ray Pennington and Charles Helms, a couple of boys with plenty of altitude, also have looked good in practice. Two hefty, Don Larimore and Ray Overton, head the freshman candidates at the tackles. Both like to mix it up and have fine potential.

Paul Popov, Tom Kermon, William Chadwick and Anwer Joseph are the frosh guards with ability. All boys are fast and have played hard in recent drills.

Two smart ball players who may someday step into the drivers seat at quarterback for the Buccaneers are William Hux, a six-footer from Weldon, and Boyd Hooper of Reidsville. Coach Mallory has a fresh flock of seat-backs in Robert Gay, Bob Perry and Tommy Brisson. Howard McAdams, a Rocky Mount lad, is the only reputable freshman fullback nominee.

Washington Eleven Engages Pirates At College Stadium

Pirates Listed As NS Favorites In Bid For Crown

Pre-season favorites. That's the role into which the East Carolina Pirates have stepped as the North State Conference prepares for its first round of games this weekend.

The Pirates, who are the unanimous choice of conference coaches, have a squad containing 26 lettermen and a host of standout freshmen.

Catawba, which is coached by Clyde Biggers, last year's line coach at East Carolina, and Appalachian figure to be the other two squads capable of upsetting the Pirates' apple-cart.

Elon and Western Carolina both rank as "dark horses" with Guilford bringing up the rear.

Tomorrow's schedule: Guilford vs. Appalachian, at Winston-Salem.

Catawba vs. VMI, at Lexington, Va.

Elon vs. Norfolk Naval Air Station, at Elon.

Lenoir Rhyne vs. Wofford, at Hickory.

Western Carolina vs. Carson-Newman, at Cullowhee.

East Carolina vs. Wilson Teachers, at Greenville.

Prep Stars Start At East Carolina

Coach Howard Porter, basketball mentor at East Carolina, said today that six top-notch former prep basketball stars had enrolled here.

They are: Don Harris, of Laurinburg; Waverly Akins, of Oak Ridge; Ronald Hodges, of Oak Ridge; E. W. Busk, of Oak Ridge; Fred Anders, of Durham; and Lemuel Cox, of Goldsboro.

Harris is generally rated as the top prospect, having been named All-State for two years in a row by the Greensboro Daily News.

Despite their top billing as high school stars, the six may find it difficult in their battle for starting positions on the Buc squad. Only loss, and that a heavy one, sustained by the locals through graduation was Sonny Russell, All-State and All-Conference forward from New Bern.

Practice for the cagers is slated to begin October 5. Last year the locals bowed out in the semi-finals of the North State Conference Tournament but won the NAIA District Tourney and competed in the national playoffs at Kansas City, Kan.

The East Carolina College Pirates open their 1953 football schedule tomorrow night at College Stadium by playing host to Wilson Teachers College of Washington, D. C. Game time is 8 p. m.

The game marks the first meeting on the gridiron between the two schools. The teams have met previously in both baseball and basketball.

Little information is to be had concerning the strength of the visitors ball club, but it is known that they generally manage to hold their own with squads composing the Mason-Dixon conference from Virginia and Maryland.

A capacity crowd is expected for the clash and will probably fill the 1,360 new seats installed on the west side of the field by the Pirates Club, booster organization for campus athletics. The new grandstand is being installed to seat the student cheering section with the east grandstand, formerly the student section, being turned over to the general public.

Running from a "T" formation the Buccaneers, sparked by sophomore quarterback Dick Cherry, will attempt to start an even more successful season than 1952 when they posted a regular season mark of 6-2-2.

Final plans as to the starting lineup have not been set but Head Coach Jack Boone will probably open with Al Habit and Bobby Hodges, at ends; Johnny Brown and Willie Holland at the tackles; George Tucker and Don Burton at guards; and Louis Hallow at center. The probable starting backfield will be Cherry at quarterback, Paul Gay and John (Tippy) Hayes at the halves and hard-charging Claude King at fullback.

Among the many other players who will no doubt see action as Boone preps for the first conference clash next week against Lenoir Rhyne, will be Larry Rhodes, a letterman, at end and linemen James Faircloth, Tubby Thomas and David Lee. Lee and Faircloth have been working out at both tackle and guard positions as the Buc coaching staff seeks to utilize their strength best.

Hayes Injures Knee; Out Of Starting Squad For Opening Contest

John "Tippy" Hayes, ace junior halfback for Coach Jack Boone's Pirates, will be unable to play in tomorrow night's contest with Wilson Teachers College because of a injured left knee.

The injury, sustained in a game Tuesday, is not considered serious and, barring further mishaps, Hayes should be at the post when the Buccaneers meet Lenoir Rhyne here September 22.

ECC Foundation Incorporates To Access New Scholarships

East Carolina College Foundation has just been incorporated by the Secretary of State in Raleigh. The Foundation has the purpose of raising a $100,000 endowment fund, income from which is to be used to provide scholarships at the college.

Incorporators are Arthur Tyler of Rocky Mount, Dr. Lewis Swindell of Washington, Dr. Paul Jones of Farmville, and President John D. Messick and Business Manager F. D. Duncan of East Carolina College.

The Foundation is similar in its purpose to the Pitt County Foundation, which was begun in 1952 with the goal of raising a $100,000 endowment fund for scholarships for East Carolina students. To date, approximately $40,000 of this amount has been subscribed, and indications are that the remainder will be obtained before the end of 1958.

President Messick stated here this week that East Carolina needs endowment funds to provide scholarships for young people who have ambition and ability but who are financially unable to attend college. Prior to the beginning of the 1953-1954 term, he explained, applications for self-help and scholarships were received from 510 students. The college was able to help only 214 of these, Dr. Messick said.

Forty of the applicants received scholarships, and 174 were given self-help positions which enable them to earn part of their fees.

"This," Dr. Messick continued, "leaves 296 applicants whom we have not been able to help—promising young people who may never get the education they need, want and deserve."

Applications for help would have been greater in number, he further explained, if it had not been well known that all scholarships were taken.

Britain Offers 12 Scholarships To U S Students

Beginning in the academic year 1954-55, Marshall Scholarships will be available for 12 American graduate students wishing to study at a British university.

The Marshall Scholarships have been established by the British Government as a gesture of thanks for Marshall Aid, in gratitude for America's program for European recovery.

Twelve scholarships will be granted annually, each for a two-year period which may be extended to three. Eligible for competition are U. S. citizens, men or women under the age of 28, graduates of accredited U. S. colleges or universities. The scholarships may be held at any British university.

The value of each award will be $1,540 a year, with an extra $560 a year for married men. This sum will comfortably finance a year's study at a British university, since academic fees and living costs are considerably less than in the United States. Transportation is provided from home to the British university and back.

Qualifications for the awards are distinction of intellect and character, as shown by scholastic attainment and other activities and achievements. Preference will be given to candidates who combine high academic ability with the capacity to play an active part at the university of their choice.

Under the terms of the awards, each of four regional committees in the United States—East, South, Middle West, and Pacific—will select three candidates every year, with three in reserve. These names will be forwarded for approval to the Advisory Council in Washington, which consists of six distinguished Americans who will assist the British Ambassador, Chairman of the Council, in reviewing and approving the candidates.

The closing date for applications for 1954-55 scholarships is November 1, 1953. For further information, prospective candidates should write to British Information Services (Marshall Scholarships), 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20, N. Y.

Maid Of Cotton Contest Open To Southern College Women

How would you like to make an all-expense air tour of many leading cities of the world—in the United States, Canada, Europe, South and Central America?

The glamour and excitement of far places may be yours, along with a complete, individually-style cotton wardrobe created for you by leading American designers, if you are chosen the 1958 Maid of Cotton.

The annual contest will open on September 9, sponsored by the National Cotton Council, the Memphis Cotton Carnival Association, and the cotton exchanges of Memphis, New York, and New Orleans.

Aplication blanks may be obtained from the National Cotton Council, P. O. Box 18, Memphis 1, Tenn., and must be returned postmarked not later than midnight December 1. Each entry must be accompanied by two photographs of the applicant, one a head-and-shoulders portrait and the other a full-length picture.

To be eligible, you must be between the ages of 19-25, must have been born in a cotton-producing state, must never be married, and must be at least 5 feet 5 inches tall.

Records show that of the 15 past Maids of Cotton, 13 were either in school or had just been graduated at the time of their selection.

Approximately 20 finalists will be selected from all entries by a preliminary judging committee in December. This group will be brought to Memphis for personal interviews, public appearances and social events. Final judging early in January will decide the Maid of Cotton and two alternates, on basis of personality, intelligence, poise, background and appearance.

After her selection, the Maid will be flown immediately to New York for a month's training period and to be outfitted with her all-cotton wardrobe of newest fashions designed for round the clock and round the calendar wear. During her stay in New York, she will appear on nationwide radio and television programs.

The 1954 tour itinerary is expected to follow much the same 65,000 mile pattern as the 1953 visits of Maid Alice to more than 40 leading cities of the United States, Canada, Europe and South and Central America. As the good-will and fashion emissary of King Cotton, the Maid will call upon government leaders, civic groups and cotton industry officials, she will appear as the featured model in all-cotton fashion shows emphasizing the versatility of cotton as a year-round fabric.

An official tour manager will travel with the Maid throughout her trip. At the end of her six month's tour, the Maid is traditionally presented with an automobile by Ford dealers of the Memphis district.

When you smoke Chesterfield it's so satisfying to know that you are getting the one cigarette that's low in nicotine, highest in quality.

A fact proved by chemical analyses of the country's six leading cigarette brands.

And it's so satisfying to know that a doctor reports no adverse effects to the nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.

The doctor's report is part of a program supervised by a responsible independent research laboratory and is based on thorough bi-monthly examinations of a group of Chesterfield smokers over a period of a year and a half.

Chesterfield is best for me—my steady smoke for 7 years.
