Emily a native of Stedman, N. C., appeared in May, 1960 as soloist with the East Carolina College Orchestra, performing the "Third Concerto," by Beethoven. She also will appear in the 1961 season with the North Carolina Symphony, performing the "Bartok Third Concerto."

The program for the Rockingham recital includes: Bach, "Prelude and Fugue, No. V, Book 1"; D'albert, "Suite, Opus 1, No. 3"; Beethoven, "Sonata, Opus 31, No. 3"; and Chopin, "Trois Nouvelles Etudes and Nocturne, Opus 48, No. 1." She will also perform "Andante con Variazioni, Opus 82," by Mendelssohn, and "Pour le Piano," by Debussy.

The 1960-1961 Entertainment Series will open Saturday with a concert of popular music by the Hi-Lo's, vocal quartet whose appeal is described as reaching "the young pop music buyer, the adult album buyer, and the in-the-wool jazz fan."

The concert is scheduled for 4 p.m. Saturday in Wright auditorium. Participants of the college Entertainment Series will be admitted on their season tickets. Others may purchase tickets at the door November 12 at a sale beginning at 3:15 p.m.

Since the Hi-Lo's first established their new, complex, harmonic singing a few years ago, they have been the number-one vocal group in the country and have won every major music poll for vocal groups.

The Hi-Lo's recently completed a three month's tour of Europe. The favorable response which they received has prompted plans for another tour in the near future which is expected to take them to Russia and other countries across the Atlantic.

In addition to their concerts the group has appeared in night clubs, over radio and television, and in the movies. They are Columbia records recording artists.

Prices of the concert for those who do not hold season tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for children. Season tickets are $7 for adults and $3.50 for children.

Recent EC Graduate To Appear In Musical Comedy 'Girl Crazy'

A recent graduate of East Carolina is back on the stage again. Many will remember him in his frequent appearances on the stage in such performances as "Death of a Salesman," "The Moon is Blue," "Mr. Roberts," "Bus Stop," and "The Cain Matiny." He is none other than Del Driver, and he is making his second appearance at the Renaissance Theater, this time in "Girl Crazy," which opens a six week-end run at 8:30 p.m. on Friday, November 11.

Appearing with Del is his wife Loretta, who played a Siamese dancer, while Del played the Khralahome in the theater's first seasonal offering, "The King and I."

The young actors met while working in the 1959 season of "The Common Glory" in Williamsburg, Virginia. Del was portraying Patrick Henry and Loretta was one of the dancers in the symphonic drama.

At the close of the season Loretta returned to her hometown, Danbury, Conn., to obtain her college degree and Del, who had by then graduated from EC, went to California for a season with King's Theater in Hollywood. They were married last Spring and now make their home in Richmond, conveniently near Renaissance Theater.

Both are teachers. Loretta handles a roomful of second-graders at G. H. Heid School in Chesterfield County, and Del teaches social studies at Tuckahoe Junior High School.

While in college Del participated in the workshop programs, major productions and local community theater. He has a record of 52 plays during his four years at East Carolina.

In the forthcoming "Girl Crazy," Del will be seen as Slick Fothergill, a suave smooth-talking gambler who drifts in from New York to take over a casino at a Western dude ranch. He'll have the new experience of singing since this is his first musical comedy.

Loretta will play the sophisticated Tess Parker, who arrives at the ranch in the chorus line.

Student Presents Paper To Society

Lafayette C. Westbrook presented a paper based on original research and dealing with the Battle of Bentonville in Johnston County at a meeting of the East Carolina College Historical Society, recently.

Westbrook, a senior, is specializing in the social studies and English in his academic work and is serving as president of the historical society during the 1960-1961 term.

The Battle of Bentonville during the Civil War was described by the speaker as "the largest and bloodiest battle ever fought on North Carolina soil." He discussed events leading up to the struggle and gave an account of the battle and its aftermath.

During the Civil War Centennial, he said, the Battle of Bentonville will receive both state and national recognition.

Procedure Change Prepares EC For Future Ethical, Honor Code

According to a change in procedure, women students will no longer be required to have their special permission cards approved. The change, originating from the Women's Judiciary and approved by the Dean of Women and her staff went into effect Friday.

In commenting on the procedure change, Evelyn Crutchfield, chairman of the Women's Judiciary, said, "We sincerely hope that this is a step toward the establishment of an ethical and honor code at East Carolina. The change was made to benefit the women students and we hope that they will in return respect the procedure of signing out. This is not meant as a check list, but as a means of locating the students in case of long distance phone calls or emergencies."

Students are reminded that since only the procedures are changing, the handbook rules for signing out when leaving campus will continue to be upheld. Off-campus blanks will require the counselor's approval.

Dean Ruth White commented, "We are hoping that since signing out has been made less burdensome, that students will become conscientious of this procedure."

In answer to many inquiries, Dean White reminded women students that anyone, regardless of her classification or grade standing, is allowed to ride to church at night.

Dispute Gives Birth To College Newspaper; Petitions Circulate

(UPS) Boasting a flag announcing "The Independent Californian" "Valid Student Journalism," the second University of California student newspaper, born of last week's controversy between the Associated Students of California (ASUC) and the Daily California appears to be permanent with a semester subscription campaign underway and the announcement in the Oct. 31 edition, "Today we are a four page. By Friday we'll be an eight. The press is rolling."

Rates are $1.75 for undergraduates and $2.00 for graduate students and faculty members. Individual issues sell for five cents.

Meanwhile, the controversy between ASUC and the Daily Cal continues. Two petitions are being circulated by the Cal Committee for a Free and Independent Student Press.

The first calls for constitutional amendments to establish a Consultative Board of students (both graduate and undergraduate) with publications experience, faculty, a business manager and a chancellor's representative to advise the Daily. The Board would have final authority on the budget, the appointment of the business manager, senior editorial board appointments and the by-laws.

The second petition calls for a campus wide referendum to rescind the ExCom acceptance of the resignations of various publications staff members, so that they might resume their positions under the situation created by an amended ASUC constitution.

If 800 students sign each petition, a special campus wide election will be held within three weeks on the issues.

The Ex-Com ad hoc committee, the Daily Cal by laws, also has a petition seeking to incorporate its revisions into the ASUC constitution

The Daily Californian is still being published regularly under the direction of Walter Fredericks, ASUC Publications Director.

The Independent Californian, edited by former Daily Cal editor Dan Silver, stated in its Monday edition, "A second newspaper, our newspaper, has something new and different to offer the campus. Freed from the responsibility for the sole communication of campus news, the Independent Californian will concentrate on a program aimed at stimulation of thought and discussion and the improvement of the intellectual environment of the University." The paper does not claim to represent University opinion, only that of its editorial board.

Rehearsals Begin For Second Major Production Of Year

"For the first time in my memory there have been more good actors than there are parts," stated Dr. Robert Rickert after completing his cast for Lady's Not For Burning. "Many good people," continued Dr. Rickert, "are not represented on the list. It makes for personal disappointment but indicates a healthy theatre."

All parts have been cast except that of Mathew Skippis, and Hebble Tyson.

Peter Johl has accepted the part of Thomas Mendip. Portraying the role of Jenet Jourdemayne will be Priscilla Kilgore. Also taking part will be James Bateman, Richard, Carole Barham, Alison Elliot, Doug Mitchell, Nicholas Devise, and Lois Garren as Margaret Devise.

Completing the cast are Sanford Peele, Humphrey Devise; Tom Hull, Edward Tappersoom; and Pierre Benouyal.

Rehearsals have already begun and the play is scheduled to be given at McGinnis Auditorium, December 8, 9, and 10.

Campus Frat Initiates New Chapter Members At William And Mary

On November 5, the East Carolina Zeta Psi Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, the national music fraternity for men, formally installed 19 boys from William and Mary College into the national fraternity.

The boys from William and Mary arrived Saturday morning, and were entertained at a luncheon. At 1:30 the installation took place in the Music Building. This was the first time since its founding that the EC Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia has installed charter members from another school.

Also this weekend, six additional members were initiated into the local chapter. They are: Lyle Wilcox, Dan Smith, Frank Smith, Terry Coley, Dale Blackwell, and Julian Wage-maker, who received the best pledge award.

Officers of the group are Stuart Patten, President; Jerry Van Dyke, Vice President; Edward Carraway, Secretary; Jim Burns, Treasurer; Tommy Spry, Warden; Zuill Bailey, Alumni Secretary; and Kenneth Ginn, Music Director.

Sigma Nu Escapes IFC Action; PiKAs On Probation For Entire Winter Term

The Inter-Fraternity Council received the report of its judiciary committee's investigation of complaints against Sigma Nu and Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternities in its November 1st meeting.

Reviewing the complaint against Sigma Nu, the judiciary committee felt there was no action to be taken because the case involved individuals rather than the fraternity as a group. The college judiciary dealt with this matter. The result was the suspension of two men who were charged with damaging Alpha Phi Omega's float during the homecoming weekend.

In regards to the complaints against Pi Kappa Alpha, the decision rendered favored a four-month social probation period against the fraternity. The decision was unanimously approved by the council.

This case centered around the charges of neighborhood disturbance and unbecoming conduct during Saturday night of the homecoming weekend. The charges were filed through the school administration by three Greenville citizens living adjacent to the fraternity house.

The judiciary committee is composed of the presidents of the six member fraternities. IFC President Don Conley, also the PiKa representative, disqualified himself as chairman and the committee selected Mike Katsias, president of Lambda Chi Alpha, to serve as chairman during the investigations.

The social probationary period for Pi Kappa Alpha began November 3 and will end with the closing of winter quarter. Certain restrictions were recommended in the judiciary's final decision. They are as follows:

(1) Written apology by the fraternity is to be forwarded to the president of the college, the IFC, and to the 3 Greenville citizens.

(2) No women visitors will be allowed to visit the fraternity house during the probationary period, with the exception of mothers of affiliated members.

(3) One formal and one informal social function will be allowed during the period. The judiciary committee must be informed one month prior to these functions.

(4) Violation by members will cause suspension from Inter-Fraternity Council.

After hearing the decision of the council, PiKa president Buddy Weis offered his apologies concerning the matter and promised full adherence to the decision by members of his fraternity.

Mike Katsias and Dean James Malory complimented the committee for its work on the case and also commended Pi Kappa Alpha for its willingness to cooperate with the judiciary committee during the investigation. Katsias also warned other council members that this decision would set a precedent and yardstick to measure the future fraternity infractions.

State Senator Humber Stresses Foreign Policy Under Democrats

"Foreign Policy as an Issue in the Forthcoming Election" was the topic of an address given last Thursday night by Dr. Robert Lee Humber, state senator from Pitt County, in the McGinnis Auditorium. As an able democrat, Dr. Humber is the founder of a plan for World Federation, which has been approved by a number of state legislators.

Prior to the address, Dr. Joseph Steelman of the college social studies department recognized John Clark, chairman of the Democratic party in Pitt County and Jack Spain, assistant to Senator Sam Erwin.

In a four point speech, Dr. Humber summed up the characteristics of our national foreign policy under the leadership of great democrats. He emphasized that it was through the guidance of our past democratic leaders that our nation fortified and strengthened its relations with other countries.

The four points were: 1. The adoption of the Truman Doctrine. Under President Harry Truman, the nation extended aid to the countries Greece and Turkey.

2. The Marshall Plan. This plan was established as a medium for stabilizing economic freedom in foreign countries; through it the U.S. showed its willingness to supply arms and money to any country.

3. NATO. Implemented by the democratic party, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is a common means of mutual defense among member nations.

4. Economic aid. When the formula for supplying economic aid to underdeveloped countries was prescribed by President Harry Truman, it received universal acclaim.

Dr. Humber congratulated the youth today on being heirs of the democratic party. "Democrats have nothing to be ashamed of," he stated, "arguing the people to help make our country better by casting their ballots for that party which believes 'this nation is great, but it can be greater.'"

Following the speech an open forum was held during which members of the audience directed their questions on foreign policy and other campaign issues to Dr. Humber.

Beech Represents ECC At UASM In Chicago

East Carolina will be represented at the Thirty-Sixth Annual Meeting of the National Association of Schools of Music by Earl E. Beach, Director of the Department of Music. He will attend the various sessions which will be held at the Palmer House in Chicago, November 25-26. In addition to being the official representative of the school, Beach is also a member of the committee on Teacher Education in Music. East Carolina College has been a member of the NASM since 1953.

Permits to register may be picked up in the registrar's office beginning November 14 and continuing through November 23. Office hours will be from 8:30 to 4:30 Monday through Friday, and 8:30 to 12:00 on Saturdays. When permits are picked up fees for the winter quarter may also be paid.

President Leo W. Jenkins presents his check to Dr. H. D. Rowe, representing many of his colleagues as a member of the ECC Credit Union (See Page 4 for story).

Halftime Program To Salute Greeks

On Saturday night, at the EC- Presbyterian halftime show, the East Carolina Marching Band, under the direction of Herbert L. Carter, will do a salute to all of the fraternities and sororities on campus.

The half-time activities will begin with the band making an entrance from four corners of the field, while the entire percussion section plays the "Downfall of Paris."

Moving into a block formation the band executes a precision band dance maneuver as it musically expressed its optimistic view of fraternities and sororities on the campus by playing "This Could Be The Start Of Something Big."

While playing "Fine and Dandy," the "Marching Pirates" form the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet, Alpha and Omega. These letters will be in purple and gold lights, and the majorettes will twirl fire batons.

Everyone goes to the big social highlight of the year, the IFC formal. The band depicts this activity by forming the word GO as the college dance band The Collegians play "Dinner With Friends," featuring a drum solo by Jay Collins.

An added feature to the half-time activities, will be the Washington High School Band, under the direction of James Larkin, which will present a precision drill routine. They are well known for their precision drill, and besides performing at parades and at football games, they have recently performed a drill routine at the N. C. State Fair, in Raleigh.

Delta Zeta Pledges Undertake Service Projects

The Beta Pledge Class of Delta Zeta Sorority has undertaken as its pledge service project helping plan recreation for the colored children of St. Andrews Episcopal Church.

Each Wednesday night the pledges go to St. Andrews to join with the children in recreation which consists of playing games, singing songs, story telling, and having fun together.

As the project comes to an end the pledge class is planning a Thanksgiving party for November 16, which will be a highlight in their work with the children.

"Much appreciation goes out to Dick Ottaway, Religious Director at St. Pauls Episcopal Church in Greenville, who has worked with the girls in planning their program," said a spokesman for the sorority.

The pledge class consisted of nine pledges who participated in these activities. They are Edith Baker, president; Libby Cooke, treasurer; Geraldine Whitfield, secretary; Savonne

King, corresponding secretary; June JoAnn Collins; Martha Lyon and Kyle Barrow, vice-president; Joann Berry; Fox.

Delta Zeta Pledges, June Barrow, Edith Baker, and Libby Cooke are shown with the children they are helping in their new project.

Newspaper Requests Reporting Privileges

From The Lenoir Rhynean, October 21, 1960.

Beginning with this issue, The Lenoir Rhynean will be covering Student Court trials. Infrequently we hope.

Some may wonder why the names of the defendants are rarely, if ever, published in the student newspaper. With such a limited community as the Lenoir Rhyne college campus the student's identity cannot possibly be kept a secret.

The Lenoir Rhynean circulates beyond the environs of the campus. It is sent to the board of trustees, to student newspapers on campuses all over the United States, and to Hickory and out-of-town businessmen who advertise in its columns.

It is because of this wide circulation and widely diverse readership, that names are rarely printed.

Campus indiscretions are campus indiscretions. They concern the college first and primarily. It is a form of protection of keep justice within. There is no reason to chance wrecking a person's future good name by sending bad publicity where it isn't needed.

Many Lenoir Rhyneans eventually appear in high school newspaper rooms. It could turn up in the high school from which the student graduated.

For this reason, whenever Student Court asks the paper to withhold the names of the persons involved in a trial, we will honor their request.

(Editor's Note: The East Carolinian has requested the same privileges as have been granted to the Lenoir Rhyne newspaper. We hope our students will prove to be as mature as those at Lenoir Rhyne.)

Truth Prevails Within Democratic Societies

In order for a democracy to function properly truth must prevail. Yet in a supposedly democratic society there are some who feel truth is a warped version of their own warped minds. These are the ones who hesitate to speak unless they are sure their words will be acceptable to their peers. These are the ones who panic when someone has an opinion which does not agree with their own standards. These are the ones who consider original thought and expression as defiant behavior and feel it should be suppressed. These are the individuals who insist all which is truth must be "nice," and must fit into a pre-conceived pattern of mores.

They are wrong. Truth is more than this. According to Webster's New International Dictionary truth is "... sincerity in character, action, and speech; genuineness in expressing feeling or belief ..."

Of course this quotation is only a fraction of the complete definition given in this unabridged edition of the dictionary. We suggest everyone read the whole definition, think about it and perhaps supplement their thought by reading George Orwell's novel 1984.

When these tasks are complete we suggest, as an exercise, looking at East Carolina College in terms of truth.

Well, class . . . how does it fit in?

Campaign Sparks New Tradition; EC Students Active

By PATSY ELLIOTT

Election day is over . . . gone for another four years and with it, the most exciting and enthusiastic campaign that the country has seen for some time. Out of this memorable campaign, perhaps a tradition has been born . . . that of live debates between the candidates for president (and maybe candidates for other offices in the future) to introduce the candidates and the people to each other.

From various reports, these live debates were most influential in the selection of our executive head. Perhaps they will be improved on as the years go on and become of even greater value to the people who have to vote on election day.

Recently, when Dr. Humber spoke here on campus, there was loyal democratic enthusiasm present. A Greenville citizen of the fairer sex, rising to express an observation, sounded off with the cry "Where are the democrats in Pitt county that should be here tonight?" Surprising us all with her outburst of democratic patriotism, she emphatically stated, "We live in a democratic state, a democratic county; this institution (East Carolina) was instigated and paid for by democrats. We are indebted to the democrats for it. They (of Pitt county) should be here tonight if for no other reason than out of sheer gratitude for what the democratic party has done for them." But where were they last Thursday night?

Although we don't know where the Pitt county democrats were, we do know where the loyal and enthusiastic EC students were. The spiritual set of our campus were responsible for one of the noisiest and peppiest pep rallies we have seen lately. That's the spirit.

The new trend in dormitory living . . . canteens. So nice to see the older, almost traditional dorms on campus catching on to the idea. The majority of co-eds have no excuse for suffering from malnutrition with all these goodies at their disposal.

While on the subject of dormitories we have something good to say for one of the housemothers. Each year Mrs. Garner invites her girls to her apartment for a coffee hour. She arranges the invitations so that no more than two girls from a single hall visit her at once. This affords us an opportunity to meet other girls living in the dorm and become acquainted with our dormitory counselor simultaneously. This idea we believe to be a very good one and perhaps other dormitory counselors would benefit in taking this tip for promoting better relations among students and counselors. The only fraternity chapter in the nation in which none of the members (or at least almost none of them) are in possession of their fraternity pins is right here on our own campus. The only way to recognize any of the members, unless you already know them, is to, by chance, see them with their chosen ones. And it is unfortunate . . . that which has happened to this group. Let's have a party!

In a recent column, one of our columnists stated there were no student discounts given at the local theaters. We would like to make a correction to the effect that at least one of the downtown movies does give discounts to the students. On seeing the above mentioned statement, the owner of this theater was very upset and discouraged to think some of us were not even aware of his efforts.

Dust Flies As New President Takes Over; Will Khrushchev Interfere?

By KAY McLAWHON

Now that the cavalcade of speeches, TV debates, mud slinging, and circus antics in general have subsided into the annals of history we are faced with the residues of alibis and excuses. The losers must of necessity make excuses for the loss, and the winners must make alibis concerning the promises made during the campaign. Now that the decision has been made we shall see what the nation's number one man plans to do.

The first thing he must do is dust off his golf clubs, which have been all too idle during the campaign, and then he must get out on the course to collect his thoughts concerning the BIG questions. Or perhaps we shall have a new sport given emphasis during this administration, or better still, maybe a relinquishing of hobbies for the work of the nation.

However, golf or no golf, the new administration for which Khrushchev has waited these long months since the pseudo-summit conference has now come into sharp focus. Needless to say that Mr. K. has watched the campaign and election results through high powered lenses, anxiously awaiting with mounting enthusiasm the appearance of the new star, much like an enthusiastic astronomer who creeps out of bed in the dead of night to gaze at some unusual phenomenon in the heavens. Now, what are Mr. Khrushchev's plans for our new president?

It is felt that Khrushchev will quickly try to test the new President's mettle. Perhaps this move will come just after the election and before Eisenhower leaves office. And what if it does? The new President should be ready for almost any action on Mr. K's part, but the question is of course, just what will that action be? From any angle this may prove to be a very troublesome and difficult period.

These past months have been serious ones indeed for the American public in that they had a decision to make which would affect them as individuals and as citizens collectively. Now that the decision has been made, the formalities and the rituals are over, the greater decisions are to be made on their behalf. We in America have witnessed times of ultimate seriousness, but the period from November 8 to January 20 could prove more dangerous to the future of the nation and the free world than any time prior to the present.

What's So Hot About Pickles?

By PAT HARVEY

Undoubtedly, going to college has its disadvantages. We're spending so much time in classes and bridge corners that we no longer know who the outstanding entertainment groups are. Well, how many of you know who 'The Weavers' are, Karlsrud Chorale?

Recently one of our fair professors wanted to know why only three days were devoted to Religious Emphasis Week and an entire week to National Pickle Week?

After reading about Dr. Jenkins' concern for Student Remedial English I wonder if anyone ever thought about offering a few more courses in college on English Grammar? Or if many of our fair faculty feels that they have the background to teach a good course in English Usage?

Apologizes are in order to the Budget committee for making such a ridiculous error in this column two weeks ago. The SGA does not handle 150,000 dollars it is only about 100,000 dollars. But who can sneeze at this pocket change?

In trying to tell the college that the Playhouse is an organized club and is working for the benefit of the school, it has started immediately on another production, The Lady's Not For Burning. Most of the play has been cast and the results show

Discriminatory Methods Cause Student Concern

(UPS) Student concern over discriminatory practices in social fraternities has brought action on many campuses this fall.

Discriminatory clauses have been banned from all organization constitutions at Ohio State University where anti-discriminatory actions were initiated by the panhellenic association with pledged administration support.

Student Senate at Colgate University passed a resolution calling for the abolishment of fraternity discriminatory clauses which has been forwarded to the Board of Trustees for final action. The statement, proposed by a fraternity president, provides an October, 1966 deadline for ending discriminatory provisions in organization charters.

The University of Michigan Student Council will vote next week on a resolution requiring all fraternities and sororities to file notarized statements regarding their constitutional membership requirements with the student council.

Similar action is being considered at Wesleyan University, Connecticut, where a student faculty committee has been formed to study discrimination in fraternities.

Four fraternities at the University of California, Berkeley, have taken steps to remove discriminatory clauses from their constitutions as the result of a 1959 University ruling stating that all houses must abolish such clauses by 1964 or lose University recognition.

After reading about Dr. Jenkins' concern for Student Remedial English I wonder if anyone ever thought about offering a few more courses in college on English Grammar? Or if many of our fair faculty feels that they have the background to teach a good course in English Usage?

Has anyone ever heard this comment: "She gave me a 3"? Or this one: "I made a one"? Which only goes to prove that all our students know they are intelligent and scholastic geniuses.

Recently heard that during the past three months when Friday rolls around we hear a different comment. Instead of saying "Thank — it's Friday." We say "Hide the ashtrays it's roomcheck time again." Thus even college students have to conform to normal procedures, even if they do play a different role.

Student Expresses Negative Outlook

Well, Religious Emphasis Week, a phenomenon peculiar to our sacrosanct society every autumn, is past. I think it wonderful that we here on a campus wholly owned and supported by the state government, a government which is founded on secular, non-religious (church) principles—I think it real sweet that we should correct our founding fathers by officially getting right with the Lord every year when hog killin' time rolls around.

And how enthusiastically was our student body! How positively cherubic (nay, celestial!) we all looked as we shoved and elbowed our way into the various auditoriums at which our visiting minister, priest and rabbi were giving The Word. I even understand that the student union and the city pool halls were only running at half capacity. Religious Emphasis Week does mean so much to us.

So much in fact, that, notwithstanding the fact that we have 15 or 20 churches in Greenville already, there seem to be plans afoot to build a chapel right here on the mall of our little ole non-religious secular campus. And as them cats what founded our state government, them cats what emphatically believed in separation of church and state, when them cats what laid it on us all look down (or up) from their reward, we can just turn our sanctimonious noses up the other way, beam in our "religiousity" and repeat something like what my chapel building buddy enthusiast said t'other night—

Organization man religion Has come to E.C. College, We're holier than thou— In this our Togetherness Knowledge. Frank Thomas

Budget Committee Still Topic Of Criticism

By ROY MARTIN

The almost weekly reading of the criticism of the SGA Treasurer and the Budget Committee has become rather tiring. Perhaps the time has come for changes to be made.

The criticism centers primarily around our system of appropriations. As we see the situation, the principal fault of this system lies in the selection of the members of the Budget Committee.

It is our understanding that the members of the Budget Committee are chosen by the SGA Treasurer. Are these committee members qualified? Has such a point as this even been considered before election?

The selection of these committee members should not be based on their popularity with this officer. The Budget Committee has a tremendous responsibility. They must allocate to the various campus organizations funds for their yearly operations and projects. They should be acquainted with these organizations, and their financial needs. If they are not, how can an appropriation—fair to the students and the organizations be made?

This problem could be solved in many ways. However, as we live in a Democratic society, perhaps if the members of the Budget Committee were elected by the Student Body, everyone concerned would be much happier. It would be but a simple matter to elect from five to ten students to serve on this committee. They would be serving because they want to, and because the members of the Student Body have confidence in their abilities.

Another means by which to end the complaining which follows the fall appropriations each year, would be to give a member from each organization a seat and a vote on the Budget Committee. In this way, each organization would have equal representation. We do not believe that the number of campus organizations is too great for this procedure to be eventually successful.

A position on the Budget Committee should be a coveted position. The members should be people who are open-minded and fair. If they are elected in any fashion, they will most likely have these qualities. If they do not possess these attributes, no one can be blamed but those who elected them.

Judiciary's Decision May Start Honor System Among College Coeds

By PAT FARMER

College coeds were pleasantly surprised this past week when the Women's Judiciary announced that social permission cards would no longer need to be approved by their dormitory resident or the office hostess for functions such as dating, riding, etc. This is a major step in the direction of initiating a full fledged honor system here on campus. With this privilege, and it is a privilege, we girls, can set a precedent which will lead to a stronger student body participation in governing ourselves.

For all EZRA POUND followers: Macmillan and Company has recently published a biography of the controversial poet written by Charles Norman. Mr. Norman has undertaken in the book to give Pound's readers a deeper understanding of one of our century's most interesting men.

The East Carolina College Historical Society has undertaken some rather interesting projects for the year—cleaning off the burial plots of outstanding Tar Heels who contributed to their state's and nation's progress. All interested ghouls should contact Lafayette Westbrook or Dr. Herbert Paschal.

Sights seen on campus . . . One of our more learned faculty members walking along Carolina Avenue, pausing every now and then to study with intent interest, the antics of our small furred friends, then continuing his walk with a look of serenity wiped upon his face. One of the big men on campus berating one of his organization's pledges for being two minutes late for their rendezvous.

Prediction for the future . . . The REBEL will be distributed to the students during the week of November 14 and according to fairly dependable sources, this should be a literary masterpiece.

Newspaper Policy

YDC Attends Rally, Distributes Much Campaign Material

East Carolina's Young Democrats Club has been keeping the banners waving for the Democratic Party by attending rallies, distributing materials, and doing numerous things.

A small delegation attended a rally at Wake Forest College where Symington was the chief speaker. At the state convention, East Carolina was most influential in the carrying of voting. One night the YDC met and distributed material in Greenville. Tuesday, November 1, Terry Sanford made a short stop at the headquarters of the YDC, and the YDC members were on hand to talk with the gubernatorial candidate.

Thursday, November 3, Sen. Huber from Pitt County spoke about the foreign policy issue in the upcoming election. Some of the YDC members helped decorate McGinnis and hand out Kennedy material.

Throughout the campaign East Carolina's Democrats have been most enthusiastic and hope to keep up the high spirit after the election by becoming more informed about both party platforms as well as more about the government of the state.

Many compliments have been bestowed on this group by state politicians, Mr. Kennedy himself, and by the Greenville citizens. Many were surprised to see these vibrant young people distributing material during the Homecoming events, but they seem to be unlimited.

The regular weekly meetings on Tuesday nights at 7:00 p.m. in the Library Auditorium will continue. Those interested in joining may do so at the meetings. Notice the bulletin boards for further announcements concerning the activities of the YDC.

Nixon Majority Favorite In Campus Mock Elections

(UPS)—Mock elections and campus wide presidential polls have been held at many campuses across the country this fall and more are planned for this final week before the nation goes to the polls.

On campuses heard from to date, Kennedy came out on top at Albertus Magnus (New Haven, Conn.), Harvard, Maryville (St. Louis, Mo.) and the University of North Carolina. Nixon was favored at Cornell, Duke, Eastern Michigan, Princeton, Trinity (Hartford, Conn.) and the University of Texas. Breakdown on each campus follows.

Albertus Magnus went democratic by a 2-1 majority, with 188 votes for Kennedy and 96 for Nixon (total school enrollment—285).

In a survey conducted by the Harvard Crimson, Kennedy defeated Nixon by over 1,000 votes. Final returns gave the Senator from Massachusetts 3461 votes to his opponents 24-12.

A straw ballot of faculty and students at Maryville gave Kennedy 137 votes to Nixon's 94 (total school enrollment 260).

At North Carolina, a Daily Tar Heel random sample poll showed 16-47 favored Kennedy while 1433 chose Nixon.

Nixon edged out Kennedy by the narrow margin of 1595 to 1503 at Cornell, while Adlai Stevenson received 216 write in votes in an election in which one third of the student body participated.

The mock election at Duke gave Nixon a majority of over 800 votes as 1,927 voted for the vice-president and 1184 chose Kennedy.

Eastern Michigan chose Nixon over Kennedy by a vote of 733 to 645. However, this vote includes 94 votes cast for a Kennedy-Lodge combination and seven for Nixon-Johnson.

Students Begin Torch-light Marathon

CARBONDALE, ILLINOIS (UPS) A burning torch was lighted at Southern Illinois University at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday, November 2 and will not be extinguished till more than 600 students from five Illinois universities have carried it the 360 miles to the State Building in the Chicago Loop on Saturday.

"Keep the flame of higher education burning" is the theme of the state long marathon to express student interest in passing the $195 million building plan bond on November 8.

About 195 students will leave Carbondale on Wednesday morning. Students will make half mile runs and then be relieved by other students.

The SIU group will be joined by the other four universities at Champaign Urbana. They are the University of Illinois, Illinois State Normal School and Eastern and Western Illinois Universities.

The contingent plans to arrive in the Chicago Loop at noon on Saturday, with members of the Southern Illinois cross country team finishing the trip. They will be met by Governor William G. Stratton and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The idea for the marathon was conceived by Judy Wood, president of the sophomore class at Southern Illinois.

College Personnel Form Credit Union; Membership Totals 46

By ADA JANE KIVETT

The credit union makes possible a system whereby members may save systematically with insured benefits on their savings. It also provides a ready source of loans at reasonable interest rates, for its members, and helps keep money earned in the college community within the college community.

At present the organization is experiencing a slow growth and as yet its success or failure cannot be determined, but it is evident that the Credit Union does fill a definite need. Presently loan applications have utilized its available funds.

On International Credit Union Day October 20, President Eisenhower said, "The credit union idea, with its inherent philosophy of individual initiative and economic democracy, has gained wide acceptance in the United States. It is helping to bring people together in a spirit of mutual cooperation."

Seminar Accepts Application For Scandinavian Program

The Scandinavian Seminar announced today from its headquarters at 127B East 73 Street, New York 21, N. Y., that it is accepting applications for the 1961-62 study program in Denmark, Finland, Norway, or Sweden.

Started in 1949, the Scandinavian Seminar is incorporated by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, and has grown to one of the largest overseas study programs in the United States. Those eligible for the program include teachers, college graduates, and college undergraduates interested in a year-abroad program. The intermingling of college students, college graduates, and professional persons is made possible by the highly individualized program developed for each Seminar member. During most of the nine months in Scandinavia, students in the Seminar study separately from each other, so that, with faculty guidance, all are able to develop their specific interests without conflict.

The Seminar is conducted in a completely Scandinavian environment and in the language of the country of residence. Several months before their departure, members of the Seminar begin language study with records supplied by the Seminar. They are given intensive, accelerated language instruction in the first weeks in Scandinavia. Language learning continues in two family stays of three to four weeks each, which are alternated with short courses. At these short courses, in addition to intensive language study, the Seminar faculty and guest authorities lecture on the history, literature, art, and social and political problems of the country and Scandinavia as a whole.

The Seminar students gain a good command of the language which enables them, after three months in the country, to study side by side with Scandinavians in one of the famous folkhjskole, adult education centers. In residence at the folkhjskole for six months, members of the Seminar take courses in the humanities and social sciences, live with a Scandinavian roommate, and participate in the life of the school. They also carry out independent study projects in their fields of interest, such as Scandinavian history, adult education, the cooperative movement, physical education, and art and design.

The cost for tuition, room and board for the nine months, language materials, and transportation from New York to Copenhagen, is $1450. A limited number of scholarships and loans is awarded each year to qualified applicants.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:
DEAR DR. FROOD:
DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Early to bed and early to rise is an excellent way to avoid people.

Dear Dr. Frood: What should I look for first when I look for a wife?
DEAR SEARCHING: Her husband.

Dear Dr. Frood: Our son has been in college three months, and we haven't heard a word from him. Not even a post card. I don't want him to think I am too demanding or overprotective, but frankly I am worried. What should I do?
DEAR WORRIED: Why worry after only three months in college? He's still learning how to write.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am six foot five, 225 pounds, handsome, tanned, muscled, a good athlete. But I can't get along with girls because I can never think of anything to say. What do you suggest?
DEAR BRAUNY: "Me Tarzan, you Jane."

Dear Dr. Frood: Don't you agree that every college man has the right, in fact, the duty, to stand up and speak out for the things he believes in? Tomorrow I am going straight to the college president and tell him, politely but firmly, what is wrong here—the inferior teaching, the second-rate accommodations, the bad food. My friends think I am wrong to do this. What do you think?
DEAR DETERMINED: I applaud your spirit, young man! Had I been able, I would have commended you in a more personal letter. However, please leave a forwarding address.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am puzzled by the Lucky Strike slogan: "Remember how great cigarettes used to taste? Luckies still do." I've been sitting here for hours, thinking, thinking, thinking, but for the life of me I can't remember. What should I do about this?
DEAR FORGETFUL: I suggest you lean back, relax, and light up a Lucky Strike. I'm sure it will all come back to you—who you are, what you were, where you lived, everything.

FROOD FAD SWEEPS COLLEGES! They laughed when Dr. Frood started the new college craze of enjoying a Lucky while hanging from a coat rack. But now everybody is doing it! Smoking Luckies, that is. Today college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. Reason: With or without coat rack, Luckies deliver the greatest taste in smoking today.

Artists Carry Out Religious Theme In Art Exhibition During November

By JANE IPOCK

The art exhibition for the month of November, on display in the Rawl Building in conjunction with "Religious Emphasis Week," is entitled "Religion in Art."

Through the centuries religion has been a major theme of artists. The works now being shown are modern interpretations, similar in theme, though different in treatment from paintings of bygone years.

At first, the Madonna and child are primary considerations of the artists, though a variety of views are shown. "Madonna and Child," by Raphael, has soft, quiet colors, with classical figures and background. "Madonna and Child," by Kaulka is a golden glow, which bestows upon onlookers a feeling of reverence.

"Man of Sorrows" and "Madonna and Child," by Louis Freund are very different from other paintings in the show. Figures in his works have definite, bold features and his coloring is insensitive.

William Pachner portrays mourners at the foot of Christ in "Fragments." It is done in subdued colors with much intricacy.

"Chinese Christmas Card," by Helen Frank Protas, was done for surface quality. It seems to have little feeling or sentiment. This surface was attained by gluing bits of aluminum foil to the painted canvas.

Other works of interest are "Francis" — a water color of Saint Francis and the birds, by Margaret Sturgis; "Cathedral," by Craig Rubadow; "INRI," by Philippe Salazar.

Each month a new, different and interesting art exhibition is on display in the Rawl Building, showing the many directions art may take. Each show is an opportunity for education through observation of artists' intentions. By observing composition, organization and trying to find the purpose of the artist, one can gain new insight into the field of art.

"After the first ballot at a convention, many of the folks back home think their delegates should be congratulated." — Bert Kruse.

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill in and mail this coupon.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.

Language Laboratory Begins Regular Operations Schedule

The new language lab, located in the Graham Building, is now in full operation. It is open twenty-four hours a week. The schedule is as follows:

11:00 p.m. to 12:00 p.m.—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday
2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday
7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.—Thursday
2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.—Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday

During these hours, one of the two lab assistants is on duty to aid students in the use of the lab.

Some 300 persons a week are now using this modern electronic lab, and though it is among the best in the state, there is already need for expansion. A request for an addition of 12 booths is in the college budget to be presented to the state legislature this winter. This will give the lab a total of 30 booths which will make up the new lab on the first floor of the new wing of Graham Building.

This lab aids the students in pronunciation, and gives them greater realization that the subject under study is a spoken tongue. Also, the recently published, highly recommended Modern Language Association text (written with the lab in mind) can be used at ECC.

For most language labs, the biggest problem is obtaining the proper materials, because the electronic lab is a relatively new teaching device. However, here at ECC the foreign scholarship students are very helpful. Several have made tapes now in use in the lab.

Since the passing of recent Federal legislation in support of teaching foreign languages throughout the schools of America, the study of languages is on the upward trend, not only in college and high school, but also in the lower grades.

"This lab is in harmony with the greater emphasis on language throughout the nation," says Mr. Fleming, director of the Language Department.

Sororities Hear Panel Delegate Speak In Austin

The College Panhellenic Council held a Panhellenic Workshop on campus recently. Mrs. Robert Wild, a representative from NPC, came from Washington, D.C. to speak to the local sorority women concerning Panhellenic.

A meeting in Austin Auditorium of all sorority women and pledges was the highlight of the two day workshop. Presidents or representatives of each of the eight sororities on campus spoke to the assembly concerning the functions and background of her particular sorority. Mrs. Wild then spoke and later answered questions from the audience about Panhellenic organization.

Members of the council heard Mrs. Wild speak in Flanagan Auditorium concerning Panhellenic problems on the local level. A discussion period led by Mrs. Wild helped to answer many questions which the representatives had brought from their groups.

Officers and committee heads held individual conferences with Mrs. Wild discussing problems and questions peculiar to their individual positions.

At the last weekly meeting of the council, President Jaye Finnegan appointed a committee to compile suggestions for revising or amending the present constitution. Betty Rose Prezier was appointed to head the committee.

The council has decided to help raise funds for the proposed chapel as a special project. Tentative plans are for an entertainment to be presented as a cooperative venture by all sororities.

Appreciation to Alpha Delta Pi sorority was expressed for their gifts of curtains for the Panhellenic room and lights for the outside entrance to the office.

Council Names One Of Contest Judges

Mrs. Betsy Talbot Blackwell, editor-in-chief of Mademoiselle magazine, has been named chairman of the judges who will choose the 1961 Maid of Cotton.

The National Cotton Council announces Mrs. Blackwell will come to Memphis from New York for two days of contest finals, December 28-29. Names of six other judges, prominent men in the cotton industry and related fields, will be announced later.

The New York editor has devoted her publishing career to the interests of young women—their dress, looks, college life, careers, and marriages. In doing so, she has created one of the most successful magazines on the American scene. She has held her present position with Mademoiselle since 1937.

Mrs. Blackwell has received the Neiman-Marcus Award for distinguished service in the field of fashion; a citation as one of the key women of the year by the Federations of Jewish Charities; an award by Junior Achievement, Inc., for her service to the interests of young people; and a Woman of the Month citation by the American Women's Association. She is married to lawyer James Madison Blackwell III, and has one son, James Madison Blackwell IV.

The 1961 Maid of Cotton will be chosen by Mrs. Blackwell and the six other judges from a group of 20 finalists. To be eligible, a girl must have been born in a cotton-producing state, must be between the ages of 19 and 25, must be at least five feet, five inches tall, and must never have been married.

Applications for the 1961 Maid of Cotton contest may be obtained from the National Cotton Council, Box 9905, Memphis 12, Tennessee.

Collegiate Jazz Festival Accepts Applications For Spring Contest

The second annual Intercollegiate Jazz Festival will be held at Georgetown University on May 6, 1961. This will be the finals of a nationwide competition among jazz groups from American colleges and universities. The winner of the finals will be chosen by a board of judges consisting of Dave Brubeck, Paul Desmond, John Hammond, and George Hoefer. Prizes include engagements at Birdland, and the Red Hill Inn, a recording contract with a major company, and a scholarship for the best individual musician. Other prizes are being considered.

Groups may enter by submitting an application form accompanied by a tape recording. The tape need not be of professional technical quality, but should represent a sample of the group's playing ability. Five finalists will be selected from the tapes to appear at Georgetown on May 6. All tapes should be postmarked by January 31, 1961. The group does not have to be officially affiliated with the university, nor do all members of the group have to be currently attending the school. There is no cost to applicants, and tapes will be returned on request. There is a $25 award to anyone responsible for the entry of a band that becomes a finalist.

Last year the first prize went to the Charles Benn Contemporary Jazz Quartet from Carnegie Tech. They won an engagement at Birdland, a recording contract with Columbia Records, and an appearance at the Newport Jazz Festival. In addition, their drummer was chosen the outstanding individual musician and won a scholarship to Berklee.

The second prize winner was the Lab Band from North Texas State. They received an engagement at the Red Hill Inn, just outside Philadelphia. The third place group, the Chuck Mangione Quintet from the Eastman School of Music, did not win any prizes that night. However, their appearance did lead to further recognition.

VA Explains New Change In Policy

Government benefit checks to veterans or their dependents who have recently moved can be forwarded by the local post office—but not without a forwarding address.

J. D. DeRamus, VA Regional Office manager, explained today that this is a change from the former legal requirements that a check could not be forwarded to a beneficiary who has moved.

Beneficiaries should send the VA Regional Office in Winston-Salem their new address as soon as it is known and at the same time leave one with their post office.

Should the change reach the VA too late in the month to be made for the next check already authorized, the notice to the post office will insure the check reaching them without having to be returned to the Treasury at Chicago for remailing when it receives the address change from the VA.

DeRamus added that the post office sometimes holds checks for a few days to see if a change of address comes in. Therefore, beneficiaries who have moved and did not receive their checks on time, should check with the general delivery window.

Beneficiaries who travel or move frequently also may have their checks mailed directly to their banks for deposit to their accounts. Necessary forms for giving the bank power of attorney to receive such deposits can be obtained from the VA office.

nition. Mangione is now recording on the Riverside label and has appeared at the Randall's Island Jazz Festival in New York.

This year the prizes will be approximately the same as those of last year. Due to the uncertain status of the Newport festival, arrangements are being made for an appearance at Randall's Island.

Application forms are available at the East Carolinian office.

Beta Iota Issues First Of Proposed Publications

The Beta Iota Chapter of Gamma Theta Upsilon, national professional geography fraternity, has issued a news letter which is being distributed to students, faculty members, and alumni of the college geography department.

The news letter is a 14-page mimeographed publication. A new venture of the chapter, the current edition is the first in a series planned for the future.

Contents include a sketch of the Beta Iota Chapter and its activities; an article on the college department of geography, its corps of teachers, and its course offerings; biographical information about faculty members of the department; and news items about approximately fifty alumni members of the Beta Iota Chapter.

Michael D. Jones is editor of the publication. In a letter to readers, he states, "This first edition marks a major milestone in achievements for the Beta Iota Chapter of East Carolina College."

Brenda A. Little is editor of the alumni section. Officers of the fraternity who assisted in preparing the newsletter include Charles Jones, vice president, and Mearl W. Meekins, secretary and treasurer. Dr. Robert E. Cramer of the faculty, advisor to the college chapter, assisted the student editorial staff in their work.

Two other projects to be carried out during the school year include the chapter's annual field trip to Washington, D.C., to visit government and private agencies in which employment is commonly available to geograppers and preparation of a report listing fields into which geography majors may enter.

Rickert Addresses EC Lecture Club

Dr. Corinne Rickert, director of closed-circuit television was featured speaker at a meeting of the College Lecture Club Monday in the Joyner Library on the campus.

Dr. Rickert's discussion centered around an Elizabethan Witchcraft and exorcism case.

The College Lecture Club, organized last spring by a group of faculty members, has scheduled monthly meetings during the school year. Dr. Robert W. Williams of the department of social studies opened the 1960-61 series of lectures by club members with a discussion at the October meeting of "New Orleans' Storyville and Machine Politics."

Dr. Rickert has been in charge of East Carolina's instructional program over closed-circuit TV since 1958. She holds the Ph. D. degree from the Shakespeare Institute, University of Birmingham, England, where she specialized in Elizabethan Drama.

Pirates Return Home Against Powerful Presbyterian

Pirates Will Miss Trio Of Guards Next Season

By RICHARD BOYD

Three North Carolina natives, Wayne Davis of Warsaw, Bob Gregson of Asheville, and Dempsey Williams of Fayetteville, are three Seniors that the grid Pirates will certainly miss next season.

One of the primary reasons that East Carolina has been fortunate in having a stout defense during the current campaign has been due to the play of these three returning let-terms who have been instrumental in holding down their respective aggressive guard positions.

The hardhitting trio has been spelling trouble for the opposition with their hard driving tackles, beautiful blocking on the offensive side of the fence, as well as a lightning display of speed, that has aided the entire team to an admirable display of usage.

Davis is a 6' 190 pounder who has teamed up with Junior Clayton Piland to be a terror in the Pirate forward wall. Both players have been

TRIO OF TACKLES . . . These three tackles have been responsible for much of the credit of East Carolina's gridiron success this season. They are, left to right, Cary Cannady, Henry Kwiatkowski and Gary Pierce. Kwiatkowski is the team's place kicker, and has not missed a boot this year, splitting the uprights for 14 extra points and one field goal. All three are seniors this season.

Bucs Seek Seventh Win Over Little Three Foe

By B. D. MILLS

East Carolina plays Presbyterian College in the first of two final home games. The Blue Hose from Clinton, South Carolina, bring a very impressive record into this night game. The Frank Jones coached team has a 13-3 record over the past two years, being 4-2 so far this year.

Presbyterian losses have come from powerful Lenoir Rhyne, 8-0, and from Southern Conference Citadel, 27-0. P. C. wins have come over Furman, Wafford, Davidson, and Catawba. The Catawba win was 29-9, compared to EC's previous 25-0. Last year's Presbyterian club boasted a 9-1 record over-all, losing only in the Tangerine Bowl. The Blue Hose came from behind last year to defeat EC, 18-13. Gone are third team Little All-Americans, Bobby Pate and Bob Waters, halfback and quarterback, respectively. Both stuck with the pros for some time. Reuniting, however, is second team Little All-American fullback Bill Hill.

Tackles Billy Ogden and Hardy Ledbetter are returning veterans, both weighing 225 lbs. Another fine tackle is freshman Howard Turner a 206 pounder. Bill Glase and Sonny Dubose, both starters on last year's bowl club, return to help into the starting line-up for several games this season. Glase weighs 185, Dubose 218, Bridges, 205.

Keith Richardson a 6-1, 214 pounder has the starting role at center, being relieved by junior Alex Mills, at 190. John Vastine, a four year veteran, starts at left end, while Jerry Hammock gets the nod at right end. Both boys weigh over 190 lbs.

In the righting Blue Hose backfield, 205 lb. fullback, Bill Hill carries the brunt of the attack. Hill, a senior from McKeesport, Pa., scored the winning tally against the Bucs last year. However, Hill draws support from Bobby Joiner a 208 lb. junior quarterback.

Jimmy Kolb and Ronnie Hampton, a pair of 175 pounders take over the halfback vacancy left by graduated Bobby Pate. Assisting these two are Billy Benton, last year's starter, and freshman speedster Bill Kitchen. This heavy backfield, at a 186 average, will give the Buc line headaches, no doubt. E.C.'s speedy backs average 175 per man. The Presbyterian's team is noted for finishing strong, so Pirate stamina must hold against the Blue Hose for the duration of the contest.

The starting team for Presbyterian outweighs E.C.'s starters by two pounds per man, so this may become the classic story of a good small team vs. a good big team, as Presbyterian is. However, this weight advantage is evened with the Pirate team speed, so one must not choose the bigger team merely because of its size.

Pirates Lose Strong Bid For North State Crown

HICKORY . . . East Carolina lost its chance to gain at least a tie for the North State Conference football crown last Saturday night when the Pirates fell before league leader Lenoir Rhyne by a 17-0 margin.

In beating the Pirates, Lenoir Rhyne practically sewed up its sixth straight conference crown, with only Elton and Catawba standing in its way. The Bears, coached by Clarence Stasavich, have piled up eight straight wins this season without a loss, and last week they were the number three ranked small college football team in the nation.

The underdog Bucs started the game off with a bang, taking the opening kickoff and marching 53 yards to the LR 10 yard line in three plays. Halfbacks Sonny Baysinger and Glenn Bass led the charge. Baysinger picked his way for 28 yards on the first play, and Bass ran for 20 more. Then fullback Nick Hilgert carried to the Bear 10, but on the next play, Bass was thrown for a 20 yard loss and two more plays failed to get the first down.

The Bruins took over on their own 30 but found that the Pirate was as tough as it was cracked up to be, and were forced to punt. Bass took the kick on his own 16 but fumbled at that point and the Bear's All-American end Dick Lage recovered.

Once again LR found the ECC defense too tough to move and managed to gain only five yards in four plays, and the Pirates took over on their own 11. This time the Bucs drove to the LR 36, but a penalty put them back on the Bear 48 to end the first quarter.

Lenoir Rhyne finally got its offense, which is tops in the conference, on the move early in the second period. Tony McClamrock, playing in the place of All-American tailback Lee Farmer who was injured in the opening minutes of the contest, led the Bears to their first score of the evening. The 170 pound junior heaved a pass to wingback Marcus Midgett that covered 53 yards to the Pirate 15 yard stripe. After two tries at the EC forward wall failed to produce anything, McClamrock found end Ronnie Frye open in the Pirate end zone with an eleven yard aerial for the score. Marion Kirby booted the extra point and the Bears took a 7-0 lead.

The Bruins struck again before the half, gaining possession of an EC fumble on the Pirate 19. When the Buc ground crew refused to budge, Kirby came in to kick a twelve yard field goal, and the Bears left the field at halftime with a 10-0 lead.

Midgett, who was the receiver of the fatal extra point pass in last year's game between these two clubs which gave the Bears a 22-21 win, rambled for the longest run of the evening early in the third quarter. The little wingback gathered in Dan Rouse's punt on his own 15, picked up his blocking and skirted the sidelines or 65 yards, but was caught from behind on the Pirate 20. A fumble by fullback Tommy Simmons halted the drive on the Buc 18 yard line.

The Pirates began to roll once again, with second unit fullback Bill Strickland picking up 28 yards in two plays. But LR's Lage intercepted a Rouse pass on the Bruin 37 to halt the drive.

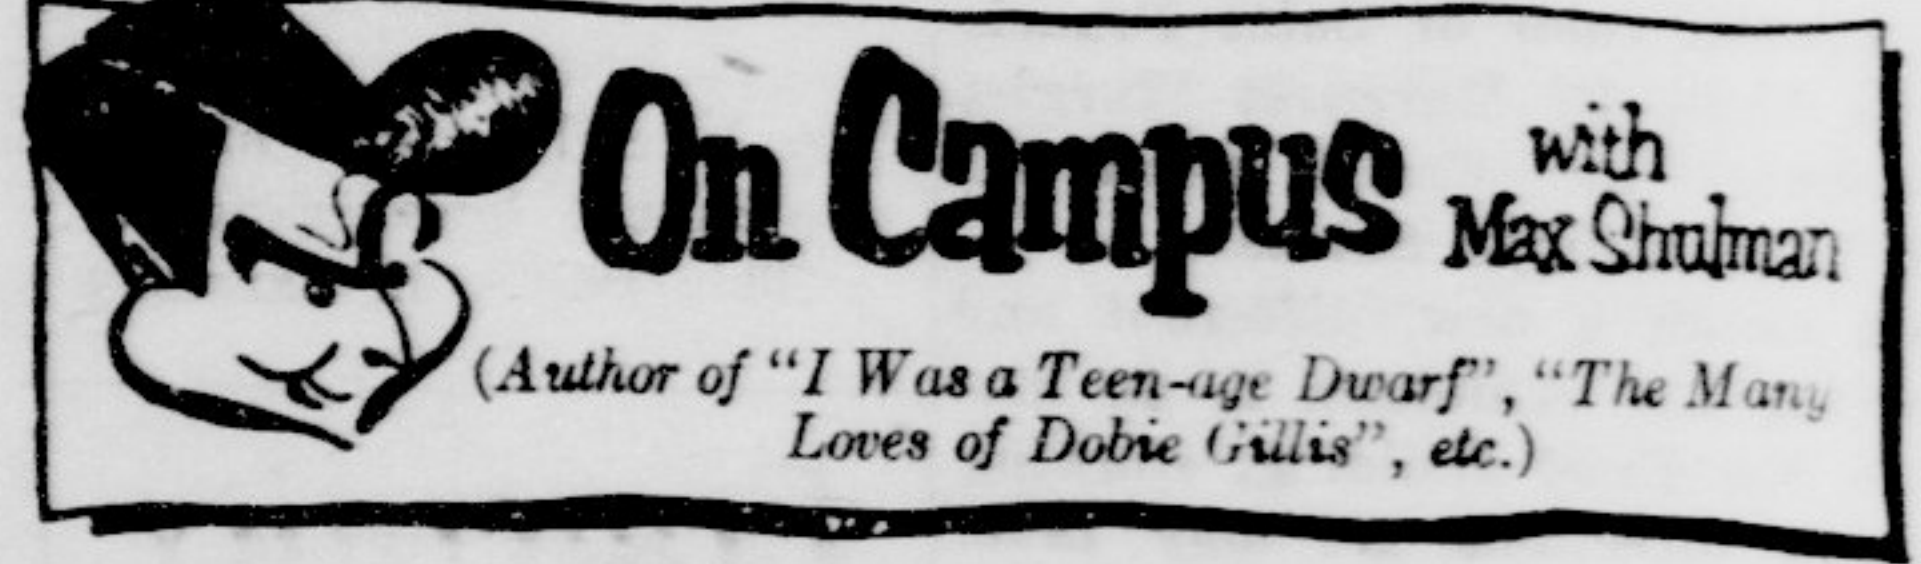

East Carolina made one last bid for a score early in the fourth quarter. Starting on his own 45, Pirate quarterback Bert Stafford ran and passed the Bucs deep into Bruin territory. A 30 yard completion to end Jones Lockerman placed the ball on the Bear 6 yard line with first down. Baysinger carried to the two, but Stafford lost back to the three. Then two more tries at the Bear line failed to produce a score and LR took over on its own 2.

The loop leaders then showed real power in their last scoring march, driving 98 yards for the final tally of the evening. McClamrock racked up 45 yards in the drive, including a one yard plunge for the six points. Kirby booted the extra point to give the Bears a 17-0 winning margin.

A MODEST PROPOSAL

A movement is afoot—a shocking, startling movement—to solve the problem of overcrowded colleges by the simple expedient of refusing admission to women at coeducational schools!

It is argued by proponents of this plan that in today's world a college education is absolutely essential for a man, while for a woman it is merely a pleasant interlude between adolescence and housewifery. There is simply not room enough for both men and women in our overburdened colleges; therefore, in all fairness, women who have far less need of a degree than men, must yield their places.

Well sir, when I heard this drastic proposal, I was so shocked that I sat right down and lit a Marlboro. I always sit right down and light a Marlboro when I am shocked. I also always sit right down and light a Marlboro when I am not shocked. There is no time, no condition, no mood, no estate when it isn't a source of soul-deep gratification to settle back and have a full-flavored smoke—Marlboro, the filtered cigarette with the unfiltered taste—Marlboro, the jewel of cigarettes—Marlboro, the pinnacle of the tobaccoist's art—Marlboro, my comfort haven, and snug harbor.

Well sir, I sat smoking my Marlboro and thinking over the shocking proposal to keep women out of coed schools, and hoping fervently that another solution can be found. If the calamitous day ever comes when women are banned from coed colleges, I will gnash my teeth and rend my garments and take to my bed without supper. Like any other Marlboro man, I love women. I love the sight and sound of them, the cut of their jibs, their beauty and grace, their cunning little spitefuls, their sleek dimples, their middy blouses, their aura and effluvium. Moreover, I freely admit that when it comes to brainpower, they can give the average man cards and spades and big casino too. It would be a shame, a disgrace and a catastrophe to keep these beautiful, intelligent creatures out of college.

However, it is always wise in time of fair weather to prepare for foul. What if the advocates of keeping women out of college begin to gather strength? We who abhor this fiendish plan must be ready with a substitute . . . and it just so happens I have one—and a mighty ingenious little plan it is, if I say so myself.

Granted that classroom seats are in short supply, and granted that men need degrees more than women, it is still not necessary to bar women from college. Let them go to college—but here is the beauty part of my plan—don't let them go to class!

I love the sight and sound of them . . .

This solution, it seems to me, answers every requirement. It releases hundreds of thousands of classroom seats to needy males. At the same time, it does not deprive women of the rich and varied benefits of campus life. They can join sororities, shoot pool at the Union, build bonfires for Homecoming games, pour at the Dean's tea, plait daisies in their hair, organize drag races, sculpt in ice, hook rugs, walk their chestnuts, play Monopoly, find love—in short, they can do anything except go to class.
