

'Romeo and Juliet'
The SGA-sponsored Shakespearean tragedy "Romeo and Juliet" ends a two night run tonight at 8:00 o'clock in the Flanagan Sylvan Theatre. Senior Bubba Driver makes his last appearance on an ECC stage.

East Carolinian

East Carolina College

Junior-Senior
The Duke Ambassadors will play for the annual Junior-Senior Dance Saturday night in Wright Auditorium at 8:00 o'clock. The theme of the dance is "Arabian Nights" and the theme song is "Bali Hai."

Volume XXXIV

GREENVILLE, N. C., THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1959

Number 24

Nelms Becomes Director Of ECC Alumni Affairs

Allan Nelms of Wilmington and Winston has joined the college staff as director of Foundations and Alumni Affairs.

Mr. Nelms opened his campus office in the Mamie E. Jenkins Alumni-Faculty House last week and as a special guest on Alumni Day Saturday began his work with the East Carolina Alumni Association.

A graduate of North Carolina State College, where he was an outstanding athlete, Mr. Nelms will devote part of his activities at East Carolina to the Pirates Club. At State College he was a letter-man in football, basketball, and baseball during his four years as a student there.

Mr. Nelms is a native of Rocky Mount, N. C. After his graduation at State College he began his career as a teacher coach, first in Whiteville and later in Raleigh. From 1936 to 1941 he was connected with the Raleigh YMCA and during the next year he was engaged in USO and YMCA work for the National Council of YMCAs in Montgomery, Ala., and in Carolina, South Carolina, and the coastal area of Virginia.

As personnel director of Service Corporation, he had headquarters in Winston in 1951-1956. He comes to Greenville from Wilmington, where for the past three years he has done USO-YMCA work. Mr. Nelms is a member of the Rotary Club, the Elks Club, and the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Bomb Hoax Ends Classes

ECC Police Chief Johnny Harrell directs traffic and students stand idle as city and college officials investigate Austin Building for possible hidden bomb. (photo by Fred Robertson)

Students Evacuate Austin Building After Bomb Call

Approximately 1300 students evacuated Austin Building Friday morning for an hour and a half as a result of a 'bomb hoax' phone call. Classes began filing out of the building at about 11:15 and it was completely empty by 11:30.

The ECC AFROTC Staff assisted in the evacuation and AFROTC students were stationed at the doors to see that no one entered the building, according to Capt. George Patterson of the AFROTC.

Capt. Patterson said the building was searched systematically floor by floor to see that no one remained inside.

Police and College Officials searched in vain for the 'bomb' while many students and teachers watched the building from a distance.

At 1:30 classes were resumed in the building but an investigation is still under way.

The phone call that started the search came to Mrs. Jill Groome, an operator at the Greenville Telephone Exchange at 10:13 Friday morning. Telephone officials called

Hopkins Receives Derieux Award For Marine Research

Thomas S. Hopkins, an ECC junior, was presented the John B. Derieux Award of a certificate and $50 at the fifty-sixth annual meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science May 1 and 2 at Catawba College in Salisbury.

The award is presented yearly by the Academy for the best written paper and research in science to a North Carolina undergraduate, and is named after the man who was responsible for the discovery of the details of the electron and its charge in 1906.

The N. C. Academy of Science is an organization for the promotion of scientific research and study and the Collegiate Academy is an undergraduate branch of the group. The Collegiate Academy was organized at East Carolina in 1954 through the efforts of John A. Yarbrough and Dr. R. M. Helms.

Hopkins, who is specializing in biology, won the Derieux Award on the basis of significant and original research by an undergraduate student. His study deals with numerical variations in the central body covers of the brown or purple sea urchin and is entitled "Morphological Variations in the Periproct of Arbacia bunctulata (Lamarck) of Beaufort, North Carolina." This particular paper deals primarily with the urchins found in shallow water (not over 3 feet), however, Hopkins recently received a grant to further his study of the animals found in deeper water.

Hopkins said, "The work couldn't have been done without the help of people who have worked on this problem before and especially the help of Dr. Bob Haubrich who helped me from getting off on a tangent through guidance and encouragement. Dr. E. B. Harvey, of Princeton, also gave me a great deal of inspiration and help through correspondence. She is the most prominent living authority on this animal. In addition to the people who helped me personally, I also received a lot of assistance from the Duke Marine Laboratory at Beaufort. They gave me the use of their laboratories, library and other equipment essential in the study. Dr. John Vernberg, Director of the Marine Biology Station of Beaufort, was also a lot of help."

Hopkins added, "Before a person can do research, it seems to me that something has to bother him, even keep him awake nights to urge him to find out the answer. This problem arose in a comparative anatomy lab and I worried over it until I decided to find out the answer

Ragland Defeats Keith In Senior Prexy Race

In recent class elections Tommy Ragland defeated Nancy Keith in a run-off for senior class president and Raymond Gillikin was chosen sophomore president over Ronnie Knouse.

Ed Emory defeated Gail Cahoon for the office of senior vice president and Rosalie Dalton defeated Bobbie Kennedy for secretary.

In a run-off vote Emilie Tilley defeated Dixie Hobgood for the position of treasurer.

Senior men's senators will be Hughes Giles and Jeff Strickland who won over J. D. Hodge and Johnny Clawson, and women's senators will be Marsha Evans and Marvyn Edwards who won over Elferth Alexander.

Sophomore officers are: vice president, Otis Strother, who defeated Dickie Haar; secretary, Ruby Bradshaw, who defeated Ann Martin in a run-off decision; treasurer, Dot Jones, who defeated Betty Rose Frazer and Betty Weeks; women's senator, Jayne Chandler; and men's senator, Kenneth Trogden.

Betty Best was elected the first woman president of the junior class since 1952 in a previous election. Other junior officers are Billy Nichols, vice president; Jay Finnegan, secretary; Sylvia Thomas, treasurer; men's senators, Carlton and Barney West; and women's senator, Libby Williams.

College Band Concert Promises Variety Of Selections For Spring

The East Carolina Concert Band, under the direction of Herbert L. Carter of the Music Department, will present their annual spring concert May 12, at 8:00 p. m. in McGinnis Auditorium.

One of the numbers included on the program is the "Ballet for Young Americans," a modern composition by Ralph Hermann, which is divided into five parts. "The Teen-Age Overture" starts the piece off with the rapid and fast moving pace of the modern, Teen-Ager . . . constantly on the move with legs and arms flying wildly.

"Day Dreaming" is the second theme of this new composition which presents the Teen-Ager seated in the study hall . . . outside the bees are buzzing, the birds are chirping, and the Teen-Ager is day dreaming, thinking of nothing and in a big fog.

"The First Driving Lesson" is a lively piece demonstrating the frustration and panic which accompanies the Teen-Ager on his first solo drive of the family car. The all important "Prom Nite" is typical of a Teen-Ager on the night of his first big formal dance . . . his best girl . . . the first tuxedo . . . and the elegant music of the romantic orchestra.

That familiar "Graduation March" ends the composition when our Teen-Ager receives that important diploma, and nods and smiles from the teachers wishing him well.

Another composition the band will perform is the "March Slav," by P. T. Tschalkowsky. Mr. Carter considers this piece one of the best transcriptions for band which sounds as well performed by band as orchestra. The band has been requested to play "March Slav" for several years.

The popular "Marriage of Figaro Overture" by Mozart will be conducted by John Lowery the student conductor. John, a senior from Kinston, is the vice president of the band this year.

"The Dover Coach" by Gilbert Vinter will feature a trumpet trio consisting of Jimmy Burns, Tommy Spry, and Gayle Eaker.

Willie Gillon clarinet soloist, will be featured in "Concerto for Clarinet, Opus 26," by C. M. Von Weber. Another number the band will perform is the new and modern "Pagant" by Vincent Persichetti. Mr. Carter stated, "This is one of the band's favorite numbers. They all enjoy playing it." This contemporary composition is an original work for band.

John Lowery, student conductor; Luther Gillon, clarinet soloist; and trumpet trio members Jimmy Burns, Tommy Spry, and Gayle Eaker practice for forthcoming band concert.

Several Marches will be interspersed during the evening. They will include such favorites as "Semper Fidelis" and "The High School Cadets" by John Phillip Sousa, and "E. Rhuibus Unum" by Fred Jewell.

Said Mr. Carter, "I believe that this year has been the most successful year for the band in every way. Our annual tour through the Piedmont area, thanks to the SGA, was the most profitable and enjoyable one that we have ever had."

This spring the band will also present a lawn concert on Commencement Sunday, May 24, at 2:30 p. m. This concert will be presented on the quadrangle lawn across from the infirmary.

Alumni Elect Frazelle Prexy

Z. W. Frazelle, principal of Kenansville schools, was installed May 2 as president of the East Carolina College Alumni Association.

With other newly elected officers of the association and seven new district directors, he took office and assumed his duties at a business meeting held on the campus during 1959 Alumni Day. He succeeds Robert D. Morgan. All new officers were elected for two-year terms.

Frazelle was graduated from East Carolina College in 1943 with the bachelor of science degree and a major in commerce and mathematics. In 1948 he received from East Carolina the master of arts degree in business education and administration. He was honored in 1956 as the recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award presented annually by the college Alumni Association.

Mrs. J. Wilton Wilkerson (Dorothy Lewis) of Sims was installed as vice president; and Mrs. Clem Garner (Ruth Blanchard), member of the staff of the Dean of Women at East Carolina College, as treasurer.

New district directors of the Alumni Association announced at Saturday's meeting are Carl D. Whitehurst of Asheville, District 1; C. O. Armstrong of Charlotte, District 3; Mrs. W. H. Causey (Emily Smithwick) of Raleigh, District 5; Frank W. Wooten of Greenville, District 7; Mrs. Lenwood Heath (Corinne Manning) of Robersonville, District 9; Miss Jennie Carter of Lumberton, District 11; and James R. Worsley, Jr., of Chevy Chase, Md., District 13.

SGA Sponsors Outdoor Tragedy

Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" will be presented again tonight in Flanagan Sylvan Theatre at 8:00.

Lois Garren of Greenville and August Laube, director of music at J. H. Rose High School in Greenville, will play the title roles in the tragedy.

Mrs. Garren has played roles in the outdoor dramas "The Lost Colony," "The Common Glory," and "The Founders." She has acted with the Carolina Playmakers, the Utah State Theatre, the Greenville Little Theatre, and the Goodyear Theatre on NBC-TV broadcasts.

Mr. Laube has appeared in the Greenville Little Theatre productions of "The Mouse Trap" and "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," and he played the part of Senator Hoey in "East Carolina's Spade," the pageant marking the Fiftieth Anniversary of East Carolina College.

Hopkins Receives Derieux Award For Marine Research

Thomas S. Hopkins, an ECC junior, was presented the John B. Derieux Award of a certificate and $50 at the fifty-sixth annual meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science May 1 and 2 at Catawba College in Salisbury.

The award is presented yearly by the Academy for the best written paper and research in science to a North Carolina undergraduate, and is named after the man who was responsible for the discovery of the details of the electron and its charge in 1906.

The N. C. Academy of Science is an organization for the promotion of scientific research and study and the Collegiate Academy is an undergraduate branch of the group. The Collegiate Academy was organized at East Carolina in 1954 through the efforts of John A. Yarbrough and Dr. R. M. Helms.

Hopkins, who is specializing in biology, won the Derieux Award on the basis of significant and original research by an undergraduate student. His study deals with numerical variations in the central body covers of the brown or purple sea urchin and is entitled "Morphological Variations in the Periproct of Arbacia bunctulata (Lamarck) of Beaufort, North Carolina." This particular paper deals primarily with the urchins found in shallow water (not over 3 feet), however, Hopkins recently received a grant to further his study of the animals found in deeper water.

Hopkins said, "The work couldn't have been done without the help of people who have worked on this problem before and especially the help of Dr. Bob Haubrich who helped me from getting off on a tangent through guidance and encouragement. Dr. E. B. Harvey, of Princeton, also gave me a great deal of inspiration and help through correspondence. She is the most prominent living authority on this animal. In addition to the people who helped me personally, I also received a lot of assistance from the Duke Marine Laboratory at Beaufort. They gave me the use of their laboratories, library and other equipment essential in the study. Dr. John Vernberg, Director of the Marine Biology Station of Beaufort, was also a lot of help."

Hopkins added, "Before a person can do research, it seems to me that something has to bother him, even keep him awake nights to urge him to find out the answer. This problem arose in a comparative anatomy lab and I worried over it until I decided to find out the answer

Hopkins Receives Derieux Award For Marine Research

Thomas S. Hopkins, an ECC junior, was presented the John B. Derieux Award of a certificate and $50 at the fifty-sixth annual meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science May 1 and 2 at Catawba College in Salisbury.

The award is presented yearly by the Academy for the best written paper and research in science to a North Carolina undergraduate, and is named after the man who was responsible for the discovery of the details of the electron and its charge in 1906.

The N. C. Academy of Science is an organization for the promotion of scientific research and study and the Collegiate Academy is an undergraduate branch of the group. The Collegiate Academy was organized at East Carolina in 1954 through the efforts of John A. Yarbrough and Dr. R. M. Helms.

Hopkins, who is specializing in biology, won the Derieux Award on the basis of significant and original research by an undergraduate student. His study deals with numerical variations in the central body covers of the brown or purple sea urchin and is entitled "Morphological Variations in the Periproct of Arbacia bunctulata (Lamarck) of Beaufort, North Carolina." This particular paper deals primarily with the urchins found in shallow water (not over 3 feet), however, Hopkins recently received a grant to further his study of the animals found in deeper water.

Hopkins said, "The work couldn't have been done without the help of people who have worked on this problem before and especially the help of Dr. Bob Haubrich who helped me from getting off on a tangent through guidance and encouragement. Dr. E. B. Harvey, of Princeton, also gave me a great deal of inspiration and help through correspondence. She is the most prominent living authority on this animal. In addition to the people who helped me personally, I also received a lot of assistance from the Duke Marine Laboratory at Beaufort. They gave me the use of their laboratories, library and other equipment essential in the study. Dr. John Vernberg, Director of the Marine Biology Station of Beaufort, was also a lot of help."

Hopkins added, "Before a person can do research, it seems to me that something has to bother him, even keep him awake nights to urge him to find out the answer. This problem arose in a comparative anatomy lab and I worried over it until I decided to find out the answer

Paper Honors Staff Members

The EAST CAROLINIAN staff conducted its annual awards banquet last week. Editor Kathryn Johnson presided at the dinner. Fifteen awards including a trophy were presented to deserving staff members.

The Best News Writing Trophy was awarded to the new staff member who has done the most outstanding work in the news writing field. The trophy went to Tom Jackson. Jean Ann Waters was presented the runner-up News Writing Award.

Betty Maynor received the Best Feature Writer's Award and the Make-Up Award. These awards were bestowed upon the best non-salaried member in these fields.

Service Awards went to the women's circulation manager, Susan Ballance for her two years of service; circulation staff members: Kay Hood, Sara Elkins, Janie Harris, Shirley Gay, Emily Curran, Jack Harris and Carolyn Baxley.

Recognition awards were received by Derry Walker, Managing Editor; JoAnne Parks, Business Manager; and Pat Harvey, Associate Editor.

The circulation staff presented Miss Johnson with a cluster of orchids from Hawaii and Derry Walker in behalf of the news staff gifted the editor with a sterling silver charm bracelet with the names of the staff members engraved on each charm.

Guests of the annual affair were Dr. Edgar Hirschburg, adviser, and his wife; Dr. James Tucker, head of the publications board; and Bill Wallace, IFC president, and his date, Hazel Collier.

Farmer, Youmans Win Dental School Places

Two science majors who are honor students academically have been accepted by the University of North Carolina Dental School at Chapel Hill. John Farmer, of Hendersonville, and Charles Youmans, of Oxford, were among eight students recently accepted by the Dental School.

Both students are members of the honorary education fraternity for men, Phi Sigma Pi.

Herskovits Asks For Better Rapport Among Nations

If we are going to live in a world where communications are shrinking distance and language study is helping people cross barriers never crossed before, we must realize that the ways of life and the value systems of other peoples must be understood, a world-famous anthropologist told an audience on campus recently.

Dr. Melville J. Herskovits, speaking under the auspices of the Danforth Foundation Project, discussed "A Cross-Cultural View of Bias and Values." He is Director of African studies at Northwestern University and author of a number of books on anthropology. He stressed the importance of cultural anthropology in furthering understanding of world problems and building better relationships among peoples.

Broadly humanistic in point of view and scientific in method, the cross-cultural approach includes, he explained, the total range of human relations as found in the cultures of different peoples, recognizes the unities underlying cultural diversities, and takes into account the validity of the ideas held by people of different cultures.

Ethnocentrism, he explained, implies that one approves the society in which he lives and accepts its scheme of values. "It is inherent in all human society," he added. When, however, a people claims cultural superiority and aims at forcing its culture on others, dangerous tensions are created, he continued.

A heritage of bitterness exists in many parts of the world because Europeans and Americans have adopted and made clear to others the attitude that their culture is best, he said. This attitude, he said, explains much of the resentment against Colonialism, a "major charge against us," he said.

Values, he continued, make little meaningful, give sanction to human behavior, and are the basis of many moral and religious beliefs. Underneath which lie below the level of consciousness and are the most important thing that people have.

People living under the domination of others, and forced into acquiescence or submission, he stated will often seize the opportunity of returning to their old accustomed ways and reasserting their system of values. This is what has happened, he said, in some of the Eastern countries when they have regained their political independence.

Wells Crowns May Queen

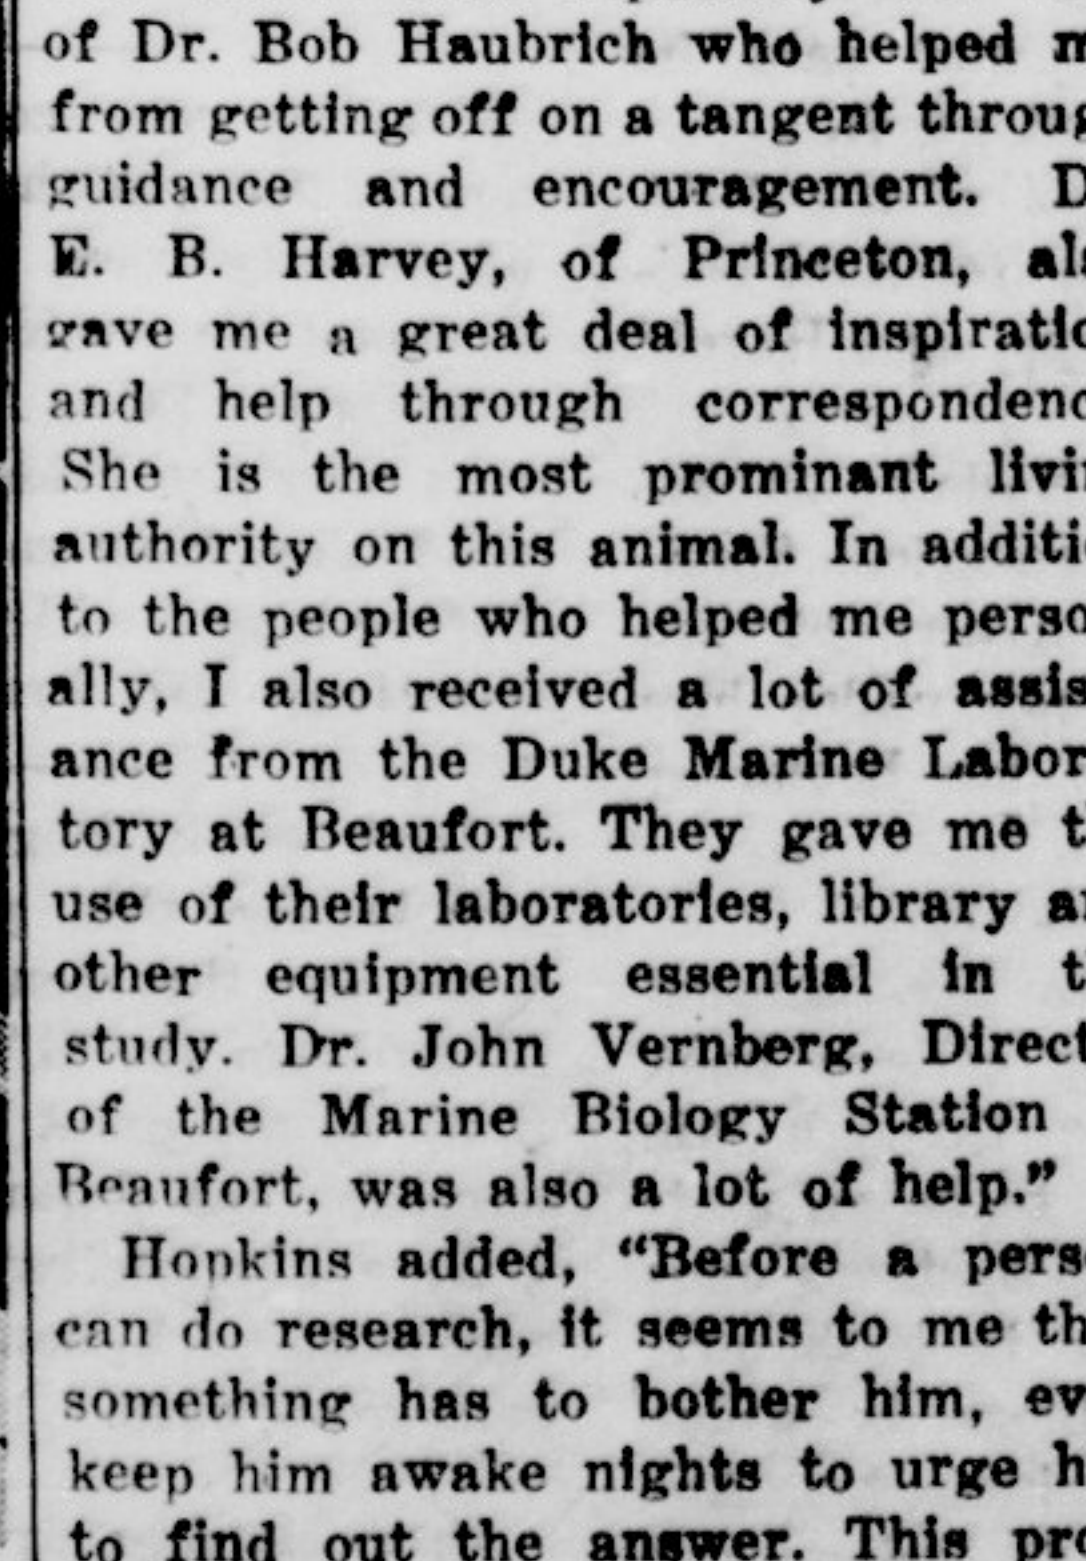

SGA President Dallas Wells crowns Elizabeth Ann Bowman May Queen at festivities conducted in Flanagan Sylvan Theatre last Saturday afternoon.

Wells Crowns May Queen

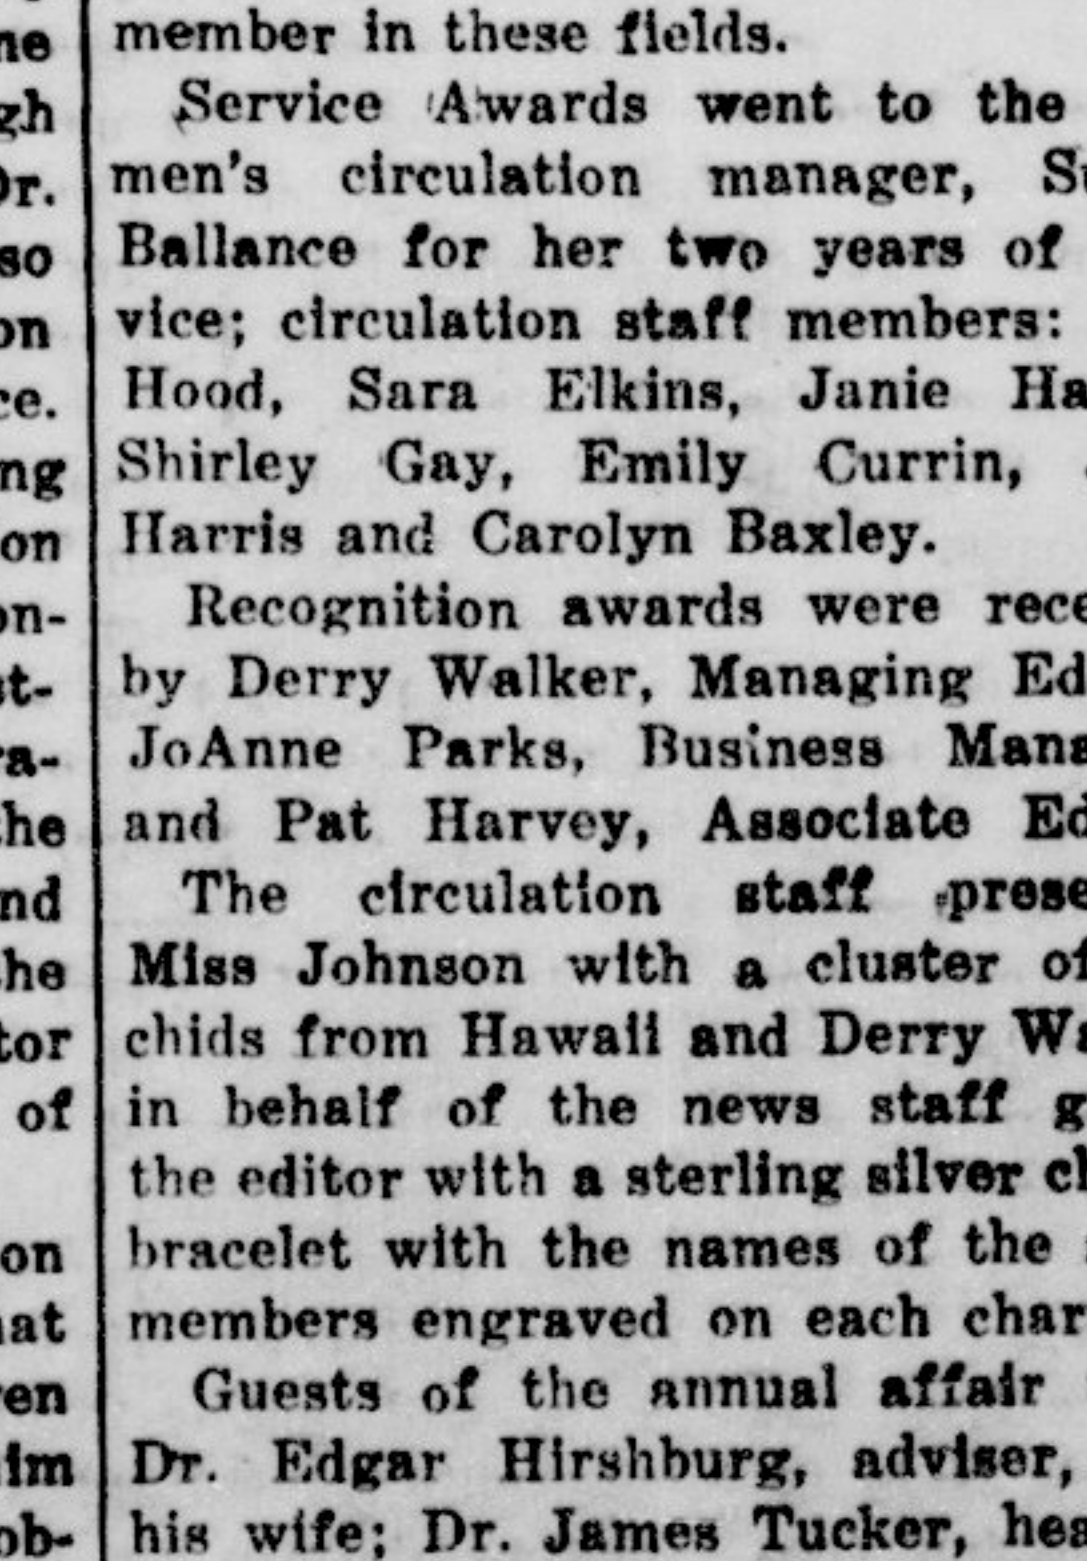

SGA President Dallas Wells crowns Elizabeth Ann Bowman May Queen at festivities conducted in Flanagan Sylvan Theatre last Saturday afternoon.

Wells Crowns May Queen

SGA President Dallas Wells crowns Elizabeth Ann Bowman May Queen at festivities conducted in Flanagan Sylvan Theatre last Saturday afternoon.

Wells Crowns May Queen

SGA President Dallas Wells crowns Elizabeth Ann Bowman May Queen at festivities conducted in Flanagan Sylvan Theatre last Saturday afternoon.

'Buc' And Bob Connolley

"Buc" is well taken care of now. His new caretaker Bob Connolley takes him for a stroll around campus.

Messick To Join AIM Council

President John D. Messick of East Carolina College has accepted an invitation to become a member of the Presidents Council of the American Institute of Management. The invitation was extended by Jackson Hurdindell, Chairman of the Board.

The American Institute of Management is an incorporated non-profit research and educational organization dedicated to the advancement of management. Its studies are concerned with over-all management functions and corporate policy. Headquarters are at 38th Street and Lexington Ave., New York City.

The Presidents Council is a limited group composed of leaders of large and small companies within the United States and Canada. One of the main purposes of this group is to help the Institute in shaping its policies and research directives. The experience and knowledge of members of the Council is called upon to aid the Institute in its many undertakings and programs.

Help ECC Stay On Top; It Needs Your Support

East Carolina is zooming ahead and as enrollment figures rise higher and higher, E.C. is fast becoming the most outstanding college in North Carolina.

Enrollment for this year totals 4179 for classes taught on campus and 1966 for extension courses.

From 1947 to 1958, East Carolina has increased more in average attendance than any other state college (250%). E.C.C. has increased its annual graduates 360%, its graduates in teaching 275%, and its graduate or M. A. degrees awarded 400%.

This college is educating the youth of North Carolina. Out of the total enrollment figure only 237 students are from out of state.

Yet, as outstanding as the above facts prove E.C.C. must be, this college, next to Appalachian, received the lowest recommended per capita appropriation for maintenance of all state colleges for biennium 1959-61.

The per capita appropriations for all state colleges were: Elizabeth City State Teachers College, $706; Woman's College, $644; U.N.C., $613; N.C. College, $609; N.C. State, $586; Fayetteville State Teachers College, $542; Pembroke, $490; A and T, $449; Winston-Salem State Teachers College, $396; Western Carolina College, $382; East Carolina College, $373; and Appalachian State Teachers College, $294.

E.C.C. has more students per library staff member than any other state college. Dr. J. D. Messick, college president, has asked for an assistant professor of library science. We have none.

We desperately need more library books. This college has been criticized by the Southern Association.

E.C.C. is one of the state colleges which still pays students 50 cents per hour for self-help jobs, while others have been paying 75 cents for several years. Dr. Messick has asked for enough money to pay our students 75 cents also.

The list of needs of this college is long and the items numerous. The items listed are not frivolous, but absolutely essential. Every other state school has a long list of needs just as we do. Still, we think this school deserves not a little bit, but a whole lot more than has been recommended for it for the next biennium.

The above facts give you something with which to work, about which to talk. See your senator or representative. Gain his support in helping ECC to stay on top.

Foolish Hoax Turns Into Serious Crime

Austin Building was evacuated for an hour and a half Friday and 1300 students turned away from their classes while officers and college officials searched without success for a bomb said to have been planted in the building.

Few people seriously thought that a bomb had actually been planted in Austin. Most welcomed the extra free time given them by the hoax, while county, city, and college officials left important jobs to hunt a bomb.

With all the recent bombings which have taken place, bomb hoaxes have become more serious crimes than they were in the past. Persons involved in such hoaxes have been punished soundly in most cases.

The DAILY REFLECTOR has offered a reward of $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person responsible for the Austin bomb hoax. If our budget provided we would triple that amount.

East Carolinian

Name changed from TECO ECHO November 7, 1952. Published by the students of East Carolina College, Greenville, North Carolina

Member

Columbia Scholastic Press Association

Associated Collegiate Press

Intercollegiate Press

North State Conference Press Association

Enter as second-class matter December 3, 1928 at the U. S. Post Office, Greenville, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879.

Kathryn Johnson JoAnne Parks
EDITOR BUSINESS MANAGER

Managing Editor Derry Walker

Associate Editor Pat Harvey

Co-Sports Editors Johnny Hudson, Bill Boyd

Cartoonist Derry Walker

Photographer Fred Robertson

News Staff Betty Maynor, Libby Williams, Bob Whiting, Tom Jackson, Jean Ann Waters, Evelyn Crutchfield, James Trice

Feature Editor Betty Maynor

Columnists James Corbett, Derry Walker Tom Jackson, Jean Ann Waters

Proofreading Staff Gwen Johnson, Marcella Vogel, Jean Ann Waters, Melborne Prigen, Jane Berryman, Bob Johnson, Don Griffin

Women's Circulation Manager Susan Ballance

Men's Circulation Manager James Trice

OFFICES on the second floor of Wright Building Telephone, all departments, 6101, extension 64

From the "Rubayyat of Omar Khayyam."
"The moving finger writes, and, having writ,
Moves on; nor all your piety nor wit,
Shall lure it back to cancel half a line,
Nor all your tears wash out a word of it."
translated by E. Fitzgerald.

'Africa Today' Racial Situation Discussed By Recent Lecturer

By BETTY MAYNOR

As the final guest lecturer of the Danforth Foundation Project, Dr. M. J. Herskovits noted authority on African problems discussed "Africa Today". During his appearances on campus April 29-30, Dr. Herskovits emphasized the important role which Africa has played in the past, and the even greater role which it will play in the future.

During his discussion Thursday morning, Dr. Herskovits began with the January 4 riots in the Belgium Congo to illustrate the upheaval presently affecting Africa. The riots were anti-white demonstrations against the social centers, schools, and Catholic missions because of their government connection and because of the treatment they receive there.

Dr. Herskovits stressed that the African problem is a dynamic one, but the United States refuses to recognize it as such. In comparison he said that the problem of the Union of South Africa was ten times greater than our problem in the South.

When questioned as to how important he considered the problem in the South, Dr. Herskovits commented, "I think that the racial situation in the South looked at from the position of the United States, gives us one of our most serious handicaps. I do not wish to raise any question of blame or praise, because these things are historical facts and have to be accepted as such."

"All over the world people are hostile to the United States when they point to the difference in what we do in regard to race relations and what we preach about human rights and freedom, as proof that we're not honest," continued Dr. Herskovits.

"This is one of the reasons why, in standing for freedom before the rest of the world, we have got to look at ourselves. As far as Africa is concerned, the Africans are friendly to the U. S., but there was not a single issue raised by Africans as often as the issue of race relations in the U.S.," he concluded.

Dr. Herskovits has conducted extensive research in the field of anthropology in such countries as Dutch Guiana, West Africa, Haiti, Trinidad, Brazil, and Sub-Saharan Africa.

As an author, he has written many outstanding books in his field. His "The Myth of the Negro," first published in 1941 is now in its second printing. Some of his other works include "The American Negro, A Study of Racial Crossings," and "Rebel Destiny Among the Bush Negroes of Dutch Guiana."

At present Dr. Herskovits is preparing a report to present to the U. S. Senate, containing an analysis of the African problems and recommendations for solving them.

College Union News

The College Union Student Board and Committee members met last Thursday to elect officers for next year. The new officers are Ronnie Stephens, president; Dot Smith, vice president; Betsy Redding, secretary; Alice Bailey, treasurer; and Margaret Smith, reporter.

Table Tennis Tournament

The table tennis Tournament of Champions will be conducted today in the College Union beginning at 6:30 P. M. The tournament will be a round-robin tournament with only the winners and runners-up of the quarterly tournaments participating.

The champions for the Fall, Winter, and Spring Quarters listed respectively are: Norman Kilpatrick, Barney Strutton, and Thomas Salters.

The runners-up are Thomas Lucas, Boyce Honeycutt, and Brad Bulls.

The winner of the tournament will be honored at the College Union Banquet May 12.

CU Bridge Tournament

The results of the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament have been received from the Association of College Unions who sponsored the tournament. This year, the tournament was entered by 118 colleges with 1740 students participating.

Regional competition for East Carolina consisted of colleges from eight southeastern states. Carlton Adams and Jimmie Wall took third place honors for the East-West position.

The local tournament was held on March 16, with five tables entered. Campus winners were Carlton Adams and Jimmie Wall for the East-West position and Jerry Sue Townsend and Barney Strutton for the North-South position.

He Aimed Too High

An Advocator Of Peace

Can Herter Fill The Shoes Of Dulles?

By JAMES CORBETT

For weeks now, the Free World has openly speculated on how John Foster Dulles' replacement would handle the current touchy world situation. The recent announcement of his successor, Christian A. Herter served only to increase the speculation.

Will Herter be able to evoke a compromise from the present contrasting allied stands? Will he waver on the Berlin situation? Will he follow Dulles' policies? And will his arthritic condition prove too much a handicap? These are only a few of the questions Americans and the entire world are asking daily. The answers to some of the questions will be forthcoming soon.

Probably no other Secretary of State has been thrust into quite the position Herter finds himself in today. Not only must he fill the shoes of Dulles, but he must immediately unite the allies on the critical Berlin problem. As things stand at the present Great Britain is willing to give some ground to Russia for the sake of a peaceful solution. West Germany and France on the other hand feel that to give an inch would be committing suicide. So far neither side has expressed willingness to give on their demands.

This is the situation as the May 11 Big Four Foreign Conference in Geneva draws near. Most observers agree that the conference is intended to be a stepping stone for a possible summit conference with Khrushchev. This summit conference in turn would be primarily for the purpose of discussing Berlin and German reunification. This failure of the West to reach a strong unified agreement on specific proposals to present to Khrushchev could jeopardize the entire chain of events. As the neutral in the Western camp, the responsibility of securing this agreement is squarely on Herter's shoulders. The extent of his success not only may determine his professional future, but the future of Democracy as well.

Christian A. Herter is a determined and devoted advocate of peace. This alone will prove his biggest asset. Though lacking the physical stamina of his predecessor, the new secretary makes up for this with political know-how and conscientiousness. Only history will bear these points out. But for the current generation, we can be sure that if peace is to be extracted from the current state of world affairs, Christian Herter is as likely to do it as anyone.

Why Can't I Be A Candidate?

"What is the word?" said the Student Government candidate.

"More power for student government?" queried the voter.

"No, you are behind the times," countered the candidate.

"Power was last year's word. The new word is student awareness."

"Oh," said the voter, "I'm sorry I was out of town for awhile."

"Perfectly all right," soothed the candidate. "You are a voter and therefore may say anything you wish."

"But how do we achieve this awareness?"

"I am glad you asked me that question. Our party has a committee working on it right now. The results of our investigation should be available in the near future."

"Sometime after election?"

"Right. You are extremely astute."

"Well, I hate to make myself obnoxious, but exactly how do you plan to become aware—or are you aware at the moment? If you are already aware, I would like to see some signs of your awareness. That isn't asking too much."

"Well, yes. I can see that you have a point there. But don't you think that it is a little unkind of you to ask me a question like that. I mean, after all, how would I know. I would have to get in the senate first to see exactly what can be done."

You mean that you don't know enough about the senate right now to be able to suggest constructive steps?"

"I guess you are right. But I am intelligent and I will learn fast."

"How about that. Let's see. You don't know very much about student government, except that you would like to change it. You aren't very aware; however, you should like to become aware—but you don't know how. Since you think that you are intelligent you figure that you will learn rapidly, and that in a short time you will be able to make the SGA an effective force for student awareness. Forgetting that you haven't mentioned anything of which students should be aware, how do you differ from me?"

"Well, I am an SGA candidate."

"Yes, I know, you already told me. But why shouldn't I be an SGA candidate. After all, I am intelligent and I don't know very much. Doesn't that qualify me?"

"Listen, I would like to continue this discussion, but you catch me at a bad time. I plan to have a headache in about half hour. I will talk to you some other time."

"After you have discussed the matter with your campaign manager?"

"Yes, you are extremely astute."

(—Colorado Daily)

Activity Fees Too Much?

Two Campus Organizations Prefer Freedom

By BOB JOHNSON

At least two important campus organizations are asking the SGA to cut them free. It seems they want to operate under some liberal, left-wing ideology known as "free enterprise."

That means that if they failed to take in enough money by their own endeavors they would willingly become defunct.

The fraternities are not one of the above groups. But, it is well known that they would love to be independent like some of their brothers are on other campuses.

Intramurals on our campus should be a part of the P.E. department. Then boys training to be coaches could gain experience by refereeing for the games free. At present one person, Bill Boyd, is president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and board of directors for the intramural program. And the system of paying referees is most irregular.

A bank account separate from the SGA treasury is used. This is in direct opposition to the existing constitution. I understand that special dispensation was received from SGA chief, Bulldog Dyson. What about it, Charlie?

Last week a high administrative official gave unofficial support to the move to remove us from the NSA. He called the organization "adolescently liberal" and said he was glad to see us out of it.

The Advisory Council of the NSA includes Ralph Bunche, Reinhold Niebuhr, Walter P. Reuther, and Harold E. Stassen.

I understand that Niebuhr is retiring from Union Theological Seminary this summer. So, any of you who had hoped to study under him will be forced to use his books or his disciples. Sorry.

Recently I talked to Mr. Mahlon Coles, manager of our college book store. He showed me through his shop, and I found him to be an amicable, courteous, young business executive. His experience in both private and public business is wider than his youthfulness indicates. Assisting him are Mr. H. G. Rainey and our dear Miss Mendenhall.

Mr. Coles assured me that a student book exchange was already in operation, and that the only way the SGA could establish one was to open one off campus with private funds.

There goes one pet project—out the window in just thirty-two words, one comma, and one period!

During your college life you will pay $528.00 to the SGA in the form of activity fees. Is that too much? It could be avoided mainly by destroying the SGA. Are there other reasons why the SGA should be disbanded? Yes. How can it be disbanded? Before long I will try to answer those questions for you. Keep watching.

Last week Dog Dyson wrote an article for this page. He got the space by threatening to remove all funds from the EAST CAROLINIAN if it did not print his spite sheet. No apology has been made. And, the college administration by its silence condones such conduct for the student governors.

THE REBEL, Dan Williams, editor, will be out soon. I'll try to scrounge an early copy and let you have a preview soon.

After acquiring a few bruises and taking a few hundred gallons of water internally, you become more confident, and you begin to love it. Then, sometimes when the boat takes a sharp turn, and you swing way out beside it, picking up speed until you feel you're going to fly, you look at the sun and the water and the boats and the people. You see your legs that can ski, your body that can swim, and you close your eyes that tell you all these things and thank the Lord.

Unusual Photography Exhibited In Austin

By TOM JACKSON

Bob Harper, former photographer for the EAST CAROLINIAN, is presenting his senior art exhibit on second floor of Austin Building for the next few days. Those of you who haven't seen it should do so by all means.

Bob has accomplished the unusual in most of his prints through combining art and photography. The pictures vary in subject matter from ball game shots to character studies. Nothing seems to have escaped his eye and his camera.

Bob's exhibit is striking because his pictures have character and mood. They have feeling. One entitled "Foreign Student" is especially outstanding, but they all are tops, so drop by and see them.

It seems that some responsible person would realize the need for a stoplight at the Fifth Street entrance to the college over by the administration building. That's a rather dangerous spot.

Of course we realize that "safety is everyone's job," but isn't there someone who looks out about things like stop signs, and painting white lines to designate parking places, and stoplights and stuff like that. If so, they should look into the situation over at the college entrance and perhaps see about getting a stoplight.

After all, a college car could pull out into that blind street one day and collide with a town car, which in turn would make some Greenville citizen very unhappy. Now we don't want that to happen do we? The citizens of Greenville must be protected from accidents, and inconveniences, and unwholesome sights etc.

Several students in Dr. Miller's Camping Techniques class report that they had many new and unusual experiences during the recent overnight camping trip. Leon O'Brian (alias the Lone Ranger in last week's EAST CAROLINIAN) commented that the outing was very enjoyable but the canoe paddle blisters on his lily white hands are healing rather slowly.

We understand that there were several other overnight camping expeditions (unofficial, of course) in the Morehead-Atlantic Beach area over the weekend. Oh well, nothing like a good wholesome orgy to relax one for semi-final exams.

Mike Katsias, former SGA president, was on campus recently and stated that he planned to return to school in the fall and hoped to "take an active part in the SGA". Old politicians never die . . .

Can You Swim?

Skiing? It's Simple

By DERRY WALKER

If you have a boat, a motor, some skis, and access to an adequate amount of water you are a fortunate person—provided you can water-ski.

Water-skiing used to be a sport for only a few people, but like golf and the cha-cha, it has become a craze that attracts more and more brave individuals.

The first time you try it, you find yourself waist-deep in water, struggling to get your feet into the rubber attachments of the tops of the skis. You're surrounded by your buddies and each of them is giving you advice. You try to listen to everyone's advice at once, but you only get bits and pieces of it, because you keep losing your balance while putting the skis on and you slide under water.

The guy in the boat yells at you and tells you to grab the ski rope so that he takes the slack out of it, and then you are told to bring your legs up under you and stick the tips of the skis out of the water—no easy task the first time.

Finally, you're holding the rope, the rope is tight between you and the boat, and you somehow have the tips of the skis out of the water, and the guy in the boat hollers and asks you if you're ready. Although you are ready not to ski, but to get the devil back out of the water, you tell yourself you might as well go ahead since you've gone this far. You nod your head to the guy in the boat.

The driver sees your nod and grins, because he knows this is your first attempt, then he slaps the throttle wide open and you see the rear end of the boat lurch deeper into the water, leaving behind a confusion of foam and you. You are moving at once and you see the tips in front of you become two long shafts under your feet and they are determinably slicing the water they meet.

The wind blows the water off of your skin, and as you struggle to keep your legs from acting like rubber bands you realize suddenly that you have "gotten up," that act being the initial and most difficult step in water skiing. Then, as you realize that you have "gotten up," one ski goes one way and the other goes someplace else, and Lord knows where you go, but it's never up.

After acquiring a few bruises and taking a few hundred gallons of water internally, you become more confident, and you begin to love it. Then, sometimes when the boat takes a sharp turn, and you swing way out beside it, picking up speed until you feel you're going to fly, you look at the sun and the water and the boats and the people. You see your legs that can ski, your body that can swim, and you close your eyes that tell you all these things and thank the Lord.

Crescent Girl

Harriet Icard is the first Crescent Girl for the local chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity. She was chosen recently by Lambda Chi brothers.

Geography Majors Visit Washington

Three geography majors visited Washington, D. C. last week-end, when under the direction of Dr. Robert E. Cramer of the Department of Geography, they observed the work of government and private agencies in the area.

On a trip, an annual event in the Department of Geography, has proved a valuable experience for geography majors. Cramer commented.

Washington last weekend the two students visited agencies where work of a geographic nature is performed and saw geographers, and others with geographic training at work. They also had an opportunity to talk with personnel officers concerning employment upon graduation.

A number of graduates of the East Carolina Geography Department are now employed in some of the organizations visited.

Get WILDROOT CREAM-OIL Charlie!

J. PAUL SHEEDY, hair expert, says: "Quack down on that messy hair with Wildroot Cream-Oil."

Pikas Install Tony Mallard As New Prexy

Officers of Epsilon Mu Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity for next year, were installed at a meeting in the fraternity house Thursday night, April 30th, at 7:30 p.m.

Tony Mallard, from Trenton, N. C., was installed as president, succeeding past president Linwood Johnson. Mallard is majoring in business administration, and served as vice president of the fraternity during the term prior to his election to the presidency.

Vice president for the coming year is Howard King, an industrial arts major from Greenville. Before assuming the office of vice president, King served on several fraternity committees, including the Projects Committee, on which he served as chairman.

Donald Conley, a geography major, also from Greenville, was installed as secretary for the new term. Conley is recognized as an outstanding member of the ECC Golf Team. The position of secretary is the first fraternity office to which he has been elected.

Kenneth Nielson, business administration major, became the new treasurer in the installation. Nielson is from Richmond, Va., and has served as sergeant-at-arms in the fraternity prior to his election to treasurer.

Filling the position of sergeant-at-arms for the new term is Jefferson Strickland, from Salemburg, N. C. Strickland, along with Mallard, King, and Nielson, is a charter member of the chapter, and has served on several committees. He was Rush Committee Chairman during the last term, and is a physical education major.

Fred Robertson, former sergeant-at-arms, was installed as the historian of the fraternity. Robertson is from Littleton, N. C., and is majoring in mathematics.

Sorority Elects New Officers

A. Leonore Pate will act as president of the Phi Beta Chi social sorority during the 1959-1960 term.

Newly elected officers who will serve with Miss Pate are Mary Lee Lawrence, vice president; Bobbie Ann Bethune, secretary; Nancy Kinsey, treasurer; Becky Coley, parliamentarian; Barbara Eidson, historian; and Judith Thompson, chaplain.

Initiated as new members of the sorority are Madelyn Coleman, Sylvia Gardner, and Betty Matheny.

Peggy Holman of the Business Department and Gay Hogan of the Health and Physical Education Department, will act as advisors to Phi Beta Chi members during the coming school year.

DELICIOUS FOOD 24 HOURS

Lunch at 65c

CAROLINA GRILL 9th & Dickinson

George Turner

New Officers Installed By Kappa Alpha

Gamma Rho Chapter of Kappa Alpha Order recently installed new officers for the 1959-60 school year. These officers were installed in ceremonies conducted in the fraternity chapter room on Cotanche Street.

The officers are George Turner, president; Harold Marlowe, vice president; Jim Owen, recording secretary; Robert Harrell, corresponding secretary; Cecil Cheek, historian.

Others are Robert Franck, treasurer; Wade Bodenheimer, parliamentarian; Raymond Gurtner, doorkeeper; and Pat Draughon, custodian.

On April 27 and April 28, initiation services were conducted at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. The new brothers initiated into the Order were: C. J. Browne, Jay Cardy, Fred Daniel, Ray Gillikin, Richard Hodges, Jim Martin, and Bill Massey.

Others were: Mitchell Moon, Willard Parks, Gary Pierce, M. H. Pridden, Henry Vansant, and Harry Wicker.

Sorority Inducts Pledge Class

Kappa Phi Epsilon Sorority recently installed its officers for the coming year and its first pledge class.

Officers for the coming year include: Andrea Pittman, president; Doris Robbins, vice president; Betty Faye Moore, corresponding secretary; Libby Massad, recording secretary; Boots Thomas, treasurer; Sandra Griffin, assistant treasurer; Sue Davis, chaplain; Alice Bailey, historian; Betty Milton, reporter.

Those installed as new members were: Alice Sauls, Ida Sue Thomas, Joyce Meads, Sandra Griffin, Ellen Wilson, Sarah Jo Stanley, Shirley Holt, and Judy Corbett.

Alpha Phi Omega Elects Officers

In Alpha Omega's recent biannual election of officers, David Perry was elected president. He succeeds Dan Spain.

Other officers chosen were: Robert Needs, 1st vice president; Rudd Jensen, 2nd vice president; James Ward, recording secretary; Paul Darden, corresponding secretary; and Walter Hooper, treasurer.

Ike Collins, chaplain; Tolson Willis and Reginald Spell, historians; Berkly Roberts, sergeant at arms; and Rosier Collier, social chairman.

The installation service was conducted in the Alumni Building April 20.

Alpha Phi Omega is a national service fraternity.

Spain Accepts Frat Award At Installation

Phi Sigma Pi, national honorary fraternity, installed new officers at its annual Founders Day Banquet in the East Dining Hall of the college cafeteria April 30.

New officers for the coming year are James Laughinghouse, president; Tom Hopkins, vice president; Ed Lancaster, secretary; Bill Jones, treasurer; Henry Meares, corresponding secretary; and Jim Horton, historian.

Speakers at the banquet included Bill Rowland, a former ECC graduate and member of Phi Sigma Phi, and Dr. Richard C. Tood, past National President of Phi Sigma Pi, who is presently national counselor as well as adviser to the local group.

Mr. Rowland spoke of the need of scientific education in the United States. Dr. Tood spoke briefly on the fraternity and its functions and also announced that the outstanding award to the senior boy will be presented to Adolphus Spain this year.

As a part of the initiation procedure for membership in Phi Sigma Pi, the pledges are required to write an original paper on their philosophy of education. Usually the outstanding paper from all of the pledge classes of the year is presented by its author at the Founders Day Banquet. This year two such papers were honored at the banquet, one by Tom Hopkins and one by Bill Jones.

Wesley Players Present Play

"When Shakespeare's Gentlemen Get Together," a one-act play will be presented by the Alpha Zeta Chapter of Wesley Players, on May 13 in the AZ Room at the Methodist Student Center.

The play is a burlesque on several of Shakespeare's leading characters. Hamlet, Romeo, Antony and Othello call on Shylock to borrow money and to ask advice on how to control women. Hamlet has wed the mad Ophelia and she is making him The Melancholy Dane in every sense of the word. Romeo has married the fair Juliet and her extravagances are breaking him. Cleopatra's dressmaking bills and money for her jewels are driving Antony to bankruptcy. And Othello is jealous of Iago, who he feels certain is winning Desdemona away from him.

The cast includes: Romeo, Smitty Haislip; Hamlet, Walter Johnson; Othello, Ed Lancaster; Shylock, Jim Lanier; Antony, Bill Mitchell; Petruchio, Jim Ballard. Barbara Wilson is director of the play.

Admission is 15c for students and 25c for adults.

Delta Sigma Pi Honors Brothers

The Delta Zeta Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi held a dinner and dance May 2 honoring twelve new brothers.

For the new members, the dinner climaxed a month-long pledge period which included "Help Week." New brothers admitted to the professional business fraternity were as follows: Tommy Reese, Buddy Kilpatrick, Bobby Seate, Maynard Keith, Bill Porterfield, John Burlison, Lloyd Lee, Charles Lee Smith, Ted McGee, Jim Thrope, John Redeki, and Johnnie Churchill.

Tommy Reese was presented a trophy designating him outstanding pledge of his class. "The trophy was a reward for his conscientious attitude and willingness to work displayed during the pledge period," said president Edgar Delmar. The entire class entertained the group during the evening with a skit prepared for the occasion.

Delmar was also the recipient of a plaque from W. W. Howell, faculty advisor. Delmar was voted Delta Sig of the year at a recent meeting by the members.

In addition to a large turnout of student brothers, several alumni members were present for the event, as well as a member from the fraternity chapter at the University of North Carolina.

Members were selected on the basis of scholarship and leadership. Fitzhugh Duncan, Vice President and Treasurer of East Carolina College; and Harold McGrath, a member of the business faculty, were initiated as honorary members.

Beta Kappa will have its annual spring banquet at the Moose Lodge May 10. Officers for next year will be installed at that time.

'Romeo And Juliet' Cast Practice For Tonight

Dick Heller, Benvolio; Gus Laube, Romeo; and Bubba Driver, Mercutio practice death scene from Shakespearean tragedy. (photo by Jimmy Kirkland)

Driver Climaxes Dramatic Career In Shakespearean Tragedy

By PAT HARVEY

Last year's recipient of the "Outstanding Actor of the Year" trophy, Delano Driver, is at present performing in his first and last ECC Shakespearean production, "Romeo and Juliet." Mr. Driver, who has been a valuable asset in all fields of dramatics, makes his final stage appearance at East Carolina College tonight in the Sylvan Theatre.

Bubba has undertaken a role in practically all of the major playhouse productions. During his first two years at EC, he portrayed characters in "Detective Story," "Pygmalion," "State of the Union," "Mr. Roberts," "Cinderella," "Aladdin and the Magic Lamp," and "Antigone."

During his junior year Mr. Driver's successes included "House of Connelly," "Teahouse of the August Moon," and "The Moon is Blue." This year he has done four plays, "Potting Shed," "Death of a Salesman," "Caine Mutiny Court Martial," Greenville Little Theatre Production; and the latest, "Romeo and Juliet."

When asked what he considered to be his favored roles, Bubba included four: Willy Loman in "Death of a Salesman," "Captain Queeg in 'Caine Mutiny Court Martial,'" Ensign Pulver in "Mr. Roberts," and Mercutio in "Romeo and Juliet."

In explaining his first choice, Bubba concluded, "The depth of the role of Willy Loman and the range it required enables one to gain a valuable experience in that type of play." Concerning his "Mr. Roberts" role, Mr. Driver said, "Ensign Pulver was a grand experience in comedy and I found valuable training in comedy portrayal and delivery."

Workshop Plays Besides acting in major productions, Driver has portrayed roles in eleven workshop plays including a cutting from "Hatful of Rain," Broadway success, with the "Common Glory" Company. He has directed such plays as "The Moon is Blue," "Moonclaf Mufgard," "Dust of the Road," "Two Crooks and a Lady," and "The Monkey's Paw."

"My father was in vaudeville," exclaimed Bubba concerning his interest in the theatre, "and I've always been interested in entertaining, but became interested in acting when I first came to ECC, I haven't been out of a play for over three weeks since then. It's a merry way," smiled Bubba, "to spend your college time. It is time consuming, but the satisfaction is something you feel even if you can't exactly put your finger on."

For the past two years Bubba has spent his summer vacations in outdoor drama in Virginia. The 1957 season was spent at the Barksdale Memorial Theatre, Hanover, Virginia in "To Rise One Day" and last summer he was John Adams in "The Common Glory" in Williamsburg, Virginia. In June he plans to return to Williamsburg, this time as Patrick Henry.

Driver has attained many acting honors during his college career, beginning with the Most Promising Newcomer Award in the playhouse, his freshman year. While in his second year with the playhouse, he won several awards including: Best Supporting Actor, Best Director, Most Improved Actor and the Best Portrayal of a Character.

Last year he managed to cop the Most Improved Actor Award for the second consecutive year and also the Most Valuable Playhouse member award. As a junior he also served as president of the Playhouse.

When asked what he considered to be the best play EC had put on since he has been here, Bubba grinned and said, "I'm prejudiced; I pick 'Death of a Salesman'."

Being the accomplished and experienced actor that Bubba has been acclaimed, he was requested to tell the readers who is his favorite actor. "Marlon Brando," exclaimed Bubba, "is a genius in his field, in my opinion. Some people may say that I've just got stars in my eyes, but, nevertheless, he's still tops in my book."

It seems that no matter how many plays an actor has performed in, he will manage to pull a "boner." Bubba's embarrassing moment came in one of his latest plays, "Caine Mutiny," when in the silent courtroom, "I accidentally dropped one of the all-important steel balls."

How any student could manage to do as many plays as Bubba has worked in and still have time for other school activities should put other students to shame. His range of college activities takes in quite a bit of territory.

Besides four years in the playhouse, his activities include president of the sophomore class, four years in the SGA, three years in the Circle K Club, membership in Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity, Creative Writers Club for two years, Entertainment Committee, Dean's Advisory Council, and the Ring Committee of which he is chairman this year.

This year Bubba was elected to the position of vice president of the SGA and when president Mike Katsias was unable to finish his term, Mr. Driver stepped into his position until the election of next year's president, Dallas Wells.

Dr. J. A. Withey, who is the director of the playhouse and has worked with Bubba in most of his plays, said, "I remember the first time I worked with Bubba. He had a small role and didn't seem to think it was necessary for him to show up for rehearsals until the latter part. But since then he has become more conscientious. He has increased his comprehension in concentrating solely on the character he is portraying."

Concerning his current role in "Romeo" Dr. Withey believes that, "the scene in which he dies is excellent."

Future Plans When requested to state his future plans Bubba said, "I hope I'll be acting for a living if the gods are with me." To the question, "What medium do you think offers the best opportunities for young actors?" Bubba believes that, "the other mediums fail to offer that special aesthetic contact that live theatre has."

ESSO Will Offer Driver Courses

Twenty-five scholarships of $50 each are available to college teachers without experience in the field of driver education who wish to participate in a Driver Education Seminar for College Instructors on campus June 22-June 27. Applications should be made to Wendell W. Smiley, Librarian at East Carolina College, who is coordinator of the seminar.

ECC is offering the seminar in cooperation with the Esso Safety Foundation, the New York University Center for Safety Education, the North Carolina Department of Motor Vehicles, and the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction.

The course, Mr. Smiley has announced, will include more than 35 hours of classroom lectures and discussions, practice driving, and project activities. Instruction will be scheduled in the air-conditioned J. Y. Joyner Library Auditorium. Living accommodations will be arranged for participants by the coordinator.

Consultants at the seminar will include Dr. Herbert J. Stack and Dr. Walter A. Cutter of the New York University Center for Safety Education; Ed Scheidt, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, and Dr. Wallace Hyde of the N. C. Department of Motor Vehicles; Joe Noe and Carlton T. Fleetwood of the N. C. Department of Public Instruction; and Maj. Charles A. Speed and Capt. Sam M. Mitchell of the N. C. State Highway Patrol.

Lecturers, all members of the East Carolina faculty, will be Howard G. Porter, Dr. J. O. Miller, and Dr. Charles G. DeShaw of the Health and Physical Education Department and Dr. George C. Martin of the Geography Department.

Kappa Delta Kappa Sorority sisters chose as their project for this week painting the benches on the front campus. The sisters began their work Saturday.

2 Brilliant College Students Committing What They Think is the Perfect Crime!

COMPULSION Dean Stockwell Diane Varsi and Orson Wells!

You'll Talk About These 2 College Boys and the Co-Ed But Please Don't Tell What They Did!

PITT Theatre Tuesday-Wednesday May 12-13

Honor Fraternity Inducts Seventeen Business Majors

The Beta Kappa Chapter of Pi Omega Pi, national business fraternity, initiated seventeen new members, including two honorary members, on April 28 in the East Cafeteria.

Business majors initiated were: Frances Merle Aiken, Betty Ann Brown, Myra Deanne Coleman, Earl Weeks Deal, Mildred T. McGrath, and Mary Elizabeth Massad.

Others included: Doris Kay Overton, Melbourne Henry Pridden, Sylvia Marie Sampedro, Sylvia Lola Uszell, Bettie Jean Harris, Nell T. Howell, Preston Cannon, Maldon Austin, and William Puckett. These students were selected on the basis of scholarship and leadership. Fitzhugh Duncan, Vice President and Treasurer of East Carolina College; and Harold McGrath, a member of the business faculty, were initiated as honorary members.

Beta Kappa will have its annual spring banquet at the Moose Lodge May 10. Officers for next year will be installed at that time.

Pirates Can Clinch NSC Title With Win Over Elon Here

Mallory's Rampaging Pirates Now 10-0 In Conference Play; Crayton To Hurl

East Carolina's baseball team had a busy week, winning four games, but Saturday night will present another test and possibly the most vital contest of the season.

The Bucs have had a chance to rest up this week following their busiest week of the season. The Pirates fall back into action against the defending champions, Elon, Saturday night.

Coach Jim Mallory will have all three of his aces ready to work on the mound. Southpaw Larry Crayton (5-1) will get the starting call. The freshman star hurled a 11-1 win over the Christians earlier this season at Burlington.

As the conference heads into its final stages, East Carolina and Elon are the only teams left in the race. The Pirates have won all ten of their conference tilts while Elon is 10-2 in the loop.

The meeting presents a familiar situation to Coach Jim Mallory. The ECC head mentor has guided the Pirates to a second place finish for the past two seasons and each year it was the final ECC-Elon tilt which decided the champion and the Christians were victorious both times.

This year, the Pirates go into the game with an advantage instead of needing a win to keep their chances alive. The Pirates have cruised through the league and boast a game lead over their arch-rivals.

An East Carolina win would virtually clinch the crown for Coach Jim Mallory while a defeat could cause complications. The locals had a couple of games with Lenoir Rhyne rained out and a defeat could mean that the games would have to be rescheduled.

Lenoir Rhyne and Catawba, a couple of early season contenders, dropped out of the running this past week, losing three games each.

East Carolina went on an early week batting surge and had some air tight pitching Saturday night to post four victories in the six day span.

Paced by the big bat of Gary Pierce East Carolina slaughtered Guilford 25-7 and added two victories over High Point. Saturday night's action saw Ben Baker hurl a five hit 1-0 shut out over Catawba.

Baker was backed by only four hits, but his teammates came through with one big run in the bottom half of the ninth inning to gain the victory.

Pierce, Jerry Carpenter, and Glenn Bass continued to pace the club in batting but Al Vaughan, Jimmy Martin, Doug Watts, and Wally Cockrell saw their averages take an upward climb.

Hubert Castelow took over the regular third base slot and immediately became a threat at the plate. The lanky freshman banged out five hits in nine trips to the plate, including an out-of-the-park home run.

Gilbert Watts, the All-Conference ace will be on the mound for Elon Saturday when the Christians attempt to keep their hopes alive. Watts is also a batting star for the visitors.

The game will be the second night tilt of the season for East Carolina and will be held at Guy Smith Stadium. ECC students will be admitted free with their ID cards.

Only three more games will remain on the Buc's 1959 slate. They have games with Guilford and Appalachian remaining and all will be played under the lights.

Preparing For Annual Conference Meet

Coach Bill McDonald (kneeling, center) looks over plans for the forthcoming North State Conference Track Meet to be held in High Point on Saturday. Looking on beside him are Assistant Coaches Ed Dennis and Charlie Bishop. Standing are Captains Joe Holmes and Jess Curry. (Absent from photo is the other captain, Foster Morse.) McDonald's high-riding trackmen are expected to dominate the annual event as the Pirates have for the past three years.

EC Netmen, Guilford Only Unbeaten Conference Teams

John West and the East Carolina netters get a warm-up match with a strong Cherry Point club here tomorrow before climaxing the season with the North State tournament at Greensboro next week.

The ECC tennis club has swept 30 consecutive matches during the past years but will have to settle for a tie for the crown this year. Guilford is also undefeated in loop competition.

The Pirates stopped by for a match with the Quakers on a recent road trip but Guilford wanted no part of a match which would knock them out of a share of the title.

Coach Ray Martinez will carry four netters to the Greensboro tournament. John West, the Pirate's number one man, will join teammate Bill Hollowell in the singles division. Maurice Everette, ECC graduate, is the defending singles champion.

Red Brown and John Savage will represent the Pirates in the doubles division. A duo from Guilford will return to defend their 1958 doubles crown.

West, a Durham native, is rated almost on even terms with Jack McCabe of Western Carolina as the singles favorite. McCabe has been tabbed as a slight pre-tourney favorite on the basis of playing more matches and also his tournament experience. The two split a pair of matches at Cullowhee this spring.

Hollowell has been around the North State singles competition for several years and is tabbed as a darkhorse among the challengers. Hollowell is from Kinston and has been ECC's number two man.

John Savage is a familiar figure in the doubles competition and will join a newcomer, Red Brown, to give ECC a good chance at this title. Savage has been one of the most consistent performers for the Pirates during the past three years and Brown has been tabbed by his coaches as "the most improved man on the club."

The ECC team will leave campus Sunday and the tournament will open Monday.

Cain, Emory Are Buc Co-Captains

Football returned to the spotlight at East Carolina College this week as Coach Jack Boone announced that tackle Ed Emory and end Bill Cain would be co-captains for the 1959 gridiron squad.

The two were elected last week at a meeting by the lettermen on the club. Emory and Cain will succeed Ralph Zehring and Lynn Barnett as the club's spokesmen.

Cain, 185 pound end, hails from Rockingham, N. C. and will be a senior next fall. Bill played freshman ball here before entering service. He returned to East Carolina in 1957 and has been a regular at the flank post for the past two seasons.

Cain is known as "Hurricane" by his teammates and is regarded as one of the toughest defensive men in the conference. He will be one of East Carolina's top candidates for All-Conference laurels next season.

Emory, a Lancaster, S. C., native who goes by the name of "Maui-Man", will be serving his fourth year as an ECC starter. The rugged blond has played either guard or tackle in the ECC lineup since 1956.

Ed was named on the North State All-Conference club last season and should be a repeater this fall. His 220 pound frame is regarded as one of the toughest linemen in the state.

The two will guide what is expected to be East Carolina's best club in several years. Coach Jack Boone stated "I think the boys have made a fine choice. Both boys have plenty of football background and should do a real good job for us."

Ed was named on the North State All-Conference club last season and should be a repeater this fall. His 220 pound frame is regarded as one of the toughest linemen in the state.

The two will guide what is expected to be East Carolina's best club in several years. Coach Jack Boone stated "I think the boys have made a fine choice. Both boys have plenty of football background and should do a real good job for us."

Left fielder Gary Pierce is one of the big reasons EC's baseball nine boasts a 10-0 conference record. The Delaware native leads the Pirates in hitting with an unofficial average of .412.

Get WILDROOT CREAM-OIL Charlie!

CARRIE Z. NATION, hairdresser, says "Smart men choose Wildroot, the non-alcoholic hair tonic!"

Just a little bit of Wildroot and... WOW!

SPORTS CHATTER
By BILL BOYD

The need for more money appears to be East Carolina's biggest thorn in the present side ache we are having due to tremendous growing pains. Our administrators and our legislators (from Eastern North Carolina) have proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that we have to have more money if we are going to meet the demands incoming students are making of our college. Yet we are being frowned upon and turned down with smiling apologies. Even Governor Luther Hodges stated where he wishes new-found revenue to go. In Tuesday's issue of THE NEWS AND OBSERVER, the Governor said, "It is my sincere hope that the extra money estimated (sic) to be available will be used for the most part for public schools, the University and other institutions of higher learning in the State."

This lets us know where we stand. We must not kid ourselves either. As long as the University of North Carolina's graduates dominate the state legislature the University of North Carolina is going to receive more money. The only way we can do anything about our definite needs for improvements here at East Carolina is to write our representatives. We probably represent every county in the Piedmont and Eastern Sections of North Carolina if not most of those in Western North Carolina. A well written letter to our law makers from our districts can help the situation a great deal.

We would again like to bring to your attention the fact that EAST CAROLINA COLLEGE HAS RECEIVED LESS PER CAPITA IN APPROPRIATIONS DURING THE LAST ELEVEN YEARS THAN ANY OTHER STATE COLLEGE. This year our college needs $402,160 for 1959-60, and $441,403 in 1960-61 beyond what the North Carolina Budget Commission recommended. Bear in mind that this money in addition to what the N. C. Budget Commission recommended is needed for essentials, for operational expenses, not for FRINGES OR EXTRAS.

Intramural Program Needs Funds

With these facts in mind we know where we stand and unless we get busy we are going to find ourselves in the same plight when the legislature meets again in two years. JUST WHAT DOES ALL THIS HAVE TO DO WITH SPORTS AT EAST CAROLINA? This is the question you are no doubt asking yourselves. It has plenty to do with sports when they are for every single male and female student on this campus. Each student pays an activity fee and the money is being put to the best possible use. But that money is not enough to create facilities which are needed. Facilities for intramural sports are not at all adequate at East Carolina; in fact the program will not go forward or stand still even unless the facilities are added during the next year, but the program will go backward. This is a harsh and radical statement but one that can be proven by facts.

At the present time the East Carolina College Intramural Program offers three sports to male students. Those are football, basketball and softball. These have been adequate in the past and the work of Dr. N. M. Jorgensen and Coach Earl Smith have made them meet the demands of most of the male students very well. There has been a definite lack of interest on the part of female students for participation but this has been attributed mostly to lack of facilities which could offer minor sports to female students. During basketball season the gym was constantly in use and crowded by students wishing to participate in intramural basketball. Volleyball or any other winter or spring sport could not be offered on an intramural level simply because there were neither funds or facilities for such. Now during the softball program which is still underway at the present time, there have been more forfeits in the program than in any other sport during the year or at any other time during the past three years.

Why Forfeits?

Forfeits will ruin a program quicker than anything I know of and they almost ruined the program this spring. The reasons for forfeiting were good ones though. Students simply cannot be expected to play when classes are taking place for most of them. The fields used were barely adequate due to congestion and dangerous obstructions on or near the field of play. More reasons and statements concerning forfeits and the present intramural situation could be listed but there is not adequate room in a column of this type.

Facilities and Money ! ! !

No matter how hard the Student Government Association works, no matter how hard the Director of Physical Education and his staff work, the proper job cannot be done without the facilities and the money to run the program as it should be. We at East Carolina need a large open field which can be used for touch football, softball and minor sports in the intramural program. But the field would have to be lighted and used at night to make the program a success. Students will respond to the playing times of 7 and 9 P.M. much quicker than they will to the times of 3 and 5 P.M. Anyone who wishes to question any part of the statements concerning our needs for intramurals can do so simply by talking to those students who have participated during the past two quarters and the present one. They have known of the needs for quite some time. So have other faculty members and college administrators here but it appears that the North Carolina Budget Commission will not even recommend funds to maintain our college's absolute needs, much less approve any request so radical as a large lighted field for intramural sports. As our campus becomes more crowded and expansion continues, the sad plight of intramurals for men and women students will take a turn for the worse next year. Without growing facilities for growing students it has to!

Smith Ha'ppy

Coach Earl Smith has plenty to gloat about at the present time. Practically every college coach in North Carolina and Virginia desired the playing talents of Cotten Clayton, highly touted basketball star of Zeb-Vance High School, to be used at his college. Clayton is a 6 foot 3 inch hardcourt standout who managed to average near 30 points per game for his past two years in high school. The Henderson athlete is also a top baseball performer. This is definitely a feather in Coach Smith's hat as the newly appointed basketball mentor seeks to replace four graduating members of the 1958-59 basketball squad.

By Defeating Lambda Chi Alpha

Jess Curry's Day Student softball nine won the second game of a three game series with Lambda Chi Alpha for top position in the final college softball standings. The second game of the 2 out of 3 affair was played Monday evening. Curry gave up a total of three hits in going the route to win 5 to 1. Timely hitting by Lee Atkinson, Curry and Richard Enrico paved the offensive way for the Day Students. The Day Students won the first game last week when they stopped

Day Students Win College Softball Title

The Day Students clashed with Lambda Chi in the first of the three game college championship series last Wednesday and won 5-3. It was the pitching of Jessel Curry and the hitting of Ike Riddick that told the story. Riddick had three RBIs with a single and triple. Curry did not give up a hit until the fourth inning when Eddie Boado slammed a single to center. By the same token John Spooone had held the Day Student

Day Students ... College Softball Champions

Managed by Pirate track and basketball star, Jessel Curry, the Day Student softball team recently won the college softball championship by defeating Lambda Chi Alpha in two straight contests. This winning club will meet an all-star team from both leagues next Monday. Seen left to right are (kneeling) Bennie Bowles, Lee Atkinson, Hilton Woolard, Jerry Shackelford and equipment manager Bob Rainey. In the back row from left to right are team manager Curry, Charlie Bishop, Clint LeGette, Bill Boyd, Richard Enrico, Ike Riddick and Walt Swing.

Standings

Fraternity League
Team	W	L	Pct.
Lambda Chi Alpha	6	0	1.000
Kappa Sigma Nu	5	1	.833
Kappa Alpha	4	2	.667
Pi Kappa Alpha	3	3	.500
Delta Sigma Pi	1	5	.166
Sig Eps	0	5	.000
*Theta Chi	2	4	.333
*Dropped from league and awarded last place for failure to participate.
Independent League
Team	W	L	Pct.
Day Students	5	0	1.000
xBombers	3	2	.600
Varsity Club	3	2	.600
xxEsquires	2	3	.400
Cool Cats	2	3	.400
*ROTC	0	0	.000
*Low Cuts	0	5	.000
*Dropped from league for failure to participate.

'Smilin' Jim'

Pirate Baseball Coach Jim Mallory is all smiles over the success of his '59 baseball club. The Buc can clinch the conference title this Saturday with a win over Elon.

CU Plans Banquet

The College Union Student Board and committee members will conduct the annual College Union Awards and Installation Banquet May 12.

Special guests of the banquet will be this year's tournament winners of chess, bridge, table tennis, and horse shoes. Faculty members who have assisted in the College Union program this year will also be present.

GARRIS GROCERY STORE
East Fifth and Cotanche
Fine Meats and Groceries

Camp Counsellor Openings
—for Faculty, Students and Graduates—
THE ASSOCIATION OF PRIVATE CAMPS
... comprising 250 outstanding Boys, Girls, Brother-Sister and Co-Ed Camps located throughout the New England, Middle Atlantic States and Canada.
... INVITES YOUR INQUIRIES concerning summer employment as Counsellors, Instructors or Administrators.
... Positions in children's camps, in all areas of activities, are available.
WRITE, OR CALL IN PERSON
Association of Private Camps—Dept. C
55 West 42nd Street, Room 631 New York 36, N. Y.