Buc Beauty

Serves As Training Center

Students To Attend CU Conference

A six-student delegation, from the College Union will attend the Fourth Region Conference of the Association of College Unions at Woman's College, Greensboro, October 11.

Region IV of the association is composed of Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Puerto Rico, South Carolina, and North Carolina. An attendance of 200 is expected at the conference.

Among purposes of the Conference are broadening horizons of students on the role of the College Union on a campus, and serving as a medium of exchange for students' ideas and problems, a source of ideas to take back to individual schools, and a training center for students in leadership and committee work.

The East Carolina delegation will include Glenn Boyd of Washington, N. C.; Robert Washer of Perick, N. Y.; Noel Tisdale of Marlawn, N. J.; Carol McCullen of Clinton; Joyce Blizzard of Beulah; and Judith Seckler of Jameson, N. C. Miss Seckler represented the local Union at a steering committee meeting at Woman's College in the Spring. At this time, plans were made for the Conference.

Cynthia Mendenhall, director of recreation at the College Union at East Carolina, will participate in the conference program as assistant region representative.

SCA Sponsors Chapel Service Broadcasts

The college chapel services will be broadcast from the Y Hut beginning Thursday, October 11 at 6:30 p.m. These broadcasts will be a new service on the campus, sponsored by the SCA (Student Christian Association or United YMCA-YWCA).

Dr. Carl Hjortsvang of the Music Department will direct the Chapel Choir which will sing for each chapel service.

Miss Patsy Wiley will play the chimes from the Austin Building each Thursday evening from 6:15 to 6:30 p.m. as a call to the chapel service.

Jenkins Investigates EC Fraternity Row

The college has been investigating the possibility of building a fraternity row where members of all fraternities on campus would live.

"Any time there are fraternity houses in a neighborhood, the boys will make noise and disturb the neighbors," stated Mr. James B. Mallory, Dean of Men. "Most fraternities, also, have outgrown their present houses."

"This fraternity row would be a wonderful thing for both EC and the fraternity system," he continued. "The fraternity system would improve considerably, because the boys would have a chance to live in real fraternity houses."

After Dr. Jenkins learned that the fraternities were interested, he presented a proposal from a local businessman who owns enough property to hold a fraternity row. This land is approximately one mile from campus and is removed from any close neighbors. There are possibilities of another businessman's offering his land for the construction.

Mr. F. D. Duncan, Vice President of the college, explained the possibility and cost of securing federal money to aid the project. The national fraternities have housing funds set aside for building purposes.

Each house will cost between $80,000 and $100,000. Each fraternity will be able to choose its own design and architecture; however, the cost will be approximately the same.

In these fraternity houses, the fraternities would be able to have social functions without disturbing neighbors; however, each fraternity would still be under the rules and regulations of the college.

Presently, six fraternities on campus own their houses, while two fraternities lease their houses. Those owning their houses would need ample time to sell and dispose of their houses and property.

At a preliminary meeting held two weeks ago, fraternity presidents, advisors, interested alumni, and national representatives heard these proposals.

There will be a call meeting October 15. "This meeting can either make or break the project," explained Dean Mallory. "If we can solve the financial aspects of the project, we can be sure of its success."

Housing Director Registers Cars

Over 2,000 permits have been obtained by students, faculty, and staff members to operate automobiles on the campus and to use campus parking facilities this year.

Housing Director Dan Wooten said that although registration will continue throughout the year, 2,046 permits have been issued this quarter including 944 to day students, 541 to staff, 392 to men dormitory students, 157 to women dormitory students, and 12 special permits.

A ruling put into effect last year stipulates that freshmen as well as students whose scholastic record is below average or who are on disciplinary probation, will not be permitted to operate an automobile on campus or in the Greenville area.

The regulation does not apply to commuters, and some exceptions in special cases may be authorized by college officials.

During the 1960-1961 school year 3,300 students and faculty and staff members obtained permits from the Housing Office.

Season tickets for the Fine Arts Series will be available to members of the college staff and their husbands or wives for only $4.00. The season tickets for the general public are $7.00. These tickets can be obtained by writing to Box 1120, East Carolina College.

Glee Club Opens Season At District NCEA Meeting

The first performance by the Men's Glee Club this year will be in Rocky Mount on October 23 for the District NCEA Meeting.

Among other activities the Glee Club looks forward to is the exchange joint concerts with the Woman's College Chorale, a choral group from the Woman's College music department. Concerts will be given in Greensboro and in Greenville. These concerts are planned for February.

Officers for the Men's Glee Club for 1962-63 have just been announced. James Cross will serve as president, Max Scruggs as secretary, Maurice Weaver as treasurer, and Thomas Mackey will fill the position of librarian.

The Men's Glee Club membership includes 41 students from every department on campus. Three rehearsals are held each week. It is possible to receive one hour of credit each quarter, but this is optional.

Men students interested in joining the Men's Glee Club are asked to see the Director, Mr. Charles Stevens in Room 222 of the music building.

What We Need Is A Fight

Stale Environment Needs Refreshening

Evidently those things which touch upon mores, customs and morals are very slow to change. We have been discouraged at times when no result was evident from our frequent protests, but we see that two years ago, Tom Jackson, who was then Editor of the EAST CAROLINIAN, was concerned over a problem that has not been alleviated one single iota's worth since he wrote these words:

"We feel East Carolina's faculty, administration, and student body is primarily a concentration of "yes" men who accept and agree with those ideas which are popular . . . which are acceptable to the surrounding communities not because they are right or good, but simply because they have existed and been accepted in the past.

"A fish in a fresh, cold spring is active and strong, but one in a stagnant pond is sluggish and weak. Students react to their environment in much the same way. A student in a challenging, intellectually controversial environment will respond by joining in the fight. He will pick ideas apart for criticism and analysis and benefit from the exercise. On the other hand, a student in a stale, apathetic environment will tend to accept what he is given without question. He fails to question his own values and the values of his peers and consequently becomes apathetic, prejudiced, and intellectually lazy.

"What East Carolina needs most, we feel, is a fight. We will go even further and say East Carolina not only needs a fight, it needs a damn good fight and it needs it now.

"Who will start this fight is yet to be seen. Maybe it will never start. We hope it will. We hope somewhere in this school there is a student or a faculty member or an administrator who still has enough integrity and intellectual enthusiasm left to shout to one of his contemporaries, 'You are a stupid, incompetent slob' and then proceed to prove it . . . publically with his adversary fighting every step and others joining in on both sides.

"This would be a revolution in thinking on campus. It could spark battles that would wake the whole school. If a few radical ideas get thrown into the open what of it? It's time for the surrounding communities to realize a college is more than a diploma mill or a baby sitting agency . . . it's time for us to wake up, think, and say what we are thinking."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

THE BRAMBLEBUSH

By JIM WILLIS

After being lost deep in the intricate labyrinths of journalistic technicalities for two weeks we come back to haunt you, dear reader, through the medium of our column. Speaking of columns, we continue to be impressed by one which appears in the Friday edition called Hot Dog . . . er . . . Cheese . . . no . . . well anyway, it's written by some nut with a ridiculous last name. The column is concerned with . . . well, it's about . . . er . . . It's a good column about whatever it's about anyway. If you have a weak mind you probably won't get much out of it; on the other hand, if you are of sublime intellect you still probably won't get much out of it but nevertheless it's impressive in that it keeps you mentally alert trying to figure out what you're reading.

We don't like to think that a drinking problem exists at EC, but when we see a student like the one we saw recently we are forced to recognize the fact that some immature conceptions on the subject do prevail. The conception that the more alcohol one can induce into his bloodstream and remain conscious the more puissance he has seems to have been the dominating force which inticed the young freshmen to drink that we saw trying almost vainly to stagger his way up College Hill Drive last weekend. We do not believe that this particular student is yet a chronic alcoholic; he just hasn't had enough time. As we watched him in his ridiculous and shameful condition trying to do what for him was next to impossible, that is, to climb the steps below Jones Hall, we couldn't help but feel a slight tinge of disgust. We are not one to advocate complete abstinence; we feel that such decisions should be determined by one's own moral beliefs, if any exists. But we would, however, like to express our firm belief that if drinking must exist among college students at all it should exist only among those of mature minds, and those who realize and accept the fact that the only effect that liquor can have on man is to make a complete fool of him.

If you haven't had your picture made be sure to do so sometime soon. Sure, it'll be a little trouble to fiddle around with making appointments and dressing up and wearing a tie around all day, but think of the wonderful glorification you'll receive next spring when you rush in and pick up your Buccaneer and open it and find a small square of black and white and say, "That's me!"

You should see some of the shots that our energetic photographer gets for "Buc Beauties." I'm speaking of some of his great shots, the ones that for some reason or another never get printed because of the Plautonic attitude of our editor. But then again, you can find similar ones in Playboy.

Something we read someplace: "Dissolutionment is that feeling which you get when you discover a bunyan pad in the slipper from which you have just drunk champagne." That's all.

ASIS Offers European Jobs

Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, September 14, 1962—The American Student Information Service, the only official, authorized organization placing American college students in summer jobs in Europe on a large scale, is celebrating its 6th anniversary by offering travel grants and scholarships from $10 to $175 to the first 1,000 students applying for summer jobs in Europe.

Summer jobs in Europe include factory work, resort-hotel work, farm work, construction work, office work, hospital work, child care and camp counseling positions. Jobs are available throughout Europe and wages range from $10 a month for the highest paying positions in Germany to only one and board in Spain. The jobs are offered in conjunction with package arrangements costing from $10 to $799. Among other things, an applicant is provided with an album of language records of the country in which he will be working, a student pass allowing the bearer discounts throughout Europe, complete health and accident insurance coverage and a choice of tours ranging from 6 to 24 days.

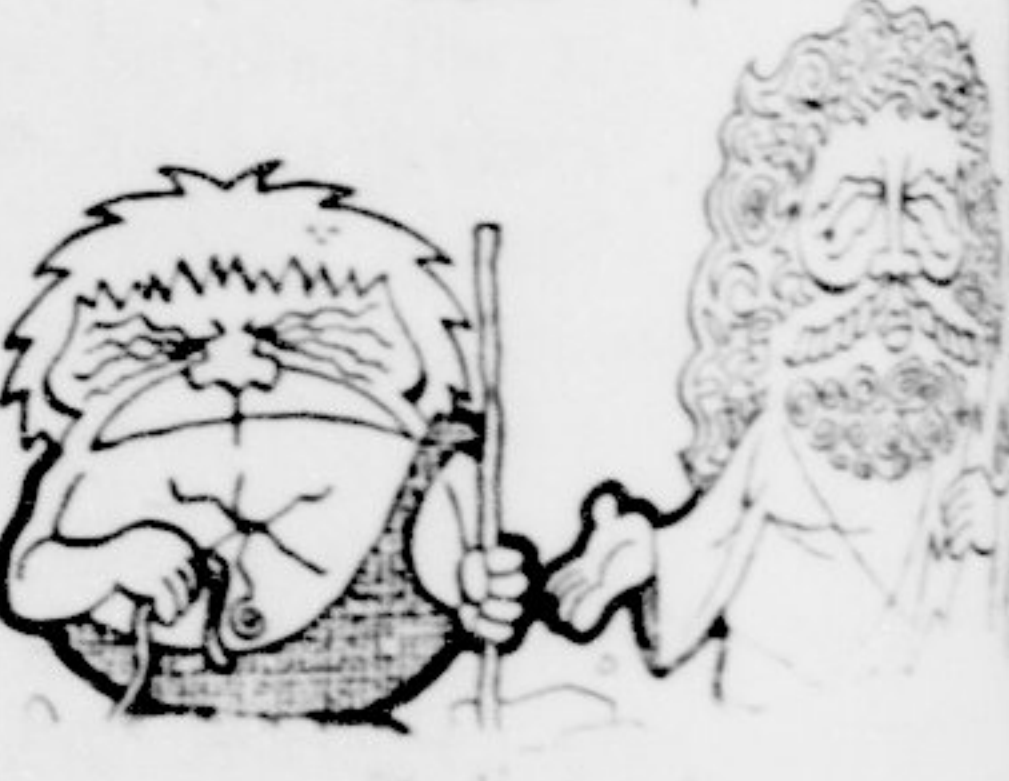

Although ASIS offers complete arrangements with a round-trip schedule jet flight, students are free to make their own travel arrangements. ASIS expects to have many students participating in college charter flights will also have summer jobs in Europe.

For a complete 20 page prospectus and a European job application contact either the Director of the Student Union, the Placement Officer, or write directly to ASIS, 22 Avenue de la Liberté, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg. Enclose 20 cents for a mail reply.

Well, it's this: rather than haphazard Zeus worship, now have, I'd like to see Religious meet more regularly . . . and in specified places.

Build Houses of Worship wherein those so inclined could hold, oh, say weekly prayer sessions . . . and hear My Word preached.

Yes! I heartily approve of regular meetings of the Religious! It will keep them, oh, say so each week, out of mischief.

Faculty Shows Art

Faculty members of the Department of Art are now exhibiting their work in the Seventh Annual Faculty Show to be presented at the College. On view throughout October, the exhibition is located in the foyer and in the Hallway Gallery of Rawl Building. The public is invited to attend.

The diversified show is composed of works by all faculty members of the department. It includes drawings, paintings, prints, sculpture, ceramics, weaving, jewelry, and examples of commercial art.

New members of the art faculty exhibiting this fall for the first time at the college are Marilyn Gordley, Emily Farnham, and Robert Edmiston. Abstract paintings by Mrs. Gordley and Dr. Farnham and a portrait in oil by Mrs. Gordley illustrate the work of the two artists.

A welded sculpture by Mr. Edmiston entitled "Hippocrene" presents in non-objective style of thorny shapes in a bouquet ar-

Francis Speight, artist in residence at East Carolina, has contributed to the show two landscape and a figure study of a ballet dancer.

"Girl with Birdcage," a woodcut by Donald Sexauer, is a study in twenty-two colors. It was executed through use of twelve wood blocks.

In the foyer display, drawings by Dr. Leon Jacobson in the "Living Library" edition of the poems of Emily Dickinson, a hammered lead sculptured head with its negative on a graceful floating form by Wesley Crawley, ceramics by Ray Minnis, jewelry by Nanene Engle, and weaving by Francis Lee Neel lend variety and interest to the show.

Designs for College publications and examples of commercial art by Dr. Wellington B. Gray, Director of the department; paintings by Tran Gordley and Ruby Ball; drawings by Thomas E. Mims; and prints by Betty Petteway complete the exhibition.

Accountant Handles SGA Accounts For Student Fund Accounting Office

Until September of 1960, the SGA Treasurer handled SGA bookkeeping. As EC grew, however, the need for a full time accountant became evident. The duties of the SGA Treasurer were becoming too numerous for a college student to handle. Therefore, the Student Fund Accounting Office was established and Mrs. T. H. (Doris) Henderson was hired as Student Fund Accountant.

At first, the creation of the new office presented such a big change that it was reluctantly accepted by the various campus organizations. Mrs. Henderson states, however, that with time the office set-up is being improved. In an effort to bring the office to a maximum efficiency, Mrs. Henderson is establishing a new bookkeeping system this year.

At the beginning of each year the SGA appropriates funds to each SGA sponsored organization. The decision as to how much will be appropriated to each organizations is made by the Budget Committee which is composed chiefly of students.

Mrs. Doris Henderson

In order to use any of its appropriations, the organization must prepare, in duplicate, a requisition which must be co-signed by its president and treasurer. The requisition is then submitted to the SGA Treasurer for his approval. Next, the requisition bearing the required signatures is turned in to the Student Fund Accounting Office, where a Purchase Order is issued in triplicate. Then an invoice, in duplicate, must be approved by the organization and turned in to the SFAO for the purchased goods.

The SFAO keeps adequate records of all expenditures and disbursements of the student activity fees. Mrs. Henderson's books contain a copy of every bill paid by the SFAO since the office was established. She also keeps a "running" balance each year for all the individual organizations so that the allotments will not be surpassed.

How far apart should buttons be spaced?

Proper spacing is one of the marks of traditional natural shoulder tailoring. We feel that the top and center buttons should be placed  $4\frac{1}{2}$ " apart.\* Very frankly, the jacket looks better with this spacing. In authentic traditional clothing, the top button is left open to permit the lapel to roll between the top and center buttons.

Napp Discusses Trip With Nurses

The School of Nursing was host at a District Student Nurses' Association Convention held in Joyner Library Auditorium September 27.

Dr. R. R. Napp of the Social Studies Department spoke to the group, which consisted of representatives from Wilson Sanatorium School of Nursing, Rex Hospital School of Nursing, Lenoir Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, and the EC School of Nursing.

Doctor Napp shared with the student nurses and other guests experiences from his tour of Europe this summer. He gave personal opinions on the social changes which the European countries have undergone since his previous trips abroad. He stated that private practice and social medicine appear to exist, side by side without the association with communism which many people think social medicine would have in the United States.

Lenoir Memorial Hospital in Kinston was designated as the location of the next district convention.

SPORTS REVIEW

By RICHARD BOYD

Dr. Leo Jenkins reports that there is a strong possibility EC will open the 1963 football season against Wake Forest in the Ficklen Memorial Stadium on September 21. The new stadium may be dedicated when the Bucs meet their first Atlantic Coast Conference team in history on the gridiron.

The first possibility of having a game with the Demon Deacons from Winston-Salem occurred last spring. Wake had a schedule conflict with the September 21 date because of not being able to play ACC representative Virginia at that particular time, leaving an open date in the Baptist school's schedule.

Because Wake Forest is a Baptist school and many people of eastern North Carolina are Baptist, a capacity attendance of 16,000 would be expected.

Wake Forest Athletic Director Bill Gibson mentioned that Deacon Coach Bill Hildebrand has only nine games on his 1963 schedule and the game with EC would mark the tenth. Coach Hildebrand definitely wants a 10-game schedule.

The big step now rest on the shoulders of Wake Forest Athletic Committee. Since EC is an established NCAA college and has been scheduling many Southern Conference teams in basketball, football and baseball the possibilities are excellent.

Looking at the record, the Bucs have beaten Richmond 23-7 and lost 26-27 in their last two grid engagements. In basketball, Coach Earl Smith's Pirates defeated Richmond last season, but were defeated by The Citadel, VPI, and William-Mary.

The EC baseball Pirates split with Wake Forest in baseball. The Pirates claim a 10-9 victory in Greenville and an 11-10 set-back in Winston-Salem. Therefore, EC teams have shown their ability to compete with the "big boys" in all sports, especially football.

Pirates Display Versatile Single-Wing Man In Allen

Blocking Back Maurice Allen, one of Coach Clarence Stasavich's prize findings in spring practice last season, hails from Henderson. The excellent blocker and signal caller is perfect for the position in the single wing. Maurice is 6-0 and weighs 178 pounds. A former Marine Corps member, Maurice has also had military experience at Hargrave Military Academy in Virginia.

Maurice played fullback for Henderson High School, Hargrave, and for EC before being switched to blocking back. The junior back played at the fullback post under coach Jack Boone and was used there as a reserve. Since switching to the blocking back post, Maurice has had many duties; signal caller, pass receiver, decoy man, and most important, blocker. A blocking back has to be selfish in handling the ball and is usually highly underrated. Maurice has been no exception this fall.

The Henderson native plans to attain an A. B. degree in geography. While in the Marine Corps, Maurice traveled in the Mediterranean area during his two year enlistment. Future plans are uncertain.

Intramural Spotlight

By KENNETH SMITH

Touch Football, which is featured in this week's "Intramural Spotlight," has displayed an impressive show of talent since play opened October 1.

An intense rivalry exists between teams, because all the players realize the importance of every game. The champions of the respective leagues will be playing against each other for the campus championship.

There are six players on each starting team. The offensive team must have three players on the line of scrimmage, and the other three must be at least one yard behind the line at the time the ball is snapped.

The playing field is 80 yards long and is divided into four 20-yard zones. In order to gain a first down, a team must advance the ball in a series of four downs, twenty yards from the point in which the ball was put in play on first down.

The game consists of two twenty minute halves. The official clock is stopped on all official time outs. The referee may call time whenever necessary because of injuries, disputes, etc.

Rules like those above help to produce an interesting football game each day Monday thru Thursday at 4:00 p.m. The games are played on three different fields. The Fraternity League holds its game on the field beside the gym. The Jones Hall and Independent League, as well as the Aycock and New Dorm League, play their games in front of the dorms.

The importance of participation is readily stressed by Coach Wendell Carr in the Intramural Sports Booklet in which he states: "We here at East Carolina are vitally interested in developing the total man who has a sound mind and sound body. The intramural program along with the physical education department is interested in helping you to develop in both these areas, and primarily a sound body."

According to Student Intramural Director, Gordon Patrick, the goal for participation this year is set at 75% of the male student body, a 20% increase over last year.

Wooten Leads Christians To 23-19 Victory Over EC Pirate Eleven

By LLOYD LANE

George Wooten, a speedy Little All-American quarterback, led the Elon Christians to a 23-19 hard-fought victory over our Pirates Saturday night at Burlington. Wooten scored the winning touchdown on an eight yard run with less than 20 seconds remaining in the game.

Wooten's running and passing were equaled only to the outstanding play of Pirate tailback Bill Cline. Cline scored East Carolina's first touchdown on a 12 yard run in the second period and passed 17 yards to end Dave Bumgarner for a touchdown in the final period that gave the Pirates a momentary 19-16 lead. Another Pirate score came on a beautifully executed wingback reverse in which Jerry Tolley took a hand-off from fullback Tom Michel and went 54 yards for the touchdown.

Elon's scoring came on a five yard run and one yard plunge by halfback Wayne Mahanes, a third-period safety and Wooten's eight yard winning touchdown in the waning seconds of the game.

The loss to Elon gave the Pirates a 1-2 record. Next week EC plays Western Carolina at W.C. Western Carolina lost to Catawba 26-13 on Saturday.
