SNOW IN SUNNY SPRING? That's the question that one might have asked on seeing the blossoms on these trees in front of Rawl Building. They are just one more sign that spring is really here.

Lancaster Fills Job

TV Guild Elects New Prexy

Chuck Lancaster, a Junior English major, was elected president of the Television Guild at its March meeting. Chuck succeeds Walter Johnson as the new Guild president.

The TV Guild, organized to aid and encourage all those interested in educational and professional aspects of television broadcasting, handles all special broadcast on campus other than classroom instructions. A wrestling demonstration earlier this year; the weekly WGA meetings, which is a new service to the students and faculty; student plays, directed and produced by the Guild; and campus news, three times a week on Monday, Wednesday, and Fridays at 4:00 p.m., are major attractions sponsored by the TV Guild.

Chuck has been experienced in all phases of operations of radio and television broadcasting. He served as vice president of the TV Guild last year, he has been program director of the AM radio station, and he is now acting as Station Manager of WWWS-FM radio on campus. Besides campus broadcasting, Chuck has also worked as staff announcer for station WCDJ in Edenton and for station WFAG in Farmville.

Later this spring, the TV Guild, in cooperation with the two radio stations on campus, is planning to hold a broadcast seminar which will be a weekend program available to high school students interested in the field. The Seminar will feature special instruction and actual on-the-air experience to benefit and give on-the-job training in television broadcasting.

Serving with Chuck as other officers of the Guild are: James Shuman, vice president; Mollie Lewis, secretary-treasurer, and Rick Natollie, membership chairman. Dr. Corrine Rikert, Director of On-Campus Broadcasting, serves as advisor to the Guild.

EC Seniors Receive Awards Tonight

Nationally Known Humorist Speaks To Class Of '62

Awards for academic excellence from each department of EC will be presented at the senior class banquet Tuesday evening, April 3.

The program will feature Edmund H. Harding, nationally known humorist and North Carolina's "ambassador of good will," of Washington, N. C., in the principal address. Harding will be introduced by Class President Kenneth P. Trogden of Cumberland.

The two outstanding academic awards from each department will be made by Dr. Robert L. Holt, dean of instruction; and the "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" awards will be made by Dr. James H. Tucker, dean of student affairs. Trogden will present "P.H. T." awards to wives of seniors.

Among the guests at the dinner will be these administrative officials of the college, Trogden said today: Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president; Dr. John H. Horne, registrar; Dean of Women Ruth White; Dean of Men James B. Mallory; G. Allan Nelms, director of placement; and Dr. James W. Butler, associate director of public relations.

The program for the dinner has been planned by a steering committee working with President Trogden, including Jayne Chandler, Mary Nell Shaw, Janice Sessoms, Michael D. Jones, Billy Ray Jackson, vice president of the class. Assisting the committee are Miss Sophie H. Fishel, dormitory counselor, and Prof. Cleveland J. Bradner.

Edmund H. Harding

KD Pledge Class Previews Fashion

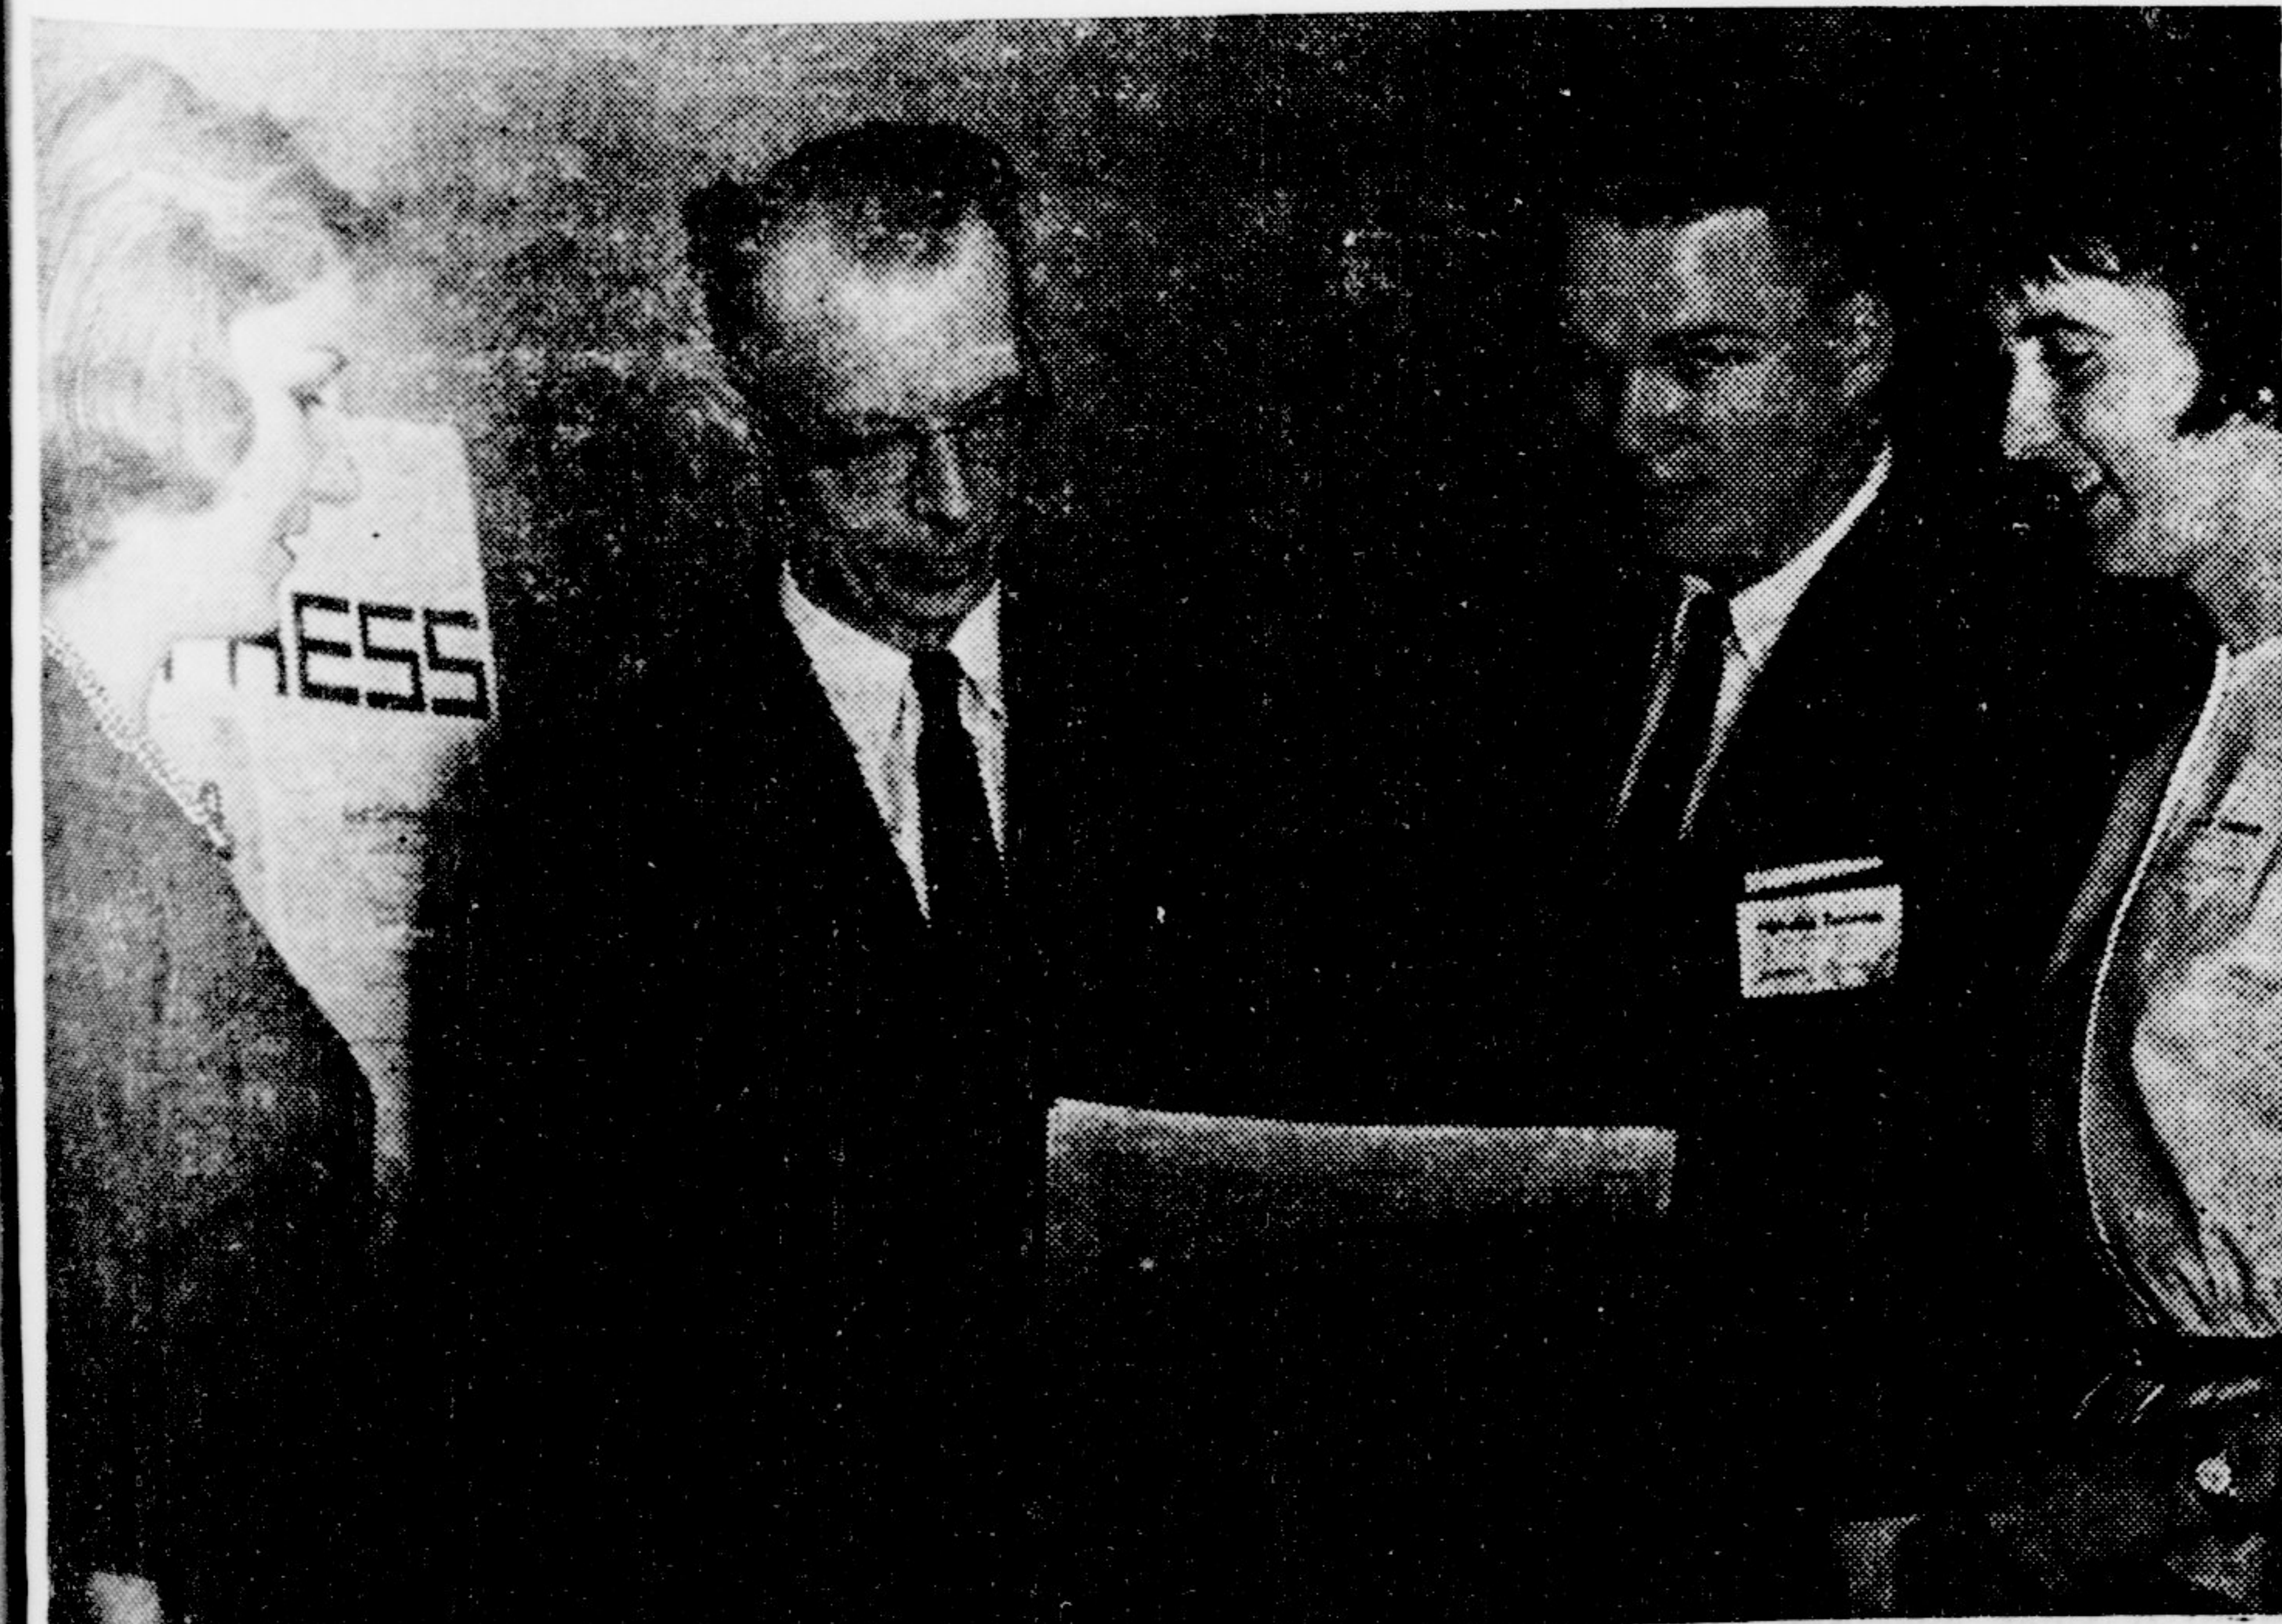

Brody's, Inc. and the Kappa Delta Pledge class will preview Springs Fashions Thursday night, April 5, in Wright Auditorium at 8:00. Admission is free and everyone is invited (boys, too). Names will be drawn for a door prize.

Sixteen girls, both pledges and sisters, will be modeling. Models will include Sue Little, who starred in "Guys and Dolls" and Sandy Fitzgibbon, Kappa Delta's representative in the Miss Greenville Pageant. Each model will wear three outfits. The collection shown will include designs from both New York and California, including such brand names as Majestic, Cos Cob, Harburt, Country Shirt, Capozio, Foot Flair, and Spalding. Five lines of bathing suits will be shown. Emphasis will be placed on casual wear for spring and summer, appropriate ensembles for dress occasions and the latest novelty outfits. The finale will be a bridal gown.

Be sure to come to see what will be worn on campus this year and enter your name for the door prize.

NOTICE

All Marine PLC candidates: Major Mark P. Fennessy will be on campus, 4:00 p.m. Wednesday, in the College Union, to meet with all EC PLC candidates. Attendance requested.

CONFERENCE SPEAKERS . . . Jean Peace, 1962-63 editor of the East Carolinian, Don Schlienz, News Editor of the Daily Reflector, Junius D. Grimes, III, and Patsy Elliott, 1961-62 editor of the East Carolinian, discuss newspaper lay-out during the annual Publications Conference held on the campus last Saturday.

Male Student's Appeal Draws Severe Penalties

The Discipline Committee met March 20 to hear an appeal case from a male student.

Brought before the men's judiciary for being disrespectful to the form counselor and using abusive language to the counselor and in the dorm, his case was heard and the following action taken: (1) social probation for six weeks, (2) removal of all class cuts during spring quarter, and (3) 18 demerits.

Feeling that the decision of the men's judiciary was too harsh, the student appealed to the Discipline Committee. Upon hearing the appeal, a motion was made and seconded that the judiciary's finding be upheld and amended to include social probation for the entire spring quarter.

LeConte Accepts Post

Dr. Joseph LeConte, professor of chemistry, as one of three post doctoral research participation fellows, will spend ten weeks this summer to do research at the University of Florida.

The Academic Year Extension phase of this position was a prime reason for acceptance of this position over several others that were offered Dr. LeConte for the summer. The research project may be continued at EC next year under the sponsorship of the National Science Foundation.

Peace Corps Project Lags On Campus

The Peace Corps has been sadly neglected on our campus. Two weeks ago we sent representatives to Chapel Hill for a meeting with officials in the Peace Corps, but interest in the project still lags. Practically every other college in North Carolina has representatives abroad teaching and doing social work with underdeveloped countries.

We are needed and this is not a project that can be ignored. We were told by the committee attending the Peace Corps Conference that other colleges such as State and Carolina are publicizing the Peace Corps and creating interest on campus. Why aren't we?

Peace Corps accomplishments will not be the type that we readily see and draw grafts to indicate progress. It is the first time we have attempted to show countries that we have a personal interest in them, other than for political reasons. Perhaps through the Peace Corps, we can tell them that we are not playing the game, "Be On My Side So We Will Have the Biggest Team."

We can't make friends with a country through diplomats alone. They can ride along flower strewn streets, waving flags that announce, "America is great. We are great people. We want to help you." But does this reach the people? In reality this is making big promises which we hope to make good. When American citizens, from all walks of life, interrupt their daily routines to move overseas and work with a people, we are fulfilling our promises and duty to the human race.

An American plane crashed into a dam on the island of Gratus. Four Peace Corps men arrived and began working with natives carrying sand to rebuild the dam. One Corpsman from Gratus commented, "It's an awful mess and you can't blame the people for being too resentful towards us. We are beginning to see why we were sent and from working 14 hours a day, we certainly are beginning to understand their problems."

We have much to offer these people. In one small village a lady working with the Peace Corps cooked a rice pudding and offered some to a visiting native. The next day about twenty-five women were at her home learning to cook rice pudding. It's the little things that we take for granted that we can teach them. These people have the conception that we are a nation of cowboys and movie stars with a high standard of living and few morals. Through the Peace Corps, we have the opportunity and responsibility to introduce ourselves and our nation to estranged countries who could very well be our friends. It's trite, but "A friend in need is a friend indeed." These people need us and our knowledge of how to live and work.

The editor of the DAILY PRINCETONIAN commented in an editorial "And whatever effects the idealism of the Peace Corps may have upon our apparently sluggish younger generation, its realistic effects will be doubly felt by the underdeveloped nations. America is too often inclined to overlook what a grain of technology can do for communities which never conceived of such a thing as simple antisepsis."

We are always discussing rewarding careers . . . why overlook the rewards and satisfactions of helping an unfortunate village avoid famine by offering our knowledge of farming?

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"I SAID—WE HATE TO BOTHER YOU AT HOME, PROFESSOR SNARF BUT COULD WE TROUBLE YOU A MOMENT TO DISCUSS A COUPLE OF QUESTIONS ON THAT EXAM WE HAD TODAY."

Never Was There Such An Orgy

Down The Nile On The 2:28 With Lulu And Tub

By MONTY MILLS

Now is the time for all good men to come to their party, and, boy, do I know where there is going to be one of the best parties that you have ever in all your days, the good ones and the bad ones, ever seen (Like, man, I mean never has there been such an orgy) like this one is and never can be compared to. In the beginning sentence, the word aid before "of their party" was omitted, because if you come to this party, aid is what you will need to get you going straight again, so therefore you can get back to where it was that you originated from, like from somewhere, I mean after all even little Lulu and Tubby had to come from somewhere.

Speaking of Little Lulu and Tub, her fat little boyfriend with the fat little sailor cap perched upon his fat little head, reminds me of the time that I took a trip into the deep, dark wiles of the region of the deep, dark continent of headhunters, witchdoctors, and Coooomunga birds, similar to parrots except that they are of a different color, and that they don't speak any words like English sailors and pirates used to utter in pangs of anger, because down in Africa the Coooomunga birds go around coo-cooing all the time and they don't hardly ever, after a fast and ferocious trip down the Nile, the Green to be specific, get a chance to say anything, because they are pooped.

Well, to get on with the story about Little Lulu and Tub's trip to the Congo, the area in which flows the Nile — the river that the beautiful and wicked Serpent, Cleo, used to row up and down in her outboard dinghy, they had started out on a picnic one day back in Waukeegan. They filled their canteen, made out of rusty old, used sardine cans with a little of Mother's home brew (lemonade spiked with a leaf of dandelion) and carried an old subway token, a spool of thread and two empty Campbell tomato soup cans, just in case they had to ring home in case the peanut butter and sardine sandwiches, that they had strapped to their backs in a band aid box, gave out. Then they reached the Wabash and sat dangling their feet off the cliffs to wait on the 2:28 ferry.

Well, it came steaming up the river, and they traded two spotted frogs and a box of butterfly bones for two fares on the ferry. But in the course of their little afternoon trip down the Wabash to Fire Island, the river changed course and they were soon sailing up the Nile, the Green one, not to be confused with the Blue one or the White one — the same one that the Serpent Cleo used to row Marc and Julius down when she had something on her mind other than trying to get into Rome to buy a Mama K Special pizza. Her cooks could only make lasagne, and that rarely ever satisfied the Serpent because the garlic in it, ain't good for moonlight rows up and down the Nile, and that was before the days of Pepsodent breath sweetener and mouth refresher, and cavity checker. So they landed in Africa and the kids who met the boat looked like the darndest Fire Islanders they'd ever seen.

Our two heroes, instead of chowing down on peanut butter and sardines, stayed for supper and that's where they are today. (they ended up as somebody's supper). The moral of this little story is: if you take a trip on the ferry, don't forget to buy a round-trip ticket; it saves you the price of a meal.

Sanford U. Promotes Co-Educational Dorm

(UPS)—The Sanford University student government recently voted its support of a plan to make the largest hall on the Stanford campus co-educational next fall.

Two units of the hall, which now houses men only, will be converted into coed units for 40 women and 60 men.

However, the males and females are going to be strictly limited in the amount of togetherness they may practice since "provision would be made to prevent passage between the upper floors of Fremont and Holladay (the two units involved)."

Residents for the coed program will be volunteers. A questionnaire recently filled out by undergraduate women indicated that 170 would consider living in the coed units.

In general, opinion on campus has been favorable. Stanford's Dean of Men and Assistant Dean of Men have expressed support for the plan.

Port City Area Student Invasion

There seems to be quite a bit of anticipation building up on the E.C.C. campus concerning the forthcoming gala to the

I have already noticed some of our more daring fraternities, who, in a state of frenzied excitement, have casually donned their drinking hats, and have taken their socks. (And who has failed to recognize the indication of this subtle phenomenon?) All this is in preparation for the massive invasion of the greater Wilmington area during the Arts Festival coming up next week (April 5-8.)

Welcome, then, you come, thousands, to our fair and wonderful city. Our silver sandled shoes, and our world renowned students are yours to enjoy. Enjoy your friends and your memories, and we will furnish you entertainment and memories.

And what's more, quite a sophisticated old Wilmington, with grace and the grandeur of the south, awaits you with open arms and a panting heart.

Today's Youth Show Scientific Aptitude, Skill

By HELEN KALLIO

Everyone is always talking about how the Russians are ahead of us in the realm of science. This has been enhanced by all of the news of Russian orbital flights in outer space. If, however, the quality of the work at the Northeastern District Science Fair held in Wright Auditorium Friday were considered as typical of the youth of today, there could be little doubt that America would soon catch up with Russia and surpass her in scientific knowledge and ability.

More than 200 science projects of all types were displayed at the fair. Obviously many hours and much thought had gone into these exhibits which had first won local competition in individual high schools. Many different phases of science were on display under the major categories of the biological and the physical sciences. Some projects contained abstruse chemical detail; while others, which had taken just as much work, were presented in such a simplified and comprehensible manner that the public could easily understand and enjoy the nature of the display.

The more complicated projects included nuclear magnetic resonance of various chemicals by electronic spectrometry, study of thermoelectricity, and expansion-type cloud chamber. An example of the down-to-earth experiments was a mounted cat, its dissected parts, and a writeup on these parts and their functions.

Interest in the fair was indicated by the large attendance viewing the excellent work of today's young scientists. Many E.C. students walking out of Wright Auditorium remarked that the work was spectacular and that they could never do as well. Dr. Frank Eller, of the Science Department and district director of the event commented: "The quality of the exhibits was very good — the best it has ever been."

Remember that American still ends in "I can."

EC Hosts 50th Annual Students Debate Meet

Winning teams from the Eastern counties of the state participating in the 50th Annual Contest of the N. C. High School Debate Union at EC on March 29 are Perquimans of Hertford, affirmative and Roanoke Rapids, negative, Dr. Ralph Rives of the English Department, chairman, has announced.

Six high schools were represented in the contest by six affirmative teams and six negative teams. They debated the national high school query for the current year, "Resolved: That the federal government should equalize opportunity by means of grants to the states for public, elementary and secondary schools." Participants were from the following high schools: Gatesville, Havelock, Perquimans of Hertford, Richlands, Roanoke Rapids, and Scotland Neck.

Winter Quarter AF Cadet Named

Cadet Airman Basic Richard J. Roberson, a member of the 600th AFOTC cadet group, has been named Cadet of the Quarter for the winter quarter, 1962. The cadet of the quarter award is made to the basic cadet who shows outstanding achievement in drill competition, military bearing, appearance, and scholastic work.

Cadet Roberson received an engraved plaque and was honored during the annual Military Ball held by the cadet group.

A Californian says he's still a little nervous about the public-address announcement he heard at the San Francisco airport concerning his plane for Los Angeles. "Flight 609," the voice intoned solemnly, "is now ready for its final departure."

Goin' .. Goin' .. Gone

Merrill Bynum, Pirate right fielder, latches into one that cleared the fence in EC's duel with Wake Forest at the College Field Saturday.

Bucs Win First Over Ithaca 12-2

EC won their first game of the 1962 baseball season by defeating Ithaca College 12-2. Five of the twelve runs came as a result of two homeruns which cleared the park fences.

The first three innings were uneventful until Merrill Bynum, who plays rightfield for the Pirates, whacked one deep into centerfield for a double. As the bases were loaded when he stepped up to bat, he brought in Nathan Greene, Carlton Barnes, and Lacy West. This put the Pirates ahead 3-0.

Tommy Kidd, the next batter to step up, plastered one over the fence between left and centerfield. This brought in Bynum and gave EC two more runs as the fourth inning began with the Pirates holding a 5-0 advantage.

The next opportunity for the Bucs to score came in the sixth inning when Bobby Joyce latched into one that sailed over the leftfield fence bringing in Kidd from third and Nathan Greene from second.

Ithaca couldn't get started until the eighth inning when Wanderway tagged one for his only hit of the day, a double. His hit scored Monje for Ithaca's first run of the contest. The next man up, Ed Farquhar, hit one down third for a single, scoring Wanderway. That inning provided Ithaca with their only runs for the day. At this point, the score was 8-2.

In the bottom of the eighth, EC got hot again when Carlton Barnes smacked a high fly to the centerfield fence with the bases loaded. Barnes got a double out of this, and Joe Edwards, Buddy Wyatt and Spencer Gaylord scored.

The next man up after Barnes was Lacy West. He creamed a long one into the leftfield fence for a double. His hit brought in Barnes from second and EC's last run, making it 12-2.

Harry Felton, No. 1 man for the Bucs, serves one up as he proceeds to defeat State's No. 1 man 6-3.

Pirates Rally To Upset Wake In Dazzling Ninth Inning Surge

EC pulled a spectacular ninth-inning rally to hand Wake Forest their first defeat of the season, 10-9, here Saturday.

Our team pulled from behind with four runs in the seventh and four in the ninth to clinch the win. The four scores in the ninth came with two men out, and one was the result of an error at third base by Deacon Bob Worrell. He'll be dreaming about that one for a long time.

The rally for EC came when Bynum drew a walk and Tommy Kidd singled. Wake's pitcher retired the next two men to come to bat, but Carlton Barnes drew a walk to load the bases for the Pirates. The next man up, Buddy Wyatt, also drew a walk, which brought Bynum in. Spencer Gaylord smacked one to center for a single that scored two more to tie it up at 9-9.

Junior Green stepped up to the plate and grounded one to third. Third baseman Bob Worrell's throw to first was wild, and Gaylord raced home for the winning run.

There were four home runs knocked during the game. Bill Scripture, Deacon Sophomore, got two of them. Roger Coon, Wake first baseman, knocked one that kept on going over the leftfield fence. Bynum poked a nice one for EC in the first inning. Wake Forest is now 3-1 for the season.

EC's Initial Defeat Comes By Efforts Of Ithaca Bombers 5-3

EC suffered her first defeat of the baseball season at the hands of Ithaca College on Friday, after defeating them 12-2 on Thursday.

Ithaca's revenge came early in the game when their first batter, Bob Valesente, walked. Tom Terrania then singled into rightfield and was followed by a double walloped by Jim Baker. Valesente scored on Baker's double.

East Carolina failed to score in the first inning, and it closed out 1-0 in favor of Ithaca.

Boykin, pitching for the Bucs, walked the first man to step up, and the next two men were thrown out in infield grounders. The fourth man flied to center, and EC came to bat. Junior Greene singled to left, but we failed to score, bringing the second inning to a close.

Ithaca warmed up in the third and got two runs off of three hits. Dick Rockwell and Bob Valesente smacked a couple of singles to centerfield, and both scored on Ed Farquhar's single to left. The Pirates were hitless in the bottom half as they headed for the field.

Earl Boykin seemed to come alive in the fourth as he set the Bomber batters down three in a row. Nevertheless, the Ithaca pitcher peeled off three Pirate batters in the same pattern and kept the 3-0 lead steady.

Ithaca scored two runs on two hits and as many walks to go ahead 5-0 in the top of the fifth. The Bucs again were held to the line as Vandeweghe struck out three in a row.

EC sparked a run in the latter half of the sixth when Bynum doubled. Lacy West arrived at first on an error by Ithaca's third baseman and advanced to second when the throw to first was wild. Bynum stepped up and poled a long one to the base of the rightfield fence. The ball rolled under the fence for a ground rule double. West scored and Vandeweghe retired the next two men up.

Both teams were held scoreless in the seventh. The Pirates broke loose in the bottom of the eighth when Bynum smashed his first homerun of the season. Kidd doubled to center, and with two away, Junior Green walked to put men on first and second. Joyce singled to left and Kidd scored.

In the ninth, Ithaca got two hits, but were unable to score. Their pitcher retired our side to gain the victory.

Boykin allowed 5 runs, 7 hits and four walks. Lacy West allowed no runs, two hits and no walks. Tom Norman allowed two walks, no runs.

NC State Falls As EC Netmen Take Match 6-3

EC's Pirate Netmen, coached by Wendell Carr, came through in fine style to defeat N. C. State 6-3 here Saturday.

Harry Felton, No. 1 man for the Pirates, defeated State's top man 6-2, 6-2, for the top singles honors, and then teamed with Ed Dunn to defeat Mustag Saigel and Jim Hart in the No. 1 doubles match.

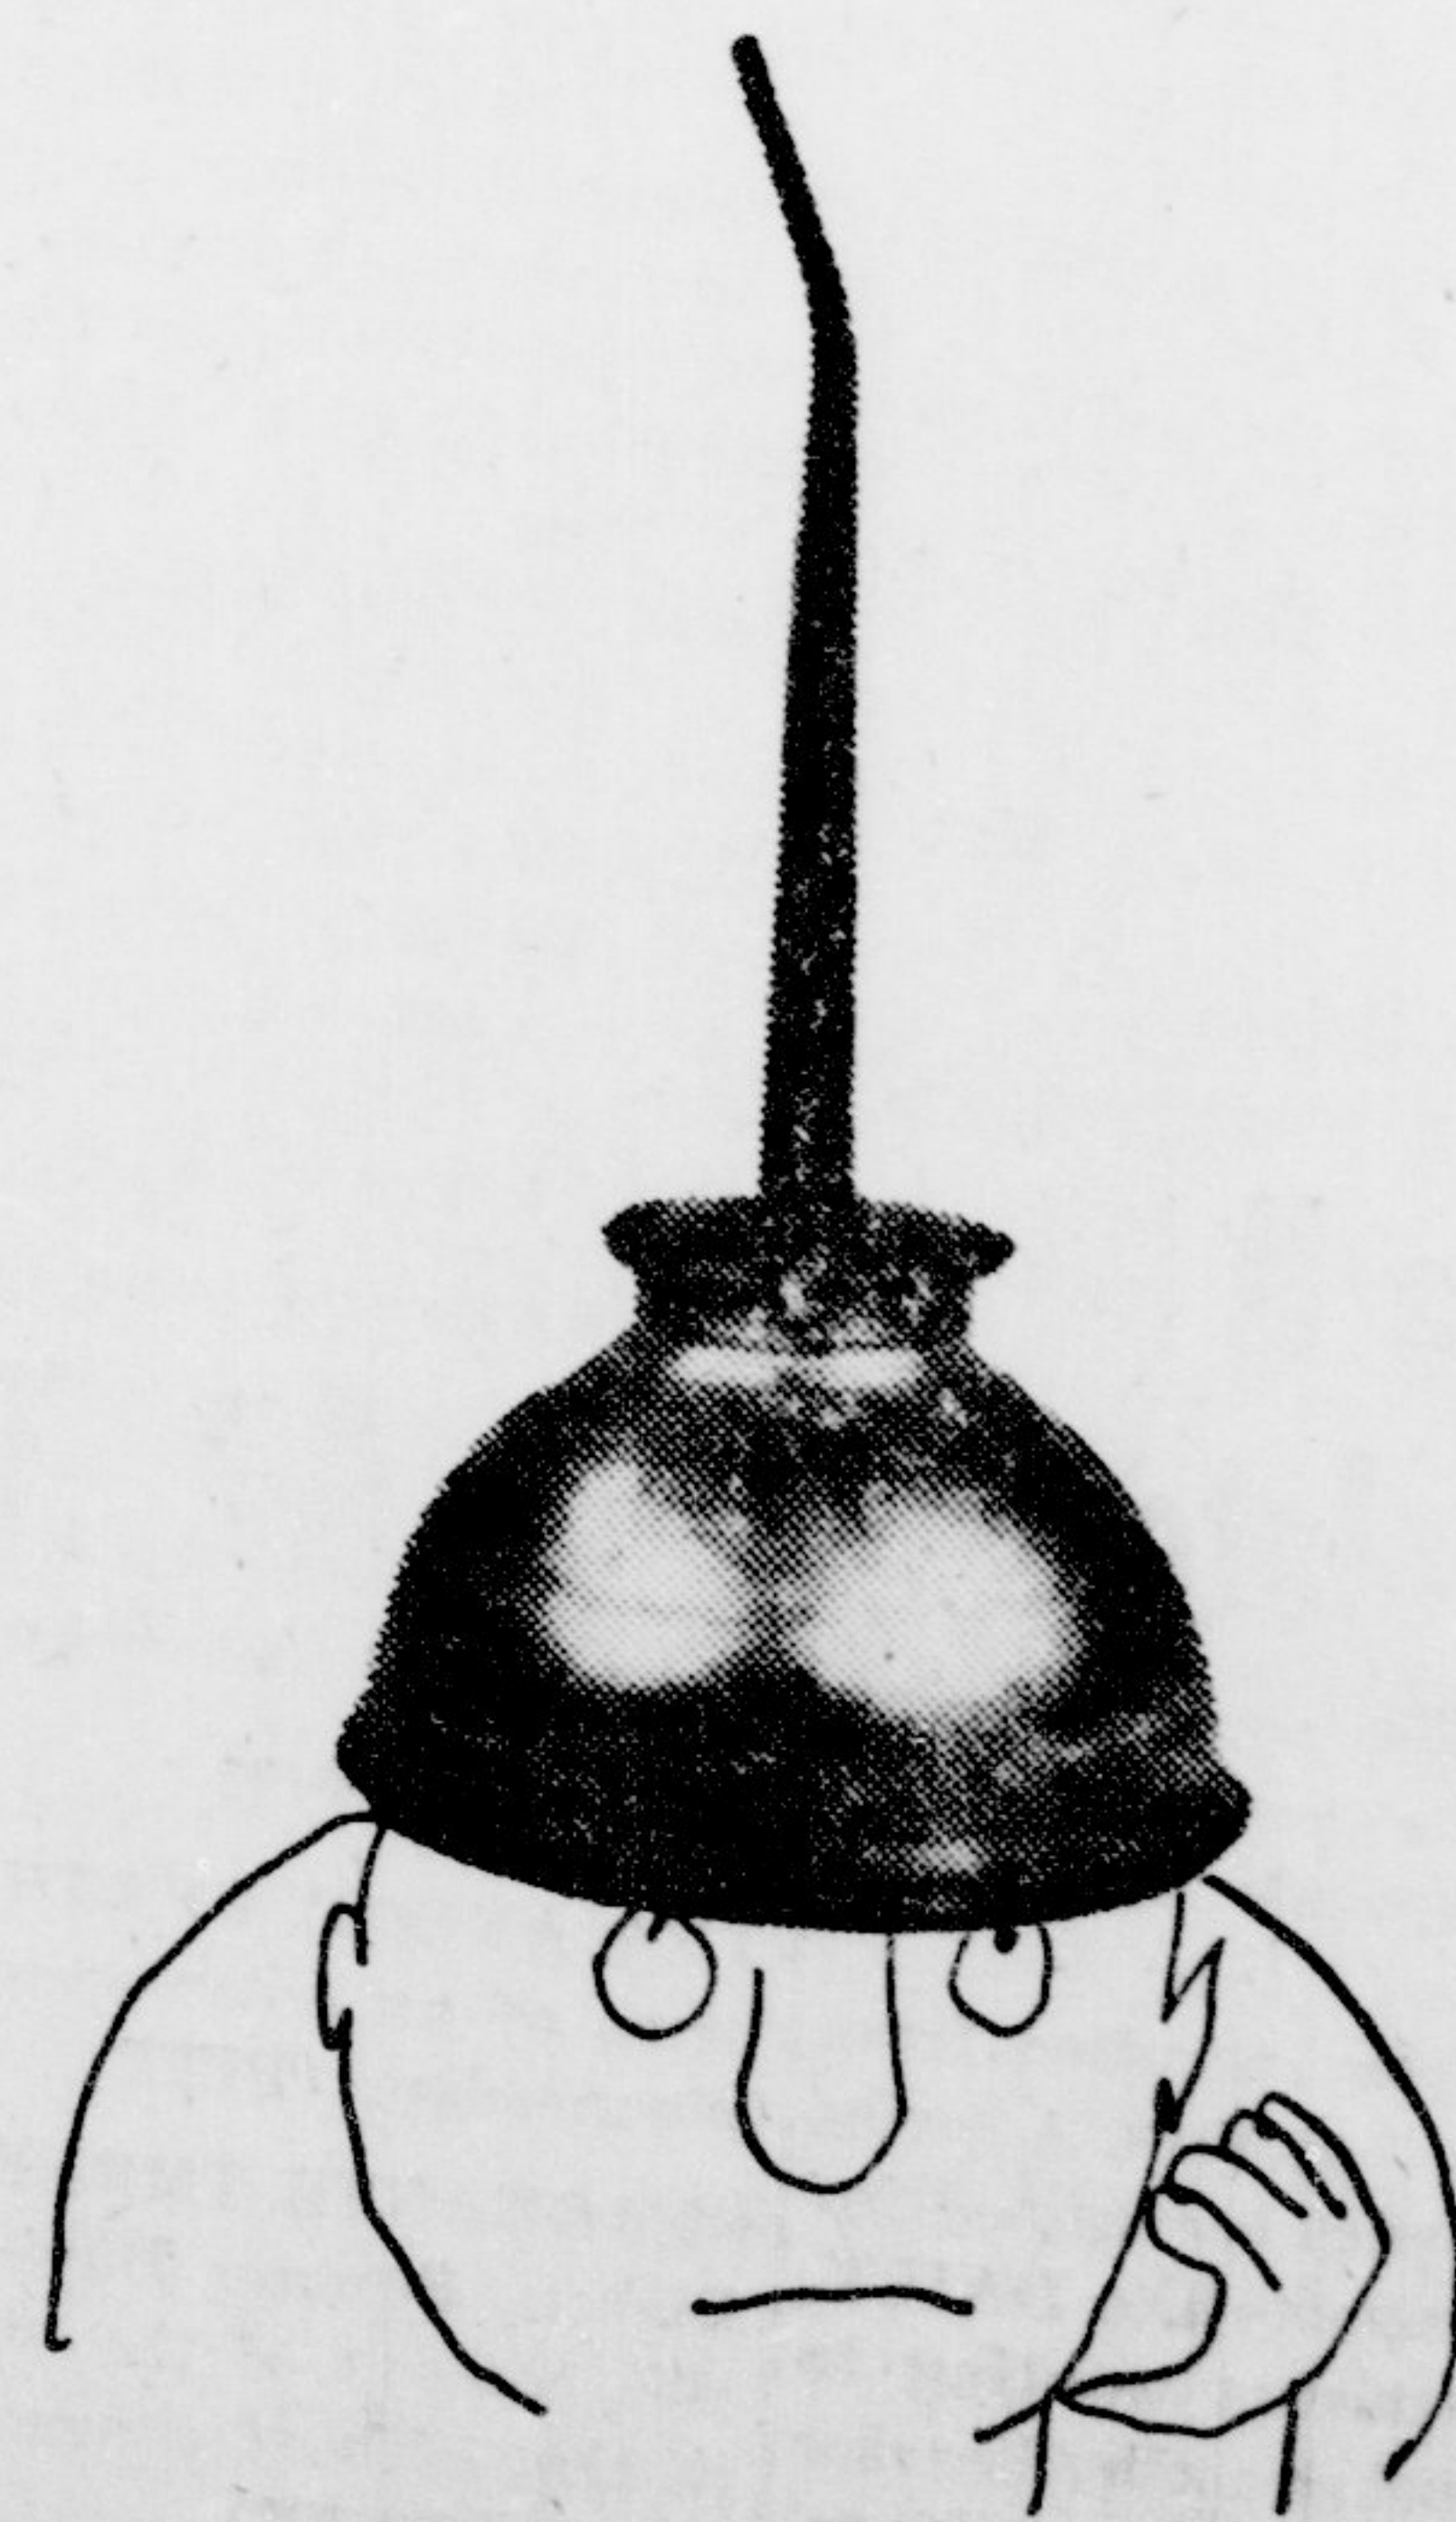

The matches went as follows: Felton downed Saigel 6-2, 6-2; Hart (S) downed Dunn 7-5, 6-1; Starr (EC) downed Cooper 6-3, 3-6, 6-1; Shaw (EC) downed Brown 6-4, 8-6; Tanner (EC) downed Cooper 6-3, 6-2; and Hyatt (S) downed Muecke 6-4, 6-4.

In the doubles division, we had the following events: Felton-Dunn downed Saigel-Hart 6-2, 6-1; Shaw-Muecke (EC) downed Emmmons-Hyatt 6-4, 6-4; Love-Cooper (S) downed Tanner-Starr 6-4, 5-7, 6-4.

Twirler Tryouts

Majorette tryouts will be held during Spring Quarter. Girls who wish to sign for tryouts must do so in the College Union Office by April 19.

Girls will be judged on their presentation of basic twirls, twirling performance routine, straight marching, and beating time.
