Religious Council Announces Emphasis Week, Nov. 12-15

Underlines Values Of Religion In Our Culture

The 1962 Religious Emphasis Week begins Monday, November 12, and continues through Friday, November 16. The theme for this year's program is "The Ecumenical Movement."

The program is sponsored and planned by members of the Inter-Religious Council, which is composed of representatives from each of the student religious organizations on campus. Several student committees are being assisted by Dr. D. D. Gross, Director of Religious Activities, in planning events for the week.

The purpose of Religious Emphasis Week, according to Dr. Gross, is to underline the value of religion in the culture of the western world, and not to promote any particular religious view or principle. Dr. Gross remarked, "Some students seem to think of Religious Emphasis Week as a sort of 'be kind to God week'." Actually, the primary emphasis of the program is educational rather than devotional. The need for devotional worship is recognized, but the place for this is in the churches and in the student religious centers. The entire program of the IRC is, in fact, to promote understanding in various religious groups on campus and cooperate between them.

Father Robert L. Wilkin

Rabbi Israel J. Sarashon

Dr. Kyle Haselden

Each of the three featured speakers of the week will represent one of the three main religious bodies in America, and will view the "Ecumenical Movement" from the point of view of his group.

The first speaker will be Dr. Kyle Haselden of Chicago, Ill. Dr. Haselden has served as a pastor of several Baptist churches and has lectured and taught in colleges and theological schools. He is presently the editor of the Christian Century magazine.

Rabbi Israel J. Sarashon of Temple Beth El in Rocky Mount will represent the Jewish view. He recently received a citation from the Jewish Welfare Board for services as Jewish chaplain at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base.

Representing the Roman Catholic view will be Father Robert L. Wilkin, former editor of The North Carolina Catholic and presently the UNC Catholic student chaplain.

All major addresses of the week will be held in Austin Auditorium. On November 12, at 10:00 a.m., Dr. Haselden will speak on the World Council of Churches. He has covered all meetings of the World Council since its organization in 1948 and is perhaps the best informed person in the U. S. on it. Rabbi Sarashon, discussing Jewish interest in both the World Council of Churches and the Vatican Council, will have as his topic "A Quest for Understanding". This meeting will be November 13, at 7:30 p.m. Father Wilkin will speak on the current Vatican Council on November 14, at 7:30 p.m.

All of these meetings will be open to students, faculty, and the general public. A question and answer period will follow each meeting, and further discussion will be held at 7:30 p.m. on November 12 and 8:30 p.m. on November 13 and 14, in the Y hut.

Tickets Available For Limelighters, 'J. B.' Premiere

Tickets for the Limelighters Concert and the Playhouse production, "J. B." may be picked up by students and faculty in the lobby of the East Cafeteria on November 6-9 and November 12-13 from 8 a.m. until 10 a.m. and from 12 noon until 2 p.m.

Neither student I. D. cards nor faculty season tickets will admit one to the performances. There are 3,000 tickets available to students and faculty for the Limelighters Concert, and 2,200 tickets available for "J. B." Students must present I. D. cards in order to pick up tickets on the dates listed.

One hundred tickets for the Limelighters Concert ($3.00 each) and a limited number of tickets for "J. B." ($1.50 each) will be on sale for student dates and the staff. All tickets not picked up by 2 p.m. on November 13 will go on sale to the general public.

Performance dates for "J. B.", which will be presented in McGinnis Auditorium, are Wednesday, November 14 at 8:15 p.m.; Thursday, November 15 at 2:30 p.m.; Friday, November 16 at 8:15 p.m.; and Saturday, November 17 at 8:15 p.m. (for general public).

The Limelighters Concert will be presented in the gymnasium Thursday, November 15 at 8:15 p.m.

Jenkins Serves As Chairman Of Southern Assn.

President Leo W. Jenkins is presently in Georgia with the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges, of which he is Chairman. The Association is charged with an evaluation of Georgia Southern in Statesboro, Georgia's fourth largest state supported school. The team of college officials began their tour on Sunday and will terminate it on Wednesday. EC will be similarly evaluated this spring.

Circle K Club Solicits Book Donations For EC Library

The Circle K Club, a men's service organization sponsored at EC by the Greenville Kiwanis Club, will present the program Help Educate for Freedom appeal to the people of Greenville to solicit donations for the Book Drive.

The purpose of this drive is to conduct a city-wide drive to solicit books for the EC Library. This drive offers every citizen or civic-minded group a chance to assist the college where it is most important—supplying the youth of our city with a well-rounded supply of books. The books that are not used by the EC Library will be donated to the city and county libraries to build their volume of books. It is very important to understand the significance of this drive.

Each individual or group that contributes to the book drive will be credited by a seal which will be placed in the inside front of the cover.

If you wish to donate a book from your personal library, a rare book, or a magazine, call PL 2-9345, Monday-Thursday, 3:00-8:00 p.m. A Circle K Club member will receive your call and pick up your donation on Friday or Saturday at your convenience.

The Circle K Club will pick up the donated books on Friday and Saturday, November 9 and 10, 1962, between the hours of 12:00-6:00 on Friday and 9:00-6:00 on Saturday. If it is impossible or inconvenient to pick up your donation during the prescribed time, arrangements will be made to pick them up at your convenience.

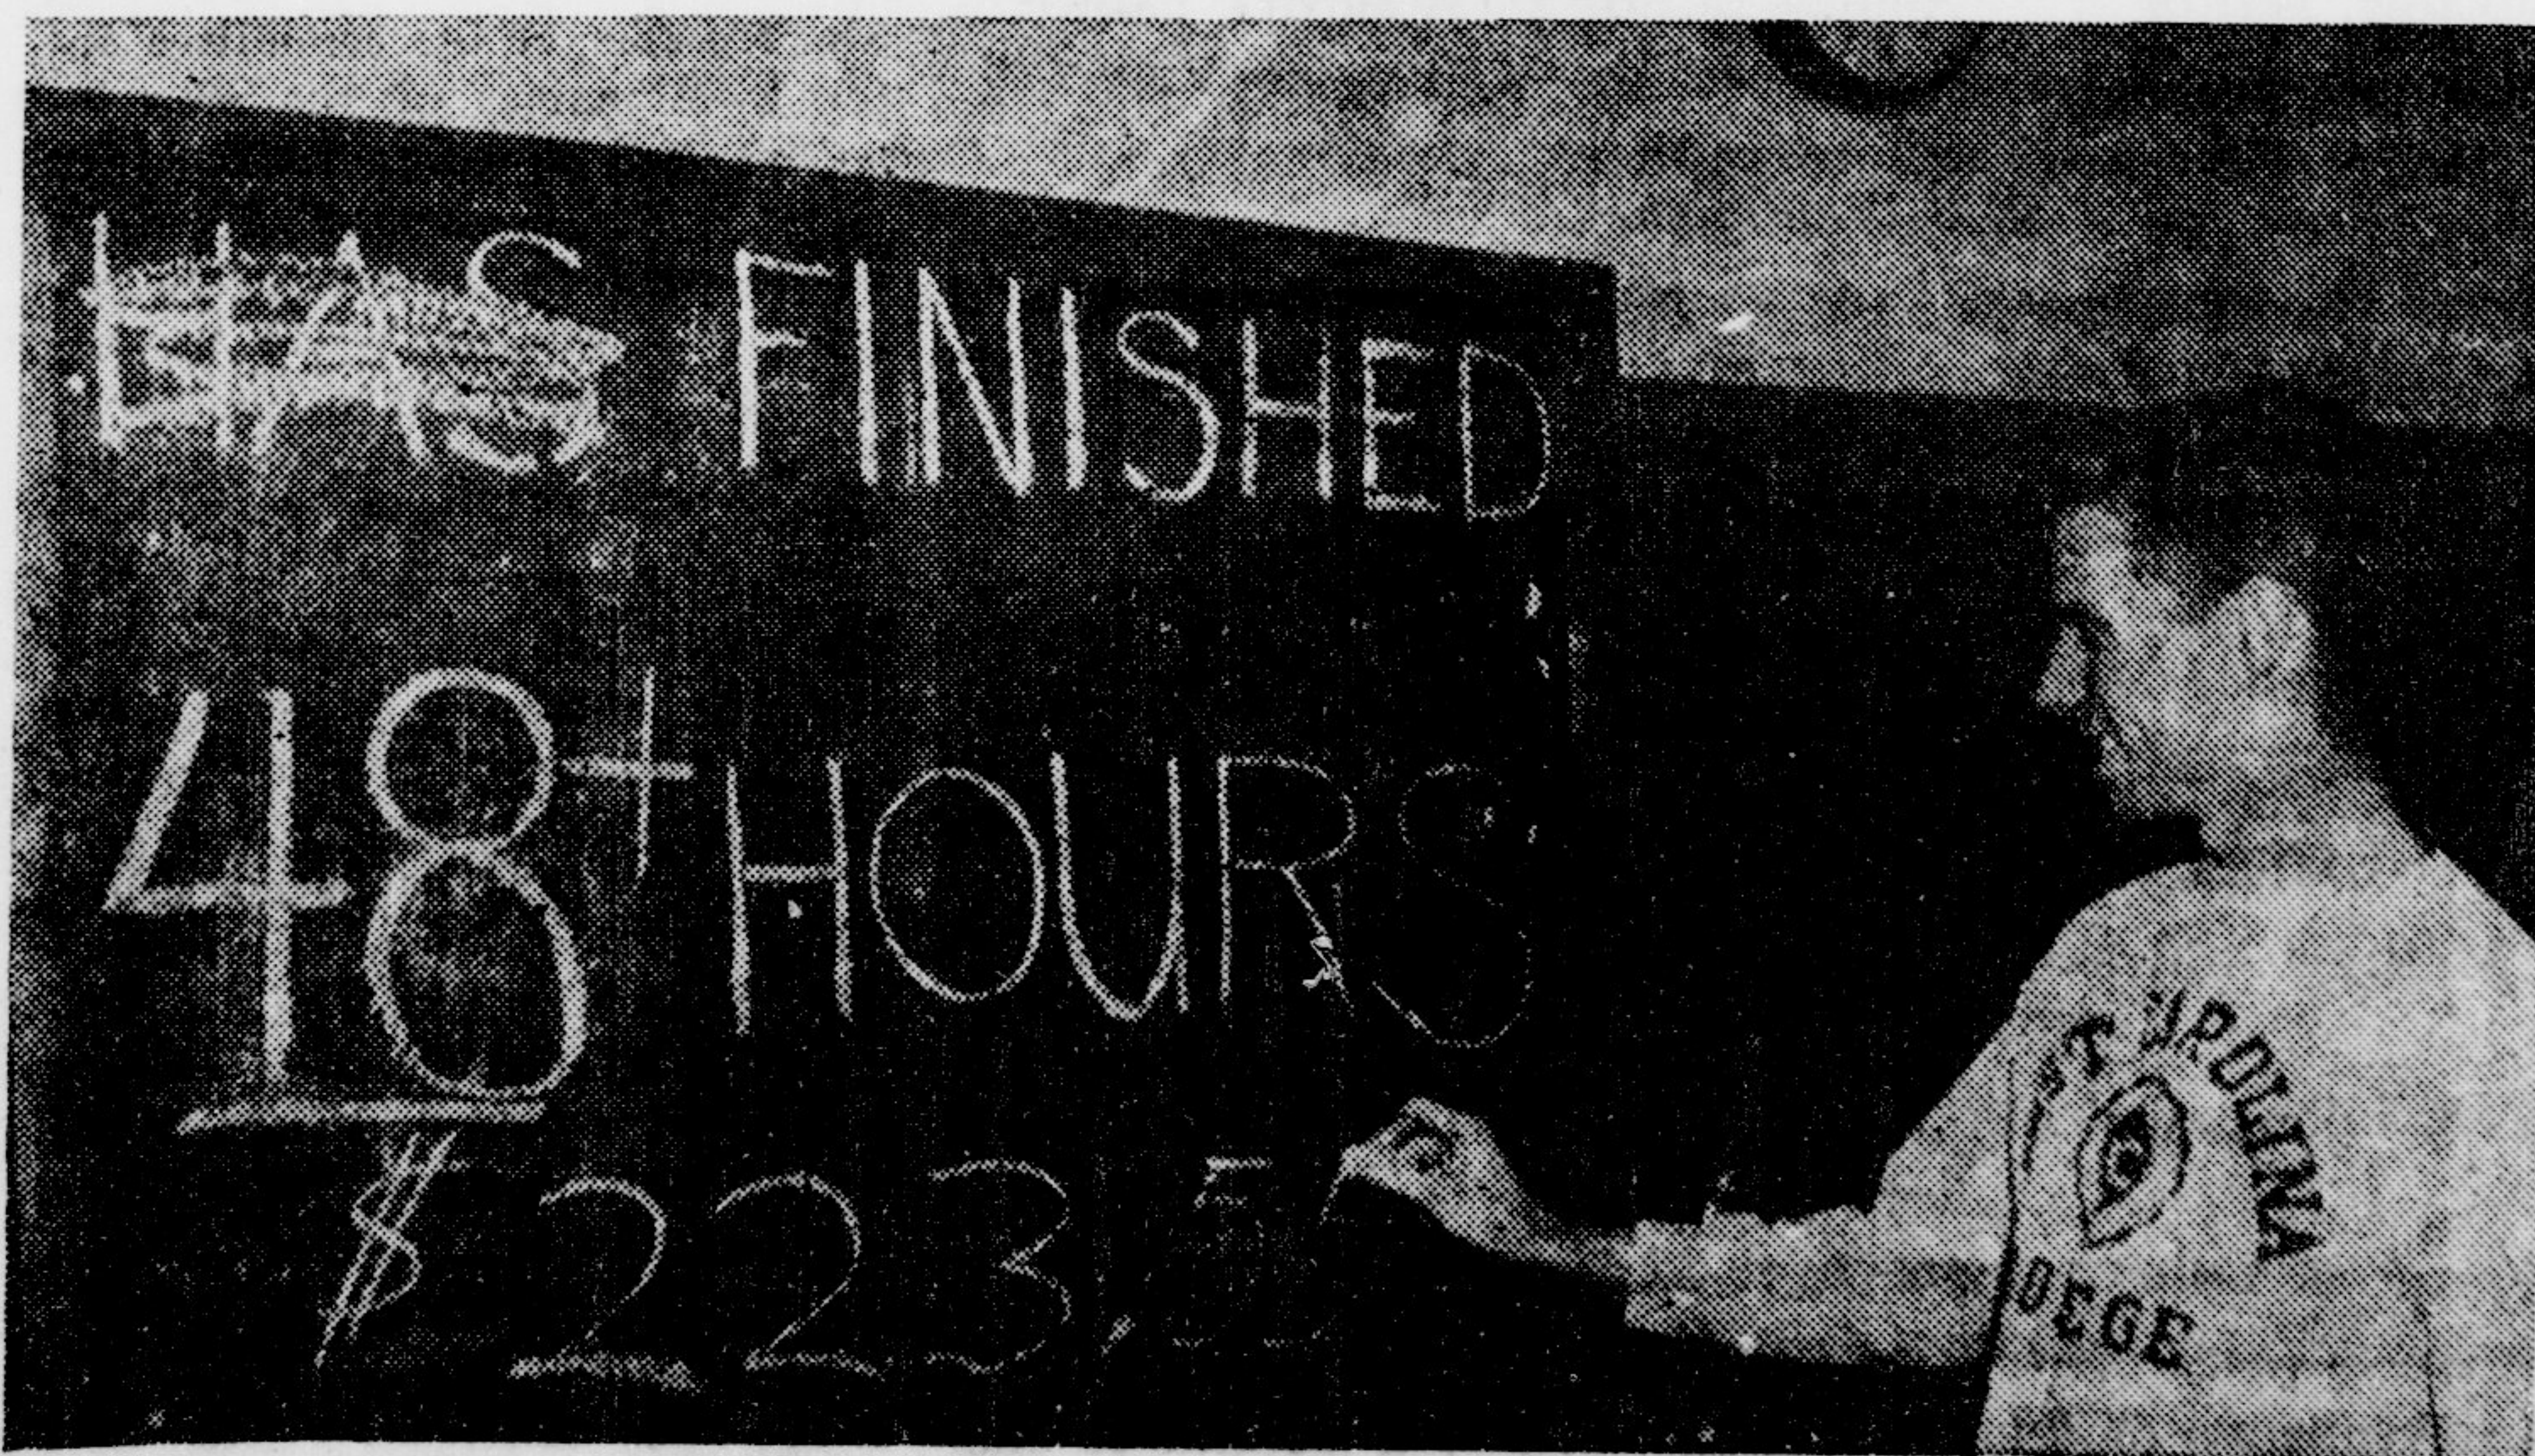

Bureau Sets Job Interviews

Representatives from Princess Anne County Schools, Virginia, and Sears, Roebuck & Company, Jacksonville, North Carolina, will be on campus for interviews tomorrow, November 7. Appointments may be secured at the Placement Service Office in the Alumni Building.

Teaching positions are available in Primary Education, Grammar Education, English, Industrial Arts, Library Science, Mathematics, Elementary Choral Music, Elementary Public School Music, and Men's Physical Education.

Sears, Roebuck & Company would prefer to interview men with a major in Business Administration.

What's New

There seems to be a wide-spread tendency at EC to point to other institutions of higher learning and say, "This is the way they do things—why don't we?" Innumerable instances can be cited in which this so-called "improvement by comparison" has been employed. We sympathize with those who deal in this sort of thing, for they are evidently not satisfied with the status quo, but we question their method of accomplishing what they consider improvement. Their apparent fear of experimentation with the unique is only a symptom of a more serious situation—a lack of regard for the truth and too much regard for what might be popular. This is a situation that should not exist within a college that has academic education as its goal.

It would be refreshing to hear someone say, "I don't know of a college anywhere that does this, but it seems like a good idea so why don't we try it?" There may be nothing new under the sun but that doesn't necessarily mean that everything old under the sun is correct.

It seems that East Carolina College is at the crossroads of progress at the present and there are probably a number of routes which we could take that would enhance our "public image." This, however, does not minimize the importance of our choice of routes.

What sort of institution do we wish to be? Will we take our cues from more respected colleges—regardless of the reason for which they are respected? Or will we cast off the frills and boondoggles that have become attached to the American educational system and, regardless of popular opinion, dedicate ourselves to our central purpose of higher learning.

From The ACLU

The following quote is from the Academic Freedom Committee of the American Civil Liberties Union:

"Regulations governing the behavior of students should be fully and clearly formulated, published, and made available to the whole academic community. They should be reasonable and realistic. Over-elaborate rules that seek to govern student conduct in every detail tend either to be respected in the breach, or to hinder the development of mature attitudes. As a rule, specific definitions are preferable to such general criteria as 'conduct unbecoming to a student' or 'against the best interest of the institution,' which allow for a wide latitude of interpretation."

Talk about hitting the nail on the head . . .

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

THE BRAMBLEBUSH

By JIM WILLIS

Recently, in one of the small rooms of the administration building at Bob Jones University in Greenville, South Carolina, five men—men with looks of guilt and perhaps a touch of shame on their faces—stood before a disciplinary committee to hear the decision the committee had reached concerning their accusations. They had been accused of violating one of the most rigidly upheld regulations of the university. Three of the men had denied the charge, but the other two had freely admitted committing one of the most vile deeds that could be committed in the eyes of the administration of this small university.

The five men listened to the spokesman of the committee while he announced that they all had been found guilty in view of the evidence presented. This statement was followed by a series of remarks by each of the committee members who added their conceptions of the vileness and immorality of the offenders. Three of the men—the three who had denied the charge—were permanently suspended from the university. The other two—the two who had openly admitted the charge—were sentenced to three months social probation which perforce meant that they were confined to their respective dorms from six in the evening until six the next morning for the three-month period. The five men heard the sentences and slowly walked from the room without speaking. The recorder of the committee entered the names of the men involved in his record book, along with the evidence presented and the action taken by the committee. Besides this data, he wrote the nature of the violation in the words, "Possession of cigarettes on the campus."

The mail:

Dear Mr. Willis,

This Halloween, I thought very diligently about turning you into a tall, dark, and handsome prince which would of course improve your outlook on life. You see, I've gathered from reading your column that you must surely be one of the rarities on campus. When you first appeared, you were a small sort of tadpole-acting being, staying pretty much within your radius of the safe side of writing. But, as all things must grow, you grew out of this "safety" in what is definitely something bigger, and a real "jumper", I think, as far as writing goes. You seem to sit very quietly alone on the ground until all of a sudden you snap at those delicate little things that come near you. So, you see, I've decided that since you've become so proficient in your present capacity, I think I'll lay down my magic wand and let you remain the toad that you are for another year.

Hazel

Well, ah, ker-oo-roak to you.

Many of the things written in this column are attributed to our editor by way of letters. This is, of course, sort of like attributing the works of Alfred E. Neuman to those of Dante, which of course wouldn't exactly flatter the latter to any degree. So it is, perhaps, with the letters to this paper. What we say, whatever that is, belongs to us, and us alone. Any mail concerning things written in this column should be directed to us personally. In the same light, any bullets concerning things written in this column should be directed to us. So, what we're trying to say is that we would dearly appreciate your letters, whether they be threatening or praising. We'll be around for a while longer, we suppose, if the Selective Service or some lynch mob doesn't get us; and we'd really like to know if you're there during that time. That's all.

Letters

The EAST CAROLINIAN welcomes letters from its readers. The briefer they are, the better is the prospect of publication. Letters should be kept to a maximum of 250 words. They should also be of general interest. All are subject to condensation and should conform to the standards of decency and good taste. We assume no responsibility for statements made. All letters to the EAST CAROLINIAN must be signed. Names will be withheld on request if the Editor can be shown sufficient reason for doing so.

Letters

UNICEF

To the Editor:

To begin with, certain competent authorities urged us not to undertake such a campaign as the UNICEF drive. Their reasons were that we would find the drive much too strenuous for East Carolina College to make it a success. We personally felt that the entire student body, faculty, and organizations would surely be in favor of UNICEF.

We would like to express our thanks to each and every one, but the list would be too long to print. Our sincerest thanks go out to Dr. Rickert, Director of Radio and television on the campus, for his undying co-operation. Special thanks go to James Shuman, who staged a "one man radio-thon" for 48 hours and 2 minutes. We would like to extend our thanks to the UNICEF Campaign staff, which consisted of Lawrence Williams, Technical Director, and Sheila Swift, Secretary. The staff of WWWS-AM-FM and those who were not connected with the station are to be congratulated for giving their time in support of this drive by helping collect the money.

This letter would not be complete without thanking Miss Mandenhall, Doug Crumpler, Dale Blackwell, and the clubs and societies for their fine support. Finally, our personal feelings could not be told in words but we want to thank the Editor, and his staff, of the best newspaper that East Carolina has ever had. Without their support, this drive would not have been the success it was.

Thanks to everyone.

Bramblebush Gripe

To the Editor:

In the October 30 edition of the EAST CAROLINIAN, Jim Willis, in his column "The Bramblebush," said that among our student body, most of our "male sect" has an almost "mania urge" to go to war. He said that it was unimportant to us who or for what we fight. He said that the outcome of such a war matters not and that the end of the world sounds like an adventure to us. He said that in the end we'll take a bow to a destroyed world and be proud to give our lives so that the world does not "become stagnant with the boredom of peace!"

If this represents the actual opinions of most of our male students, I'm ready to resign from the human race. The "mania urge" Mr. Willis speaks of is, in reality, a sense of firm determination to prevent, as President Kennedy says, "the slow undoing of those human rights to which this nation has always been committed." Disagreeing with Mr. Willis, I think it matters a great deal who or for what we fight. Very few of us would go to war to prevent the smuggling of ice cubes into Alaska. It's simply not important to us. To most of us, the end of the world is not an event to be eagerly awaited, but instead it will be the final failure of man to live peacefully in a world of his own making. I know of no one who would die to prevent the world from becoming "stagnant with the boredom of peace." I think most of us would die, however, to prevent the world from becoming captive to the slave-masters of communism.

Thus, either Mr. Willis is inaccurate in his analysis of public opinion or I am. I hope Mr. Willis is wrong.

Sincerely,
James R. Allison

From The Top Of The Stack

By LLOYD "STACK" LANE

Saturday's game with Lenoir Rhyne's Bears proved the value of the extra point in football. The extra point in this game left the LR Bears unbeaten in eight starts and gave the Pirates a 3-4 record. The Pirates had two chances to score the extra point and missed them both while the LR extra point was kicked about 25 feet high and accidentally fell between the uprights—a lucky conversion attempt if ever there was one. No matter how lucky it was, it nevertheless proved to be the margin of victory.

Even though the Pirates lost, they embarrassed many coaches who stated that LR would beat our Pirates by two to three touchdowns.

LR put on an offensive show as they gained 193 yards rushing and 119 yards passing, while the Pirates gained 156 yards rushing and 0 yards passing. The Pirates threw 8 passes and completed 0; the Bears threw 18 passes and completed 11. This does not tell the true story because the Pirate's defense did an exceptional job of holding LR's offensive machine in the scoring territory.

The Pirate's four losses this year have all been in the final quarter. In all four of these games, EC has scored first.

The EC basketball team plays VMI in the season's opener at Lexington, Virginia, which will give some EC students a chance to go home to Virginia on December 1 and see the Pirates play.

The basketball schedule is rough this year and includes many of the strongest teams in this area—Davidson, VMI, Belmont Abbey, LR, High Point, and William and Mary. VMI won the Southern Conference championship last year, and Davidson's amazing freshman team of last year will be one of the biggest surprises in the south this year. There are six home games and twelve away games on the Buc schedule.

Some Odds and Ends

Catawba's Bill McDevit continued his passing binge as Catawba beat Wofford, 27-25. McDevit threw two of his three TD passes in the last 59 seconds to give Catawba the victory. The Pirates play Wofford November 17 in Spartanburg, South Carolina.

Elon's Christians remain in contention for the Carolina's Conference championship as they beat Newberry 13-6. The only team that Elon has to worry about is Lenoir Rhyne. The Lenoir Rhyne-Elon game will be next Saturday.

There was some misunderstanding in the Wake-Forest-Tennessee game Saturday for the spectators. Tennessee tailback Malcom Failcloth was thrown for a two-yard loss by Failcloth and Failcloth (twin brothers who play guards for WF).

Spectators cannot always tell by the box scores the story of a ball game. Although the box score does tell first downs, yards rushing and passing, and who scores, it does not tell the non-scrimmage results such as interception returns and punt returns. Tennessee picked off six WF passes for 140 yards and two touchdowns.

Plans for the 1962-63 program, as announced by Miss Clifton include weiner roasts for the members; intramural programs in tennis, volleyball, basketball, softball, archery, badminton, and swimming; and an awards banquet for the members.

At the awards banquet, plaques will be given to winning teams in each sport. Awards will also be given to outstanding senior members.

Pirates Edged By Bears 7-6 In Hard-Fought Defensive Tilt

By CLEMENT TEMPLETON

The Pirates lost a tough one in the fourth quarter Saturday night as they were edged by a highly rated Lenoir Rhyne 7-6 in Hickory. After the dust had cleared, LR was still unbeaten although the Bears realized that they had played what most likely will be their toughest game of the season.

7,500 spectators viewed the game that saw the Bears stage a fourth-quarter comeback to beat a rugged Pirate eleven. The margin proved to be the PAT, an extra point that could possibly be the highest extra point ever kicked and still made good. Lenoir Rhyne's kicking specialist, Marion Kirby, kicked under the ball and shot it almost straight up into the air. It barely fell across the uprights.

The LR Bears scored the winning tally with little over eight minutes left in the final stanza. Lenoir Rhyne's little All-American candidate Richard Kemps led the Bears downfield from their 46-yard line to the Pirate 9-yard line. At that point Kemp threw a jump pass to freshman Jimmy Quall for the TD that climaxed the 54-yard drive. Marion Kirby booted the decisive PAT.

The Pirates scored in the final minutes of the second period. Sophomore Bill Cline moved the ball 51 yards on a first down play to the Bear's three-yard line. Fullback Tom Michel proceeded to blast over tackle to pay dirt. The first try for the extra point was wide, but the over-eager Bears were off side. The ball was moved to the one-and-a-half-yard line on the offside penalty, where the second BUC kick was blocked by the hard-charging LR defensive line. From this point of the game until the final period, the score remained 6-0.

EC received the kickoff in the first quarter. On third down, LR's Tom Brown intercepted a Cline pass on the Pirate 33. After two series of plays, the Buc defense dug in and stopped the Bears on the EC seven. The Bucs took over first and ten on their own seven. On third down, wingback Jerry Tolley fumbled and the Bears recovered. Once again the strong Pirate defense rose to the occasion and stopped the Bears on the Pirate one-yard line. The Pirates managed, mainly on the running of Michel and Tolley, to move the pigskin to the LR 38-yard line. On fourth down, Bill Bailey punted the ball to the Bear 16. The ball exchanged hands once again but the initial quarter remained scoreless.

Early in the second quarter, LR started driving from their 16-yard line on the running of Kemp. Kemp picked up three first downs, but EC held on a fourth down situation to take over on their own 44-yard line. After picking up two first downs, the Pirates punted. The Bears took over on the LR 33. But the Pirate defense halted any LR aspirations for a sustained drive as they forced the Bears to a fourth down situation. Lenoir Rhyne's tailback, Odell White, fumbled and the Bucs took over on the Bear 42. The Bucs lost four yards on the next series of plays and punted. White, LR runback specialist, took Bailey's punt on his own 5-yard line and move it to the 12—a scant seven yards. The Bears moved the ball from their 12-yard line to the Pirate 27 where sophomore Ricky Jerrell intercepted a Kemp pass. After three plays the Bucs made a first down, then tail back Bill Cline romped 51 yards to the Bear three. Michel went over for the TD.

The second half started with EC holding a 6-0 lead. LR's wingman, Joe Rhyne, returned to his own 36. The Bears then moved the ball to the EC 14 on the running ability of White and Kemp. Again the Pirate defense made a brilliant stand, and the Pirates took over.

The strong Bear defense held in check, and the Bucs booted a fourth down. The Bears moved the ball from their own 40 to the 38 on two passes, White to Benny Kennerly. The Pirates took the ball at that point after the defensive team had once again stopped the LR "juggernaut".

As the fourth period opened, Buc offense stalled and punted. Qualls pulled in the punt on the Bear's 46. Fullback Kemp led the Bears 64 yards to the score. Kirby kicked the weird PAT which won the ball game.

EC's last chance to score was nullified by a 15 yard penalty call against Cline for intentional grounding of the football. The Pirates were then forced to kick from deep in their own territory. The Bears received and methodically ran the clock out.

The loss gives the Pirates a 3-4 record; Lenoir Rhyne is still unbeaten in eight starts.
