Merry Christmas!

Murrow Speaks To Senior Class At Graduation In Ficklen Stadium

Edward R. Murrow, Director of the United States Information Agency, will address 1963 graduates of EC at commencement exercises scheduled for 6 p.m. Sunday, June 9. President Leo W. Jenkins of the college has announced.

Murrow will speak at the first graduation exercises to be held in the Ficklen Memorial Stadium now under construction at the college. The stadium has a seating capacity of 18,000 and is expected to be filled for the program.

Murrow is a native of Greensboro and, among other degrees, holds the honorary LL.D. from UNC.

In December, 1961, he was a visitor in Greenville, when he made an inspection of the sites of the radio transmitters of the Voice of America, a USA project, in Beaufort and Pitt Counties. At this time he was interviewed by staff members of THE REBEL. The student publication featured the interview in the Winter 1962 edition.

Before his appointment as USA Director, Murrow had a long career in radio and television as a news reporter and analyst. During World War II he covered the blitz in Britain and became one of this country's most influential commentators through his program "This is London." His "Person to Person" TV series was popular with a host of viewers.

'Buc Beauty'

This week's Buc Beauty is lovely Karen White, a sophomore home economics major from Satesville, N. C. Karen is a big sister in Umstead Hall and a member of Delta Zeta Sorority.

Chapel Choir Presents Annual Christmas Music

The Chapel Choir, composed of 60 talented students in the School of Music, will present its fifth annual Christmas program Sunday afternoon, Dec. 9, at 3:30 p.m. in the Austin auditorium.

The Choir, organized in 1957, is under the direction of Dr. Carl Hjortsvang, faculty member of the School of Music.

Highlighting the program will be a presentation by the group of two Advent cantatas, both of which were written to be given before Christmas in celebration of the announcement that Christ is coming. The first cantata will be "Come Redeemer of Our Race" by J. S. Bach and the second, "Rejoice, Beloved Christians" by Dietrich Buxtehude.

Accompanists for the two cantatas will be provided by Michael Howe and Diane Patrick, organists; and a string quartet composed of Vito Cotruvo, Ronald Allen, Ann Mee, and Donald Tracy of the faculty.

Following the two cantatas, the Choir will present three unaccompanied anthems: "Sing and Rejoice" by Will James; "The King is Knocking" by Leland Sateran; and "A Child is Born This Day" by Harriet Isle.

EC Conducts Evaluation

Two evaluation teams will be on campus March 4, 5, and 6 to make a detailed study of the entire college program. A committee of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the National Committee for Accreditation of Teacher Education will conduct the program.

In order for a school to maintain its accreditation in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, it must conduct an intensive self-study every ten years. EC was last evaluated in 1952.

During the 1961-62 year, many faculty and student committees conducted thorough studies of every facet of college life. They assimilated reports following specific guide lines from the Southern Association on the following topics: purpose of the school, finances organization, education program, library, faculty, student personnel, physical plant, research, special activities, and the graduate school.

In the summer and fall of 1962, these reports were reviewed and completed by an Editing Committee for the forthcoming visit of the evaluation teams. This committee is composed of Dr. John Howell, Dr. James L. White, and Dean Robert L. Holt.

The self-study for the National Committee for Accreditation of Teacher Education has been prepared primarily by the Department of Education and has been reviewed by the Editing Committee. Special reports in the Health and Physical Education, Industrial Arts, Home Economics, and Music programs have been prepared for NCATE.

Approximately 12-15 people from schools and colleges throughout the United States will compose the evaluation teams.

String Quartet Provides Concert Monday Night

The String Quartet of the School of Music will appear in a concert of chamber music Monday, Dec. 10, at 8:15 p.m. in the McGinnis auditorium.

Included on the program will be two quartets by Boccherini, a divertimento by Mozart, and Opus 18, No. 4 by Beethoven.

The String Quartet, organized during the fall, will also give a concert in Ahsoskie Dec. 5, will appear in Goldsboro Dec. 9 at a performance of Handel's "The Messiah" with accompaniment by the quartet and the organ.

In frequent demand for appearances with vocal organizations, the quartet took part in the program presented by the College Singers Wednesday night, Dec. 5, at 8:15 p.m. in Whichard Music Hall.

Greenville Rathskeller Opens After Christmas Holidays

Opening on January 2, just in time to welcome the students of EC back to school, will be the new Greenville Rathskeller, Ltd. The Rathskeller will specialize in pizzas, beefburgers, and sandwiches. There will be entertainment on special occasions. The management of the Rathskeller expect to have a seating capacity of over one hundred persons.

The Rathskeller will be designed in imitation of a quaint German wine cellar. Some of the walls will be burlapped, while others will be done in rustic brick. Old-fashioned, ship-type lanterns will hang from exposed beams in the ceiling. In keeping with the atmosphere will be the wooden tables and benches instead of ordinary booths. One will enter the Rathskeller from an alley entrance. The Rathskeller will be located at the site of the old C and V Restaurant in front of Belk Tyler's.

Mr. Leon Stinson, manager of the Rathskeller, stated:

"The Rathskeller will offer the college students an outstanding place to bring their dates or just to meet friends in an informal atmosphere of an old German rathskeller. I wish to take this opportunity to invite the students of EC to visit the Rathskeller, which will offer the best in food and entertainment. I believe the students will particularly enjoy the side entrance which will be used to give the needed effect."

Rehearsals Begin January 2 For "Once Upon A Mattress"

Rehearsals for "Once Upon A Mattress" will begin on January

2, and the musical will open on February 2.

Mr. Loessin, director of the musical, says that between 75 and 100 students tried out for parts. Of these, fifty were chosen; however, there are still, at least, two more parts open in the chorus for male singers. Twelve students from the various dance classes on campus were selected for the musical's dance company.

All parts are played by students with the exception of one. Dr. George Cook, of the English department, who plays the wizard, is the only faculty member in the cast. The leading character, Winifred, queen of the swamps, which made Carol Burnett famous, is played by Minnie Gaster.

Scenery for the musical is still being planned and designed. The sets, fifteen of them, will be very elaborate. In order for these sets to be used, the stage of McGinnis is being completely remodeled and new rigging put in. Work on the stage started Friday 30 and is expected to be completed by Christmas.

U. S. Naval Officers Explain Officer Program, Positions

Representatives from the Raleigh Office of Naval Officer Programs and the Naval Air Reserve Training Unit, Norfolk, Virginia, will visit EC for the purpose of explaining the Navy's commissioned officer programs to interested individuals.

The team will be located in the College Union, December 10 through December 12.

Openings are available for assignment in Aviation, General Line, and several specialty categories.

Most of the programs are open for application only to college seniors; however, undergraduates who have completed 60 semester hours of accredited college work may apply for appointment as a Naval Aviation Cadet.

Any student who meets the required standards and is within 9 months of graduation may take the qualification test and make application with the visiting Navy Procurement Team.

PROCEDURES FOR REGISTRATION.

For students who have pre-registered, Class Schedules will be picked up at the Gymnasium between 9:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. according to the following schedule:

Seniors and Graduate	Students
	9:00 - 10:30
Juniors	10:30 - 12:00
Sophomores	12:00 - 2:00
Freshmen	2:00 - 4:30

Students who did not pre-register and all new students will register in the Student Union of Wright Building between 9:00 and 4:30. Students will pick up their Permit to Register from the Registrar's Office, Room 205, Administration Building and see their advisers in the departments to complete a Trial Schedule.

To Play Or Not To Play

Wake Forest

Nothing is yet final concerning EC's proposed scheduling of a football game with Wake Forest for next year. At this point it seems that the only thing standing in the way of the scheduling of the game is Wake Forest's reluctance to commit itself.

There has been considerable opposition to the game by the students of Wake Forest. The reason they give for opposing it is that they will be lowering themselves if they play East Carolina College. We would have to consider those fighting words if it were not so obviously a cover-up for their real reasons.

We do not yet pretend to be a major football power. Wake Forest apparently does. If we play them next year we will beat them and this would greatly damage their delusions of grandeur. Perhaps they feel that it is bad enough to be defeated by two state supported schools without adding a third to the list.

If there is anyone at Wake Forest who actually believes that they will be lowering their standards by playing us, we question them as to how they reached such a decision. As Charles Craven said in last Sunday's News and Observer, "More than the name has changed at ECC!" Perhaps we should further the education of Johnathan Beam by inviting Wake Forest to our school so that we may prove this.

If there is any "lowering of standards" involved in scheduling such a game, we assure the good people of Wake Forest that it is on our part and not theirs. If Wake Forest has not yet received a formal challenge from this College we request that they consider this as such.

Significant Difference

We have probably received more comment on our objection to columns entitled "Colored News" than any other editorial this year. One indignant complainer stressed the point that it was just like any other social column and compared it to those entitled "Ayden News," "Winterville News" and so on. Needless to say, we didn't waste our time arguing with a person who can see no significant difference between the names of towns and the names of races.

It's Possible

Boy-Girl Relations

By BILL WEIDENBACHER

In the Boy-Girl Relations meetings, Dean White has said that "girls should not hang onto their high school sweethearts, but they should shop around while in college. "Girls, don't you have any initiative, do you continually have to be prodded along. Don't you realize that you're walking (perhaps running) through a Garden of Eden. Why, EC Gentlemen are practically divorce proof! Furthermore they will probably make more money than your high school sweethearts."

Even though Dean White believes that some girls are never mature enough to marry, she still takes the stand that a M.R.S. degree goes hand in hand with a B.S. degree. I wonder what goes hand in hand with an A.B. degree. Perhaps a subscription to Career Girl.

These are just some of the topics discussed in the controversial Boy-Girl Relations Meetings. These meetings were well attended by the freshmen girls—quite a credit to the speakers. These meetings were not attended by boys, even though they were all trying to get into the meetings. Such a thirst for knowledge, however, was overshadowed by the girls' generosity in offering their seats to the boys. But they did not, since transferring their cards would have been conducted unbecomingly of an EC student.

At the end of the meetings, the girls were asked to evaluate the fiery credit under the title of Statistics O met with some approval. Other suggestions for course titles were Letterwriting 300, Needlecraft 368G, and Siesta 60. Still others suggested that the meetings be replaced by Student Unionizing I. The tallies are not all in.

Whether or not to repeat these meetings will be determined by their success this year.

Globe Trotting

Americans Abroad

with Tabibzadeh and Bede

Residents of different lands think differently and their respective evaluations of Americans are far from being parallel. In Paris if you ask a question in American English, it is more likely you would receive the answers in French, that is if you receive any answer at all. In Denmark, on the contrary, and American G. I. in a Copenhagen bar might be asked to drink a few on the house. In Franco's Spain U. S. airmen cannot be in uniform while outside of the base boundaries. The average Pakistani is familiar with the U. S. "Vice King" (Lyndon Johnson, Vice President) because he served as a host to a Pakistani in this country.

A great number of American missionaries are 'serving' abroad. They work among average and below average income groups, usually trying to swing them to Christian beliefs. Many of them are great humanitarians, who try to help underprivileged people. This group is classified by those they come in contact with, as people first and Americans second.

A few years ago a young student from the Middle East was traveling from Washington, D. C. to Texas, where he intended to begin his college career. He had arrived in here only a few days back and knew little about the American way of life. The gentleman was seriously thinking about rooming with a girl at the college. He thought that this arrangement would be intellectually and scholastically more beneficial to him. Hard to believe as it seems, his motives were not intensified primarily by sex. He had believed the Americans to be so liberal and tolerant as to have established the equality of sexes.

In 1954 the plurality of political officials in Iran were not the least bit influenced by the concept of Jeffersonian Democracy, whereas the teenagers had adopted duck-tail haircuts, leather jackets, and smoking. The children were playing cowboys and Indians, and using English terms for the apprehensive of the "bad guys." If one could not tell the bad guy "hands up" while pointing an simulated weapon at him and used the relevant local term instead, he is just simply not in! Sociologists refer to these cases as victims of Hollywood's cultural exchange.

The book Ugly American (co-authored by Leder and Burdick) tried to describe the ugly Americans abroad and bravely pointed out that most people tend to judge all Americans from the poor example set by these few. Back in the old country, I had an American peer; he was not ugly, on the contrary, he was quite handsome. Once he asked me to try to introduce him to a wealthy native girl. This was a particularly difficult assignment since there are only a few well-to-do families in our town. The number of prospective female candidates for my friend hardly exceeded three. I tried to persuade him to find an attractive one instead. What puzzled me was why would he want to acquire a rich girl friend; after all, his weekly allowance exceeded my father's monthly salary, a medical doctor in the government service.

Left Field

By JIM FORSYTH

One of these days I'll decide what I'm going to call this column.

I don't know how it stands on a nation-wide basis, but judging from the names of some of the people from EC who were listed in "Who's Who," and the outstanding students whose names were omitted, it may soon be a greater honor not to have one's name listed.

Many of the buildings in Greenville have the appearance of a hastily renovated barn or warehouse. It would be a relief if some of the establishments in town would take a hint from the attractive architecture of the Pitt Theatre, or, for that matter, from the town of Chapel Hill. Granted, things like that are expensive, but they seem to pay off in the long run. If nothing else, a zoning law should be passed to keep stables out of the business district.

Have you ever noticed the "art" work on some of the washroom walls? I doubt if Dean Gray bemoans the lack of it in the School of Art. Such work tends to be impressionistic in a somewhat base sense rather than creative.

Funny thing, there is a black, four-door, Studebaker Lark on campus which is often being driven by someone who breaks many of the traffic rules, but never gets a ticket. Last Friday afternoon it was parked in a no parking zone in front of Graham. Early Wednesday morning of the same week (about 1:00) another person and I were walking past the Campus Post Office toward town after finishing up some work on the EAST CAROLINIAN, we saw the same black Lark turn right on the west end of Austin Building and drive across the sidewalk and the lawn. Pity the poor student who gets caught doing something like that.

I wish whoever drops empty liquor bottles on the grass on the side of Wright Building toward Graham would find somewhere else to throw them. When they are dropped out there it looks like someone dropped them out the windows of one of the rooms occupied by the EAST CAROLINIAN.

I don't know how they select which students get campus jobs around here but right off hand they don't appear to be selected on a basis of need. There are several people holding campus positions who have cars at school while there are others who honestly need the work.

HAMBURGER

A Column for People Who Can't Afford Lobster Newburg
By J. ALFRED WILLIS

I read an article in the Christian Science Monitor about the essayist E. B. White. He was asked if he had any advice for young writers trying to solve the problems of mankind. He replied, "Don't write about Man, write about a man." The interviewer said, "Are you being arbitrary?" And White answered, "Many of the commonest assumptions, it seems to me, are arbitrary ones: that the new is better than the old, the untried superior to the tried, the complex more advantageous than the simple, the fast quicker than the slow, the big greater than the small, and the world as remodeled by Man the Architect functionally and more agreeable than the world as it was before he changed everything to suit his vogues and his conceptions."

I read this; and, for some reason, I wondered what ever happened to the Gypsies. They were always regarded as a bunch of dirty, comic thieves. In mystery novels the long lost heir to the murdered man's fortune that turned up when he was a child by the Gypsies.

I remember living in Mobil, Alabama, and hearing a story about one of my father's co-workers. He had gotten drunk down on the waterfront and had staggered into a Gypsy fortune teller's place. This Gypsy was nice looking, young; no jagged teeth or warts. He sat down in front of her, and she told him to put his hands under her blouse. While he had his hands on her chest, she would tell his fortune. When he got out, he discovered that his wallet was missing. While he had been preoccupied with putting his hands under the blouse, she had picked his pocket.

And then one of those times when I was young, I recall sitting on the front porch of my Great Aunt's and falling asleep amid the talk of gypsies and grand-folk sailing in the far lands of the Carribeans and Norfolk, carrying bears and bananas. The bugs would dart against the screen, and the beacon would blink off and on while the boats passed with their distant laughter and chatter — their lights seemed so near, and yet the sound traveled so far over the dark unfeeling water. And Aunt Lavinia would tell how the gypsies camped around Tusk (or Lower Smyrna — Uncle Richard adding that you don't want to say Tusk in the presence of anyone who lives there, because he'll fight you). The gypsies roamed around stealing fire wood, breaking into houses, maybe roasting a stray pig or two, and putting curses on cattle, until the residents armed themselves and drove the gypsies away.

What ever happened to the gypsies? They have probably gone into the building and loan business. They live in houses without wheels and, no doubt, look like you and me. That seems a shame. Children can no longer pass a creek or an open ground by the side of the road and see a fire burning among battered tin trailers with a gaudy, gnarled gypsy man with ear rings thinking about Romany.

Delta Sigma Pi Initiates Seven

Seven business majors at EC have been initiated into the international professional business fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi.

The new fraternity brothers are Clarence J. Weeks, Jr., Gary Andrew Meeks, Paul Randall Stokes, Fred Dalberg Ayers, Jr., Roger Vincent Register, Ted John Whitmyer, and Randall Scott Cain.

In order to complete the four-week pledge period successfully, the seven new members had to study the history of the fraternity, the fraternity system, and the Greek alphabet, in addition to maintaining an overall C average on all academic work taken at EC.

They were chosen following a "Rush" party for all male members of the School of Business. Invitations were issued by the fraternity president, Malcolm Burris, on behalf of the chapter's brothers.

The pledge period was climaxed with a dinner and dance honoring the seven new brothers. At that time, Gary Meeks was named to receive the "Ideal Pledge" award.

College Extension Plans Fourth Annual Grand Tour Of Europe

EC's Fourth Annual Grand Tour of Europe is now being planned by the College Division of Extension as an attraction of the 1963 Summer Session.

Scheduled for June 13 - July 16, the trip will take a group of approximately thirty student-tourists to seven countries and two principalities in Europe for visits to places famed for their historic, scenic, and cultural interest, according to plans.

Now being organized under the supervision of Dr. David J. Middleton, Director of Extension at EC, the trip will combine the pleasures of travel abroad with the benefits of a program of study emphasizing essential aspects of European civilization.

Mrs. Myrtle B. Clark of the faculty of the Wahl-Coates Laboratory School at the college will direct the tour for the fourth consecutive year.

Those making the tour will, on completion of requirements, receive nine quarter hours of undergraduate college credit.

A brochure giving a full itinerary and other information will be ready for distribution at an early date. Inquiries about the tour should be addressed to Dr. David J. Middleton, Director of Extension, EC, or to Mrs. Myrtle B. Clark, 409 Holly Street, Greenville, N. C.

Installation Dinner Honors New Fraternity Members

The Eta Chi Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary fraternity at EC, has announced the installation of nine new members.

Those installed were guests of honor for dinner at Silo Restaurant in Greenville last week. Following the dinner three officers of the fraternity were elected.

The Eta Chi Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi is an honor society in education and was founded at EC in June, 1953. To be a member, one must be classified as a junior working toward a B.S. degree and must have a scholastic average qualifying one for inclusion on the Dean's List of Superior Student's.

New members of the fraternity, who possess outstanding qualities of leadership and character, and three officers elected are Mary Lynn Henderson, vice president; Carolyn Freeman; Judy Jackson; Virginia Griffin; Pattie J. Forbes, secretary-treasurer; Bonnie Meiggs Dudley; Brenda Painter; reporter and historian; Judy Godwin; and Lynda Lewis.

DELTA ZETA

The Delta Zeta pledges gave their sisters a party Wednesday, November 28, depicting the theme India. Sisters and pledges were dressed as Indians and tourists. After refreshments were served, the pledges gave each of their big sisters a gift.

Ten new sisters were initiated at the Episcopal Church December 1. The new sisters are Joan Robbit, Penny Tayloe, Karan White, Helene Rosemond, Agnes Lanier, Dolores Williams, Kay Yow, Elaine Gitelson, Barbara Tew, and Jeanette Widdfield. A banquet followed the initiation. Karen White and Elaine Gitelson received the best pledge awards.

For its Christmas project, Delta Zeta took fruit baskets to Pitt County's Home for the Aged. The sisters sang Christmas carols and distributed the baskets.

Home Ec. Student Enters Competition

Carol Elaine Aldridge, junior home economics student at EC has announced she will compete with students in colleges and universities across the nation for the 25th Annual MADEMOISELLE'S College Board Competition.

She is qualified to enter the competition after having served this past summer as student adviser of MADEMOISELLE'S College Board at the Smart Shop in Concord. In this capacity, she worked with nine other student advisers there.

To serve on the college board, MADEMOISELLE outlines to department stores in the United States certain specifications in running a college board. The student who merits ability in writing, merchandizing, promotion, fashion, advertising, or art, is chosen as student advisor of the college board.

The brunette student with blue eyes and model measurements has selected for her entry the preparation of a booklet.

Her first entry was due November 30, 1962. If she completes the three-entry steps and receives honorable mention, she will receive $25 and consideration for a job with MADEMOISELLE and other Conde' Nast publications, or a Guest Editorship, which is a salaried month working in MADEMOISELLE'S New York offices and top consideration for permanent jobs. If MADEMOISELLE considers publishing her entry, she will also receive a cash prize.

Ten entries throughout the nation will win Honorable Mention of $25 each and twenty will win Guest Editorships.

National Council Elects Cramer To Exec. Board

Dr. Robert E. Cramer, Director of the Department of Geography at EC, was elected to the Executive Board of the National Council for Geographic Education at the 48th annual meeting held in Chicago last weekend. The National Council for Geographic Education has over 3,000 members throughout the United States and Canada. It is an active organization devoted to the improvement of subject matter and methods of instruction in the field of geography.

While attending the Chicago meetings November 22-24, Dr. Cramer read a paper on "Travel-Study Tours for College Credits." This talk was based on four travel-study tours he has conducted for EC. During the past five years he has been serving as state coordinator for the National Council.

He has read several papers before the organization and has published numerous articles in the official publication, JOURNAL OF GEOGRAPHY.

Beta Iota Conducts Installation, Initiation

Installation of the Beta Iota Chapter of Phi Epsilon Kappa, national professional physical education fraternity, and initiation of charter members took place Sunday, Dec. 2.

Dr. Harold M. Barrow, chairman of the Department of Physical Education at Wake Forest College and past national vice president of the fraternity, presided at the ceremonies. A team of members from Wake Forest conducted the installation and the initiation.

Officers who were elected to lead the new chapter during the current academic year are the following charter members:

Edward Mizell, president; William Oakley, vice president; Tony Katsias, secretary; Thomas Speller, treasurer; Whitford Bass, historian-editor; George South, guide; and Roderick Stanton, sergeant-at-arms.

Others initiated yesterday as charter members are Donald Brewer, William Cheshire, Arthur Faris, Robert Folks, Charlie Futrell, Joe Gordon, Thomas Grant, and Gordon Patrick; also Dr. N. M. Jorgenson and Dr. Francis F. Pyne, director and faculty member, respectively of the Department of Health and Physical Education.

Dr. Pyne and Dr. Glen P. Reeder will act as faculty sponsors of the new chapter. Dr. Clinton H. Strong is faculty treasurer.

The Beta Iota Chapter is the second in the state to receive a charter from the national organization. The other is the Alpha Lambda Chapter at Wake Forest.

Among objectives of Phi Epsilon Kappa are to further the individual welfare of members; to foster scientific research in the fields of Health Education, Physical Education, Recreation Education, and raise professional standards and ethics.

Faculty members of the Department of Health and Physical Education who have been affiliated with the fraternity and who attended yesterday's ceremonies are Wendell Carr, Dr. Ray H. Martinez, Dr. Reeder, and Dr. Strong.

DECK THE HALLS

When you think of Christmas gifts you naturally think of Marlboro cigarettes, leading seller in flip-top box in all fifty states—and if we annex Wales, in all fifty-one—and if we annex Lapland—in all fifty-two. This talk about annexing Wales and Lapland is, incidentally, not just idle speculation. Great Britain wants to trade Wales to the United States for a desert. Great Britain needs a desert desperately on account of the tourist trade. Tourists are always coming up to the Prime Minister or the Lord Privy Seal or like that and saying, "I'm not knocking your country, mind you. It's very quaint and picturesque, etc. what with Buckingham Palace and Boving and Scotland Yard, etc., but where's your desert?" (Before I forget, let me point out that Scotland Yard, Britain's plainclothes police branch, was named after Wally Scotland and Fred Yard who invented plain clothes. The American plainclothes force is called the FBI after Frank B. Inchecliff, who invented fingerprints. Before Mr. Inchecliff's invention, everybody's fingers were absolutely glassy smooth. This, as you may imagine, played hob with the identification of newborn babies in hospitals. From 1791 until 1904 no American parent

Local NCEA Nominates Fuller, Spear For State, District Presidencies

The EC Unit of the N. C. Education Association has nominated two of its members as candidates for office in the state association. Dr. Clifford L. Nixon, President of the campus group has announced. The nominations have been forwarded to Dr. A. C. Dawson, Executive Secretary of the NCEA.

Dr. Frank Fuller of the college Department of Education, who is now serving as vice president of the NCEA, received the local unit's nomination for the presidency for 1963-1964. Dr. Richard S. Spear, also of the Department of Education, was nominated for the presidency of the Northeastern District of the NCEA for 1963. He is now vice president.

Eller To Direct Science Institute

To improve instruction in science, EC will offer Science Institute for Junior High School Science Teachers. The program will be presented this summer from July 19 until August on a $42,800 grant from the National Science Foundation.

Directing the program will be Dr. Frank Eller of the Science Department. The program is part of a nation-wide program of the National Science Foundation College credit for 9 quarter or 6 semester hours will be received by those who take part and complete the requirements. Biology, physics, and earth science will be included.

Assisting Dr. Eller will be Dr. Graham Davis of the Science Department and Dr. George Martin of the Geography Department.

Dr. Fuller, a faculty member since 1949, is a B. S. graduate of Aurora College and holds the M. A. and Ed. D. degrees in guidance from George Washington University. He is now serving as President of the N. C. Personnel and Guidance Association. ever brought home the right baby from the hospital. This later became known as the Black Tom Explosion.)

But I digress. England, I was saying, wants to trade Wales for a desert. Sweden wants to trade Lapland for Frank B. Inchecliff. The reason is that Swedes to this day still don't have fingerprints. As a result, identification of babies in Swedish hospitals is so haphazard that Swedes flatly refuse to bring their babies home. There are, at present, nearly a half-billion unclaimed babies in Swedish hospitals—some of them well over eighty years old.

But I digress. We were speaking of Christmas gifts which naturally put us in mind of Marlboro cigarettes. What could be more welcome at Christmas time than Marlboro's flavor, Marlboro's soft pack, Marlboro's flip-top box? What indeed would be more welcome at any time of year—winter or summer, rain or shine, night or day? Any time, any season, when you light a Marlboro you can always be certain that you will get the same mild, flavorful, completely comfortable smoke.

There are, of course, other things you can give for Christmas besides Marlboro cigarettes. If, for example, you are looking for something to give a music lover, let me call to your attention a revolutionary new development in phonographs—the Low-fi phonograph. The Low-fi, product of years of patient research, has so little fidelity to the record you put on it that if, for instance, you put "Stardust" on the turntable, "Melancholy Baby" will come out. This is an especially welcome gift for people who have grown tired of "Stardust".

Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night.

Men's Glee Club Plans Concerts With WCUNC

The Men's Glee Club has announced plans for two joint concerts with the W.C.U.N.C. Choir during the Winter Quarter. The first concert will be in Greensboro on February 17 and will be held in Aycock Auditorium on the Woman's College campus. The second concert will be in Greenville on February 17 in Wright Auditorium. The two choral groups will be combined for two Mixed Choral Numbers, and social events and rehearsals will precede the concerts.

Richard Cox of the Woman's College School of Music is director of the Woman's College Choir and Charles Stevens of the East Carolina College School of Music is director of the East Carolina Men's Glee Club.

New members for the Men's Glee Club will be accepted at the beginning of the Winter Quarter. Preregistration is not necessary and a student may join by simply attending the first rehearsal at the beginning of the Quarter. Rehearsals are held on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays in Room 148 of the Music Building at 12:00 o'clock. If possible, students should see Mr. Stevens at the Music Building prior to this time.

Carriero Speaks To English Class About Homeland

Mrs. Anna Maria Carriero, formerly of Oriente Province in Cuba, gave first-hand information Wednesday, November 7, about her native land to students in an English class taught by Mrs. Faye Clay. Her audience had used Cuba as their area of study for research papers.

Mrs. Carriero, who has a degree in pharmacy and had the title of "doctor" in Cuba, is an educator also, having taught in her own academy in Oriente Province a number of years.

The class meeting was devoted to a lecture on outstanding geographical and historical points of information about Cuba and a question-and-answer session during which the students asked questions arising from their recent research.

Mrs. Carriero told her audience that only about 5% of the Cuban people are actual followers of Castro. Children in Cuba are not forced to attend school, she explained, and so parents have withdrawn them to keep them from being indoctrinated.

Moreover, she continued, although the schools had improved immeasurably under Batista, they are no longer good, the well-trained teachers having resigned. Many of the teachers today have finished no more than the sixth grade, Mrs. Carriero said.

Food is scarce, she commented. Oranges, once 10c a dozen, are sold singly and by prescription only, she said by way of example.

Whenever possible, many Cubans have escaped to the United States, she stated, indicating that there are 200,000 refugees in Florida.

Mrs. Carriero was in Miami two years with a position at Jackson Memorial Hospital. Preferring other surroundings for her three children, she came to Greenville to make her home.

She says she likes Greenville very much for its friendliness and its cultural advantages. She is employed as a pharmacist's assistant at Bissette's Drug Store here. Although she has seven years training, three more than are required for the pharmacy degree in the States, she must wait to pass the Pharmacy Board in February, 1963, before she can practice independently.

Math Club Members Hold Yuletide Party

The annual Christmas party of the Math Club was held Tuesday, December 4, 1962, in the Y Hut. Miss Williams, a member of the math faculty, read the group an inspiring story. Following this, everyone present joined in to sing Christmas Carols. Several skits were given by members of the club. Donations were made toward the club's project which is to help orphans have a happier Christmas. Refreshments and socializing were after this program of entertainment.

Modern Dance Club Presents Christmas Program December 5

The Modern Dance Club at EC composed of twenty talented women students, will present a Christmas dance program at the Methodist Student Center in Greenville Wednesday evening, Dec. 5, at 6 p.m. The half-hour program which is open to the public will include a short talk relating history to dance in the church by Mrs. Betty Rose Griffith, faculty wife and director of the club.

"Carol of the Bells," a fast movement of modern dance, will open the program. Nine members of the organization who will perform are Jessie Dvinoff, Martha Bryant, Judy Mohle, Sheila Laster, Shannon Alexander, Peggy Pahl, Diane Elder, Chickie Maultsby, and Bettye Futrell.

Artistic in beauty and expressive in words will be the performance of "Silent Night." The sacred performance, an Oriental religious dance characterizing seriousness in thought and slowness in hand movement, will be presented by Cappy Jo Langston, Dean Hardee, Joyce Herring, Ellen Hill, Sarah Louise Womble, Laura Gartman, Frances Howell, and Susan Buck.

Choreographer for "Carol of the Bells" is Mrs. Griffith and for "Silent Night" by Phoebe Barr of the University of Alabama.

Mrs. Griffith has announced that on Sunday, Dec. 16, at 1 p.m. over WNCT-TV, Channel 9, "Let's Go To College," the same program will be presented.

The Modern Dance Club was formed at EC in 1961 under the sponsorship of Larrayne Graff of the Health and Physical Education Department. Serving this year as faculty sponsor is Carolyn Thorpe, faculty member in the Physical Education Department.

Murray Discusses Plans For Tercentenary Group

Dr. Paul Murray, Director of the Department of Social Studies, discussed the organization of the Carolina Charter Tercentenary Commission and plans now being made for the celebration of the Tercentenary of the Granting of the Charter of 1663 before the Lenoir-Pitt Committee of Colonial Dames of America.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Bancroft Moseley in Greenville on November 15.

"The Carolina Tercentenary Commission," Dr. Murray said, "is a recent phase of the intellectual and cultural renaissance in North Carolina, beginning in the 1890's with the organization of a state branch of the Colonial Dames and other patriotic societies. These groups were the major forces behind the organization of the State Literary and Historical Association and the creation by the General Assembly of the Historical Commission, now known as the Department of Archives and History."

"The idea of the Tercentenary Commission," he continued "stemmed from a wave of interest in colonial history engendered by the purchase of the original charter to the eight lords proprietors, 1947-1949, and the successful Jamestown Exposition in 1957."

The work of the Commission, he explained, "has been mainly the projection of plans for celebrations into every area of intellectual and cultural activity in the state. An imposing achievement in publication is the first volume, soon to appear, of a revised edition of "The Colonial Records of North Carolina."

"Various professional groups in the state," he said, "have incorporated colonial history into their programs for the year 1963."

Foreign Countries Symbolize Different Holiday Customs

As you sit down to Christmas dinner this year, give a thought to the ways in which foreign families spread good cheer.

If you peep under the tablecloth at a Lithuanian Christmas dinner, you may find hay! It is placed there to symbolize the Christ Child's birth in a manger. In token of this fact, German farmers and their cattle fast the day before Christmas. Afterwards, both enjoy a hearty meal.

The Belgians and their guests sit around and tell ghost stories. Norwegians sit down to a gigantic Christmas breakfast with as many as forty different kinds of hot and cold dishes.

GHOSTS JOIN FESTIVITIES

In some districts of Portugal, even the ghosts look forward to Christmas. The Portuguese leave food on the table so that the spirits of the dead can share in the Christmas cheer. In Poland and the Balkan countries, at least before the Iron Curtain closed in, people always left an empty chair at the Christmas table and before the fire for the Christ Child.

Though so many of the world's Christmas customs sound exotic and strange to our ears, the fact is that much of our own Christmas cheer has been imported from abroad. This is true not only of the Christmas tree (from Germany) and the Christmas card (from England) but also the ingredients of our holiday dinners and parties. Turkey is a native American dish; but plum pudding and mince pie are English, as is the wassail bowl.

THIRTEEN-DAY CELEBRATION

Though Christmas comes but once a year, in the Scandinavian countries it lingers for a long time; Jul, as it is known, lasts thirteen days. Refreshments are sometimes unusual: cakes or loaves of bread in the form of boars are eaten, recalling the ancient Viking feasts when real wild boars were on the menu.

The French prefer cakes shaped like a Yule log, frosted with chocolate to resemble the bark. After Midnight Mass, families and friends gather to make merry all night and to partake of an enormous meal, called "reveillon," which features oysters, sausages, and pancakes.

Alumnus Returns To Work As Assistant Band Director

By JIMMY FERRELL, News Bureau Staff Writer

George Knight, Jr., continues to add mileage to his record as a Marching Pirate.

Musical Star

Knight, who starred as a student in music as well as four campus musicals, received his B. S. degree in 1958 with a major in clarinet. He entered graduate school with a scholarship the following fall at the University of Illinois, where he received his M.A. in music.

Working under EC Director of Bands Herbert Carter, who also led the organization during Knight's student days, the assistant director is working with the marching band with precision drills and directing the Varsity Band. He also teaches freshman theory, a basic course in music, and private clarinet.

Outstanding Precision Drill

"The members are doing an outstanding job in precision drill," said Knight. "This has helped the spirit and has created interest. To be associated with an organization such as this band is quite an honor."

From 1959-62 he taught instrumental music at the Barnwell Public Schools, Barnwell, S. C.

Aside from his participation in the band while a student here, he served as president of both Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternity, and the Music Education Club. He was also named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

"I couldn't be happier," said Knight, sitting in his office and surrounded by band instruments. "It's so nice to be in a place where things are happening. The School of Music is one of the best, is more in competition with bigger schools, has become more cosmopolitan, and the band is always up."

Bucs Beat High Point 75-56

Pirate Captain Bill Otte led the scoring against High Point with 29 points. His 17 points in the first half kept the Pirates in the ball game.

Second-half Comeback Gives EC Cagers 2nd Straight Win

EC came back from the dressing room after halftime to erase a 35-30 High Point lead and roll over the Panthers 75-56 at Memorial Gym last Tuesday night. The win was the second straight for the Bucs who downed VMI in the opener last Saturday 76-66.

High Point played a good first half in which they opened up with a 7-0 lead before the Pirates could score. They continued to give the surprised Pirate fans an exhibition hitting on a fine basketball up until after the half when the Pirates started hitting on good percentage of their shots. Coach Smith warmed his players up with a few choice comments on their play that gave the Pirates a little incentive, but even then, the Bucs found themselves trailing by five points at the half against an inspired Panther outfit.

The Pirates came back after the half to push into the lead, only to be overtaken by the Panthers midway in the first half at 48-48. Buc shooting got particularly hot at this point, and Coach Smith's men closed the doors on the courageous effort put forth by High Point up to that turning point in the game.

The advantage that the Pirates enjoyed on the backboards was a dominating factor in the game. The Pirates outrebounded the Panthers 33-21. Bill Otte and Lacy West led the Pirates in rebound with 10 and 9 respectively.

A 56.5 Buc field goal shooting percentage did not help High Point, either. The Pirates hit on 19 of 28 attempts from the foul line while the Panthers hit on 14 of 17.

Bill Otte led the Pirate scoring that had four Pirates hitting in double figures for the evening. Otte was high man in the game with 29, Lacy West threw in 18, Richie Williams hit for 14, and Gerald Parker had a 13 point effort.

Al Trombetta hit 14 for High Point, followed by Garrison with 12 and Neel with 11.

The Pirate record is 2-0. The loss was the first for the Panthers in three games. The Pirates play Lenoir Rhyne tonight in the Memorial Gym at 8:00.

Kinnard Leads Frosh In 70-65 Louisburg Victory

The Baby Bucs held on the five points of their nine point halftime lead to down Louisburg Junior College 70-65 in the preliminary to the Buc-High Point game last Tuesday.

After taking a 39-30 lead at halftime, the Bucs spent the rest of the evening trying to keep the determined Hurricanes from coming back. It looked several times as if the Hurricanes might be able to take the lead, but mistakes took a heavy toll on these chances.

Bobby Kinnard was co-high scorer of the game with 21 points. Three other Pirates also hit in double figures. Woodside hit 14, Lattimore 12, and Phillips 10 for EC. Reid lead Louisburg with 21 points followed by Carver with 16 and Dean with 13.

SPORTS REVIEW

By LLOYD "STACK" LANE

The Pirate victory over VMI may have been a surprise to some but Coach Earl Smith predicted it three days in advance. "We almost caught them last year, and I think that we'll take them this year." The Pirates have looked good in their two games thus far this season, showing enthusiasm and hustle. Those easy layups and short bank notes are the result of some good picking and screening, something the Bucs have become very adept at. Once the guards are able to start a play in motion with a short pass to the side man, there are two and sometimes three men open for good shots as a result of picking and screening. The pivot man acts as a catch-all for picks.

Bill Cline received an Honorable mention in the Little All-American team voting. From this area, the Associated Press chose Richard Kemp of Lenoir Rhyne as first team fullback, Jim Edminston of Lenoir Rhyne as third team guard, and Odell White of Lenoir Rhyne received an Honorable mention. These three LR players led the Bears to 17 victories and a bowl appearance in California.

SOME ODDS AND ENDS

Arkansas finished 6th in the nation according to the AP balloting, so football coach Frank Boyles is getting a raise for directing the Razorbacks into this coveted position. However, in submitting the request to the state legislature for approval, the President of the school asked for a raise too. This seems fair since if they give Boyles a raise of $2,000 which would raise his salary to $26,000, they should give the President of the University of Arkansas a $4,000 raise so that he too can make $26,000 a year and not have to enter coaching to make a living.

It seems that poor VMI, a victim of the Pirates last Saturday will never get back on the road to recovery. West Virginia rolled over the all but helpless Keydets to the tune of 100-74. WVA could have really run up the score except that they decided to play reserves the last eight minutes.
