National TV Educators Come To Aid ECC In Workshop

Course Receives Aid Grant

Television, its value, and its potentialities in education, will be discussed at a workshop to be sponsored by East Carolina College June 17-28.

Educators and authorities in the field of educational television from the major networks and from TV stations and broadcasting organizations in New York, Washington, Chicago, and elsewhere will act as consultants and speakers on the program. Rosalind Roulston, chairman of the East Carolina Radio and Television Committee, will direct the workshop.

The program has been planned to give training and experience in the use of television as a medium of instruction and is expected to be of value to parents, teachers, and others interested in the training of young people.

Station WNCN of Greenville will cooperate with East Carolina by making available its studios for observation and for the development and presentation of programs. The National Association of Broadcasters has provided a grant which will be used to bring nationally recognized authorities on educational television to the campus.

During the first week of the workshop, June 17-21, attention will be focused on local commercial stations and the national networks and their educational programs.

Closed circuit television, its use and development as a medium of instruction, will receive emphasis during the second week, June 24-28. The use of television on a national scale in higher education and national support of educational television projects will also be discussed.

Those enrolled in the workshop may receive three quarter hours of college credit on the undergraduate or graduate level. Further information may be obtained from Vice President Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina College.

Newspaper Staff Holds First Meeting

In keeping with plans for next year, the East Carolinian will deliver the summer editions of the college newspaper to the dormitory rooms. It was announced by summer school editor, Jan Raby.

The first staff meeting was held recently and plans were made to attempt to print more issues this year, although the paper will be a smaller one due to a limited budget and a smaller staff.

Members of the news staff are: Janet Hill, Marjorie Davis, Sylvia Jones, and Barbara Crotts. Mike Williamson will handle the sports and Jim Gearhart is the staff photographer. Peggy Lou Stewart is editorial assistant. Carolyn Smith has been selected as business manager.

Anyone desiring to work on the newspaper is urged to contact the editor in 320 Cotten Hall or any afternoon from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. in the newspaper office on the second floor of Wright Building. Deadline for news to be submitted is Monday at 4 p. m.

FM Radio Station Joins Goodwill Network Group

East Carolina's FM radio station WWWS located in Joyner Library recently became a member of the International Goodwill network.

The station which only recently began full-time operation is also a member of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters and also cooperates with the United Nations in educational broadcasts.

As a member of the International Goodwill Network the station is receiving transcriptions from the French Broadcasting System which will include Master Works from France.

The station comes on the air every day at 4:00 p. m. for an hour

Freddie James Becomes SGA Prexy As Result Of Campus Wide Election

Freddie James takes office as president of the summer School SGA.

In a campus wide election on June 11, Freddie James of Portsmouth, Virginia, was elected head of the 1957 Summer Student Government Association at East Carolina College in an unopposed election, receiving 204 votes.

James said, "I consider it a great honor and a privilege to be elected Summer School president and I shall constantly strive to carry out the duties of my office in a manner that will be beneficial to the entire student body."

A senior, Freddie is majoring in Science for an A. B. degree. He belongs to Sigma Rho Pi, Phi Sigma Pi, and Phi Beta Pi. He was president of his class his junior year, vice president of his sophomore class, served on the YMCA cabinet for three years and is treasurer of the YMCA, served this past year as Homecoming chairman, and was a member of the Pirate basketball team.

Calvin Chesson from Williamson defeated Tom Edison of Jacksonville by a vote of 132 to 28 for the office of vice president.

Sylvia Jones of Kinston defeated Janet Hill of Elizabeth City for the office of secretary by a vote of 131 to 86.

Bobby Patterson of Rocky Mount was unopposed for treasurer and received 206 votes.

Lem Cox will serve as member at large for graduate students. Paul Singleton and Jimmy Phelps will serve as members at large for day students.

Members at large for undergraduate students are Patricia Alston, Janet Hodges, Jackie McDaniel, and Barbara Davenport.

A mass meeting of the summer school student body was held Thursday night at 7 o'clock in Planagan Auditorium to discuss and vote upon changes in the constitution pertaining to the election of the officers. The suggested changes were motivated by the unusually large enrollment of the summer session this year.

The proposed changes voted on and passed by the majority of those in attendance state that the legislature should be composed of a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, presidents of each dormitory in use and seven members-at-large nominated and elected within a week following registration of the summer session.

Four One Act Plays Planned In Summer Theatre Events

Four one-act plays written by students at East Carolina College will form the nucleus of a program of summer theater to be offered at the college under the sponsorship of the department of English.

The series of plays will be presented by the Dramatic Arts Workshop, in progress on the campus during the first term of the summer session. Enrolled are students seeking experience in directing, staging, make-up, and other aspects of theatrical production. Dr. J. A. Withey of the department of English, director, has as student assistants Nancy Cooke of Dunn and Samuel Johnson of Goldsboro. First production of the summer theater will be two one-act plays presented in the Planagan Sylvan Theater at 8 p. m. Tuesday, June 18. They are "Never Alone", a Carolina folk play by Mrs. Mary O. Dilda of Farmville, East Carolina senior, and "A Phoenix Too Frequent" by dramatist Christopher Fry. The program will be presented free of charge and will be open to the public.

"Portrait of Polly" by William Register of Goldsboro and "Mr. Aycock's Marine" by James M. Ferrell of Lucama, East Carolina seniors, are scheduled for performance June 25 in the McGinnis auditorium. A religious play "In Remembrance" by Lloyd Bray, Jr., of Greenville, graduate student, will be presented in the McGinnis auditorium July 2 as the closing attraction in the series of productions.

Bray's play is scheduled for production on television during the summer months.

The four original plays by students at East Carolina were selected or production from work submitted during the regular school year in a course in play-writing taught by Dr. Withey.

Bob Howell, program director of radio station WWWS (East Carolina's own) takes the controls for a session of broadcasting.

Getting ready for the one-act play "A Phoenix Too Frequent" to be given June 18 at the Sylvan Theatre are Shirley Moore as Doto, Nancy Cooke as Dynamene, and James Williams as Tegeus. Carol Brooks is student director.

Speaking Of Elections

While this is being written before the results of the election have been announced, we are willing to predict that less than 50% of the student body will vote. The reason for this prediction is the trend which has existed in the past at this college and which is unlikely to be broken without some radical changes in attitude.

The student body this summer is as large as it has been during the regular session not too many years ago. Yet, only one person felt capable of being the SGA president. It's possible that some were held back by the restriction of being here for only one session. Yet, this is no excuse for the entire body.

We have seen little campaigning, for there was really not much need for it due to the lack of opposition. In the legislative body which is to allocate funds for entertainment and the various organizations, which is to make rules from the recommendations they receive, there should be a vital and active interest among its members. It's hard to expect when there's hardly any interest in running for the office.

For those students who give the excuse that they did not vote because they did not know the candidate, we say, it's your business to find out. However, we would like to make the suggestion that pictures of the candidates and a brief statement of their qualifications should be posted on the Student Union bulletin board.

We notice that no one made any promises or offered any kind of platform. So that doesn't leave us with much choice. But aren't you just a little bit concerned with what or how your money is being spent? It's going to be up to the newly elected Student Government Association.

How many summer school students know where the SGA meets? How many know that they may attend its meetings and even request permission to speak? It's the student's duty to find out these things.

We're all here to get an education, but there are certain responsibilities which we should not shirk. Everyone has a duty to himself and to his community in participating in student activities.

As for the new officers, we charge them to be an active student government. They have been entrusted with the power to put into action the desires of the rest of the campus. They must do their best for the best interests of the majority. We hope they won't just sit in their seats and let the "other fellow" do all the work.

And to those graduate students, don't feel left out because it has been some time since you've been on the college campus. Give us the benefits of your experience. We welcome it.

Let's all work together for a better student government. Remember, it requires the cooperation of everyone.

Notice To Car Owners

All students with cars must register them if they have not already done so. After having placed a sticker on the windshield, graduates and undergraduates must pay close attention to the areas which have been designated by special signs.

The college traffic department along with the campus police needs the cooperation of everyone owning a vehicle. "To follow rules" is a good motto and saves trouble and money for all involved.

Problems will be lessened and everyone will be happier if we all contribute a little time and attention to the matter of "legalized" parking. Remember, the sticker must be displayed on the windshield; otherwise a $2.00 fine will be levied. Since there are over six hundred cars registered on campus, parking problems are bound to come up. Do your part in lessening our traffic confusion.

Messick Welcomes Summer Students

Dear Students:

We are happy to give you a "warm reception" but trust you will find enough cool spots in which to prepare your lessons without too much discomfort. Let me give you a tip: the auditorium in the library and the hall immediately back of it are air conditioned and you will find them very comfortable places in which to study on the warmest days. For those who like to swim, make arrangements with the physical education department to enjoy the pool in the gymnasium.

Miss Mendenhall, social director in the College Union, will have bulletins posted showing the various events for the summer, and notices of entertainments, including the movies, will be posted. You, no doubt, know where the churches are. Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church is being enlarged at this time, and services are being held in Austin auditorium each Sunday morning at eleven o'clock.

If there are any problems you need help with, I am sure you will find any staff or faculty member glad to have you come to him. We are all eager to have you get the most from your summer school work and to enjoy it. Use the facilities of the college in the best way possible and enjoy the social life planned for you during your free time.

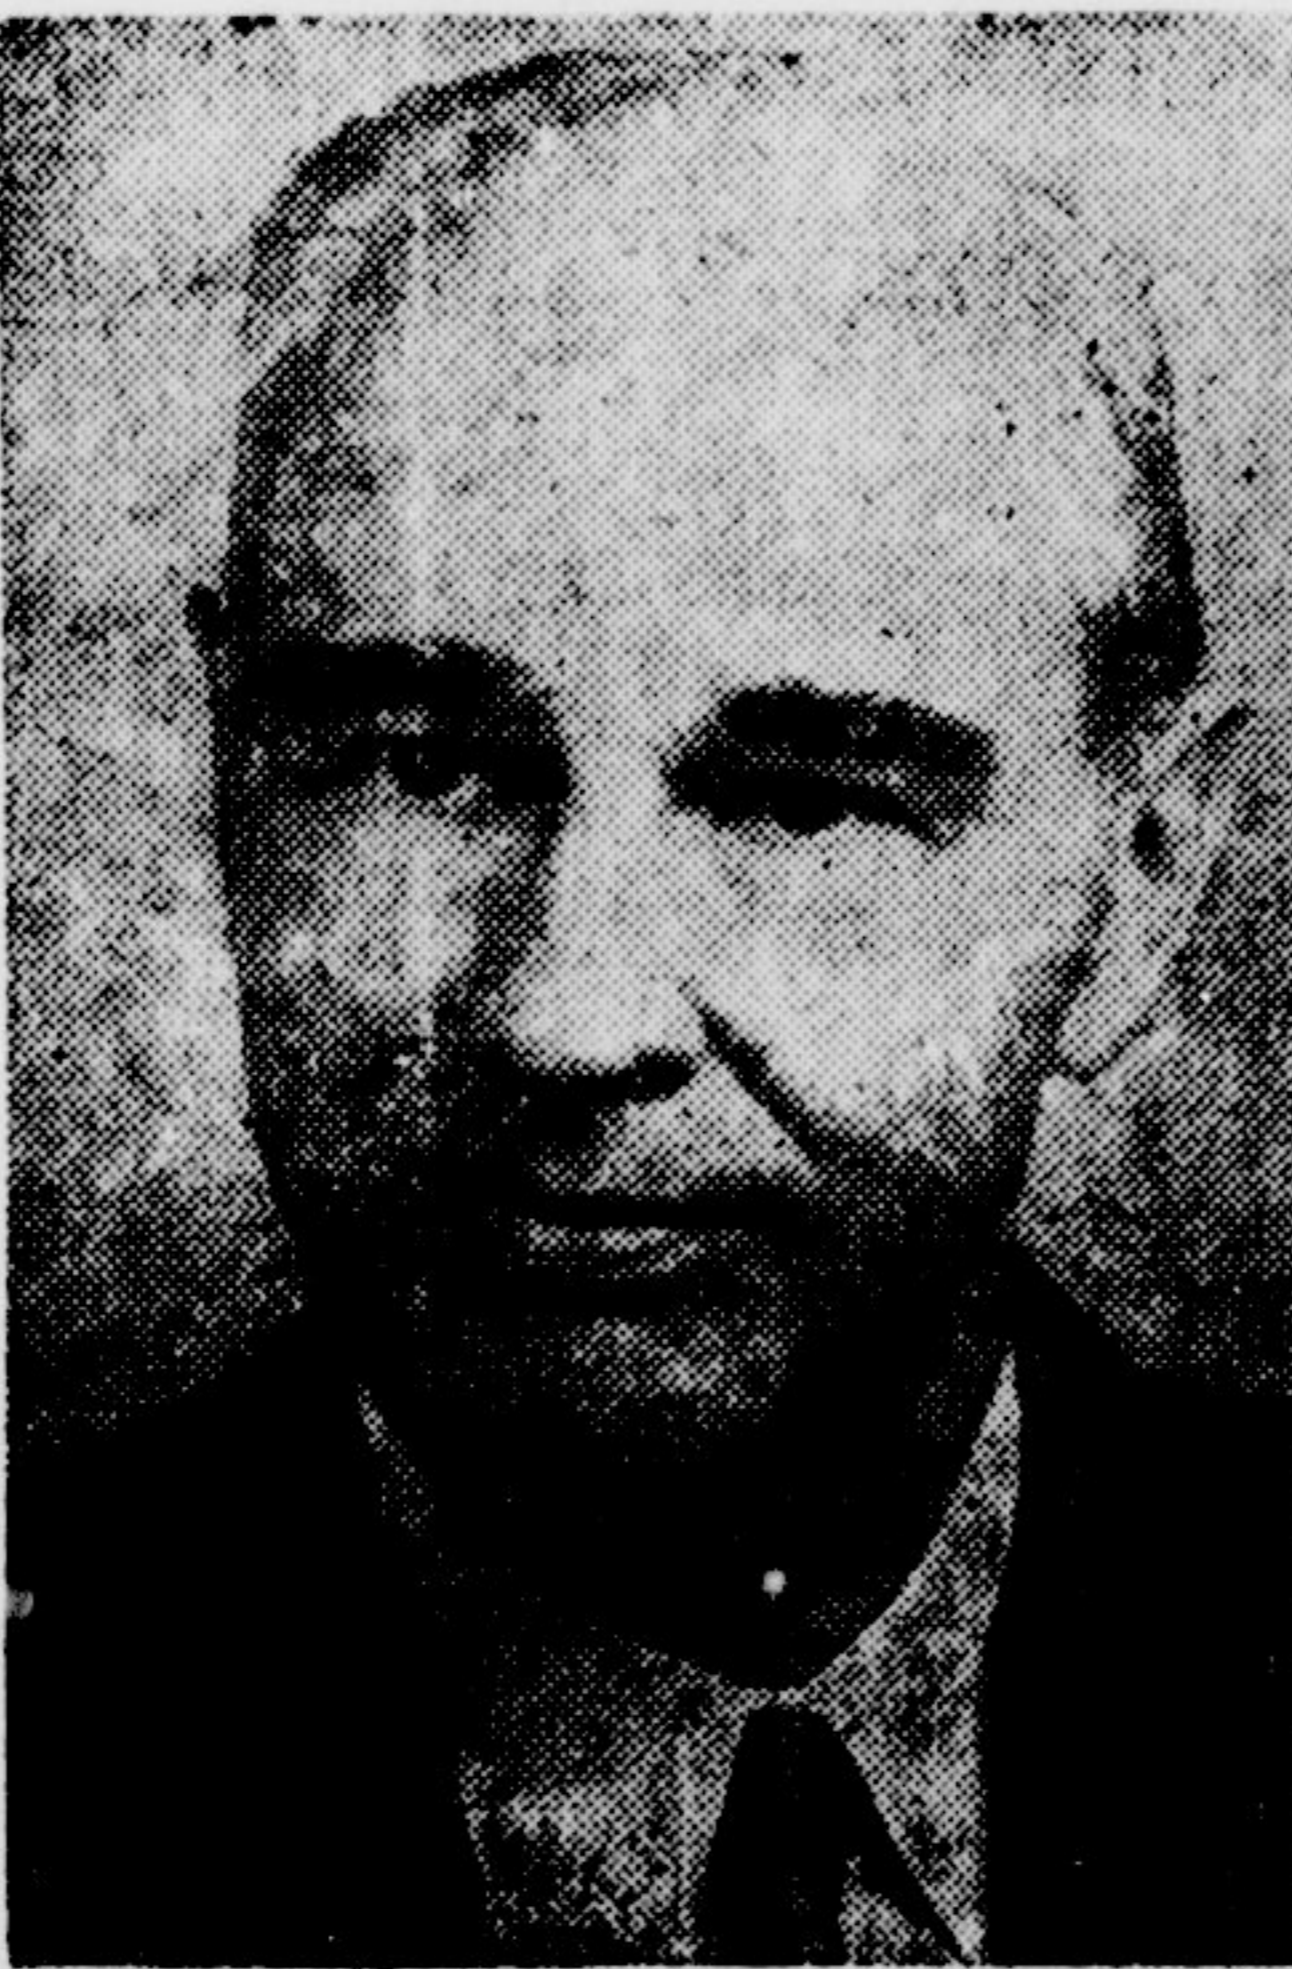

You will be interested to know that the General Assembly is making it possible for us to add thirty-five additional people to the faculty and two to the library staff this fall. It is also providing funds with which to build a new classroom building, enlarge the administration building, an annex to the music building and another wing to the cafeteria.

Plans are almost completed for the two dormitories for men which will be built on the new property across Tenth Street; the road and sidewalks leading to this property will be built this summer. Apparently, money will be provided by the State with which we can build another dormitory for women, beginning work on plans for that this summer. And so, your Alma Mater marches on.

We are delighted to have each of you here; make the most of it and I trust it will be a pleasant as well as profitable summer.

J. D. Messick, President.

Summer Enrollment

An increased summer school enrollment was the report of the Office of the Registrar with an approximate 1675 students enrolled at East Carolina over the figure of 1467 students for last summer. A complete breakdown of the total figures was not available at this time.

Sue Heath and her boyfriend Ruskin Hunt show off their bermudas.

Some Views On Girls' Bermudas

In view of the fact that hot weather is now upon us, the subject of "Why can't girls wear bermuda shorts to class" has come up again. This reporter while sitting in the College Union decided to ask a few people what they thought of the situation. The following comments were made by some of the students:

Ken Houchins said, "I think girls should be allowed to wear bermudas on campus but not to class."

Frank Moore stated, "By all means! With restrictions set up by the girls there shouldn't be any problems arising."

Freddie James made the following statement: "I definitely think they should be allowed to wear bermudas on campus. It is the fashion of the time and wouldn't we all look funny if we didn't change with it?"

Jimmy Phelps' reply to this situation was: "I think girls should definitely be allowed to wear bermudas on campus and to class. However, I don't think they should wear them downtown or to important campus functions."

Edward Small, a graduate student, said, "Every new style which women adopt always looks more attractive than the preceding one—women just know how to dress. Whatever they wear is okay by me!"

Helen Marchbourne stated, "Ladies, today, are becoming less and less dignified. There is a time and place for all things and to me it seems that the classroom and campus is no place for bermuda shorts. I would not like to see them used in this manner."

Lois Hunt's reply was, "I think that anything that would make these summers a little more endurable should be encouraged, and some of the most uncomfortable places on campus are certainly found in the classrooms. Concentration on the lecture would be increased by physical comfort, of the girls as well as of the boys. True, there is a time and place for everything, but the times are changing. If a girl is a lady, she will be one and act as one no matter what she may wear or where she may be."

Griff Wooten, a girl from Salem College, stated, "As the old saying goes 'There is a time and place for everything.' I, myself, do not consider the classroom the proper place for bermudas but would certainly think it "proper" for girls to be allowed to wear them on campus."

Peggy Stewart, a graduate student, replied, "Comfort is an aid to studying. Isn't that why girls are here? If not, why attend class?"

When the sun is shining, it gets terribly hot walking from Cotten Hall to the tennis courts with a raincoat on. Will the girls be able to win their fight to shed those raincoats?

Pot Pourri

By JAN RABY

I think this is going to be Pot Pourri, summer style. Which is to say, well, there's not a whole lot to say. And when you're editor, you don't have time to sit down and discover a few rambling thoughts. You're too busy trying to meet deadlines, get pictures taken, and stories written and to the printer.

Anyway, we're glad to have you in summer school. There're quite a few strange faces among us, so let's do our best to make them feel right at home. Remember, East Carolina is the "friendly" college. Just because we've gotten bigger, it doesn't mean we still can't take time to say "hello" and to help our neighbor out.

Did you vote in the elections? We hope you did. It was kind of a hurry-up affair, but it's necessary when you only have so much time to get things rolling. Incidentally, how come there's never a woman candidate running for the office of president? Are the men really the best leaders?

How many people would like to have a "community sing", say under the direction of the Music Department? It would be a good chance to get together for some free recreation and to meet your neighbor.

We wish to express our deepest regrets in the passing of Dr. Hazel Taylor in the Psychology Department. She had been in a Richmond hospital undergoing surgery. Her loss will be felt deeply by the school.

Don't miss the one-act plays sponsored by the drama workshop to be given in our new Flanagan Syivan theatre beside Garrett dormitory. They work hard and usually show some good talent.

Anyone interested in working for our FM radio station WWWS which has its offices on second floor of the library is urged to contact Miss Roulston or to visit the radio studio.

We'll really miss Dr. Krausnick of the Math Department who has retired and is going over to Hawaii. His philosophy of life was intriguing and he was a most interesting person to know.

It's really good to see the graduate students back in school. Which just goes to show, you're never too old to go to college—or to come back. And besides, it will help keep you young! Where else can you get so much for your money?

We're looking forward to those watermelon cuttings in the afternoon out beside the dining hall. You know, they're always well attended.

We hope you enjoy your stay here during the summer session and that the heat won't get you down. These cool spells helped make the beginning not so bad. Have fun and learn a lot.

Return Of A Graduate

By PEGGY LOU STEWART

Why does the forgotten and unknown graduate return to haunt the halls of learning? Does the glamour of a salary raise in the near future pressure one into the struggle with books and classes? Is the possibility of obtaining a degree strong enough to create a desire to launch into a sea of strangeness in an institution where modernization has made it unfamiliar to its former students?

Any large body of water has its moments of anguish and its moments of calmness. One traveling by water is not given any favors so far as weather conditions are concerned. The traveler takes his chances so far as the elements of nature go, but he does not hate an ocean merely because there is a storm. A sturdy and well-equipped ship with a reliable captain seem to be the essentials.

Knowledge is like a vast amount of water. Some of it is familiar and some very unfamiliar, but familiarity comes by means of landmarks. If a student finds himself in a strange place, his first step must be to find something sound and fix it in his mind—from there, he can venture forth into the realm of the unknown, a step at a time—though difficulties may come, one must be prepared by providing himself with a ship made of confidence and a determination as strong as that of a captain's pride of his ship and love of the sea.

Here's a tribute to the unknown graduates we have on campus. May their determination to succeed equal their love of the pursuit of knowledge, and may their success run parallel with the confidence they may find inside their hearts and minds.

Jordan W. Bailey Leaves Marines To Become Frosh

It's never too late for anyone to come to college. To prove it, take Mr. Jordan W. Bailey, a freshman here. He has just finished twenty years in the United States Marines. But, "I saw the need for an education", and on February 1, 1957, he enrolled at ECC to major in Industrial Arts and begin his quest for a B. S. degree.

Originally from Mississippi, his home is now in Jacksonville, N. C. His wife teaches in the high school there. They have two sons, seven and nine years of age.

Mr. Bailey graduated from high school in 1935 and joined the Marines in 1937. In 1939, he completed a trip around the world through the Suez Canal and back through Panama. He has spent a total of 11 years in foreign countries. Mr. Bailey was retired as a Chief Warrant Officer.

It was through the extension program offered by ECC at Camp Lejeune, N. C., that he became interested in attending the college.

He expressed the feeling that the students here are very friendly. What's in the future for him? He must be really sold on Tar Heelia, for he plans to teach Industrial Arts and to remain in North Carolina.

Mr. Jordan W. Bailey tries Industrial Arts at college after twenty years of service.

Butler Honored With Degree

James Butler, Alumni Secretary and Sports News Director for the college, has received the honorary degree of doctor of letters from Belin Memorial University of Missouri, it was announced by Dr. A. C. Holand, vice president and dean of the university.

Summer Recreation

Card playing is a favorite form of recreation in summer school during the hot days.

Business Dept. Begins Apprenticeship For Students

Girls Sports Start

East Carolina becomes the first college in the state to set up a new program of Business Apprenticeship for its students, it was announced by Dr. E. R. Browning, head of the Department of Business.

Through an arrangement with two life insurance firms in Raleigh and the Business Department, three students have been chosen to serve as apprentices for the summer. They are: Jean Hargett, Patricia Lockamy, and Charles A. Rhodes, all three members of the honor fraternity, Pi Omega Pi.

They will receive college credit for their work under this "earn-as-you-learn" arrangement. Dr. James L. White will co-ordinate the work with Dr. Browning and also serve as Faculty Supervisor.

Plans for a girls softball team sponsored by the College Union have been released by Miss Cynthia Mendenhall, College Union director. Practice sessions will be held every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Girls teams from Kinston, Wilson, and AC are being contacted for future games. Last year the team played games with Kinston and Wilson.

Members of the team are Hilda Roberts, Sylvia Beasley, Charlotte Fitchett, Carole Williams, Georgia Morris, Carolyn Fulghum, Sylvia Jones, Leora Holland, Jan Raby, Jane Carroll, Peggy Stewart, and Barbara Ann Moore. However, membership is not limited and anyone interested is urged to come to the practice sessions. Herb Spencer will act as coach for the team and Miss Mendenhall as manager.

Carter Sets Up West Coast Trip

The oriental flavor of a Chinese restaurant; the exotic gardens of Vancouver Island; the exhilarating excitements of Reno; and the thrill of a major league baseball game, these and many more interesting places are the destinations of the members of the West Coast Tour.

These tours are especially designed for undergraduates who will receive nine hours college credit from the tour.

The thirty-three day tour begins on July 10, at East Carolina College with four days of lectures in the fields of geography, science, and history. With this in sight, the tour has added value and interest.

The tour carries you through San Francisco, Chicago, Seattle, Salt Lake City, the Badlands of South Dakota, and other places.

The Great Mormon Church of Utah, rodeos, night clubs, operas, plays, and zoos will be just a part of the places of interest on the tour.

Older people or younger people, there is always companionship. Stopping along the way to enjoy picnics adds to the congenial group spirit.

There is still time to sign up. July 1 is the last day for applications to be accepted. For information write to Mrs. Ed J. Carter, Box 271, East Carolina College, or contact Dr. Ed J. Carter who is director of the tour.

Dr. James Poindexter lectures to members of the workshop on Moral and Spiritual Values in Public Education being held June 3-14 under the direction of Dr. John R. Bennett shown at lower right.

Two Week Workshops Given First Session

Five workshops are being conducted during the first session of summer school.

A workshop in Moral and Spiritual Values in Public Education from June 4 through June 14 is presently being given under the direction of Dr. John B. Bennett in conjunction with the Danforth Foundation. The purpose of this workshop is to acquaint administrators, teachers, and others involved by profession or interest in public education with ways in which moral and spiritual values may be given appropriate emphasis in public education.

From June 17-27, a workshop in Alcoholism in Health Education will be conducted for three quarters hours credit, meeting from 1:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m. under Dr.

N. M. Jorgensen. The purpose is to help those who attend gain a better understanding of the many problems, sociological, psychological and physiological, which arise through the use and misuse of beverage alcohol. The workshop is designed primarily especially for teachers whose responsibilities include teaching about alcohol. They will gain an objective and constructive approach to the problems of alcohol that they will be able to use in their teaching.

A workshop in Family Problems with emphasis upon Personal and Family Living will be held June 28 through July 9 for three hours credit from 1:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m. under Dr. John B. Bennett. This is designed for teachers, welfare workers, ministers and others who are concerned with counseling in marriage and family relationships.

From June 4 to July 10 a workshop in Resource-Use Education for six hours credit is being given with Dr. E. J. Carter as coordinator. This course is under the direction of the Education Department.

A workshop in Improvement of Instruction in Typewriting is being given from June 3 to June 14 by the Business Department for three hours credit.

Women Dorms Select Summer School Officers

Officers in the womens' dorms were elected recently for Cotten, Fleming, and Jarvis Halls. Also all proctors were selected in the undergraduate dorms. These will serve as the summer school Women's Judiciary.

In Cotten Lena Kay McLemore of Henderson, N. C. and a rising senior was elected to serve as president. A primary education major, she has been active in ACE, the YWCA, as a Sophomore counselor, a member of the Handbook Committee, and a majorette with the East Carolina Band.

Cotten's vice president is Peggy Lou Stewart from Raleigh who graduated with an A. B. degree in Science in 1957 from ECC. She transferred from Wake Forest College and has been active here in the Golf Club, WRA, English Club, Science Club, Chi Beta Phi, and a member of the East Carolinian staff.

Serving as secretary is Flora Ruth Roseman, from Enfield, and a Home Ec major in her sophomore year. She is a member of the Home Ec Club, College Union Board, B. S. U., secretary of the Sophomore class for 1957-58, and Forum president of B. S. U. She will also be the treasurer of Cotten.

In Fleming Hall Dot Culberson from Siler City will hold down the office of president. She is a junior and mathematics major. She will be treasurer of Fleming next year and a member of a SGA Standing Committee. Vice president for Fleming is Dot Mitchell of Hillsboro, a junior, and a primary education major. Lynn Bane of Raleigh is the new secretary for Fleming. A sophomore transfer from Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, she is a welfare major.

The treasurer for Fleming is Pat Davis, a senior from Wilmington, N. C. and a primary education major. In the graduate dormitory, Jarvis Hall, Georgia Morris of Kenly will be the president, with Grace Sanderson of Magnolia as vice president. Janice Cooper of Spring Hope, is the secretary-treasurer.

FTA Officers

Officers for the Future Teachers of America for the summer term will have Phiena Nance as president; Allie Mae Barnes as First Asst. to the president; Lessie Cole, vice president; Kay Bagwell, corresponding secretary, and Carolyn Waters, recording secretary.

There will be three well-planned meetings during the summer. This program is offered to teachers and future teachers. The first meeting, June 20, will be held in the Industrial Arts Department in Flanagan Building at 6:00 p. m.

An FTA social will be held July 4. The next meeting will be July 18 at 6:00 p. m. and the last meeting will be August 8, at 6:00 p. m.

College Union Organization Makes Recreational Plans

Officers were elected by the College Union Organization at its first meeting for the summer term June 10.

Barney Strutton will preside as president, Sylvia Beasley as secretary, and Georgia Morris as treasurer.

The College Union Board selected two co-chairmen on the games committee: Charlotte D. Fitchett and A. H. Bremer. Jimmie E. Wall was chosen as chairman of the social committee.

Plans for summer recreational activities and services were discussed. Suggestions that were made included watermelon cutting, dance contests, combo dances, talent show, and even a College Union nightclub one night a week for couples only. Tournaments in ping pong, badminton, checkers, pin-ochle, and softball for the girls whose intramural program is inactive during the summer were decided upon.

An extra project was discussed which dealt with the buying of enough bicycles to equip the College Union for various group riding expeditions.

Further planning and the ironing out of minor details was left to the next meeting after the College Union appropriation request was made.

These committees stand open for comments and suggestions at all times from the student body.
