Distinguished Cadets Of Air Force ROTC

ECC Senior ROTC Students Receive Honorable Note

Six seniors at East Carolina College have just received the honor of being designated Distinguished Student in the Air Force ROTC, according to an announcement by Col. Roger G. Fuller, professor of air science and tactics at the college.

To be eligible for this award an AFROTC cadet must have an academic standing among the upper third of the AFROTC students in his class and among the upper third of all students in the college pursuing the same academic major and scheduled to graduate the same school year; must possess high moral character and definite aptitude for service in the Air Force; and must have distinguished himself by demonstrated leadership.

Certificates were presented to the cadets by Col. Fuller at AFROTC headquarters in the Austin building on the campus.

EC Forensic Club Announces Debate Team Members

Debaters who will represent the Jarvis Forensic Club of East Carolina College in intercollegiate contests during 1953-1954 have been announced by Dr. Meredith N. Posey, faculty sponsor of the organization.

Students chosen through tryouts as members of East Carolina teams are H. Gerald Adeock of Durham, Betty Lou Small of Greenville, Royce C. Jordan of Washington, N. C., and Robert C. Bright of Macleesfield. Alternates are Ray Sears of Greenville and Horace L. Rose Jr. of Richmond, Va.

The national query chosen for debates this school year in universities and colleges of the United States is resolved: That the United States should adopt a policy of free trade.

East Carolina debaters will participate in December in the Third Annual Florida Invitational Debate Tournament at the University of Florida in Gainesville. Plans are also under way for the college teams to engage in the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament at Lenoir-Rhyne, Hickory, and the Grand National Forensic Contest at Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Va.

Concertists Receive Applause For Variety Piano Program

Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe, duo-pianists, closed their concert at East Carolina College Tuesday night while an enthusiastic audience still applauded for encores.

The popular artists were on the campus to give their third concert under the auspices of the college Entertainment Committee and to open the 1953-1954 Entertainment Series at East Carolina.

The program, presented in the Wright auditorium, was attended by an audience of approximately 2,000 people. Patrons of the Entertainment Series from Greenville, Washington, Goldsboro, Rocky Mount, Wilson, Kinston and other localities in eastern North Carolina were present.

Excellent musicianship and the attractive stage presence of the two personable young American artists won the approval of the audience and prolonged applause brought them to the stage repeatedly for bows and encores.

Jaycees Launch Scholarship Fund Drive For College

The Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce, at a breakfast on the campus Tuesday morning, launched a campaign for the Pitt County Scholarship Foundation.

Some $22,000 have already been pledged by 59 Greenville business men and firms to this fund and the Jaycees hope to obtain a more substantial amount from a much larger number of donors.

Dr. J. D. Messick, president of the college, spoke briefly at the breakfast explaining the need for scholarships and the expanding college program. Dr. T. C. Johnson, executive secretary of the foundation, J. H. Waldrop, chairman of the Pitt County Foundation, Badger Johnson and Ercell Webb, members of the board of directors for the fund, and W. W. Lee, Greenville business man, all spoke briefly to the group.

Leaders of the Jaycees for the campaign are Ben Rouse and J. B. Kittrell Jr. Each of these urged the canvassers to complete their work as promptly as possible and to submit a report on Thursday night. The club has been divided into ten teams for the drive.

Varsity Club Presents Talent Show Next Week

The Varsity Club will present a local talent program, "The Varsity Review," on Monday night and again on Wednesday night.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Varsity Club for either of the performances, which will be held at 8 p. m. in Austin auditorium.

Trip To Florida Game Sign Up Begins Monday

Beginning Monday, students desiring to go to Deland, Fla., to see the East Carolina-Stetson game November 14 may pay their reservation fees at booths in the dining hall lobby, Wade Cooper, chairman of the "Wheels to Florida" Committee, announced at the Student Legislature meeting Wednesday night.

Total amount for traveling by train will be $25 or which a $10 reservation fee is required. Hotel accommodations have been acquired at $2.50 per person in a double room. Those desiring to stay at this hotel may add the cost to their reservation fee.

The train will leave Wilson at 8 p. m., Friday, November 13 and arrive in Deland early Saturday morning. The game will be in the afternoon. The train will return Sunday. Wade is investigating transportation from the college to Wilson.

Investigation is underway for paying expenses for a chaperone for the trip.

In last week's SGA meeting it was voted that a bus be chartered, however, in the recent meeting it was decided that a train would be more desirable.

Ten Days Remain For Creative Lit Entries To Paper

Students who wish to submit material to the Magazine Section of the "East Carolinian" have ten more days to do so, as the deadline is Monday, November 9.

Creative writing by students in essays, short stories, poems, cartoons, short humorous incidents and other literary work is being solicited by the Magazine Section's editorial board, consisting of Bob Hilldrup, Dr. Donald Murray, Dr. James Poindecker and Mary H. Greene.

Already a number of manuscripts have been received and have been criticized as "favorable" by the board. Manuscripts may be turned in to any member of the board or sent to the newspaper office directly or by mail, Box 990, c-o Magazine Section, College.

Students submitting material for the section should type or write legibly in ink on one side of the paper, leaving wide margins and double spacing between the lines.

The literary section will be issued Tuesday, November 26, along with the regular edition of the newspaper. Due to conflicts, there will be no paper Friday, November 20, but will be printed and distributed the following Tuesday. In that issue there will be six pages with the two inside pages devoted to the literary section.

Utterback Gives Names Of Radio Announcers

Four radio announcers for broadcasting campus programs have been chosen by Dr. Elizabeth Utterback who held auditions recently.

College Radio Studios Sponsor Book Series Locally On Sundays

Dr. E. D. Johnson, associate librarian at East Carolina College, has begun a series of broadcasts entitled "Books Behind the News." The program is heard each Sunday at 9 p. m. over Station WGTC of Greenville.

The series is sponsored by the college Radio Studios and talks are tape recorded on the campus. The series will be made available in the near future to various radio stations in eastern North Carolina which schedule broadcasts from the college, according to Mrs. Marguerite A. Perry, chairman of the East Carolina radio committee.

The purpose of the series by Dr. Johnson is to acquaint hearers with books of timely interest. Works on the hydrogen bomb and on modern Russia have been reviewed on broadcasts for the past two Sundays, and books dealing with other topics of present-day interest will provide subject matter for future programs.

Dr. Johnson, who joined the East Carolina faculty this fall, is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and has taught history and library science at Limestone College, Gaffney, S. C.

EC Council Scouts Visit Campus Over Week End

Approximately 250 Boy Scouts of Explorer rank from high schools in the eastern counties of North Carolina pitched their tents on the East Carolina College campus yesterday to participate in a three-day Explorer Vocational Conference here this weekend.

Final plans for the entertainment and instruction of the scouts have been announced by Dean Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina, who with Lester Dollar of Greenville is in charge of the program of conference activities. The event is sponsored by East Carolina College and the Eastern Carolina Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Assisting in the weekend program for these Explorer Scouts are members of the Alpha Phi Omega, a service fraternity on campus affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America. Tents were placed on the college baseball field and the scouts are living outdoors as they engage in instructional events and in entertainment planned in their honor.

Dr. Hazel Taylor of the college psychology department, director of testing at East Carolina College, administered a series of tests last night. These examinations have been chosen so that results will aid the scout in determining his aptitudes and fitness for various types of work.

Opportunities offered in such fields as medicine, law, agriculture, engineering, teaching, radio, dramatics, business administration and science were discussed today. Faculty members at the college served as discussion leaders.

Barter Theatre Here Thursday With O'Neill's Comedy Drama

Play Carries Large Cast For Number 2 Entertainment Series

The world-famous Barter Theatre of Virginia will present Eugene O'Neill's comedy of home life in "1906, his only comedy, "Ah, Wilderness!" as the second number of the 1953-54 Entertainment Series in Wright Auditorium next Thursday, Alumni Secretary James W. Butler, chairman of the committee, announced.

"Ah, Wilderness!" is a comedy of sentiment and good feeling in which Mr. O'Neill has laid aside his tragic mask. The play tells a tale of rebellious adolescence and tremulous young love, and is warmly compassionate, good-natured and unpretentious, mellow with the wisdom of acceptance and gay with a sympathetic insight into the foibles of mankind.

Actor-Director Owen Phillips of the Barter Theatre announced that the cast for the play is: Nat Miller, owner of the "Evening Globe", Owen Phillips; Essie, his wife, Dorothy LaVern; Arthur, their son, Sam Greene; Richard, their son, Frank Lowe; Mildred, their daughter, Joan Douglas; Toni, their daughter, Peggy Collins; Sid Davis, Essie's brother, Jerry Oddo; Lily Miller, Nat's sister, Blanche McKinney; David McComber, Tom McKeenan; Muriel McComber, Kay Kendall; Wint Selby, Robert Gallico; Nora, Nancy Green.

The Barter Theatre has a high standing in the theatrical world and is internationally known. With Robert Porterfield as founder, it had its start during the Great Depression and owes its name to the fact that in its early days of struggle toward success the group accepted for admission charges "anything from fresh eggs and cans of beans to live turkeys and tubes of toothpaste." Porterfield began the venture with "22 actors and actresses and $1 in my pocket."

"Ah, Wilderness!", chosen for presentation at East Carolina, is a nostalgic comedy dealing with home and the family circle and revealing O'Neill in a tender, compassionate mood. It is claimed that the character of the boy Richard is akin to the dramatist himself when he was a dreamy, romantic youth.

Tickets for next Thursday's performance may be obtained from Mr. Butler.

Two Join Home Ec Honor Fraternity

Rebecca Gail Plemons of Raleigh and Mrs. Hazel Garris Tripp of Greenville, juniors at East Carolina College, have become members of the college chapter of Phi Omicron, honor society for students of home economics.

The two students were chosen for membership because of their excellent scholastic records in the college department of home economics. Their initiation into the society was carried out under the direction of Mary Sue Cook of Hertford, president, and Ruth Lambie, faculty advisor.

Sweater girls make excellent teachers—they outline things so clearly.

Family Portrait

Here is the familia Miller of the Barter Theatre of Virginia's production of Eugene O'Neill's comedy, "Ah, Wilderness!". It is domestic and wistfully reminiscent of the days when family life was the life. The comedy will be presented in Wright Auditorium next Thursday at 8 p. m.

Here are some of the approximately 250 Explorer Scouts of the East Carolina Council who will be on campus during the week end.

SGA Names Yearly Production; Campus Clean Up Week Begins

Campus Clean-Up Week will get underway beginning Monday and will last through Friday announced Charlie Wentz, chairman of the committee.

Tags bearing the words "Keep Our Campus Clean" will be distributed in the lobby of the dining hall and are to be worn to keep the students conscious of the campaign, Charlie said.

Prof. Criticism Test Chairman Frank G. Fuller of the education department was elected chairman of the teacher criticism rating sheets which are to be handed out in each class so that students may grade the professors in each of their classes. Louis Clark and five other students were also elected on the committee.

Louis reported upon investigation of a previous test that the majority of students rated the instructors with fairness. He also stated that the students will not have to sign the tests.

Decide Production The legislature approved the Productions Committee's request that they sponsor the musical production of "Blossom Time," written by Sigmond Remberg, the composer of last year's production, "Student Prince." Chairman Coon Williams announced that it will be presented April 26 and 27.

Science Students Plan Annual EC Dogpatch Event

Members of the Science Club are making plans for Sadie Hawkins Saturday, November 21, when the Carolina campus will be turned into Dogpatch, USA.

The traditional rivalry between "animule, man, gal, beast" is supposed to be the afternoon of the year when the male on hand has to make a meal of his own making after a subtle onslaught of the female.

The climax of the event is that night when the "animule" is supposed to be the afternoon of the year when the male on hand has to make a meal of his own making after a subtle onslaught of the female.

Music Department Twice Presents Variety Program

Cecilia Cartwright gave a brief summary of the production stating that it is based on the life of Franz Schubert, a German composer.

President Mitchell Sauced announced that a bell has been installed at Faculty Apartments for the use of male callers to girl students on third floor.

On program were "Jack and Jill" styled of the popular song introduced by the music department's Show presented faculty and students, music ensembles, and a special guest performance of staged acts.

SPORTS ECHO

by Bob Hilldrup

Finally, after 10, these many years, East Carolina has a North State Conference football championship. And a more deserving team never won the title.

From the opening minute of the Wilson Teachers College contest September 19 it was obvious that the 1953 Buccaneers gridiron aggregation was going to be a squad to be reckoned with. Now, although the league title has been wrapped up, the locals will have a rocky road to travel. Appalachian would like nothing better than to knock off the new conference champs tomorrow night and let a dead vice that both Tampa and Stetson will be out to stop the North State Conference's top eleven.

In winning the conference crown the Pirates have all the necessities of a championship club: weight, speed, depth of talent and superb coaching. It would be a truly impossible job to single out individual players in the Buccaneer lineup though the job done so far by quarterback Dick Cherry and end Bobby Hodges has been good enough for any squad in the country. The moral of this championship story, therefore, is team play and cooperation. Without this any gridiron warship, including the Pirates, would certainly be scuttled.

Too much emphasis cannot be put upon the remaining three games on the Pirate schedule. Appalachian, always a dangerous foe, will field a team tomorrow night which is definitely capable of an upset. As far as backfield men go Shirley Gabriel will have to be ranked with the best. The speedy, hard-driving Mountaineer currently holds the conference scoring lead and will undoubtedly give the Pirate forward a rough evening tomorrow.

Without attempting to lessen the emphasis on the Appalachian, Tampa and Stetson games, perhaps we might be optimistic enough to make a few assumptions.

It is common knowledge that attempts are being made to reach an agreement with a Southern Conference squad for a Thanksgiving Day game here. Several schools that have been contacted might be willing to play, but the financial guarantee which they demand is rather high.

If, therefore, efforts to secure a Thanksgiving opponent are successful, we hope that the student body will postpone their departure from the campus long enough to be on hand for this holiday contest. Considering the fact that the 1953 football squad here is the most successful in the history of the school, it was a mighty poor turnout that showed up for the pep rally last Saturday night. We've got a great team, one of which we should be justly proud. Let's not let it down.

Gymnasium Plaque Recently Erected To Christenbury

In memory of the late John B. Christenbury, coach at East Carolina College who lost his life during World War II, a handsome bronze plaque has recently been placed in Memorial Gymnasium here. It bears the names of eight athletes at the college who from 1946 through 1953 have received the annually presented Christenbury Award.

This award was first given in 1946 and has been presented at commencement exercises each succeeding year to "a young man who is a member of a varsity squad during his senior year, and who is selected on the basis of scholarship, character and service to the college." The plaque was recently chosen by a committee made up of Agnes Barrett, Dr. P. A. Toll, and Dr. N. M. Jorgensen of the college faculty and administrative staff and has now been installed. Names of future award winners will be added annually.

Cosh Christenbury, a native of Statesville, N. C., served as a lieutenant (jg) in the Navy. He died July, 1944, in the Port Chicago Explosion in California. Before joining the East Carolina staff, he taught at Crossnore, the Lee H. Edwards High School in Asheville, and Brevard College.

Winners of the award to date, whose names are now included on the plaque, are James Pete Gianakos of Hendersonville and Minneapolis, Minn.; Douglas Jones of Farnville and Albemarle; Keith Hudson of Kingston; Robert L. Shuford of Thomasville; G. Razz Autry of Dunn; Jack Wallace of Bath, now in military service; Cecil Winslow of Hertford, now in military service; and Francis H. Madigan of Portsmouth, Va., and High Point.

Pirates Thrash Guilford 40-0 To Capture First League Crown

by Anwer Joseph

Bucs Win Title As Lenoir Rhyme Whips Catamounts

A 40-0 win over Guilford College's Quakers plus a 21-21 stalemate between Catawba and Elon gave the East Carolina Pirates their first North State Conference championship last week-end.

By smothering Guilford the locals recorded their fifth conference triumph. Even if Appalachian should upset the Pirates in the final conference game for the local quad tomorrow the Bucs' hold on first place would not be jeopardized.

In other games involving league teams the Appalachian Mountaineers upset Emory and Henry by a 14-6 count. Shirley Gabriel tallied all the Mountaineer points to run his total to 62, good enough for the scoring lead in the state.

Meanwhile, in addition to the 21-21 tie played by Catawba and Elon, the Western Carolina Catamounts were once again falling victim to the extra point. Lenoir Rhyme, by virtue of a blocked kick, took a 21-20 win over the Cats, thereby handing Western Carolina their fifth one-point defeat in seven games this season.

Activity tomorrow will see East Carolina playing host to Appalachian, Catawba traveling to Presbyter in for a non-conference game, Western Carolina at Elon and Guilford at Newberry in another outside-league clash.

Little All-American candidate Dick Cherry, the five-foot-ten blond wizard from Beaufort County, turned in an outstanding performance of quarterbacking, as the Buccaneers of East Carolina claimed their sixth straight triumph of the season by routing a weakened crew of Quakers from Guilford College 40-0 here at College Stadium Saturday, October 24.

A crowd of approximately 5,500 saw the Buccaneers roll to their 13th consecutive regular season game without defeat and assured Coach Jack Boone's outfit its first North State Conference title in the history of the school.

The 1953 championship more or less climaxes the dream of Coach Bill Dole, who in 1949 took over the helm as head coach and started the Bucs on the uphill move and now made a reality at the hands of Coach Jack Boone, former Little All-American from Elon and star of the Cleveland Browns.

Dick Cherry was again the main factor in the victory, but this time he had plenty of help. Wilmington's Claude King racked up two touchdowns. Paul Gay powered over for one and scored another on a pass from Cherry. A Cherry-to-Hodges pass accounted for another and Harold O'Kelly scored the last TD.

East Carolina's first score came on a 54-yard drive, with Paul Gay crossing the goal from the 12 on a pitch-out from Cherry. King's try for the extra point was no good. The Bucs scored again in the first quarter when Bobby Hodges recovered a Guilford fumble on Guilford's 19. Three plays later King powered over for the extra point and the Bucs had a 13-0 lead. With 49 seconds left to play in the first period King crossed the goal from the three to score. His extra point try was good and as the first quarter ended East Carolina led 20-0.

There was no scoring in the second quarter, although the Pirates did threaten once on a drive that ended on Guilford's 16.

Cherry To Hodges East Carolina scored in the opening minutes of the second half when Cherry hit Hodges with a screen pass and behind perfect blocking romped 35 yards to score. King missed the extra point try. East Carolina scored once more in the third period when Cherry intercepted a Guilford pass and brought it back to the Bucs' 28 before being stopped. From there the Pirates scored on a Cherry-to-Gay pass. Then another Cherry-to-Gay pass was good for the extra point and East Carolina led 33-0 at the end of the third quarter.

In spite of numerous penalties, which on one fullback John Daughtry was denied scoring honors after racing 58 yards for the longest run of the night for either side, the Buccaneers were determined to score and did when Harold O'Kelly crossed the goal from the three. Bubber Matthews' placement was good.

Appalachian Here Saturday To Play Unbeaten Pirates

19 Games Slated For Local Cagers As Opener Nears

According to head basketball mentor Howard Porter the East Carolina Pirates, who topped the North State Conference in regular season play last year, are shaping up pretty well now. Coach Porter said that he is getting wiser by the day; or it could be the way the team looks. Anyway, he feels mighty good about the outlook for the 1953-54 season which opens on December 1, with Belmont Abbey, the game to be played at Belmont.

Quote Coach Porter, "I'm not saying that I've got a team that will prove unbeatable this year, but if all the boys stay with us, it's going to be awfully rough for the other teams in the conference. Of course, you always have to wait to see how things shape up, but I'm very much impressed."

The schedule:

WAA Plans To Engage In Play Day Features With Greensboro Girls

A called meeting and a regular meeting of the Woman's Athletic Association resulted in definite plans made for teams from East Carolina to go to Greensboro College November 7 to their annual play day. A schedule is also being set up for a play day to be held here December 12, provided that the other schools have not scheduled similar events around that time.

Volley ball and badminton are the two sports set up for tournaments when East Carolina girls play host to various other college WAA sections.

The group is selling Christmas cards to raise money for the annual play day and the beach trip held in May.

been on the receiving end of the blond quarterback's touchdown tosses at least once in each contest.

The Buccaneers were as hot as a cowboy's six-gun at a Saturday matinee last weekend as they flexed their mighty muscles and crunched confidently to a 40-0 win over hapless Guilford.

Early in the opening quarter the Pirates broke out in a display of split-T fakery and pure power that trampled the Quakers' hopes of upsetting into the clear-torn turf of College Stadium. Although Coach Boone's charges raced for six touchdowns during the sixty minutes of play, the score was lessened by the abundant use of substitutions.

The Guilford offense was played to a standstill. The East Carolina scrimmage line was well-nigh impenetrable as the Quakers tried in vain to root the Pirate barrier of oak. While the defenders were doing their part the Buc backs were jackknifing through for hunks of yardage that would choke an elephant.

When the final whistle blew it meant the ball game, the sixth straight win, and the North State Conference crown.

What promises to be the keenest competition on the locals' home schedule will come into focus tomorrow night as the Mountaineers of Appalachian motor into the Pirates' den boasting their splendid halfback-quarterback Shirley Gabriel. The high-stepping Gabriel has the scoring touch and has put the double lines behind him for 62 points, tops in North State circles. The Mountaineers will put all their eggs in one basket as they count almost solely on Mr. Gabriel to blow his horn.

This will be the last stand on tap before the home folks and as we see it the Pirates will hit sunny Florida still undefeated.

Here's something special for you foreseers of football results: If you want to win a carton of Chesterfields, then write your prediction of the East Carolina-Appalachian score on the back of a Chesterfield wrapper and drop it into the box placed in the dining hall lobby. Entries must be in by 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Cherry Tosses Twelfth Scoring Pass; Hodges Catches For Ninth TD

Dick Cherry, the East Carolina Pirates' soph sensation, tossed his eleventh and twelfth touchdown passes of the grid season Saturday night as the locals blasted Guilford 40-0.

On the receiving end of one of Cherry's scoring heaves was end Bobby Hodges. The tally was Hodges' ninth of the year to give him second place honors in the North State Conference scoring chase. Shirley Gabriel of Appalachian leads the loop with 62 points.

Cherry has now tossed at least one scoring strike in each of the Buccaneers' six games, while Hodges has

'World Must Revive Idealism' Herbst Tells Chapel Assembly

The curtain may now be falling on a dying world, or it may be rising on a new and better life for mankind, Rabbi Solomon Herbst of Goldsboro told East Carolina College students in a talk Tuesday.

A "compelling and unifying faith" is needed, he said, if mankind is to emerge from the disillusionment and disenchantment of our times and to achieve "greater peace, security and well being" in the future.

Rabbi Herbst appeared at the college through arrangements with the Jewish Chautauqua Society. He spoke to approximately 300 students and faculty members attending the weekly chapel exercises in the Austin auditorium. Dr. Carl V. Harris, director of religious activities at the college, introduced him to the audience.

The industrial revolution, Rabbi Herbst stated, brought hopes that increased leisure would result in a superior culture; and scientific advancement led to the belief that want and poverty would be removed. But, he pointed out, the idea of progress which characterized the last century has yielded in our times to disillusionment, desperation, disappointment and disenchantment.

Today, he said, "Conscience is at a new low; it is hushed and silenced in the confusion and turmoil of our times." The spirit of the age is darkened, he continued, by a loss of idealism.

"Our age," he said, "is tired and afraid. No great idea is sweeping us toward something better."

"Democracy... the eternal spring-time of humanity," he continued, "is on the defensive; Communism, on the offensive. We live in a world of increasing hate, intolerance and bigotry. War and the loss of freedom by many peoples mark our age."

Faith and the spirit of brotherhood, urging men toward love and peace, offer an answer to the problems of our times, the Rabbi suggested.

Local Episcopal Church Begins Inquiry Meets

The Episcopal Church is establishing an inquirer's class beginning Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., Richard Ottaway, student worker of the local church, announced.

As the name implies, the purpose of the class is for those who wish to inquire about the Episcopal Church, whether members or non-members. Members are encouraged to attend to learn more about the church and non-members are invited to learn and ask questions concerning the Episcopal denomination.

The classes will be held each Tuesday night to the middle of January with the exception of the Christmas holiday. Each class will last approximately one hour.

Instruction will be given on such subjects as the Bible, history of the Episcopal Church, Christian Doctrine and liturgy. Some of the instructors for the different fields will be Dr. James Poindexter, Dr. Lawrence Browster, Mrs. T. H. Eaton and Dr. Wallace I. Wolverton.

Home Ec Members See Color Slides Of National Meet

Discussion and showing of slides by Marcelene Aycock, the only college student delegate from North Carolina sent to the NHEA, highlighted the Home Economics Club meet October 13.

The club sent Marcelene to Kansas City this summer to attend the NHEA meeting. She reported the activities during the meeting.

Betty Boyette presented the group with a report on the workshop held there in April. Mary Gillette presented Mrs. Mabel Lucy Hall, formerly of the home economics department faculty, with a piece of her silver on behalf of the club.

Visitor: Why does your Grandma just sit there and read the Bible all day?
Little Jim: She's crammin' for the finals.

Alumni News

KINSTON ALUMNI HEAR DR. JOHNSON

Alumni of East Carolina College have witnessed a greater transformation in their Alma Mater than alumni of any other institution in the State, with the exception of Trinity College, Dr. T. C. Johnson, executive secretary of the college's foundations, told Kinston alumni at a meeting there on Tuesday night.

He listed among the significant changes at the college: improvements in the physical plant, the raising of academic standards, the almost equal distribution of male and female students and the expanded curriculum.

Dr. Johnson also told the group that the greatest need of the college today is for endowed scholarships with which needy and deserving young men and young women might be helped to obtain an education. Even a small scholarship is often the difference between being able to go to college and not being able to do so, he explained. Funds are now being raised for this purpose, he added.

Ed Honor Society Begins Activity At East Carolina

A chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, an honor society in education, was formally installed on the East Carolina campus recently.

Dr. Katherine Vickery of Alabama College, member of the National Council of Kappa Delta Pi, was the installing officer. She had as her assistants in the ceremony faculty members of Kappa Delta Pi: Dr. E. J. Carter, Hazel Clark, Dr. Hazel Taylor, Dr. Elizabeth Utterback and Dr. Eva Williamson. Louise Williams of the math department presented the candidates for membership.

Charter members of the local chapter are Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, Una Francis, Mary Howard, Joe Johnson, Raymond Meigs, Donnell Muse and Verrie Wilder.

Officers were elected and later installed by Dr. Vickery. Dr. Jenkins was selected as faculty counselor. Faculty members who were members of other chapters were invited to join the one here.

The faculty members entertained with a tea before the ceremony and a dinner afterwards.

Alpha Phi Omega Picks New Officers At Meet

Officers were elected for the vacated offices at the regular meeting Tuesday night of the Alpha Phi Omega.

Reserve Rooms For 1954

Dean of Women Ruth White announces that room reservation fees for girls for the Fall Quarter, 1954, will be accepted at the business office in the Administration building beginning Wednesday, November 4. In making application for rooms students are asked to follow this procedure:

1. Fill out room application card and deposit at the business office.
  2. Take card to the registrar's office and have it stamped.
  3. Take card to the dean of women's office in Jarvis Hall and sign up for room.
- Those who are living in town and do not plan to come into the dormitory this school year can have their $5 deposit transferred to Fall, 1954.

College Contributes $700 To Charity Fund

Students and faculty members of East Carolina College have contributed a sum of approximately $700 to the Greenville Community Chest drive, which is now in progress.

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, college dean, heads the fund-raising campaign on the campus. Faculty contributions reached $550 this week and the Student Government Association has given $150, Dr. Jenkins states.

J. Paul Shedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil
Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

"Surest as I'm concerned" said Shedy's gal, "your hair looks like something the cat dragged in. Perhaps you better spring for some Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's favorite hair tonic. Keeps hair combed without chemicals. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Relieves itching. Contains Lanolin. Non-alcoholic." So Shedy went down to his druggist for Wildroot Cream-Oil and now he's feline mighty fine. All the girls love him when he passes. So you better leopard on Wildroot Cream-Oil right meow. Buy the bottle or handy tube at any toilet store. Ask your barber for some Wildroot Cream-Oil. Then you'll be the cat's whiskers!
