Murrow To Address Graduates June 9

Major events of 1963 Commencement exercises at EC include a series of programs on Alumni Day, Saturday, June 8, and graduation exercises Sunday, June 9, at 5:30 p.m.

This year for the first time the graduation exercises will take place in the new James S. Ficklen Memorial Stadium. The stadium has a seating capacity of 16,000 people and is expected to be filled for the program.

Edward R. Murrow, Director of the U. S. Information Agency, will address graduates at the commencement program Sunday afternoon, June 9. The exercises will begin with an academic procession of graduates, college officials and faculty members, trustees, and special guests and will include a program of music and the conferring of degrees by EC President Lee W. Jenkins.

Events of Alumni Day, June 8, will begin with the annual business meeting of the college Alumni Association at 10:30 a.m. in the Austin Auditorium. President Fodie H. Hodges of Kinston will preside. Of chief interest will be the election of a new slate of officers and of nine district directors.

The Class of 1913, celebrating its fiftieth anniversary, and the Class of 1938 its twenty-fifth will hold reunions and be honored at programs of the day.

Other classes holding reunions will be those of 1918, 1923, 1928, 1933, 1938, 1943, 1948, 1953, and

Other events for alumni will include the annual luncheon at 12:30 p.m. in the South Dining Hall and a tea at the home of President and Mrs. Jenkins at 3 p.m.

Seniors will honor guests at a dance at the President's home Saturday night.

Preceding graduation exercises June 9, a concert by the East Carolina College Band and an informal reception for guests on the campus will take place at 2:30 p.m. on the College Mall.

Wendell W. Smiley, college librarian, is chairman of the Commencement Committee.

Berk Stephens, Elections Chairman, has announced that the polls will be open from 9:00 through 4:00. Students may vote either in the College Union or outside the post office.

Adkins To Serve 2nd Term As Chief Of College Marshals

The sixteen newly-elected college marshals elected Miss Ann Adkins, junior, majoring in business education, to serve as the chief marshal for the school year, 1963-64.

This is a re-election for Miss Adkins, inasmuch as she was chosen by the 1962-63 marshals to fill out the term vacated by Miss Mary Jo Lancaster, of Windsor, who left school to go to England to marry Donald Conly of Greenville and former student at East Carolina.

The position of college marshal is a high honor; the ladies running for marshal must have an academic average of a "B." The first sixteen ladies receiving the highest amount of votes are regular marshals, serving in the academic procession at the graduation exercises and presiding at college events during the school year.

The College marshals are as follows: Karen White, Ann Adkins, Carol Joyner, Betsy Bryant, Laura Williams, Gigi Guice, Billi Stewart, Kathy Cauble, Nancy Garner, Donna Ann Bingham, Lynne Howell, Brenda Painter, Linda Efland, Virginia LeConte, Linda Killian, and Carol Ann Combs.

Alternates are Roberta Eason and Lynda Hunnings.

Going Fishing?

Friday students could be seen congregating around the central campus fountain. The attraction was an eighteen-inch, seven-pound five-ounce catfish that had been thrown into the water Thursday night by unknown culprits. After the students had gaped at, poked, and prodded the unlucky fish all day Friday, a merciful culprit returned to capture the fish and return it to the Tar River. (Photo by Joe Brannan)

Pack Count Increases 'Penny Pack' Funds

Fourth count-up in the East Carolina College - Liggett and Myers "paper penny" campaign, conducted April 17, increased funds for the James S. Ficklen Stadium by $1519.44.

With $6,230.86 realized from three previous count-ups, the total for the drive, begun last spring, has now reached $7,750.30. The campaign will extend through June, 1963.

A total of 151,944 empty packs of L & M brands of cigarettes, for each of which the tobacco company paid a penny, was collected from the campus, Greenville, and nearby localities or sent by mail from distant points throughout the nation.

The count-up took place in the Wright Auditorium at the college under the direction of Stuart C. Siegel, chairman of the "paper penny" drive for the Student Government Association. Members of the Circle K Club collected marked cartons containing empty packs from the area surrounding Greenville.

Funds from the "paper penny" drive are earmarked for the construction of an aluminum shell for the stadium, which is now under construction on the South Campus. The shell will be modeled after that at the Hollywood Bowl and will provide facilities for programs of music, outdoor dramas, assemblies of large organizations, and other activities.

ATTENTION: GRADUATES

Cap and Gown Notice

Final day to make Cap and Gown reservations is Saturday, April 27, 1963.

Anyone graduating in June must turn in their application at the Stationery Store by that date.

Invitations

Graduation Invitations may be picked up in the College Union on Monday, April 29 and Tuesday, April 30.

Anyone wishing to buy invitations at that time may do so.

HUMP CLEARANCE

Probably nothing we have had to say has caused so much comment, both pro and con, as last week's editorial on humps. We have been criticized for being violently anti-safety—in fact, we have been criticized for being just plain violent.

Actually we are not anti-safety. If, as we said, the humps are necessary to promote the safety of students and others on the campus we are all in favor of them. Our only questions concerned the positioning and size of the humps. And we still believe that in the interests of safety they should have been placed in other positions and on a smaller scale.

For example, there are no humps beside the College Union or behind the girls' dorms. These are two of the worst areas on campus for speeders. Additionally, what is the necessity of having three king-sized humps on College Hill Drive? Two humps of more moderate size would have sufficed.

This leads to another point. There seems to be some contradiction involved in putting speed limit signs around and then filling the streets with obstacles making it impossible to travel that limit. We would suggest that all humps be reduced to a size in line with the legal speed limits.

One other point. Unless something is done to remedy the situation as it now exists in front of the college laundry, someone is going to be involved in a serious accident. At present, there is a hump in the street opposite the laundry, but no hump in the circular drive directly in front of the laundry. Drivers, instead of going over the hump, cross in front of the drive-in window of the laundry. Since there is only room for one car, it seems that we may see a head-on collision there before it's all over with.

Steps should also be taken to prevent riders of motor scooters in front of Cotten Hall from crossing to the left side of the road when going into campus. They cross into the gully, passing directly in front of oncoming cars. They avoid the hump, but we almost ran one down yesterday.

No, we are not anti-safety, or even completely anti-hump. But we do believe that some improvements are needed in the system as it now exists.

ELECTION SYSTEM

A rather interesting innovation has been added in this year's class elections. Outgoing seniors as well as rising seniors will be able to vote for candidates for senior class officers. If successful, this policy could result in a complete revamping of the entire local or area representational election system. Imagine, in the next election year voters from Pitt County may be able to help elect the local legislative representative from Beaufort County.

THE LIES IN THIS COLUMN ARE THE AUTHORS' AND NOT THOSE OF THE EAST CAROLINIAN

There is no truth to the rumor that Austin Building has been condemned as a rat-trapped fire hazard. Jack Budd (Rosey), chairman of the committee for placing students, explained the situation. "I know," said Mr. Budd, "that Austin Hall is a little shaky and that we have to be careful with cigarettes, but unfortunately, we have only so much money. It is hoped that we can correct the state of our classroom in the near future, but right now there is something important that needs taking care of. There is an urgent demand for a new football stadium."

There was a question from a "heckler," as Mr. Budd called him later; "Mr. Budd," asked the heckler, "would you not say that classroom space is more important than a new football stadium?"

Mr. Budd coughed and replied, "I know that is the opinion of some of the more 'radical' elements on campus, however, President Kenedy has called for a physical fitness program and we aim to go along with the President."

"But, Mr. Budd," the heckler persisted, "do you think a stadium has priority over classrooms?"

Mr. Budd shot back, "What have you got against football?"

The heckler replied, "What have you got against education?"

Mr. Budd replied the question was unfair because he had asked him first.

E. L. Jackson, president of traffic control, has assured alarmed students that there are not giant moles loose on the campus. The humps are a donation from Jeff Moore's Wheel and Chassis Alignment Shop. Mr. Jackson hopes that this will squelch rumors that the girls in Cotten are tunneling out.

Quote of the week, overheard by Ramon: "The only thing Yale University has, and that East Carolina lacks, is absolute finesse."

A physics professor estimated that the humps could be worn down in 46 days if every student on campus made it a habit to walk on them twice daily.

The weekly civil defense evacuation from the college drill will be carried out again this Friday, as usual.

Secularization Of Education

"This kind of Christian college is more interested in monitoring students' minds than student morals," writes Dr. Frederick M. Binder of Hartwick in a recent issue of the College Bulletin, "and believes that healthy, intelligent minds are able to monitor their own morals within the confines of an acceptable society."

Taking as his topic "The Unity of a Christian College," Dr. Binder states: "Acceptable not to the police . . . as one faculty member put it recently at Cornell, but acceptable to their families, their professors, their classmates, and to their counselors. College professors have no wish to invade student privacy. Students have been quite effective in shutting most of us out.

"But we do stand here half expectantly over the years hoping that someday they will again invite us into their private worlds in the spirit of fellowship and mutual trust.

"This generation is deeply concerned with higher education. It has become not only a tenet of the home, but it has become a vital political issue. In our democracy there has been a greater and greater secularization of education. This trend with the here and now relegates religion to a peripheral area in life. Religion is not opposed, but there is a dragging indifference to it which has the effect of burying it from sight and sound.

"We shy away from it in the classroom, even as Christian teachers, and it is brought out and dusted off only in the required courses taught by the Department of Religion. In the churches on Sunday morning, when they are attended by our students, there is a monotony of grey-flanneled conformity to custom.

"If three days a week the College Chapel is practically deserted for the College commons and the coffee hour has a larger attendance that the communion, is this the fault of heedless, Godless youth or of complacent Christianity on a carbon-copy campus, duplicated 500 times in church colleges across America?

"It would appear that the latter is the surer analysis. The paganism of the campus is but a reflection of the paganism of our entire culture and the carbon-copy can be found in village and metropolitan center alike. The basis for unity is already here," concludes Dr. Binder. "It can be revitalized and effected only by the students themselves."

Coed In Campus Politics

Cathy Shesso has found that the coed has a place in campus politics at East Carolina College.

After representing the school last year as Azalea Princess and being chosen queen of the East Carolina yearbook, the Buccaneer this year, the pretty social studies major from Jacksonville has stepped into a big campus political office as secretary of the Student Government Association.

The newly-elected secretary became interested in student government activities while attending Jacksonville High School where she served as secretary of the organization. She had decided to take a rest from politics during her college years, but when the campaigning began during her freshmen year, she had to join the group. "I got the fever again," she laughed.

Prior to winning the office of secretary, which she will assume soon, she has served this year as chairman of the Special Events Committee and headed activities for the college's giant Homecoming festivities and will direct Awards Day and the SGA Awards Banquet, both to be held later this spring.

During her freshmen year, Miss Shesso attended the State Student Legislature and the meeting of the Governor's Student Committee for a Better North Carolina. As a sophomore, she was a member of the College Entertainment Committee.

Other activities include serving as an alternate marshal last year; past pledge trainer and present vice president of Chi Omega, social sorority; and Homecoming sponsor for Aycock Hall, men's dormitory, in the fall. She will receive the B.S. degree in June of 1964 and plans to enter the teaching profession.

Miss Shesso says that serving as SGA secretary "is not a glamorous job. It's more of a pleasurable job in knowing that you are doing something for the students. Being in SGA gives you a sharper realization of how other schools are working and it makes your outlook in current affairs a lot broader.

"I find campaigning a strain, but after undergoing the nervous tension that comes from the activity, you are not only relieved but ready to start all over again working in the position that you have acquired with all the vigor you have put into your campaign."

Briggs Leaves EC; Follows Film Career

By R. W. GOLLOBIN

Charlie Briggs left East Carolina College at the end of the Fall quarter, 1957, and went straight to Hollywood. Since then he has been in "Home from the Hill," "Absent-Minded Professor," "Merlin's Marmalade," and "The Candy Kid" which will be released this summer. Charlie just finished making "Captain Newman, M.D." two weeks ago with Gregory Peck. This movie will be released next year.

Charlie has been in some seventy television shows, or as he says, "If I have a horse in it, I've done it at least three or four times." To give an example, Charlie was in a recent "Gunsmoke" production.

He says the best single show he has ever done on TV was on the series called "The Outlaw," in the episode "The Brothers," in which he guest-starred.

Charlie now lives in the San Fernando Valley with his wife, the former Annette Bradley, who was an EC girl. Annette is from Littleton, N. C. They have a nine month old son named Bradley Briggs. Charlie says they just took the two last names and got the name "Bradley Briggs."

When asked if Annette was an actress, Charlie said, "No! She is a housewife and does just what 'mudders' and housewives should do."

Charlie was born in Henderson, N. C., and grew up in Elizabeth City. He finished high school in Sanford, N.C. He also lived at Nags Head. He said he was "basically a beach bum."

Speaking about actors, Charlie said, "An actor has to believe in himself, but does not have to be an egomaniac as too many are. There's a thin line dividing ego and confidence, and it takes an astute observer to spot the difference."

Charlie said, "My parents raised me to do one thing—to distinguish between right and wrong. Decisions were left up to me. Their confidence in me has kept me out of jails and hospitals."

Charlie started at EC in the spring of 1955 after being discharged from the Air Force. During his stay at EC, he produced and directed the first "unabridged" Broadway play ever done at EC. The play was "Mr. Roberts" and Charlie did it in nine days.

This play was called the finest production ever done at EC. It played to a packed house every night of the run, brought the Playhouse out of a financial hole, and put it three hundred dollars ahead.

Charlie is a big, friendly, unassuming man. During the interview, he talked freely and seemed to lack the conceit one would expect of a movie star. Charlie was colorful and interesting to talk to. It turned out that the interviewer's father had been Charlie's dentist.

Converse Art Gallery Displays Paintings, Drawings By Speight

Formal opening of an exhibition of paintings and drawings by Dr. Francis Speight, N.A., internationally known artist who is now artist-in-residence at EC, took place April 21 at the Converse College Art Gallery in Spartanburg, S. C. The show will continue through May 15.

The opening of the exhibition will be a special event of Founder's Day at Converse and will be followed by a reception at which Mr. Speight and his wife, Mrs. Sarah Blakeslee Speight, also an accomplished artist, will be honor guests.

The exhibition is made up mostly of oil paintings and includes a small number of watercolors and drawings. The 32 oil paintings give a cross-section of Mr.

Speight's work as an artist since 1928.

Recent works in the exhibition were done since the artist returned to North Carolina last year after a distinguished career as professor of art at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. Indicating Mr. Speight's interest in his native state are "Roxboro, N. C., Roadside"; "San Souci" in Bertie County, N. C.; and "Peanut Stacks," characteristic of Eastern North Carolina.

Other works in the exhibition are "Straw for the City's Horses," winner of the 1940 Jennie Sesnan Medal for Landscape of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts; and paintings characteristic of his work in Pennsylvania such as "Afternoon-Manayunk," "Schuylkill at Manayunk," and "Lockhouse at Conshohocken."

In 1961 the N. C. State Museum at Raleigh staged a "Francis Speight Retrospective Exhibition," which included works by him on loan from museums and private collections and which attracted national attention. Last spring Wake Forest College, which he attended, conferred on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities.

Woman's Club Sponsors Annual 'Sidewalk' Show

Students and faculty are invited to show work at the Ninth Annual "Sidewalk" Show in Greenville. The "Sidewalk" Show is part of Greenville's Community Art Festival, sponsored by the Greenville Womans Club and the EC Art Society with the cooperation of civic and community organizations.

Here are the details of entry and schedule for this year:

Eligibility: All artists and craftsmen in Eastern Carolina, Professional and Amateur.

Media: All: Oils, Watercolor, Graphics, Sculpture, etc. Ceramics, Enameling on metal, Handicrafts of all kinds, Jewelry, Industrial Arts, Basketry, etc.

Date: May 2nd, 1963—Opens 10:00 a.m. and continues until 5:00 p.m.

Place: The "Sidewalk" Show will be held again this year at the Art Center in Greenville, located at 802 Evans Street.

Registration: Enclosed you will find labels to be used as directed. No work will be accepted without labels unless special arrangements are made at the registration desk. We will be happy to send you additional labels upon request. Return labels are due in by April 25th. Work is due in no later than 11:00 a.m., May 2nd. There is no entry fee.

Frames: Oil paintings should be framed and ready to hang. Watercolors and prints must be matted. Be sure work is clearly marked for sale if you so wish and "N.F.S." if you do not wish to sell.

It is the plan of the committee that all work be picked up by 6:00 p.m., May 2nd. We are unable to assume responsibility for loss or damage of work. If you require a table for your material, please bring your own card table with you.

This year, Dr. Francis Speight, artist-in-residence in the School of Art at EC will judge work submitted in professional and amateur categories. First, second, third, and honorable mention ribbons will be awarded.

For any additional information you might need, please contact Mrs. Wellington B. Gray, 2001 Brook Road, or Mrs. Tran Gordley, 102 Pineview Drive.

Meeting Of Historical Assn. To Feature Colonial Towns

Colonial towns of North Carolina will be the theme of the Spring meeting of the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association at EC April 26 and 27.

Registration will be in Flanagan Building beginning at 4:30 p.m. Friday. Papers on early North Carolina towns by Stanley South, archaeologist, and Colonial Beaufort by Charles Paul, graduate student at EC, will be read at the dinner. Henry Belk, president of the Literary and Historical Association, will preside.

Saturday morning the delegates will gather at Old St. Thomas

Church, Bath. Fred Mallison of Washington will preside and Dr. Herbert Paschal, Jr. of EC, an authority on Bath, will be the speaker. A tour of the restoration projects completed and in progress at the first incorporated town of North Carolina will be made.

The meeting ends with a luncheon of the Greenville Fine Arts Festival at EC at 12:45 p.m. Saturday. Dr. Warren Ashby, professor of philosophy of Woman's College, Greensboro, will be the speaker on the program arranged by the Arts Festival. This annually attracts some 200 people.

Circle K Adopts Project; Ushers At Productions

Circle K Club members will serve as ushers at all future Entertainment Series, Concerts and Playhouse productions. This project was recently accepted by the club and will go into operation on April 24 for the Four Preps Concert.

Previous Concerts and plays have had the College Marshals, assisted by paid ushers, serve as ushers. The Circle K members will now handle these duties while the College Marshals will fill the roles of official hostesses and give out programs. This new system will be a great help in the reserved seating plan now in use for all major events.

Rackley Exhibits Abstract Works In College Union

Art major William E. Rackley presently is exhibiting abstract works in the College Union. Bill's work is a composite of drawing, painting, and sculpture derived mainly from his study of cubism and non-objective art.

Bill graduated from Brogden High School in Wayne County and entered EC in the fall of 1955, studied until the fall of 1957, then left school to serve in the Army. He re-entered in the spring of 1961 and will graduate this quarter with an A. B. degree in Art.

Mr. Rackley has also been very active in dramatics, having been scene designer and technical director of two laurel winners for the EC Playhouse, Mr. Roberts and Guys and Dolls. He has been in twenty-five little theatre productions and plans to get a Master's Degree in Drama.

SPORTS REVIEW

By RON DOWDY

The weekend was quite silent in the realm of campus athletics, as the baseball team was still relaxing from their major league schedule of a week ago, golf and tennis teams were off, and the track team placed second in a tri-meet at Raleigh Saturday.

The EC sports calendar for the week finds the baseball team playing host to Atlantic Christian on Wednesday, to Florida State on Friday, and to Elon on Saturday. All games are slated to start at 3:00 p.m. and are to be played at Guy Smith stadium. The track team hosts Old Dominion on Wednesday and are tentatively scheduled to participate in the Davidson Relays Saturday. After playing St. Andrews on Monday, the golf team will host Old Dominion on Thursday, Elon on Friday, and will participate in a tri-meet with A. C. and Guilford on Saturday in Wilson.

The Pirate netters won another match Saturday. This time it was over N. C. State. Final score was 6-3.

The Southern Conference School Officials meet again in May. Will the question of admitting EC be brought up? Will we get in? Why not? Are the EC school officials pushing it like they were at one time? What did Dr. Jenkins mean on the night of the last dorm meeting held in Aycock dorm, when he said, "We do not feel as though being admitted to the Southern Conference will benefit the school that much..." He went on to add, "We also feel as though East Carolina could become more widely known by playing bigger name teams and by being an independent team, a non-conference league member." There could be a lot of wisdom in those words—but HOW?

What will keep us out this time, since we have a new and much larger football and basketball stadium and money appropriated by the state to enlarge our library—volume wise? What will it be?

The statistics on the baseball team which were to have appeared in this edition were not compiled in time to meet the printing deadline. They will be printed as soon as they can be worked in.

Dr. Henry Announces Shorter Peace Corps Test

A new—much shorter—Peace Corps Placement Test will be administered for the first time Saturday, April 27, in more than 800 communities across the nation.

The new test, to be given on an experimental basis, consists of half-hour sections on general aptitude and modern language aptitude. All applicants who have knowledge of French or Spanish must remain to take the appropriate language achievement test of one hour's duration.

By contrast, the former examination took four to eight hours, depending on optional sections. Both tests are non-competitive. Applicants who took the longer test do not need to take the new one.

Dr. Edward R. Henry, director of the Peace Corps' selection division, said the new test has been designed on the basis of information gained after two years of experience with the longer examination.

"Some tests in the former battery have been found to be of low validity in relation to the success of volunteers in training and overseas. Other sections were more useful for proper class placement in training than they were for selection," Dr. Henry said.

He added that college transcripts provide much of the information obtained from sections of the former test and that the Peace Corps now requires transcripts from every candidate.

Increasing emphasis on aptitude for a foreign language for all volunteers serving where English is not the main tongue has greatly increased the need for the language aptitude and achievement tests, Dr. Henry said.

The new test will be given at 8:30 a. m. and should be taken by all new Peace Corps applicants for one of the 4,000 openings in 44 countries. Training begins in June, July and August.

To be eligible to take the exam, candidates must either have submitted a questionnaire to the Peace Corps or must bring a completed questionnaire to the test site with them.

Questionnaires and the location of the exam site may be obtained from the campus Peace Corps liaison officer, Dean Robert L. Holt.

West Loses First Game; Pirates Lose Third 2-1

Coach Earl Smith's Pirate batmen suffered their third setback of the season last Friday at the hands of Bowling Green, 2-1. The game turned out to be a pitcher's duel between ace Lacy West of the Pirates and Jack Thompson of Falcon fame, with Thompson coming out on the long end. The victory was the third for Thompson and it was the first loss for West.

The Pirates played an unusually nervous ball game—both Falcon runs were scored on errors. The second inning was the big inning for the Falcons. They scored both of their runs on two errors and two singles. Tommy Tietlemeyer singled to left field with one out. Pirates West and Bovender erred, and Cal Caywood singled.

The Pirates scored their only run in the fourth inning when Pirate first-sacker Tommy Kidd reached first via a Falcon error and scored later on a two-out double by frosh centerfielder Chuck Conners.

On the way to his third victory, Thompson walked six, struck out six, and allowed only three hits, two of them by Pirate second baseman Bovender. West walked just two and struck out three, but allowed six hits as he suffered his first setback against four victories.

The Pirates are idle until April 22, when they travel to Camp Lejeune and then return here to meet Atlantic Christian on April 24.

Pirate Linksmen Defeat Campbell

The Pirate linksmen recently won their second victory. This one was over Campbell College, 194. The EC golfers were led by low medalist Charles Rose and Gary Mull, both reporting low scores of 76. Other Pirate victors were Steve Goforth, Chappy Bradner and Vince Elduke.

The Pirates use the Greenville Golf and Country Club as their home course.

Tolley Leads EC Rucs In Tri-Meet

Jerry Tolley of the EC football team led the Pirates to a second place finish in a triangular track meet held in Raleigh last Saturday.

N. C. State won the meet with a score of 94½ and Campbell came in third with 32. EC had 54½. State compiled its points by winning twelve of the seventeen events. State junior Richard Manning ran away with the scoring honors for the day, placing first in three events, the 100 and 200-yard dash and the broad jump.

Tolley led the Pirates to their second place finish as he came in second in three events—the hop, step, and jump and the 100 and 200-yard dash. He totaled nine points for the day.
