Discipline Committee Action Results In Student Suspension

Two students have been suspended for the Spring Quarter due to action taken by the Discipline Committee.

The first case involved a freshman student charged with plagiarism. For an announced assignment which was to be written in class, the student prepared a paper outside of class. It was this paper, instead of one he wrote in class, that he submitted. The language of the paper, which was a book report, bore a major similarity to language used in the book. In no instances had the student given the author credit for the ideas that he used. The student admitted that he was having difficulty in the course and thought that perhaps by taking direct quotations from the book, he would receive a better grade than by using his own ideas.

The committee voted that the student be given an "F" in the course involved, that he be permitted to complete the Winter Quarter, and that he be suspended for the spring quarter.

In the second case, a sophomore girl was charged with forgery, lying, and borrowing without authority. She found and used a library card belonging to another girl. When the books were not returned promptly, the girl to whom the card belonged was sent overdue notices at the fake box number.

These notices were promptly returned to the library because of insufficient address. A check revealed the correct box number of the owner of the card, and she was notified of these overdue books.

She promptly reported to the library, saying she had never taken these books, had never heard of them, and had no need for any of them in her particular course of study. Because the books were of a specialized nature, the department head and staff of the department were notified to be on the lookout for any student using these books. In a few days, the books were found listed on a bibliography.

The girl who had listed them was called in by the department head for a conference regarding the matter. She denied any knowledge about the library card or the books in question. After the conference, the department head went to the library to confer with the staff about certain details. At this time, none of the books in question were in the library. In a half hour, all were back in, and the suspected person was at the desk trying to pay fines. It was only at this time that the girl admitted having the books.

The next day, she admitted that she had forged the signature of the girl to whom the card belonged, and had, immediately after her conversation with her department head, gone home, gotten the books, and brought them to the library.

The committee voted that she receive an "F" in the course involved, that she be permitted to finish the Winter Quarter, and that the earliest time she be permitted to re-enter EC would be September, 1962.

Juniors To Take English Exams On Monday Night

The Junior English Exam will be held on Monday, March 19 at 6:30 p.m. All students with 96 quarter hours or more who have not yet taken the test are to report as follows: surnames beginning A-H — Library Auditorium; I-P — Flanagan Auditorium; R-Z — Rawl Auditorium.

A test for students who cannot attend on Monday evening will be held on Wednesday, March 21 at 5:00 p.m. in the Library Auditorium. If a student is unable to attend (because of illness, school sponsored trip, or for any reason which a student would normally be excused from classes), he should contact Dr. Kilpatrick in Austin 107. Any student with 96 quarter hours or more who fails to take this exam will be stopped from classes.

Dictionaries may be used. The theme will consist of 350-400 words, written in a formal essay style, omitting slang. The topic should be developed in a logical, meaningful fashion, free from common errors in spelling, punctuation and grammar. Students should bring a pen, ink, and a dictionary.

Yale Group Here Tuesday Evening

The Duke's Men of Yale University will present a concert in Wright Auditorium Tuesday night at 8:00 p.m.

The eighteen member singing group, who will be President Jenkins' dinner guests Tuesday evening was formed ten years ago and within three years they were considered among the best four groups, according to a contest at Yale which is held every year for that purpose.

They have presented concerts at Fort Bragg and Hollins College in North Carolina. Also included in previous tours is the hotels Fontainebleau and Ivanhoe in Miami Beach and the Surf Club in Miami. This month, The Duke's men will be in Nassau at the Nassau Harbour Club.

The program will consist of light music, including ballads, show tunes, and college songs. Tickets are $1.50 and may be purchased from members of the EC Men's Glee Club, Phi Mu Alpha, or Sigma Alpha Iota. Mail Orders may be sent to the Office of the Music Department here at the college. Proceeds will be turned over to the James S. Ficklen Stadium Fund.

Mosser Recital Set

Juliette Mosser, organist, will be presented by the Department of Music here in her sophomore recital Monday, March 19 at 8 p.m. in the Austin Auditorium on the college campus. The public is invited to attend.

IFC Names New Officers; Elects Tanner President

Blarney Tanner of Pi Kappa Alpha was recently elected to succeed Buddy Weis, also of Pi Kappa Alpha, as president of the Inter-Fraternity Council. Other officers chosen in the same election include: Ken Moore of Theta Chi, vice president; Mickey Conklin of Lambda Chi Alpha, secretary; and Nat Van Nortwick of Kappa Alpha, treasurer.

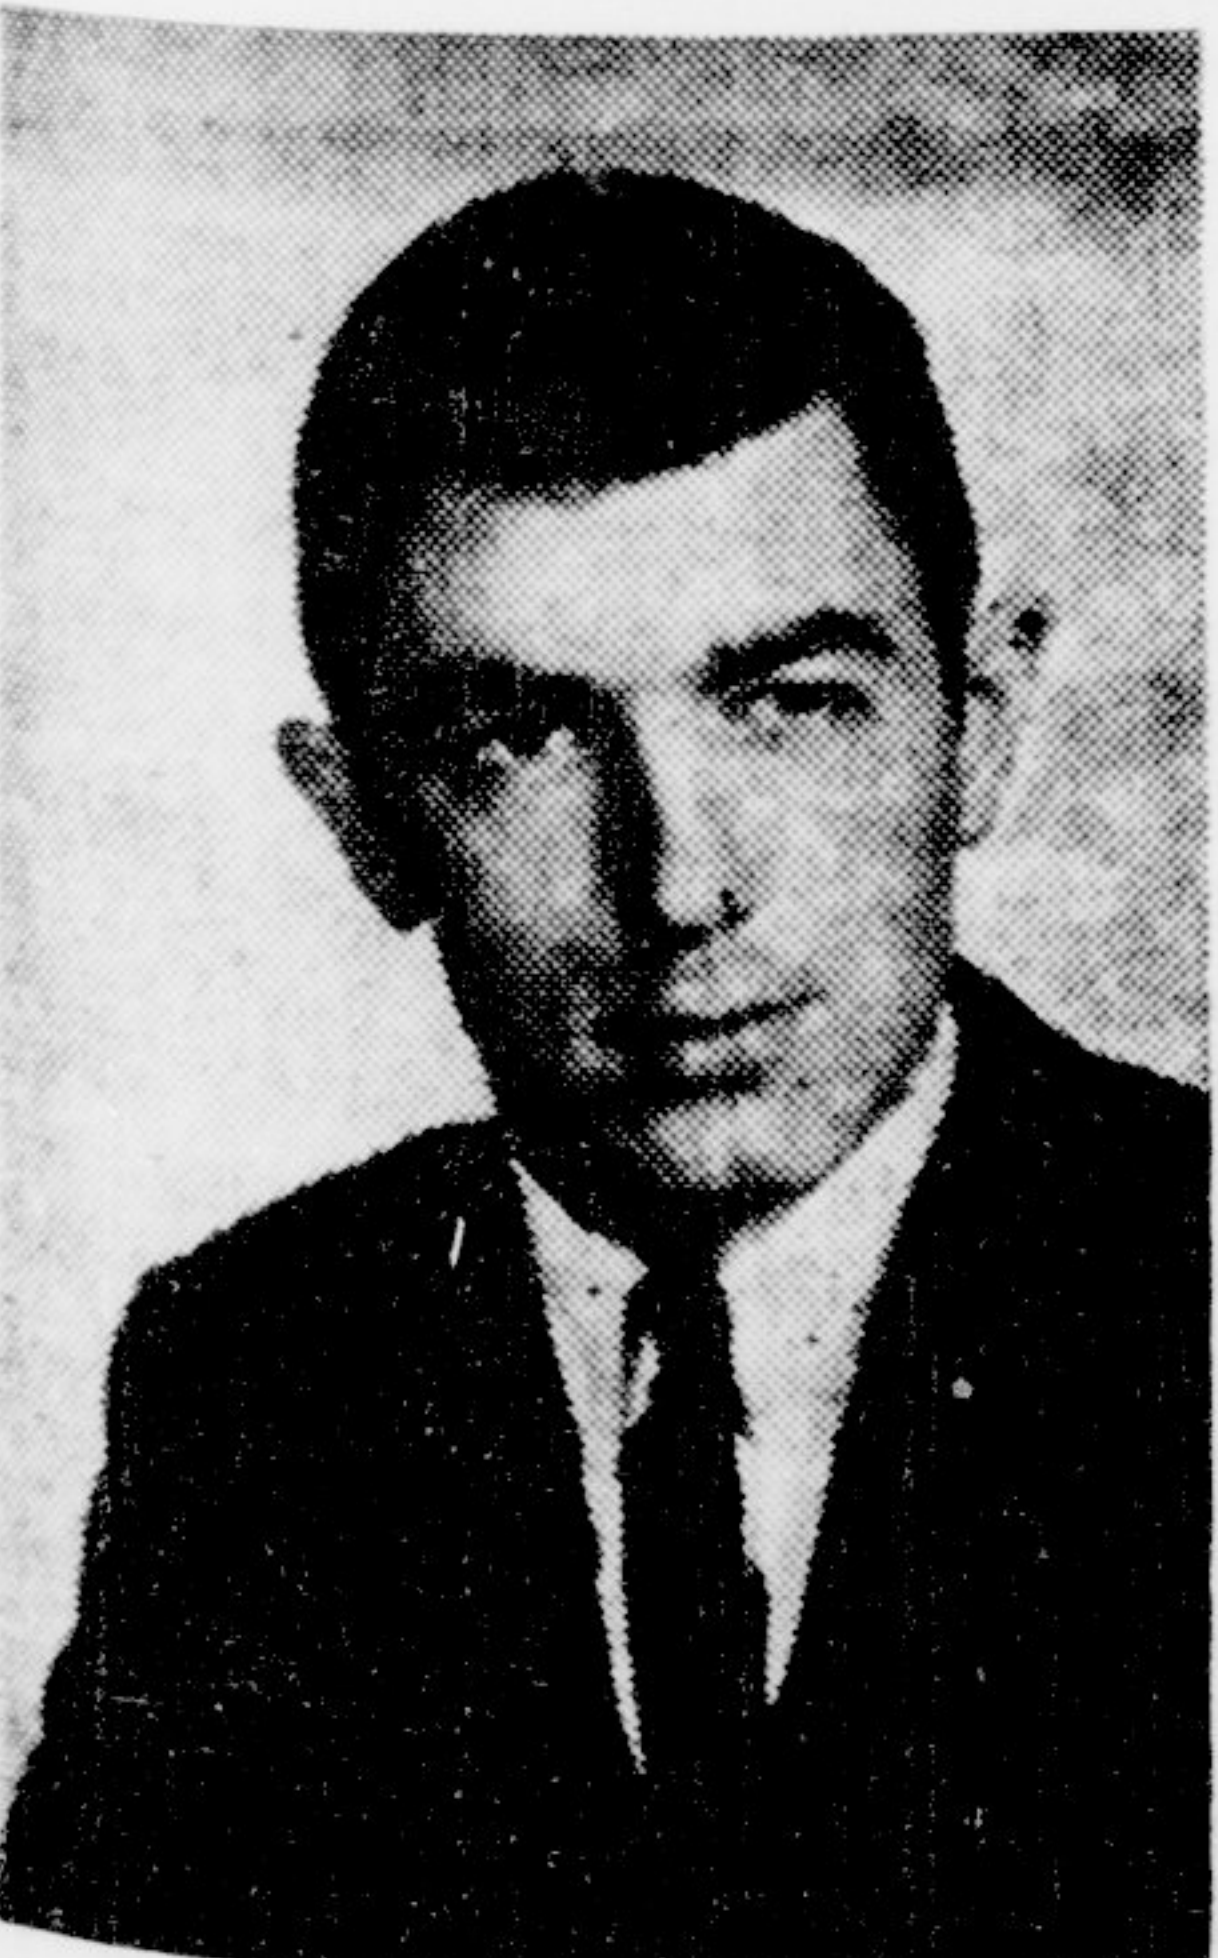

Tanner, a Junior from Rocky Mount, is, aside from being head of the Greek Council, captain of the ECC tennis team and current holder of the Carolinas Conference championship which he has won for the past two years. He is majoring in social studies.

Speaking of plans for the I.F.C. Tanner said, "I don't anticipate any radical changes in the near future. I do, however, hope for general improvement in the functioning of the I.F.C. Our biggest immediate project is I.F.C. weekend which comes up in the near future. It has been renamed and this year will be called 'the Spring Greeks'."

"Also, we recently voted to hold rush on a deferred basis next year, that is, to rush Freshmen in Winter Quarter instead of Fall Quarter. This procedure has been out of effect for two years now and could conceivably present problems when we return to it. On the other hand, it could give us a great opportunity to improve rush. Rushing is one of the main interests of every fraternity and thus will be one of the main interests of the I.F.C."

Tanner assumed his duties as president at the beginning of Spring Quarter and will remain in office for one year.

Dave Gardner

Dave Rejoices Tonight; Shows Rare Talent

Rejoice! Dave Gardner, one of the most sensational of the brave new comics of our time, will be in Wright Auditorium tonight at 8:00 o'clock. Students will be admitted by their activity card.

Dave has appeared on several of Jack Paar's shows, Garry Moore's Show, and was offered a part in Stanley Kramer's production of "Inherit the Wind," which, incidentally, he turned down because he would not play the part of a person that he felt was not typical of the South.

One of the South's true sons, Brother Dave was born in Jackson, Tennessee in 1926. He started in the show business field at the age of 13 playing the drums. At only 16 he won second place in the Gene Krupa Drum contest in New Orleans. After spending two years in the Navy, Dave attended Union University in Jackson and Terry Art Institute in Miami. He discovered that his time was most profitably spent talking to an audience. The night clubs of the South welcomed him one by one. Fame came rapidly. Gardner's talent, truly rare, is based on sheer genius in his vocabulary, characterization, and subject matter. He can draw a fantastically real picture with well chosen words and a keen manner of expression.

His subjects of jest and good humored ridicule are unusual and fascinating. He can talk fluently on any subject from Hindu philosophy to beaknik. The most important phase of Gardner's talent is his ability to give the people what they want. "Little David and the origin of Rock and Roll," the Julius Caesar bit, and a few take-offs on Outer Space are among the most well received of his sketches. Strange as it may seem these sketches are aimed at the intellectual, the thinkers, and the educated. The manner Dave uses does not lower the level of his desired audience. Gardner has been called a Rebel and a Beatnik, but with question. He is one of the few who expresses what he feels. When something he says is not well received he will say, "Well, that don't make no difference," but when the audience roars with laughter tonight, one word will be spoken. "Rejoice."

Seniors Name Harding Speaker

The annual Senior Class Banquet will be held on April 3, at 6:30 p.m., in the South Dining Hall.

Guest speaker for the banquet will be Edmund H. Harding. Harding was appointed North Carolina's Ambassador of Good Will by Governor Terry Sanford. In great demand, this storyteller and homespun philosopher makes an average of 150 talks a year in all the states except Hawaii. He has also appeared in Mexico and Canada.

A lifetime member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, he is an officer in the Confederate Air Corps and Honorary Mayor of Bath, oldest town in North Carolina. The Kiowa Tribe of Indians in Oklahoma made him an honorary chief with the title "Chief Tall Tale."

The banquet will be semi-formal, and all seniors and their dates may pick up their invitations in the College Union Student Supply Store.

Awards will be presented to the senior in each department, and a "Put Hubby Through College" Award will be presented to a senior male student's wife who is planning to help put him through college.

Candidates Need Opposition

Should Platforms Go Unchallenged?

Every effort is being made to bring us closer to the actual work of the SGA. The EAST CAROLINIAN carries stories concerning action taking place at the regular Monday night meetings. The college radio and TV stations are responsible for the last meeting being broadcast. In the future we may find it difficult to ignore SGA proceedings.

Elections are now underway and being crammed into a one week-two day affair. Time will be short for making decisions; and there will be little time for the candidates, who have opponents, to campaign. Classes will be excused at 3:30 p.m. on the 22nd for the purpose of introducing voters to candidates. We wonder how many of us will find our way to the front steps of Wright Building.

It seems we have handed SGA offices to some candidates without their even having to campaign. Why? Every official should have the opportunity to have an opponent. What kind of elections are we running when a candidate's platform is not challenged? Since it is too late to offer opposition in the line of another candidate, we could at least challenge platforms ourselves. Let's hope the candidates will oppose one another by challenging platforms, and showing us what they have to offer as officers. We will say this and then say no more on the subject.

Sea Desolates Summer Havens; Insurance Firms Refuse To Pay

Perhaps the long faces we've seen on campus recently are not the result of 8 o'clock classes and 4 o'clock labs but the result of lost beach cottages and destroyed beach hang-outs for EC collegians.

We wonder what summer life will be without those places where sweat shirts, bermudas, and tennie-pumps have always been welcomed. Virginia Beach's "Surf Rider" was reported last seen riding the surf about two hundred yards off the beach. Pumps are working day and night pulling water out of "Club 22." What once was Nags Head is no more. Since so many new inlets were cut by the raging sea, the name itself may be in line for a change. Does the Nag still possess a head?

When beach weather finally arrives maybe, if we're lucky, there will be enough sand for spreading blankets and sun bathing; and since the beaches will be cleared of cottages and hotels, beach parties will be held on the beach. The portable radio and bonfires are sure to hit the beaches by storm. The gang may even loosen the vocal cords for a few college songs instead of the name bands providing the entertainment.

Homes, lives, and personal property were carried out to sea when the swelling tides finally subsided. The only good that could possibly come from the devastation is that in the future property owners will read their insurance clauses more carefully. It seems that many companies refuse to pay for the damages since policies stipulated that damage must be the direct effect of a storm. And those who did not have policies now are giving insurance companies more work than they've ever had.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"HOW'S HE COMING ALONG ON TH' COURSE DESCRIPTIONS FOR THE NEW CATALOG?"

Laundryman Scores Hit

Sun, Azalea Blossoms Boost Dampened Spirits

By MONTY MILLS

A break in the low hanging storm clouds may be a sign that the Spring monsoons are just about over. In any event it may take a week or two of sunny weather to dry up the lake sized puddles left by the forceful hurricane rains. And girls, who have suffered the pangs of limp hair due to the damp weather, are thankful for a chance to look like a girl again. Azaleas For the Azalea Festival
Some of the stores in the downtown Greenville area are offering synthetic flowers ranging from daffodils to the ever popular azaleas. So those of you who are planning to take in the Azalea Festival April 5-8 can take along an azalea or two — just in case the excitement is too much and you don't get a chance to get over to Wilmington to view the array of popular flowers on display. A reminder — it's just a little over two weeks away, so get out your beach wear and start packing for one of the most awaited events of the year!

Funny Man Here Tonight

A vote of thanks to the Entertainment Committee and especially to Tommy Mallison for securing one of the biggest names in comedy and wit to play for the college in quite awhile. "Brother" Dave Gardner, popular recording funny man, brings his show to the campus at 8:15 tonight. The line forms early so be sure and get there in time to reserve a seat for one of the most hilarious rib-tickling sessions of the quarter.

Laundryman Meets Sanford

Governor Terry Sanford, speaker at the recent State Student Legislature meeting in Raleigh got a first hand view of some of EC's "promising" students. Riding in an elevator in the Sir Walter Hotel with the Misses one night during the meeting, Governor encountered an EC male student getting into the elevator with an arm load of shirts and pants tucked in arm. He was somewhat taken by the sudden appearance of the laundryman. Quite a way to make a hit with a Governor, wouldn't you say — at least it was in good, "clean" fun.

Easter Signs In Wright

Signs of Easter bunnies on the campus and fluffy yellow biddies are evidence that Easter is just around the corner. Of course, there really haven't been any signs of bunnies seen on campus, but over at Wright Building mysterious little cheeps have been coming from an upstairs office (the name of the office, since it's located so near the East Carolinian will be withheld). We're waiting for the report of sounds of carrot munching and bunny hopping next.

Presidential Victory Raises EC's Status With 'Big Four'

By DONNA BINGHAM

When Bill Eyerman gained the Presidency of SSL Saturday, EC's position in the mock governmental body was raised with that of the "Big Four" — State, Duke, UNC, and Wake Forest. Bill's election indicated that EC is no longer labeled a small teachers party college, for the position has been held exclusively for many years by delegates from Duke and State. Perhaps the 1963 delegation can also claim the offices of Speaker of the House or President of the Senate. But they must first train more efficient and influential speakers in their own Senate.

The EC delegates rose in strong debates against law students from Duke and UNC. Brian Bennett and Jerry Fulford both gave impressive arguments on such issues as civil rights, the right to work, and aid for building bomb shelters.

When Dr. Leo Jenkins, President of the College, was unexpectedly summoned to address the House, EC again received favorable recognition. Our delegates heard much praise for Dr. Jenkins' ideas on the importance of student government and his ability to speak. His speech especially applied to UNC who are being challenged for their right to make school policies.

Juniors Sharpen Scholarly Wits-Await Exam!

By KAYE BURGESS

A fate worse than death is really. Yet this is the concept most students have of the dreaded Junior English Examination. Usually, this test simply calls for application of skills learned in freshman English. Anyone who made a "C" on English I should have no difficulty writing a theme.

Contrary to popular belief, the exam is not an English Department punishment, master-stroke to penalize all students, upon the coming juniors. As a matter of fact it was not even invented by the English Department at all, but as the swimming proficiency college test which is devised to serve as an aid to the student.

Simply not being an English major does not eliminate the possibility of composing a well-written theme. So stop worrying and relax. It's the nervous worrier who makes the careless mistakes.

The test consists of writing a 350-400 word theme in formal essay style. Surely, this would not be too arduous a task for any average college upper-classman. Besides, being able to consult one's dictionary during the test eliminates spelling worries. The student also can pick his choice from the given topics. There's the "matter-of-fact" type topic, the creative topic for the imaginative writer and a general topic which can be developed in either style.

However, if a student does not have the proper background in English... well, remedial English isn't so terrible. Look at the bright side — it's better to take remedial English in college than to lack the ability to write a formal exposition when a job depends on it.

Beginners' Bridge classes will begin Monday, March 12. Classes will be held each Monday and Wednesday at 3:00 p.m. in the Room of the College Union.

A bill to make "Ghost Writing" illegal in N. C. was proposed by State who has recently expelled many students found guilty of buying term papers and other work from writers outside the college. It was brought out by a UNC delegate that some encyclopedia company advertise 5 free term papers with each set of volumes bought. The proposal was argued very little, suggesting that students themselves refuse to combine such temptation to students.

In 1948 SSL was interrupted with no trouble. Mock bills have been proposed and passed this year which asked for equal rights and such areas state employment placement and state libraries. Last year SSL members showed their wish for equality of the races by passing a bill asking for housing for members on an integrated basis. They were unable to accomplish their purpose in the city of Raleigh. Since no hotel or motel would accept the Duke delegation on an integrated basis, the students commuted to the three-day session from Durham. The atmosphere of friendliness of all members noted the fact that young elected leaders will work together harmoniously on a non-segregated basis in the future.

SGA Slates Elections For Friday, March 23

In the next week, the campus will be elaborately decorated with campaign posters of every conceivable size and shape, urging students to vote for candidates in the coming SGA elections. Campaigning will include speeches, parades, promises, decisions, and, it is hoped, a general enthusiasm of the student body.

Campaign speeches will be given by candidates for SGA offices on March 22. Classes will be excused at 3:30 p.m. for the purpose of enabling every student to attend the meeting and hear the ideas and plans of the candidates running for SGA offices. Voting will take place on March 23 from 9:00 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., and activity cards will be required. Polls will be set up in each dormitory, and Day Students will vote in Wright Auditorium.

Circle K Wins Honors For Promoting Citizenship

Circle K International, one of whose clubs serves our campus, has been awarded the George Washington Honor Medal for its college campus citizenship program in 1961, it was announced today by Clyde Benny Bowes of Burlington, president of the club at the college here. This is the second consecutive year that Circle K International has been so honored by Freedoms Foundation.

Specifically, Circle K's week in promoting active citizenship by participating in service projects on the campus was singled out for praise by Freedoms Foundation. A Freedoms Foundation award enjoys the same prestige and significance in the community service field that the "Oscar" does in the motion picture industry and the "Emmy" of the television world. Circle K, sponsored by the Greenville Kiwanis Club, carries on during the school year a program of activities in keeping with the international organization's aims of promoting citizenship, leadership and scholarship. This year Circle K has been active in raising funds for the new stadium to be built at the college.

During 1961, members of the East Carolina Circle K also attended and participated in activities of the Sixth Annual Convention of Circle K International at St. Petersburg, Florida, and the recently organized Carolina's District Circle K at Wake Forest College. At the Carolina's meeting Joe M. Flake, Jr., was elected as first governor and Mack Worthington as secretary and treasurer of the district organization.

LUCKY STRIKE presents: LUCKY TUFFERS

"PARENTS' WEEKEND"

"We wanted you to be the first to know, Mother... Mother? Mother?"

"Mom! Pop! Come on in and meet my roommates."

"Now you boys see that my Jimmie gets to bed by 10:30, won't you?"

"ARRRGH!"

"I'm afraid your father's a little burned up about your grades, dear."

BREAKING THE ICE FOR DAD. When Dad comes to visit, help him bridge the years with questions like this: "These old ivy-covered buildings never change, do they?" "Say, aren't those girls the cat's meow?" "Dad, do you remember how great cigarettes used to taste?" Then inform your Dad that college students still smoke more Luckies than any other regular. He will realize that times haven't really changed. He'll be in such good, youthful spirits that he'll buy you a carton.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!
