SGA Passes Budget Committee Requests

By MARCELLE VOGEL

Recommendations made by the Budget Committee to the student senate concerning additional appropriations to several organizations were all approved by the senate on Monday night.

The Budget Committee recommended that the East Carolinian be granted $20.00 for winter quarter for additional salary to the circulation staff. The East Carolinian had asked for $60.00 increase per year.

The SGA voted that appropriations for the Opera remain at $1,100.00, the amount allotted at the beginning of this school year. An additional $590.00 had been requested, bringing the total request to $1,690.00, to cover added expenses.

The YMCA and YWCA received no appropriations.

The Department of Religious Activities requested that their appropriation of $85.00 be spent for a broadcasting line into the "Y" hut, and for the writing contest for Religious Evaluation Week, in lieu of the previous request for funds for publicity and printed programs. The SGA passed their request.

NSGA Amendments Passed

The following amendments passed the SGA concerning changes in the Constitution of the North State Government Association. Besides having to be passed by a two-thirds majority vote of delegates attending the State meeting, the amendments must also be passed by a two-thirds majority vote of the SGA of member schools.

1. Each member school must send at least one freshman representative to each fall and spring meeting of the NSSGA. Originally there was no designated classification for the six students who represented their school.

2. All officers will be elected at the spring meeting upon nomination from the floor and by a simple majority vote of the voting delegates present and voting at the meeting. This was the former ruling, but the proposed amendment would add that: All names of the nominees for the office of President along with the qualifications of the nominee shall be submitted to the Executive Council at least one month before the spring Meeting.

Foreign Film

The next foreign film will be shown next Wednesday, Jan. 31, at 7:00 p.m. in Austin Auditorium. This is a Russian film, entitled "Ballad of a Soldier."

Heat Left On

Otis Strother, SGA President, announced that due to action taken by the senate, heat will be left on later in both the women's and men's dormitories

Hickfang, Hayes Direct Gounod's Opera 'Faust'

The opera "Faust," by Gounod, will be presented by the EC Opera Theater on Saturday and Sunday, February 10, 11, at 8:00 p.m.

This production, complete with orchestra, is under the musical direction of Donald Hayes and Paul Hickfang of the music department faculty, and will be given in McGinnis Auditorium.

Paul Hickfang is also stage director. The sets are being designed by Ray Minnis of the art department.

Grows Weary With Life

Faust is an aged philosopher, who, growing weary with life, decides to commit suicide. Summoning the devil he offers his eternal life in exchange for youth, in short he sells his soul to the devil.

"This opera should hold interest for everyone, because the story is interesting and fast moving, and the music is very enjoyable to listen to," said Mr. Hickfang.

Cast

Paul Hickfang will portray the Devil. Faust will be sung by Peter Johl and Bill Newberry.

Margarita is being performed by Alison Moss and Anne Vickery; Page Shaw and Gerald Teachy, Valentine, brother of Margarita.

The roll of Siebel will be sung by Martha Bradner and Betsy Bullard, and Bonnie Courin will portray Martha.

Wagner, a student, is sung by John Aldrich and William Modlin.

High School Students Spend Easter In Berlin

The Kennedy Administration has given hearty approval for approximately 1,000 American senior high school students to spend a week of their Easter vacation in West Berlin.

Arrangements are now being discussed between the West Berlin city government, Bonn, and Washington. The students will be the guests of the city.

Two Purposes

There are two main purposes for the proposed visit. First, the students will be able to view the "Berlin situation" first hand. Second, the officials believe that the visit will provide an impetus for plans to maintain West Berlin against the isolation the Communists are seeking to impose on it.

The students will not only sight-see around East and West Berlin, but will also attend lectures and seminars to acquaint them with the post-war history of West Berlin and the background of the present situation.

Mallory Receives Will Wynne Award

James B. Mallory, Dean of Men and Baseball Coach, was guest of honor at the Hot Stove League's annual banquet in Raleigh this past Wednesday.

Mallory was recipient of the Will Wynne Award to the North Carolinian who made an outstanding contribution to baseball in 1961. The winner of this annual award is selected by sports writers from all of the North Carolina papers.

The Will Wynne Award, usually given to a professional baseball player, was presented to catcher "Smokey" Burgess of the Pittsburgh Pirates last year, and to Roger Craig, pitcher of the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1959.

Championship Team

Mallory, during his eight years at EC, has piloted the Pirates to six North State Conference baseball championships. His 1961 team finished a successful season by winning five of six games at the national playoffs to bring home the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship.

Great Bunch of Boys

"This award was made possible," said Mallory, "through the great efforts and dedication of the E.C. baseball team when they won the NAIA Championship at Sioux City last summer." "They're a great group of boys," he added.

Coach of Year

Mallory was also named "Coach of the Year" by the Greensboro Daily News. This award went to Mallory for his part in bringing to North Carolina the only major athletic title won by a Tar Heel senior college in 1961. Last year the award went to Duke coach, Bill Murray. In 1955, 1956, and again in 1957 this award was given to Clarence Stasavich, new EC football coach.

Reiner Conducts Clinic Orchestra

This weekend EC will play host to the North Carolina All-State Orchestra, Clinic and Workshop, announced Earl Beach, head of the Music Department.

The clinic will be composed of two groups, the All-State Orchestra and the Workshop Orchestra. The former will be conducted by Robert Rimer, Supervisor of the Instrumental Music in Cleveland, Ohio. The Workshop group will be directed by Emerson Head of Wilmington.

Sunday Concert Planned

The orchestras will hold rehearsal Friday and Saturday, and will present a joint concert at 2:30 p.m. in Wright Auditorium on Sunday, January 28.

The All-State Orchestra will perform: "Rounds for String Orchestra," (1st Movement - Symphony No. 1), by Brahms; three dances from the "Goyne Ballet" by Khachaturian; and "Song and Dance in Old American Style," Krimer.

The Workshop Orchestra's program will consist of: Menvetto from "Symphony No. 5 in B flat," by Schubert; "Moto Pertetuo," Lotter; "El Relicario," Podilla; and highlights from "My Fair Lady," by Lowe-Bennet.

Lancaster Manages FM Radio Station Operations

The EC Radio and TV Committee announced Tuesday that campus radio station WWWS-FM will begin operations next Wednesday after being off the air since last spring. WWWS-FM will operate entirely separate of the AM station. Programming will be devoted primarily to serving the educational needs of the college community and to the advancement of educational type programs and non-commercial radio broadcasting.

Chuck Lancaster, former program director of the AM station was appointed manager by the Committee. "As station manager," Chuck explained, "my objectives are to transmit quality programs that will educate and entertain." Chuck has appointed Jerry Williams, Program Director and Jean Peace, Secretary. The remainder of the staff includes approximately fifteen students who are interested in radio announcing and programming.

Chuck announced that the type of music will differ from the AM variety. The FM station will feature jazz, instrumental swing, show tunes, instrumental mood, classical, and semi-classical. The station can also serve the college by providing publicity for college events and ideas.

Dr. Corrine Ricket, Director of Broadcasting on campus, will serve as an advisor for the FM staff. Studios will be located on the third floor of Austin Building and with offices in the library. Broadcasting hours will be between 2:58 p.m. and 10:05 p.m. with possible programming at the same time on Sundays.

The station is being re-opened under new management with a new constitution and objective. Staff members include: George Gardner, Don Barrow, Tommy Wallace, Lawrence Williams, Linn Harrell, Dale Jordan, Doug McMinn, Butch Edwards, Ed Zachau, Chuck Lancaster, Rick Brewer, Marie Gibbs, Dot Hall, and Charlotte Donat.

Little Teacher's College Travels Primrose Path

East Carolina College will have more athletic scholarships than the Carolinas Conference permits. In explaining that stand, ECC President Dr. Leo W. Jenkins said: "We feel we are not over-emphasizing our athletic program, but merely trying to get where we belong in view of our size and plans for the future."

Well, it would be entirely in order to wish Dr. Jenkins well in his trip down the path to athletic greatness, a point which he describes as where ECC belongs in view of its size and plans for the future. It would be well to hope for him, too, that he has a real chart of the various submerged reefs, and other hazards to educational navigation which are known to lurk along the path to athletic greatness.

Some heads of other colleges which have happily sniffed the primroses down such paths could tell him that emphasis can get out of hand a lot easier than it can be brought back under control. They could tell him that it would be a lot easier to go easy on emphasis than it would be to have to suddenly do a lot of de-emphasizing.

Dr. Jenkins and East Carolina may wind up on the top of the athletic heap without any trouble and without any of the heartaches and heartbreaks which have beset some others who set out with athletic greatness in mind. Let's hope so.—The Raleigh Times

Such bitter-sweet words as appeared in the foregoing editorial in the Raleigh Times, following EC's withdrawal from the Carolinas Conference, were surely anticipated. And as surely as they were anticipated . . . they appeared . . . without failure.

The same attitude was expressed towards EC as has been expressed time and time again on any move EC has made, athletic or otherwise. This same attitude still appears in the writings in Raleigh newspapers . . . columns and editorials written by men who probably haven't seen the campus and its expansion in years, and who probably couldn't tell you the present enrollment, and who still think of East Carolina as the little teacher's college in Greenville . . . isolated from other educational institutions in the state.

Perhaps the schools, which everyone knows are "grandly" backed by Raleigh papers, are receiving more competition from EC for the better high school students entering college than ever before. Of course, the emergence of new competition is a situation to be ill-received in some cases.

Why else the "bitter-sweet" words and attitude? Certainly, there is no fear of EC horning in where athletics is concerned. We're not headed for the Atlantic Coast Conference.

This time it happened to be withdrawal from the Carolinas Conference. Surely, with our present number of football scholarships, 38, complications unending would have set in if we had agreed to the limitations set by the Carolinas Conference . . . 22 football scholarships.

East Carolina withdrew from the conference as clearly stated . . . "because it could not effectly operate its grant-in-aid program under limitations set by the Carolinas Conference."

We hated to even bring it up, but prejudices such as these will continue to be expressed and we hope rebuffed by EC students and supporters.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

ANOTHER FIRST FOR OUR SORORITY—A DRESSING TABLE TO GET READY TO GO IN BY.

Editorial Staff Disapproves Unjust Criticism Of Article

By MONTY MILLS

Last Friday, the "East Carolinian" carried an article written by a former University of Illinois biology professor who advocates heterosexual premarital relations. The article, concerning a story which is published in the January "Campus Illustrated," has been labeled vulgar and sensational.

The editorial staff of "The East Carolinian" feels that Dr. Koch's opinion and our printing of the story have been unjustly criticized.

This is neither a retraction nor an apology; it is, we feel, a justification for the release of the story.

While premarital sex is socially prohibited in our culture, since it is in conflict with established social mores and certain individual convictions, we cannot deny that it exists nor is it taboo to discuss its existence. The fact that a phenomena exists that we do not accept, in accord with our own ideas and opinions, often forms the basis for unjust criticism. The article has, in our opinion, been unjustly criticized.

Dr. Koch's view on sexual freedom was not printed as a criticism of, nor in compliance with his opinion, but as an interesting and different slant on a controversial subject.

We, the editorial staff, feel that the article, regardless of whether or not it is contradictory to individual ethical and moral codes, should have been read objectively and not as a shocking or repulsive piece of vulgar, sensational journalism.

Playhouse Exhibits High Theatrical Standards

Remarkable Talent Brings Compliments

By GEORGE GARDNER

Nearly 100 Playhouse associates have demonstrated by Ralph Rive's production of "Auntie Mame" that EC has the talent to make a Speech & Drama major a huge asset to the college curriculum.

The high theatrical standards associated with the EC Playhouse were subjected to a severe test by the production of this fast paced, rollicking comedy. While the inherent slowness of southern speech somewhat limited the accelerated pace usually practiced by the professional, the huge cast charged about uninhibited, and the result was a rollicking good time.

Remarkable Talent

Miss Minnie Gaster in the title role and Tommy Jackson as her nephew, Patrick, are to be complimented for solid and sustained (3 hours) performances. With Miss Gaster and Mr. Jackson appeared other quite remarkable talent to which special attention seems in order.

Solo curtain calls to Bob Imamura as Ito, the houseboy; Howard Mallard as Mr. Babcock, the intolerant, financial scrooge; Lucille Drew as Mother Burnside (with the classic burp); and Rachel Marshbourne as Agnes Gooch, the 'budding' wall flower. And top honors for the night to two magnetic and polished performers, Reida Ann Poe as Sally Cato the trap setting southern belle; and Jim Rockey as O'Bannion, the erotic, Irish poet.

Notable Costumes

The costumes designed by Lois Garren were as notable as her excellent achievements as an actress. The scenery designed by Paul Minnis and Donald Sexauer was of first rate, professional standard.

It is hoped that we will see more of the artistry of these uniquely gifted people in future playhouse productions.

Unlike the critic who attended Wagner's "PARSIFAL," sat for what seemed three hours and glanced at his watch to find that only fifteen minutes had elapsed; this critic sat for what seemed fifteen minutes in "AUNTIE MAME" to find that three hours had elapsed.

Congratulations 100 times (better make that 101, in case I forget someone)!

Language Poses Problem For Foreign Students In U.S.

By KAYE BURGESS

African students in the United States must overcome many problems in order to obtain their education. Nevertheless, according to a recent survey conducted by the Institute of International Education, only 4% of the students are dissatisfied.

Problems encountered by Africans are similar to those of all foreign students. Understanding and using English was the number one problem listed by 21% of the

As they stayed longer, their problems changed. Difficulties with English, food, and adjustment almost disappeared with time, but later 27% of the students faced financial pressures.

Statistically, the composite African student is a 26-year-old single male from either Nigeria or Kenya, studying social science at the sophomore level. He would like to earn his doctorate but expects realistically, to return home after receiving his master's degree.

Quota Limitation System Unfair?

To the Editor:
Is the Panhellenic system quota limitation during Formal Rush fair? There are eight sororities on campus with approximately one hundred girls going through Formal Rush. At the present time this would give 12 or 13 girls to each sorority.

Panhellenic voted on the quota system at one of the meetings (subject to change) and now the Panhellenic advisor is asking to change the system without further vote of the council. I feel that the quota should be changed after the invitations are issued to the last parties; thus, lowering the number of girls that each sorority will be able to accept. A change in the quota system will hurt many of the rushers; many of the sororities will not be able to take all the girls they want.

The Panhellenic advisor said there is a sorority for every girl on campus, but some girls are not suited and would not be satisfied in every sorority on campus. Was a girl signs her preference sheet she may list three choices; however, by the last party most girls have decided on the one sorority for them and are not willing to settle for what they consider second best and this is the way it should be. If the quota is no lowered, the rushers will have a better chance to pledge the sorority they desire; however, if the quota is lowered many girls will be hurt.

If the quota is to be lowered during the Formal Rush then the number of girls in each sorority should be raised; thus, giving all sororities a chance to have a formal Rush in the spring.

One main factor behind the lowering of the quota system is the idea that it will equalize all eight sororities. How can this be? If sororities could be equal why not merge all eight and have one large sorority?

It is evident that the sororities on this campus cannot and will not be equal, and any attempt to equalize them will only hurt the sororities and girls involved.

AFROTC Marchathon Breaks Previous Record

Staging their Third Annual Marchathon for the Pitt County March of Dimes Campaign Saturday, members of the Honorary Drill Team of EC's Air Force ROTC detachment, broke previous records in continuous marching and collecting funds.

"Marching that others may walk," twenty-four cadets kept up continuous precision drill at the Pitt County Courthouse for 12 hours and 20 minutes and collected a total of $861.57 from spectators. Last year's top record was 12 hours and 5 minutes and a contribution of approximately $600.

Cadet Major Edward Farrell commanded the Drill Team Cadets, wearing blue uniforms and carrying 10-pound Browning M-1 rifles, attracted the interested attention of passers-by during the day in downtown Greenville.

The Cadets began their precision drill at 8:30 a.m. and kept up a march without intermission until 8:50 p.m., when they returned to the college campus. During the Marchathon they executed rifle movements.

Holt To Address Board Association

On January 30, Dr. Robert Holt, Dean of the College, will give a speech at the District Three State School Board Association.

This meeting, which will be held at New Bern High School from 4:00-8:15 p.m., will be attended by Board of Education members, superintendents, principals, and District committee men.

The meeting will consist of panel discussions and a business dinner. Dr. Holt will speak on the topic, "Maintaining Proper Perspective."

Travel-Study Tour Includes Visit To Seattle World Fair

Among chief highlights in entertainment during EC's 1962 Summer Travel-Study Tour of the Pacific Northwest will be a visit to the World Fair in Seattle, Washington, Dr. Robert L. Cramer, Professor of Geography and Director of the Tour, has announced.

The group of student-tourists will leave Greenville on June 11, and will return July 11 in time for the second term of summer school, he said.

Other attractions of the trip will include such scheduled events as a visit to Colorado Springs, a ride along the beautiful Columbia River, sightseeing in Glacier and Yellowstone National Parks, and a day in Chicago.

Much work is going into the detailed arrangements, Dr. Cramer said. It is anticipated that this will be one of the most interesting and successful tours ever offered by the college, he added. Nine hours of college credit can be obtained, from the freshman through the graduate level. Credits will count toward a bachelor's or a master's degree or toward renewal of teaching certificate.

Dr. Cramer reminds those who are considering the tour that last year capacity enrollment was reached by the end of March. At the rate applications for this year's tour are coming in, registration may be closed at an even earlier date this year, he said.

At the World Fair, Dr. Cramer explained, the East Carolina tourists will have opportunity to see exhibits developing the theme "The World of Tomorrow."

From the Fair grounds a large coliseum rises massively, and inside spectators may roam over four acres of displays from all parts of the world.

An unusual galaxy theater transports the audience to a space platform 90 feet above the coliseum ground level and gives one the illusion of soaring to the rim of the universe. When the viewer returns to ground level he goes past a sight and sound preview of man's environment in the Twenty-first Century.

Another attraction of the Fair is the slender 600 foot space needle with its celestial observation deck and revolving restaurant. The restaurant makes one complete turn each hour, presenting to the diners a beautiful panorama of Seattle.

Any questions regarding the tour should be addressed to Dr. Robert Cramer. A descriptive folder and application are available either from Dr. Cramer, Department of Geography, or the Extension Office, Box 307, East Carolina College.

THE TRUE AND TRAGICAL TALE OF HAPPY JACK SIGAFOOS

Who would have thought that Happy Jack Sigafos, the boy the sky never rained on, would teeter on the edge of a life of crime?

Certainly there was no sign of it in his boyhood. His home life was tranquil and uplifting. His mother was a nice fat lady who hummed a lot and gave baskets to the poor. His father was a respected citizen who could imitate more than 400 bird calls and once saved an elderly widow from drowning in his good suit. (That is, Mr. Sigafos was in his good suit; the elderly widow was in swimming trunks.) Happy Jack's life was nothing short of idyllic—till he went off to college.

Here Happy Jack quickly became a typical freshman—tweedy, seedy, and needy. He learned the joys of rounding out his personality, and he learned the cost. His allowance vanished like dew before the morning sun. There were times, it grieves me to report, when he didn't even have enough money for a pack of Marlboro Cigarettes—and you know how miserable that can be! To be deprived of Marlboro's matchless flavor, its easy-drawing filter, its subtly blended tastiness, its refreshing mildness, its ineffable excellence, its soft pack or flip-top box—why, it is a prospect to break the heart in twain!

Marlboro-less and miserable, Happy Jack tried to get more money from home. He wrote long, impassioned letters, pointing out that the modern, large-capacity girl simply could not be courted on his meager allowance. But all Jack got back from home were tiresome homilies about thrift and prudence.

Then one dark day a sinister sophomore came up to Jack and said, "For one dollar I will sell you a list of fiendishly clever lies to tell your father when you need some extra money."

He gave Jack the list of fiendishly clever lies. Jack read:

1. A bunch of us fellows are getting together to buy a new house for the Dean of Men.
2. A bunch of us fellows are getting together to buy a headstone for Rover, our late beloved dormitory watchdog.
3. A bunch of us fellows are getting together to endow a chair of Etruscan Art.
4. A bunch of us fellows are getting together to build our own particle accelerator.

For a moment poor Jack was tempted; surely his father could not but support all these laudable causes. Then Jack's good upbringing came to the fore. He turned to the sinister sophomore and said, "No, thank you. I could not deceive my aged parent so. And as for you, sir, I can only say—fie!"

Upon hearing this the sinister sophomore broke into a huge grin. He whipped off his black hat and pasty face—and who do you think it was? None other than Mr. Sigafos, Happy Jack's father, that's who!

"Good lad!" cried Mr. Sigafos. "You have passed your test brilliantly." With that he gave Happy Jack a half million dollars in small bills and a red convertible containing power steering and four nubile maidens.

Crime does not pay!

Money and girls haven't changed Happy Jack. Except for the minor bulge in his cashmere jacket caused by (1) a pack of Marlboros and (2) a box of Marlboros, he's the same old Sigafos.

Education Center Encourages Asian Research Study

The East-West Center at the University of Hawaii is offering 50 scholarships, 100 of which are for American students interested in Asia.

An outstanding feature of the scholarship, is that in addition to board, books, tuition, fees, incidental allowance, health insurance, and round-trip transportation, a three-month academic tour to Asia is given each degree candidate to enable him to complete a thesis research in his field.

Most of the grants available for Americans concern Asia and are focused primarily on the study of an Asian language.

Some of the fields of study in which scholarships are offered are: Asian studies, overseas operations, East-West philosophy, Japanese, and international relations and comparative government.

Candidate eligibility is based on high academic achievement, excellent health, ability to relate to Asians, and demonstrated interest in contributing to the objectives of the center.

The deadline for applications for the 1962-63 academic year is March 1, 1962.

For further information, write: Director of Student Programs, East-West Center, University of Hawaii, Honolulu 14, Hawaii.

Sig Ep Installs Officers, Names Winter Pledges

Kappa chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity installed five new officers for the coming year, and officially pledged seven members, January 22.

Sam James was installed as president of the fraternity and serving with him will be: Bill Williams, vice-president; Ronald Helms, treasurer; Walker P. Norford, recorder; and Bill Brinkley, corresponding secretary.

Pledges, recognized after Winter Rush, are Charles Guthrie, Ron Nolf, Dwight Pearce, Bill Roberts, Billy Shands, George Woodall, and Wendell Worthington.

Plans are now being completed for a formal Founder's Day Ball which will be held February 10. Sigma Phi Epsilon is also planning to attend the Carolina Ball, an annual celebration which is attended by men from the eight Sig Ep chapters in North Carolina and one chapter in South Carolina.

Pre-registration will be held January 29-February 2, announced Dr. Holt, Dean of the College. At this time students must register for classes in their department.

Phi Sigma Pi Hears City VOA Officer

Phi Sigma Pi National Honor Fraternity was recently addressed by Mr. David H. Sencindiver, administrative officer of the Greenville Voice of America plant.

Mr. Sencindiver traced the history of the V.O.A. starting with its foundation in February of 1942 and carried up to the present. He then commented on the use of the Greenville V.O.A. plant.

Mr. Sencindiver pointed out that over one million dollars per year will be added to Greenville as a result of this plant.

"Golly, I just can't decide which one I like best, mused rushees as they relax at a sorority rush party.

"Now, I'll tell you why I..." Sandee Denton, sorority member, makes an impressive argument listing a hundred and one reasons why she feels sorority life is advantageous.

Increase Of U. S. Youth Overseas Denotes Need For School Personnel

Due to an increase of overseas young American children with the need for an education, the Army expects the need for over 1600 new school personnel for overseas assignments.

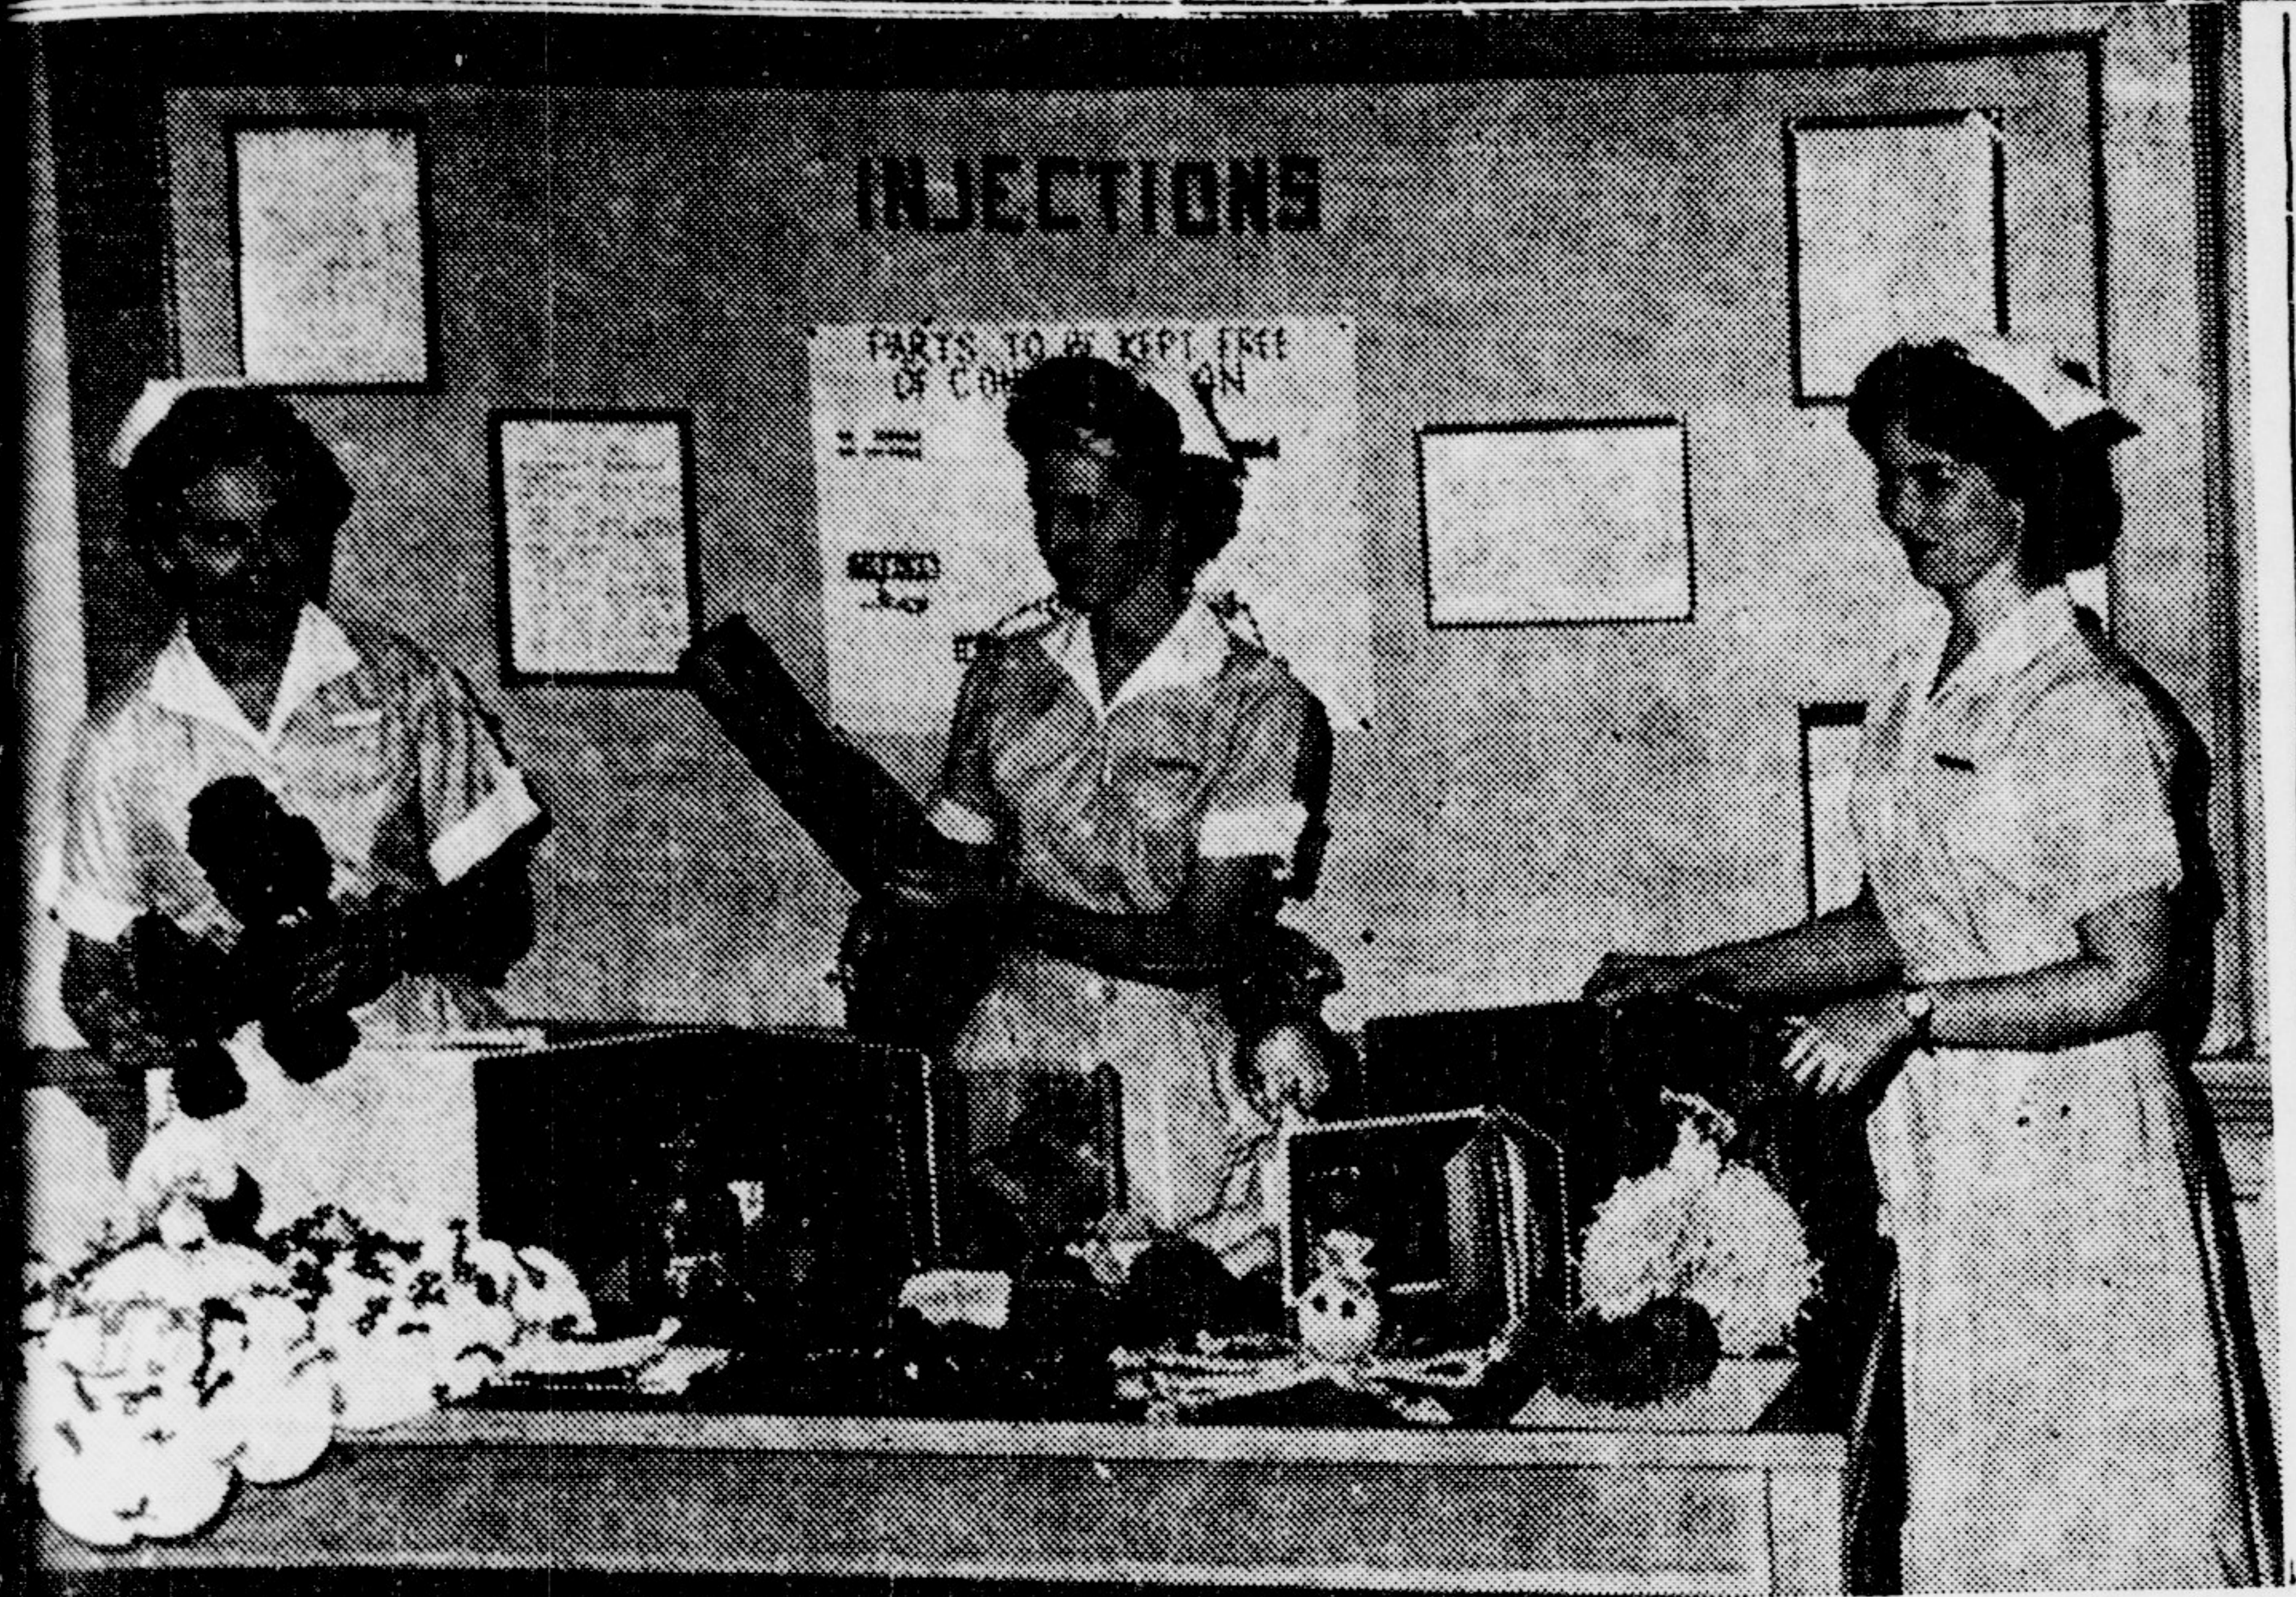

The Army operates schools for over 68,000 American children in Ethiopia, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Korea, and Okinawa. It endeavors to give these children, of Army and civilian employees serving in the various countries, advantages equal to those they would have in the U. S.

By 18 the Army will be conducting a nationwide interview to fill the needed positions.

Pamphlets are available in the Placement Bureau Office for anyone wishing further information about an overseas teaching position.

Noted Social Biologist Lectures Here In April

Dr. Paul Popenoe, one of the most distinguished and widely known authorities on family relations and marriage counseling in this country, will give a series of four lectures here April 25 and 26.

Plans for his visit to the campus are now being made by Dr. George A. Douglas, chairman, and other members of the Family Life Committee of the College.

announced today by Dr. Douglas, will be: "Psychology and Sex Differences" and "Is There a New Morality," on April 25; and "Marriage Is What You Make It," especially for engaged and married couples, and "How Do You Know You're In Love?" on April 26.

During recent years he has devoted much of his time to the promotion of education for marriage and family life in schools and colleges in the United States. He has lectured at nearly 200 colleges and universities. For fourteen years he was lecturer in biology at the University of Southern California and has taught special courses at summer sessions of a number of institutions, including Teachers College, Columbia University.

He is the author of numerous articles on social biology and of more than a dozen books.

Letters of application for the editorship of the East Carolinian Spring Quarter, and Fall and Winter Quarter of the 1962-63 school year should be submitted to Dr. James Tucker, Chairman, Publications Board, Administration Building.

South Lacks Needed Trained Personnel

By WINFRED GODWIN, Director

Southern Region Education Board Today the South faces a shortage of one of its most valuable human resources . . . trained professional personnel in fields vital to the region's welfare.

Among the people most concerned about this shortage are professional people themselves, they have turned to education guidance in relieving the short-

At a recent meeting of officers of the medical society in one of the larger metropolitan areas, the assembled physicians showed great interest in one method for stepping up production of doctors and other professional men and women in the South. That method is year-around operation of colleges and universities in the region.

Pro-Argument

A big argument in favor of year-around operation is the length of time it takes Southern young people to complete their formal academic training. Today 35 per cent of the nation's college graduates are working for advanced degrees. It takes a college teacher from one to ten years to earn a Ph. D. It takes about 10 years to earn an M. D. and to develop a specialty, which means that both college professors and doctors are in their 30 years old before they have completed their formal schooling.

Year-round operation of the region's schools would mean that undergraduate training could be finished in three years and that professional training could be stepped up accordingly.

Another often heard argument favoring a new school calendar is that with year-round operation of the schools we could educate the equivalent of another full class of students each year without increasing residential or classroom facilities. This argument carries weight in a region which must prepare for an enrollment of 1,700,000 students by 1970.

At its last session, the legislature of Florida took action to put all schools of the state university system on a year-round calendar. Before deciding this method of operation, the Florida Board of Control set up a criteria by which any system would be judged. Among those it considered most important, the system must allow maximum time for instruction with minimum time for academic housekeeping, and must permit organization of student work load in units which are manageable and efficient.

Florida Plan

The Florida Board of Control decided that a trimester system could best meet its criteria in that state. Beginning in 1962, the universities will operate three trimesters of 15 to 16 weeks in length. The first trimester will begin with registration September 5-8. Classes will begin on September 10. A four-day Thanksgiving holiday will begin November 22 and the trimester will end with a Christmas vacation from December 22-January 2.

Second trimester of the calendar will begin January 3-5 and will end with spring vacation April 19-24. The third period will begin April 25-27 and will end with final exams August 5-9.

Old Idea

Florida is still working out details of faculty employment during the new calendar year. In other institutions where the trimester system is in effect, faculty members are required to teach four terms every two years, but they can put two vacations back-to-back and get the equivalent of a sabbatical with pay about every other year.

The three-year college operated in trimesters is not a new proposal. It was successful half a century ago at Harvard, Yale's Sheffield Scientific School, John Hopkins and Clark. Today the reasons for such a system in the South are far more pressing than they were then.

Pirates Host WCC Catamounts Tonight

Freshman, Richard Williams, will be a possible starter for Coach Earl Smith's five against WCC tonight; game time is 8:00 p. m.

Pirates Battle Pfeiffer Away Tomorrow Night

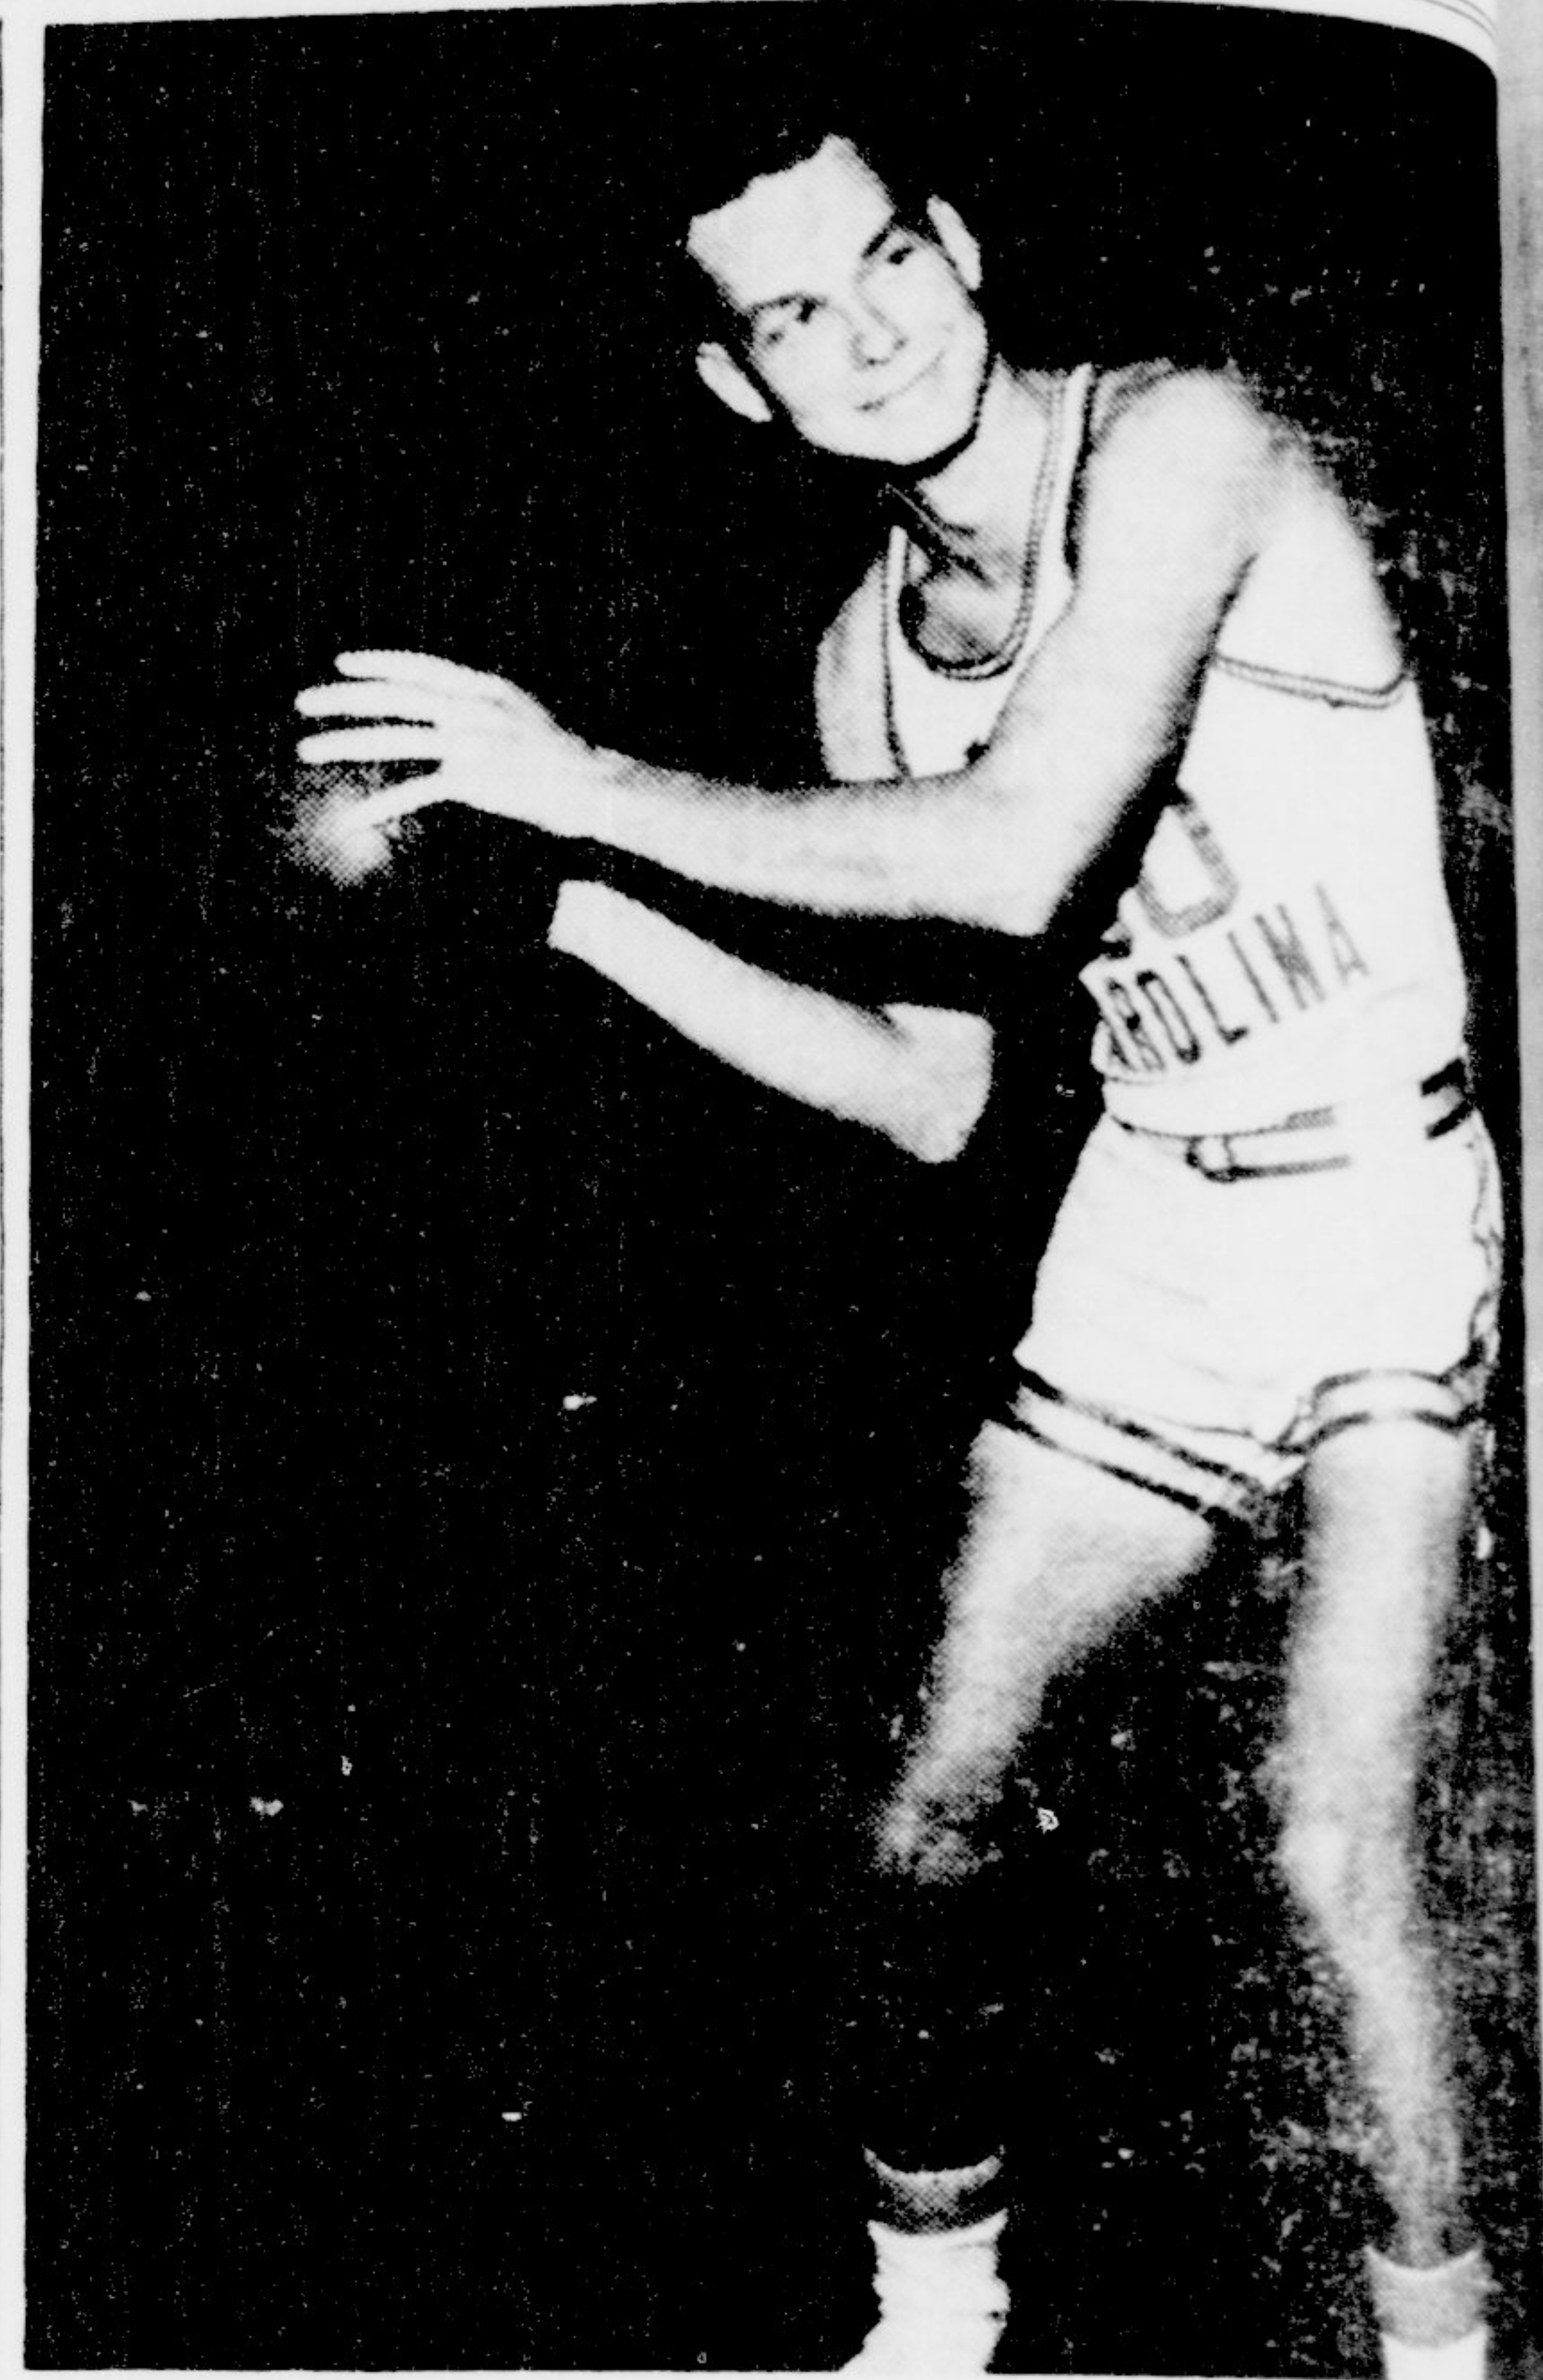

After three weeks on the road, Coach Earl Smith's five return to face Western Carolina's Catamounts at 8:00 p.m. tonight in Memorial Gymnasium. The Pirates nipped Elon's Fighting Christians 62-60 in their last home game three weeks ago.

Probable starters for the EC cagers will be Charlie Lewis, Lacy West, Bill Otte, Bill Brogden, and Richard Williams or Dan Bowen. Due to a recent ankle injury, Benny Bowes, star forward and co-captain, will not see action in the EC-WC contest. In an earlier game this season, the Pirates defeated the Catamounts by a slim, two-point margin.

Battle Pfeiffer Away Saturday

The Bucs hit the road again Saturday night when they journey to Meisenheimer to take on the Pfeiffer Falcons, and they return home Tuesday to host the Mountaineers from Appalachian. EC has not played Pfeiffer this season, but they trimmed the Mountaineers in an earlier game. On February 2, EC travels to Blacksburg, Virginia for a meeting with the Virginia Tech Gobblers, and they return home next Saturday night to take on the arch-rival Atlantic Christian five.

In last Tuesday's EAST CAROLINIAN it was stated that EC operates under 15 basketball scholarships. This was a misprint in that the Buc cagers operate with only 10 scholarships and that is the maximum.

Freshman, Bill Brogden, is expected to answer the call at guard positions when the Bucs take to the hardwood tonight.

Buc Wrestlers Meet Pfeiffer In Initial Home Attraction

Coach Odel Welborn's 1961-62 wrestlers will meet Pfeiffer College here, February 8, for their initial home engagement.

The East Carolina wrestlers lost their only meet to William-Mary in Norfolk in a close match. The Pirates are led by Bob Tugwell and Bernie Colorado.

The only other match the Bucs have wrestled was against the Wolfpack from North Carolina State, an exhibition contest that the State wrestling squad won.

VPI Swimmers Here Tomorrow For Contest

Coach Ray Martinez's EC swimmers are at home tomorrow afternoon, swimming the Virginia Tech Gobblers, a representative of the Southern Conference. The Bucs have already conquered two foes this week in duel competition.

EC out swam Appalachian Monday afternoon and defeated William-Mary from Norfolk, Virginia Thursday afternoon.

In addition to these two victories, the EC swimmers claim victories over VMI and Wake Forest, while Buc losses have come by defeat by UNC twice, and North Carolina State once.

Sigma Nu Wins Intramural Swim

The men's intramural swimming meet was held Tuesday night in the EC pool. Fraternity competitive scores were as follows:

Results of the intramural swimming competition placed Sigma Nu in first place with 36 points, followed by Pika's 21, Kappa Alpha's 14, and Theta Chi's 10 points.

Scholarship Limitation Spurs EC's Withdrawal

At a meeting of the Carolina's Conference in Salisbury last Monday, EC withdrew from the conference. The withdrawal, which will become effective June 30, will not be official until the Carolina's Conference has accepted it, as a matter of procedure, at the spring meeting in May.

EC's departure from the conference was based on a scholarship limitation which calls for only twenty-two football scholarships in Carolina's Conference play. EC, at the present time, has 38 grid scholarships and would like to increase that number.

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, representing East Carolina at the meeting of the conference presidents, stated that EC's athletic team could not afford to stay in the conference because of their expanding program, which would see an increase in the Southern Conference in 1963. Jenkins announced, "We are not over-emphasizing athletic program, but are trying to get where we belong in view of our size and our future."

EC will be playing intercollegiate football next season. They will prepare the team for the 1963 season when the Bucs should be competing in the Southern Conference. EC will schedule many South Carolina teams in all sports in order to meet the 1963 challenge.
