Burma's Prime Minister Grants Play Permission

U. Nu. Prime Minister of Burma, has granted permission to the College to present the American premiere of his new play, "The Wages of Sin." President Leo W. Jenkins has announced.

Produced by the EC Playhouse, under the direction of Dr. Joseph A. Withey, the play will be presented in three performances February 22, 23, and 24 at 8 p.m. in the McGinnis auditorium.

U. Nu. Burmese Ambassador to the United States, has been invited to be a guest when the play opens on campus.

Dr. Withey, as a Fulbright research scholar in theater arts was attached to the University of Mandalay in Burma during 1960-1961. While there, he asked permission to present the American premiere of the U. Nu drama here at East Carolina. His request now granted, arrangements for producing the play by the Playhouse are currently in progress. The Burmese dramatist-statesman is the author of "The People Win Through," a drama written shortly after World War II, and of the new play "The Wages of Sin." Both are political plays. The first drama had its American premiere at the Pasadena Playhouse in California.

E. M. Law Yone, editor of "The Nation," leading English-language newspaper in Burma, in describing the dramas, said, "In both, the central theme is not so much the danger of Communism, which is generally recognized, but the means necessary to avert it."

Weis Announces New Rush Date

At its January 9 meeting, the IFC voted to conduct Formal Rush during Winter Quarter of the 1962-63 school year. Formal Rush has been held during Fall Quarter, approximately five weeks after the beginning of the term.

It is generally conceded by fraternity men that a rushee should be given a chance to make his grades before being pledged and deferred rush will give him this chance.

Formal Rush was changed from Winter Quarter to Fall Quarter two years and on an experimental basis. Said IFC President Buddy Weis, "Judging from the percentage of pledges in all fraternities who failed to make their grades, the experiment was a failure. Therefore, we have decided to return to the old system of rushing."

Seashore Speaks To Students On Test Programs

Dr. Harold Seashore, Director of Testing Division of the Psychological Corporation, New York City, will visit the campus Monday and Tuesday, January 22 and 23, and will address students and faculty members of the Psychology Department and their guests during his stay.

Dr. Seashore's visit is sponsored by the American Psychological Association and the Psychology Department here.

Speak In McGinnis

On Monday night Dr. Seashore will speak at 7:30 in the McGinnis Auditorium at a meeting open to those who are interested in attending. His topic will be "Aptitude Tests and the Utilization of Talent."

On Tuesday from 10 a.m. to noon Dr. Seashore will meet informally in Room 105, Rawl Building, with friends of his aunt, Miss Laura Rose of Marine-on-St. Croix, Minnesota, who retired from the EC faculty in 1950 after a long period of service as a faculty member in the Department of Social Studies.

Fifty Published Articles

He has written approximately fifty published articles on psychology, particularly in industrial applications, counseling, and test research. He is also author of several educational and psychological tests.

Dr. Clinton R. Prewett, Director of the Psychology Department, is in charge of arrangement for Dr. Seashore's program of activities during his visit here.

All rushees have been informed as to dress and time for parties. Rushees may not leave one party to attend another. Friday night rushees will sign preferences and bids will be issued Saturday afternoon in the Panhellenic Room.

The eight sororities will be grouped for parties. They may accept five invitations to parties on Wednesday and Thursday. Only three invitations may be accepted by a rushee for Friday parties.

Lecture Committee Succeeds

Ex-Banned Speaker Highlights Sperry-Hutchinson Lecture Series

In less than a week, students will hear the eagerly anticipated Buckley-Rodell debate. The debate, set for Thursday, January 25, will highlight the Sperry-Hutchinson lecture program for this year.

Student Committee Chairman, Dave Haskins, and faculty advisors, are indeed in line for commendation for making arrangements for this debate; a feat accomplished when other schools have been unsuccessful in securing these speakers.

William Buckley, editor of the conservative National Review, recently won a case taken before the New York State Supreme Court when he was banned from Hunter College, part of the City College of New York. Following official repeal of the speakers ban against Communist Party members at CCNY and the ruling for the decision to allow or disallow speaker invitations to party members to the individual colleges, the court ruled that Hunter College's denial of the use of its auditorium for a forum sponsored by the National Review was an interference with free speech.

Buckley made his appeal to the courts on the ground that the National Review was a "partisan magazine presenting a particular point of view."

Coming to us fresh from a court victory, the controversial Buckley will no doubt meet all expectations and present a lively and hot debate when he meets Fred Rodell here next week.

Students Become Studious?

Recently, an urgent plea erupted from our formerly tranquil Joyner library . . . our overcrowded library. The plea is directed to all students; and its origin attributed to the disturbance from the lobby to the reading room.

A large number of students trek to the library to socialize rather than to study . . . somewhere on campus they received false directions and never found the student union.

Students studying in the library reading room are cooperative, but it seems that those who meet their friends and yell to buddies across the lobby present a difficulty, both to library employees and fellow students.

With no chance to extend library facilities and to ease crowded conditions, (we refer to the defeat of the Nov. 7 Bond Issue) we must endeavor to overcome the problems arising under such conditions.

A record-breaking 588 students filled the library one night during the week of November 5; the reading room only seats 250.

During a normal week at about 8:00 p.m., a break down of students in the library might look like this . . . Monday, 345 students with 163 in the reading room; Wednesday, 287 with 140 in the reading room; Friday, 36 with 19 in the reading room; and Sunday, 107 with 75 in the reading room.

With mid-term tests on hand this week and next, more than the average number of students will be studying in the library. English II students will be seeking research material for term papers. We will find these next two weeks (and the rest of the quarter) busy times for the library and an opportunity for students to show consideration for fellow students who earnestly try to study within the confines of the library.

'Cut And Dry' Solution Not Expected

Student Conference Studies Solutions For World Peace

By MONTY MILLS

Today's impending crises, continued atmospheric nuclear testing, rioting in the Congo's Katanga province, and the current cold war in Berlin have provoked America's college students to take a firm stand against the menacing Communist threat.

Students riled over international world strifes and conflicts, have voiced their objections in concentrated peace vigils, vigils aimed at one primary objective — world peace. These peace vigils have been instigated to inform America of the basic issues and facts relating to the undercurrent of world disturbances.

Among the recent actions taken by the collegians is an Intercollegiate Conference on Disarmament and Arms Control to be conducted at Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Penn., February 16-18.

The nationwide conference has invited twenty-two scholars and authorities to give their views for a united effort to enforce international disarmament and for a preventive measure to halt the existing cold war. Among the notables speaking at the conference are: Homer Jack, Executive Director of the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy; Louis Sohn, Bemis

Professor of International Law, Harvard and co-author of Peace Through World Law; Arthur Hadley, former newsman and author of The Nation's Safety and Control; James King, associate director of the Institute for Defense Analysis; Robert Matteson, Arms Director of the United States Arms Control and Disarmament Agency; and David Popper, disarmament advisor of the conference is to provide interested American students with reliable information from competent authorities and to encourage them to think seriously about these problems confronting the free world of the world.

Perhaps the First International Conference on Disarmament and Arms Control will not amount to a cut-and-dry solution for a pattern to world peace, but at least inform interested individuals of the current problems and possible solutions facing the world today.

The answer to these important threats will not come from a conference nor will it come from one group of interested individuals. In the future, perhaps a continued effort of similar conferences and groups of concerned people will provide the solution to one of the world's most trying situations — the answer to an international world peace.

Serious Students Seek New Labels For Old Terms

(ACP) — Terms such as conservative and liberal are meaningless, asserts Bill Jagger of THE VARSITY NEWS, University of Detroit.

"Many people adopt a limited economic or social philosophy with a general, uncritical label and into these confines they try to cram all truth, adjusting new truths to the philosophy. Perhaps it is man's desire for certainty and security that forces him, in our age, to such provincialism and self-deception.

"Intelligent scholarship, however, forces the serious student to forget such labels. At most he will say, when asked 'On such and such a specific issue, I stand for . . .'. Or better yet, he might say: 'Look, man, I'm just a kid who doesn't know much, seriously looking for one thing — the truth!'"

On behalf of the 7,000 Marines and civilian guests who attended the 4th Annual Christmas Invitational Basketball Tournament, I wish to express my deep appreciation for your acceptance of our invitation and your team's inspirational performance throughout the tournament.

Their deportment, good sportsmanship and competitive spirit resulted in making our role as host a most pleasurable experience and contributed to no small degree in the success achieved in this annual event.

It is our sincere desire that circumstances will permit a return engagement here at Camp Lejeune by your splendid team.

Sincerely yours,

Dates Benefit Weaker Sex In 'Man's World'

(ACP) — Who gets the short end of the stick when it comes to dates?

The man, of course, says Del Lewis, writing in the DAILY UNIVERSE, Brigham Young University.

Just consider this ritual he describes:

"Man usually makes a few preparations before going out on a date.

"One of these is a process in which he cuts away the hair growing out of his face. He then applies a solution to his face. This solution keeps his face from getting sore — if he hasn't already cut it. The main purpose for using this solution however, is to please his date.

"After all preparations have been made and he is dressed, what is considered the latest style he drives all the way across town to pick up his date, when it will be much easier to meet her at some convenient midpoint.

"He has to find a parking place and go to the door to get her. (This way if it's raining they get wet.)

"He waits while she finishes dressing, he helps her on with her coat, he helps her with the door, he helps her across the street, he helps her into the car. All this he does as though she were unable to do it for herself.

"They then drive back downtown (what a waste of gas and tread). They stop at the theater where the fellow stops the car, gets out, runs around to the girl's side to open the door, helps the girl get in, finds a spot for her to wait while he runs back to the car, drives it to a parking place, and then runs back to the theater.

"Once in the theater lobby, he buys her some refreshments, takes her to a seat and helps her off with her coat.

"After the movie he walks back to get the car, and then drives back to his date where he gets out and helps her get in the car. It is customary that he ask her if she would care for something to eat, and if she says yes, the same courtesies are extended at the restaurant as at the theater.

"After they have eaten and has paid the check, he usually drives her straight home. When they get to the door of her home, he takes her key and struggles to open the door for her.

"He then turns to her and asks if he may have the privilege of doing it again sometime.

"Ah yes, it's a man's world."

'Auntie Mame' In Review

Michael Lewis (left), playing the role of a hutsman, is intrigued by the sprightly personality of Reida Ann Poe, playing the part of Sally McDougall, a scheming and disagreeable Dixie belle. Jerry Higgins, as Cousin Jeff, gives Sally moral support.

When Patrick Dennis' Auntie Mame visits the family of her amiable Southern fiance, Beauregard Jackson Pickett Burnside, she meets some very funny, though highly disagreeable, characters. A scene from the production of "Auntie Mame," pictures William E. Rackley as the gallant gentleman from Dixie to whom Mame is briefly married (left); Lucile Dew, who recently starred in the Playhouse production of "The Glass Menagerie," as Burnside's eccentric and domineering mother (seated); and Reida Ann Poe, as Dally Cato MacDougall, a scheming Southern belle.

Charles Thomas Jackson has his first big role with the East Carolina Playhouse in the long-run Broadway comedy hit "Auntie Mame." Jackson, a freshman, plays Patrick Dennis, as boy and man, the nephew whom the fabulous Auntie Mame "inherits" and brings up to manhood, with a gay abandon of conventional ideas of child-raising.

Getting her ear playfully tweaked above is Rachel Marshbourne in a scene from the comedy hit "Auntie Mame." Rachel in the role of Agness Gooch, Mame's shy, impressionable secretary, is pictured with Jim Rockey who as Brian O'Bannion, a ghost writer for Mame, lays siege to her affections.

A scene from the hilarious comedy "Auntie Mame" shows Minnie Gaster in the role of Mame and her nephew seated on a sofa. Director is Dr. Ralph H. Rives, the elaborate costuming is by Lois Garren, and settings are by Paul Minnis and Donald Sexauer. Performances are scheduled for 8:15 p.m. in the McGinnis Auditorium tonight and Saturday night. Tickets will be on sale at the Box Office there.

Administrators Attend Communications Workshop

A communications Media Workshop was conducted on campus yesterday for 22 public school administrators.

Discussion and demonstration of communications in the classroom and new developments in teaching tools was emphasized in the program.

Following speakers on audio visual aid, an afternoon session convened in Rawl with demonstration of such tools of instruction as projectors; display boards, lettering devices, and mounting techniques.

Nile F. Hunt, Director of Instructional Services, State Department of Public Instruction, closed the workshop with a summary of discussions and demonstrations. The Workshop is one of six similar events scheduled in the state during the present school year under the sponsorship of the N. C. Committee on Newer Educational Media of which Mr. Hunt is chairman.

Hooker Fills Aycock Presidential Vacancy

Melvin Mayo Hooker, Jr., was recently advanced from vice president to president of Aycock Dormitory. Melvin, a graduate of Augusta Military Academy and a freshman at East Carolina College, is majoring in business.

Melvin is also a member of the Student Government Association and the Men's Judiciary. During the summer of 1960, he bicycled to Los Angeles, California.

Only For Mature Personalities

Professor Condones Heterosexual Freedom

"Sexual Intercourse, with modern contraceptive medical advice readily available, should be condoned for college students sufficiently mature to engage in it," says Leo Koch in January Campus Illustrated, the new magazine for collegians.

A biology professor, ousted from the University of Illinois for his views on sex and the collegian, Dr. Koch advocates "a great deal more freedom for college students to decide for themselves, when and how, they are to indulge in their sexual desires." He also believes, "there are excellent reasons why collegians should engage in heterosexual relations before marriage."

Dr. Koch's reasons are mainly centered around individual health. "A healthy mature personality — healthy physically, emotionally and intellectually, is impossible without sexuality," says the professor. "Sexual organs are so basically integral to the human organism that they influence human behavior profoundly and inevitably."

Aware that the clergy's first outcry is that greater sexual freedom among unmarrieds would seriously increase the incidence of contagious venereal disease and of illegitimate pregnancy, Dr. Koch submits that "greater sexual freedom, when accompanied by intelligent educational measures, will decrease the incidence of both disease and immorality."

In Campus Illustrated, Dr. Koch states that the most important goal in liberalizing attitudes toward sex is not more sexual freedom for all, but rather a greater sense of self-responsibility and a more realistic attitude about sex. "College students can no longer avoid sex," he says. "They must choose to do so selectively. To be specific, they should not have sex with strangers, and they should not have sex for the wrong reasons."

Withey Holds Tryouts

Tryouts for the theatrical production, The Wages of Sin, were held Monday, Jan. 22 at 8:00 p.m. and the following Wednesday, Jan. 24 at 9:30 p.m. in McGinnis Auditorium.

J. A. Withey, Director of the EC Playhouse, urges both men and women students and faculty to participate in this special production.

Gross Announces Service Funds

D. D. Gross, Director of Religious Activities announced this week that he has $200 in his budget from the SGA which can be used by any organizations on campus to raise money for World University service.

This money can be borrowed to promote money making projects. All funds raised will be sent through the SGA to the Service.

World University Service is an international student organization fighting ignorance, despair, poverty and disease in the college community. It is a self-help program through which materials are supplied to staffs and students in need.

The program yields lodging, student health services and emergency aid, including refugee services.

Projects to raise funds for WUS must comply with college regulations.

Women Outwit Men In Scholastic Honors

Women have outwitted men. Or at least this appears true when looking at the three honor lists compiled by the college.

Of the 736 students on these lists North Carolinians number 678 and students from outside the state 60.

Forty-nine made the 'All A's' List. The Dean's List composed of undergraduates with at least two and one-half quality points per hour, with no grade below "C," held 196 students.

The Honor Roll, with 438 represented, is composed of undergraduates who made at least two quality points per credit hour, with no grade below "C."

LUCKY LUFFERS

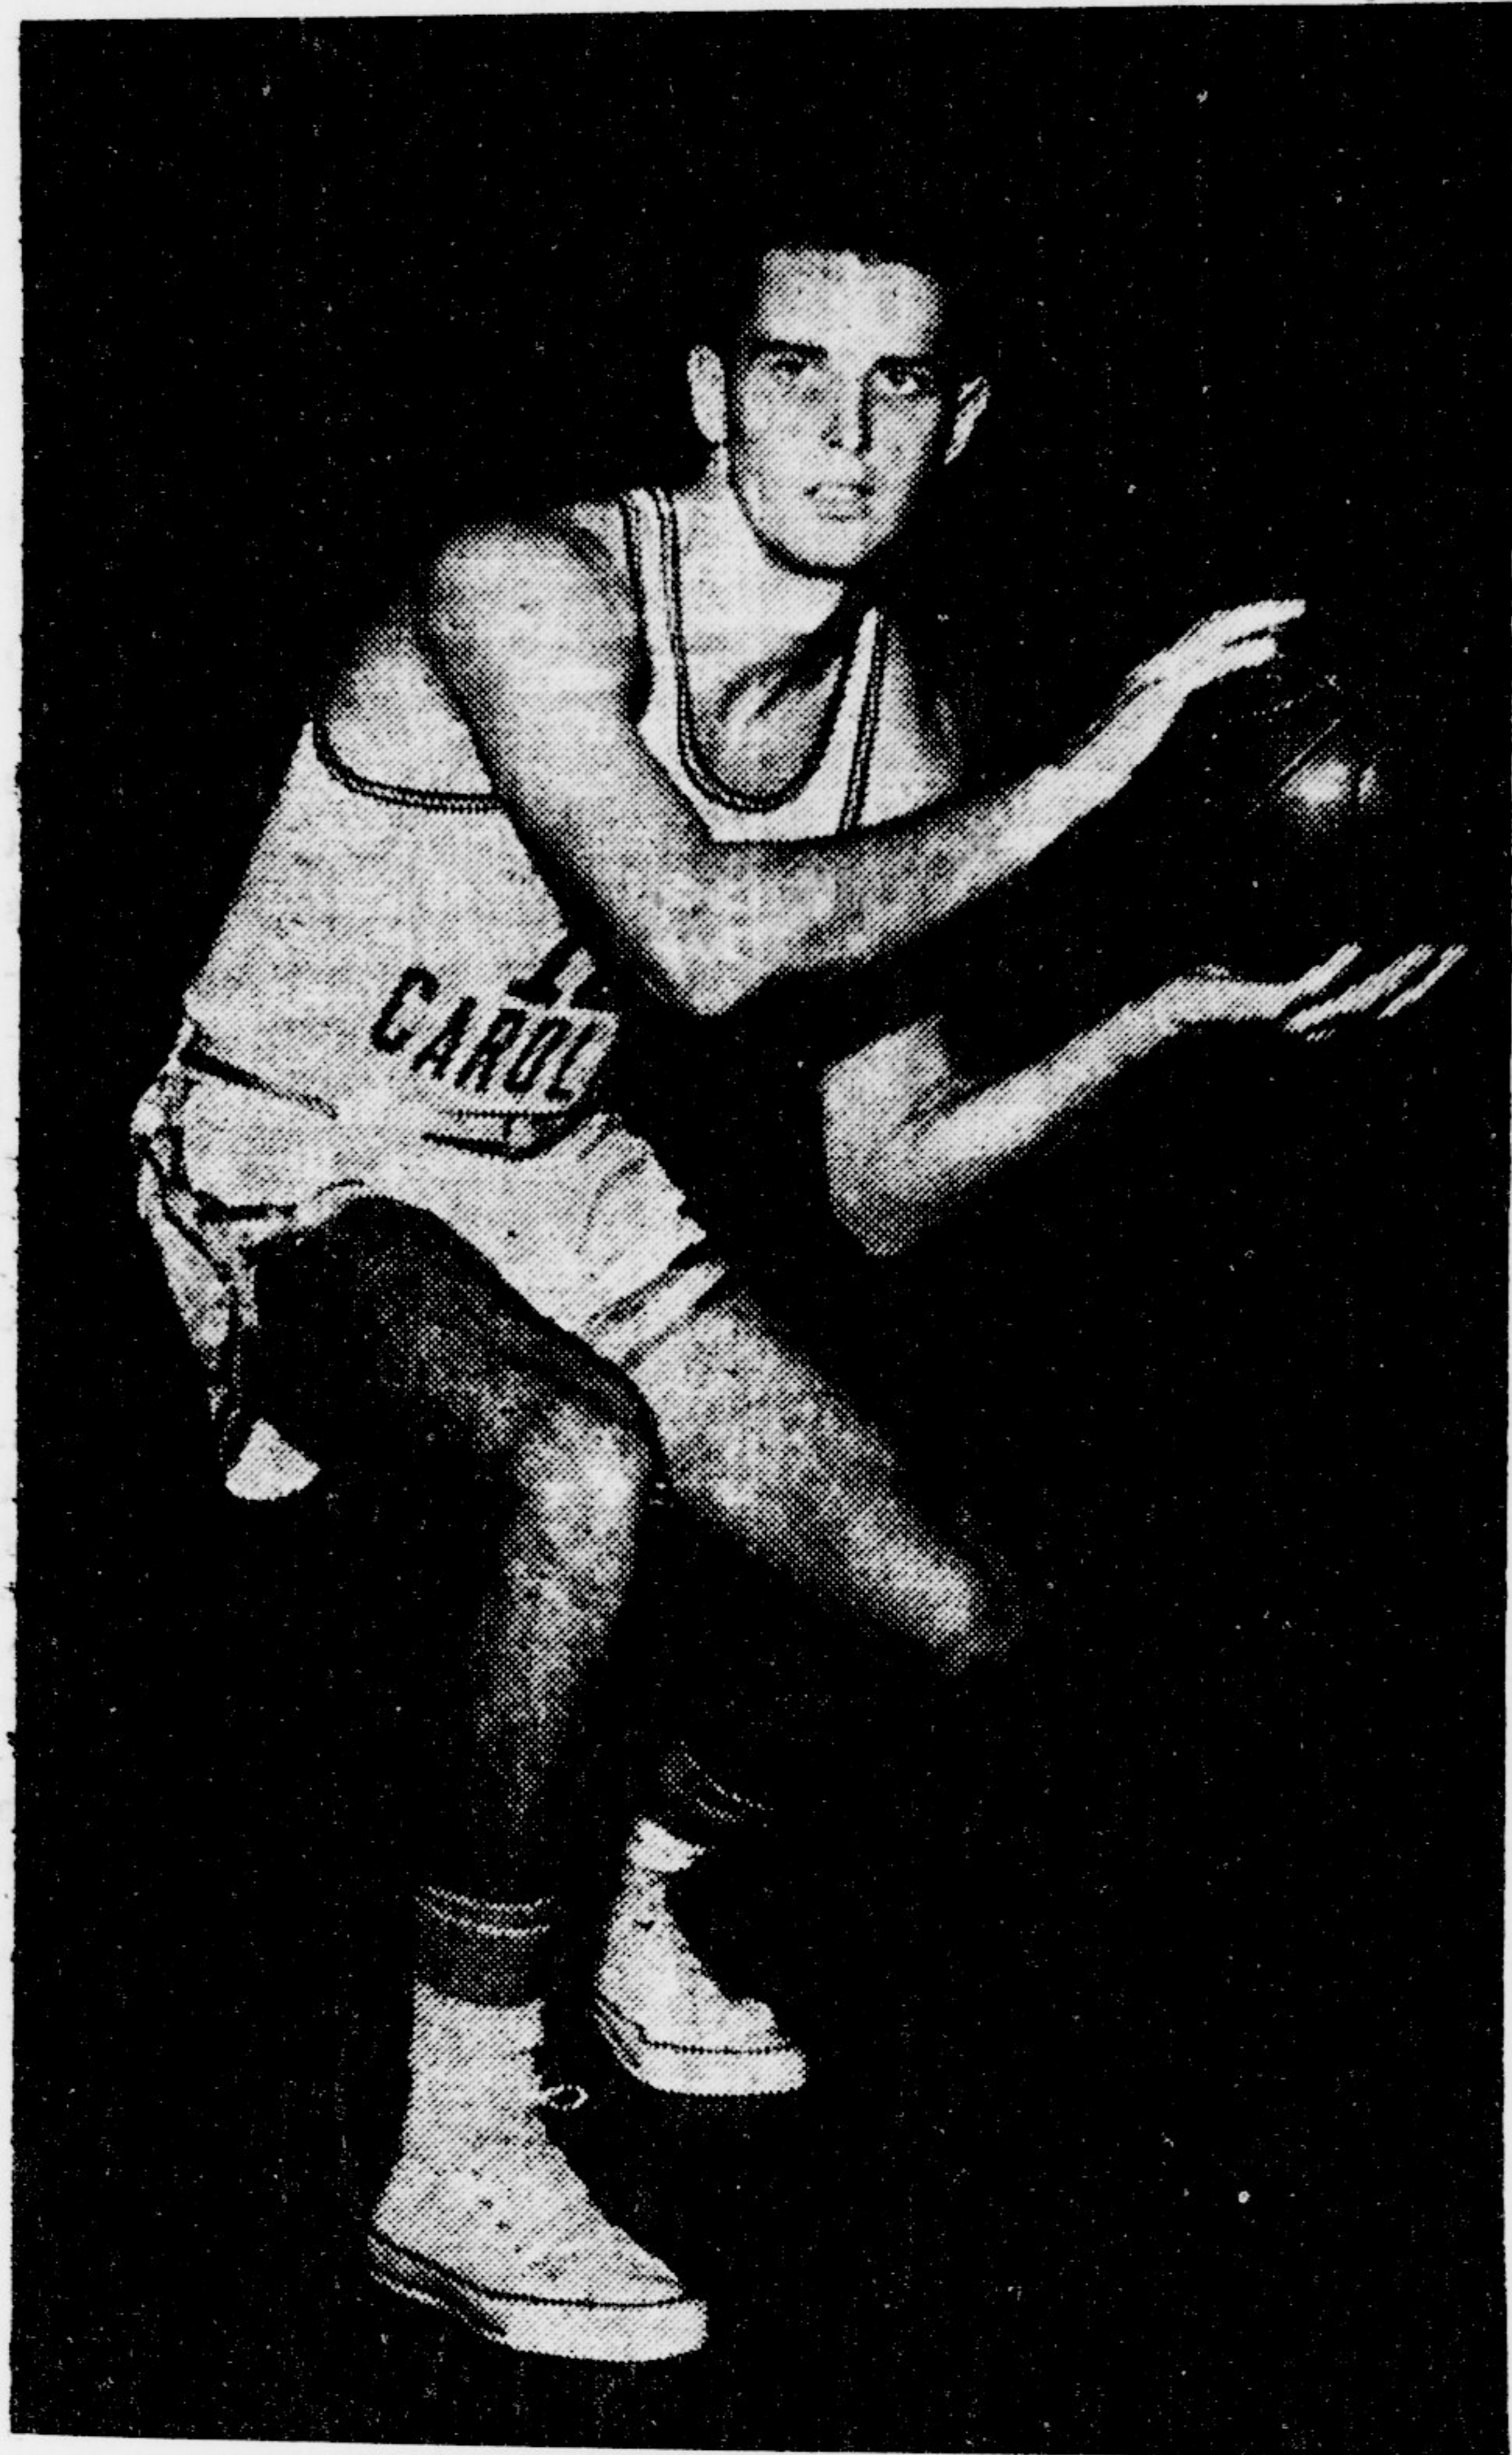

"AT THE PROM"

IF TOBACCO COULD TALK (and who is certain it can't?) it would beg to be placed in Luckies. However, we would turn a deaf ear. Only tobacco that can prove its worth will ever get in a Lucky. This may seem heartless—but it pays! Today, college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. We'd never be able to make that statement if we listened to every slick-talking tobacco leaf that tried to get into Luckies.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

Hosts Table Tennis Tournament

US Association Ranks 'North Carolina Open'

The U. S. Table Tennis Association has sanctioned the "North Carolina Open" table tennis tournament as having a "two-star" rating of importance in National competition for this season.

The N. C. Open, to be held on February 3rd, Saturday, at the Greenville Table Tennis Club on Dickinson Avenue, will be host to players from New York, Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., Va., Ga., S. C., and N. C. Many of these players now hold National rankings and have entered into international competition with teams from England, Russia, Canada, etc. In order to retain their present rankings or to advance their positions they must obtain a certain number of points by entering and winning sanctioned table tennis events.

This event, in being a "two-star" tournament, will allow players to acquire more points at one time than just entering a "one-star" event. For this reason players will travel hundreds of miles for a tournament of this type.

CU Announces Winter Tourney

The Collegiate Union announces that its quarterly Doubles Table Tennis Tournament will be held on Thursday, Jan. 25th., in the CU table tennis area.

This tournament is open to all players. Interested persons should sign up prior to starting time regardless of whether they have a doubles partner or not; players will be paired at the tournament.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners.

All interested persons may attend this event at no charge; further details as to the starting time and well known players to attend will be available later.

Otte's Decisive Bucket Clenches Two-Point Margin

WCC Traveling Violation Aids EC In Capturing Win

East Carolina's up and down Pirates nipped Western Carolina's Catamount's by a 62-60 margin Monday night on the latter's home court. Sophomore star Bill Otte won the contest in the final two seconds by hitting on a twenty foot jump shot for ECC. The New Jersey native ended his night's work with 27 points to pace the winner's attack.

The Bucs trailed by a 37-33 margin at the half way point, but stormed from behind to take the lead in the second half of play. With more than a minute to play in the close contest, WCC held to a two point lead before veteran Lacy West, playing a fine game, stole the ball and passed it to high scoring Charley Lewis who produced the lay-up that tied the game.

A traveling violation by WCC gave the Bucs another opportunity to score. With only less than a minute remaining on the scoreboard clock, EC played for one shot and the game was eventually climaxed by Otte's clutch two pointer from 20 feet out.

Besides Otte's 27, Lacy West hit for 13 to aid the EC cause and Ben Bowes scored 5 in the Pirate win. Lewis was held to 9 points, while Bill Brogden gathered 4, and Richard Williams scored 4 points. The Pirates return home next Saturday night to play the same WCC five.

Lewis, West Lead EC Pirates To 8-6 Record

Guard Charley Lewis and forward Lacy West have been instrumental in leading EC's Pirates to an 8-6 record overall, and league play. Lewis, a veteran Captain from Kingston, is averaging 16 points per game for ECC. West, who has been instrumental at a 10 point pace, has been playing with his floor play.

Both players are married. This is their third year as starters for the Pirates. While Lewis is a Junior, the former is only a Junior. The former is 6-1" and the latter is 6-3". Lewis averaged over 10 points per contest last season for the Pirates.

Kingery Stars In Swim Meet With NC State

EC's swimmers take to the road today to travel to Chapel Hill to swim against the University of North Carolina. The Tar Heels will be the favorites in the meet; they claimed a victory over EC at Greenville during a December meet.

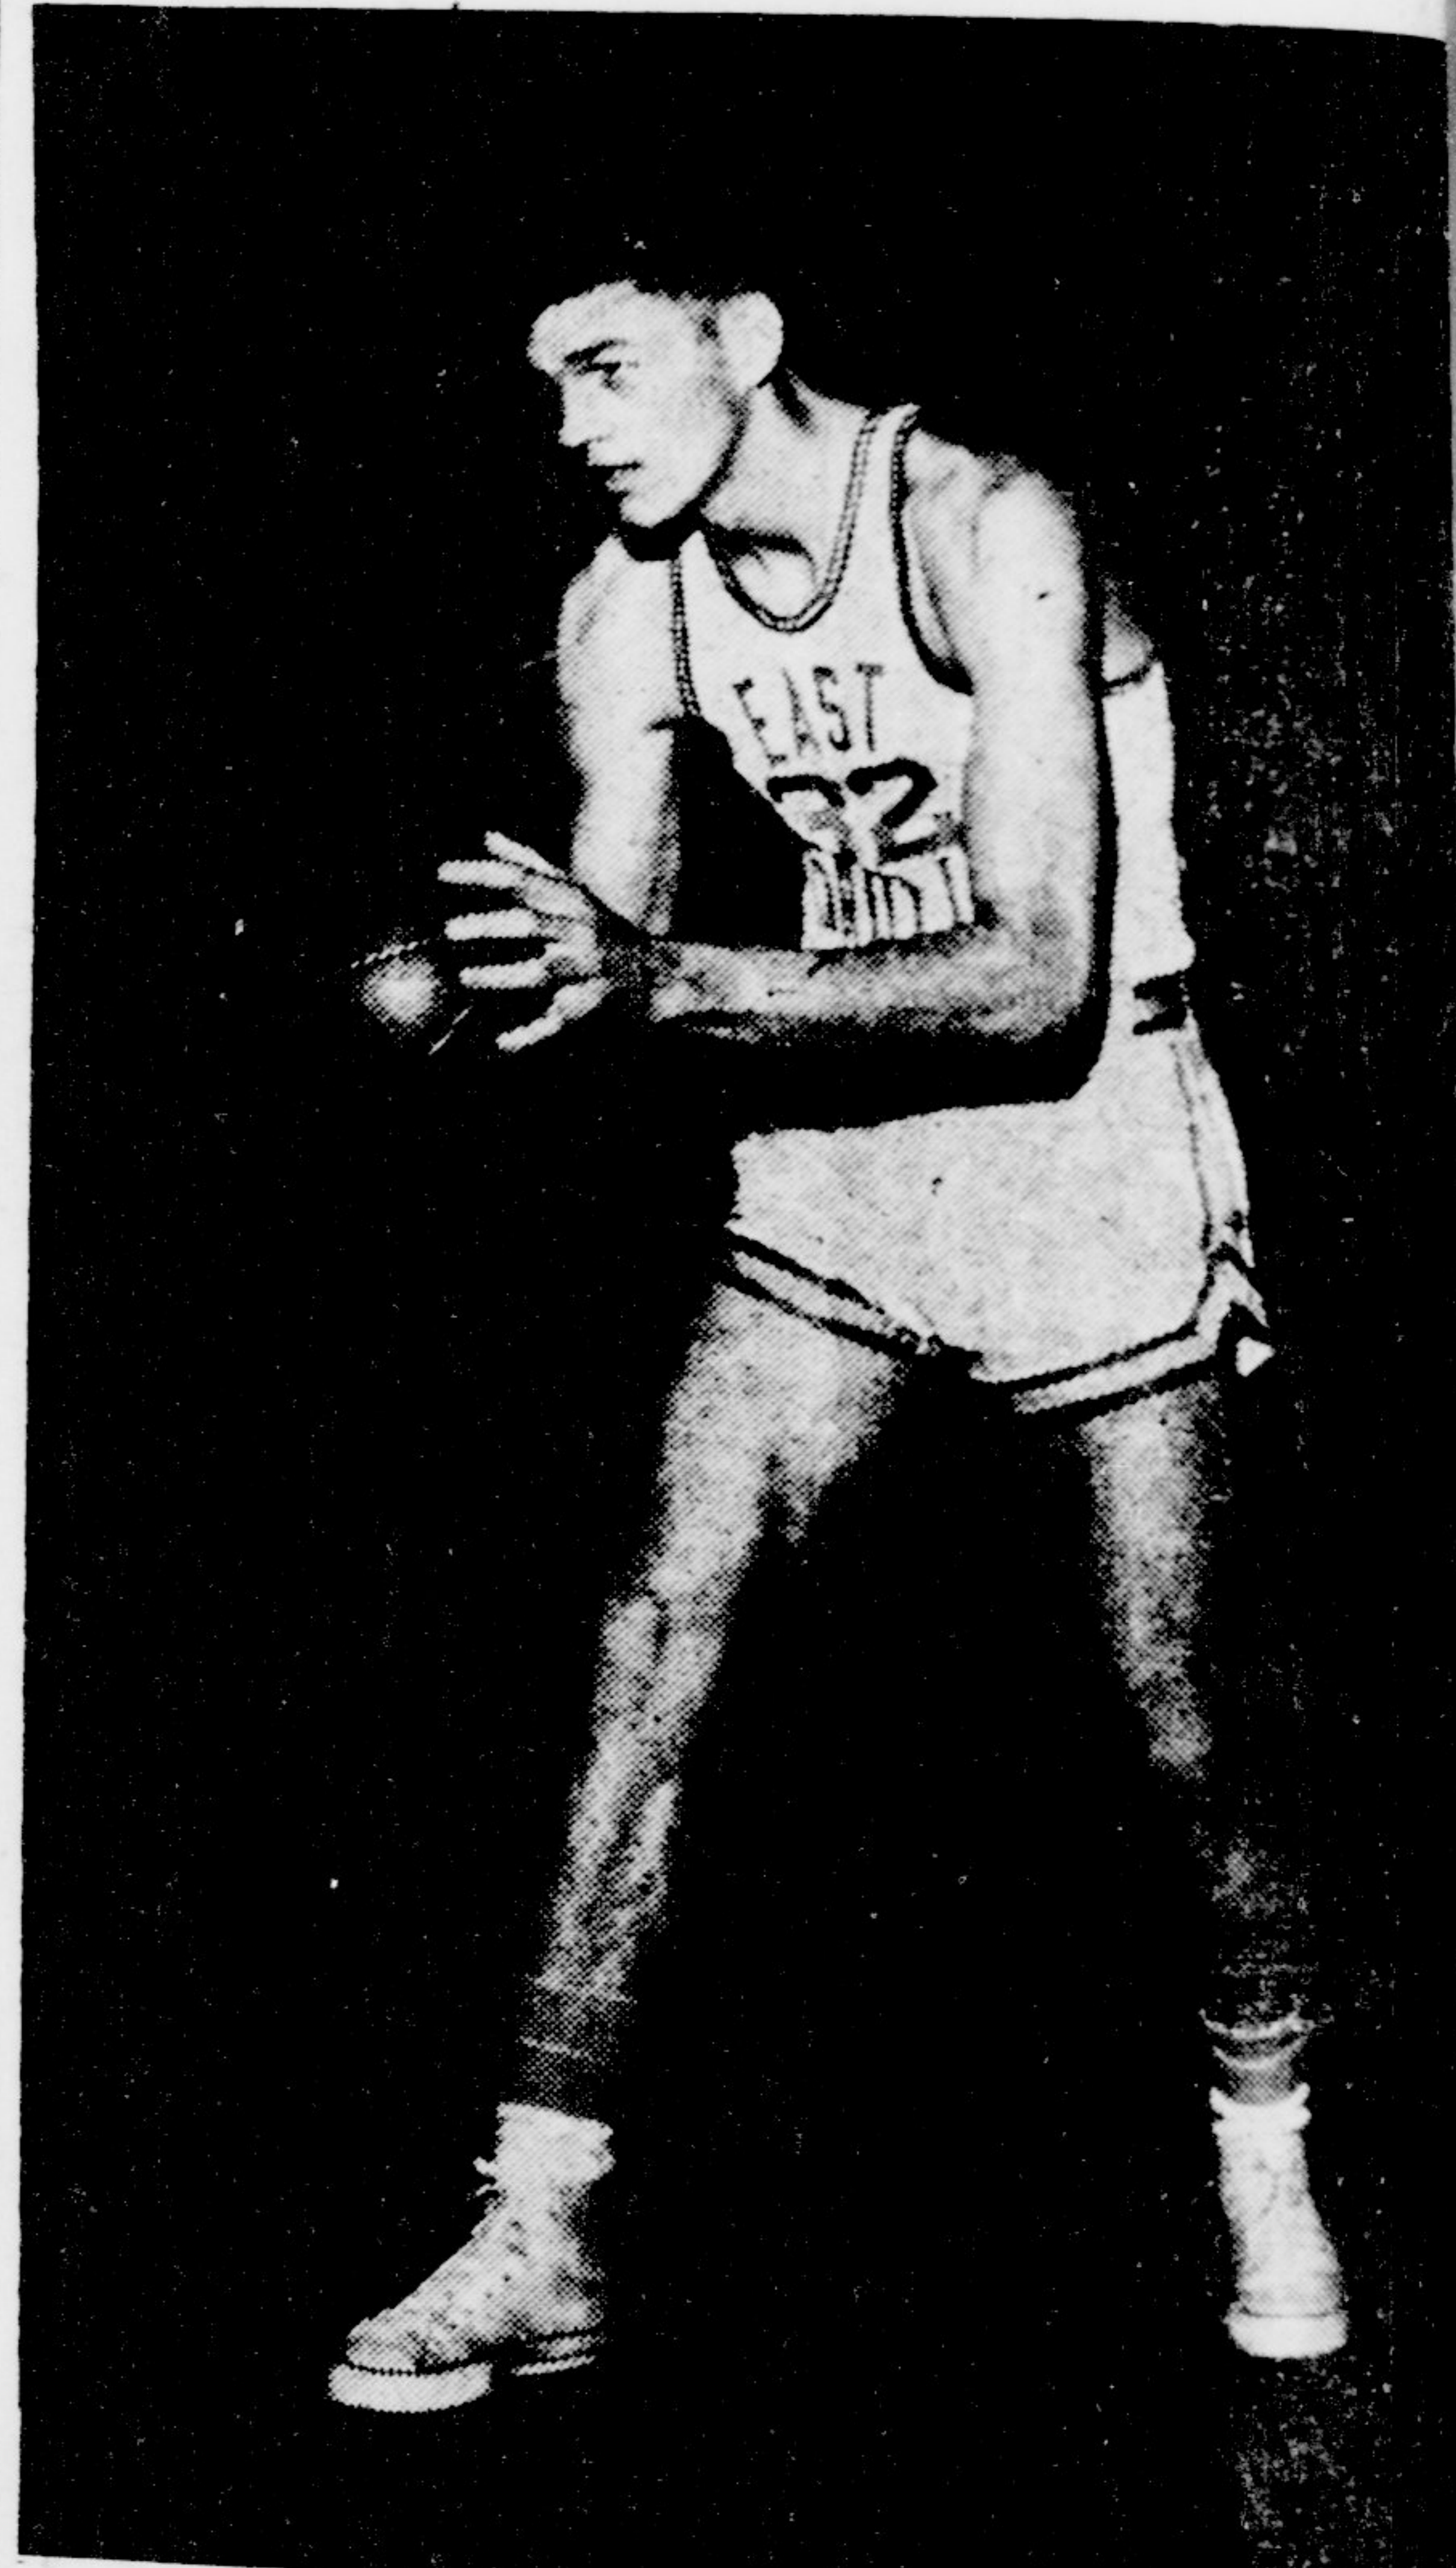

Coach Ray Martinez's crew lost to a fine North Carolina State Wolfpack team at Raleigh in their last dual meet. Ed Zschau and Bob Kingery continued to show up well for EC in this meet, as did the Pirate relay team. Probably, the most impressive of the EC swimmers has been Kingery from Norfolk, Virginia. The veteran Senior has proved to be one of the South's better divers and has only been beaten by Florida in diving competition.

In his last outing Kingery set a new pool and ACC record in the diving events held in NC State's pool. The Virginian has not been beaten by any swimmer from the Carolinas Conference, the Southern Conference, the Atlantic Coast Conference, and only once from the Southeastern Conference.

Intramural Swim Meet Scheduled

There will be an Intramural swimming meet Tuesday and Thursday, January 23-25. Events to be entered are the 100 yard medley relay, the 25 yard freestyle, the 25 yard butterfly, the 50 yard freestyle, the 50 yard backstroke, the 50 yard breaststroke, the 100 yard individual medley, the 200 yard freestyle relay, and diving events.

A student is allowed to enter only three events. Entrance sheets can be picked up at the respective fraternity houses or the local dorms. Contact Bill Nichols or Carrol Davis at PL 2-7384. Entrance sheets must be turned in at the intramural office in the gymnasium.

Lacy West, a rangy 6' 3" starter for Coach Earl Smith's winners cagers, has seen plenty of rugged action in the Carolina's Conference tilts. West, playing his third year for the Pirates, has earned a double figure average in season play.
