Senate Debates Heated Proposal

College Officially Joins NSA

SGA Grants Funds To Organizations

Students are now experiencing the most modern of educational comforts . . . air conditioning for classroom buildings. Rawl Building is the first classroom building on campus to boast "come in it's Kool inside."

The SGA, at its last regular meeting, voted heavily in favor of joining the National Student Association. The vote followed lengthy debate during which Junior Class President Bryan Bennett presented excerpts from a statement of NSA policies. Mr. Bennett, who presented the resolution to join the NSA, also attempted to answer charges made against NSA by various publications.

SGA President Mallison read a letter from President Jenkins urging the Senate to give the proposal much thought before deciding either against or in favor of it. In his letter, Dr. Jenkins also made it clear that the decision was entirely up to the students. Jenkins recently spoke before a regional gathering of NSA members and is scheduled to address the national NSA conference later this year.

The vote, when finally taken was as follows: 24 in favor of joining; 3 against; 8 abstaining. Mallison announced that we would seek affiliation with NSA at once.

Also at Monday night's meeting, three organizations requested additional funds to complete their year's work. These organizations were the Playhouse, the Varsity Band, and the EAST CAROLINIAN.

The Playhouse had overspent on the production, "The Wages of Sin." This was originally supposed to be a $100 workshop production but the opportunity to present the American premiere of "The Wages of Sin" had seemed a worthwhile project and the cost of this production exceeded the original allocation of $100.

The Varsity Band requested money for uniform accessories, transportation, and a year's end picnic.

The EAST CAROLINIAN requested an appropriation in order to complete the year's schedule of papers. This shortage was a result of the switch earlier this year to bi-weekly production.

All three organizations' requests were granted.

Special events chairman Cathy Shesso announced that awards day would be held Thursday, May 17, at ten o'clock.

Before adjourning the meeting President Mallison announced that he would honor no petition of letter to the Editor of the EAST CAROLINIAN. He explained that if a student wishes to be heard he is welcome to attend the SGA meetings and participate just as an elected member with the exception of voting rights.

Arts Exposition Opens Tuesday In Courtyard

"New Concepts in Expression", the first annual combined Arts Exposition, is scheduled to open at noon on Tuesday, May 15, announces Jerry Liles, chairman of the event.

This Exposition will be held in the cafeteria courtyard, from noon until 9:00 p.m. Paintings will be hung on the walls and other events will be staged on the patio.

The purpose of the Exposition is to enable artists of East Carolina College to expose the most recent ideas in the arts of the new generation: jazz; poetry; absurd drama; painting; graphics; sculpture; and any combination or variation of these.

The committee for this event is composed of representatives of Phi Mu Alpha, Professional Music Fraternity for Men; Delta Phi Delta Phi Delta, Honorary Art Fraternity; The Playhouse; The Rebel Staff; and the English Club. Mr. Cleveland Bradner is serving as faculty advisor.

Participants in the various events are as follows: Jazz groups, Ron Oats Trio; Bud Skiles Trio; Symphonic Jazz Lab Band, directed by Dave Miller; and the Collegians, directed by Jerry Liles. Carol Norwood, Milton Crocker, and Charlotte Donet will participate in the poetry reading division; and Nelson Dudley and Ray Minnis will display some of their paintings. Graphics will be displayed by Larry Plizzard, and various sculpture students show their works.

Four Freshmen Appear May 19

The Four Freshmen will appear in concert on May 19 at 8:15 p.m. in Wright Auditorium as the last presentation by the Entertainment Series this year.

Frequently ranked as the "Best Vocal Group," the group has been ranked at the top of the surveys conducted by Metronome, Down Beat, and Billboard for years.

They have appeared in the Cresendo, the Palladium, and the Hollywood Bowl in Hollywood as well as most of the major colleges in the United States.

EC Varsity Band Presents Concert

The EC Varsity Band will present its annual spring lawn concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 13.

Conducted by Barry Shank of the Music Department, the band will play selections from "The West Side Story" by Bernstein. Two novelty numbers will be included in the presentation.

This will be the band's second concert this year.

Horne Urges Prompt Application

EC Expects 3,000 To Enroll For First Summer Session

Approximately 3,000 persons are expected to enroll for first session summer school scheduled to begin June 11 and run through July 17. Second session will run July 18-August 23.

All courses offered during summer quarter carry full degree credit. Requirements for admission are the same for summer session as for the regular year. High school graduates who expect to enter college here for the first time must submit their high school credits before registering and obtain a satisfactory score on a college entrance examination.

Students interested in attending summer session should apply as soon as possible, states Dr. John Horne, registrar. All fees are due at time of registration.

Dr. Horne also calls attention to the fact that all Home Economics courses will be offered second session rather than first session as stated in the Summer Catalogue. Lists of courses available and other useful information can be found in the Summer Catalogue.

All students are advised to read carefully the following minimum scholastic requirements regulations.

(a) A freshman must pass some work his first quarter. During his second and third quarters, he must earn at least six hours of credit each quarter. Furthermore, a freshman must earn at least 30 hours of credit during his first three quarters.

(b) In order to be eligible to enroll for the fourth, fifth and sixth quarters a student must have earned two-thirds as many quality points as he has hours at East Carolina College.

(c) During the fourth, fifth, and sixth quarters, a student must earn not less than nine hours each quarter. Moreover, a student who fails to earn a total of 35 hours during this period will be dropped. Credit is not counted again for a course which is taken to raise a non-failing grade.

(d) A student will not be enrolled for any quarter after the sixth if he has failed to earn as many quality points as he has total hours at East Carolina College.

(e) Furthermore, third and fourth year students must earn a minimum of 40 hours for each of the two years, and a minimum of 9 hours each quarter. Credit is not counted again for a course which is taken to raise a non-failing course.

A student who does not meet the above requirements by the end of the Spring Quarter MUST attend summer school in an effort to remove his deficiency in order to be considered for admission for the Fall Quarter. Such deficiency may not be removed through correspondence or attendance at another college.

Parliamentary Procedure Briefing?

Constitution Changes To Meet New Needs

Working with an inconsistent Constitution presents numerous problems and little help for advancement in any organization. Such is true of the EC SGA.

At present the SGA Constitution is being changed as the needs are met. Before the senate now are changes involving standing committees, officers, and senators-at-large. There are two numbers for senators in the present constitutions, and when the new provisions are passed, the number will be consistent throughout (13).

Someone should be awarded with an "idea-of-the-year" medal for coming up with the requirement that senate members pass a test on parliamentary procedure. Business should be business and senate members should know how to bring business before a meeting. No doubt, meetings will accomplish more if every senate member knows what is happening without an explanation from the parliamentarian on each order of business. Taking time for such explanations is boring and senseless. Senate members accept certain responsibilities when they take office and learning a few pointers on parliamentary procedure is a part of this responsibility. As the enrollment increases, the need for efficient meetings becomes more important.

Senate members will be required to "prove their knowledge and comprehension" of the SGA Constitution. Of personal desire, senate members should familiarize themselves with the constitution.

Perhaps because new officers have just been installed or perhaps because EC students are becoming unapathetic, a great deal of interest has recently been focused on the SGA and its activities.

The need of an active advisor to help handle SGA requisitions and apportionment of funds was pointed out at the last SGA meeting. Something must be done to keep SGA supported organizations from spending money they do not have and then presenting a formal request before the senate stating that they have bills and must pay them. As the college and its organizations grow, this problem will become even greater and with the help of an advisor, this practice can be eliminated. With the SGA reserve as low as it is, let's hope the spending, then asking, ceases.

Appeals For Stadium Fund

Alumni Secretary Urges Graduates To Share In Alma Mater's Growth

Dear Fellow Alumnus:
By the time you receive this letter, there will have been a public announcement of my appointment as Alumni Association secretary for East Carolina College. It is my hope that the alumni can be thoroughly organized and that constant contact can be maintained with graduates so that they may continue to share in the growth of their Alma Mater.

It is news to no one that colleges raise money to meet the rising cost of new buildings, expanded facilities, and increased enrollments. This is true at publicly supported institutions as well as at privately supported ones. Certainly it is true at East Carolina College, if the college is to maintain its growing reputation for excellence in so many areas.

During this school year you have received an appeal from your Alumni Association for funds for construction of the new James S. Ficklen Memorial Stadium. The Liggitt and Meyers Tobacco Company has initiated a plan whereby it will pay East Carolina College one penny for each empty pack of CHESTERFIELD, L&M, or OASIS cigarettes that it receives. The student body and the townspeople in Greenville are already on a collecting spree.

You can help the student body and East Carolina College by helping to collect these wrappers. You may send your contributions "wrappers" to me at the Alumni Office.

I hope that you will hear from you soon, whether you smoke or not. The college is interested in your progress, and it is the intention of this office to keep in touch. Your cooperation and your support will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
Janice G. Hardison

THE BRAMBLEBUSH

By BILL GRIFFIN

Wow! We finally got a letter from a student. I was beginning to wonder if there were anyone out there. The letter was from Huber Rhem and he was complaining about possible censorship of the student voice on our part. Well, we appreciate Mr. Rhem's interest but we aren't "not guilty."

First of all, you could hide all the letters we get from students under a gnat's left wing. You can hardly censor something that doesn't exist.

Our only requests regarding letters to the editor are: (1) that they be of pertinence or of general interest; (2) that they be signed. Names will be withheld if the case warrants and if the writer so requests; (3) that they be as brief as possible.

Mr. Rhem's letter could have easily been ignored because of its length but we chose to print it. This will not happen again. Aside from the fact that he could have said everything he said in one-third the space, let's remember that we haven't the space to air novels by budding young authors.

I don't see why we have to constantly remind the students that we are here for their benefits. The students make the school and since this is the school newspaper we cannot, nor do we have any desire to, free ourselves from the responsibility to the student. We welcome any valid comments from any of you.

End of Sermon!

It was rumored several weeks ago that a late-permission petition was being circulated. What ever happened to it?

Pertinent information department: This piece of literary ineptitude which you now have before you was once called "The Tepec Echo" Whadda ya' mean, "So what?"

Well, the big-deal weekend has come and gone. I wonder if you recuperate in time for exams.

Despite all the ribbing they take, you have to admit that the Music Department is one of the biggest assets EC possesses.

Why is it that some people think the only way to appear intelligent is to dress like a pig and write poetry and prose that only they can understand? Oh well, everyone has their own kick going, I guess.

The cast and crew of "Guys and Dolls" believe in really whopping it up. They ordered forty-five dollars worth of pizza and Pepsi's from the Varsity and asked the SGA to pay for it. A carefree move like that makes you wonder whether it was really pizza or the Varsity's more popular product.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"ARE YOU SURE THIS IS WHAT THEY MEAN BY HIGHER EDUCATION?"

Senate Member Refutes Opinions On 'Apathy'

To The Editor:

In the East Carolinian of May 4, 1962, there appeared an article from a misguided and "apathetic" student who claims he and other students have no opportunity to voice his opinions. Perhaps if Mr. Rhem had spent as much time investigating his subject matter as he did in wording his 617 word letter he would have found his letter unnecessary.

All students and faculty members at ECC have the right to speak before the Student Senate, the governing body of the SGA. These meetings are broadcast over campus radio and television. Every student has the same right as a senate member except the privilege of vote.

We at ECC are blessed with having a most open minded President, Dr. Jenkins, and Dean of Student Affairs, Dr. Tucker. Students are always welcome in either of their offices to express their opinions on affairs of the college.

If Mr. Rhem is not content with letters to the Editor, or speaking with Dr. Tucker or merely addressing the Senate, then I suggest he run for office next year. If he wins, we shall hear his voice in the Senate plus we shall see his vote in the minutes.

Sincerely yours,
An Unapathetic Student

EC Enters Radio Show Competition

EC is among the more than thirty-five colleges and universities which have submitted entries in the First National Radio Competition In Work For The Blind, sponsored by the American Foundation for the Blind in the hope that it will encourage institutions of higher learning to become more familiar with the sociological problems of blindness and to develop means of understanding them.

The radio shows will be judged on the basis of the understanding of blindness, radio technique, originality, adaptability for long range, long term use, voice quality, music, scope (national or local) and plot (drama) or continuity (documentary).

'Merchant Of Venice' Makes Final Showing

William Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice" is in its final performance tonight in the Flanagan Sylvan Theater on the west campus. Tonight's performance begins at 8 p.m.

The Playhouse production is a featured attraction of the 27th Annual Community Fine Arts Festival which opens on campus tomorrow.

Dr. J. A. Withey of the English faculty is directing the comedy cast of twenty-five students and faculty members, and a technical and production staff of approximately twenty people.

Lawrence Behr, a psychology major, plays the role of Lorenzo, a young Venetian who is the romantic lover determined to elope with Jessica Shylock's beautiful daughter. Lorenzo's deep feelings, intensely alive to delight, and his sense of humor saves sentiment from extravagance or unreality.

Behr has performed earlier this year in "The Wages of Sin" as Ko Ba. He also appeared among the cast in "Romeo and Juliet" a 1958 Playhouse production.

Barnie Barrett, in the role of Bassanio, is a suitor to Portia, the rich heiress of Belmont whose love may be won only by the suitor who is successful at a game conceived by her dead father. Simplicity, directness, and courage, combined with a perfect ease and kindness of bearing and manner, make him the center of his group. Bassanio, Antonio's Chosen friend, loves the world only for Bassanio's sake.

Appearing for the first time with the Playhouse, is Burke Stancill, in the role of Gratiano, a friend to Antonio and Bassanio. A talkative young gentleman, Gratiano is excellent company. His marriage to Nerissa, waiting-maid to Portia, is the perfect match for the loquacious man.

Portraying Shakespeare's female characters are Mrs. Lois Garren, in the role of Portia. Mrs. Garren is remembered for her highly praised performances in past productions of "Romeo and Juliet," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and "Antigone." Aiding Portia in her search for the ideal man is Nerissa, portrayed by Suzi Truesdale, who brought quality performance to her role of Anne in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

Tickets may be obtained in the College Union preceding tonight's performance. General admission tickets are priced at one dollar, with a special price of fifty cents for high school students.

Big, Black Auto Prowls Greenville's Streets

'Untouchables' Collect Funds

(From Greenville Daily Reflector)
The "Untouchables" they were tagged, this group of men who prowled Greenville's streets in a big black auto for a week on two occasions.

They played the part well. The vehicle, carrying six men, moved slowly down the city's business streets. It would duck into a parking space. The men would pile out and disappear into a store. In a few minutes they would reappear, step back into the car and move on. The scene was repeated at another business and another.

A protection racket? Hardly. There were no violin cases, no broken up store displays, no burning gasoline bombs. And yet, in one week they collected more funds — with no foreseeable direct returns to the donors — for one specific project than had ever been accomplished here before.

The Untouchables was what the curb stone observers dubbed them but they were known more formally to the business and professional men they called on as "The Committee."

Their job? To raise between $100,000 and $150,000 in voluntary contributions to construct a new outdoor stadium for the fast growing East Carolina College.

The results? In one week, they had pledges totaling between $200,000 and $215,000.

It was last fall that Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, ECC president, approached W. M. Scales Jr., Greenville insurance man who has a fantastic record for raising money when worthwhile causes are involved.

He asked Scales to become chairman of the drive to finance the James S. Ficklen Memorial Stadium. The 16,000-seat concrete structure was to replace ECC's 6,000 capacity steel-bleacher stadium. It was a part of the college's efforts to move up in athletics by seeking Southern Conference membership.

Scales agreed to take the job if he could obtain the men he wanted for the committee.

The chairman, "Booger" Scales is a highly successful insurance man.

There was also Reynolds May, president of a lumber firm and once a star Duke baseball player; R. Wallace Howard, senior vice president of a bank; Howard Hodges, Jr., president of a Greenville firm, who once played football at UNC; J. Con Lanier, Sr., a lawyer;

James T. Little, president of a sales company; Dr. E. B. Aycock, a physician; David J. Whichard, of The Daily Reflector, and Dr. Jenkins.

Little, a close friend of the late tobaccoist James S. Ficklen, for whom the stadium is to be named, it was decided, could best approach friends of Ficklen outside Greenville. Lanier was given the job of contacting tobacco industry personnel who might be interested in contributing to the memorial. Dr. Aycock was asked to contact members of the medical profession.

The remaining six decided to travel as a group. They agreed to take a full week from their occupations to carry on the work. They carefully sized up each project and the committee member who felt he could best handle the presentation did so.

The response was enthusiastic beyond expectations. There were even such situations as the businessman who asked what the committee felt his fair share should be. Based on other pledges at the time, the committee suggested $2,000.

He shook his head. "I don't think that's our fair share," he told them. "We've talked about it and think our share should be $3,000." That's what he pledged.

So when the week's work ended more than $200,000 had been raised, including $25,000 promised by the college from students, organizations, faculty and alumni.

From this point on, the stadium was to face three crises. The first came with the defeat of the state bond issue in November. Thus was lost $50,000 which was to have been used for moving seats and facilities from the old stadium site, making room for a new classroom building.

The committee went to work again raising additional money. It was harder this time but they brought the total to approximately $272,000.

Then came news that plans would be needed for the stadium and this would cost an additional $30,000. Finally bids were taken and they ran $389,505, far too high for the money on hand.

None of these problems brought despair. The stadium plans are now being altered, separate bids are to be taken for the piling in a time limit which would have the stadium ready for the first game next fall will be relaxed.

What's more, funds are still coming in. A wrestling match sponsored by the committee netted $1,300 and a benefit performance of "Guys and Dolls," the arena student musical, brought in $1,500.

The James S. Ficklen Memorial Stadium is nearing reality.

Volunteers Provide Recreation

'Twist' Entertainment Saves Souls Of College Vacationers

By CAROL EULER
"Twist" Popular Hit

A new "twist" was the soul savior of 30,000 college students at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, during the 1962 spring vacation visitation.

Fort Lauderdale, it seems, is reforming. Municipal officials and civic leaders, jubilant over the conduct of the undergraduates this spring, credit the students' behavior to planned recreation and entertainment. These plans were to alter the reputation of collegiate vacationers that developed a year ago at the famous resort.

A volunteer organization of 350 community leaders, backed by the municipal administration, managed to please the restless collegians with a program that offered entertainment and activity for the students at night as well as the daylight hours.

The most popular hit of the program was dancing the "Twist" in a special beach area designed for collegians only. An entertainment fund of $11,400 furnished live music. This fund was appropriated by the city and administered by a civic committee headed by a Presbyterian minister. The dancing attracted a nightly crowd of thousands.

During the day, the city recreation department offered such competitive events as tugs o' war, volleyball, and swimming races. The constant clamor for continued entertainment, declared the prothis phase of the program.

"Hello" Booths
Eligibility for participation in the day and night activities required collegians to register at "hello" booths manned by community volunteers. Nearly 20,000 students received buttons entitling them to admission.

Local residents entertained dozens of students in their homes. They arranged special cookouts and splash parties, and some even invited them to accept accommodations in private homes.

Edmund R. Burry, Mayor of Fort Lauderdale, called the program an "unqualified success," and stated that "Our young visitors and our public spirited citizens deserve equal plaudits for the new vacation script."

Fort Lauderdale achieved its 1962 goal — to create a pleasant environment for students as well as local residents. Continuation of the program next Spring is expected.

'White Elephant' Sale Nets CU Check For EC Stadium Fund

Found items turned in to the College Union "Lost and Found" which have been held over a two weeks' period were put up for sale last week at the College Union's "White Elephant" sale.

Umbrellas, gloves, windbreaker jackets, sweaters, raincoats, scarves, even a pair of ladies' pumps, to mention only a few items, were among the collection.

The College Union voted at its final meeting to donate the receipts from this sale to the College Union Stadium Fund. At the Awards and Installation Banquet held Wednesday, May 2, C U President Jimmy Taylor presented a cashier's check for $40.00 to Dr. Leo Jenkins.

It is not the number of books you read, nor the variety of sermons you hear, nor the amount of religious conversation in which you mix, but it is the frequency and earnestness with which you meditate on these things 'till the truth in them becomes your own and part of your being, that ensures your growth. — F. COLE'S CORNER

By DAN RAY

The Pirate Nine will return for a home game with Elon this Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. On May 14, they wrap up their schedule when they play Western Carolina here.

The track team, coached by Odell Welborn, will be engaged in the Conference meet this Saturday.

May 14 and 15 are the dates of the Carolinas Conference and NAIA Golf Tournament, which will be played in Boone.

The tennis team will wind up an outstanding season when they meet the conference foes in the Carolinas Conference Tournament today and tomorrow in Wilson.

Pfeiffer caught on fire last week when they won four in a row to jump into top conference honors with Lenoir Rhyne. The Falcons were briefly leading until the Bears topped Elon to pull their season mark to 11-3, and a tie for top honors.

Although EC scheduled a lot of games with teams not in the Carolinas, they are holding a fourth place tie with Newberry.

EC Winner Over AC With 11 Firsts

EC's track team won their second meet of the season against ACC when they defeated them 813-4 to 491-4. EC won 11 first places as compared to 4 firsts by their opponents.

Tugwell EC's No. 1 Man; Tournament Held Here

Nelson Tugwell defeated Bowie Martin in the Tournament of Champions to become EC's No. 1 table tennis player. Tugwell dropped the first game but came from behind in the second to take the match.

Mike Harris defeated all players except Martin and Tugwell to capture third position, while outstanding defensive player Fleetwood Lilley came out fourth, defeating Dennis Creech and John Knarr. Knarr defeated Creech to hold fifth position, and Creech automatically became No. 6.

The ranking for 1962-63 now stand as follows:

1. NELSON TUGWELL
2. BOWIE MARTIN
3. MIKE HARRIS
4. FLEETWOOD LILLEY

5. JOHN KNARR
6. DENNIS CREECH

An appreciative crowd of spectators saw Bobby Fields of Los Angeles defeat Martin Doss of New York City in the finals of the Eastern Carolina Open Table Tennis Tournament held at the Greenville Club last Sunday.

Fields, ranked fourth in the U. S., dropped only the first game to Doss and then defeated him three straight to take the title. Fields is ranked No. 4 in the U. S., while Doss is No. 5. Fields is the Canadian Open Men's Champion, while Doss has been the Canadian Doubles Champion for two consecutive years. Both players have represented the U. S. in many countries and will be on tour again soon.

Wake Squeezes Past Pirate Nine To Gain Victory

Wake Forest barely escaped the clutches of EC's Pirates as they took their 12-11 victory and breathed a sigh of relief. EC won against Wake Forest earlier in the season by a score of 10-9.

Lacy West belted a grand-slam home run in the second inning, and Wake's Bob Worrell also connected with one for a 4-run slam in the sixth.

Wake scored five times in the first, and EC bounced back in the second with five, greatly aided by West's clout. The Deacs scored three more in the second to go in front by a score of 8-5.

The Bucs tallied in the fifth and tied it in the sixth when Spencer Gaylord and Carlton Barnes slapped doubles one behind the other to score two more runs.

Then the Deacons came back with two walks and a hit batter to load the bases. Bob Worrell stepped up and crushed one to center that took a high bounce over Bobby Joyce's head and rolled to the fence for an inside-the-park grand slam.

There being no action in the seventh inning, EC came back in the eighth. We scored after the bases were loaded on walks by Pardue and then a fourth walk by relief pitcher Don Roth. Charlie Johnson stepped up and singled to drive in two more runs to make it 12-11. Mandy relieved Roth and retired Joyce and pinch hitter Art Henretta for the last two outs of the inning. In the ninth, Mandy retired two of the Buc's three outs on strike-outs.

Carlton Barnes, a freshman from Wilson, N. C., leads the team in hitting—over .500, RBI's, singles, and doubles. Barnes, shortstop for the team, fields well, moves extremely well to the left, and gets a jump on the ball.
