Four Preps, Band, Orchestra, Opera Highlight Spring Series

Four major attractions to be offered at EC during the Spring quarter have been announced.

Opening the series will be the popular Four Preps, vocal group. The concert will take place April 21 at 8:15 p.m. in the Wright Auditorium and will be offered as an attraction of the "Pops" Entertainment Series at the college. Because of limited space, only 100 tickets will be offered to the public. These may be obtained by writing the Central Ticket Office, Box 282, East Carolina College, or by calling at the Box Office, Wright Building, April 16-19, 22-23, from 12 noon to 4 p.m.

The U.S. Army Field Band will present a free concert at the college at 8 p.m. April 27 in the Wright Auditorium. One of the nation's outstanding bands, the group from Washington, D. C., will include on the program both classical and military numbers. Appearing with the band will be the popular "Soldier Chorus" in a number of Broadway hit songs.

Available will be 2,000 free tickets, which may be picked up at the Central Ticket Office in Wright Building from 12-4 p.m., Monday through Friday, April 16-26.

High school bands are given a special invitation to attend the concert. Band directors interested in buying tickets reserved for their bands should write Assistant Dean of Student Affairs Rudolph Alexander, Box 282, East Carolina College, and state the number who will attend.

EC's Opera Theater will present Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" May 2-3 in the McGinnis auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Performances are scheduled as events of the Second Annual Contemporary Music Festival to be staged by the School of Music of the College May 1-6.

The North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Dr. Benjamin A. Swailin, will appear May 9 at 8:15 p.m. in the Wright Auditorium. The concert will conclude the Fine Arts Series at the college.

Tickets sales for the Mozart opera at the N. C. Symphony Concert will be announced later.

Harrington To Reign At Annual Military Ball

The Fourteenth Annual Military Ball at East Carolina College will be held tonight, April 19, at 8 p.m. The affair, sponsored by the 690th AFROTC Cadet Group at EC, will be at the Moose Lodge on the Farnville Highway near Greenville.

An estimated 400 persons are expected to receive bids to the ball, one of the outstanding social events of the season at the college. The Military Ball is the only formal annual dance held at EC. The members of the Cadet Group will be in their formal dress Blues for the occasion. Favors to be presented to guests by their escorts will be pieces of China with the AFROTC Crest engraved on them and the date of this year's ball.

The Dan Ramsey Orchestra of Charlotte will be on hand to provide dance music for the evening's festivities.

The Military Queen for 1963 is Miss Margie Harrington, mathematics major from Kannapolis. She was chosen by secret ballot from several other contestants in the Military Queen contest. During the course of the evening she will be crowned by the Professor of Air Science, Major Elbert L. Kidd, USAF. During this period of intermission entertainment will be presented by members of the Cadet Group, and will range from skits to quartet numbers.

As the Cadets and their dates enter the ballroom, they will pass through the traditional receiving line. Guests will be presented to the officials of the Detachment, among them being the Professor of Air Science, the Commandant of Cadets, and the Assistant Professor of Air Science. Wives of the officials will be presented in turn to the incoming guests. Refreshments will include punch especially prepared cakes and other sweetmeats.

The theme of the Ball this year is "A Salute to the Pioneers of Aviation," and the decor will develop the idea. The ballroom is to be entirely decorated from wall to wall. Of special interest will be six murals 8 by 12 feet depicting memorable scenes in aviation.

New SGA President

Oran Perry

Results Of Run-Off Election

Perry Wins Battle For SGA President

Oran Perry will head the Student Government Association of East Carolina College as President during the 1963-1964 term.

Perry won over Bill Eyerman in a hard-fought battle for the top student political office, according to results of the campus-wide run-off election on April 10, released by Perk Stephens, chairman of the Elections Committee of the SGA.

Other SGA officers for 1963-64 are George Wightman, vice president; Cathy Shesso, secretary; David Shearin, treasurer; Larry Sneed, assistant treasurer; and Ed Smith, historian.

M. B. Godbold, Jr., will serve as chairman of the Men's Judiciary. Others include Sam A. Keel, vice chairman; Tom Scott, secretary-treasurer; and Al Baker, Jr., and Wayne Cook, members-at-large.

Linda Slaughter, was elected chairman of the Women's Judiciary. Serving with her will be Nancy Freeman, vice chairman; Lib Piner, secretary; and members-at-large, Carolyn Hart, and Sandee Denton.

Perry, a rising senior at EC, has served this year as president of the New Dorm as well as president of the Inter-Dormitory Council and chairman of the IDC Court. A graduate of Ahsokie High School, he is seeking a B. S. degree in English and has been named at to the All A's List at the college.

Biology Student Receives Grant For Research

James R. Wheatley, Jr., senior in the Department of Biology, has just been notified that he is the recipient of a $900 Student Fellowship for nine weeks of study during the summer months at the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, Wood Hole, Mass. He will do research work on algae.

Last summer he was one of 20 undergraduate and graduate students chosen from colleges throughout the United States for traineeships for a summer course in marine botany at the Woods Hole Biological Laboratory.

Now a senior at EC, Mr. Wheatley will begin graduate work in botany this fall at the University of North Carolina, where he will be a graduate assistant in the Department of Botany.

At the recent Banquet of the Class of 1963, Mr. Wheatley received the annual award presented to the outstanding senior by the college chapter of Phi Sigma Pi, national honorary fraternity for men.

West Virginia and Massachusetts.

EC Playhouse Director Edgar R. Loessin will direct "Honey in the Rock" at Beckley, W. Va., until July 1 and will then assume duties as production stage manager and resident director of the Cape Playhouse at Dennis, Mass.

Playhouse Technical Director John Sneden will also work at the Cape Playhouse during the summer, where he will serve as technical director.

"Honey in the Rock," by Kermit Hunter, author of "Unto These Hills," is in its third season at Beckley. Mr. Loessin will restage Mr. Hunter's revision of the script of the outdoor drama before turning the show over to the production stage manager.

Mr. Loessin served as production stage manager at the Cape Playhouse, one of the oldest and most successful summer theaters in the U.S., last summer. Current Broadway hits, featuring name stars, are presented each week, according to Mr. Loessin.

Both Mr. Loessin and Mr. Sneden, completing their first year with the Playhouse at EC have participated extensively in summer theater work since their college days and have been associated with outdoor dramas in North Carolina as well as in Tennessee, Missouri, Maryland and Florida.

Mr. Loessin is a veteran of eight years of professional theater in New York, where he served as production stage manager of "Gypsy" and other musical hits.

Regional NSA Conf. Chooses Mallison Exec. Vice-Chmn.

Tom Mallison, president of the SGA at EC, has been elected Executive Vice Chairman of the Carolinas-Virginia Regional Conference of the United States National Student Association. He is the first EC student to serve on the board of the USNSA.

Serving in this capacity, Mallison will have one of two seats from the regional group on the National Executive Council of the USNSA and will represent a body in excess of 40,000 students in the Carolinas-Virginia area.

Harry De Lung from Atlanta, Ga., a student at the University of North Carolina, received the second vote and will have a seat with Mallison on the National Executive Council of USNSA.

The role of the student in the USNSA involves the attainment of knowledge and the development of skills and habits of mind and action necessary for responsible participation in the affairs of government and society on all levels including campus, community, state, national and international. Mallison will deal with administration, faculty, other student bodies within state-wide, regional, and national organizations.

"I will try to help create political awareness among students," stated. "The USNSA is a training ground for students to know what is happening in the local community, and on the national and international levels of government."

A leader at EC in student government affairs, Mallison has served as vice president and treasurer of the SGA during the summer of 1961 and as president during 1962-1963.

Notices

The Four Preps concert, originally scheduled for April 23, will be the following night, April 24.

Ring Sale

The final class ring sale will be held Thursday, April 25, 1963. All Juniors and Seniors who have not purchased a ring and desire to do so may order between the hours of 9:00-5:00 in the C.U.

HUMPS

Idiots, Sadists, Nuisances

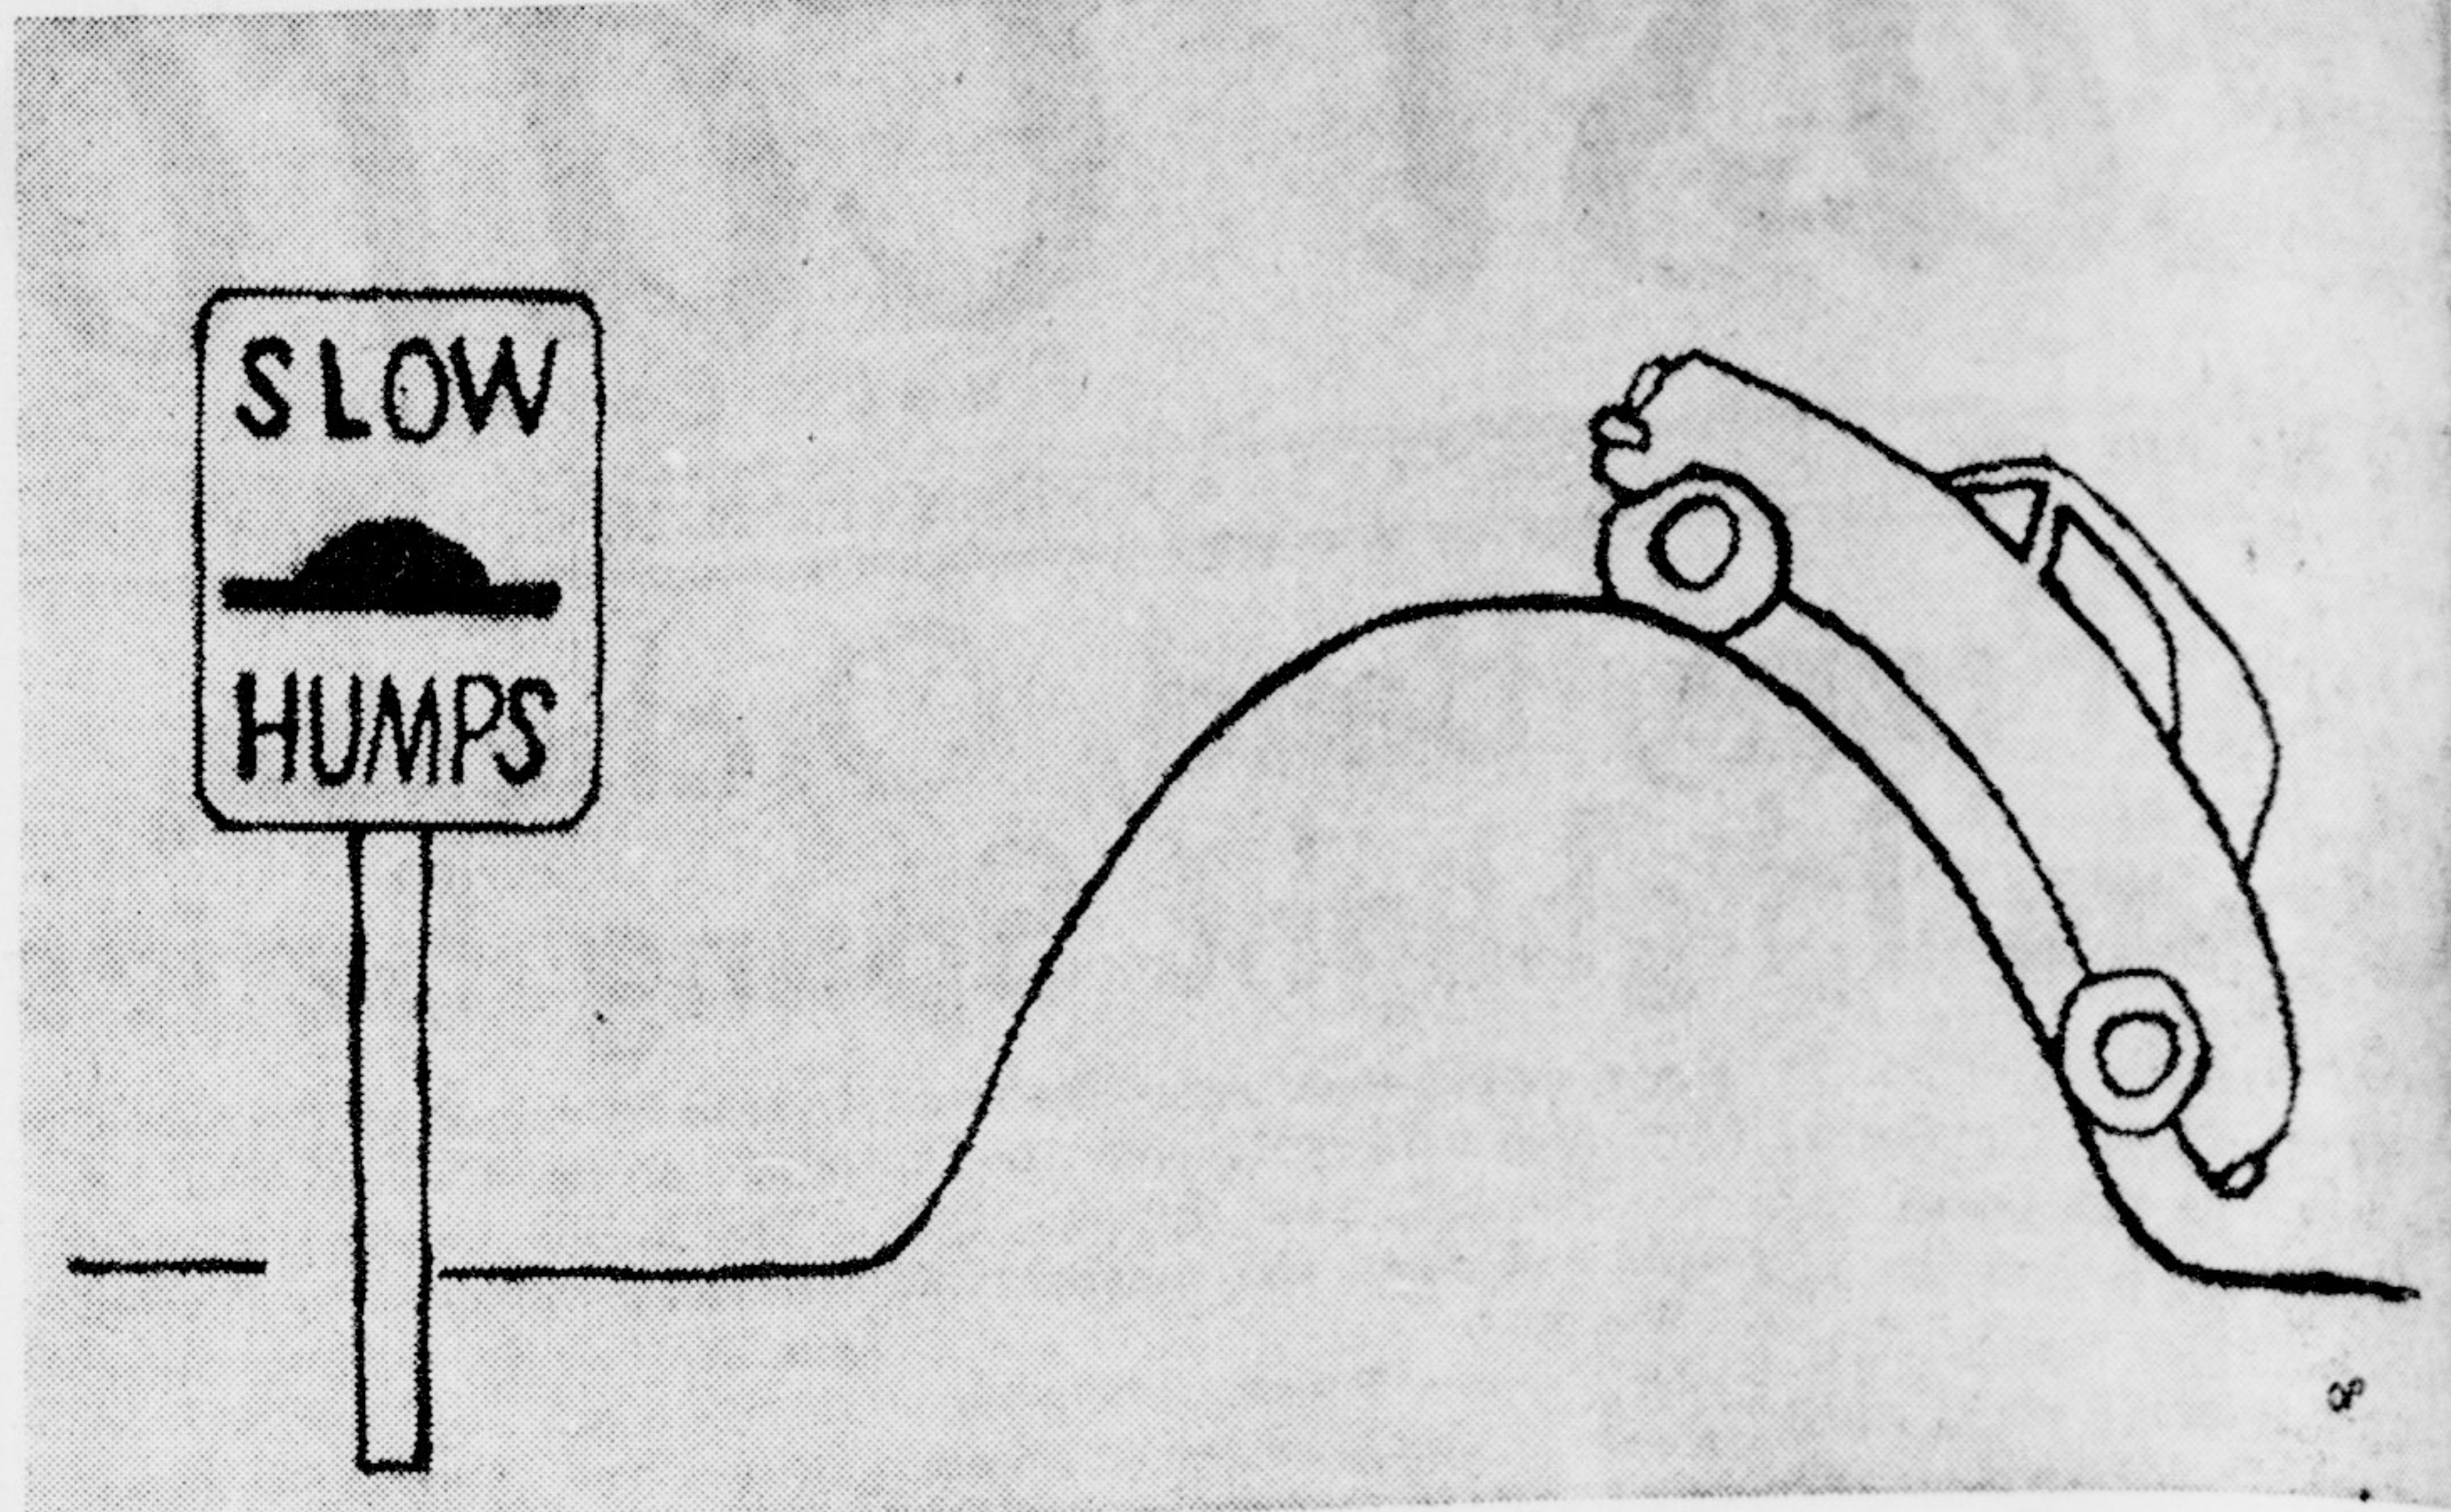

The temptation is almost overwhelming to inveigh against some unknown nincompoop for blanketing the campus with "humps". We would like to ask what blithering idiot or absolute sadist builds speed breakers the size of small barricades. But assuming that whoever had "bumps" built all over the campus did so with intelligent and worthwhile intentions, and assuming that there are no blithering idiots here with the authority to build speed breakers, we would like to make several considered observations.

First of all, perhaps there exists a need for speed breakers to regulate campus traffic. Admittedly, students tend to whip around certain areas of the campus as if it were a race track. But if this is the case, why were the breakers placed where they are? The areas where they are most needed—do not have them. We now have speed breakers on College Hill Drive—in a thirty-five mph zone and it isn't possible to go over the breakers much faster than five mph. But it is still possible to get run over by speeders going to and from class and beside the College Union. Hmmm.

We also question the size of the breakers. Never on any other campus, or anywhere else, have we seen breakers as large as ours. (Of course, EC always does things in a big way. But good grief.) Perhaps we only saw breakers elsewhere when they had been worn down.

Incidentally, breakers is a most appropriate name. One sports car owner lost an entire front wheel finding this out. Another ripped his muffler off—and this just trying to climb the darn things slowly. The number of both large and small cars which will soon need front-end alignment is going to be astronomical. Our own automobile just barely has enough power to creep over, especially after we come to a complete stop. And coming to a complete stop is essential, because the first time we didn't and we have a very low roof and a very tender skull.

Actually, if speed breakers or "humps" or nuisances or whatever you want to call them are necessary for safety, it might be a good idea to reconsider the positioning and size. They aren't much of a safety factor right now.

Very Fortunate To Know North Carolina

TO THE EDITOR:

GLAD TO MEET YOU

It is very fortunate to know North Carolina and the people of North Carolina. Living with the people, you just get to know them much better, the longer you stay with them. You will have more friends and more knowledge.

It is very practical and educational to know and see the real and pictured state of North Carolina, its people, and its governor with his kind family.

It was 9 a. m. when we arrived at the College Union of State College in Raleigh. We registered and got the primary number that we wished to attend; politics, economics, etc. After that we went to visit the art museum, gas chamber of the prison, and the new legislative building.

At 12 noon we gathered, all kinds of people from different countries of the world—some African and Indians that always keep their traditional cloth. It was a very delicious dinner and had many different elements. There were differences in thinking, in looks, in customs—in everything. This I believe: people can get along with each other regardless of their religion or their nationality. Your eyes see something; your mind reads something. It may appreciate it, it may not, it depends on the picture that has been developed. You talk to the African or Indian and you find out that he is the same human being you are with some adjustable differences, according to the geographical, political, or economical conditions that he has been surrounded by.

At three o'clock we attended the seminars. Each of us was happy and excited about the questions and the arguments that were brought up.

I am just very glad and happy that I met all those kinds of people in my meeting with the governor of North Carolina, because I think and believe this is the way I learn people and know them on their representative personality to their country.

I am very thankful to President Jenkins and Dr. Tucker and I am looking forward to another invitation.

Truly yours,
Ghaouti Mehdi (Algeria)

APPRECIATION

Fellow Students:

May I express my utmost thanks and appreciation for the confidence you have bestowed in me. At no time will I forget that I am representing each and every one of you, and I pledge to carry out the responsibilities of the office of Student Government Association president to the best of my ability.

I want each of you to feel free and welcome to come to the SGA office in Wright building at any time with any problems, suggestions, and ideas, or just to come by for a visit. I should like to get to know as many of you as possible. Please do not hesitate to come by. In a short time now I will be announcing the SGA committee heads for the senate's approval. I would like to add here that anyone who is interested in SGA work will be considered. Just drop a note to me at 312-A New Dorm or leave word at the SGA office.

The all-important senate election and class elections should be taken seriously. The student senate is composed of representatives elected by you, for you, and from you. May I suggest that you use wisdom in electing these representatives and that you USE them after the election as your direct mouthpieces in the senate. You will be held responsible for electing them, and you should be held responsible for making them actively participate. USE your senate for every worthy purpose for which it is designed. Your senate, as well as East Carolina College, can be only what you make them. Do not be one of these persons who sits back and gripes and yet does nothing to make himself heard or felt. All senate meetings are open to the student body. I challenge each of you to come to see your senate in action and to keep your representatives in that body busy.

With your continued support and cooperation, I feel sure that your new senate will be both efficient and effective and that next year will be a good year for East Carolina College. Thank you all again for your support. I sincerely hope the large number of voters in the past election symbolizes a much needed boost in college spirit and in SGA interest.

Sincerely yours,
Oran Perry
President, SGA

A CHALLENGE

Students at East Carolina:

My deepest and most sincere thanks are extended to each and every one of you who assisted me so diligently in the run-off election. Your interest and trust in me will always be appreciated.

My heartiest congratulations go to Oran Perry and to all of you who supported him. The task that lies ahead of Mr. Perry is not easy—this I fully realize, having served in our student government myself for the past three years.

Mr. Perry, although he has never served on or worked with our student government senate in any manner, needs all the support he can get. I challenge each of you to show him now why you voted for him—support him and his programs (if he has any to offer).

I am willing to and very interested in assisting Oran whenever possible; however, it takes all of us to make our student government efficient and effective. The election is over; nevertheless, our tasks as students and conscientious citizens now begins. If you are sincerely interested in your student government, attend the senate meetings, introduce your ideas and problems to the officers and most important of all, support your government.

Our student government is perhaps the finest in North Carolina. Few of you realize this fact; however, I must note here that the present administration have strived to do its best in representing East Carolina in and away from our campus. I urged all of the newly elected officers to do the same.

In closing, may I once again thank all of you who supported me. Good luck, Mr. Perry, Mr. Wightman and other officers.

Teachers College Age In America Is Over

(IP) The teachers college age in American education is over and failure to recognize the new era is endangering the teaching profession, according to Dean Lindley J. Stiles of the University of Wisconsin's School of Education. "The period of pedagogical control of the total program is over," he said.

Dean Lindley said professional educators, school officials and teacher organizations are refusing to permit liberal arts professors an adequate voice in teacher education. Through rigid, often arbitrary requirements, these groups are trying to control admission to the profession and ultimately the education of teachers, he said.

The University of Wisconsin is currently engaged in a dispute with the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) over accreditation of the University's undergraduate program of teacher education. NCATE has offered only provisional accreditation.

NCATE refused full accreditation because Wisconsin permits liberal arts professors to have a voice in setting up study programs for prospective teachers.

Psychology Dept. Expands

Hopes To Improve Experimental, Theoretical, Psychological Services

Donald Humphrey explains to Charlene Langdon this bell-shaped curve, also known as the curve of normal distribution.

... difficulty," says Dr. Clinton Prewett, director of EC's Psychology Department. "In psychology, it is to get away from the old notion of it being a manipulated field of study. For example, a lot of girls insist that they know psychology on their boy friends. We sometimes wonder if they might not be more appropriate. At any rate, psychology is concerned with the ethical and scientific study of behavior."

The Psychology Department at EC has grown by leaps and bounds since 1958 when it first offered a major. The A.B. degree was offered in 1960 and the Masters degree was offered in 1961. There are three separate fields of concentration on the graduate level: General Theoretical Clinical Psychology, and the School Psychologist. Twenty courses have been offered in the 62-63 session.

The equipment used for research and teaching in the department consist of such things as the Rotary Pursuit machine, the Reaction Timer, the Memory Drum, the Olfactometer, the Rorschach Ends Ink Test, and the Polygraph or lie detector.

The Polygraph, which is set up to measure blood pressure, respiration and galvanic skin reflexes, indicates the state of reactivity of the nervous system at any given moment.

"In the new building confidently hoped for out of the current legislature, the Psychology Department will have clinical facilities, an animal laboratory, much improved experimental and theoretical and a psychological services center which, we hope, will involve dealing with college students' problems at a rather sophisticated level," states Dr. Prewett.

Major interest is in the vocational opportunities once the student has completed the program. It is estimated that within the next few years, there will be over a hundred psychologists in schools and clinics in North Carolina. The State Department Public Instruction has just started a program of school psychologist and here alone there is a potential of over a hundred jobs. Hospitals are also unmanned in this area.

EC's Psychology Department has been progressing to meet the need for trained personnel in this area. As the need grows it is hoped that this department will too.

Delia Danis Cummings administers the polygraph test to Thomas Doe while Sidney C. Baker observes the proceedings.

Carole Smith and Ann Weber operate the rotary pursuit machine.

Dr. John Clarke watches as Dave Entzmenger and Larry Byrd experiment with the Rorschach Ink Blot Test.

Yearbook Increases In Size, Coverage

The 1963 BUCCANEER will represent the largest volume of the yearbook in the history of the College. A thirty-two page increase over the 1962 edition brings the page count to 464 in the forthcoming edition. More academic coverage is presented in the new edition by devoting space to each school and department in the College. From the heat in the classrooms to the books in the library—these facilities are an added feature in the 1963 edition.

Over one half of the page proofs have been checked and returned to the publisher in Dallas, Texas. Mr. Lee H. Blackwell, publishing representative, stated this week that the most recent word from the publisher indicates the BUCCANEER should arrive at the approximate scheduled time, the last week in May, although no specific date has yet been established. This will be adequate time for distribution before final examinations begin.

Distribution this year will be handled in much the same manner as last year. When the exact delivery date is known, Circle K Club and Delta Sigma Pi will assist the BUCCANEER staff in the distribution program. Wright Auditorium is the preferred distribution point if there are no conflicting schedules for the auditorium on that date.

Those students who have not been enrolled as full-time students for three quarters this year will be required to pay three dollars for each quarter not in attendance in order to receive a copy of the yearbook. Presently, requests are being received from students who graduate fall and winter quarters. All students who have been enrolled for the past three consecutive quarters are entitled to a yearbook as provided from activity funds appropriated to the Student Government Association.

EC Graduates To Begin Study For Doctorates

Three graduate students at EC have received university grants for study toward the doctorate during the coming academic year.

Dr. L. F. Brewster, graduate adviser in history, has announced that candidates for the M.A. in history David K. Eliades and Melton A. McLaurin have received grants for graduate study. Mr. Eliades will do work toward the doctorate at Rice Institute, Houston, Texas; and Mr. McLaurin at the University of South Carolina in Columbia.

Mr. McLaurin's wife, the former Sandra Cockrell, has been awarded a teaching fellowship at the University of South Carolina. Dr. David Davis, director of the department of mathematics, has announced. She is a candidate for the M.A. at EC and will work toward the doctorate in that field.

Alumni Giving Program Moves Into Fourth Stage

Dollars for Development, the program of annual giving launched in January by EC Alumni Association, moved into its fourth stage this week, when a drive for contributions in District 6 of the association began.

With a dollar or more from each former student requested, a "roll call" by mail is being made during April in District 6, which includes the counties of Edgecombe, Halifax, Johnston, Nash, Northampton, and Wilson. Personal contacts for collection of funds will begin in this area May 1.

Since the Dollars for Development drive began in January, contributions in amounts of $1 upward have been received daily by the Alumni Office on the campus, Director of Alumni Affairs and Foundations Janice Hardison stated.

The goal for the 1963 is set at $13,000. Eight other drives will follow the four already in progress, she said. Interest on the part of alumni, she added, indicates that the goal will be reached by December 31.

The Dollars for Development Drive aims at creating interest and gaining support among alumni for the EC Development Fund, which was organized this year to finance urgent educational needs at the college. The college Development Fund is a joint undertaking of the Alumni Association and the Committee on Foundations and Development at EC.

The Board of Directors of the college Development Fund is composed of Dr. Robert W. Williams, chairman of the Faculty Committee on Foundations and Development; Fodie H. Hodges, President, and Mrs. Ruth Garner, Treasurer, of the EC Alumni Association; Vice President and Business Manager F. D. Duncan, Manager of the College Book Store Joseph O. Clark, and Director Douglas Jones of the Department of Education, all of the college staff; and Miss Hardison.

Thompson Speaks At FAEC; Duke Democrats Host

Congressman Frank Thompson, (D) of New Jersey will be the main speaker at the forthcoming Federal Aid to Education conference, sponsored by the Federation of College Young Democrats of North Carolina.

The week-end meeting will be devoted to the present Federal Aid to Education bill currently before the Congress and special emphasis will be concentrated towards its potential effect here in North Carolina. In addition to the main speakers, films and work shops will be held by the student Democrats.

The meeting will start with the opening session at 8:00 p.m. today, April 19, and will end with a luncheon tomorrow at 1:00 p.m. All events will be held at the new Holiday Inn West in Durham. Student delegates from more than 20 North Carolina schools are expected and a cordial invitation is extended to all students and NC citizens to attend. The Duke University YDC will act as host club for the state-wide meeting.

Organizations Schedule Events, Meets For Next Year's Campus Calendar

The Campus Calendar for 1963-1964 is now open for scheduling events and meetings. It is the responsibility of those scheduling meetings or activities to book the programs with the persons in charge of facilities desired, then get the events entered in the calendar. The following individuals accept reservations for the facilities listed:

1. Mrs. Doris Lamm books all classrooms for all hours and the following auditoriums for use until 4:00 PM daily and until noon on Saturday: Library Auditorium, Rawl Auditorium, Flanagan Auditoriums, Austin Auditorium (until 6:30 p.m. daily).

2. Dr. N. M. Jorgensen's office—gymnasium and all athletic facilities.

3. Miss Cynthia Mendenhall, Director of the College Union, books the social room in Wright Building.

4. Mr. D. D. Gross—Y Hut.

5. Mr. Paul Julian—all cafeterias on main campus.

6. Mr. John Marr—Jones Cafeteria.

7. Miss Janice Hardison—Alumni House meeting room.

8. Mr. Rudolph Alexander books all auditoriums for use after 4:00 p.m. daily (except Austin after 6:30 p.m.) and on weekends, and Wright and McGinnis Auditoriums at anytime, plus the picnic area near the gymnasium.

Each reservation to be entered in the calendar should be in writing and include: name of meeting or activity, date and hours, auditorium or site, organization and name of persons making reservation.

Since McGinnis Auditorium is used by both college organizations and Wahl-Coates School, rules concerning its use are needed. Listed below are the regulations governing the use of McGinnis Auditorium:

1. East Carolina College organizations have priority in the use of the auditorium after 3:30 P.M. daily and on weekends. Any dates not filled by October first each school year by college organizations may be reserved by Wahl-Coates School. In case a college faculty meeting is called on a date reserved by a college organization or Wahl-Coates School, the college faculty meeting has priority and the other group must release the auditorium.

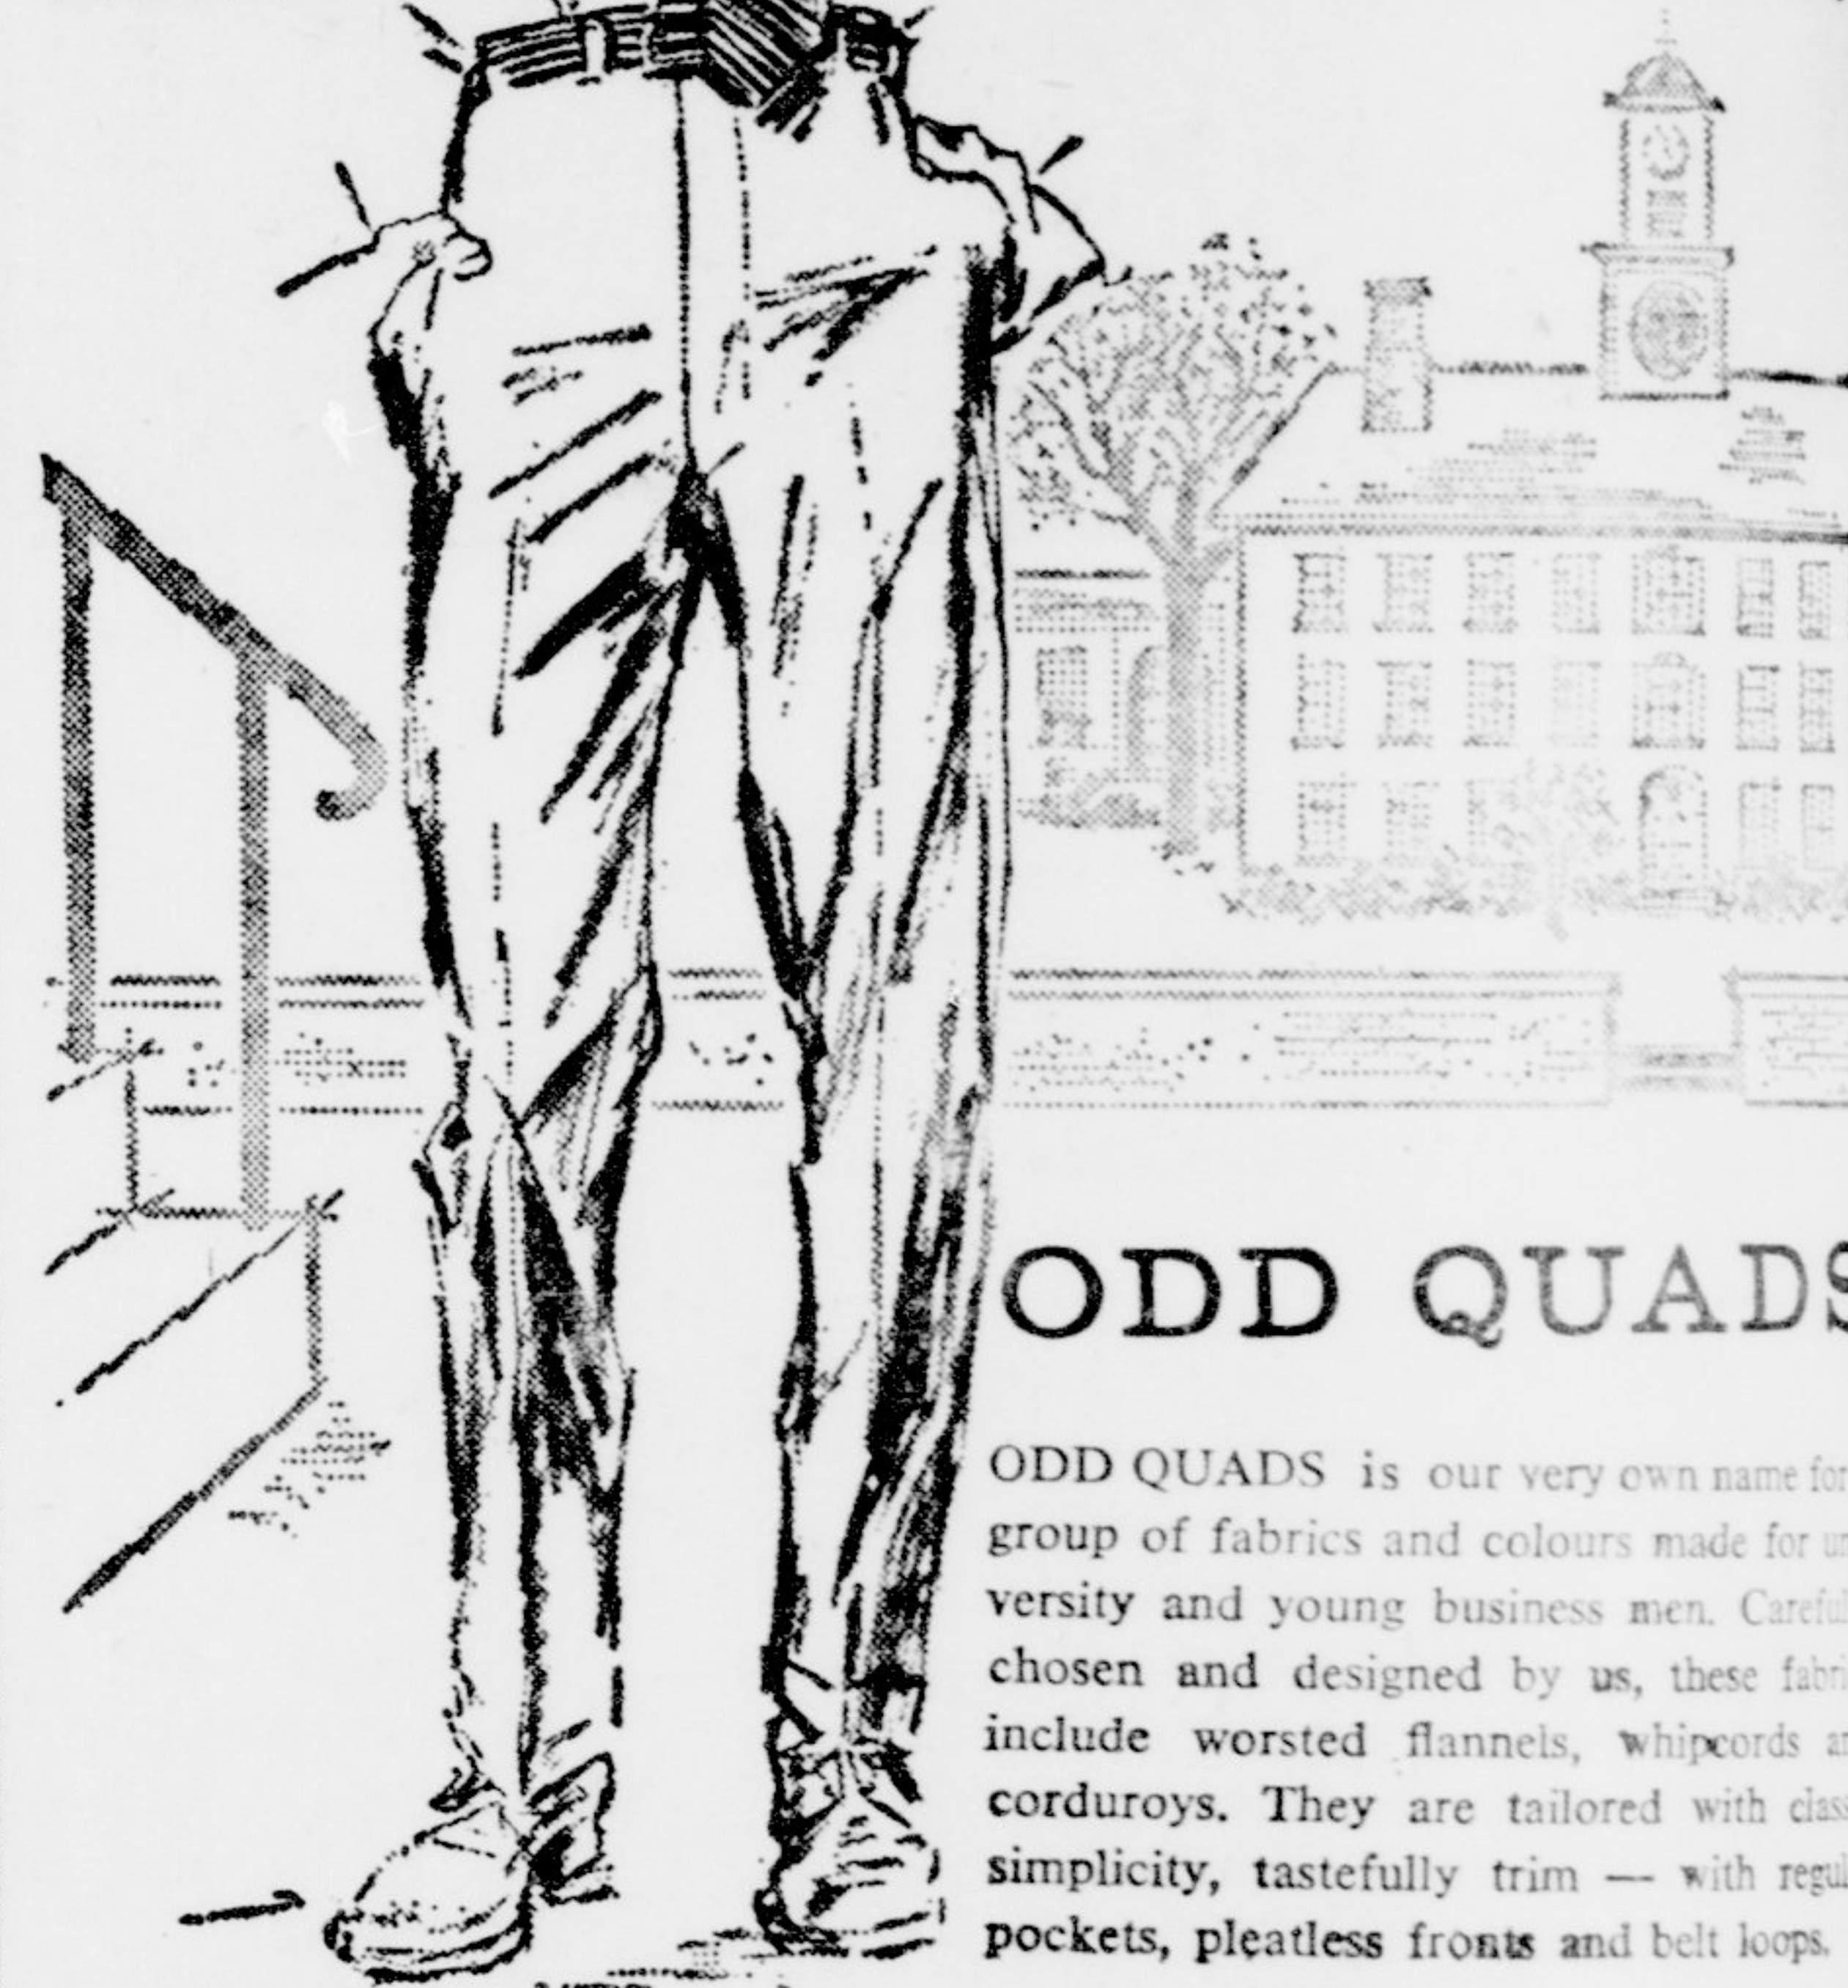

2. From 8:00 A.M. until 3:30 P.M. the auditorium can be reserved on a first-come-first-served basis by either college organizations or Wahl-Coates School. Reservations for the next school year will be accepted after April 1. The college does reserve the right to cancel dates reserved by Wahl-Coates School in emergency cases.

3. The auditorium stage will be left free of all materials and equipment being used by an organization at the end of the organization's reserved period for the day. The stage will not be used by any group while another group is using the auditorium. The stage will be reserved for the college playhouse for three weeks prior to and for three days after each production. Groups may use the auditorium while the playhouse has the stage reserved if the groups do not use the stage.

Senate Adds Day-Student Poll; Approves Cheerleader Uniform

At its last meeting before Easter, the student senate appropriated to the Cheerleaders for new uniforms, approved the election of head cheerleader by popular vote, authorized the Elections Committee to add an additional day student poll for campus elections, and voted to consider a constitutional addition which would add the Orientation Committee to the official list of standing committees.

After several weeks of discussion as to whether the cheerleaders were under the supervision of SGA or the Athletic Department, the senate passed a motion by Jim Chesnutt to appropriate $400 for uniforms, and to drop the cheerleaders from SGA financial support. (According to present plans, the cheerleaders are to become a part of the Athletic Department.) The senate then passed a motion to allow the head cheerleader to be elected by popular vote in the Spring Elections.

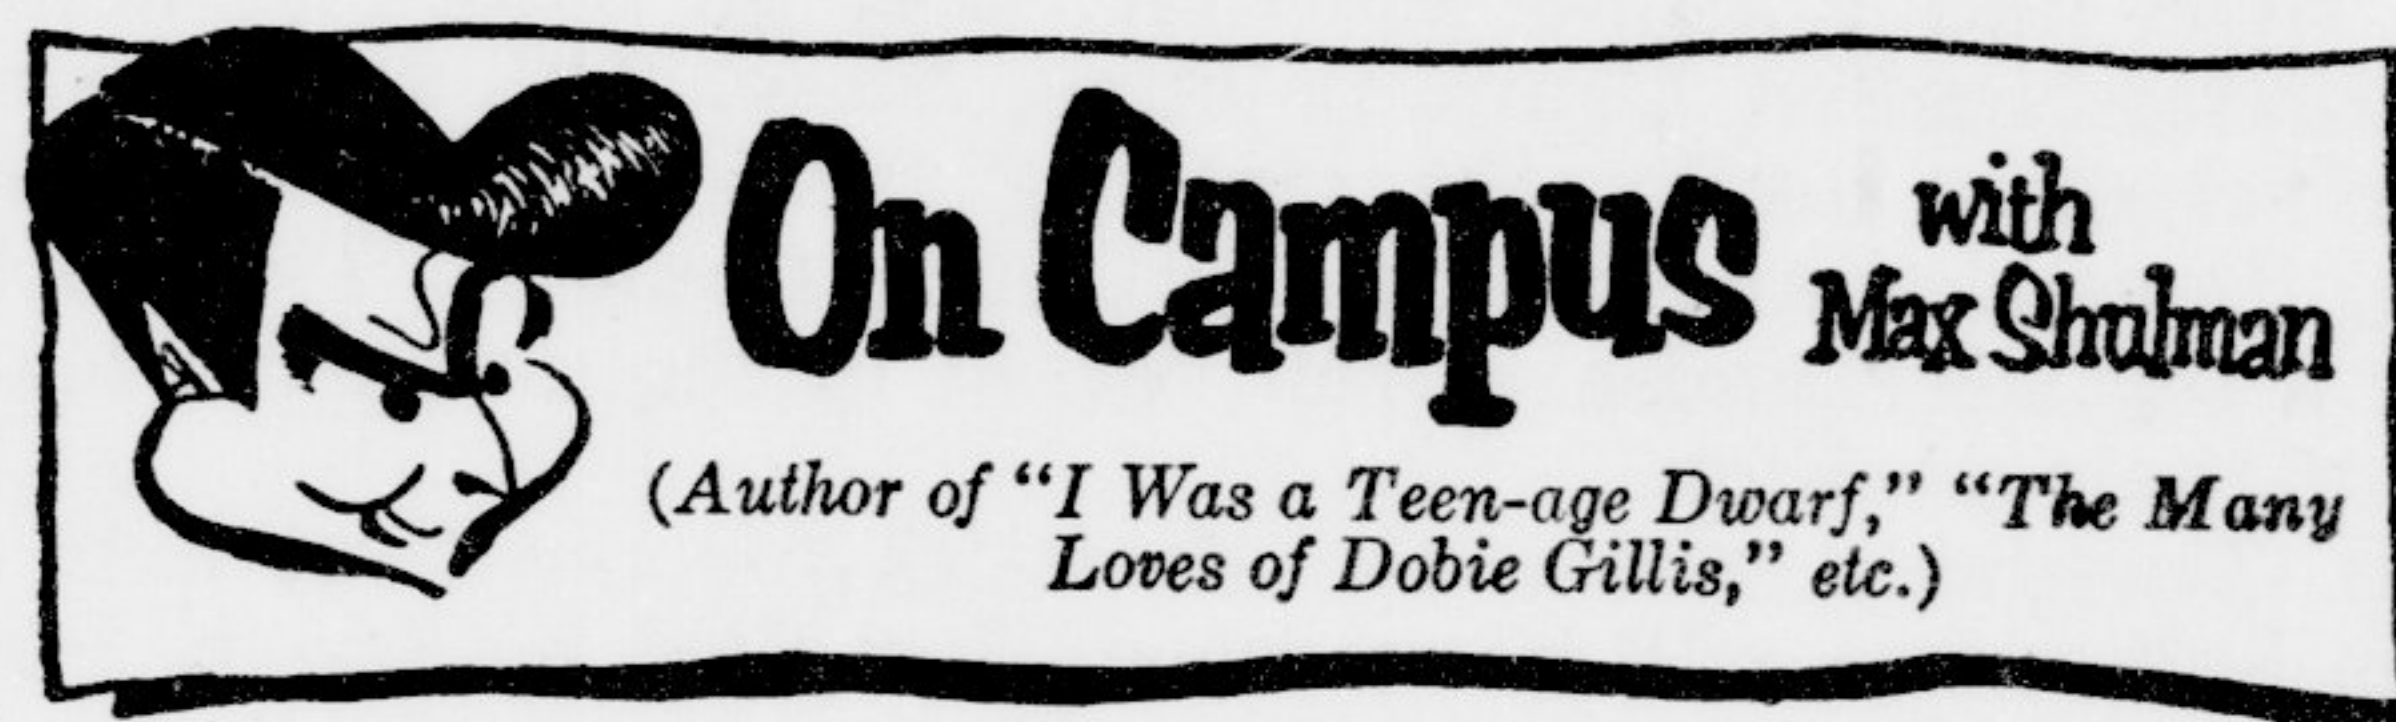

The Elections Committee requested and received permission to add a day-student poll near the campus post office. The only poll for day-students has been in the College Union, and many students do not have classes at that end of the campus.

Kathy Cauble presented a report from the Committee on Orientation Revision. This report was in the form of a constitutional addition which will make the Orientation Committee an official standing committee. The report specifies the purpose, duties and members of the Orientation Committee. Members will include the SGA vice president (chairman), each class president, a representative from each of the Freshman women's dormitories, and other members appointed by the chairman. This motion was tabled for two weeks.

Elections Committee Chairman Burke Stevens announced Wednesday, April 24 as the date of class officers elections. He also emphasized the requirement that all candidates have to attend a special meeting. A two-dollar fine will be charged any candidate who fails to attend.

Bill Eyerman announced that the next class ring sale will be April 24, 25.

FILLING A WELL-NEEDED GAP

Although my son is a college freshman, I am glad to say that he is still not too old to climb up on my lap and have a heart-to-heart talk when things are troubling him. My boy is enrolled at Harvard where he is studying to be a fireman. From the time he was a little tiny baby he always said he wanted to be a fireman. Of course, my wife and I believed that he would eventually grow out of it, but no sir, the little chap never wavered in his ambition for one minute!

So here he is at Harvard today taking courses in net holding, mouth-to-mouth breathing, carbon tetrachloride, and Dalmatian dogs. It is a full schedule for the young man, and that, in fact, is exactly what we talked about when last he climbed upon my lap.

He complained that every bit of his time is taken up with his major requirements. He doesn't have so much as one hour a week to sample any of the fascinating courses outside his major—history, literature, language, science, or any of the thousand and one things that appeal to his keen young mind.

I am sure that many of you find yourselves in the same scholastic bind; you are taking so many requirements that you can't find time for some appealing electives. Therefore, in today's column I will forego levity and give you a brief survey in a subject that is probably not included in your curriculum.

He's still not too old

I have asked the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes whether I might employ this column—normally a vehicle for innocent merriment—to pursue this serious end. "Of course you may, crazy kid," they replied kindly, their grey eyes crinkling at the corners, their manly mouths twisted in funny little grins. If you are a Marlboro smoker—and what intelligent human person is not?—you would expect the makers of Marlboro to be fine men. And so they are—wonderful guys, every man-jack of them—good, generous, understanding, wise. They are each tipped with a pure white filter and come in soft pack or Flip-Top box.

But I digress. We were going to take up a topic you are probably unable to cover in your busy academic life. Let us start with the most basic topic of all—anthropology, the study of man himself.

Man is usually defined as a tool-making animal, but I personally do not find this definition entirely satisfactory. Man is not the only species which makes tools. The simians, for example, make monkey wrenches.

Still, when you come to a really complicated tool—like a linotype, for instance—you can be fairly sure it was made by Homo sapiens—or else a very intelligent tiger. The question one should ask, therefore, is not who made the tool, but what did he do with it.

For example, in a recent excavation in the Olduvai Gorge a large assortment of hominoid fossils was found, all dating back to the Middle Pleistocene Age. Buried with the fossils was a number of their artifacts, the most interesting being a black metal box which emitted a steady beeping sound. Now, of course, zoologists will tell you that tree frogs make such boxes which they employ in their mating activities (I can't go into detail about it in this family newspaper) but the eminent anthropological team, Mr. and Mrs. Walther Sigafos (both he and she are named Walther) were convinced that this particular box was made not by tree frogs but by Neanderthal men. To prove their point, they switched on the box and out came television, which, as everyone knows, was the forerunner of fire.

If there is anything more you need to know about anthropology, just climb up on my lap as soon as my son leaves.

The makers of Marlboro Cigarettes who sponsor this column, often with trepidation, are not anthropologists. They are tobacconists—good ones, I think—and I think you'll think so too when you sample their wares—available wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states.

Mezzo-Soprano Gives Master's Recital In Austin

Mrs. Mary Rose Lawrence, mezzo-soprano, EC graduate student, appeared in recital Monday, April 8, at 8:15 p.m. in the Austin Auditorium. The program was presented as part of her work toward the master's degree in music at the college.

Selected by Mrs. Lawrence for performance during the evening were compositions in Italian, German, and English.

Among selections was the aria "Che faro senza Euridice" from Gluck's opera "Orfeo," lieder by Schubert and Schuman, two songs from Mahler's cycle "Lieder eines Fahenden Gesellen," and a closing group of songs from Ronald's "A Cycle of Life."

Accompanist was pianist Larry Griffin, graduate student in the School of Music.

A graduate of Meredith College, Raleigh, Mrs. Lawrence has studied voice during 1962-1963 with Dan E. Vornholt, faculty member of the School of Music.

SPORTS REVIEW

By RON DOWDY

The Roundballers seem to be off to another Dorm & Independent intramural softball league championship. They have won both of their games with a comfortable cushion to spare and are considered by many as the team to beat. Although it is a little early to predict the league winner, it is suggested that everyone keep an eye on this team. They are led by the majority of the EC basketball team, Bill Otte, Bobby Duke and Ritchie Williams. The mainstay of the pitching staff is sophomore Pete Alagonis—who is straight from the Washington, D. C. semi-pro softball league. He and Duke are considered to be the top pitchers in the league.

The baseball team has the whole week off. Resting up from their major league schedule, they go back into action on Monday against Camp Lejeune, there. The team seems to be helped a lot by the starting frosh second baseman Buddy Bovender and outfielder Chuck Connors. They both carry a big stick and are well versed in the defensive manners of their position.

In Tuesday's edition the statistics for the first half of the baseball season will be released. Compiled by Sports Publicity Director Earl Aiken, they will give a complete picture of the teams statistics up to and through the second Bowling Green game.

So far, Sophomore Carlton Barnes and Tommy Kidd, along with Seniors Lacy West and Bobby Joyce, are leading the team as veterans. We will know all the facts late this week and they will be published then.

Major Leagues

The Washington Senators candidate for Rookie-of-the-Year, Tom Brown, seems to have made a futile debut last week. He went 0-14 before being benched and of those 14 times up, he struck out 8. There's still time though.

West, Joyce Hurl Pirates Over Wash.-Lee, 11-3

Lacy West and Bobby Joyce combined to hurl the EC Pirates to their eighth victory against two setbacks as they overpowered the Generals from Washington & Lee University, 11-3. The loosely-pitched, eleven-hitter enabled West to gain his fourth victory with no defeats. West pitched six innings, allowing seven hits and one run while striking out three and walking two. Joyce relieved West in the seventh and allowed four hits and two runs while striking out two and walking two.

Assisted by five General errors, the Pirates banked out nine hits while scoring their eleven runs. The big inning for the Pirates was the fourth as they collected three base hits and seven runs. After Buddy Bovender and Junior Green led off the inning with walks, ace hurler West singled to center. The ball went through the centerfielder's legs to enable all three Pirate basemen to score.

The remaining four runs were scored on two passed balls, a wild pitch, a walk to first baseman Tommy Kidd and a single by catcher J. W. Edwards.

The Pirates went on to score two more runs in their half of the seventh after Chuck Connors had reached first via a fielder's choice and Pirate shortstop Carlton Barnes slammed a drive down the right field line to add another home run to his collection for the year.

Barnes and Joyce each collected two hits while Barnes, Connors, and Edwards each had two RBI's.

The General's third baseman Chuck Lane collected three of Washington & Lee's eleven hits while Keith Sisler had two hits and two of the three runs batted in. Catcher Rich Allen also had two hits for the Lexington, Virginia ninemen.

Blackwell Competes In Finals Of Bowling Championships

Norman Blackwell, a 21-year-old EC junior, was one of 55 finalists from an original field of more than 11,000 students who competed in the 1963 National Intercollegiate Bowling Championships in Buffalo.

Blackwell is majoring in Business Administration. In the bowling tournament, he finished 17th in singles, 18th in doubles, and 26th in all-events competition.

The 1963 National Intercollegiate Bowling Championships were held on the same lanes being used by the American Bowling Congress for its 60th Annual Tournament, at the State Armory in Buffalo, New York. The Annual College Tournament is sponsored jointly by the Association of College Unions, American Bowling Congress and American Machine & Foundry Company.

The 55 finalists represented the best male college bowlers from 160 campuses in the United States and Canada. More than 11,000 students from 11 regions entered preliminary competition for a chance at the national finals. More than a quarter million games were bowled by all participants throughout the four-month tournament at college, regional and national level.

Competition in the finals was in singles, doubles and all-events competition. At stake in the all-events competition was the Morehead Patterson Award, presented to the student compiling the highest all-events total in the tournament.

Named in honor of the late AMF

Board Chairman, the Morehead Patterson Award is presented to the college of the all-events champion, were it remains for one year. The champion receives a replica of the trophy, designed by William King, of New York.
