Retiring Director

Dr. J. L. Oppelt

Oppelt Leaves Position After Nineteen Years

Dr. J. L. Oppelt, Director of Student Teaching at East Carolina for nineteen years a member of the college faculty, will retire in July, according to an announcement by President Leo W. Jenkins. His successor has not yet been announced.

Dr. Oppelt came here in September 1944 as a full-time teacher in the Department of Education. At the request of Dr. Howard J. McGinnis, at that time Acting President of the college, he began, during that year, a survey and evaluation of the student teaching program.

In the fall of 1945 he became Director of Student Teaching and Placement, a position which he held for thirteen years. As EC grew and the duties of the two officers multiplied, a division was made, and in 1958 Dr. Oppelt became Director of Student Teaching.

"It's a real pleasure," Dr. Oppelt said this week in discussing his approaching retirement, "to look back and realize that nearly 7,000 students have been enrolled in our student teaching program since I became Director.

"My work with college departmental supervisors of student teaching, and supervising teachers in the public schools of our service area, as well as with public school officials, has been most gratifying," he continued.

"A fine spirit has marked the entire program of student teaching, the success of which has been due, in large part to the cooperation which has been given us by public school officials and supervising teachers."

With Dr. Oppelt as Director, the student teaching program included in 1945-46 a total of only 146 students, who received their training as classroom teachers in twelve schools in Eastern North Carolina. Their work was directed by two supervisors of student teaching in elementary education and ten supervisors in secondary education, all from the college, and 25 supervising teachers in the public schools.

Dr. Oppelt began his career as a teacher of mathematics and science in the Lorain, Ohio, schools, and later became a school superintendent in Lorain County schools, Ohio. Immediately before coming here he taught education for three years at Simpson College, at Indianola, Iowa.

He is a graduate of Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio; holds the M.A. degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University; and the Ph.D. from Ohio State University. He is a member of Jarvis Me. Church, the Masonic Order, NCEA, the NEA, and The Association for Student Teaching.

Dr. Oppelt is looking forward to retirement. A man of varied interests, he anticipates a pleasant use of his leisure time. "I expect to spend a lot of time catching up with my reading, and my golf," he stated.

Eyerman, Perry Vie For Prexy, April 10

Approximately 2,500 students voted in a spirited political contest on campus Thursday. Ten offices were filled and sixteen college marshals were selected in the elections. Seven offices are to be filled by a run-off election Wednesday, April 10.

Election results find Bill Eyerman and Oran Perry leading the presidential race. The winners will assume office six weeks prior to commencement and will lead the student body as SGA president. The position also carries seats on several committees, including the Discipline Committee, the Publications Board, and the Dean's Advisory Council.

George Wightman and Billy Braswell are the two top contenders for the vice president's post. As vice president, either Wightman or Braswell will serve on the Student Senate and as chairman of the Ring Committee.

Cathy Shesso, Special Events Chairman of the SGA, was named secretary of the organization by the student body vote. The post of treasurer was automatically filled by former assistant treasurer Dave Shearin, while Larry Snead won the seat of assistant treasurer without opposition.

Ed Smith and Pat Waff will vie for the historian's job. Eight persons originally filed and ran for this position.

Judiciary Officers

In the judiciary race, M. B. Godbold won the chairmanship for the Men's Judiciary. Sam Keel will serve as vice chairman. Members-at-large for the judicial board are Al Baker and Wayne Cook. The position of secretary-treasurer is to be filled by a run-off between Tom Scott and Jim Rabon.

Joan Wetherington and Linda Slaughter will vie for chairman of the Women's Judiciary. The vice chairman post will also be decided in a run-off when Nancy Freeman and Lynn Howell compete. Andrea Harris and Sandra Denton are to fill the seats of members at-large on the female judiciary.

Marshals

Thursday's election also named the sixteen students who will serve as college marshals for the coming year. Each person running for the positions was required to have a "B" scholastic average. Voting was then done on personality.

Those elected are Ann Adkins,

Karen White, Carol Joyner, Betsy Bryant, Laura Williams, GIGI Guice, Bill Stewart, Kathy Cauble, Nancy Garner, Gail Hawkins, Donna Ann Bingham, Lynn Howell, Brenda Painter, Linda Efland, Virginia LeConte, and Linda Killian.

These new college representatives are to meet and name their own choice for chief marshal. Ann Adkins, also a newly-elected marshal, is the current chief.

Run-Offs

Burk Stevens, chairman of the Elections Committee, has announced that Wednesday, April 10, will be the date for the run-offs. Hours for voting will be from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Precincts for dormitory students will remain the same. Day students may vote either in the College Union or the Post Office.

Two Summer Theatres Offer Positions To College Students

There are positions available for actors, dancers, singers and technicians in two summer theatres with which the Playhouse directors Ed Loessin and John Sneden will be associated.

Mr. Loessin will be directing the third season production of Kermit Hunter's "Honey in the Rock" in Beckley, West Virginia. "There are several openings in this play for performers and possibly some technical positions," he said. After the production in Beckley is opened, Mr. Loessin leaves for Cape Cod where he is Production Stage Manager for the famous Cape Playhouse in Dennis, Mass.

"At the Cape Playhouse I have openings for technical positions only," said Mr. Loessin.

All positions are paid with salaries being commensurate with experience and position. Anyone interested should sign for an interview on the list posted on the bulletin board back stage at McGinnis Auditorium.

Comm. Selects Lewis, Washer Outstanding Student Teachers

Bob Washer and Lynda Carole Lewis, selected by a faculty-student committee at EC as the most outstanding student teachers of the 1962-1963 term, represented the college at the Convention of the N. C. Education Association in Asheville March 21-23.

Bob Washer

As EC's Mr. and Miss Representative Student Teachers, they were presented during the third general session of the convention by President Larry Shrader of the Student NCEA. Students selected for similar honors and recognition in other colleges of the state were also presented.

Miss Lewis, a senior student specializing in education, is serving as president of Tau Sigma, honorary education fraternity; the Student Christian Association; the Young Women's Christian Association; and the Chapel Choir. She is also serving as president of Garrett Hall, dormitory for women. Among other campus organizations, she is a member of the Baptist Student Union, the Association for Childhood Education, and the Student National Education Association.

Last fall, Miss Lewis was chosen to represent the Student Christian Association and for this honor was a sponsor for the 1962 Homecoming Queen's Pageant and other Homecoming festivities. She was also selected in 1962 to compete for the title of "Buccaneer Queen."

Mr. Washer, a grammar education major, has served as president of Paul E. Jones Hall, dormitory for men; and chairman of the Men's Judiciary, governing body which handles the men's disciplinary problems on campus.

Among campus organizations, he is an active participant of the College Union, where he also serves as a member of the Men's Bowling League, and is a member of the Executive Council of the Student Government Association and of

Lynda Lewis

Theta Chi social fraternity.

From 1954-1957, he served as a radio operator with the United States Marines. He was discharged with the rank of Corporal.

AZALEA FUN

In view of the tremendous amount of damage done at the beaches around Wilmington last spring during the Azalea Festival, it seemed like a good idea to run this editorial from the Wilmington Star. It appeared immediately after the Azalea Festival last year. We sincerely hope the festival this year will be great fun and frolic, but somewhat less damaging to the beaches and consequently to the reputation of the college.

COLLEGE CROWDS AT BEACH

Officials and private citizens of Carolina Beach are taking a wise step in seeking some measures and procedures to control college students when they descend upon the resort in large numbers. The situation there during the Azalea Festival week-end, when the conduct of many students was deplorable, is a warning and it is being heeded.

The people of Carolina Beach want their resort to be popular, but they also have an understandable desire to protect their good reputation which has been built up over the years.

It certainly should be possible for Carolina Beach to be both popular with the college crowd and also maintain a fine reputation. And we believe the people of Carolina Beach can come to some agreement which will permit them to cope with situations such as arose during the Azalea Festival.

Of course, now is the time to begin working on that problem, and we are glad to see the citizens of that community doing exactly that. There is certainly no reason to procrastinate. While the next Festival is still nearly a year in the future, it will be well to have the problem ironed out far in advance.

It is evident that Carolina Beach is having some of the same problems encountered by authorities in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where once a year, thousands of college students pour in for a brief holiday, and proceed to try to take the town apart.

Authorities, of course, cannot condone any violence, but it is also obvious that jails aren't large enough to hold all prospective inmates.

It is very likely that Carolina Beach is going to be the mecca for thousands of college students who will use the Festival as the appropriate time for their weekend holiday. We understand that many individual students and students groups already are saving and planning for next year's Festival and the weekend trip to Carolina Beach.

Many of them will be welcomed; many will not. It will be up to Carolina Beach to establish procedures to meet the situation in the best possible way for all concerned. And they are doing the right thing in tackling the problem now. (April 19, 1962 Wilmington Star)

VOTERS

We have just one question about the elections that were held last week. Despite the complete effort of everyone even remotely involved to get more people to the polls, almost 200 fewer people voted this year than voted last year. This makes one wonder about that sadly over-used word "apathy." But can anyone else think of a better one?

Grossest Type Of Insult

By HERB WILLIAMS

The recent decision of the N. C. General Assembly's Joint Appropriations Committee to hold secret sessions is the grossest type of insult to the public. It was a sad day for the people of N. C. when the men we elected denied us the right to know what they are doing with our money.

It seems that Senator Tom White, Chairman of the Committee, "suggested" the secret meetings, and his "suggestion" was voted on and accepted by the other members. Is it possible that there is more behind the other members voting for Sen. White's "suggestion" than has been revealed so far? Sen. White's name has been mentioned in the newspapers several times recently as a possible candidate for higher offices than that of Senator. He is evidently a man who swings a good deal of weight around the 1963 Legislature. Could it be that many of the members of his committee voted for his "suggestion" because they were afraid to oppose him? Maybe this situation just demonstrates the survival of the fittest principle; in other words, maybe Sen. White is the top man on that 1.7 billion dollar heap of money, and no one opposes him for fear of getting kicked off. If this is the case, perhaps it is time for the public to put an end to this little game of "king of the mountain."

Or perhaps Sen. White's "suggestion" was just the excuse some of our legislators have been waiting for. Legislators are ordinary people who are doing ordinary jobs. The problem is that their jobs go up for "grabs" every few years. Naturally, each one of them is going to look out for himself in terms of reelection. Besides, who wants a bunch of nasty old newsman cluttering up the place, especially when they might go out and rat on some fine, upstanding member of the committee for trying to make a perfectly legal "comprise" on some point in the budget?

I really do not know why the committee voted for secret sessions. But the fact remains that they did vote for them, and I do not like it one little bit! I thought we elected a legislature, not an underground organization. The money they are talking about and voting on belongs to me, and I want to know what they are doing with it after they have already done it. I want a running account of the issues so I can put in my "two cent's worth" to my representative "before" the vote comes up.

Let them go ahead and play their little games though, because, to coin an old Army phrase, "I know a trick." If the legislators we have now will not tell us what they are doing with our money, then I am for electing some who will. In fact, if the public really showed how they feel about this issue, as they should, I'll bet the secret sessions would be opened to the press again in a hurry. The worst thing that could possibly happen, however, would be for the public to stand by in apathy and let the committee get away with it!

LETTERS Praise

TO THE EDITOR:

The following letter was recently received from Mr. Sam L. Whitehurst, Representative from Craven County. The letter is self-explanatory. I hope it will serve to impress upon the student body that representatives are interested in the opinions of the people they represent, though recent action by the Joint Appropriations Committee may tend to detract from this statement somewhat.

Sincerely,
Herb Williams
March 12, 1962

Dear Mr. Williams:

In response to your letter of March 19, 1963, I would like for you to know that I was also very much impressed with President Jenkins' presentation before the Joint Appropriations Committee.

I have been concerned for a number of years with the increasing cost of education at our State supported schools of higher learning. It is my belief that our new dormitories and other buildings at East Carolina, as well as other State supported colleges, should not be on a 100% liquidation basis. I plan to support an amendment in the Appropriations Committee that would delete this recommendation of the Advisory Budget Committee. Room rent at East Carolina and other institutions of higher learning are now higher than I would like to see them. Therefore, President Jenkins and I are in perfect accord as to dormitory self-liquidation.

It is gratifying to know that you approve of East Carolina's extension program. I have heard many favorable comments from citizens of eastern North Carolina. These extension programs, in my opinion, are excellent and are making higher education available to many of our citizens who otherwise would not have an opportunity to attend college.

You have a splendid faculty at East Carolina; I realize with the growing student body the very best education available. I would like for you to know that the Legislature holds East Carolina, President Jenkins, the faculty, and the student body in high esteem, and I take this opportunity to congratulate all concerned on the splendid job they are doing.

With kind regards and every good wish for your continued success at East Carolina College, I remain

Sincerely yours,
Sam L. Whitehurst

Special

March 28, 1963

Dear Sir,

East Carolina College has made a giant step forward with the Elections Special on March 27, 1963. The coverage your paper awarded the candidates for the many offices and the statements made concerning the election definitely has helped the student body to choose the candidate of their choice with a more knowledgeable outlook on the platforms of those involved. The lightened voters help to provide a strong student body and your effort in this issue has helped tremendously.

I think your staff and Mr. Ronald Gollobin should definitely be commended on the excellent presentation of such an important matter. I hope this type of issue will become an annual affair for the East Carolinian.

Bravo!

Sincerely,
Cathy Shomo

Branch Succeeds Tanner As President Of Inter-Fraternity Council For '63-'64

NC High Schools Observe National Home Ec. Week

In celebrating the week of March 31—April 6 which has been set aside nationally in honor of the Future Homemakers of America, Miss Alice Strawn, associate professor of home economics and honorary member of the North Carolina Association of Future Homemakers of America, has been invited to speak at high school meetings in Chicod, Beaulville, and Four Oaks.

The "Value of an Education in Your Future Roles" will be Miss Strawn's topic Wednesday, April 3, for the Chicod High School assembly. She will bring to mind in discussing the value of an education that a person without a high school education cannot support himself much less a family and that only 10% of those reared on farms will be able to make a living on a farm.

"Nine out of ten girls will work and will average 25 years in the labor market," Miss Strawn said during an interview. "It is so imperative that all must have a field of specialization in this day of automation," she added.

In discussing "Preparation for Marriage" during the Future Homemakers of America Mother-Daughter Banquet which will take place Thursday, April 4, at East Duplin High School, Beaulville, Miss Strawn said that she will emphasize that all brides and bridegrooms should examine themselves and their potential mates to see if they are emotionally mature, financially mature, morally sound, socially compatible, and spiritually sound. "These qualities are necessary for a happy home and as a student, one should direct his or her thoughts toward maximum development in these areas," she expressed.

"You and Your Future" will highlight Miss Strawn's talk when discussing preparation for marriage Friday, April 5, before the Future Homemakers of America Mother-Daughter Banquet at Four Oaks.

Since a large percentage of girls will work and hold down a double job, she feels the need to discuss how they will need to know how to manage time, money, and energy, and how they will need to be prepared to make a living since one may have to support herself and a family. "One out of three of the brides under twenty," Miss Strawn will tell the group, "may expect a divorce—mostly because she is not prepared to live and work in an adult society."

While at Four Oaks, Miss Strawn Future Homemakers of America will also speak to members of the and Future Farmers of America on "Pros and Cons of Manners in Steady Dating."

SPORTS REVIEW

By RON DOWDY

I believe EC owes a lot of credit to its football coach, Clarence Stasavich for his constant enthusiasm in all sports. Coach Stas believes his athletes should keep in shape year-round—not just during football season. He holds his Winter Drills early so that they won't interfere with the football players adding that extra strength to a spring sport. There is at least one football player participating in each EC spring sport. They not only add their needed talent but also their incentive which is so necessary for any team to win any game.

Vaguely mentioned, probably overlooked by many of our readers, in our last edition was the fact that our Lambda Chi's recently won the State Fraternity Basketball Championship. This crown was nothing easy for the Lambda Chi's to win but with their never ceasing desire and determination, they were unequalled.

To pinpoint their most valuable player would be no easy job, but I believe many will agree that Ed Dunn proved quite important during all of the games.

Congratulations to the Lambda Chi's for bringing such a distinction to our school and their fraternity.

Due to the limited space in today's paper, only the Wake Forest baseball game will be reported. The Pirates have won 5 out of 6 games, losing only to Ithaca in their first meeting. The team seems to be headed for another N.A.I.A. crown.

At the plate, Sophomore C. B. Barnes and Fresh Buddy Bovender are leading the team, with Lacy West leading the hurlers. Barnes and Bovender both carry a powerful stick for the team as well as being sharp perfectionists on the diamond.

West Hurls Five-Hit Shutout Over Deacons; Joyce Triples

Lacy West, 6'3" EC basketball star, threw a 5-hit shutout to lead the Pirates over Wake Forest here Saturday.

West never seemed to be in any serious trouble; he did walk two, but went on to strike out five.

The only run which was necessary for the Pirates to win was scored in the second inning when veteran outfielder Bobby Joyce tripled; Merrill Bynum walked, and on a double steal, Joyce scored.

The Pirates then went on to climax their weekly Major League schedule by scoring two more runs in the fifth inning. The second run was scored as Chuck Connors reached first via an error; Barnes singled to right field, and Connors scored as Bovender singled to right. Barnes and Bovender then worked out another double steal with Barnes scoring. West and Barnes both had two hits Saturday. Mike Badd was the only Deacon to get two hits.

EC is now 5-1 with Wake Forest loss being to Ithaca College. The Pirates played Wake Forest on Monday and both Ithaca and Mary on Monday and both Ithaca and Mary on Tuesday and will play Delaware on Wednesday and Washington on Thursday. All games start at 7:30 p.m. and are played at the Guy W. Stadium.

NOW YOU CAN BE YOUNGER THAN SHE IS

It is a scientific fact that girls reach emotional maturity earlier than boys. For this reason freshman girls are reluctant to make romantic alliances with freshman boys, but instead choose men from the upper classes.

Thus the freshman boys are left dateless, and many in the night the entire freshman dorm sobs itself to sleep. An equally moist situation exists among upper-class girls. With upper-class men being snapped up by freshman girls, the poor ladies of the upper class are reduced to dreary, manless evenings of Monopoly and home permanents.

It pleases me to report there is a solution for this morbid situation—indeed, a very simple solution. Why don't the two great have-not groups—the freshman boys and the upper-class girls—find solace with each other?

True, there is something of an age differential, but that need not matter. Take, for example, the case of Albert Payson Sigafos and Eustacia Vye.

Albert Payson, a freshman in sand and gravel at Vanderbilt University, was walking across the campus one day, weeping softly in his loneliness. Blinded by tears, he stumbled upon the supine form of Eustacia Vye, a senior in wicker and raffia who was collapsed in a wretched heap on the turf.

"Why don't you watch where you're going, you minor youth!" said Eustacia peevishly.

"I'm sorry, lady," said Albert Payson and started to move on. But suddenly he stopped, struck by an inspiration. "Lady," he said, tugging his forelock, "don't think me forward, but I know why you're miserable. It's because you can't get a date. Well, neither can I. So why don't we date each other?"

"Surely you jest!" cried Eustacia, looking with scorn upon his tiny head and body.

"Oh, I know I'm younger than you are," said Albert Payson, "but that doesn't mean we can't find lots of fun things to do together."

"Like what?" she asked.

"Well," said Albert Payson, "we could build a Snowman."

"Bah!" said Eustacia, grinding her teeth.

"All right then," said Albert Payson, "we could go down to the pond and catch some frogs."

"Ugh!" said Eustacia, shuddering her entire length.

"How about some Run-Sheep-Run?" suggested Albert Payson.

"You are callow, green, and immature," said Eustacia, "and I will thank you to remove your underaged presence from mine eyes."

Sighing, Albert Payson lighted a cigarette and started away. "Stay!" cried Eustacia.

He stayed.

"Was that a Marlboro Cigarette you just lighted?" she asked.

"What else?" said Albert Payson.

"Then you are not immature!" she exclaimed, clasping him to her clavicle. "For to smoke Marlboros is the very essence of wisdom, the height of American know-how, the incontrovertible proof that you can tell gold from dross, right from wrong, fine aged tobaccos from pale, pathetic substitutes. Albert Payson, if you will still have me, I am yours!"

"I will," he said, and did, and today they are married and run the second biggest wicker and raffia establishment in Duluth, Minnesota.

Adventurous Coeds To Study Abroad

MIAMI—Students from colleges all over the country will take their studies to sea next year. A coed group of adventurers, including undergraduates, graduate students, and instructors, will circumnavigate the globe aboard the 190-foot schooner Yankee Clipper. The beautiful, air-conditioned ship, formerly owned by millionaire George Vanderbilt, has been modified to provide quarters for 50 passengers.

Yankee Clipper will depart Miami in January, 1964, on the 12-month, 50,000 mile expedition to offbeat islands and colorful ports of the South Seas, East Indies, Indian Ocean, and tropical Atlantic. About 35 landfalls will be made, and more than a dozen foreign countries visited on the unique, share-the-expense voyage now being organized by Capt. Mike Burke of Miami, owner and operator of Windjammer Cruises, whose famous brigantine Yankee recently completed her fifth round-the-world cruise.

The expedition's ports-of-call will include remote Easter Island, whose great stone heads have confounded explorers and archaeologists for centuries. . . historic Pitcairn, where the descendants of the Bounty's mutineers still live. . . incredible Galapagos, where Darwin, no strange animal life, developed the basis for his theory of evolution . . . incomparable Tahiti, with its lush natural beauties and lusty female beauties . . . the mysterious Bali, with its aura of the Orient . . . sleepy Zanzibar, spice island off Africa, where an island safari will be arranged for interested passengers . . . and dozens of other exciting spots where cruise ships never call.

Capt. Burke's Windjammer Fleet is the largest of its kind and has carried over 12,000 passengers during the past decade. Five of his ships—Polynesia, Tondeleyo, Cutty Sark, Mandalay and Caribe—are used for 10-day cruises in the Caribbean and Bahamas, while the others are employed on extended ocean voyages.

"This round-the-world expedition is my real love," Burke said. "We're following a tradition set by Yankee's former owner, Commander Irving Johnson, and we'll keep it going as long as there are people with adventure in their hearts and a bit of salt water in their veins."

Capt. Burke added that Yankee Clipper will carry a crew of professional seamen, but all passengers who wish may stand wheel watches and learn to tend a sheet and splice a line. Classes in marlin-spike seamanship and navigation will be held, and the ship's library will be well stocked with volumes on nautical lore as well as books about countries and islands to be visited. The ship's complement will include a marine scientist and a historian who will give informal lectures illustrated by slides and movies. A physician will also be aboard.

"This is strictly a joint-venture," Burke emphasized, "with each passenger paying a share of the expenses. The actual cost will come to only about $12 a day, which will include all meals and other ordinary shipboard expenses.

As space permits, we'll accept applications for various segments of the cruise as well as for the entire voyage. That way, we pick up new faces and new blood from time to time throughout the year, which makes things more interesting for all concerned."

Further information and application forms can be obtained by writing to Capt. Mike Burke, P. O. Box 1051, Miami Beach 39, Florida.
