IFC Schedules Rush Week, Mass Meeting Tonight

A special Rush Assembly sponsored by the East Carolina Interfraternity Council will launch the group's annual Rush Week plans in the Library Auditorium this evening at eight o'clock.

All interested freshmen and upperclassmen are urged to attend in order to be briefed on the activities that will take place during the official Rush Week. Rush begins Tuesday morning and ends Friday midnight, September 27-30.

IFC Rush Committee co-chairman Mike Katsias commented, "We're expecting a capacity turnout for the assembly. A thorough information memorandum has been prepared for the benefit of all rushees. It contains financial breakdowns on all the fraternities and their complete schedules for Rush Week."

Fred Daniels, the other chairman of the committee, added, "all of the fraternity presidents and rush chairmen will also be in attendance. We want to make sure any remaining questions are answered." Dean James B. Mallory, IFC advisor, will serve as arrangements chairman for the meeting.

When asked if there was anything specific he wanted to release to the East Carolinian for the benefit of rushees, Katsias said, "I think it's important to establish the rules of rushing eligibility for freshmen and upperclassmen."

Freshmen have received invitations to attend Rush functions of interested fraternities. They must attend at least one function of any fraternity that they receive an invitation bid from during the first or second night of Rush Week. Failure to do this will result in automatic ineligible status. Any freshmen who didn't register for Rush Week must visit all seven fraternities during either the first, second, or third night. Interested upperclassmen will follow this same procedure."

According to the IPC, approximately twenty-five per cent of East Carolina's freshmen class mates will take part in Rush activities.

Seven national social fraternities will be represented in this year's organized competition to interest male students in seeking membership. The newest fraternity is Phi Kappa Tau, older members of the Council are: Lambda Chi Alpha, Sigma Nu, Theta Chi, Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Alpha, and Sigma Phi Epsilon. Four of the seven are established in recently acquired fraternity houses.

In closing their conference, both Katsias and Daniels offered their appreciation to Mallory's office for the splendid cooperation they have received during the planning stages of the IFC Rush Week. "With such interested faculty and staff like Dean Mallory, we feel that fraternities will meet the challenge to prove their worth on the campus for the benefit of the student body and the College," said Daniels.

Class Pictures

Class pictures are now being made for the 1961 BUCCANEER from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the BUCCANEER office, located on the second floor of Wright Building. Students must sign up one day in advance in the college union. Men's pictures are being made in dark coats and ties. Women are to wear black pull-over sweaters with a collar or buttons. A cardigan sweater worn backwards will serve the same purpose. Proofs of the pictures will be shown in the college union exactly one week from the day the picture is made. It is necessary that each student check his proofs in order to select a pose for the yearbook. Students who sign up to have their pictures made are urged to keep their appointment. The photographers will only be on campus for a limited time.

Club Pictures

The presidents of all sororities, fraternities, clubs, and other campus organizations are requested to contact the BUCCANEER staff, giving the name of the organization, and the time and place of their meetings. This information may be placed on a card and sent to Box 1123. The BUCCANEER staff would appreciate this information to assist them in arranging a schedule for the taking of group pictures of all organizations for the 1961 BUCCANEER.

Senate Approves Budget For '60-61

By MERLE SUMMERS

The Student Senate voted unanimously Monday night to approve the budget for the coming school year. The budget presented was approximately one half of the total budget.

According to Charlie Munn, only after many hours of thrashing out requests for appropriations, the Budget Committee presented this list for the approval of the Student Senate.

The following appropriations were made (the amount asked for is the first number listed and the amount received is the second number listed): YMCA, $895.00, $450.00; Buccaneer, $26,471.00, $26,000.00; East Carolinian, $13,911.00, $13,911.00; AFRO-TC, $1,279.56, $800.00; Student National Education Association, $150.00, $150.00; Judiciary (Men's and Women's), $523.00, $248.00; Association for Childhood Education, $275.00, $175.00; Junior Class, $2,700.00, $2,700.00; East Carolina College Band, $1,200.00, $1,200.00; Senior Class, $1,675.00, $1,675.00; ECC Tennis Club, $232.40, $332.40; Inter-Religious Council, $1,375.00, $1,375.00; Cheerleaders, $605.00, $605.00; Aquatic Club, $284.78, $284.78; Women's Recreation Association, $1,741.50, $1,650.00; and Intramurals (Boys'), $1,833.05, $1,833.05.

Crowd Welcomes Kennedy

Thousands of Greenville's inhabitants and neighboring enthusiasts gathered at the East Carolina College stadium last week and listened to Sen. John F. Kennedy's short speech on an affirmative program to help the nation's farm population.

Speaking for approximately ten minutes, the Democratic choice urged "Faith in this country of ours to be better."

Administration Failings
Kennedy said that the GOP administration failing "to have faith in our country's potential is one of our chief disagreements with the Republicans."

He asserted the United States had the lowest rate of economic growth last year of any major industrialized nation. "The Republican administration has failed to use in an imaginative way the great surpluses God has given us," he said.

Kennedy said that Franklin Roosevelt was a "good neighbor to Latin America because he was a good neighbor to the people of this country." He told his applauding audience that "it will be my daily task to care for the hopes of our citizens and to defend America."

Kennedy Welcomed
The College band welcomed Kenedy as his car neared the platform. Riding with him were John G. Clark, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic executive committee; Terry Sanford, and First District Rep. Herbert C. Bonner.

Behind them came Gov. Luther Hodges in the second car with other high officials.

After the formal introductions Rev. Floyd B. Cherry, minister of the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church offered the invocation.

With the visit here running about 20 minutes behind the planned schedule, Kennedy left early for his second stop in Greensboro.

12,000 Present

JOHN KENNEDY . . . says the situation can be improved as he outlined his farm program in College Stadium Saturday. The Democratic candidate spoke here during an 87 minute Greenville visit.

Jenkins Presents $7,835,500 Budget To State Commission

Budget and capital improvement requests for East Carolina presented Thursday in Raleigh totaled $7,835,500 for the coming biennium 1961-63.

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of the college, presented the requests to the State Advisory Budget Commission.

In presenting the "B" budget and improvement requests, Dr. Jenkins stated, ". . . Almost from its inception, this college has suffered the pangs of growing pains, and at the same time, been blessed with a strong and loyal corps of teachers. As far back as 1913, Governor Jarvis stated: 'Since the school first opened its doors for the students, we have been forced to refuse admission to nine hundred and twenty-seven. With this record before us, one is naturally inclined to feel that every available dollar of funds should be spent to enlarge and equip this institution to meet the constantly growing demands made upon it.'"

Dr. Jenkins pointed to the present situation in respect to the statement made by Governor Jarvis by showing the number of students who made application this year and were refused admission.

He further commented, "Due to the rapid growth of the college, we have, for the past several years, underutilized the anticipated enrollment for the succeeding biennium. The total equated enrollment for the year just closed was eleven per cent higher than the estimated enrollment in which the appropriation was based and it appears now that the enrollment will exceed the budget estimate by an even higher percentage in 1960-61."

In explaining the reasons for the desired amount of budget, Dr. Jenkins commented, "Our 'B' Budget request is conservative and does not include anything for research or any new programs. Our chief objective is quality teaching and we consider this a full time task."

The emphasis is on increasing the excellence of the existing program by moderate increases in the budget for salaries, instructional staff, instructional supplies and equipment, library books, faculty travel and a more adequate appropriation for the summer school. This action is not meant to discredit research; instead it is based on our belief that quality teaching requires undivided attention."

The budget requests, listed in order of preference, include:

Frosh To Elect Prexy

Elections Committee chairman Annette Burgess and Student Government President Jim Speight jointly announced that freshmen elections will be held on Tuesday, October 11.

In order for a candidate to have his name appear on the ballot, he must file by October 1 in the S.G.A. office. The only requirement is that he be enrolled in East Carolina College as a freshman. Once elected, each officer must keep a "3" average.

The offices that are to be filled are the following: President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, Male Senator, and Female Senator.

Committee Announces Plans For Homecoming, Oct. 15

The homecoming committee has been named and has plans well under way for Homecoming weekend October 14-15. Jayne Chandler, chairman of the Homecoming Committee, announced her co-workers recently.

Assisting Miss Chandler as co-chairmen are Jim Speight and Ted Rogers.

The parade marshal will be Billy Nichols who will be assisted by Woody Shepard, Charlie Munn, and Mike Keziah. Nancy Coggins and Barbara Jones will be in charge of the dance refreshments. Ted Rogers is responsible for obtaining the band.

Lynn Burgess will be in charge of the Homecoming Dance Decorations. Alpha Phi Omega has consented to help decorate.

Delta Zeta sorority has agreed to decorate the gates to the campus, and the cheerleaders will take charge of the field Ruby Bradshaw, assisted by David Rock, will take care of the election of a Homecoming Queen.

The Master of Ceremonies will be Jim Speight. Merle Summers, assisted by Myrtle Weaver, will be in charge of publicity.

"This year you are urged more strongly than ever to participate in Homecoming on October 15," stated Homecoming Chairman Jayne Chandler, "by entering a float in our annual Homecoming Parade."

This year's general theme is "Let's Go To Homecoming on T. V." around which all floats and dorm decorations must be based.

The Homecoming Committee feels that this theme is broad enough to allow each organization a different and satisfactory theme with which to work. In order to avoid duplication as much as possible, each group is requested to turn in to the SGA office no later than October 4, the proposed theme for its float. In case of duplication, those turned in earliest will be given first consideration.

The Homecoming parade this year will be a strictly East Carolina College affair, with no units participating which are not directly connected with the college. "This is one of the many steps we are taking this year to put our Homecoming on a higher level befitting a college of our size," Jayne continued.

Homecoming Floats

This year, floats will be judged in three categories: 1. Social Fraternities, 2. Sororities, and 3. Honorary and Professional groups and Campus Clubs and Organizations. The SGA feels that with each group designated, a greater degree of fairness in competition will be observed.

One first-place trophy will be awarded in each division, with second and third-place trophy being given in the third category (which actually is the most representative of the entire student body). Plaques for second and third place winners will be awarded in the social fraternity and sorority categories.

Floats will be judged on the following standards in their respective order:

1. Appropriateness for the occasion in relationship to the general theme
2. Originality.
3. Uniqueness.

Homecoming Queen

As has been the custom in the past, various student organizations and dormitories are requested to select a sponsor to run in the election for Homecoming Queen. These sponsors will represent your organization or dorm in all Homecoming activities. Freshman sponsors are ineligible for Queen.

Because the election of the Homecoming Queen is to be held on October 4, it is mandatory that the name of your sponsor be submitted in writing to the Student Government Office no later than September 24.

Each girl who is eligible for Queen must turn in an 8x10 black and white photograph of herself by October 2, so that it may be posted on election day.

All sponsors are asked to meet in the SGA office on October 6 at 4:00 p.m. This meeting is necessary in order that the sponsors participate in the Homecoming activities.

Moss Heads Cast Of Opera

The Opera Theatre will open the fall cultural events on the campus with two productions of Puccini's "Sister Angelica." The one-act opera will be presented Friday and Saturday, September 23 and 24 at 8:00 p.m. in McGinnis Auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

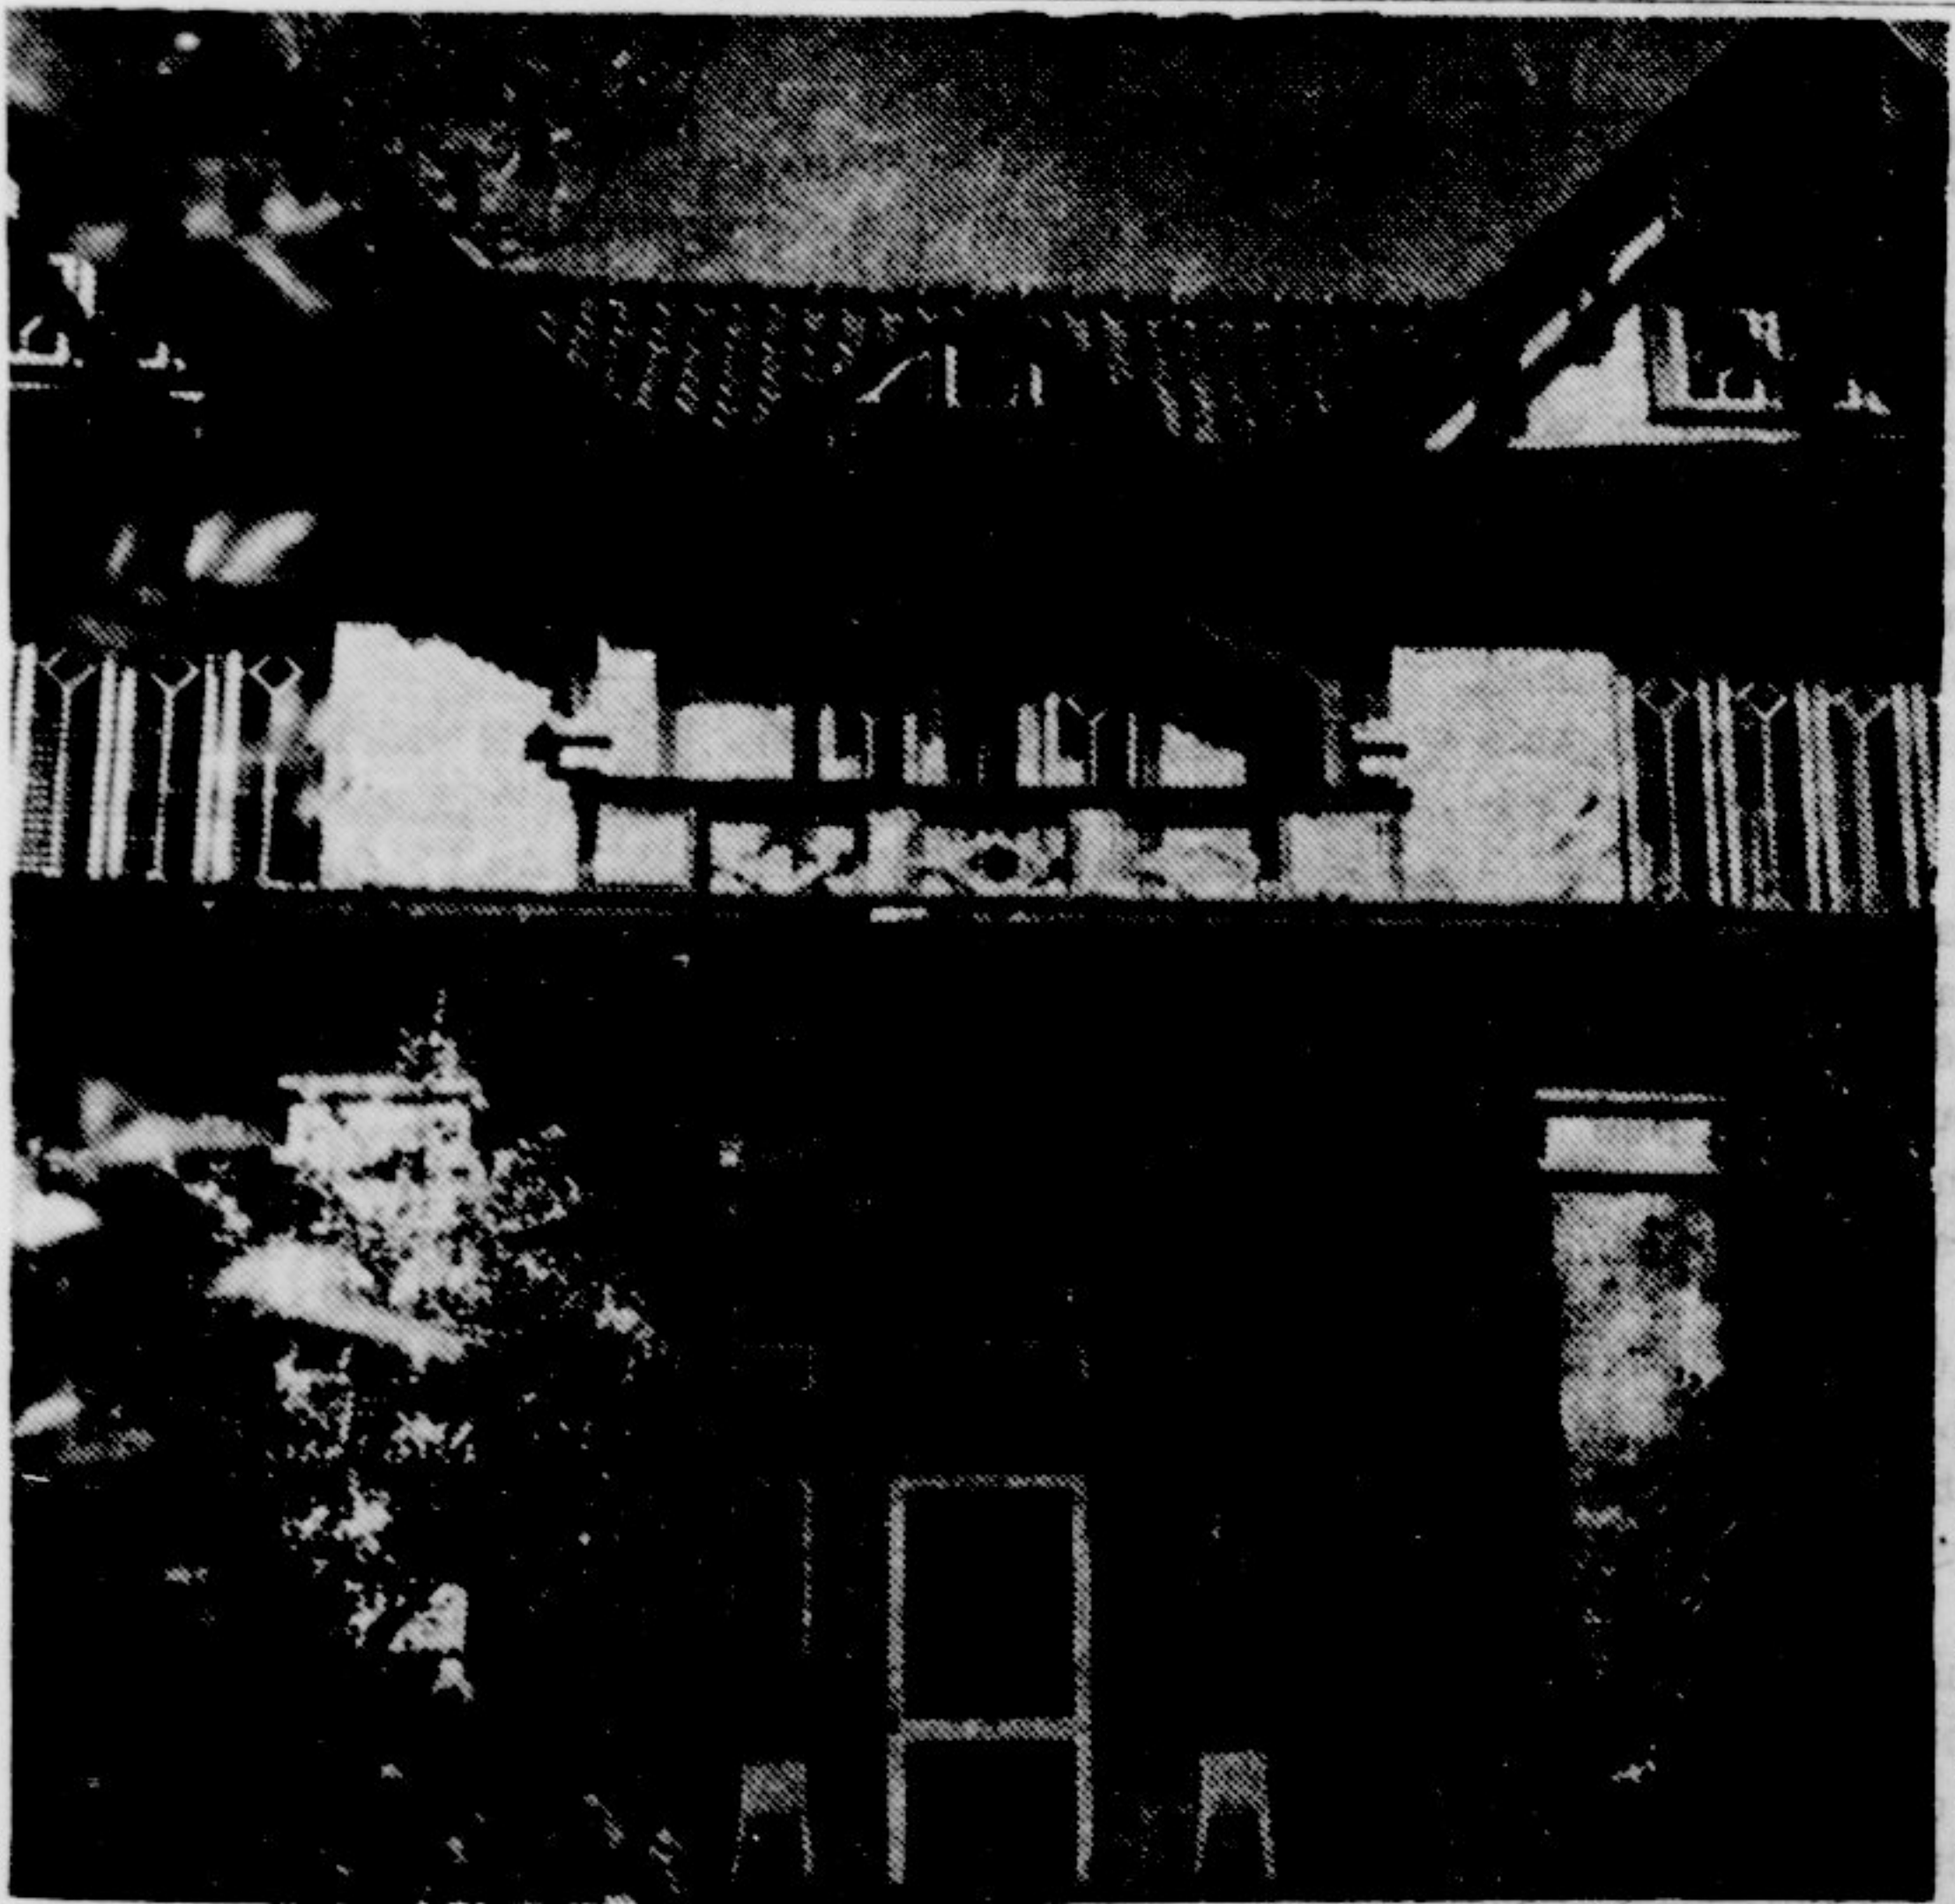

Mrs. Alison H. Moss is appearing in the title role in the opera, a tragic story of a nun. Mrs. Martha Bradner and Mrs. Jeanne Peterson will also appear in leading parts.

Others in the cast are Jessamine Hiatt, Carol Erwin, Mary Burrus, Betsy Hancock, Patsy Roberts, Anne Vickery, and Bonnie Currin.

Members of the chorus are Denice Brown, Becky Forbes, Dianne McCull, Sally Mewborn, Jacqueline Harris, Vivian Rice and Elizabeth Richardson.

"Sister Angelica" was presented during the first summer session in July as a part of the Opera Theatre's summer workshop.

Serving as directors are Paul Fickfang, director of the Opera Theatre and Dr. Corrinne H. Rieker, director of closed circuit television, director of dramatics, Ray Minnis of the art department designed the settings.

HOUSE PURCHASED . . . The J. B. James house at 410 East Fifth Street was purchased by Pi Kappa Alpha last week to be used as a fraternity house. The fraternity, now utilizing a leased house on Cotanche Street, is expected to move into its new home around the first of December. A fraternity spokesman said extra showers will be installed in the house along with expanded kitchen facilities and an outside fire escape. The house will accommodate about 34 fraternity members. Pi Kappa Alpha is the fourth ECC fraternity to purchase an off-campus house. (Photo by Fred Robertson)

Exchange Program Would Cultivate New Ideas

In the past few years East Carolina has grown quite a bit. It is still growing. Each year, in addition to the buildings and plant additions new members are added to the faculty to replace those who leave and to meet the needs of expanding classes.

Faculty turnover is good for the college. It provides a stream of new ideas and new points of view for the classroom and campus community each year.

However, we feel this normal faculty turnover is not enough. We need more new ideas, more intellectual stimulation and more points of view than are now offered. Last year the Danforth Foundation's program helped the situation somewhat, but we understand this has been discontinued. What will replace it this year? To date we have heard of no program which will bring this type of intellectual stimulation to East Carolina.

Perhaps an exchange program could be worked out which would provide transportation and expenses for some of our more outstanding faculty members to speak at other colleges in the state, while they in return, sent some of their specialists to lecture for a couple of hours here.

We do not imply that E.C.C. has no qualified faculty members, we are only saying their points of view get old after two or three years. Most of us have heard them at one time or another.

We feel an exchange program of this type would be beneficial to both students and faculty, and would fill an intellectual gap which now exists.

Another Party Might Change State Government

Last week Robert Gavin, Republican gubernatorial candidate, spoke in Austin Auditorium before a pathetically small crowd. The apathetic majority here who missed that speech, we feel, have cheated themselves.

In the address Gavin stressed the need for a two party system in North Carolina which would offer strong competition to politicians of both major parties.

In theory we have a two party system, but as most of us know, the Republicans have offered very little serious threat to the Democrat stronghold in Raleigh for over 60 years, thus a practically non-existent two party system is in practice.

No political party can dominate state government for that long without collecting a lot of "cobwebs." No party, no matter how sincere its leaders, can keep corruption from seeping in. This is especially true in a state which has a practically all pro-democrat press.

We feel, as does Gavin, that more competition in state political races would add much to the efficiency and integrity of our "public servants."

This would be just as true if the situation were reversed and the Republicans had been in for 60 years with no strong competition from the Democrats.

If the Republicans should elect a governor this fall, we can hardly conceive the rash of public embarrassment which would probably result when he and his associates "clean house" at the state capital.

Even though the election of a Republican would probably cause quite an uproar for a while and would make state government look pretty hopeless for a few weeks, we feel it would be one of the best things to happen to North Carolina in many decades.

Party vs. Man

By JIM STINGLEY, Jr.

While attending the political rally, conducted by Republican nominee for Governor, Bob Gavin, it was shocking to see how some people felt about their politics and how they should vote. Whether or not they are a minority matters the least. The main point is "why do they think as they do?" What causes them to be so narrow-minded about the different parties and their candidates?

For instance, one person, a student of East Carolina College, said something similar to this—I'm not sure of just who I will vote for, but I don't think it will be Gavin. After all, he is a Republican!

This sort of attitude is around a great deal more than one would think. The person involved doesn't consider the personal qualities or background of a candidate; but whether or not he is running on their supposed party ticket. They do not take time to compare the opposer's doctrine to that of their party runner. They would go ahead and vote for a man who might have no favorable background at all, rather than vote for a person who is running on a different ticket.

It seems that this problem could be solved very easily. All one needs to do is to look at it from the "common sense" viewpoint. Isn't it common sense that if you were to hire someone for a job, you would review his qualifications and character rather than accept him on the fact that he had worked for an outstanding company before coming to you? Wouldn't you give a man from a less-outstanding company the job, if he had better qualifications and character? Sure you would. And the very same principle applies to politics.

These people who go around saying they wouldn't vote for John Doe Campus because he is a Liberal are not approaching the problem with a sensible outlook. They may well be considered a danger to our nation and our nation's principles. Stopping them from doing this is up to you. You are a citizen of the United States. As a citizen, it is your duty to do what is right for both your nation and your fellow-man. You may say politics doesn't interest you in the least bit, but let us say this. Your nation's politics are a gift of freedom. Not too many people have such a privilege.

The Greek Profile

By MIKE KATSIAS

This has been a busy week for the Interfraternity Council. Final plans for its highly-publicized Rush Week are completed and ready for distribution at tonight's special Rush Assembly.

First-quarter freshmen will be attending the functions of fraternities that have extended their invitations. All other male students interested in becoming members of the Greek organizations must attend one function of each of the seven IFC organs to be eligible for pledging.

Fraternity officers are quite optimistic as the time nears. This will be the largest rushing turnout on record for the young Greek system. Approximately twenty-five per cent of the freshmen class has already indicated its desire to approach the social groups for membership. When asked why, most of them comment that hometown friends have initially aroused their interest. Since arriving at East Carolina, they have heard a great deal about the housing boom and the high scholastic achievements which have been identified with the campus socials.

Perhaps one of the key issues that each rushee must solve for himself lies in the area of finance. A financial sheet is being distributed by the IFC dealing with the costs of joining one of its members.

The strong fraternity is built on a sound financial foundation. If any part of this foundation begins to give way then the superstructure of the fraternity is in jeopardy. Of course, a large part of a fraternity's financial structure involves the collection of cash from members to meet payments to the fraternity's creditors. It is almost certain to be a deciding factor for many who must handle their expenses carefully.

Rigid rules will be enforced by the IFC Rush Committee. They will engage in numerous investigations to check any possible violations. A fraternity which violates any of the listed constitutional sections can easily lose its pledging privileges for the remainder of the year.

With all the maze of activity that will take place, the real test for the early rush system will come later at the end of the fall quarter when grades are released. Unless scholastic standards remain high, fraternity leaders appear ready to immediately return to the old deferred-style of rushing.

Music Adds To The Flavor Of Food

By PAT FARMER

For the best in night-time listening pleasure, be sure to set your radio dial for campus radio and Jim Balance. Jim has once again proven that he caters to people who like music and does not play the worn out garbage that seems to be so popular with other stations located in this area.

Has anyone noticed the cosmopolitan air that has descended upon Julian's cafeteria??? Why with the dinner music and smoking permission, one almost feels as if one is in a restaurant... even the food is tolerable.

A committee of the State Baptist Convention has spoken out against the "hate literature" being distributed to stir-up the religious issue of the presidential campaign... It seems that the name of the literature should be changed from "hate literature" to "literature for the prejudiced, the ignorant, and the uninformed"... From the behavior of people in general, one comes to the conclusion that the word—LOGIC—will never be applied by man in dealing with situations which affect him emotionally... where he should apply logic.

'Well, That's The Way Frogs Are'

By BETTY MAYNOR

As the story goes, once upon a time there were two little frogs. These frogs were cousins and did not get to visit very often.

The city frog was always busy with parties and oh so much fun and frivolity. The country frog, quite to the contrary was always very busy and worked hard at everything he attempted.

When the two frog cousins grew up, they each went off to college, and surprisingly enough, they went to the same college. The city frog immediately joined the swing of things and during his first day on campus had become a member of practically every club which he could join. Of course with so many club meetings to attend, he had very little time for studying and only managed to cram for his exams the night before they were given.

Now the country frog, unused to such a big place with so many people decided to stick to his books for a while until he at least knew a few people on campus. After a while, during which he became oriented to real college life, the country frog ventured out to meet some of those big wheels that everyone had been talking about. Surely enough, they were just as friendly as he had heard they were and they seemed to take an interest in him. Now he had discovered for himself that you can always find time for socializing after you finish studying.

The moral of this story... if you could call it a story... is that regardless of whether you are a big frog in a big pond or a little frog in a big pond or even a big frog in a little pond... you splash about the same amount of water in the same pond.

The Vacuum-Packed Classroom

By KAY McLAHWORN

We went then, you and I, when the morning was spread out against the sky... we went through certain half-deserted streets... Oh do not rise from your sleep-wrinkled sheets to ask, "What was it?"... Oh do not pause from your weekly sojourn to ask, "What was it?"... We simply went and made our visit... In the soda shop the people come and go talking of ivy league. There will be time to ask "What was it?"... Time to read the books and hear the music and think the thoughts... Time for you and me to find the answers and to marvel that we did... And time to learn to live before we learn to die... In the vacuum classrooms they come and go talking of their aches and pains and wives and children. Oh there will be time to ask "What was it?"... Time to wonder "Do I dare to say incompetence prevails?"... and "Do I dare to gather up my textbooks midst stereophonic buzzsaws and organs and hammers and lawnmowers and walk out of the door?" "Do I dare to scream aloud at being read to from my own text?" They will say: "I do not like your attitude." So do I dare? But there is time and time there always is to do the little atrocities... In and out the dorms they come and go talking of what to do and where to go. For I have known them all already, have known the mornings, evenings, afternoons of soda shops and bridge and classes and drooping eyes and voices dying beneath the blating juke box clangor... And I have known the eyes already, known them all, the eyes that glance and say: "But you're not one of us I cannot speak today." I have known them all, have measured out my life in bottle caps... So this is

Senator's Speech Wins Votes, Hearts

By PATSY ELLIOTT

Excitement at its ultimate. Sen. Kennedy's visit to Greenville and East Carolina was perhaps one of the greatest events to take place in Eastern Carolina in quite some time. Although there were some estimated 12,000 loyal democrats present, this number fell short nearly 8,000 the expected crowd.

Eastern Carolina could have and should have had a turn out far in excess to the 12,000 present. It is hard to imagine any loyal and patriotic democrat missing the opportunity to see and hear our next possible president.

Among the 12,000 people there, more than half appeared to be as excited as one might be sitting in the 11 o'clock Sunday morning church service.

During the Senator's short visit, it is likely that he won the hearts and votes of most of those attending. His speech was cunningly designed to touch every tarheel... in the mention of the first colony, the Southern Conference, past great democrats, and the attention projected to agriculture.

Freshmen Get Excited

BY PAT HARVEY

Note to the most gung-ho students at EC... Freshmen: According to reports from several campus organizations a large percentage of our younger group are going all-out for extra-curricular activities. We all hope they plan to continue working towards membership; but, as in anything that's worthwhile work is required... in both classes and activities. Suggestions: 1. Remember that 24 hours still constitutes a day. 2. Class attendance is a necessary evil. 3. Activities require active people.

Free movie: Saturday night's entertainment is definitely entertainment.

Free movie: Saturday night's entertainment is definitely entertainment. Teddy Drier's An American Tragedy was filmed into two movies. The latter, A Place in the Sun, was nominated for the all-important Oscar. Plot: Love can turn your head... even when someone's drowning.

Want ad: wanted a one room apartment complete with food. Former home invaded by unwelcome visitor called Donna. Location: preferably about 50 feet from ground in large oak. Signed: Charley Squirell... P. S. "I love Chatterly neighbors."

Kennedy speaks for ten minutes and thousands gather to hear him. Kennedy speaks for thirty minutes on TV and everyone screams because Richard Boone has been replaced. Conclusion: Presidential candidates are pretty popular but a hatchet faced cowboy is hard to beat.

Buildings are going up all over campus—bricks are added to old buildings; but the postoffice remains the same. Conclusion: If you expect fat letters, it pays to be thin or if you're fat, avoid the rush.

Fraternity men and sorority women are making plans for rush. Freshmen men and women are also making plans for rush. I wonder if they plan to rush for the same things.

Books are getting more expensive every year. Some are taking all their electives in PE courses and others are buying books together. But the best suggestion is to have 35 cent pocket novels for textbooks instead of these ten dollar picture books. Thus one has to choose between a full stomach and a full head.

Lady Doctor Joins Infirmary Staff

Dr. Malene Grant Irons, Greenville physician, has been appointed assistant to the college physician at the College Infirmary. She is the first lady ever to be appointed to the staff.

Dr. Irons graduated from East Carolina College with an A. B. degree in 1935 and following her graduation from the Medical College of Virginia and a rotating internship and pediatric residency, moved to Greenville where she has conducted a private practice. Her husband, Dr. C. Fred Irons, is college physician.

As assistant to the college physician, Dr. Malene Irons has established hours for her official calls at the college infirmary, and will continue her practice in her office on the edge of the Greenville business district.

Married to Dr. C. Fred Irons in 1939 in Greenville, Dr. Malene Irons studies continued; and in January, 1946, the husband-wife medical team moved to Greenville and began their practice of medicine.

Dr. Malene Irons was honored by the East Carolina College Alumni Association in 1949 with its Distinguished Alumni Award for her outstanding service in medicine and pediatrics. She is a member of the Pitt County Medical Society, the North Carolina Medical Society, the American Medical Association.

and has been approved to take the list of National Pediatric Boards.

An active member of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, Dr. Irons is teacher of a class of college students in the Church School.

Dr. Irons said, "I have been interested in adolescent medicine for quite some time. I feel that the college students need the counseling and understanding of a woman doctor. Also, I think that with the great increase of enrollment at East Carolina College, we need at least one more doctor on the staff."

Freshmen Give Tea For Parents

Freshmen living in Ragsdale and Cotton halls, dormitories for women, entertained their parents Sunday afternoon, Sept. 18.

The tea in each of the residence halls was planned by committees of students with the help of their dormitory counselors.

The freshman teas, annual events of the fall quarter at the college, are attended by parents from localities over a wide area of the state. Last year approximately 1,000 guests were present on the campus for the social affairs.

Students in two other dormitories for freshmen women, Women's Hall and Umstead Hall, will give teas honoring their parents later in the fall. At Umstead Hall, until this year a dormitory for men, an addition providing parlors for entertaining guests is now under construction. Open house will be held there as soon as work is completed.

Upcoming Events Spark Campus Life

The College Union opened the first fall quarter meeting by making tentative plans for several October get-togethers: a reception for foreign students on October 19, a combination combo pizza party on October 28, and open house at the CU immediately after the homecoming game, October 15.

The College Union has a volunteer group of students who are organized to assist in planning and staging special events within the recreation area of the College Union.

Union officers, committee chairman, and about 2 interested students attended the first meeting. Dot Smith, president, stressed that all ECC students are members of the College Union but those who have a special interest in its activities may join one or more of the committees.

Games, special projects, social activities, records and dances, and publicity for these committees are included in the committees open for members. Meetings will be held the first and third Thursdays of each month for the committees.

Officers for the College Union this year are Dorothy Smith, pres., Nancy Brown, vice pres., Patsy Oliver, recording secretary, Nell Marcom, corresponding secretary, and Eleanor Speckman, reporter.

Council Plans Year's Activity

At its first meeting of the school year, the College Panhellenic Council heard president Jaye Finnigan outline the proposed program for the 1960-61 term.

Informal rush for fall quarter is slated to be held at the discretion of the individual sororities. Only girls who presently have 15 credit hours at East Carolina and are taking at least 12 hours this quarter are eligible for fall rush.

The date for the beginning of formal rush during which freshmen may rush has been set for the third week in January. A meeting will be held after Thanksgiving for prospective rushers. At this time, the girls will fill out their applications for rush.

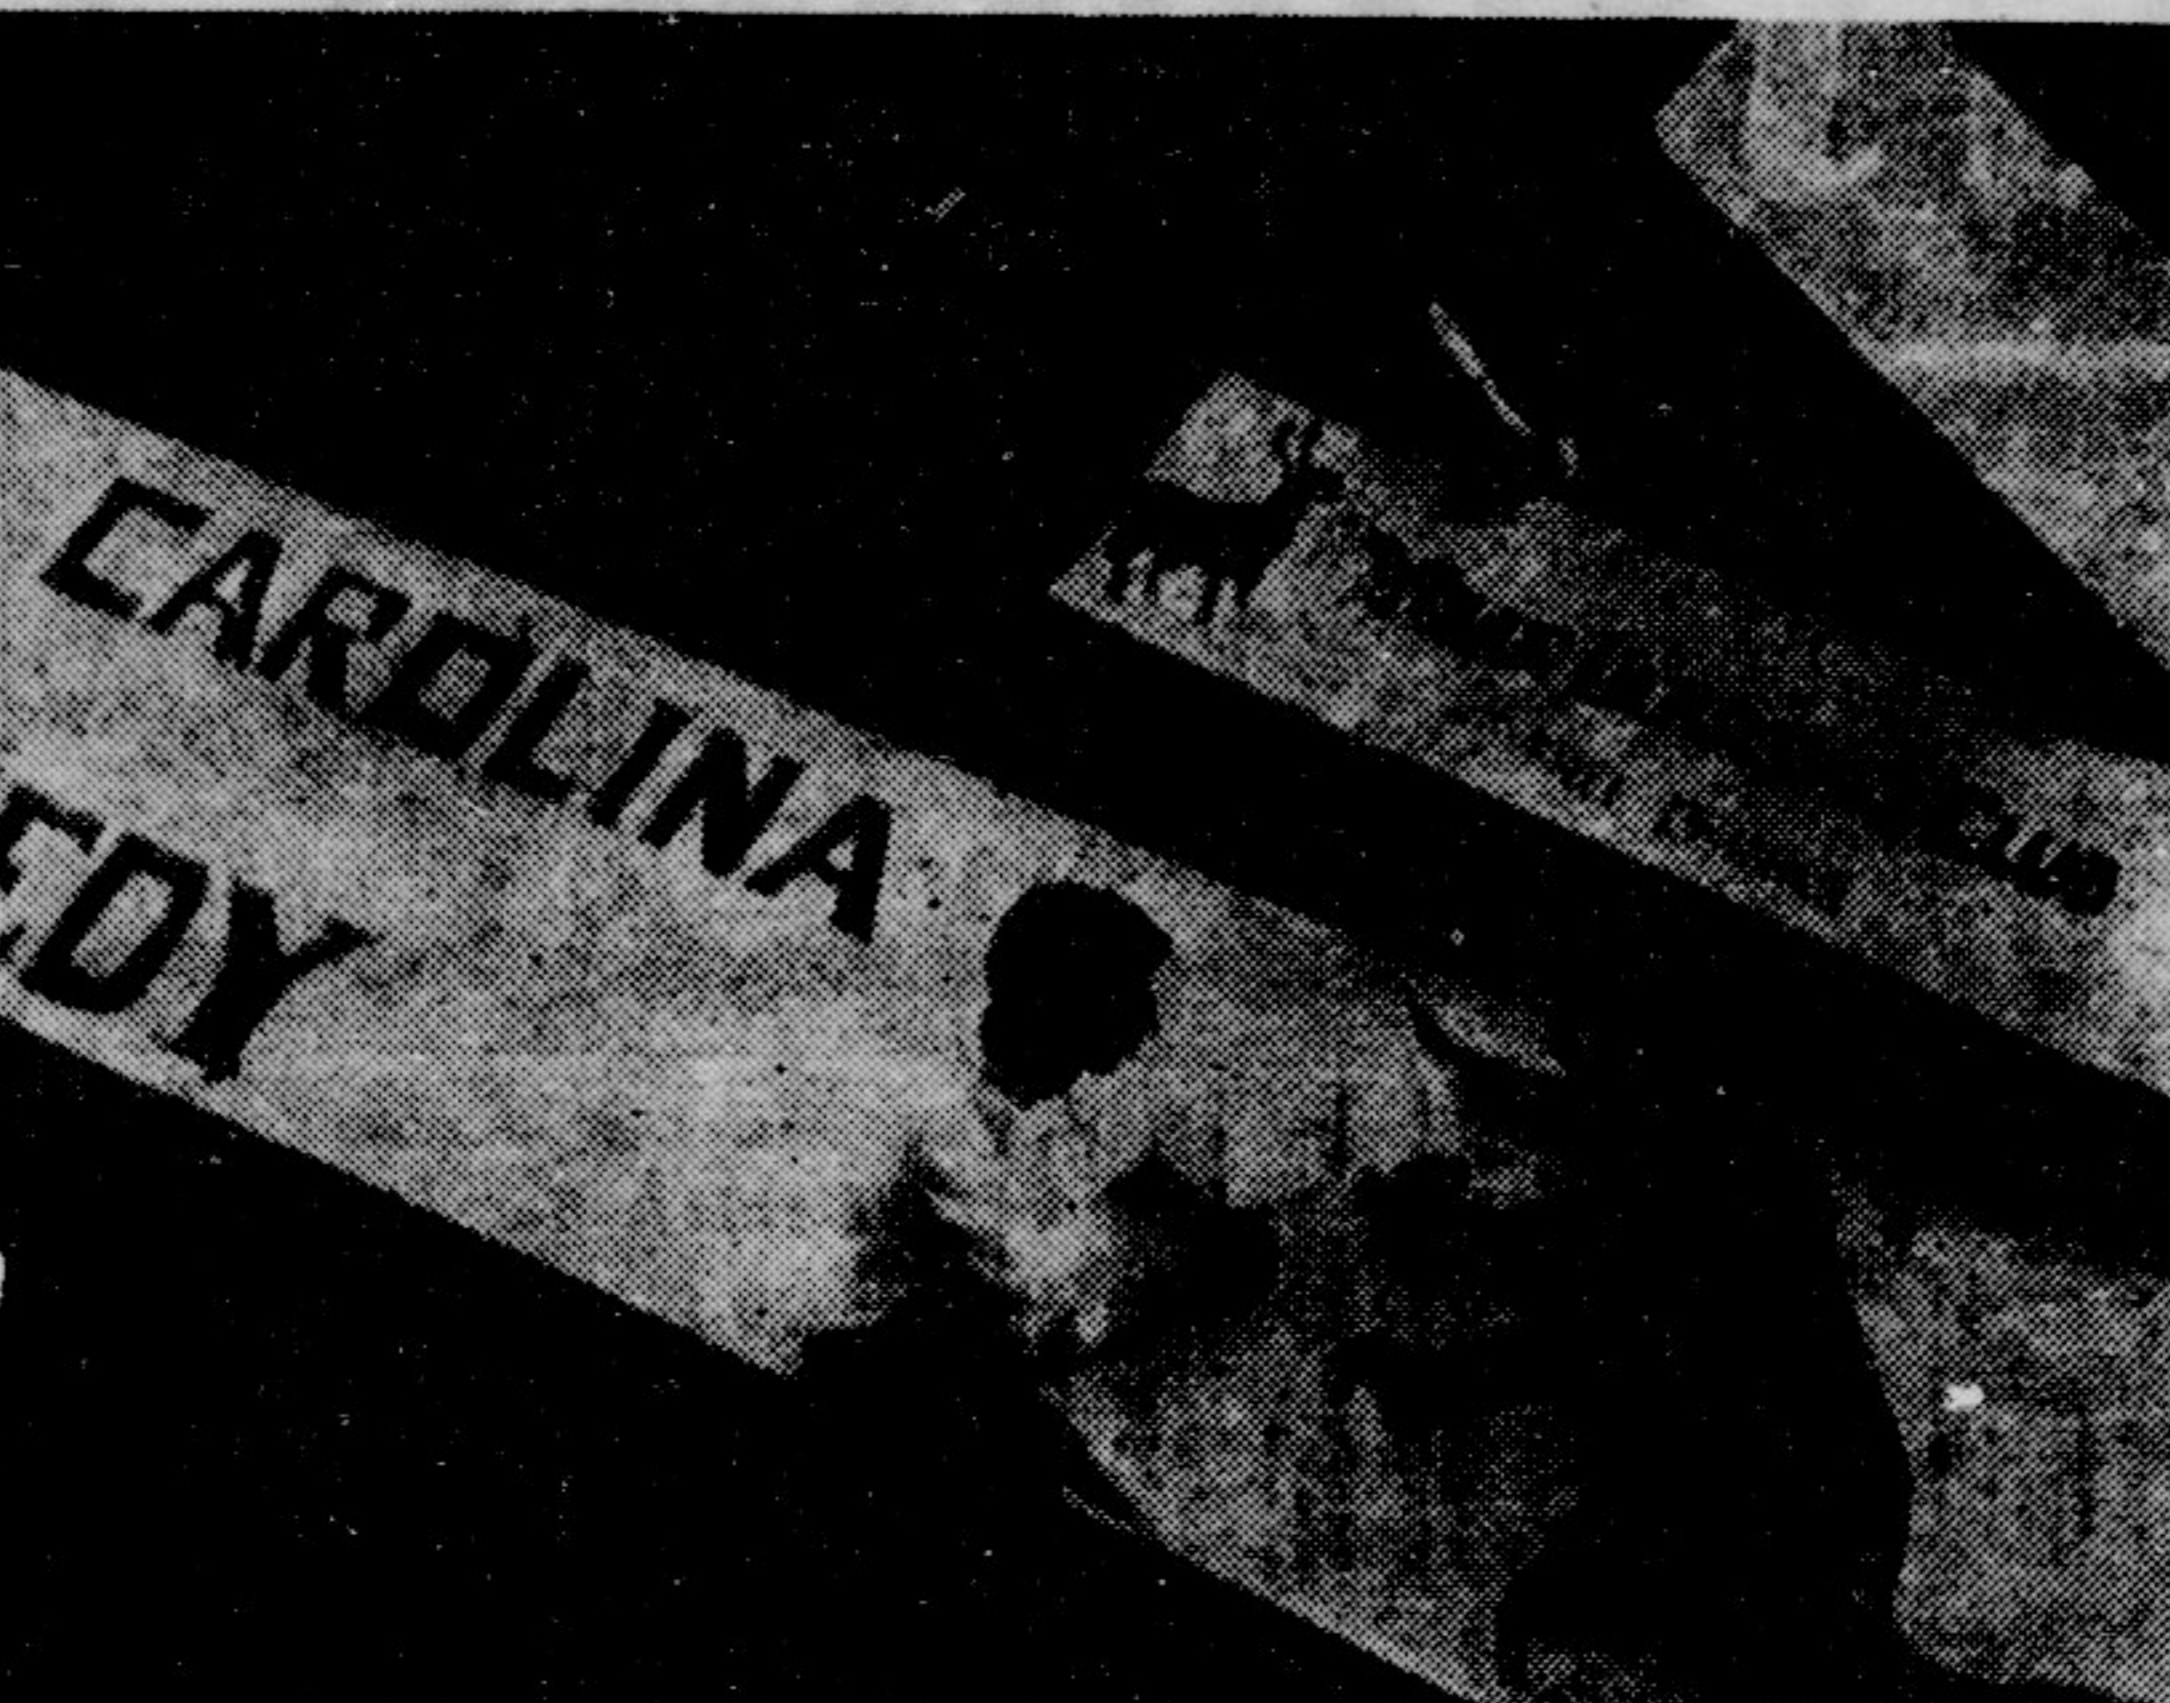

The possibility of having a special freshman orientation program was discussed. This would introduce the individual sororities to the freshmen women and would allow them to ask questions before formal rush. The two Panhellenic representatives and the Presidents of the sororities will be on hand at this affair to tell the girls about their respective groups.

A social for all sorority women is being planned for fall quarter. In order to contribute to good inter-sorority relations, a social activity involving all Greek women will be held during each quarter.

Math Club

Faculty members of the Math Department sponsored a wicker roast recently for members of the departmental Math Club. The social was given as an introduction to new club members and faculty members and has been an annual affair for the past few years.

Student Participation Enlivens Kennedy's Campaign

Many hours were spent by the Young Democrats in preparing for the Kennedy Rally.

Organizational News

Chapters Begin Plans For Year

The Zeta Lambda Chapter of Delta Zeta Sorority met at the home of Mrs. Lillian Bost, a Delta Zeta alumnae, last Saturday.

The meeting served as a reunion of all the sisters and alumnae after the summer separation.

The president, Sylvia Sampedro, presided over the informal meeting during which the work of the coming year was discussed.

One important accomplishment was the assignment of the alumnae as advisors to the officers of the sorority. The alumnae will give advice and suggestions whenever needed.

The Delta Zets will sell hosiery in all the girls' dormitories as a money making project.

Delta Zeta will hold informal rush September 27 and 28 from 7-8 o'clock p.m. All upper classmen are invited to attend.

GROUP SEEKS MEMBERS

Phi Beta Lambda chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America will begin a membership drive Friday, according to Sylvia Uzzell, president of the organization.

The drive will continue through September 27 and is open to business majors. Phi Beta Lambda gives a student the chance to create and exercise his interest in preparing for employment in the field of business.

The president of the local chapter urges all business majors to take advantage of the opportunity to become an active member in Phi Beta Lambda.

CHI OMEGA MEETING

Chi Omega conducted its first meeting of the 1960-61 school year last week during a dinner at Respyess James.

Due to the illness of President Gloria Hofer, Vice-President Nancy Brown presided. Mrs. Leo Jenkins, special initiate, and Mrs. Clinton Prevet, advisor, were also present.

Senator Kennedy had a big smile for his ECC fans.

Playhouse Gathers Talent

Approximately 40 persons gathered to match their talents at the preliminary tryouts for The Philadelphia Story, the Playhouse's first major production. Fifteen of these enthusiasts were chosen tentatively to fill the casting requirements of Dr. Ralph Rives, director.

Philadelphia Story, probably better known to this generation in the form of High Society, the filmed musical version of this Broadway comedy, is a sophisticated comedy encircled by a variety of characters. Alice Coriokano copped the leading role of Tracy, a confused socialite who has trouble with a recent husband played by John McPherson Jr.; bride-groom-to-be, Bill Griffin; and Mike Jim Kohler, a misguided news writer.

Charlotte Donat and Sylvia Vick, both newcomers to the EC stage, have been cast in the roles of Liz, worldly female photographer who has her lens set on Mike, and Diana, Tracey's fifteen year old sister who thinks she is in love with sis's ex-hubby.

"Uncle Willie," old-man-about-town, will be enacted by Howard Mallard. Other roles have been taken by Ben Avery, Sandy Lord, Alvin M. White and Marshall Braddy, as Thomas and Edward, the butlers, John

Dean Speaks To Group

Dr. Robert L. Holt was the principal speaker at convocation exercises conducted at Mount Olive College. Dr. Holt's topic was "Opportunities in Education."

He was in Windsor last week as a guest of the Rotary Club where he spoke at a dinner given by the Rotarians in honor of Windsor school teachers.

Speaking on "Preparation for Senior College," Dr. Holt will appear before students at Campbell College October 17 and at Chowan College October 21.

Placement Director Announces Meet

Jack Edwards, director of the Placement Bureau, announced that all candidates of a Bachelor of Science degree who will be graduated by the summer of 1961 and who will student teach during the winter or spring quarter, will meet September 26 at 4:15 o'clock in the library auditorium.

The purpose of the meeting is to explain to students the advantages of registering with the Placement Service and to make placement forms available to them. Edwards will explain the mechanics of filling out the necessary forms, use of placement records and the procedure for scheduling interviews.

Previously, students were required to delay registering until the quarter in which they did their student teaching. The new system has been developed in order to get the students registered as soon as possible, Edwards stated.

Invitations Issued To Student Teachers

Invitations have been issued by East Carolina College to 159 supervising teachers in public schools and college supervisors to discuss the 1960-1961 student teaching program at a series of conferences and a luncheon on the campus. Director of Student Teaching J. L. Oppelt is in charge of arrangements.

The events, annually held at the college, are scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 24. Conferences of supervisors and supervising teachers will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. by twelve departments of instruction in classrooms and auditoriums on the campus. The luncheon will take place at noon in the North Dining Hall.

Dr. Robert I. Holt, Dean of Instruction, will be principal speaker at the luncheon. Dr. Oppelt will preside.

Rainey Assumes New Duties

By ADA JANE KIVETT
Harry G. Rainey recently became manager of the East Carolina Student Supply Stores, to succeed Mahlon J. Coles in this capacity. The appointment became effective September first.

Rainey, who became acquainted with the Student Stores as a student at ECC, has served as assistant manager of the stores for the past four years.

Mr. Coles, who served as manager of the ECC Student Stores for two and one half years, left to take a position at Converse College, in Spartanburg, South Carolina. Under Coles' management, the college stores expanded and new services have been offered to the students. East Carolina Vice President and Business Manager F. H. Duncan, had high praise for the achievement and efficient progressive management of Mr. Coles. He took note of the modernization and streamlined methods in which Coles and Rainey have collaborated during their association in improving the efficiency and services of the store.

A graduate of East Carolina College with a B. S. degree in 1956, Rainey lettered in football and golf as a student. He holds a diploma from the seminar of the National Association of College Stores Management awarded at Oberlin University in Ohio.

Harry Rainey from the seminar of the National Association of College Stores Management awarded at Oberlin University in Ohio. Rainey is married to the former Kathryn Lewis of Wilmington, North Carolina. The Rainey's have one son, James Waverly, and reside at 1608 East Wright Road, Greenville. A member of the East Carolina chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha, and the Greenville Golf Club, Rainey takes an active part in civic life.

Interview Notice

C. E. Merrill, Regional Manager of the U.S. General Accounting Office, Norfolk, Virginia, will be on campus soon to interview accounting majors. In order to qualify with this agency, graduates must have 36 hours of accounting.

Those interested in employment with this agency should sign up at the Placement Service, Room 203, Administration, not later than September 28.

DR. BRUCE CARTER, . . . of the college Art Department is shown looking at part of a four panel mural which he painted of North Carolina. The four panels represent the outer banks, the coastal plains, the piedmont and the mountains. The mural was a gift to Elmhurst Elementary School from Dr. and Mrs. Harry Billica, as a memorial to their son Glenn Robert Billica, a pupil at Elmhurst for four years before his death last year.

Pirates Host Guilford In Season Opener

Head Coach Is Cautious, Though Not Pessimistic

By LEONARD LAO

Coach Jack Boone realizes that he has a definite depth problem with his 1960 Pirate football team, and so does everybody else in the conference; so the head man in the East Carolina football machine is cautious, but not pessimistic in regard to his chances of having a winning season.

"We know that we have to get our ends squared away," says Boone, "and we have inexperience at the quarterback position. But if we don't have any front line injuries and if we get a few breaks, we can have a good season." The Elon graduate is the first to admit that the loss of 21 experienced men has posed a definite problem. "But we have one of the hardest working groups we've ever had. They are aggressive and they like contact." Boone is depending on these assets to off-set the lack of experience.

Below is a thumb-nail sketch of Pirates who will be seen in action this season.

Jones Lockerman . . . end . . . letterman . . . defense and pass receiving has improved . . . not too fast, but can be depended upon . . . junior.

Bobby Bumgardner . . . end . . . sophomore . . . improved over last season . . . main asset is defense . . . another year's experience will polish him.

Clayton Piland . . . tackle . . . junior . . . quick and agile . . . doesn't mind a little contact . . . has a lot of potentiality.

Vernon Davis . . . tackle . . . junior . . . converted from fullback to tackle last year . . . big, strong and fast for a big man.

Henry Kwiatkowski . . . tackle . . . senior . . . expected to have his best year . . . has plenty of potential . . . excellent place-kicker . . . his toe could make the difference in winning or losing . . . very good on offense.

Cary Canady . . . tackle . . . senior . . . front-line reserve from last year . . . could figure highly in Boone's plans this year.

Wayne Davis . . . guard . . . senior . . . one of the best potential guards ever at EC . . . very hard worker . . . coaches see a great season ahead for him.

Bob Gregson . . . guard . . . senior . . . good defensive man . . . light, but quick and aggressive . . . improved on offense.

Dempsey Williams . . . guard . . . senior . . . smallest lineman at 163 pounds . . . most alert and aggressive man on the squad . . . likes contact.

Gary Pierce . . . guard . . . senior . . . switched from tackle because of speed . . . if he plays up to his capabilities, he could be one of the best in the conference.

Earl Sweet . . . guard . . . sophomore . . . back in school after laying out for a year . . . one of the fastest guards in history of school . . . fine on both offense and defense . . . still a little out of shape.

Charles Gordon . . . center . . . junior . . . probably best potential center ever at EC . . . injured last year . . . really came fast in spring practice . . . great leader and hustler . . . co-captain.

Henry Vansant . . . center . . . senior . . . played three years as a regular . . . smart and alert . . . likes contact . . . backs up the line very well.

David Smith . . . center . . . freshman . . . has lots of desire . . . learns quickly . . . with experience will develop into a well rounded center.

George Stafford . . . quarterback . . . senior . . . has come along fast . . . always been a good passer . . . because he's fast, he'll keep most defenses honest . . . could be the man to make the offense move.

Dan Rouse . . . quarterback . . . sophomore . . . left-handed . . . played well as a freshman . . . showed improvement in spring practice . . . a good signal caller and has the ability to methodically move the club . . . has strong arm and good deception in ball handling.

Cary Parker . . . quarterback . . . sophomore . . . all he needs is playing experience . . . passes well and handles the ball well . . . should help out this year.

Glenn Bass . . . halfback . . . senior . . . All-Conference last year . . . has tremendous speed . . . should still improve as year goes on . . . definite number one threat because of speed . . . fine pass receiver . . . blocking is developing each day . . . good punt returner.

Sonny Baysinger . . . halfback . . . senior . . . little man with a big heart . . . dependable, consistent and dangerous . . . good open field runner . . . excellent punt returner.

Mack Thacker . . . halfback . . . senior . . . consistent ball player . . . good runner and excellent blocker . . . will probably give team a lot of yardage.

Tommy Matthews . . . halfback . . . junior . . . has best body balance on the squad . . . hipper-dipper type runner, but also has a lot of power . . . good blocker and good defensive man . . . should improve with the year.

Nick Hilgert . . . fullback . . . junior . . . coming along fast . . . has turned into real power boy . . . converted quarterback . . . likes to rack on defense . . . likes to win.

Bill Strickland . . . fullback . . . sophomore . . . one of the toughest men on the squad . . . light and quick . . . switched from guard to fullback . . . good blocker . . . will give yardage up the middle . . . good defensive man.

Bass Scores Twenty In Pre-Season Win

By LEONARD LAO

Statistics of East Carolina—Apprentice Game

First Downs	ECC	App
Rushing Yardage	13	15
Passing Yardage	267	90
Passes	140	156
Passes Intercepted by	7-12	10-23
Punts	2-46.5	4-36
Fumbles Lost	2	0
Yards Penalized	70	50

Using mostly his second and third units, Coach Jack Boone tutored his Pirate football team to a 21-6 victory over Newport News Apprentice School Saturday night before a full house at Newport News, Virginia. The Buc were led in scoring by senior Glenn Bass, the fleet-footed All-Conference halfback from Wilson, N. C. Bass scored all three of the Pirate touchdowns to give North State Conference opponents a preview of what is to be expected of him this season.

The Shipbuilders showed up much better than last year when the Pirates handed them a 74-0 shellacking behind the brilliant running of Bass and James Speight who has graduated. The Virginians held the Pirates scoreless in the first period of play when Boone was using a combination of his second and third units.

In the second quarter, Bass came into the game. After picking up a first down on a ten yard run, the speed-merchant eluded his defenders and snarled a pass from quarterback Bert Stafford and scampered to paydirt. The play covered 65 yards, and the Buc were on their way.

The Apprenticemen fought back and marched down to the EC five yard line, but the Pirate defense held and EC took over on downs.

Bass scored again in the third and fourth periods, both on runs. Tackle Henry Kwiatkowski, a 207 pound Pennsylvania native, converted after all three of Bass' touchdowns to round the score off to 21 points. "Ski" as he is known by teammates, missed a field goal attempt from the fifteen yard line in which he seemed to rush himself.

The Pirate pass defense had quite a few holes in it Saturday night, as the Shipbuilders completed 10 of 23 aerials. No doubt the Buc will be devoting some time to pass defense this week in preparation for their home opener with conference foe, Guilford's Quakers.

CU PLANS PARTY

Students are invited to a "meet the team" social tonight in the College Union at 8:00 p.m.

The coaches, team members, and the cheerleaders will be on hand to provide a "get acquainted" evening.

Guilford College's Quakers invade College Stadium Saturday in hopes of chalking up their first conference victory of the young season. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

The Quakers will be out to avenge a 27-0 defeat at the hands of the Pirates last season. Guilford will also want to get in the win column after losing to Elon last week to the tune of 19-7.

In the Quaker forward wall will be several seasoned veterans that should pose a problem for the Buc running game. Outstanding are Larry Younts and Walter Wiggins, both guards. Another man to watch in the Quaker line is flanker, Larry Gill. The 185 pounder enrolled in State College last year, but transferred to Guilford and layed out last season. Coach Herb Appenzeller regards the Greensboro native as one of the better pass receivers in the conference.

In the backfield for the visitors will be four players who are cracked up to be definite threats. At the half-back positions are Tom Bowers and Ray Durham, at fullback is Jim Stutts, and manning the quarterback spot is Brodie Baker. All are lettermen.

Ten men on Coach Jack Boone's starting eleven are lettermen. The non-monogrammer is end Bobby Bumgardner, who showed up outstanding in winter drills.

Fresh from a 21-6 pre-season win over Newport News Apprentice School, the Pirates are determined to establish themselves as a North

State Conference contender after being ranked to finish in the second division of the standings in a pre-season poll.

A setback for the Buc is the injury of All-Conference halfback, Glenn Bass. The senior speed-merchant injured his arm in the Apprentice affair last week. Coach Boone is not positive as to whether Bass will be able to play in the game Saturday night.

A probable starting lineup for the Pirates would show Bumgardner and Jones Lockerman at ends, Clayton Piland and Vernon Davis at tackles, Bob Gregson and Wayne Davis at guards, and Chuck Gordon at the center spot. In the backfield would be Bert Stafford at quarterback, Nick Hilgert at fullback, Sonny Baysinger at left half, and Bass or Mack Thacker at right half.

1960 East Carolina Football Schedule:

Sept. 24	Guilford	Home
Oct. 1	Catawba	Home
Oct. 8	Elon	Away
Oct. 15	Western Carolina	Home
	(Homecoming)
Oct. 22	Newberry	Home
Oct. 29	Appalachian	Away
Nov. 5	Lenoir Rhyne	Home
Nov. 12	Presbyterian	Away
Nov. 19	Richmond	Home

SETARIP STRIP

By LEONARD LAO

Coach Jack Boone gave his freshman footballers a little game experience last Saturday night as the Pirates rolled over Newport News Apprentice School to the tune of 21-6. Substituting freely, the Pirates were pleased with the performance of a few frosh, but as could be seen from anywhere in the stadium, the Pirates must work on their pass defense before they tackle North State Conference foe, Guilford College. The Apprentice clicked on 10 out of 23 pass attempts and gained over half the total yardage in the air.

Bass Scores Three

All-Conference halfback Glenn Bass took up where he left off last season in the EC-Apprentice game by walking off with the scoring honors. The speedy 10 second man scored all three of the Pirate touchdowns. The amazing Bass ran the ball less than ten times and accounted for 13 points.

Apprentice Make Better Showing

Although the Newport News team came out on the short end of the score, you would have thought they had won the game when they pushed across their only touchdown of the night. The local fans let out a cheer that could probably have been heard back here in Greenville.

The Shipbuilders played a much better game than last year when the Buc shellacked them 74-0. They appeared to be in much better physical condition, and they played a better brand of ball.

We should not neglect to give the Virginians credit for the football team that they do have. The men attend class one or two days a week and then work eight hours a day for the remainder of the week. Any formal football practice that they get is on their own time. In order for a man to play the gridiron, he must love the game because they give no athletic scholarships. The citizens of Newport News are grateful to the boys for giving them the opportunity to see some collegiate football.

Few Injury Ridden Pirates

The Buc footballers have been fortunate so far this season as far as injuries go. Only one player was unable to make the Newport News trip due to an injury, and that was letterman guard Gary Pierce. The Delaware native received a shoulder injury in last week's drills, but he is expected to be in uniform for the Guilford contest.

In last year's encounter with the Apprentice School, the Pirates had a long injury list due to the rough, one-sided affair, which hurt the Buc in their season finale with Wofford. Such was not the case after Saturday's game with the Shipbuilders. Only two injuries occurred, and those two players will be ready for the home opener.
