

East Carolinian

East Carolina College

Volume XXXVII

GREENVILLE, N. C., THURSDAY, JULY 19, 1962

Number 50

'Buc Beauty'

Betsy Martin, petite, hazel-eyed brownette, from Raleigh pauses for a brief, but cooling 'dip' in the Wright fountain. A Primary Education major, Betsy is an enthusiastic tennis player and dancer in her spare time. She will be teaching in Princess Anne County this Fall.

College Enlarges Laundry, Cafeteria Facilities For Jones

Because of recent increase in enrollment and prospects of a further rise in number of students this fall, EC will enlarge its facilities in the laundry and the cafeteria in Jones Hall for men during this summer. Vice President and Business Manager F. D. Duncan has stated.

Construction work is now in progress to convert the college garage on the South Campus into an office and a receiving and distributing center for laundry. The garage, a brick structure, is located just across a driveway in front of the laundry. Space vacated will be used for regular operations at the laundry.

The office of W. E. Boswell, superintendent, will be located in the new accommodations. A drive-in service for depositing and picking up bundles will be provided when construction is completed.

In Jones Hall, the recreation room for students will be remodeled into a cafeteria equipped with a counter and seating arrangements.

The present cafeteria was originally planned to serve students in Jones and Aycock Halls, which are now in use. With the completion of a third dormitory for men by the beginning of the fall quarter, the additional space will be needed to meet the needs of students.

The kitchen now serving Jones cafeteria will be used for the new facility.

Work on these projects is being done by the college building and maintenance staff and, according to plans, will be ready for use at the opening of the fall quarter in September.

Teachers Enroll In College Reading Class

East Carolina College's Summer Reading Clinic has an enrollment of twenty-four men and women, most of them teachers, who are participating June 11-July 17 on a program dealing with the teaching of remedial reading for pupils from the primary grades through the junior high school.

Directed by Dr. Keith Holmes of the college department of education, the clinic provides opportunity for teachers and prospective teachers to use new techniques and practices in reading instruction. They also gain experience in working with children with special difficulties as readers.

Forty-eight children attending the clinic have reading problems typical of those found in the average classroom. Each adult enrolled serves as a clinical assistant and, working with one or two children, gives individual attention to the child's problems and his improvement as a reader.

'No Time For Sergeants' Author Initiates East Carolina TV Writing Course

College Schedules Second Session Special Events

The second term of the 1962 Summer Session will include, in addition to work in fourteen departments of instruction, a number of special educational events for students and teachers. The term will continue through August 23.

The ninth annual Summer Music Camp July 22-August 4 will bring to the campus more than 500 junior and senior high school students, as well as teachers of music, for a two-week program of concentrated activity.

Other events include a workshop in Activities in Physical Education for Elementary Schools, July 19-31; the second annual Junior High School Workshop offered by the Department of Education, July 19-July 31; a Secondary Choral and Instrumental Music Workshop for graduate students attending the Summer Music Camp, July 22-August 4; a Conference on Basic Business and Economics offered by the School of Business, July 23-27; and a Summer Institute for Junior High School Science Teachers sponsored by the National Science Foundation, July 16-August 24.

With the closing of the 1962 Summer Session, the interval between August 23 and September 10 will be spent at the college in preparation for the beginning of the 1962-1963 academic program. A faculty meeting and opening of the Freshman Orientation and Guidance Program September 10 will begin the regular school year on the campus.

College Offers Workshop In Educational Aids

EC will offer during the Second Summer Term its Seventh Annual Workshop in Visual Aids in Education designed especially to acquaint teachers and prospective teachers with devices and techniques useful in instruction.

Scheduled for July 19-August 31, the course will be open to senior and graduate students and will carry three quarter hours of credit. Classes will meet in the Library auditorium from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Marguerite Crenshaw of the Library staff will direct the workshop. Wilbur A. Ballenger of Greenville Director of Education at the Eighth Street Christian Church and teacher of English at the Rose High School here, will be assistant instructor. A number of visiting consultants will also take part in the program.

Included in the workshop program will be demonstration and practice in operating various types of projectors, making slides and transparencies, and using tape recorders.

Mac Hyman, author of "No Time For Sergeants," will join the faculty of East Carolina College in September, President Jenkins has announced.

As a member of the Department of English, Mr. Hyman will be associated with Professor Ovid Pierce in the creative writing program at the college and will also initiate a course in writing for TV, Dr. Jenkins said.

"No Time For Sergeants," a novel published by Random House in 1954, set the reading public to laughing and became a best seller. As a play and a movie, both starring North Carolina's Andy Griffith, it again scored hits.

Mr. Hyman's short stories have appeared in "Esquire," "Paris Review," "Arts Forum," Martha Foley's "The Best American Short Stories," and elsewhere. He has also worked in television as a script writer.

A native of Cordele, Ga., where he now lives, Mr. Hyman is a graduate of Duke University, and has done graduate work at Columbia University.

He served in the U. S. Air Force in 1943-1945 and again in 1949-1952. During World War II, for approximately a year he was in the Pacific area and as a B-29 navigator with the rank of lieutenant had flown by the end of the war more than twenty combat missions over Japan.

Mr. Hyman's wife is the former Gwendolyn Holt of Cordele, Ga. They have three children, Gwen Ellen, Katrena, and Thomas Holt.

Ebbs Begins Executive Duties For Association

Dr. John D. Ebbs of the English Department began this week his duties as Executive Secretary of the N. C. English Teachers Association. This post, held for the past nineteen years by Dr. E. H. Hartsell of the English faculty at the University of North Carolina, brings the headquarters of the Association to East Carolina College.

Dr. Ebbs was elected to succeed Dr. Hartsell in the position of leadership among the state's teachers of English at the meeting of the NCETA in Chapel Hill July 5-6.

He has worked actively in the NCETA as a member of the Central Committee, chairman of the Professional Standards Committee, and Liason Officer. The Association, which now has a membership of over 1,000 members, is dedicated to the improvement of English instruction in the public schools and colleges of North Carolina.

Dr. Ebbs' duties will be to coordinate all committee work, handle all finances, arrange for both local and state meetings, and supervise the publication of "The English Teacher," the official journal of the Association.

His immediate plans as Executive Secretary are to put into operation an active membership drive; make plans for the annual fall meeting, to be held at Wake Forest College this year; and increase the size and quality of "The English Teacher."

Dr. Ebbs has been a faculty member at East Carolina since September, 1960. An A.B., M.A., and Ph.D. graduate of the University of North Carolina, he taught before coming to East Carolina in the Clinton, N. C., public schools and at Texas A and M, the University of North Carolina, and High Point College.

Lowry Engages In S. A. Research

Dr. Jean Lowry, faculty member of the Department of Geography, left Greenville Monday, July 16, for Chile, where she will be engaged in geological research work during 1962-1963. After a year's leave of absence, she plans to resume her duties at the college here.

During her stay in South America, she will be a visiting professor at the University of Chile in Concepcion. In addition to research and field study, she will be engaged in organizing the geological collections in the university museum. Her year in Chile is financed by the Ford Foundation.

While in South America, Dr. Lowry plans to visit Patagonia in the Southern tip of Argentina and, with a friend employed by an oil company in Comodora Rivadavia, to make a trip to Tierra del Fuego.

Dr. Lowry joined the faculty of East Carolina College in 1958 as a member of the Department of Geography. She holds the B. S. degree from Pennsylvania State University and the Ph.D. from Yale University.

Her experience before coming to Greenville includes work as a geologist with the U. S. Geological Survey, the Tennessee Division of Geology, and the Virginia Geological Survey.

Division Offers Play Production

EC, through its Extension Division, will offer, July 20-August 2, English 131a at the Presbyterian Church, Carolina Beach, N. C., as a special attraction of its program for the 1962 Summer Session. Dr. Ralph Brimley, Director of Extension, has announced.

The course, Play Production: Stagecraft, carrying two quarter hours of credit, will be taught Monday-Friday, 10 a.m.-12 noon, for two weeks. The cost of the course is $8.00 per quarter hour. Dr. J. A. Withey, Director of the East Carolina College Playhouse, will serve as instructor.

All interested persons are requested to attend the first class meeting on July 20.

Prayer Decision; Spark Of Truth

The Supreme Court has been the object of a deluge of criticism since its recent decision concerning prayer in the public schools. Much of this criticism has come from people who didn't really know what they were criticizing. Time magazine (July 6) relates the story of the Atlanta clergyman who called the decision "the most terrible thing that's ever happened to us"—then admitted he did not really know what the decision said.

Others objected on the grounds that the specific prayer which prompted the decision (one used in New York schools and adopted by the State board of Regents) was so brief and non-sectarian that it could hardly be offensive. Inoffensive as the prayer may have seemed, it offended a lot of people. The American Jewish Congress, the American Civil Liberties Union, the leaders of a Lutheran Church in New York, the Methodist Church board in Schenectady, N. Y., and various free-thinker groups protested against it.

Others had their own reasons for objecting to the decision. At any rate, the criticism has been hot and heavy.

Regardless of all this, it is refreshing to see a spark of truth in a world over-run with dogma, emotion, and warped reasoning. Here we have five men (five supporters of the decision, one dissented, two took no part in the ruling) who have taken the stand that says "We have a definite constitutional statement supporting separation of Church and State. We should abide by it." In doing so they have upset a lot of people but a group of thirteen Universalist Unitarian ministers in New York issued a statement declaring that the decision was not only constitutionally sound but also in the interest of religion. (Certain facts used herein were extracted from Time Magazine, July 6.)

Satisfied?

"There is no hope for the satisfied man."—Fredrick Bonfils.

The above quotation warrents the attention of every student, faculty member, and administrator of East Carolina College. This thought should be presented, most especially, to those who would have us accept the status quo in anything which affects the College.

If the people connected with the College back in 1917 had been satisfied we would still be marching the girls up town en masse during the day and chaining up the gates at night. EC did not grow from a tiny, unheard-of teachers training school to a major state institution under the leadership of satisfied students, faculty members, and administrators. In short, the growth of this college is a product of dissatisfaction.

With this in mind, it is hard to imagine the dissatisfied being looked on with suspicion. Yet there is no denying the fact that it happens. Perhaps this is typical of the conservative South. This is still no justification for it. The citizen, and especially the citizen of the college community, should be encouraged to speak. If he is a crank he will be recognized as being a crank. Chances are, however, that he will have something worthwhile to say.

East Carolinian

Published weekly by the students of East Carolina College, Greenville, North Carolina

Member
Carolinas Collegiate Press Association
Associated Collegiate Press
Bill Griffin	Keith Hobbs
EDITOR	BUSINESS MANAGER
Associate Editor	Walter Faulkner
Managing Editors	Monty Mills, Kaye Burgess
Sports Editor	Tom McAlister
Proofreading Directors	Carla Shiller, Yotey Cantrell
Subscription Director	Jackie Polk
Columnists	June Grimes, Monty Mills,
Kaye Burgess, Richard Boyd, Walter Faulkner
Typist	Beth Couch

Offices on second floor of Wright Building. Telephone, all departments, PL 2-6101, extension 264. Subscription rate: $2.50 per year.

From the "Rubayait of Omar Khayyam."
"The moving finger writes, and, having writ,
Moves on; nor all your piety nor wit,
Shall lure it back to cancel half a line.
Nor all your tears wash out a word of it."
translated by E. Fitzgerald.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Can We Be Proud?

By JANICE HARDISON

The college student is a young person who will . . . use his car to get from the College Union to the library when the library is halfway between the Union and the nearest parking lot . . . move heaven, earth, and the Dean's office to enroll in a class that is already filled, then drop the course . . . declare for four solid years that the girls in his institution are the least attractive and the dumbest females on earth and then marry one of them.

If he is enrolled at East Carolina College, he has another characteristic too. It is his constant complaint that his College holds the record for lack of school spirit, backed up by his willful intent to protect that record to his death.

Yes, this is another column about school spirit. It says nothing new or different. It fails even to reaffirm confidence in the old conviction that every student ought to have school spirit. It does not presume to define school spirit or even to encourage it. It seeks rather to set forth the proposition that school spirit results from pride in past achievement and from sharing in the common goal of surpassing that achievement.

What have we to be proud of? Many things. To cite a few, an East Carolina College alumnus manned radio for flight of Alan Shepard through space. An East Carolina College alumnus is a recreation specialist in arts and crafts in the U. S. Special Services program overseas. An East Carolina College alumnus was at the control tower which directed Gary Powers on the fateful U-2 flight. Another has a current art exhibit in an Oklahoma City art gallery. A former Playhouse member appeared as the villain in a recent episode of "Bonanza," filmed between his motion picture commitments. An alumna has the library at the College of the Albemarle named in her honor. One alumnus is a successful newspaper editor. Another was named last season's most valuable player for the Buffalo Bills professional football team. An ECC graduate edits the DuPont employee's magazine.

So much for the past. What is the spirit of the present?

Civilization depends upon the sharing of a common goal of surpassing past achievement. If we fail, then we go back to the beginning and start again. School spirit then is generated through this surpassing of past achievement. School spirit is not engendered by external sources. It is born of the pulse that beats in every student who tastes success—even vicariously. It comes with the awareness that one is a part of the greatest enterprise on earth—the education of man for life. School spirit is born in the classroom, the library, the dining hall, the dormitory, the College Union, and in scores of enterprises, organized and unorganized, and classed generally as "extra-curricular activities." School spirit is created in the process of learning to better oneself and the world. It comes with the cultivation of a friend that can be counted on; with the matching of one's wits against those of a favorite professor; with the winning of a student election; with the protesting against defeat; with the discovery of some purpose beyond security and an $18,000 a year job.

School spirit is nurtured in the heart of every student who has pride in the past achievement of his College and who shares with fellow students the common goal of surpassing that achievement, whether in the classroom, on the athletic field, or in any area of his college life. East Carolina deserves school spirit. It has earned it, because it can be proud of past achievement and because it aims to surpass that achievement for the common good of men.

The EAST CAROLINIAN welcomes letters from its readers. The briefer they are, the better is the prospect of publication. Letters should be kept to a minimum of 250 words. All are subject to condensation and should conform to the standards of good taste and decency. We assume no responsibility for statements made. All letters to the EAST CAROLINIAN must be signed.

Letters

CLOSING HOURS

Dear Editor:

As a woman student at East Carolina, I am very interested in hearing more about the new proposed closing hours for women students. These new closing hours were the subject of much interest to the whole campus during Spring quarter. What, if anything, has been done or can be done at this time?

I believe, as I am sure many others on campus do, that the closing hours could be slightly altered without any damaging effects to the college as a whole.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate you and your staff on the excellent publications you have sent out during this summer session.

Sincerely,

Kay Temple.

An Interested Student

Editors Note: In a recent meeting between SGA leaders and the Deans of the College, the following closing hours were proposed by SGA President Bill Eyerman and Treasurer Tom Mallison: Friday night—12:00 midnight; Saturday night—1:00 a.m.; Sunday night—11:00 p.m.

These proposed closing hours were rejected. Dean White stated, however, that she would send out questionnaires to the parents of all women students. The questionnaire, she said, would concern closing hours, drinking regulations, and other matters affecting women students.

Neither the results of the questionnaire or the effect of the findings on the regulations have yet been determined.

The Inquirer

By JIM SHANAHAN

It was easy to predict the answers to this week's inquirer question. The question was, "Do you think the regulations for ECC girls are out-dated or over protecting?"

The response indicates many shortcomings in the current restrictions imposed upon women students.

Many of the rules are necessary especially for the Freshmen who are away from home for the first time. However, it is obvious to the most casual observer that the 10:30 p.m. Cinderella time for girls twenty and twenty-one years old is ridiculous.

The restrictions on drinking are also outdated. This may come as a shock to some "mother hens" but this is 1962 and there is a world outside that gate which is not all as nice and clean as it should be.

It is time to re-examine the regulations for women with the purpose of bringing them up to the current times.

Here are four other opinions taken from around campus:

Andra Whichard, Freshman, "I think that some of the regulations are definitely too severe and too old fashioned."

Duncan Stackpole, Junior, "I think that the restrictions are a bit firm but not extremely so."

Sandy Pollock, Senior, "I believe that the girls have sufficient freedom."

Jerry Joyce, Sophomore, "On the whole, I think that they are lenient but some of them do have to be brought up to date."

BRIDGE BEGINNERS This beginner's class, summer school. Any interest from 3 to 4 p. m.

Impressed With

Ramsey Response

When Ramsey Lewis party walked onto the Wright Auditorium last evening they were met by an audience. The crowd was evident, however, that lacked in number they compensated for with enthusiasm. The warm response the Ramsey Lewis Trio was not unearned. The try of Lewis, his bass Taylor, and his piano "Red" Holt, was explosive.

STARTS SUNDAY July 22

"BOY NIGHT OUT"

In Color -- Starting

Kim Novak
Tony Randall
James Garner

PITT THEATRE

DELICIOUS

SE

Car

Corn

BRIDGE BEGINNERS . . . Mrs. Scarlett Miller gives her bridge student, Cherry Garris, a few pointers. This beginner's class, which began during first session, will continue through second session of summer school. Any interested student will find the bridge lessons being given in the CU this Thursday from 3 to 4 p. m.

Impressed With Entertainment Series

Ramsey Swings; Earns Good Response From Small Crowd

When Ramsey Lewis and company walked onto the stage of Wright Auditorium last Thursday evening they were met by a small audience. The crowd soon made it evident, however, that what they lacked in number they would compensate for with enthusiasm. The warm response with which the Ramsey Lewis Trio was greeted was not unearned. The jazz artist of Lewis, his bassist, El Dee Taylor, and his percussionist, "Red" Holt, was exploited to the fullest.

In an informal discussion after the concert, Lewis admitted that he had expected a larger crowd but said, "We were pleased with the reception. It was a good crowd." When asked how much improvisation was involved in their selections, "Red" Holt said, "The only thing that's planned is the opening statement of the theme by Ramsey on the piano. After that, anything goes." When asked how he knew what to do and when to do it, he replied, "You just listen and you know. You feel it." All three of the trio seemed impressed with the entertainment series as a whole. Upon hearing a list of the entertainers booked for future appearances at EC, Lewis exclaimed, "This place deserves a mention in Downbeat." "Red" Holt had this advice for aspiring jazz artists: "It's like the tourst in New York trying to find Carnegie Hall. He asked this cat down in Greenwich Village, 'How do you get to Carnegie Hall?' The cat answered, 'Practice, man, practice.'"

Bradford, Stainback Second

Smith, Willoughby Take Honors In Talent Show

EC students served as talent scouts as the College Union sponsored a Student Talent Show, Tuesday, July 10. The committee for the entertainment, a periodical function of the College Union, was chaired by CU President James Cannon.

Mary Smith of Greenville, who sang "Lazy River" and "Blue Moon" for a capacity crowd in the Austin auditorium, and Sandra Willoughby of Wilmington, who presented a popular piano medley took first place honors.

Ann Bradford of Fayetteville with her rendition of the "South Pacific" favorite "Honey Bun," and Sandra Stainback of Henderson, singing "Ebb Tide" and "Al Di La," tied for second place honors. James Cannon, College Union president, walked off with the third place prize for his "I'll Never Stop Loving You."

Other students displaying talent as participants in the show were Mary Alice Maynard of Dunn; Evelyn Eakes of Oxford; Laverne Eatmon of Greensboro; Effie Lee Aman of Jacksonville; and Sylvia Hutton of Rocky Mount.

Student assistants for the production included Michael Keziah of Gastonia, master of ceremonies; David Cobb of Greenville, stage manager; Sue Britt of Bladenboro, and Catherine Hollingsworth of Teochey, chairmen of the committee on judging.

Judges for the student talents were Mrs. Helen Snyder, dormitory counselor of Garrett Hall; Mrs. Corbett Daughtry of Greenville, former College Union president; and Bill Eyerman, president of the SGA.

Moore To Head Home Economics

Dr. Miriam Brown Moore of Statesboro, Ga., has arrived at EC to begin her duties as Director of the Department of Home Economics. She replaces Dr. Bessie McNeil, who after twelve years in the position resigned to begin work this summer as a home economist in Leopoldville, Republic of the Congo.

A native of Hart County, Ga., she received her education at the University of Georgia at Athens, from which she holds the bachelor's and the master's degrees, and at Ohio State University, where she completed work for the Ph. D. degree last year.

Her experience includes also positions in vocational high school home economics in Coffee and Bulloch counties in Georgia and work in teacher training in home economics at Georgia Southern College in Statesboro.

The College Shop
222 E. 5th Street

REMODELING SALE

REDUCTIONS

Up To One-Half OFF

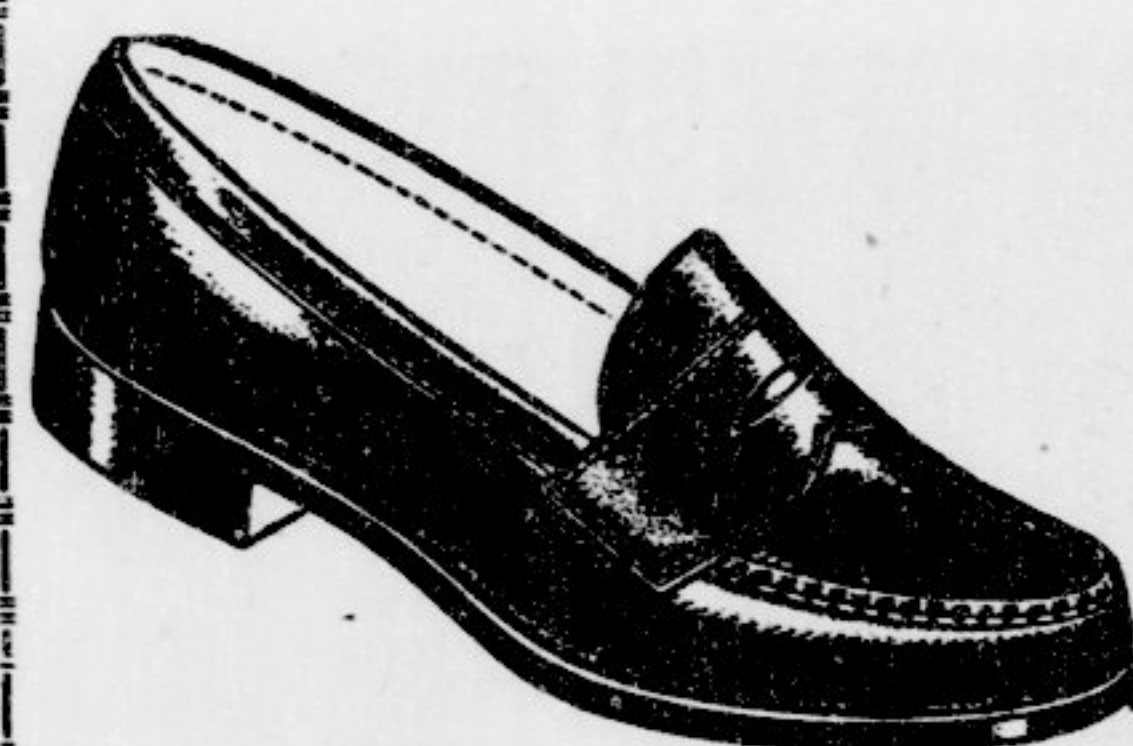

Campus Corner
Cor. Fifth and Cotanche

"Dedicated To . . .
A Young Man's Taste"

Coed Receives Award At Tri-Sigma Meet

Theresa McDaniel, past treasurer of Sigma Sigma Sigma's Gamma Beta chapter, was awarded the Mabel Lee Walton Leadership Award at the 26th National Convention of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority held June 29-July 3 at the Buena Vista Hotel, Biloxi, Mississippi. This annual award recognizes development of collegiate leadership, both within and without the sorority chapter and is a supreme honor to a collegiate Tri Sigma whose personal achievements indicate distinctive potentialities.

Ladies WEEJUNS

Brown, Black and Navy
$12.95

EXCLUSIVE AT

ALSO
Men's WEEJUNS
Brown, Black and Cordovan Color
$15.95

Cordovan Tip WEEJUNS $22.95

STARTS SUNDAY
July 22

"BOYS NIGHT OUT"

In Color -- Starring
Kim Novak
Tony Randall
James Garner

PITT THEATRE

DELICIOUS FOOD

SERVED 24 HOURS

Air Conditioned

Carolina Grill

Corner W. 9th & Dickinson

We all make mistakes . . .

ERASE WITHOUT A TRACE ON EATON'S CORRASABLE BOND

Typing errors never show on Corrasable. The special surface of this paper makes it possible to erase without a trace—with just an ordinary pencil eraser. Results: clean-looking, perfectly typed papers. Next time you sit down at the keyboard, make no mistake—type on Corrasable!

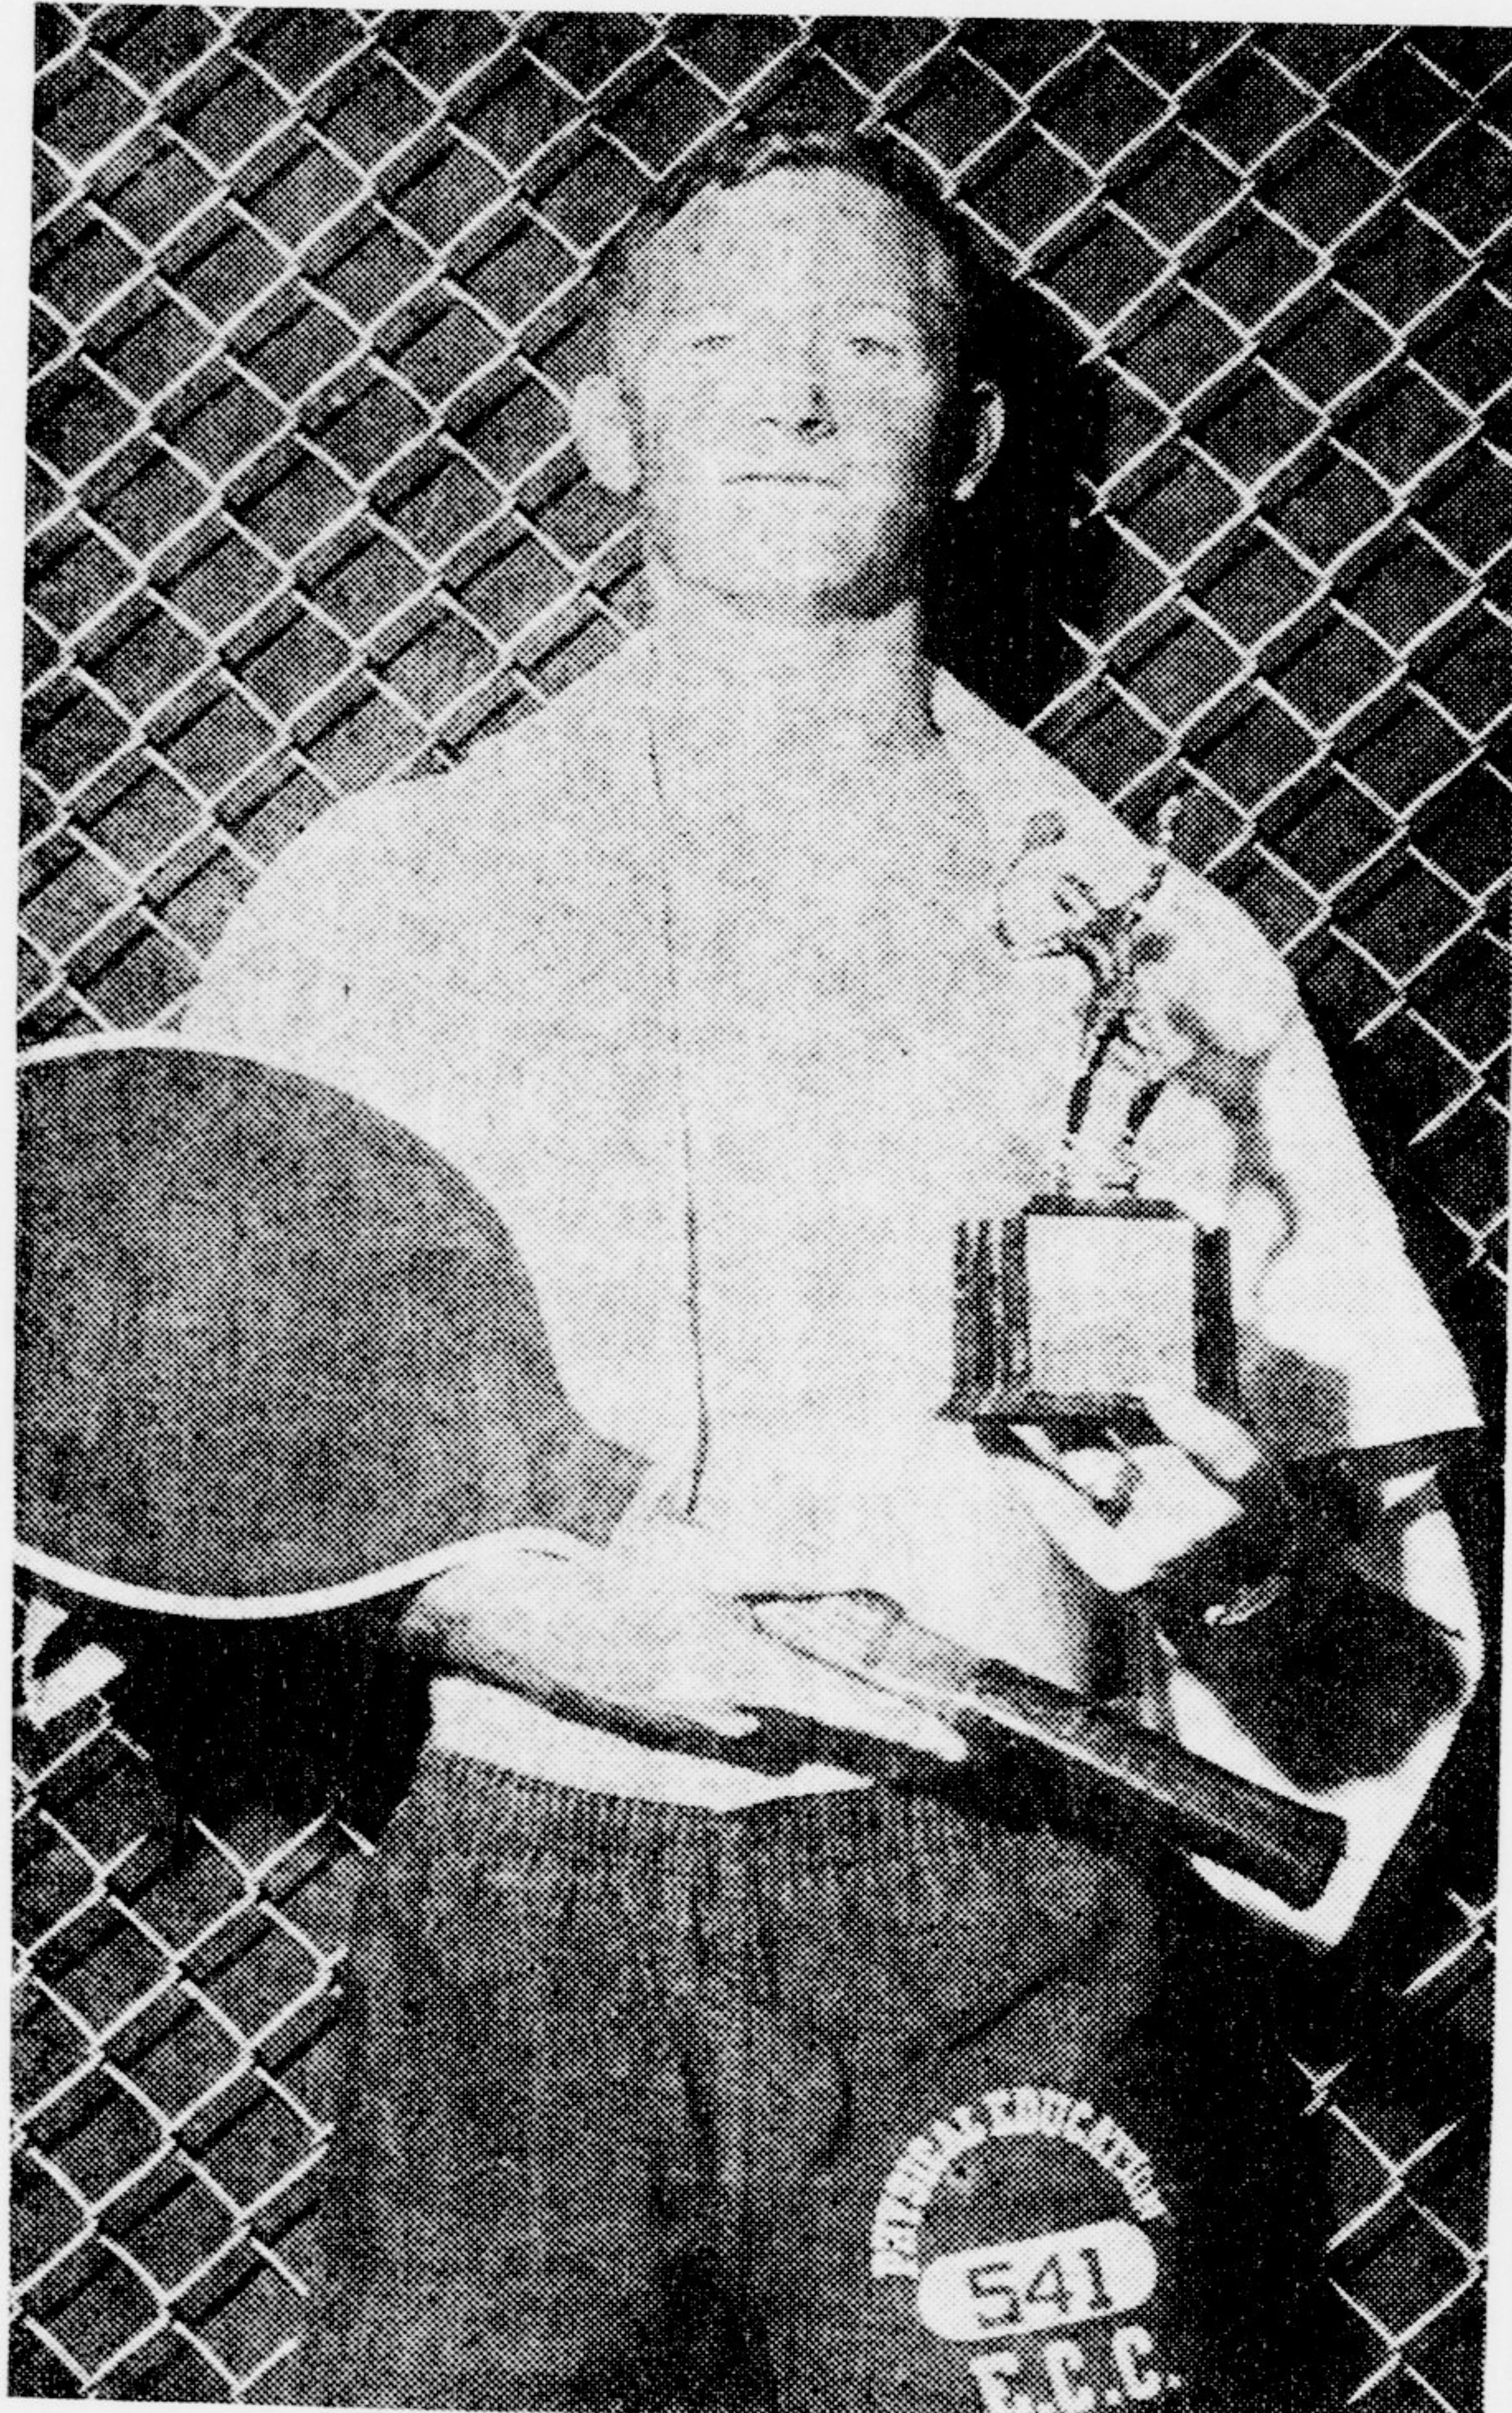

Your choice of Corrasable in light, medium, heavy weights and Onion Skin. In handy 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet boxes. Only Eaton makes Corrasable.

A Berkshire Typewriter Paper

EATON PAPER CORPORATION PITTSFIELD, MASS.

Rennie Clark, Intramural Champion

Rennie Clark captured the first session summer school men's intramural singles tennis championship by defeating Bob Nelson in sets of 7-5 and 7-5.

Third Place Unknowns Unseat Leading Humpers

By TOM McALISTER

There is a very inappropriately named softball team on the East Carolina campus. The well known Unknowns. This intramural team broke the ranks and unseated the league leading Humpers Thursday afternoon in what proved to be a close score championship play-off.

The second place Lambda Chi's were the first victims of these hustling roundballers Wednesday afternoon in a close 9-8 ball game. Then on Thursday, this third ranking team took the intramural crown for the second straight time in summer school competition with a 5-4 victory over the favored Humpers. I told you this would be an interesting intramural season and to just watch and wait. So, see your Bookie about your troubles, not me.

While on the subject of softball—there will be a meeting Thursday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. in the gym for all respective teams for second secession competition. Team organization and management will be on the agenda as well as team registration. If you are interested in forming a team—be there, it's the only chance. Do you remember the rumor I mention about intramural singles tennis? Well, here is a flash in that field (frankly, I didn't know this had materialized). Rennie Clark defeated Bob Nelson in sets of 7-5 and 7-5 for this particular summer school crown.

NOTICE

A class ring of the following description was picked up by mistake at the recent ring sale: 18 DWT, synthetic rose sapphire stone, double facet, foil back, yellow gold, black finish. This ring is of a very different style and may be easily recognized. If found please return to SGA office.

Here is another sports flash from the big world, NEEDED: one very reliable and sporty sports editor. Conditions: good company, long hours, and short pay. Qualifications: pencil, paper, contacts, and a dictionary, plus excellent emotional stability (cause if you ain't got it you'll go nuts—that's why I'm leaving).

Martin Captures Singles Title In Tennis Tourney

Bowie Martin of Greenville was the top player in a twelve-man competition for the Men's Singles Table Tennis Tournament championship held on the East Carolina College campus recently. This tournament is a periodical event sponsored by the College Union Student Board.

Martin, who was the second ranking player in the Tournament of Champions held here in the Spring, will receive the championship trophy at the Summer Awards Banquet of the College Union.

Seeded players in the competition in addition to Martin, were Charles Russell of High Falls; Bradford Bulla of Asheboro; and Fleetwood Lilley of Greenville.

Unknowns Retain Summer School Softball Title By Defeating Humpers

By BILLY RICKS

The Unknowns retained their summer school softball crown for the second year defeating the Humpers in a close scoring game last Thursday.

The game jumped off to a fast start with the Unknowns scoring two runs on 2 walks, 2 errors, and a bunt single. The Humpers bounced back to tie the score in the last of the first inning when Fodrie walked and scored on Hamilton's long fly to left field that bounced off the leftfielders glove.

In the top of the second, Jackson singled with one out and advanced to second on an infield out. The threat was killed as this next batter flied to center field. The Humpers took the lead at 3-2 in the last of the second as Wyatt was safe on an error and Thacker and Eure walked to load the bases. Carter struck out, but another walk by Strong forced across the leading run. Fodrie then popped up and Hamilton grounded out to end the inning without further damage.

The Unknowns were retired in 1-2-3 order to begin the third. Bullard led off the bottom of the third with a walk, but was left stranded on first as the next three Humpers were retired in order.

In the top of the fourth, O'Berry flied out and Brasewell got a bunt single. Brasewell was forced out at second for the second out and Jackson popped up to retire the side. Eure led off the bottom of the fourth for the Humpers and was safe on an error. Carter then beat out a bunt, but the next three batters struck out to end the threat.

The fifth inning saw three runs scored for the Unknowns. Hamilton singled across one run and O'Berry knocked in two. In the bottom of the fifth, the Humpers had a potential run on third base with only one out, but two strike outs left him stranded. In the top of the sixth, Jackson walked and Marshburn singled. Jackson was called out for leaving second early and Dodson hit into a double play to end the inning. The Humpers got a man on base in the bottom of the sixth but he was left stranded as the game went into the final inning. The Unknowns failed to score in the seventh and the Humpers failed in their try for a crown. eventhough Bullard's homerun made the final score 4-4 in favor of the Unknowns.

The pitcher-catcher combination of Rollina and Marshburn for the Unknowns and Eure-Hamilton for the Humpers went the distance in the Championship game.

Box score of championship game
Unknowns 2 0 0 3 0 0-4
Humpers 2 1 0 0 0 1-4

EC Alumni Currently Coaching Personality Degrees

By RICHARD BOYD

During the past, East Carolina has produced an abundance of capable athletes that have aided in placing the Pirates on the map in the world of sports. Some of these men, who are now coaches and teachers, have returned to EC to work for advanced degrees. The following is a brief summary of outstanding personalities who are currently coaching at various high schools and colleges.

Frank Madigan—veteran grid coach at Frederick College in Portsmouth, Virginia; a former East Carolina defensive star 1949-52; also a former backfield coach at EC from 1957-61.

Dwight Shoe—football assistant and head swimming coach at Davidson; a former all-conference end at EC; former head coach at Wingate Junior College in 1958; at Wingate he coached an undefeated eleven, who eventually played in the 1958 Sun Bowl game.

John Hamilton—baseball catcher for EC from 1952-53; he is currently coaching and teaching at Beaufort High School.

John Wike—former guard for EC from 1958-59. Now line coach at Elon College.

Mac Eure—former football and basketball star for EC in 1948-49; now head basketball and assistant football coach at Cradock High School in Portsmouth, Virginia.

There are also a few athletes who proved their ability in the sports world at other colleges and universities who are now doing graduate work at EC.

They are:
Harold Bullard—former Lenoir

Rhyme All-American in 1957; a product of the Baltimore Colts in 1958, the "Rockingham flash" now coaches football in Camden, South Carolina.

Harold Carter—former Catawba tailback 1949-53. Now coaches at Monroe High School.

Jim Fodrie—a former AC graduate, now coaches baseball at Beaufort High School.

Arnold Melvin—a former Elon cricketer now coaching in Greensboro.

FOR SALE: 1960 Triumph TR-3 black, wire wheels, new tires, heater, jump seat—$1400. Contact Milton Smith at PL 8-3216 or PL 2-2826.

Help

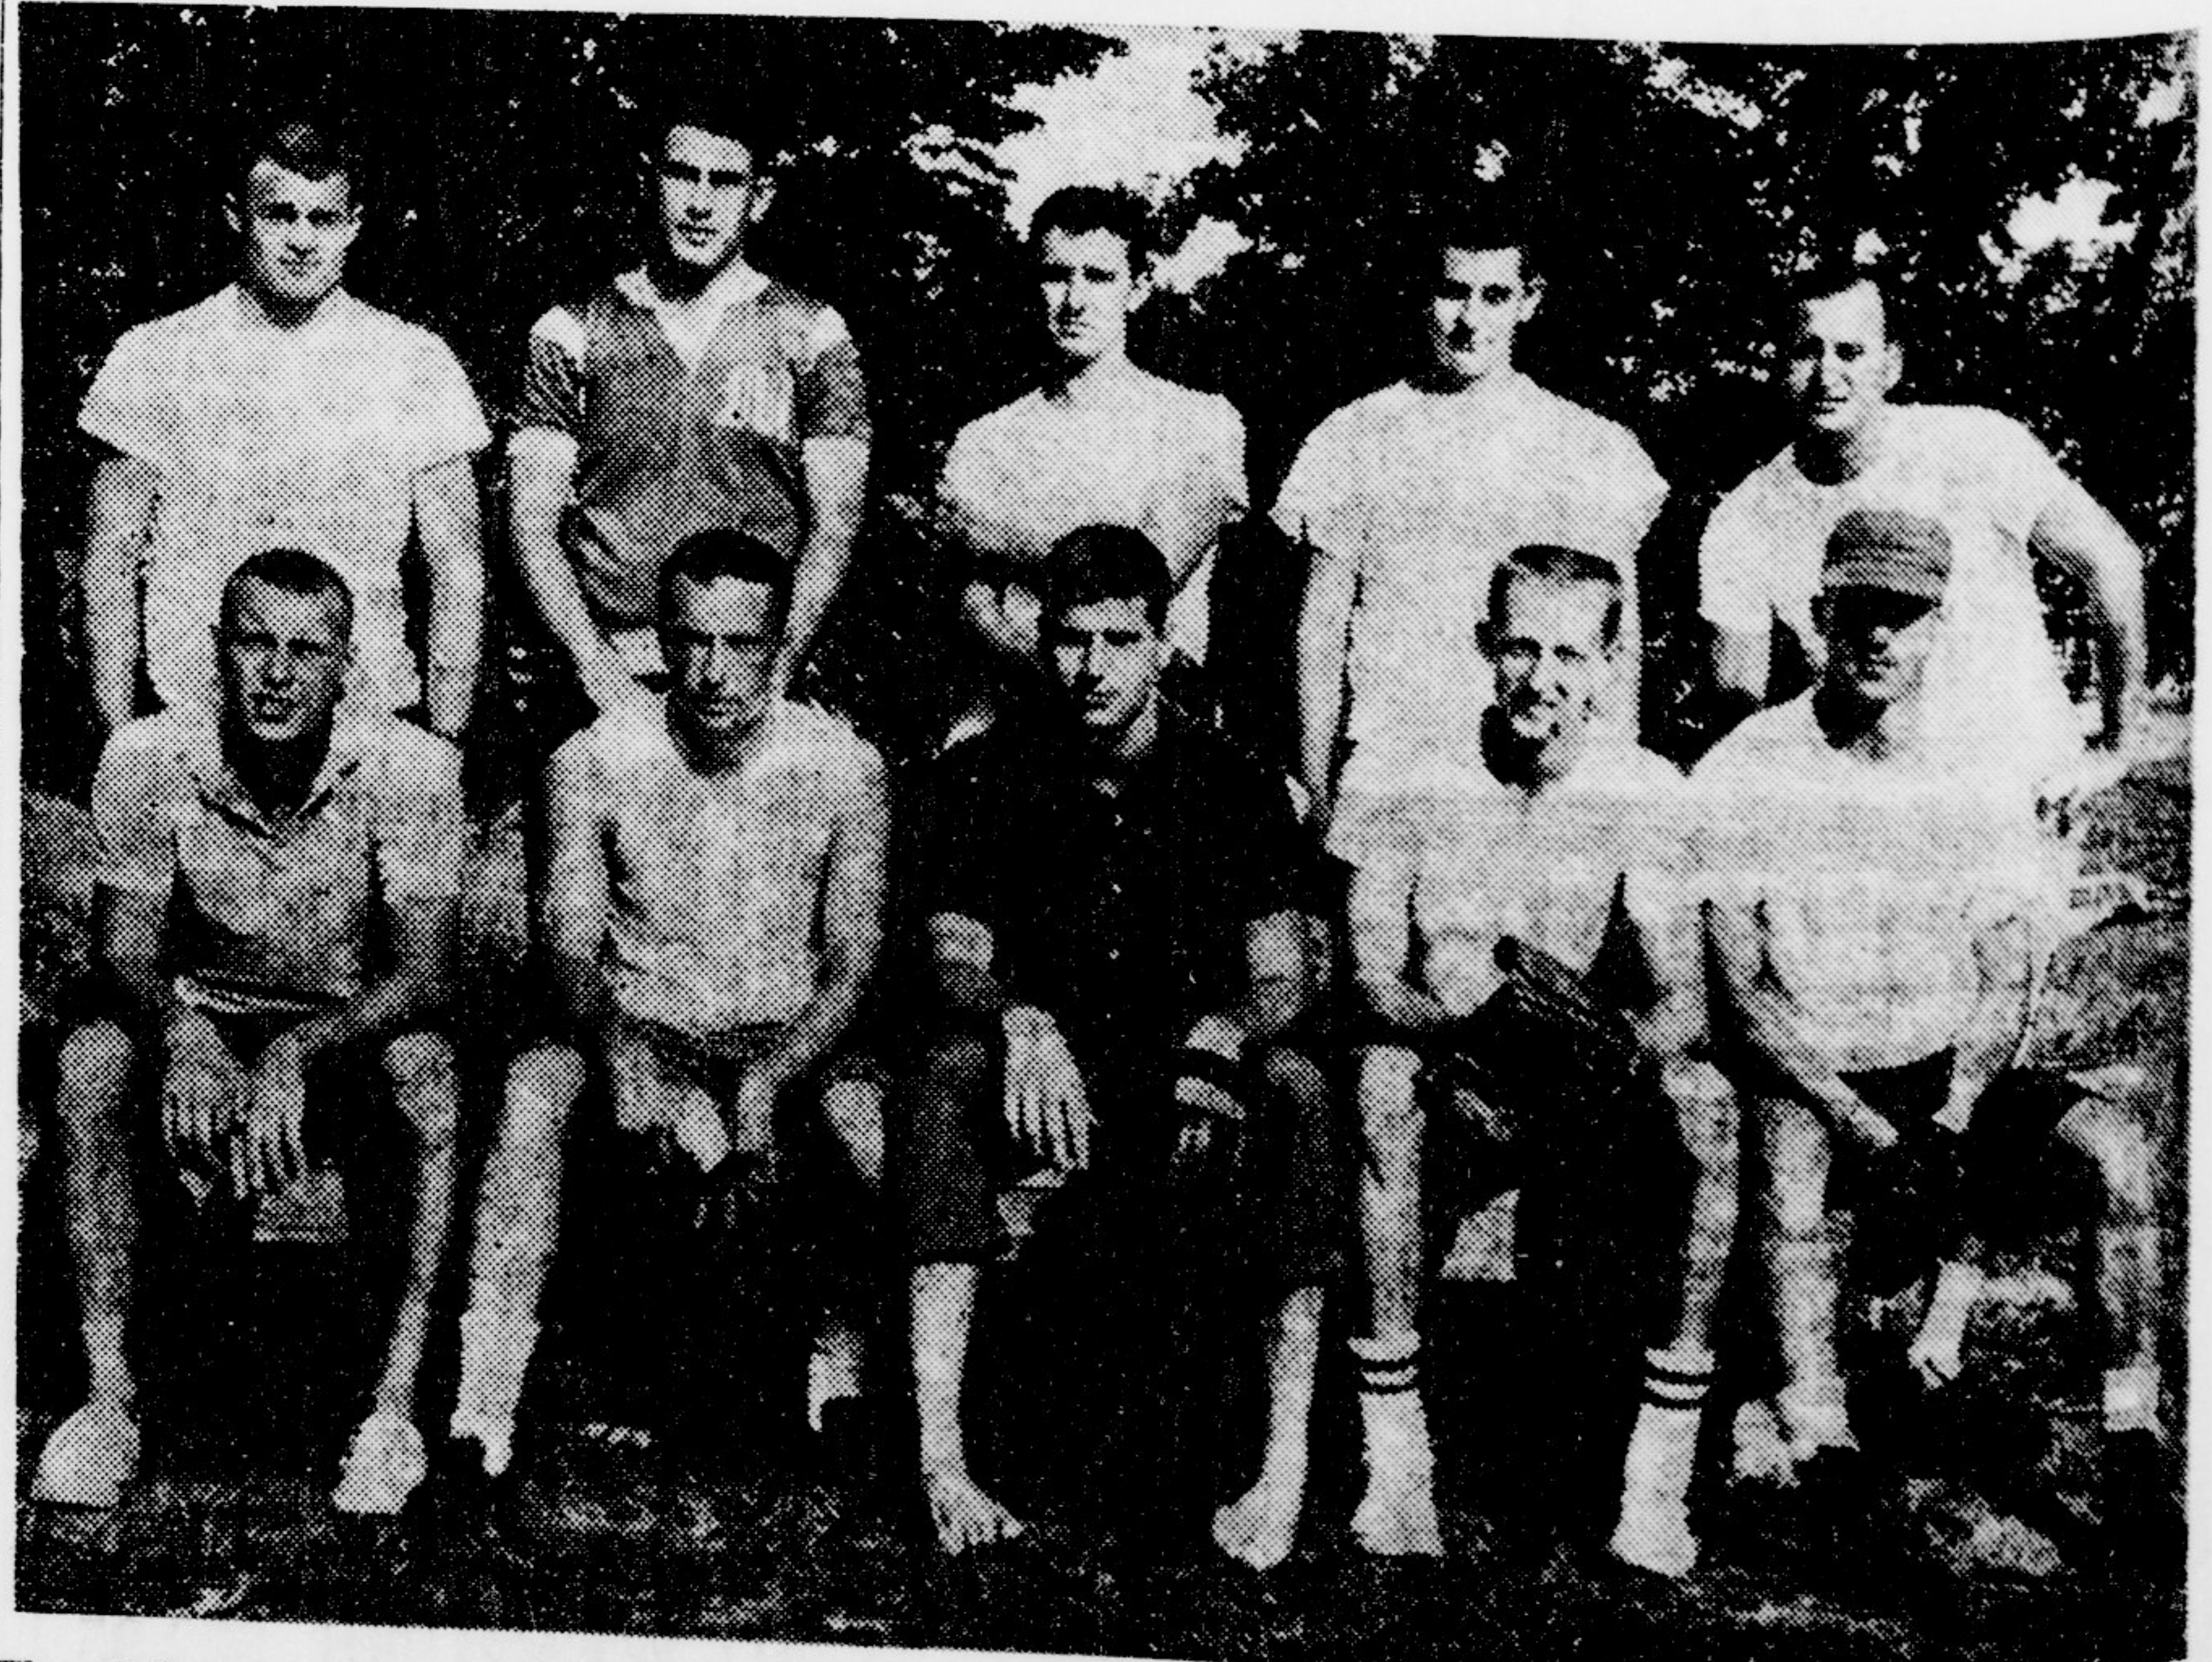

Stamp Out

Blank Space

Write For The

EAST CAROLINIAN

The Unknowns

The Unknowns rose from third place to defeat the Lambda Chi's and the Humpers in that order to win the first session summer school softball crown.