Assisting her will be Kaye Burgess as Assistant Managing Editor, and returning to help with make-up after a three-month absence will be Jim Kirkland, past photographer.

Bill Griffin, a sophomore English major, will take over the duties of Associate Editor for the new term. Bill has worked on the EAST CAROLINIAN as Campus Editor. He will be in charge of all news submitted for publication. Taking over the duties of following the Pirate athletics will be Desi Ray, a sophomore business major. Danny has worked on the paper as Proofreading Director. He hopes to offer the students a wider and more extensive, up-to-date coverage of college athletics.

be in charge of Proofreading, and Sandee Denton, a freshman social studies major will handle subscriptions and exchange for the EAST CAROLINIAN.

New Policies

Several new policies have been instituted to give the students and faculty added benefits of campus news and information. A classified ad section and bulletins from the Administration Building, publicizing official announcements, are new policies from the Editor's office. These new policies, to be initiated in the next edition, will be of a special help in locating lost and found articles, selling and purchasing personal items, and informing the students and faculty of important announcements from the Administration.

'Gervaise' Plays Here Thursday

The fourth film of the current International Film Series will be presented Thursday, March 15 at 7 p.m. in Austin Auditorium. The film, entitled "Gervaise," is based on Emil Zola's novel L'Assommoir (The Dram Shop).

Winner of numerous awards in the Venice Film Festival, the film traces the adult life of Gervaise Macquart, beautifully portrayed by the German actress Maria Schell. Gervaise is a cripple from the south of France.

The film faithfully recreates the tragedy of the indigent working class of Paris around the middle of the last century. Brilliant photography illuminates the squalid, reeking slums of the era. However, the director has also interjected compassionate human scenes, filled with humor and affection.

'Believes In Everything'

'Brother Dave' Offers Famous Comedy Satire

Dave Gardner

Dave Gardner, the newest of the angry young humorist school of nightclub entertainers, will appear Friday, March 16 at 8:15 p.m. in Wright Auditorium.

Gardner's comedy routine consists of monologues in his "way-down-on-the-farm" accent which has brought him comparison to Will Rogers, but his peculiar brand of humor is all his own.

"Brother" Dave's satirical social commentary is a result of his philosophy of "believing in everything" which allows him to criticize everything. This humorous criticism has been wholeheartedly welcomed by audiences everywhere, and his two RCA Victor albums, "Rejoice Dear Hearts" and "Kick Thy Own Self" are well up on the charts.

Gardner's routines draw heavily on such sources as Hindu philosophy, the writings of Harvard theologian Paul Tillich, and the speech patterns of jazz musicians, beatniks, Butterfly McQueen, and the late Jeeter Lester.

Student Legislature Chooses Bill Eyerman President

A delegation of twenty-one EC students, headed by Bill Eyerman and sponsored by the SGA, brought honor to EC Saturday when Bill was elected the new president of the State Student Legislature of North Carolina and the joint resolution between EC and the Duke men was adopted.

The 350 student legislators from approximately 20 N.C. colleges and universities held meetings Thursday through Saturday at the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh. They met to discuss state, national, and international policies of government. The resolution presented by EC and Duke concerned U. S. economic, military, and political stability through acceptance in the European Economic Community. The resolution was presented to the legislature by EC student Bryan Bennett.

Governor Sanford welcomed the student legislators to Raleigh and expressed the importance of the college student's role in politics. President Jenkins also spoke to the students urging them to continue to formulate political ideas and to express them openly. Other officers who were elected to serve under Bill include: Dwight Weelis of UNC, vice president; Warren Veasy of St. Augustine, secretary; and Frances Knight of Meredith, corresponding secretary. At a later date, Bill will appoint the officers not elected at the meetings.

Attending SSL from EC were Tommy Mallison, Merle Summers, Jerry Fulford, Gil Raderman, Bryan Bennett, Jimmy Chesnut, Kenn Trogdon, Burke Stancil, Ralph Shoefield, Joe Brannon, Patsy Elliott, Donna Bingham, Dinah Nibbelink, Jayne Chandler, Carol Daugherty, Brenda Reges, Cathy Shesso, Betty Lane, Judy Whitfield, and Stephanie Paschel.

Application forms and complete directions may be obtained by writing to the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. The fee for taking this exam is $12.00.

The National Teacher's Examination, a requirement for any senior or graduate student who plans to become a certified teacher, will be given April 14.

Applications may be secured in Rawl 143 or at the schools where the student is practice teaching. Applications are due at the college testing center, Rawl 143, March 23. The fee for taking this exam is $11.00. Applicants taking this exam will be notified of the time and room of administration.

SGA Candidates Up For Election Friday, March 23

SGA Elections Chairman Woody Shepard has announced that elections for Student Government Officers will be held on Friday, March 23. The polls will be open from 9:00 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Voting will take place in the lobbies of the men's dormitories, the women's dormitories, and Wright Building. Only Day students will be allowed to vote in the lobby of Wright Building.

Tonight, all candidates will meet with Shepard in Rawl Building, room 103, at 7:00 p.m. After this meeting the names of all candidates will be made public.

Shepard reminded Day Students that the last day on which they may nominate senators-at-large is March 19. All nomination speeches will be made on the twenty-second, the day before the election.

Shepard expressed his dissatisfaction at the obvious lack of interest shown so far by the student body in elections. In speaking of the number of entries thus far in the race, he said, "The only races which promise to be very hotly contested are the race for President and the race for secretary. None of the other offices have had nearly enough entries."

Chosen in this election will be all SGA officers including college marshals.

The public is invited to view films on Air Power which will be shown each Thursday at 4:00 p.m. in Austin 15, by the Air Science Department.

What Makes A Leader?

Voting Poses Questions For Selective Voters

Student leadership . . . What does it involve and what type of student makes a good leader. These are questions we might ask ourselves now since elections are scheduled for next week.

Many of us are not leaders, but we can learn to look for the qualities that a good leader possesses. The political interests that are formed during college will remain with us throughout adult life. Just by looking for the leadership qualities and voting for the person possessing them, we are showing a definite political interest.

We must help leaders assume their responsibilities by showing them that they are responsible to us, the voters. All too often a leader is elected and his name soon forgotten. Who are our class senators? Student leadership is not to be entirely left in the hands of the individual who is elected.

What is a good student leader? First, he receives criticism from his voters and leads them in an executive manner, not dictatorially. His function is to initiate and stimulate projects. He possesses clarity of ideas and knows how to present them to the students. He is self confident and an individual in that he is an outstanding person in his organization. Most of all the leader is an administrator, which means that he knows how to organize and delegate. He knows where his group stands in relation to the college community. The real leader does not receive his votes: he earns his votes.

New Service Merits Support

The EAST CAROLINIAN is here to serve you, the student. We are beginning in the Friday edition two new services in an attempt to further EAST CAROLINIAN services. A newspaper bulletin board, which will contain official bulletin board notices as well as notices from various clubs and organizations, will be one new feature. The other will be classified ads which will aid you in obtaining rides home, locating books and notes, and in finding employment. We hope they will be of service to you; however, the success of these projects is up to you, the student.

Paper Stresses Purposes

The EAST CAROLINIAN is a semi-weekly newspaper edited by the students of East Carolina College. Dedicated to good standards of journalism and accurate presentation of news, the purpose of the newspaper as a communicative organ is to inform, to educate, and to stimulate intellectually.

The opinions expressed on this page are not necessarily representative of the majority of the students on this campus, the faculty, the staff, or the administration, but rather those of the student writers.

All letters to the editor must be typed, double spaced and signed; names will be withheld on request. Spelling and punctuation are the writer's own.

The Center is soliciting the best students from each of the 50 states who have high academic ability, leadership potential, and belief in the aims of the Center, who are interested in Asian languages, history, and culture, and would like to study in a uniquely cosmopolitan atmosphere for two years. Included in the scholarship is a semester of study and travel in the Asian area or countries of their choice.

Candidate eligibility is based on high academic achievement, excellent health, ability to relate to Asians, and demonstrated interest in contributing to the objectives of the Center.

Some thirty scholarships are available in Asian Studies, 12 in Overseas Operations, 8 in East-

West Philosophy, 7 in International Relations and Comparative Government. The remaining 66 scholarships are in the fields of Asian Art, Anthropology, Race Relations and Community Development, Music, Pacific Island Studies, Asian Geography, Drama and Theatre, and Asian and Pacific History. Quarterly Publishes Ebb's Milton Paper

Dr. John D. Ebb, associate professor of English, contributed to the current issue of "Modern Language Quarterly," Vol. 22, No. 4, a paper on "Milton's Treatment of Poetic Justice in 'Samson Agonistes'."

Dr. Ebb's paper represents an important contribution toward a better understanding of John Milton's meaning in "Samson Agonistes," a poetic drama modeled upon ancient Greek tragedy.

In addition to the current study on Milton, he has contributed papers to the "Journal of English and Germanic Philology" and the "Shakespeare Quarterly."

Dr. Ebb joined the East Carolina faculty in 1960 as a member of the Department of English.

Wilson Director Credits Conduct

Dear Dr. Jenkins: I would like to commend the Carolina College students who attended the ECC-ACC basketball game in our Recreation Community Center on February 10. The fine conduct which was exhibited before, during and after the game.

Those students attending the game were a real credit to the institution, and I congratulate upon having young men and women who were able to keep their perspectives and control their conduct.

Sincerely, J. B. Gillette, Director Wilson, N. C.

Saturday Game Features Single Wing

Teammates Schedule Purple-Gold Contest

The Annual Purple and Gold football game will be held in the College Stadium, Saturday, March 17, 2:00 p.m. The contest will feature a new formation, the single wing, instigated by Head Football Coach Clarence Stasavich.

This event will be an intra-squad game with the players competing against their teammates. At present, those running tailback are: Vince Eiduke, sophomore from Washington, Penn.; Bill Kline from Valdese, N. C.; and Whittie Bass, freshman from Wilson, N. C.

Others expected to see action in the backfield include: Billie Strickland, Portsmouth, Va.; Larry Radisill and Richard Jackson, Hickory, N. C.; Pete Thorell, Stafford-Wayne, Penn.; Frank Galloway, Wilson, N. C.; Tom Michel and Bill Bailey.

On the line will be: Ends—Johnny Anderson, Dan Rouse, Richard Huneycutt, and Bobby Bumgardner. At the center position will be David Smith, Jim Leftwich, and Jim Hoover.

Tackles Buddy Stewart, Robert Nesbit, Bill Burton, and returning letterman, Skipper Duke, along with James McDiarmid, will be on the line attack.

Guards Dallas Hollingsworth, Wendell Worthington, and Murray Strawbridge will also participate in this exhibition game.

This will be the first chance to look at the single wing. The change in formation has entailed a lot of planning and constant work in order to reach the degree of development which we will see Saturday. Since the team is in the transition stage, the test should prove to be an interesting preview of what we see next fall.

The admission will be free and the proceeds will go to the state fund.

Track Tryouts

There will be a meeting of all persons interested in trying out for the ECC Track Team on Wednesday, March 14, at 7:00 p.m. in Room 14 in the College Gymnasium.

Table Tennis Team Easily Downs State

N. C. State College Union was host to EC's CU Table Tennis Team on March 1. EC easily defeated State by winning 23 games and losing only 13.

The major surprise of the day was the defeat of State's No. 1 player, Doug Moretz, while the ECC team lost to the No. 2 man, Gary Preston, a former State champion.

Nelson Tugwell was the outstanding EC player, and the only player to take a game from Preston, although dropping the match by a close score of 23-21. He won all other matches during the team match.

While Bowie Martin easily defeated all of the State players except Preston, Fleetwood Lilley also won all of his matches except a loss to Preston. Lilley, defense player, was hindered by the exceptionally slick floors which forced him to alter his game.

Mike Harris, an up-and-coming Freshman Novice player, played well and won two of his four matches, losing to Preston and Martin Mainster.

EC will be host to the State team some time this quarter.

All Seniors who plan to graduate in May should make cap and gown reservations and also place orders for invitations not later than March 16 in the Stationery Store in Wright Building.
