Students To Vote On Change Concerning SGA Treasurer; Two More Changes Discussed

Three constitutional changes are in the making, one being voted on this afternoon, and two in the discussion stages. The student body is being asked to approve additional qualifications for the SGA treasurer and assistant treasurer.

The second constitutional change is being posted for two weeks prior to an SGA vote, involves Article three, Section three, and will read: Each member shall pay each quarter a fee of $13.00, or such other amount that has been duly and properly determined, to cover publications, entertainments, and all other student activities for which appropriations are made from the student fund. The article now reads $11.00.

The latter two constitutional changes were brought up at the call SGA meeting Monday night. Motion was made to consider changing Article seventeen, section four (Publication Board) B, which reads: The editors of the publications shall be appointed by the publications board. Each member of the Publication Board shall assume one vote.

The third constitutional change reads:

Article XVII, Section 4. Each member of the publication board shall have one vote in all board matters.

B. The editor of the Buccaneer shall be appointed by the publications board. The editor of the East Carolinian shall be selected in the following manner:

(1) Persons desiring to run for editor of the newspaper shall submit their names and qualifications to the publications board.

(2) The publications board shall select, from the persons petitioning it, at least two persons who they feel are qualified for the editorship.

(3) The board shall turn the names of the persons it selects to run for the position over to the Elections Committee.

(4) The Elections Committee shall hold the election on, or no later than, two weeks after the day of general campus (SGA) elections.

(5) The newly elected editor shall assume his duties immediately following the announcement of the official results.

Kappa Sigma Nu Acquires First Fraternity House

There's a new sign on Elizabeth Street. It's the sign of a new institution; the beginning of a new tradition. Three Greek letters adorn the sign. Kappa Sigma Nu, one of the five social fraternities on campus, has a house.

President Charlie White commented, "I am happy to say that Kappa Sigma Nu fraternity is the first fraternity to have a house, although two others have chapter rooms. I hope that in the near future all fraternities will have houses located near the campus."

Approximately twelve brothers will be living in the temporary location come spring quarter. The fraternity recently acquired a house-number. The brothers plan to keep the house during summer school if enough of them are on campus.

By the beginning of fall quarter Kappa Sigma Nu plans to have a permanent house with larger accommodations located near the campus.

First Off-Campus

The first social fraternity to begin having their meetings off campus was Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity. Phi Kappa Alpha's chapter room is located above Fleming's Gift Shop in downtown Greenville.

The chapter room is a combination of a lounge area and a television area. The brothers recently established a set of staunch house rules of conduct for the room.

No Commitments

Vice president Mac Lancaster stated, "Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity is working hard to obtain a permanent house to live in. We are not making any commitments until after we become affiliated nationally. Then we will have many alumni plus the national fraternity to back us and we will find a suitable house."

The fraternity is interested in obtaining a house which will accommodate approximately forty brothers.

Chapter Room

Sigma Rho Phi has their chapter room above Perkins-Proctor in downtown Greenville. The brothers secured the chapter room before the Christmas holidays and worked diligently in order to have their Christmas party there.

The chapter room consists of a seventy-foot ballroom area and a separate television room. The area is painted a combination of soft reds and was furnished by the fraternity.

President Murie Teachey stated, "We plan to keep the chapter room for parties even after we get a house." He further commented that the national fraternity will work with them towards getting a permanent house as soon as their petition goes through.

House By Summer

Sigma Rho Phi may secure its house by the summer, but they will definitely be in a permanent location by fall quarter. The fraternity will function during summer school and the chapter room will be open for the brothers.

Phi Gamma Pi

Gordon Robinson, president of Phi Gamma Pi fraternity commented, "We plan to have our fraternity house by the beginning of fall quarter. We want a house near the campus big enough to accommodate all of the brothers." He further stated that they have been investigating several possibilities. Phi Gamma Pi functions on an eight months basis.

Delta Sigma Rho

Mike Katsias, Delta Sigma Rho fraternity president, stated that his fraternity is at work with plans to secure a house by next fall quarter.

"We are not looking for a permanent location. One of the reasons we are waiting on the house is because of the experience to be gained by the national fraternity, such as advice on finances, housing, food problems and other predicaments that might arise. We want to make sure that no complex problems will result from poor planning."

Notices

Tickets for tonight's game between Atlantic Christian and East Carolina can be secured at the SGA office or the Athletic Department. Girls have been given late permission for the game. A large crowd is expected to be at Rocky Mount for the game tonight and students are urged to get their tickets early.

STUDENT TEACHERS

Applications for Student Teaching, Fall Quarter only, are now being received by Departmental Supervisors. The last date to file applications for Student Teaching Fall Quarter is March 4th.

ECC's Radio Station Carrying Game Tonight Courtesy Of Merchants

Students who wish to hear the ECC-AACC game at Rocky Mount will have a chance to do so as our FM station WWS will carry it, it was announced by Gene Hodges yesterday.

Local merchants who have donated money to get the telephone line through in order to carry the game are the College View Cleaners, the College Shop, Perkins-Proctor, Garrison Lumber Company, and White Chevrolet, Company. The FM station is not allowed to advertise and these merchants will not benefit from the broadcast in this manner.

Anyone who does not have a FM set may hear the game in the library studios on second floor.

Frats To Present Formal

Duke Ambassadors Play; 'Playmate' Will Be Chosen

By KATHRYN JOHNSON

In cooperation with "Playboy" magazine the Interfraternity Council will present the Playboy Formal Saturday night for fraternity members, their dates, guests and pledges. At this first IFC dance the internationally renowned Duke Ambassadors are to play.

A "Playmate" nominee has been chosen by each of the five social fraternities. From these five girls the Duke Ambassadors have been asked to pick one as the "Playmate of '58." "Having the band pick the "Playmate" is the only fair way to choose her since if the fraternities voted the girl representing the largest fraternity would be bound to win," explained president Roddy Jones.

Playmate

Chosen by the five fraternities the following girls have been nominated: Linda Kee (Sigma Rho Phi), Carolyn Hunter (Phi Gamma Pi), Jane Carter (Kappa Sigma Nu), Betty Phillips (Phi Kappa Alpha), and Beth Lanche (Delta Sigma Rho).

"Playboy" magazine is supplying all decorations for the dance, party napkins, bid covers, and invitations with only two stipulations—that the dance be entirely formal (no dinner jackets or cocktail dresses) and that pictures be taken for possible use in the magazine. This is perhaps the first entirely formal dance at East Carolina.

Rabbits!

"Just the setting itself will make a new and different kind of atmosphere, one entirely different from other dances in the past," Roddy commented. The dance band will be at the opposite end of the ball room than it usually is. The middle door will be blocked off and the two side doors used. Four-foot rabbits dressed in tails and bow ties (the symbol of "Playboy") and rabbit chain streamers will decorate the room which will be in caberet style.

Six-foot felt rabbits dressed in long tails and bow ties, replicas of the "Playboy" symbol, have been purchased by fraternity members for souvenirs for their dates. In the back of the rabbit's head is a zippered hole for holding pajamas and on his bow tie are the boy's fraternity letters.

Figure

Interfraternity Council officers and members and their dates will form a giant "P" for the figure. A picture will be made of this figure and submitted to "Playboy."

IFC officers are Roddy Jones, president (Kappa Sigma Nu); Mac Lancaster, vice president (Phi Kappa Alpha); Mike Uzzle, secretary (Phi Gamma Pi); and Hurky DeStout, treasurer (Delta Sigma Rho).

Council Members

On the Interfraternity Council are Kappa Sigma Nu: Charley White (president), Jimmy Phelps, and Dave Thompson; Sigma Rho Phi: Merle Teachey (president), Tommy Baker, and Jim Owens; Phi Gamma Pi: Gordon Robinson (president), Bill Wallace, and Kay Thompson.

Other members are Phi Kappa Alpha: Clark Taylor (president), James Teachey, and Don Knight; Delta Sigma Rho: Mike Katsias (president), George Bagly, and Wade Ward.

About two hundred couples are expected for the dance. This includes representatives from national fraternities and officers of the National Interfraternity Conference. Dave Thompson of Durham (Kappa Sigma Nu) is the "Playboy" representative on campus and has for his job to see that everything is carried out in order as agreed with "Playboy," and to represent "Playboy" at the dance.

Delta Sigma Rho Approved Colony Of Lambda Chi

Delta Sigma Rho, local social fraternity here at the college, received a telephone call Tuesday notifying them that they have been accepted unanimously as a colony of Lambda Chi Alpha national social fraternity.

Initiation as a full member of the fraternity will take place during the spring.

The call was made by Dr. Lee F. Tuttle of Winston-Salem, one of the nine members of the Grand High Zeta which is the executive body of the fraternity. Unanimous approval was also given by the chapters in the state: University of North Carolina, Duke University, Wake Forest College, North Carolina State College, and High Point College.

Mr. George Spasyk, chapter service secretary, will be on campus from February 20-22 to acquaint the members of the fraternity with all steps necessary before the initiation takes place in the spring.

Delta Sigma Rho has a membership of 64 at the present time, the largest social fraternity on campus. The fraternity has been corresponding with Lambda Chi Alpha since the approval by the Board of Trustees on November 12.

The officers of the fraternity are: Mike Katsias, President; Norman Anderson, Vice-president; Tom Edison, Secretary; and Frank Thomas, Treasurer. It was founded on October 5, 1956.

Nominees for "Playmate of '58", Beth Lanche, Jane Carter, Betty Phillips, Linda Kee, and Carolyn Hunter, pose in front of a rabbit with boudoir eyes, the symbol of "Playboy." The Duke Ambassadors will pick the winner at the IFC Playboy Formal Saturday night. (Photo Bob Harper)

FTA Now Student NEA, To Sponsor Representative Miss, Mr. Future Teacher

The Robert H. Wright Chapter of the Student National Education Association—formerly known as the "FTA"—is again sponsoring its annual project of selecting Miss and Mr. Representative Future Teachers from East Carolina College to attend the spring convention of the North Carolina Education Association in Asheville, March 20-22.

As an important result of a new ruling made by the Board of Directors of the NCEA and announced late in December, 1957, the persons chosen must be members of a Student NEA Chapter; and in North Carolina the Student chapters are also members of the Future Teachers Department of the NCEA.

The Advisory Committee and the Executive Committee for the Department of Future Teachers also suggested that "one criterion for selection be the individual's contribution to the work of the local chapter." As formerly been the practice, each college chapter may develop its own method of selection.

The Executive Council of the local chapter recommended and the chapter voted that the selection committee should consist of the chapter president, the two faculty advisors, and two students appointed by the SGA president. This year's committee consists of Gail Cox, president; Dr. Woodrow Flanary and Miss Emma L. Hooper, faculty advisors; and Hilda Tedder and Bucky Monroe, SGA members.

The chapter also decided that all members who are seniors during at least two quarters of the 1957-1958 session are eligible to be considered for selection for places as Miss and Mr. Future Teacher; and on Friday evening, January 31, the chapter honored these eligible members by a dessert hour in the Alumni-Faculty House.

The Robert H. Wright Chapter of "FTA"—Future Teachers of America—has recently received a new charter that reads:

"The Robert H. Wright Student Education Association is hereby chartered as a chapter in the Student National Education Association and the Future Teachers Department of the North Carolina Education Association."

This new charter bears the date May 10, 1939; and the record "Charter No. 2 in North Carolina"; for only the name of the organization for the college chapters of the student divisions in the National Education Association and the North Carolina Education Association has been changed.

The organization of the Future Teachers of America under two separate names was completed at the Future Teachers meeting during the National Education Association convention last July. Delivery of new charters have been gradually accomplished.

The services of the NEA to its student division are to be expanded and the Future Teachers Department

Sleeping Beauty To Be Presented By Playhouse

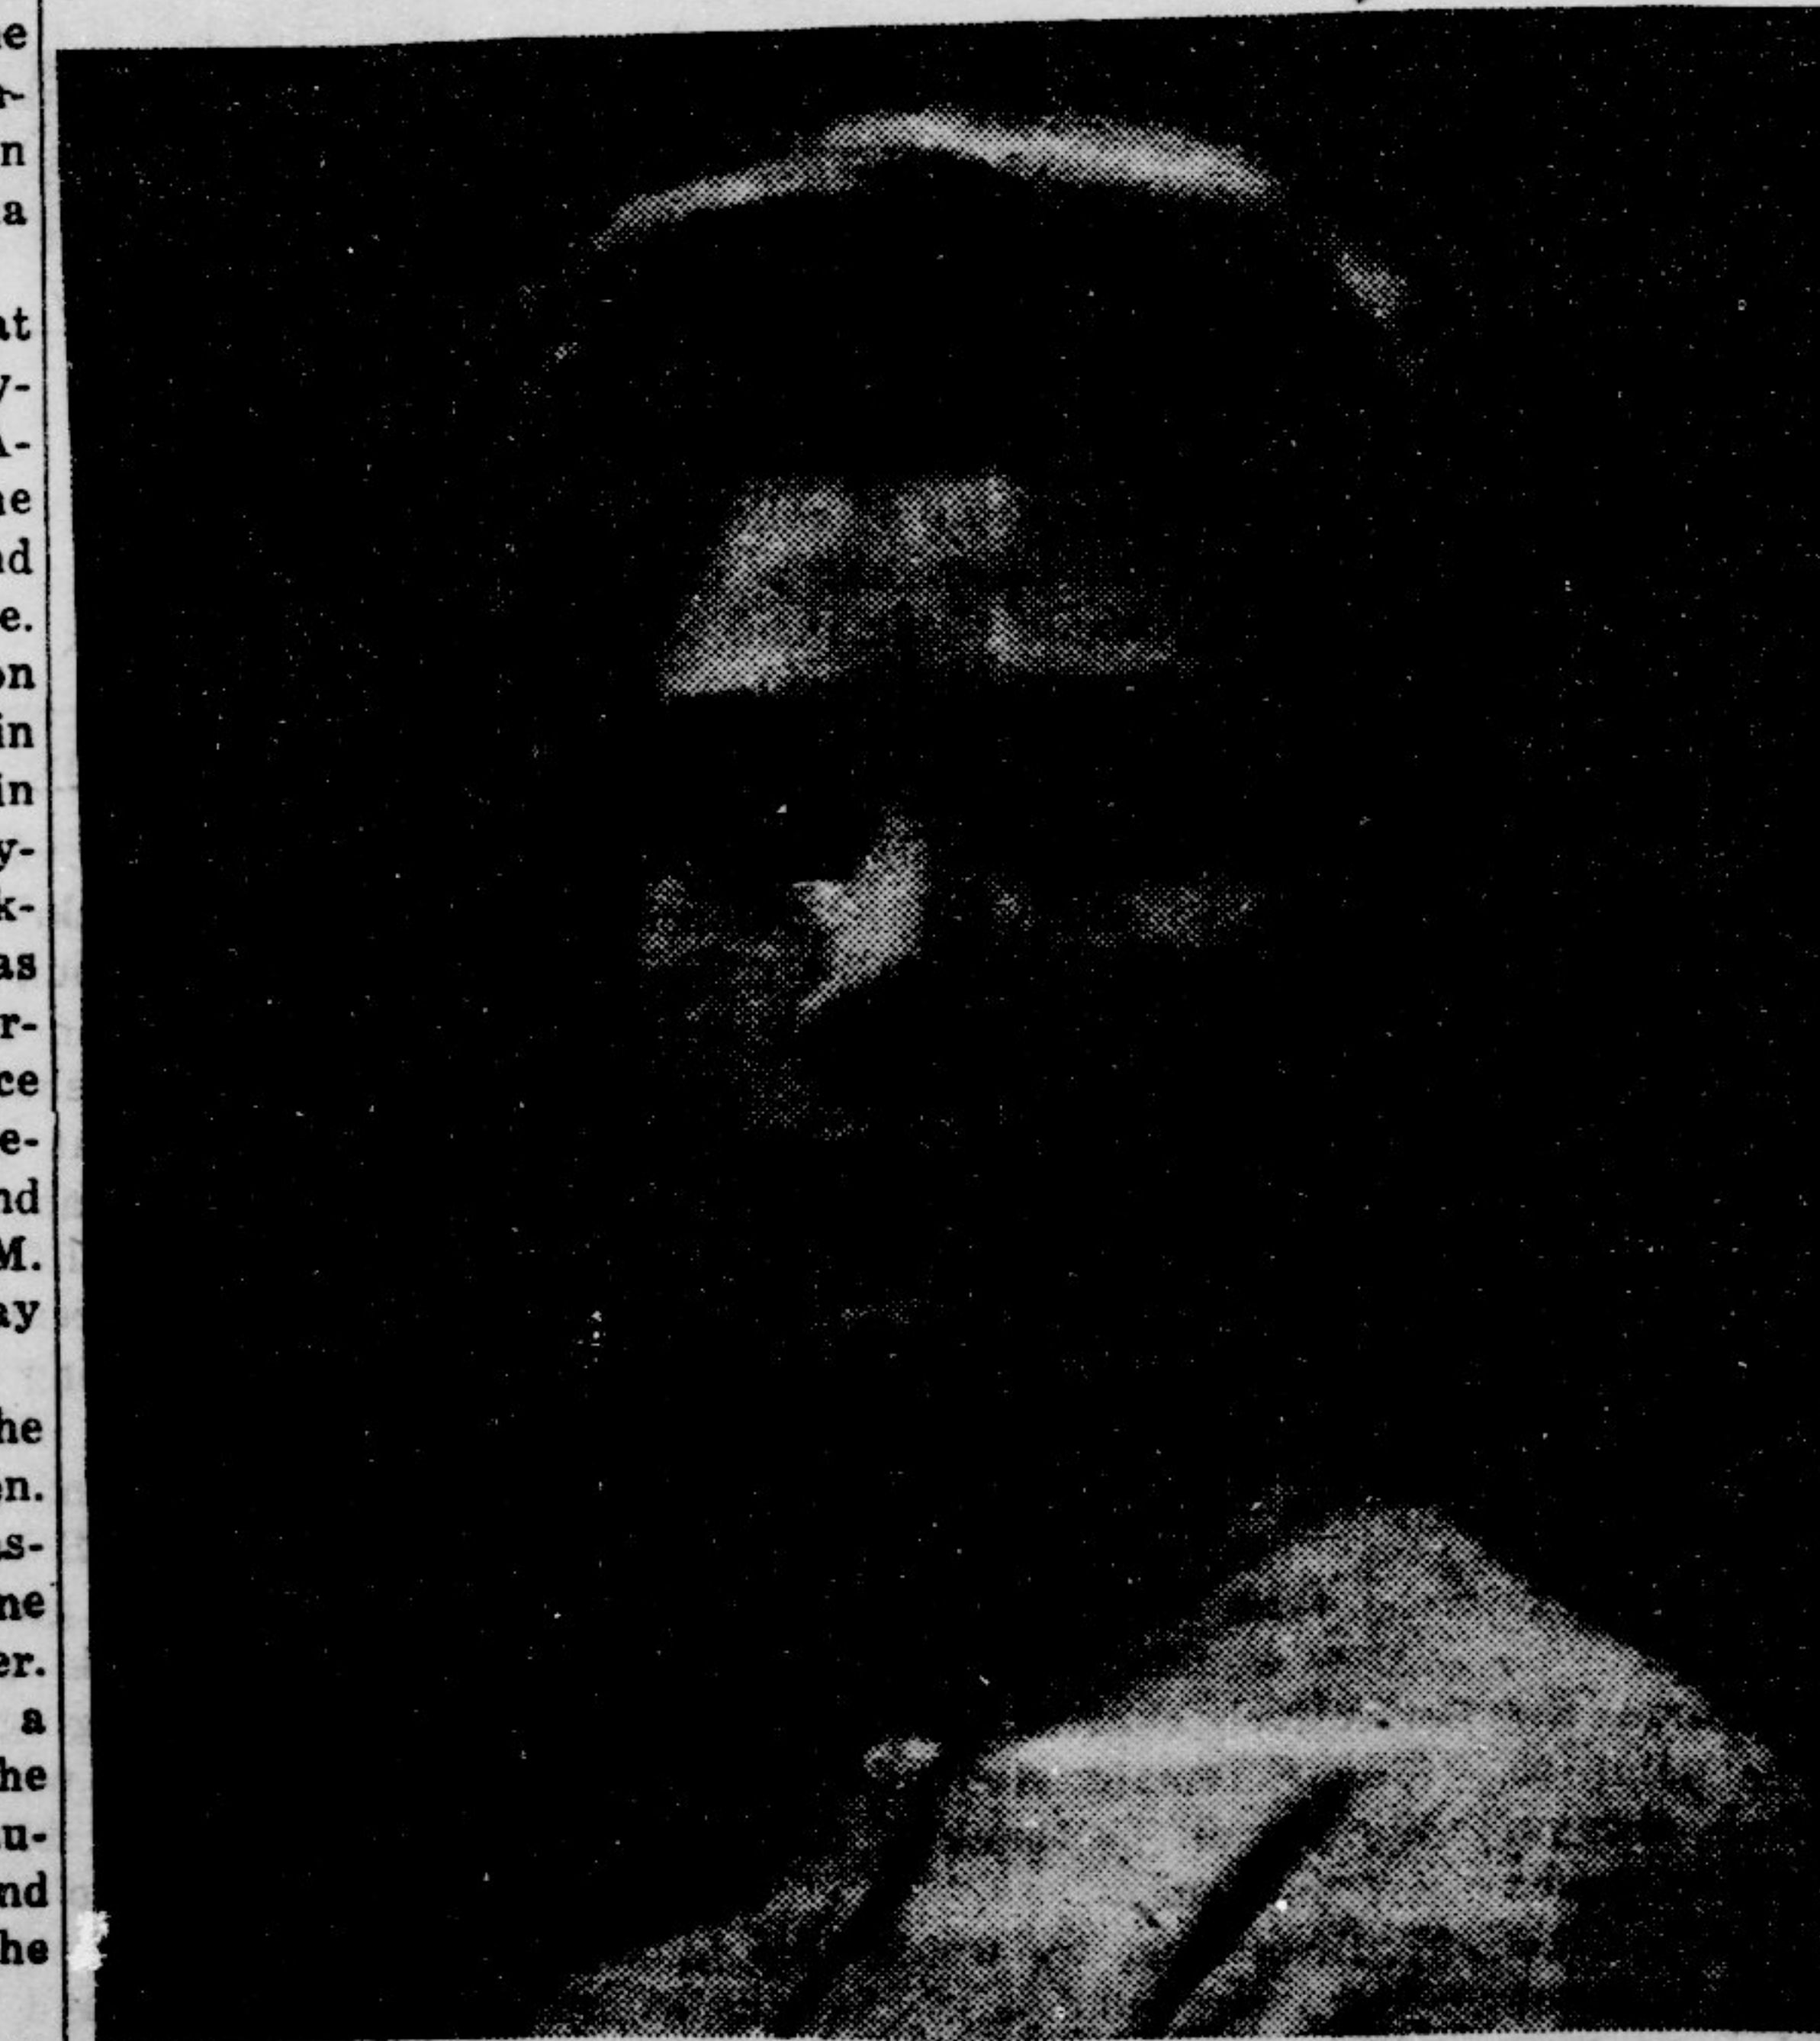

SLEEPING BEAUTY, a play for children in three acts, by Charlotte B. Corpenning, will be presented by the East Carolina Playhouse for the children of Pitt County on the afternoons of March 10, 11, 12, and 13. The play will be presented in cooperation with the American Association of University Women, who sponsor the play as a yearly project. After the play has completed its run in Greenville, it is likely it will be taken on a tour of other eastern North Carolina cities.

The play will be directed by Pat Baker, who has directed other Playhouse productions such as PYGMALION and AMONG THIEVES. The stage manager is Sylvia Ruston, and the technical director is James Trice.

Final tryouts for the production were held Monday night. Those in the cast include Doris Robbins, in the title role; Shirley Dixon as Frytania, the evil fairy; Chester Jackson as the King; A. W. Caudill as Gort; Leigh Dobson as Ella; Barbara Wilson as Una; Jimmy Trice as Norbert; Janice Saunders as Freona; Betty Milton as Cordia; and Patsy Millican as Belita; Mary M. Kelly as the Queen; and George Ray as the Prince.

Several technical features of the play promise to astound the children. A mammoth spider web made of elastic will dominate the stage in one scene, as will the room in the tower. Other interesting points include a song by the evil fairy to lure the Beauty to the Tower, and the Beauty's dance. The musical background of the play adds to the magic of the enchanted forest.

Work on the production has already begun. Any person interested in assisting in technical work is asked to contact James Trice, Box 788.

Could this be East Carolina's Best Dressed girl? Cast your suggestion in the box that has been placed in the Student Union. (Photo Bob Harper)

Glamour Contest Procedure Set Up

For the girl who knows how to dress "Glamour Magazine" has a reward, a trip to New York City with a stay at the Waldorf Astoria. And it all begins at home. The EAST CAROLINIAN, local sponsor of the contest, will have a suggestion box and ask students to make suggestions as to who is the best dressed girl on the ECC campus. The suggestion box will be placed in the Student Union to accommodate the students' opinions.

When the suggestions are returned to the EAST CAROLINIAN a student-faculty committee will select ten who will be presented to the student body for a vote by ballots clipped from the EAST CAROLINIAN. Pictures of the top ECC ten will be featured in the newspaper.

The winner from this group will submit photographs to the editors of "Glamour" who will then select the "10 Best Dressed College Girls in America." The winners will be photographed on their respective campuses, and in June will be flown to New York as "Glamour's" guests. During their visit to New York they will stay at the Waldorf Astoria, will participate in "Glamour's" College Fashion Show and will be interviewed and entertained by the editors.

On By-Laws And A Lost Cause

After receiving the information from President Jimmy Phelps that the SGA sets aside a fund (in the neighborhood of three or four hundred dollars last year) for the United Fund and that the March of Dimes receives funds, the EAST CAROLINIAN retracts its challenge.

However, we regret that due to this technicality of a constitution by-law, East Carolina College will once again contribute a symbolic gesture of charity, rather than to show that it has a heart and the willingness to place a higher value on relieving human suffering than the personal gratification of selfish pleasures. It's too bad that now each student won't put aside a dime a day for ten days and contribute that dollar to the Polio Fund Drive.

We hope, however, that the students will take time to read the series of editorials that we will run from week to week on the March of Dimes campaign. Then you can say you're doing your share . . . for apparently that is all the Polio campaign means for this campus . . . another episode of "going through the motions."

Constitutional Change Proposed Again For Editor Selection

This past Monday night at the SGA call meeting a proposal was brought up stating that a constitutional change be made regarding the selection procedure of the editor of the EAST CAROLINIAN. This latest measure is to the effect that all applications for the position will be handled by the Publications Board and narrowed down to two persons, the winner to be chosen by a student body election.

At this time the editor of the EAST CAROLINIAN reserves judgement on this measure. The measure will be carefully considered as to intent, honorable or selfish. Possibly the discussion at the next SGA meeting will bring out the motives concerned.

The policy of the present EAST CAROLINIAN and its editorial staff is to serve—the college and the student body, to the best of its ability. We believe that this should always be the first aim, and the first consideration of any student holding a position of responsibility in any organization under the SGA's jurisdiction. Any student who becomes obligated to a group and commits himself to follow their principles first, rather than those of his college does not deserve to hold SGA office.

Editorially Speaking A Reply To WC

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a copy of the letter sent to the editor of the Western Carolinian, Western Carolina College, by SGA president Jimmy Phelps.

For the information of the student body, the editorial concerned is also reprinted in full.

Our only comment is to note the lack of verified statements (without bias) concerning the whole situation. The only fact we're happy to print is the final score of the WC-ECC game this past Friday night, 62-61 in favor of ECC.

If there is a modern-day Diogenes (not prejudiced) available who saw the January 20 WC game, we'd be happy to hear from him. (Diogenes was a noble Greek gentleman who was continuously searching with his lantern for an honest man.)
Dear Editor:

I received a copy of your editorial entitled "And They Call Us 'Hicks'." This was sent to me, presumably from a Western Carolina student, who claimed I wouldn't have the "guts" to post this article in our College Union, yet this person refused to take the responsibility for mailing me the article because the note was unsigned. Just for this unknown person's benefit, the article was not only posted, but it was also read in part at the beginning of the ECC-WCC game Friday night.

After receiving your editorial I investigated your accusations. I talked to our coach, players, fans, and even to several members of the Western Carolina team. From these conversations I gathered several little jewels of information.

1. It seems that the attitude of the Western Carolina students was derogatory and hostile toward our players during their entire stay at WCC. They were even the object of vulgar remarks in our cafeteria.

2. Before the game started a WCC fan ran out on the court and made obscene motions toward the East Carolina bench.

3. These fans of yours seemed to take great pleasure in addressing uncouth phrases toward the members of our team throughout the game. One female fan, I am informed from a reliable source, actually stood up and yelled at one of our players in such a vulgar and disgraceful manner as to embarrass even the most liberal minded male in the crowd.

4. At the end of the game, your fans showed their smallness even further by waving sticks and shoes in order to show they were "tough" enough to "learn those Pirates a lesson."

5. Such actions as you mentioned in your article and as described here are NOT permitted on our court and they should not be allowed to occur anywhere!

6. Admittedly, these items do not excuse any uncouth actions on the part of our players. However, there also seems to be no justification for the actions of your supporters.

Quite in contrast to the above mentioned facts I am happy to report that your team members were shown every courtesy during their stay on our campus. We were most happy to have them as our guests and they were treated accordingly. They most definitely were not the targets of any off-color remarks.

We realize, as I am sure you do also, that such articles as your editorial (and reputed actions in your editorial) make for ill feelings and bad inter-college relationships. It is our sincere desire that nothing of this nature will occur again. We can't undo that which has already happened, but we can work together to build better relations and understanding between our "sister" institutions.

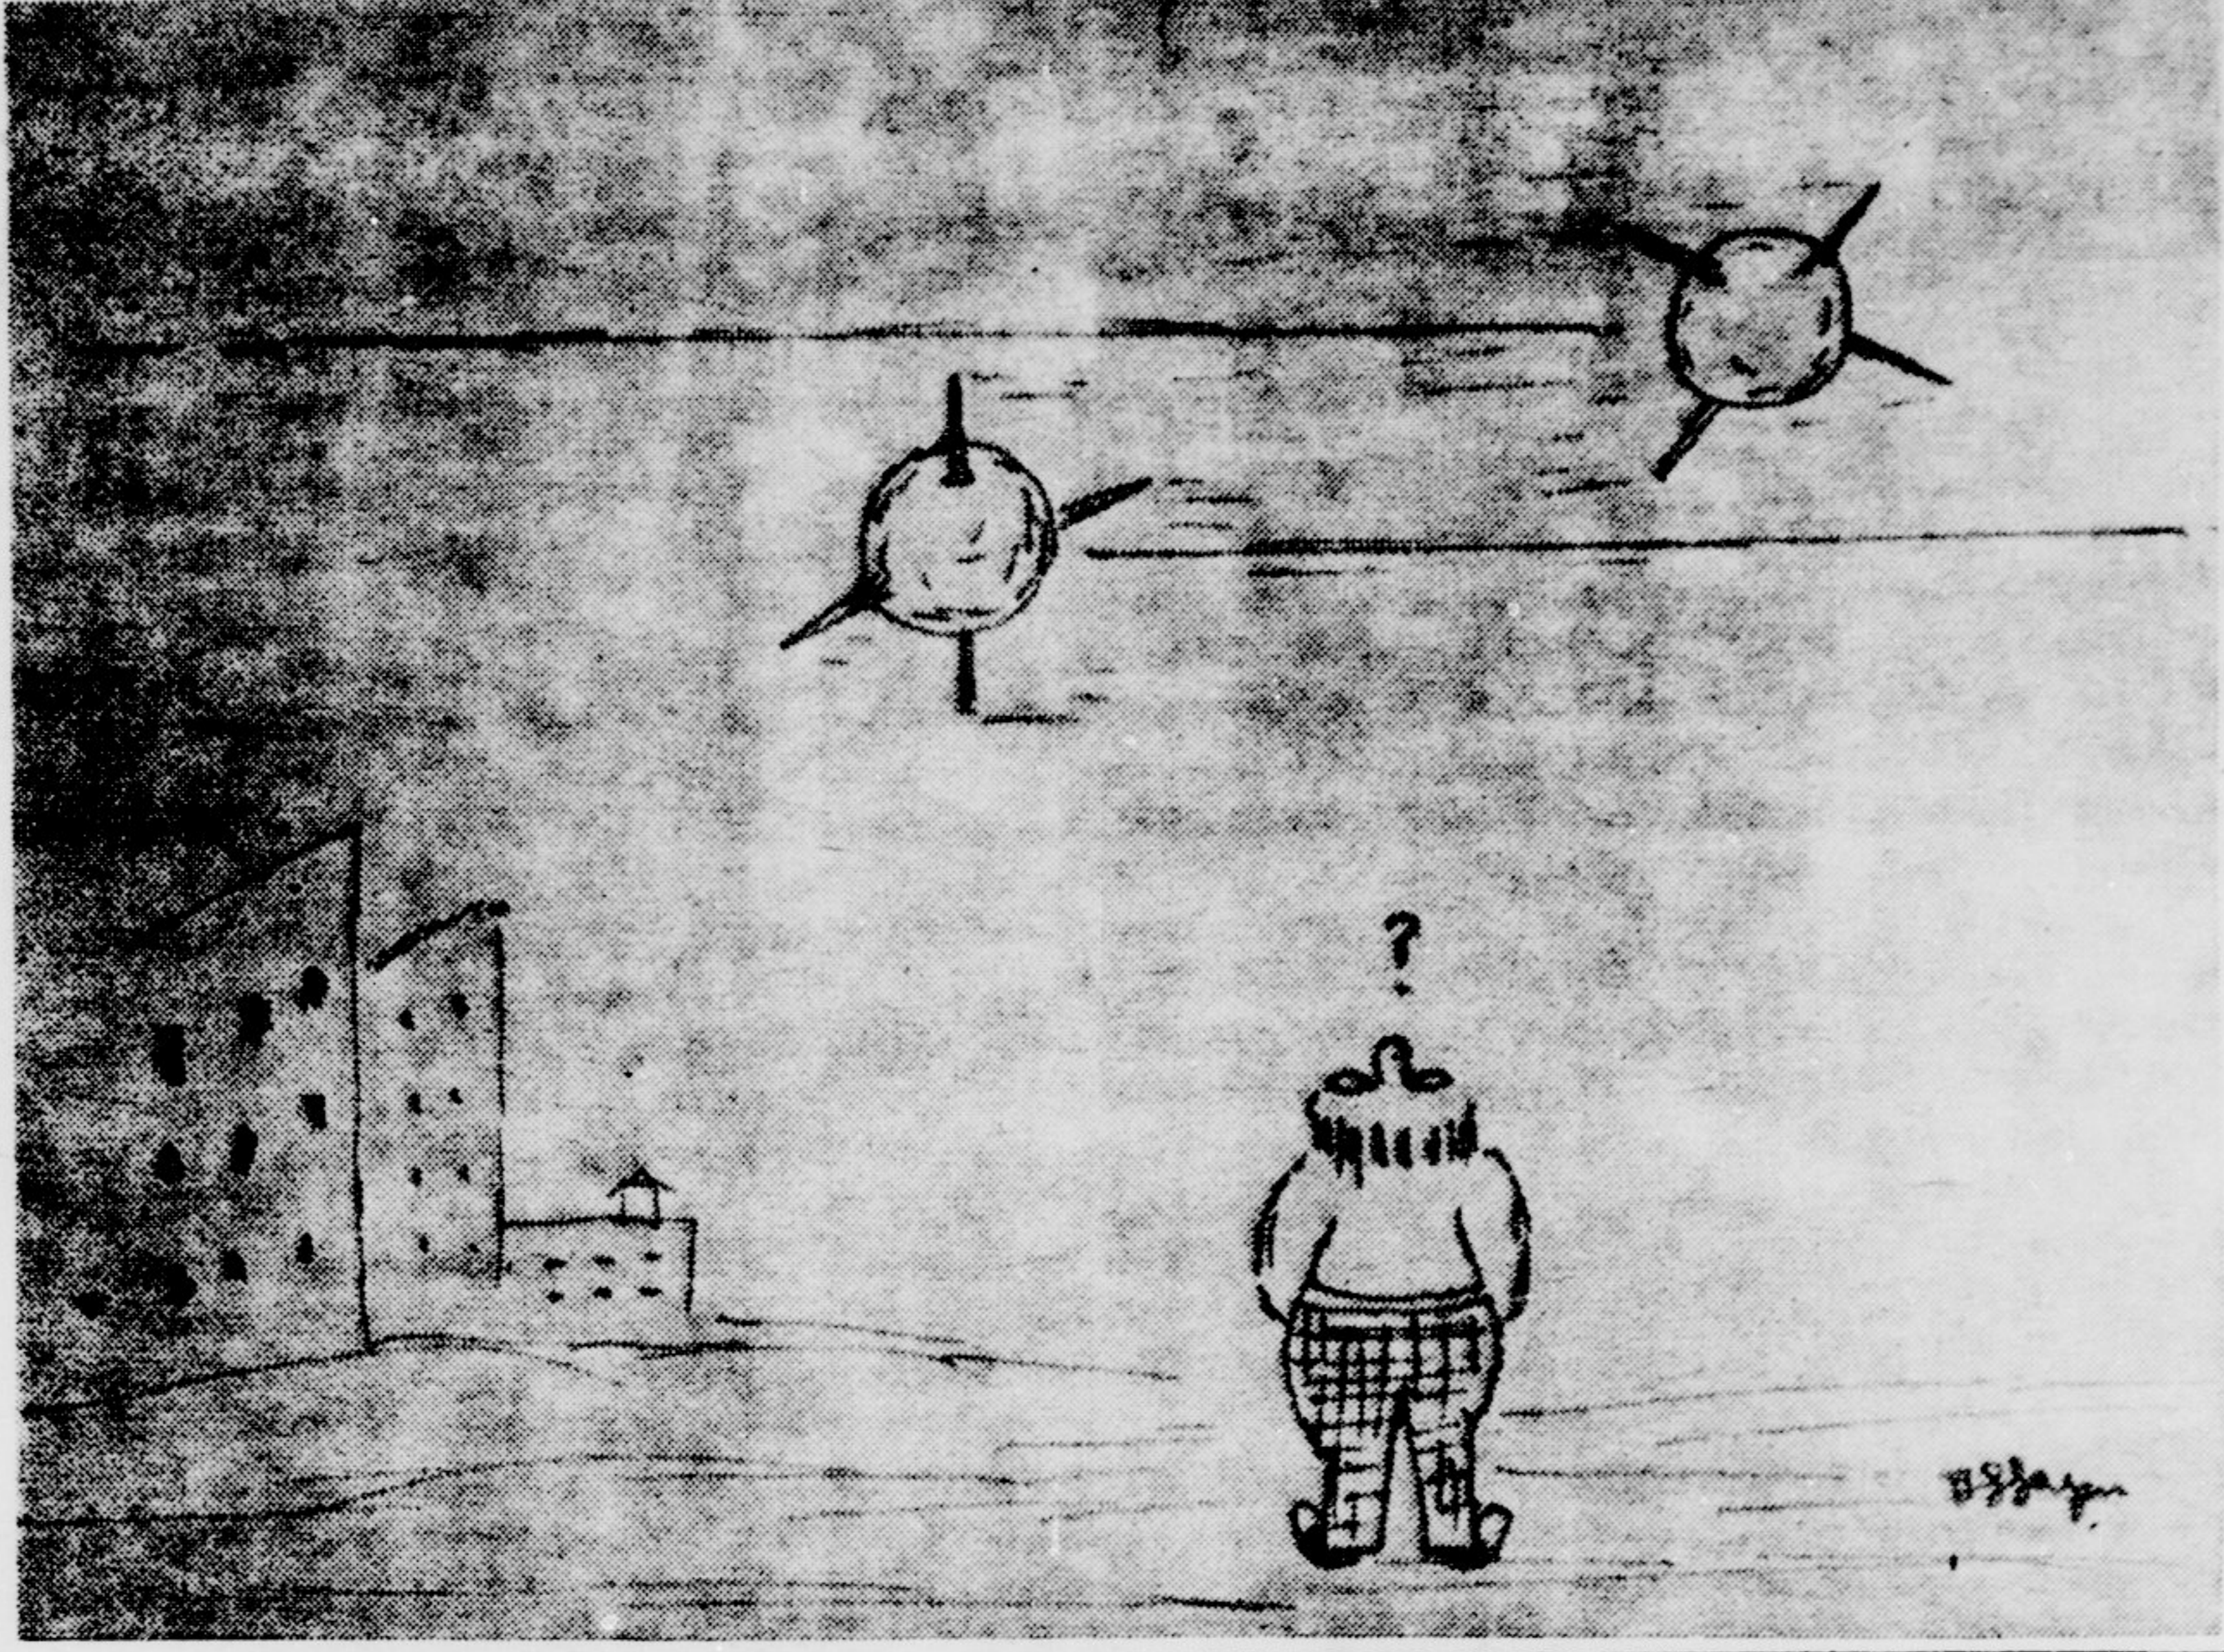

Jimmy Phelps

Editorial from the WESTERN CAROLINIAN, titled "And They Call Us 'Hicks'."

"On Monday night, January 20, the students and guests of Western Carolina College were shocked and embarrassed by the most vulgar, uncouth, uncivilized and unsportsmanlike exhibition that has ever been witnessed by this writer in the four years he has spent here.

"The antics of the East Carolina College basketball team were, to put it mildly, 'countrified.' The colleges of the eastern part of the state look down on us up here as being 'hick mountaineers,' but last Monday night they proved that the players and fans of this college were more civilized and better mannered than the 'elite of the North State Conference' (as they would like to think of it).

"As in every basketball game, the officials could not call the game to each team's benefit, but as always, the bad calls against one team were equalled by the bad calls against the other team. A team which cannot take these differences in opinions without such an outburst as was displayed by the Pirates should not be allowed to play against other col-

Discovers Club Participation Aid In Traveling, Meeting People

By ROSEMARY EAGLES

Tanya Anderson's travel log began her senior year in high school and she has covered quite a bit of territory since those days. The blond senior from Falkland discovered early that avid participation in clubs often leads one to exciting places and such interesting people.

Many of Tanya's traveling experiences have been connected with the YWCA. She became active in the Y her sophomore year. As a junior she journeyed to Davidson College and the University of North Carolina as well as to Kentucky and Tennessee on Y Conferences.

On her senior year trips began popping up from one part of the country to the next. At Thanksgiving she packed her bags for New York City to attend the United Nations Seminar. An interesting sideline of this trip happened one night as she and Martha Johnson, another EC coed, tried with no luck to get tickets for the theatre. Just before curtain time the two girls walked past a theatre with two last minute cancellations. The doorman only charged them $1 to see the Broadway hit, "Look Back In Anger."

Tanya is a whiz at packing a suitcase. She learned that all she usually needs is one dressy outfit, a tennis racket, a bathing suit, sport clothes, and her radio. Some of her traveling has been alone, but she prefers companions.

Goes To Florida
Tanya was elected by the Southern Regional Officers of the YMCA along with the Committee on Foreign Relations to attend the International Conference in Florida during her Christmas vacation. The Y camp was located at Lake Placid, eighty miles east of Tampa. There she associated with seventy other Y college students from 25 foreign countries. She was one of five Americans.

She mentioned making friends from Iraq, Sweden and the Netherlands. She stated, "I was amazed at their concern over the Negro problem. The most startling question one boy asked was why there were no Negroes in advertisements and on bill boards."

Officials On Hand
There were so many questions concerning democracy and the government that there were special UN officials on hand to help explain.

"My Swedish friend is a student at Yale now and when I met him I could not tell from his clothes or mannerisms that he wasn't an American. They were all so observant."

Tanya, a member of the executive committee, planned recreation for the group. At their New Year's Eve party they made a toast at 6:00 p. m. for the Europeans and one at 12:00 p. m. for the Americans.

Tanya graduates in the spring. She is at the present student teaching in English in Washington.

Then To Europe
Her future plans include teaching out of state, perhaps in Virginia, and getting her Master's degree. Then she plans to teach 3 years in the west. "To see the rest of the United States," she laughed, "and then to Europe to see all of my old friends."

Tanya has had a pen pal in England and one in France for several years. She is interested in teaching under the program of foreign exchange teachers. This presents the problem of tackling a foreign language, but she has enough initiative to tackle two.

Cussin' N Discussin' College's Lil' Problems Include Protecting Innocence Of Southern Womanhood

By MARGARET GEDDIE And NANCY LILLY

East Carolina is a college beset by problems. And to judge from the frenzied activities of the College Union, articles in the student newspaper, and opinions of many faculty, staff, and student body members, one of the most pressing of these problems is "keeping the kiddies occupied." It seems that it is absolutely essential to learn the fine arts of small talk, bridge playing, dancing, and socializing. One must take part in all campus affairs, or be considered a non-conformist. After being exposed to this propaganda for three years, it comes as a shock to us to find that there are students on campus who are interested primarily in intellectual and cultural advancement. They came to college to get an education. They have resisted the influences that would make college a medium for the production of mass mediocrity.

Many refugees from the library are banded together in little cliques known as social fraternities. These fine young men engage in all sorts of worthwhile activities. They profess to uphold academic standards, enhance the cultural atmosphere, provide clean, wholesome fun. Besides all this, they annually set forth on pilgrimages to win fame and fortune for their dear ol' alma mater. They bravely journey to distant points where they visit other colleges and fraternize with their elite brothers in a valiant effort to publicize East Carolina. It's obvious that this is just the type of publicity that our college needs.

Meanwhile, back in the dormitories, the counselors are having a field day. The upright members of the Women's Judiciary are posted at all strategic points such as—doors and gates. All cars are stopped and the occupants are given the proverbial "third degree." The dormitory doors are locked, and no one is allowed to leave after nine o'clock. This makes it very difficult for those who are sneaking out to carry on illicit love affairs, procure corn for their private stills, or whose morphine supply is running low. It also makes it equally difficult for those who have books on reserve at the library for nine o'clock, who need to practice their music at the music hall, or pick up their art supplies from Austin. But we realize that these minor inconveniences are necessary to protect the innocence of Southern Womanhood. Shall we all stand and sing a cotton-pickin' chorus of "Dixie?"

Pot Pourri 'Words Of Wisdom' Here, Plus Nonsense On Other Campuses

AT HOME AND ABROAD . . . they say that out of the mouths of babes . . . and the freshmen can really come forth—for instance, a freshman said this, "Why worry? You could spend the time actually getting something done that you waste in worrying." And another, "I'd like to see a certain history professor actually blow his top, just to show he could talk above a whisper." They're also saying, "We need more advisors or better ones." SPEAKING OF ABROAD, they're also saying that an upperclassmen dorm (past Austin) counselor should be sent abroad . . . to forget about that prison. Better find a counselor for Woman's Hall . . . before somebody signs out for "fourth floor" and doesn't come back.

MEANWHILE ON OTHER COLLEGE CAMPUSES—Denison University students are looking for an "intellectual revolt." And journalists at the University of Connecticut are busy helping organize a Centrifugal Bumble-puppy league. The idea came from Aldous Huxley's novel BRAVE NEW WORLD. Above all, a team must keep its CBP machine shiny. The Collegian, at Holy Names College, Spokane, Washington, carried three big stories of coming events in an issue last month—two of future important speeches and the third on the debut of the college's symphony orchestra. But the next issue reported that one speaker had to come a week early, the second sent a replacement, and the orchestra decided members weren't ready for a concert and cancelled their appearance. "Reporters take courses in tracking down facts," sighed Collegian editors. "Should they add crystal gazing to their curriculum?"

On Friday night, the word was around and blood-thirsty fans jammed into Memorial Gym. Phelps, in a pre-game speech to the ECC rosters to treat their visitors with good sportsmanlike conduct...

WCC Must Improve

The accusation made by the Western Carolina paper was very surprising to many sources. During the previous two seasons, the Western Carolina paper has based and carried on unnecessary tangles more than any other school we have visited.

When they could come with lame statements concerning the unfairness of another school is unjustified and only goes to show that WCC must be trying to cover up or throw their conference reputation into the air.

WCC student was aware of the situation. In a letter to the WCC student body, the student stated that the conduct of ECC was terrible but that the actions were also bad and probably encouraged the unnecessary accusations. The student urged the WCC students to improve in the future and to treat the rival schools with the conduct that they would like to see on their visits to other campuses.

It is good to have bitter rivals but when it comes to a point that a school relationship has things should be done to strive for improvement. In the future, before going out on a limb accusing others of wrongdoing, it would be wise to take a wholesome look at yourself. Do you feel that you will attempt to improve your own status instead of that of other schools?

Cats Tough

After the fierce action Friday night, the conclusion came that the Pirates have one of their best teams in many years. Although his team was defeated, head coach Jim Granger put it, the Cats put on a magnificent second half effort and came from a 16 point deficit only to tie the final score. Granger has a team which has the height, experience and good coaching. The Cats are to be reckoned with come tournament time.

Granger stated it was a hard one to lose but was proud of his team. He felt he fought back in the second half. The WCC coach also expressed his hope for the recent relationships between the two schools and hoped that the rivalry would soon be forgotten.

Winter practice has been underway for several weeks now and the team seems to be shaping up pretty good. A scrimmage session last Friday afternoon brought some good results.

The final outcome of winter practice will be determined the first of March when the Varsity Club will stage a game pitting the Alumni against the varsity. According to Jerry Brooks, Varsity Club proxy, many varsity players have agreed to return and play. Brooks is still contacting some of the other stars and the tilt is expected to be a stepping stone in the re-organization of the Varsity Club and also more interest added to Winter practice.

This will be the first game of this sort to be held and should be expected to the fullest extent.

Spring Practice Well Underway For ECC Gridders

East Carolina's football team ended its last weeks drills with a rugged scrimmage session Friday afternoon. The scrimmage was under almost same conditions. Kickoffs were snuffed.

The Gold team supplied the only scoring, driving for two touchdowns. Ralph Zehring and George Turner quarterbacked the TD's. Lee Askins, Charlie Bishop, Joe Holmes and Tommy Goodin broke loose for long gains during the scrimmage.

The Purple unit, quarterbacked by Stuart Holland, drove to the goal once but fumbled.

Heading the lineup were veterans

Lynn Barnett, Ed Emory, Perry Pearson, James Beale, and Wayne Davis.

Another week of hard work is on slate for the gridironers this week, prevailing good weather.

Highlighting this year's winter practice will be an Alumni game March 1. This game will be staged by the Varsity Club.

Field Goal By Adams Wins Game

Reserve guard Charlie Adams saved face for his club and the ECC fans last Friday night when he sunk a field goal in the final seconds to defeat Western Carolina 62-61.

East Carolina blew a 16 point lead when they were fouled in their important North State win. A second half surge by the Cats which saw them take the lead for the only time of the game with three seconds left, resulted in the roughest and most interesting contest played here in many days.

The Pirates, ranked as the ninth small college scoring power in the country, lived up to their rankings during the early stages by pulling into a 25-14 lead after 10 minutes had elapsed. The Cats wobbled the lead to seven points later as they showed down the action but the intramural reading found them trailing 36-27.

Don Smith, the smooth-working freshman, sent his club way out front in the second period by a 52-36 margin with 12 minutes remaining in the contest.

After Smith's field goal, it was Western Carolina the rest of the way as the Cats continued to narrow the margin. East Carolina gambled not to control the ball with a six point margin and four minutes remaining.

Harris Pryor, the WCC captain, took things into his own hands the final minutes and with little over a minute remaining hit a field goal to tie the score at 60-all.

ECC missed their attempt and Western Carolina froze the ball, attempting for one last shot. The shot was missed but a foul was made and Harold Sheldis went to the line for a couple of charity tosses. He made his first but missed his second try and ECC got the rebound with three seconds remaining. After a timeout, Charlie Adams dribbled once, jumped and connected. His shot cleared the net as the final buzzer went off and gave the Bucs a dramatic win.

It was sweet revenge for an earlier loss suffered at Cullowhee, and also helped patch up the bad feelings which had recently been brought about by an article of the Western Carolina paper accusing ECC of unsportsmanlike conduct.

Adams collected 10 points in his brief stay in the action and ranked behind Don Smith and Jessel Curry. Both tallied 12 points.

Suede Frauson tallied 23 for Western Carolina and Harris Pryor hit for 20. For the Cats it was their third defeat of the season in conference play.

In Tuesday night's encounter with Appalachian College of Boone, North Carolina, Jessel Curry hit for 15 points to lead the Bucs to an impressive 24 to 58 win. Don Smith and Joe Plaster had 13 points each in the Pirate victory.

Women's And Men's Intramurals Show Much Action During Past Week

Jarvis Bluebirds and the Cotten Bluebirds widened their margin by twenty-one points in the third and fourth quarters. Tyson dropped in thirty-five points for Jarvis with an outstanding performance. Elliott hit for fifteen points for the losers.

Two teams are presently tied for the first place spot in the men's basketball intramural league. With only four games left during the current season, the Country Gentlemen and Delta Sigma Rho teams are in the number one spot. Second place is occupied by four teams. They are the Red Angels, Ace's All Stars, Hot Shots, and the River Rats. Each of these four teams have been beaten one time in league action.

Tournament To Start. This year's tournament will be divided into two divisions. One division will feature the nine intramural council teams and the other division will have non-members participating. Delta Sigma Rho, EPO, Kappa Sigma, Phi Gamma, Phi Kappa Alpha, Country Gentlemen and Unstead Hall are all in the intramural league council division.

The non-members are the Hot Shots, Delta Sigma Pi, APO, Highlanders, Red Angels, Ace's All Stars, Rinky Dinks, and The Slaughterers. This tournament to be held on the 3, 5, 7, and 8 of March in the College Gym and highlight the season's action.

An intramural All Star team will be chosen to compete in the Eastern N. C. National Basketball Congress Tournament to be held in Jacksonville, N. C. on the 27 and 28 of February as well as on the 1st of March.

Porter's Crew At Rocky Mount

East Carolina College holds the coveted "Bohunk" trophy that is awarded to the winner of ECC-ACC athletic contests and Atlantic Christian will be out to take it from them in their first hard court encounter of the year with the Pirate squad. The game will be played tonight at Rocky Mount, as the game is the first meeting of the year between the two. It is Atlantic Christian's home game. The second meeting of the year will take place here in Memorial Gymnasium February 22nd.

Five hundred tickets were sent to ECC by ACC officials and the Dean of Women has granted female students late permission to see the game.

Although the Buc five are rated at about 8 points over their North State foe, predictions account for nothing in this game as it is one challenge to both teams due to the geographical closeness of the two colleges.

Charlie Adams recently came off the bench to defeat Western Carolina with a 20 foot set shot in the last seconds of the game. It has been a slow year for the young Cary, N. C. junior, but he has shown that he has a deadly eye for outside shooting and is expected to figure very highly in Coach Howard Porter's plans tonight. Adams scored 22 points in less than 13 minutes in a previous encounter with WCC and recently scored 20 points in a 20 minute Buc scrimmage.

The guard slots for ECC will be split up between Charlie Adams, Jessel Curry and Ike Riddick. Harold Ingram, captain of the team, and Don Smith will probably start at forwards. The center slot will be held down by Joe Plaster and Guy Mendenhall.

A very large crowd is expected for the first of the season's two games with Atlantic Christian. Game time is slated for 8 p. m.

Pirates To Swim U. of Georgia

Coach DeShaw's swimming squad will be out to get back into the win column this coming Saturday as they host the University of Georgia in a meet that will take place in Memorial Gym at 8 p. m.

Georgia has a very powerful team and the meet is rated at about a toss-up. All eyes will be on East Carolina's up-and-coming Bob Sawyer. Sawyer established a new East Carolina College swimming record in the meet of last week when UNC turned back the Bucs by a score of 53 to 33. The new record that Sawyer set is the backstroke with a time of 2 minutes and 19.3 seconds. There is a good possibility that he may better the record against Georgia. Carroll, and Midgette copped first place honors against the mighty University of North Carolina squad last week and are expected to place first or second in their events against the University of Georgia.

Dr. Theodore H. Esten, Jr., faculty member of the department of physics, has accepted an appointment as visiting associate professor of physics for the 1958 summer session at the University of California, Los Angeles.

During the term extending from June 20 to August 1, he will teach a course in human anatomy and conduct a seminar for graduate students in vertebrate paleontology.

Dr. Harris is the author of "Comparative Anatomy of the Vertebrates" published by Harper and Brothers in 1951 and selected by the American Institute of Graphic Arts as one of the fifty best textbooks of the year. He has written also more than sixty articles which have appeared in leading scientific and technical journals.

He has served as chairman of the Biological Section of the North Carolina Academy of Science, At East Carolina he has held such appointments as secretary of the Curriculum Committee, and of the Humanities Committee, program chairman of the Faculty Lecture Club, and advisor to the Student Science Club.

Mr. Wyatt Brown, of Greenville, member of faculty of the English Department at East Carolina College, was the Vesper Speaker on Wednesday, February 5 at the Mechanical Student Center. Mr. Brown discussed "The Student and the Church."

On Wednesday, February 12, Vespers will be led by Milton Mann, a senior in the Department of Music. On February 19—Ash Wednesday, the Rev. John W. Drake, Jr., Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Greenville, will be the Vesper Speaker. His subject will be "The Meaning of Lent to the Christian."

The Greenville-Pitt County Chapter of the East Carolina College Alumni Association is making final plans for its annual scholarship fund-raising games tournament. Canasta and bridge are planned for the evening of February 14 in the North Dining Hall on the East Carolina College Campus.

Before the tournament play begins, dinner will be served at 7:30 p. m. East Carolina bridge and canasta players are invited to participate in the games tournament. The reservation is $3.00 per person. Make up a table for bridge or canasta, bring your own cards, and join in the fun. For reservations, see Mrs. Susie Webb in the Mamie E. Jenkins Faculty-Alumni House.

The proceeds of this tournament are used to help some worthy student from Pitt County attend East Carolina College.

L. M. Collins of New York City, an official of the International Business Machines Corporation, will address students majoring in the department of business education Monday, February 10. Discussing the topic "Keeping Alive in Business," he will speak at a departmental convocation scheduled for 7 p. m. in the Wright auditorium.

Mr. Collins is manager of educational services in the electric type-writer division of IBM. He has had extensive experience in both business and teaching and as a speaker has made frequent appearances before both business and educational organizations throughout this country.

His educational background includes graduate study at North Texas State College and at Indiana University. He has held positions as business manager and business teacher at the Sherman, Texas high school; as director of student activities at Texas A and M College; and as chairman of the department of business education and secretarial science at North Texas State College. He became associated with IBM in 1953 and has held his present position since 1956.

Dr. John A. Timm, chairman of the Chemistry Department, and director of the School of Science at Simmons College, Boston, Massachusetts, will visit ECC February 10, 11, 12, as guest speaker before the science department.

He will speak at a meeting of the science faculty, and at a combined meeting of science clubs. He will also hold individual conferences with interested students.

Dr. Timm's visit to the campus has been arranged as a result of ECC's participation in a program offered by the Division of Chemical Education of the American Chemical Society and sponsored by the National Science Foundation. Under this program outstanding scientists in the nation go on sabbaticals with the purpose of strengthening and stimulating their programs of chemistry.

The Reader's Digest says the French religious painter, George Rouault came from a family so poor that when he was young, he could not even afford to buy drawing paper. Yet, from the age of four, he dreamed of being an artist. His first pictures were done in chalk on the kitchen floor.

Social Fraternities Make Plans For National Affiliations

Five social fraternities on campus are working toward affiliations with the national fraternal organizations. Dr. Orval Phillips, a supporter and promoter of the fraternity movement, stated that students should realize that national figures show it is a common occurrence for a new fraternity to be turned down by the first national fraternity they petition.

Pi Gamma Pi fraternity has been negotiating with the national Theta Chi fraternity. Pi Gamma Pi president Gordon Robinson stated that the members voted last week to petition the national office.

President Robinson gave reasons for his fraternity favoring Theta Chi by saying, "They offered the best service to the fraternity. They have 122 chapters and 45,000 members, plus an endowment fund of over $1,4 million available to their chapters."

Sigma Rho Phi voted and sent in their petition to the national office of Kappa Alpha fraternity. They expect word from the national office within a month.

States Reasons
President Murle Tepehey enumerated several reasons for his fraternity going Kappa Alpha. "Three faculty members, Dr. Frank Hoskins, Mr. Ovid Pierce, and Dr. Herbert Paschall, are KA alumni who have been working with us. KA is a strong Southern fraternity and it is noted for the Old South Ball which our chapter will take part in next year."

Pi Kappa Alpha
Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity has been communicating with the Pi Kappa Alpha national organization. The local fraternity was organized in April 1956 by seven men. The two remaining charter members are Clark Taylor, president, and Mac Lancaster, vice president of the I. F. C.

Vice president of the fraternity, Mac Lancaster, stated, "Dr. Orval Phillips and several other distinguished Pika alumni in this area have been instrumental in arousing interest in Pika. Also we have been very impressed with the culture of Pika chapters in this state. In addition, it is predominantly a Southern fraternity."

Already Inspected
Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity has been inspected by the three nearest Pika chapters. During December L. M. McCall of South Carolina, the district president, was on campus. The week end of February 8, for the Playful Dance, they expect to have on campus a national officer from Houston, Texas, the national secretary from Memphis, Tennessee, and members from North Carolina and Virginia chapters.

For Lambda Chi
Delta Sigma Rho fraternity is working toward affiliation with Lambda Chi Alpha national fraternity. Their vote of status for formal petition will come up this week from the national office.

President Mike Katsias commented, "All members as a whole are enthused about Lambda Chi and if all matters are cleared we will work toward being an outstanding chapter."

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity was first established at Boston University in 1909. It is represented at five major colleges in North Carolina.

President of Kappa Sigma Nu fraternity Charlie White stated, "Kappa Sigma Nu received preliminary approval from Sigma Nu national fraternity January 27."

President White reviewed reasons for his fraternity going Sigma Nu. "There are over twenty-five Sigma Nu alumni in Greenville who have given us great support and the brothers always voiced favorable opinions of all chapters they have visited in the past. Sigma Nu ranks fifth in the nation so far as financial status is concerned and around fourth in membership."

Free Movie 'Hatful Of Rain' Scheduled For Friday Night, Stars Academy Award Winner

The free movie scheduled for Friday, February 7, is 20th Century Fox's (Cinemacore) "A Hatful of Rain."

Starring Don Murray and Eva Marie Saint, with Anthony Franciosa, Lloyd Nolan, and Henry Silva, the movie is based on a play by Michael Vincente Gazzo with screenplay by Alfred Hayes and Michael Gazzo. It is produced by Buddy Adler and directed by Fred Zinnemann with photography by Joe Mac Donald and music by Bernard Herrmann.

The 100 minute drama tells of the struggles of a young Korean veteran who was given drugs while hospitalized, against the addiction in civilian life.

The intensity of this deeply personal drama of drug addiction is heightened by the variety and scope of its background, beautiful photography and music.

fully photographed in black and white. The camera work is superb and the acting is superb. Don Murray and Eva Marie Saint play his pregnant wife who gives birth to a son and naturally in time to grips with the problem. The movie is made aware of it. As the movie progresses life savings have been given to the addict. Anthony Franciosa gives a compelling performance in his role as the addict. The movie is a masterpiece of acting and direction. It is a struggle against the love he has for his brother's wife. The picture is a masterpiece of acting and direction. It is a struggle against the love he has for his brother's wife.
