Delta Phi Delta Banquet

Delta Phi Delta President John Goodheart, Dr. Leo Jenkins, Francis Speight, and Dr. Wellington Gray pose at the art fraternity banquet.

Dr. Jenkins, Speight Become Members Of Art Fraternity

President Leo W. Jenkins and Art-in-residence Francis Speight became honorary members of the Delta Phi Delta chapter of the national art fraternity Delta Phi Delta at the annual spring banquet of the organization, Monday night, May 20.

Fraternity President John Goodheart, graduate assistant in the college School of Art, welcomed Dr. Jenkins and Dr. Speight to the chapter and presented each of them with a pin and an engraved plaque.

Dean Wellington B. Gray of the School of Art told members and guests that the fraternity is honored to have Dr. Speight as a member. He is, Dean Gray said, a "teaching and producing artist" with an outstanding career in training students of art and an established reputation as a painter.

He described Dr. Jenkins as an amateur artist who in his hobby has shown much progress. Especially he pointed out the interest which the East Carolina President has shown in building a program in the fine arts at the college. "We owe our School of Art mainly to him," Dean Gray said.

Dr. Jenkins, as principal speaker of the evening, said that in Eastern North Carolina a "genuine renaissance in the arts is taking place along with the revolution apparent in the social and economic life of the area."

There is, he stated a great deal of talent in this section of the state which should be developed. He challenged his audience to play their parts in finding and encouraging this talent and making North Carolina a center where the fine arts flourish.

Dr. Jenkins pointed out some plans for the future of the School of Art at the college, including a new building to house the School, the granting of new degrees in the fine arts, and the introduction of new types of instruction.

Graduating seniors who are members of the fraternity were presented with gifts from their fellow students by David Barlette. Recipients were President Goodheart, Maggy Tamura, Janet Hill Morris, James Saunders, James E. Smith, and Carol Barrett.

'Aesthetic Dimension' To Feature Art, Music

One-act plays, modern dancing, combo music, poetry readings, and art exhibits are features of the second annual exposition of the Contemporary Arts Festival. The theme of the exposition "Aesthetic Dimension," will be carried out at events to be held this afternoon, tonight, and all day tomorrow.

Tonight the Playhouse will present two one-act plays and Mrs. Betty Rose Griffith's dancers will present modern dance routines. The plays, "The Beast in Man" and "The Brick and the Rose," were written by two students. Climaxing the night will be the presentation of the Playhouse Laurel Awards.

These activities will begin at 8:00 p.m. in McGinnis Auditorium.

This afternoon and all day Saturday, the cafeteria courtyard will be the scene of the Festival activities. Jazz combos and poetry readings will be presented separately and together, with the combos as background for the poetry readings.

Art exhibits, which will be judged by Mr. Tran Gordley and

Mr. Tom Mims, will also be displayed in the cafeteria courtyard. This art is entirely the work of students.

Bill Rackley, who is one of the directors of the Festival, commented, "We might also have dancing, comedy routines, and a jazz pianist in the courtyard. These plans are tentative."

The courtyard activities will begin Friday at noon and Saturday at 9:00 a.m.

The directors of the exposition include J. Alfred Willis, Milton Crocker, Tom Mims, Bill Rackley, and Doug Crumpler.

Notice

All organizations desiring space in the 1964 Buccaneer should contact the Buccaneer office or telephone PLaza 2-7813 before Tuesday, May 28, 1963. Any group not submitting their request will not be represented in the 1964 edition. Request may also be mailed to Post Office Box 1123.

McCann Jazz Trio To Appear Monday

The widely acclaimed Les McCann Jazz Trio will make its contribution to the Entertainment Series in a second appearance on the campus, Monday night. Les McCann first appeared on our campus January 5, 1962. That day marked his first appearance on a college campus. Since then, the group has entertained in many colleges and with much success.

Their unique style has prompted criticism of the group. Some have accused his music of being "a gimmick and invalid". Most, as does John Tynan of Down Beat Magazine, agree though that, "Jazz today, is ready once more to respond to its deep heart beat—the cultural heritage of the American Negro. This pulse, long apparently quiescent and occasionally appearing stilled, is beating strongly again. The jazz public is eagerly pouring over it, digesting it, and discovering new vigor, and a music is returning to where the 'feet grow.'"

McCann's trio has great ability in getting its message across to the public, whether it be at the Hollywood Bowl or some night club on Sunset Strip.

According to McCann, the trio does not try to impress anyone, but communicates with the audience and transfers its feeling to it.

Playing with McCann are Ron Jefferson and Herb Lewis, both of whom have had extensive experience in the jazz field. They have played with many well known "jazz men" such as Lester and Hamilton and Teddy Edwards. Tickets will not be required for the performance. The program will begin at 8:15 p.m. in Wright Auditorium.

Union Dance To Feature Combo, Contest

Glenn Briley and combo will provide the music for the College Union-sponsored dance and dance contest to be held Saturday night at 8:30 in the CU area.

Students are being urged to participate in the dance contest to begin at 9:30. One member of each couple entered in the competition must be enrolled at the college. Both contestants in each couple must be of college age. The participants will compete in four divisions: cha cha, slow, bop, and twist dancing.

Judges will select an over-all winning couple and runners-up. Trophies will be awarded to each winner.

Plans for this "big event" are being made by the CU Record and Dance Committee with George Whitehurst as chairman. Refreshments will be served by members of the Social Committee headed by chairman Pat Weaver.

Trophy Presentation

Walter Faulkner, editor of the "Buccaneer," presents the "Buccaneer" Queen trophy to Cathy Shesso, this year's queen. The presentation took place at the "Buccaneer banquet last Wednesday night.

Liasion Officer Announces Peace Corps Test Date

Dr. Robert E. Cramer, East Carolina's liasion officer to the Peace Corps and member of the Governor's Advisory Council to the Peace Corps, announced that the next placement test for the Corps will be held June 8. The examination will be taken at the Greenville Post Office at 3:30 a.m.

Dr. Cramer said that those who desire to take this Placement Test should fill out a questionnaire prior to this date. Students may obtain the form from him in Graham 303 or the local Post Office. The questionnaires should be mailed to the Peace Corps, Washington 25, D. C. or taken to the Placement Test on June 8.

VALIDITY?

Several weeks ago the Student Senate realized that it was not the supreme governing body of the campus. At that time, the administration found it necessary to overrule a decision of the body in the interest of true democracy. Granted that the reasoning in that particular case was legitimate, but today we hear of still another Senate upset.

A week ago last Monday night, after listening to various pro's and con's, the Senate members voted, by a clear majority, to give the student body "something extra" in the way of entertainment for the current year. A top-rated jazz group was contracted to appear here next week. The Entertainment Committee—an organ of the Student Government Association and not even claiming to be the supreme body of the SGA—met and overruled the Senate's appropriation and had the entertainment contract broken. They gave their reasons, no matter how invalid these reasons were.

We feel that the Senate is, and should be, powerful; but we cannot help wondering now, "Just how powerful is that body that meets on Monday nights for an hour or so, legislating in our better interests?" —Bowen

VICTORY

Two years ago, the East Carolina College Pirates climaxed their baseball season by bringing home the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship. Thousands of enthusiastic fans were on hand as the "Bucs" paraded victoriously into Greenville, after winning the national play-offs in Sioux City, Iowa. Along with other benefits, the publicity gained by the college's taking the national title gave added prestige to the East Carolina athletic program.

Once again, EC boasts a well-rounded and winning team. This team began participation in the Southeastern Tournament in Statesboro, Georgia, yesterday. The event, a double elimination affair, will name the representative of the Southeast in the National tournament to be held at St. Joseph, Missouri, in June.

Yesterday, as the local Pirates swept to victory in their first tournament game, the EAST CAROLINIAN sent a telegram offering congratulations and best wishes. We urge you to do likewise. —Bowen

VIOLENCE

One wonders about a man such as Governor Wallace of Alabama. We wonder about the integrity of such a man. Even a person not "overly bright" could hardly fail to learn the lesson of Governor Barnett of Mississippi or the lesson of Governor Faubus of Arkansas. One state cannot defy the law and might of forty-nine other states. Governor Wallace does not seem to have learned this lesson.

Mr. Barnett vaulted to fame on the coat tails of two dead men. Only the near future will tell how many bodies Mr. Wallace will have to climb over to get to the top. And when Mr. Wallace does stand at the top with his bloody hands, after dragging the state of Alabama down deeper into decadence, after dragging the prestige of a whole nation down deeper into mud, we hope he will be proud. —Gollobin

LETTER

ROMANTIC IDEALISM

To the Editor:

Friday's (May 17) editorial page of the EAST CAROLINIAN contained a delightfully amusing hodgepodge of romantic idealism. Glossy phrases such as "... (we) were extremely pleased to find that almost everyone behaved like ladies and gentlemen" and "we believe that in treatment of one's acquaintances one should exercise the same rationale that should guide him in most of his other actions" and "university students are the cream of the crop" and "when the people of the world have the true facts" and "I sit here with envy for the wonderful world of the football player" were conspicuous by their lack of any real meaning whatsoever. All united to produce a striking bit of irony. For I have observed a widespread void of genuine refinement and culture, the bel air if you will, prevalent in this area in general and on this campus in particular. Yes, the "T" was removed from ECC but the initial stigma of "small time" remains. These phrases I have so freely lifted from context seem to me to be related through a common bond of immature, illigical and shallow optimism. It is difficult for me to accept the fact that the ribald, perverted humor of the Four Preps "deserved" a tremendous standing ovation by a packed house, while a concert given by the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra barely rated the attendance of more than two or three percent of the entire student body.

Staff member White might be interested to know that ignorance of socially accepted concert etiquette was reliably displayed by many if attendance of the May 9 perform-

Pi Kappa Phi

On Saturday, May 18, the Beta Phi chapter of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity conducted a fund-raising campaign in conjunction with the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation of North Carolina. Aiding in the campaign were the sisters and pledges of Sigma Sigma Sigma, Alpha Xi Delta, and Chi Omega. To these sororities, the Pi Kappas express their sincere gratitude for making this campaign the success that it was.

On Sunday, May 19, Pi Kappa Phi observed its second annual Parents' Day. Parents and other relatives of the Brothers and pledges gathered at 1:30 P.M. for a picnic lunch on the back lawn of the house.

ance—right down to the casual sportswear and improper applauding. It would seem that for eighteen years some East Carolina College men and women were kept chained up in a musty attic at home only to be freed to go away to college. Surely they have had some "bringing up" at sometime. Must simple manners and self-respect be completely disregarded while attending school?

Large dormitories and multi-storied dormitories present a facade of growth and expansion, yet quality education will never build quality students. On the other hand, quality students can and do successfully blend book learning with their appreciation of a grand cultural heritage (that includes compliance with accepted social customs even if compelled to attend classes taught in a barn.

Angel Flight

EC's Angel Flight, co-educational auxiliary group to Arnold Air Society, Air Force ROTC, has elected a new slate of officers for the 1963-1964 school term.

The campus organization, one of 41 in the nation, has among its purposes maintaining high morale in Detachment 600 of the AFROTC at EC and furthering recognition of the AFROTC through service to the college. Members served as official hostesses for military events on the campus and also function as a drill unit.

Mary Katherine Powell has been elected as commander of the college Angel Flight and in the organization has the rank of major. In March, 1963, Major Powell was selected to serve during the remainder of the 1962-1963 school year as executive officer of the Angel Flight.

Suitcases Again

To Suitcase Students:

The students who left the East Carolina Campus this past week and missed one of the finest events of the year... the First Annual I.D.C. Ball.

Oran Perry, President of the I.D.C., Jim Mahan, Vice President of the I.D.C., and others certainly made the I.D.C. Ball a success.

The first I.D.C. BALL was presided by Kathy Wesson, who was surprised (very pleasantly I might add) to find her parents there as she received her coveted crown. Mr. and Mrs. Wesson and their two children drove 240 miles to see their daughter crowned MISS I.D.C.

Students leave East Carolina College on weekends for various reasons. Some must work, but many leave because they feel lack of entertainment will prevent them from spending an enjoyable weekend. Well, those who left missed one fine evening. Ask anyone of the over 1000 who attended the First Annual I.D.C. Ball.

Yours truly,

Joseph Angelo

Senior Recital

W. Ted Gossett, senior student, appeared in a recital of works for the organ Monday, May 18, in Austin auditorium.

The program opened with a performance of Buxtehude's "Prelude and Fugue in F sharp minor." Other selections included J. S. Bach's "Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor," O. Messiaen's "Ascension Suite," and an arrangement of the ninety-fourth psalm by J. Reubke.

At EC Mr. Gossett is a pupil of Carl E. Stout of the faculty of the School of Music. As a student he has acted as organ accompanist for the college Chapel Choir, the College Choir, and the Men's Glee Club.

He is a member of the American Guild of Organists and in 1961 won the organ competition sponsored by Rocky Mount-Kinston Chapter. As winner and representative of the chapter he played in a four-state convention of the Guild.

In Rocky Mount he serves as organist and director of the Early Morning Adult Choir for the First Baptist Church.

Purvis E. Boyette, Assistant Professor of English at Newberry College, formerly of Raleigh and an alumnus of EC, has been named to the 1963-1964 edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN EDUCATION. He becomes the youngest man in the thirty-four year history of this WHO'S WHO publication to be so honored. He is twenty-five.

At EC he earned an honors A.B. in 1959. He received his M.A. in English language and literature from the University of Kansas in 1961, where he was for two years a teaching fellow. He has since taken course work for the Ph.D. at Vanderbilt University.

Mr. Boyette has taught for two years at Newberry College. He is a member of the executive committee of the South Carolina Council of Teachers of English, and is the founder and Associate Editor of STUDIES IN SHORT FICTION, a national journal published at Newberry and devoted exclusively to serious commentary on short fiction.

Student Art Show

*Displays Sculpture, Paintings
Prints, Weavings, Mosaics*

Over one hundred student pieces of art are on exhibit in Rawl Building. These exhibits represent the better portions of student work done during the year. The art on display was selected by the School of Art faculty members.

In the sculpture department, there is an outstanding piece by Doug Latta which is an abstract female torso done in polished torazo with a flowing and tactically pleasing surface quality. Torazo is marble chips in concrete. Also outstanding is the torazo bird by Faye Garrett. The art piece has a smooth beach-washed pebble texture and has a remarkable simplicity of form. Amanda Peterson and Marilyn Miller each have two pieces done in black tin which are extremely sophisticated forms, beautifully crafted.

On display is an intricately cut pattern of sculpture in iron by Dick Worley. Dick used a cylindrical discipline. Georgia Ocain has a brass and copper wire construction that is described as "conceptually strong with a direct use of material." William Johnson had an artistic thermal-formed plastic sculpture that is beautiful and notable for its complete simplicity of design. A welded steel sculpture entitled "Fallen Bird" shows an inventive use of material. It is exhibited by Bud Wall.

In the painting section of the exhibit, Jean Ingram has a nice abstract action painting done by utilizing golds, browns and oranges. Sophie Kumm did a colorful, striking study in motion of children playing on and about seesaws. An inventive experiment in relief was done by Ingrid Huffman. The piece is non-objective and is a collage of carved wood panels and glued-on materials. Richard Beatty has what was called "a pure abstraction in opaque water color" done with flashing black lines on yellow planes. This piece reflects the manner of the New York School. J. W. Sanders has a transparent water color, a well-realized form, achieved by flat planes and a look of

In the graphics section the print-making portion, Larry Blizzard is exhibiting a small intaglio print that shows strong form in its non-objective theme. The intaglio is done by an interesting process. The plate is cut and the paper is forced down by rollers in the cut to pick up the ink, making the inked or painted portion somewhat raised. Dominique Haller, a student from Switzerland, has a deeply-etched color intaglio which reflects Swiss folk art. "Icebergs," a color intaglio by Peggy Canipe, is an excellent example of the use of technique.

In the creative weaving section, there is a stylish suit done by the collaboration of the talents of Suzanne Cunningham, who wove the cloth, and Carolista Fletcher, who designed and tailored the garment. Weaving is generally considered to be a craft and is classified as an applied art.

Phil Loax has a beautiful mosaic table. Phil used red, violet, gold, and green. The table shows an excellent choice of pleasingly keyed colors. Also in the crafts section of applied art, John Goodheart, a graduate assistant, has well crafted and decorative pottery. The pottery is inventive and also functional.

In commercial art, Louis Jones has a story illustration of Stephen Crane's Red Badge of Courage that was well done. Also mentioned as outstanding was Amanda Peterson's twenty-four sheet poster with a florist delivery service theme. Doug Latta has a handsome interior design in black and white. The art project is a furniture illustration. A water color interior design is exhibited by Petsy Ross.

Tran Gordley, director of exhibitions, stated, "There are more abstracts . . . the general trend reflects an advanced state of student intellectual development."

So goes the highly successful Seventh Annual Student Art Show.

Professor, Wife Teach On 'University Afloat'

Professor George A. Douglas of the College Social Studies Department and his wife, Mrs. Vera Sterling Douglas, will serve during 1963-1964 as faculty members of the University of the Seven Seas, a "university afloat" which offers college courses for credit combined with travel around the world.

Dr. Douglas has been granted a leave of absence for the coming school year by the Board of Trustees of the college.

The University of the Seven Seas, with headquarters in Whittier, California, is a non-profit educational institution incorporated under the laws of the state of California. During 1963-1964 it will offer two semesters of college courses in creative arts, human management, physical resources, and human resources to a group of students limited to 500.

Students traveling on the M.S. Seven Seas of the Europe-Canada line will attend classes aboard ship and will stop for field trips at ports of call around the world. The first semester of 110 days begins in New York October 22 and ends in San Diego; the second of 120 days begins February 11, 1964, in San Diego and ends in New York.

Dr. and Mrs. Douglas are both widely known as teachers and consultants in the fields of marriage and the family. In the University of the Seven Seas he will teach courses in family life, population, and world social problems. Mrs. Douglas will act as a counselor and teach classes in religion and philosophy.

Dr. Stillwell Constructs Globe Showing Relief, Natural Growth

A five and one-half foot globe is being constructed in the Geography Department. It will show both relief as well as natural vegetation. Mount Everest, for example, will rise two inches above sea level. The globe is being constructed by Dr. H. Daniel Stillwell, assistant professor of geography. The cost will be about $125 when completed, but its commercial equivalent bears an $8,000 price tag. Many hours of work is going into the construction of the globe which is made primarily of fiber glass, into laying out the elevations, and in the painting of the world vegetation.

Sometime this summer the globe will be located in the lobby of the Joyner Library at the college. A one-fourth horsepower motor will be attached which will rotate the globe completely every two minutes. The globe will be useful as well as decorative, and classes in geography will be given assignments which will require them to study it. In addition, class sessions will be held in the library as the instructor lectures in front of it.

Home Economics Initiates Sixteen Graduating Seniors

Sixteen 1963 graduating Home Economics seniors of EC were initiated as members of the American Home Economics Association and the North Carolina Home Economics Association during a banquet of the EC Home Economics chapter Tuesday, May 14. The banquet was held in the Buccaner Room located on the campus.

Mrs. Callie Hardiwcke, first vice president of the North Carolina Home Economics Association, was guest speaker and selected as her topic "International Relations." She is the Western District Home Economics Agent of the Agricultural Extension Service at North Carolina State College, Raleigh.

Miss Keyowi of Indonesia, senior student specializing in textiles at North Carolina State, discussed "Home Economics Needs in Indonesia."

Miss Carol Elaine Aldridge, newly elected president of the chapter, presided during the meeting.

New adviser of the local chapter is Miss Ernestine Nichols, faculty member of the Home Economics Department. She replaces Miss Mabel Daugherty of the home economics faculty, who was given praise for her untiring services to the chapter.

Senior East Carolina members of the American Home Economics Association and the North Carolina Home Economics Association are Jo Ann Baker, Mrs. Margaret S. Barrow, Faye Clark, Mrs. Glenda Nobles Grady, Audrey Holloman, Jane Honeycutt, Ann S. Kirby, Mrs. Carol Gaskins Lewis, Dorothy Mills, Janie Pope, Annie Marie Riddick, Priscilla Sanders, Mrs. Ruby Alston Thompson, Brenda Vaughan, Wilma Frances Bailey, and P. Elizabeth Lawrence.

Murphy Joins Outdoor Drama Dance Company

Lawrence Murphy, member of the EC Theatre Dance Class, has been chosen as a member of the dance company for the summer outdoor drama, "Honey in the Rock," at Beckley, West Virginia. Mr. Murphy is a freshman from Nazareth, Pennsylvania who plans to major in Drama. At EC, he has been a member of the dance company for the musical, "Once Upon A Mattress," and for the opera, "The Marriage of Figaro." He has also been in other concert dance performances on the campus and on local television.

Mr. Murphy will be in Beckley for three weeks of rehearsal and ten weeks of performance.

On Sunday, May 21, Epsilon Mu chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity increased the membership of its brotherhood by ten men. The new initiates are Tom Betts, Jim Galloway, Buddy Goodwin, Guy Hagerty, Hal Lanning, John Stonestreet, Wayne Trogdon, Robert Wall, Steve Westfall, and Fred Williams.

Last Tuesday Ray Williford, outgoing president, presented the gavel of his office to Sandy Dallas, new SMC. Ray was congratulated by the chapter for the fine job done by him and his administration.

Next weekend, May 24-26, the Pikas will be at Wrightsville Beach for the annual Dream Girl Ball. All the brothers and pledges are looking forward to this event with much anticipation.

Alpha Delta Pi

The week of the 13th-17th of May was the last week of pledge-ship for the formal pledged class of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority. A Founders' Day - Scholarship Banquet was held the 15, commemorating the founding of the first secret society for women in 1851. At the banquet Dr. Lois Staton, the faculty advisor of Alpha Delta Pi, spoke on the importance of scholarship and praised the girls for receiving first place in scholarship for the year 1962-63.

The pledges presented several projects to the sisters. The best pledge was announced as Louise Womble, who received a special gift from the sorority. The girls were initiated on Friday afternoon at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. The seven new sisters are Marilyn Miller, Ginny Lewis, Mary Conn, Mary Tankard, Gigi Guice, Selba Morris, and Louise Womble.

All the girls enjoyed a trip to Morehead on Saturday.

Music School Offers Summer Workshop

As a special event of the 1963 Summer Session, the School of Music will stage a Music Education Workshop June 17-28 in cooperation with the Follett Publishing Co. and Prentice-Hall.

Dr. Gordon Johnson of the School of Music, director of the workshop, has announced the staff and the program of instruction. Attention will be focused on the elementary and the junior high school music programs.

E. Lawrence Barr, one of the authors of the state adopted junior high school textbooks, will be present on the campus as a faculty member and consultant at the workshop. A well-known musician and staff member of the Fred Waring Workshop, he is now supervisor of music in Kalamazoo, Michigan, schools.

Others on the staff will be Dr. Wallace Schmid and Mary Beck Stevens of Prentice-Hall, publishers of the state-adopted textbooks used in N. C. junior high schools; Marci Wyle of the Follett Publishing Co.; and Ruth Graber Shaw of the ECC School of Music.

The workshop has been planned to meet the needs and interests of classroom teachers, music specialists, and curriculum supervisors. Courses will be on the senior-graduate level. On completion of requirements those enrolled will receive three quarter hours of credit, which may be applied to renewal of certificates.

Demonstrations will include the testing of boys' changing voices, instrumental activities in the junior high general music class, teaching of part singing at the upper elementary level, work with inaccurate singers, and music activities with lower elementary children.

Senate Revives Old College Tradition; Requests Honor Council Nominations

Action at the Monday night Senate meeting included the renewal of a college tradition, the appropriation of funds for entertainment, and instructions to the Executive Council to propose names for the newly established Honor Councils.

The Student Senate, in order to revive an old tradition, and to add to school spirit, voted to require Freshman Class officers to ring the victory bell "after each athletic contest." Other business at the weekly legislative meeting included reallocation of $1350 of the $1750 appropriated for Lambert, Hendricks, and Bavan. Les McCann, Ltd. will replace the former group on the Entertainment Series.

Merle Summers proposed that the requirement, that meetings of the body be limited to one and one half hours, unless overruled by the members, be repealed. The Senate voted negative to the amendment.

Summers also introduced a motion to require the Executive Council to submit nominations for the Men's and Women's Honor Councils and Appeals Board. Eight names are to be submitted for the three posts on the Appeals Board, and ten names are to be presented for the seven positions on the Honor Councils.

A discussion on the procedure by which a new SGA Treasurer was elected at last week's meeting was held. Other action called for the referring "back to committee" the proposal that the SGA recognize the Inter-Religious Council as an authorized campus organization.

HOW TO SEE EUROPE FOR ONLY $300 A DAY: NO. 3

When all of you go to Europe during your summer vacation, you will certainly want to visit Spain, where the tall corn grows.

The first thing you will notice upon entering Spain is the absence of sibilants. In Spain "s" is pronounced "th" and thereby hangs a tale. Until the reign of Philip IV—or Guy Fawkes, as he was sometimes called—Spaniards said "s" just like everybody else. Philip IV, however, lisped, and Spaniards, having an ingrained sense of propriety and not wishing to embarrass their monarch, decided that everybody should lisp. This did indeed put Philip IV very much at his ease, but in the end it turned out to be a very bad thing for Spain. It wrecked the saffron industry—Spain's principal source of revenue—and reduced the nation to a second-class power.

to keep body and soul together

As a result, Spaniards were all forced to turn to bull fighting in order to keep body and soul together. Today, wherever you go in Spain—in Madrid, in Barcelona, in Toledo, in Cleveland—you will see bulls being fought. For many years the bulls have sought to arbitrate this long-standing dispute, but the Spaniards, a proud people who use nothing but Castile soap, have rejected all overtures.

It is therefore necessary for me to explain bull fighting to anyone who is going to Spain. It is also necessary for me to say a few words about Marlboro Cigarettes because they pay me for writing this column, and they are inclined to pout if I ignore their product. In truth, it is no chore for me to sing the praises of Marlboro Cigarettes, for I am one who fairly swoons with delight when I come upon a cigarette which gives you the full, rich taste of good tobaccos plus the pure white Selectrate filter, and Marlboro is the only smoke I have found that fulfills both requirements. Oh, what a piece of work is Marlboro! The flavor reaches you without stint or diminution. You, even as I, will find these statements to be happily true when once you light a Marlboro. Marlbors come to you in soft pack or Flip-Top box, and are made only by the makers of Marlboro.

But I digress. Let us return to bull fighting. Bulls are by nature bellicose creatures who will keep fighting till the cows come home. Then they like to put on pipe and slippers and listen to the "Farm and Home Hour." However, the Spaniards will not allow the bulls any surcease. They keep attacking the bull and making veronicas—a corn meal pancake filled with ground meat. Bulls, being vegetarians, reject the veronicas and then, believe you me, the fur starts to fly!

To be perfectly honest, many Spaniards have grown weary of this incessant struggle and have left their homeland. Columbus, for example, took off in three little ships—the Patti, the Maxene, and the Laverne—and discovered Ohio. Magellan later discovered Columbus. Balboa also sailed to the New World, but he was silent on a peak in Darien, so it is difficult to know what he discovered.

Well sir, I guess that's all you need to know about Spain. So now, as the setting sun casts its rosy fingers over El Greco, let us take our reluctant leave of Spain—or Perfidious Albion, as it is jocularly called. Aloha, Spain or Perfidious Albion, aloha!

Let us not, however, take our leave of smoking pleasure. Let us keep enjoying those fine Marlboro Cigarettes—rich, golden tobacco—pure white Selectrate filter—soft pack or Flip-Top box—available in all fifty States of the Union.

SPORTS REVIEW

By RON DOWDY

The Pirates '63 Frosh football schedule shows the Baby Bucs playing 5 games. Two of the games will be played at home. N. C. State College frosh team and the University of Richmond's frosh team have been signed as part of the Baby Bucs schedule. Their complete schedule consists of:

October	12—Chowan College	Away
	19—Frederick Military Academy	Away
	26—Newport News Apprentice School	Here
November	1—University of Richmond	Away
	16—N. C. State College	Here

The frosh team will be coached again by Henry Van Sant who will be assisted by student assistants Mickey Brown and Jerry Paul. Brown played guard on Coach Stas' '62 team. This will be his first year as a coach, while Paul was a student coach last year and will be in for his second term.

Nearly 30 new students have already indicated their desire to play football on the Baby Buc team. The coaching staff predicts the squad will consist of more than 50 players.

At a recent meeting of the Carolinas Conference officials, it was voted to increase the available football grants from 22 to 25. They also voted to decrease the basketball grants from 10 to 8, plus 2 grants for spring sports. They went on to agree that member conference schools which do not boast a football team will be able to give five spring-sport grants.

It has been mentioned that the captain of the '62 grid-iron team, center Dave Smith, will be the new line coach at Belmont High School in Belmont, N. C. His team will be running the single-wing for the first time in years. Smith is quite well versed in this formation after having personally played it for one season.

Billy Strickland, another veteran of Coach Stas' '62 team, will be one of the coaches at Craddock High School in Portsmouth, Va.

Whitty Bass, a sophomore Physical Education major from near-by Wilson, made it to the finals in the recent National AAU Track Meet in Raleigh. Bass, running on an unfamiliar track, broke his old school record in the 440 yard run.

Bass, along with two other Pirate athletes, will be sent to the Fellowship of Christian Athletes training camp during the first of August. Present will be professional athletes who will tend to show all the promising young athletes in attendance a few pointers on how to sharpen them up in their own athletic specialty.

The East Carolina baseball team left Wednesday for Statesboro, Georgia, where they will compete for the championship of the Southeast Regional NAIA tournament. The 17-man squad left by school station-wagons around noon Wednesday for the lengthy eight to nine hour drive. The squad consisted of just one utility fielder, the starting nine men, and seven pitchers.

The baseballers began play yesterday in Statesboro and will play anywhere from one to three games a day until the double elimination rule has eliminated all but one team—they will be the Southeast Champions.

All of the Pirates games will be broadcast over the local WGTC radio network, beginning with yesterday's game.

Coach Smith had nothing but high praise for his team as they prepared to leave for their southern competition. He went on to say that, "they have all worked hard and deserve this opportunity to represent the NAIA again. No one individual has stood out as the record shows. Our pitching will be just as effective now as it has been all season. This is a hustling team as they all love to bunt, run and WIN."

Coach Smith was not sure as to which pitcher he would start, as he would have to see their opponent first. It will most likely be senior Lacy West (8-2) or sophomore Pete Barnes (5-0). West is right-handed and Barnes is left-handed.

Vaughn, Rigelman Win Best Of Five Sets In Tennis Match

The tennis doubles for Spring Quarter had forty paired entries in the program. Represented were Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, Theta Chi, Phi Kappa Tau, Lambda Chi Alpha, and several independent teams.

The tournament was played in a period of thirteen days. Using the single elimination process and playing two out of three sets to obtain a pair of winners proved to be plenty of exercise for all concerned.

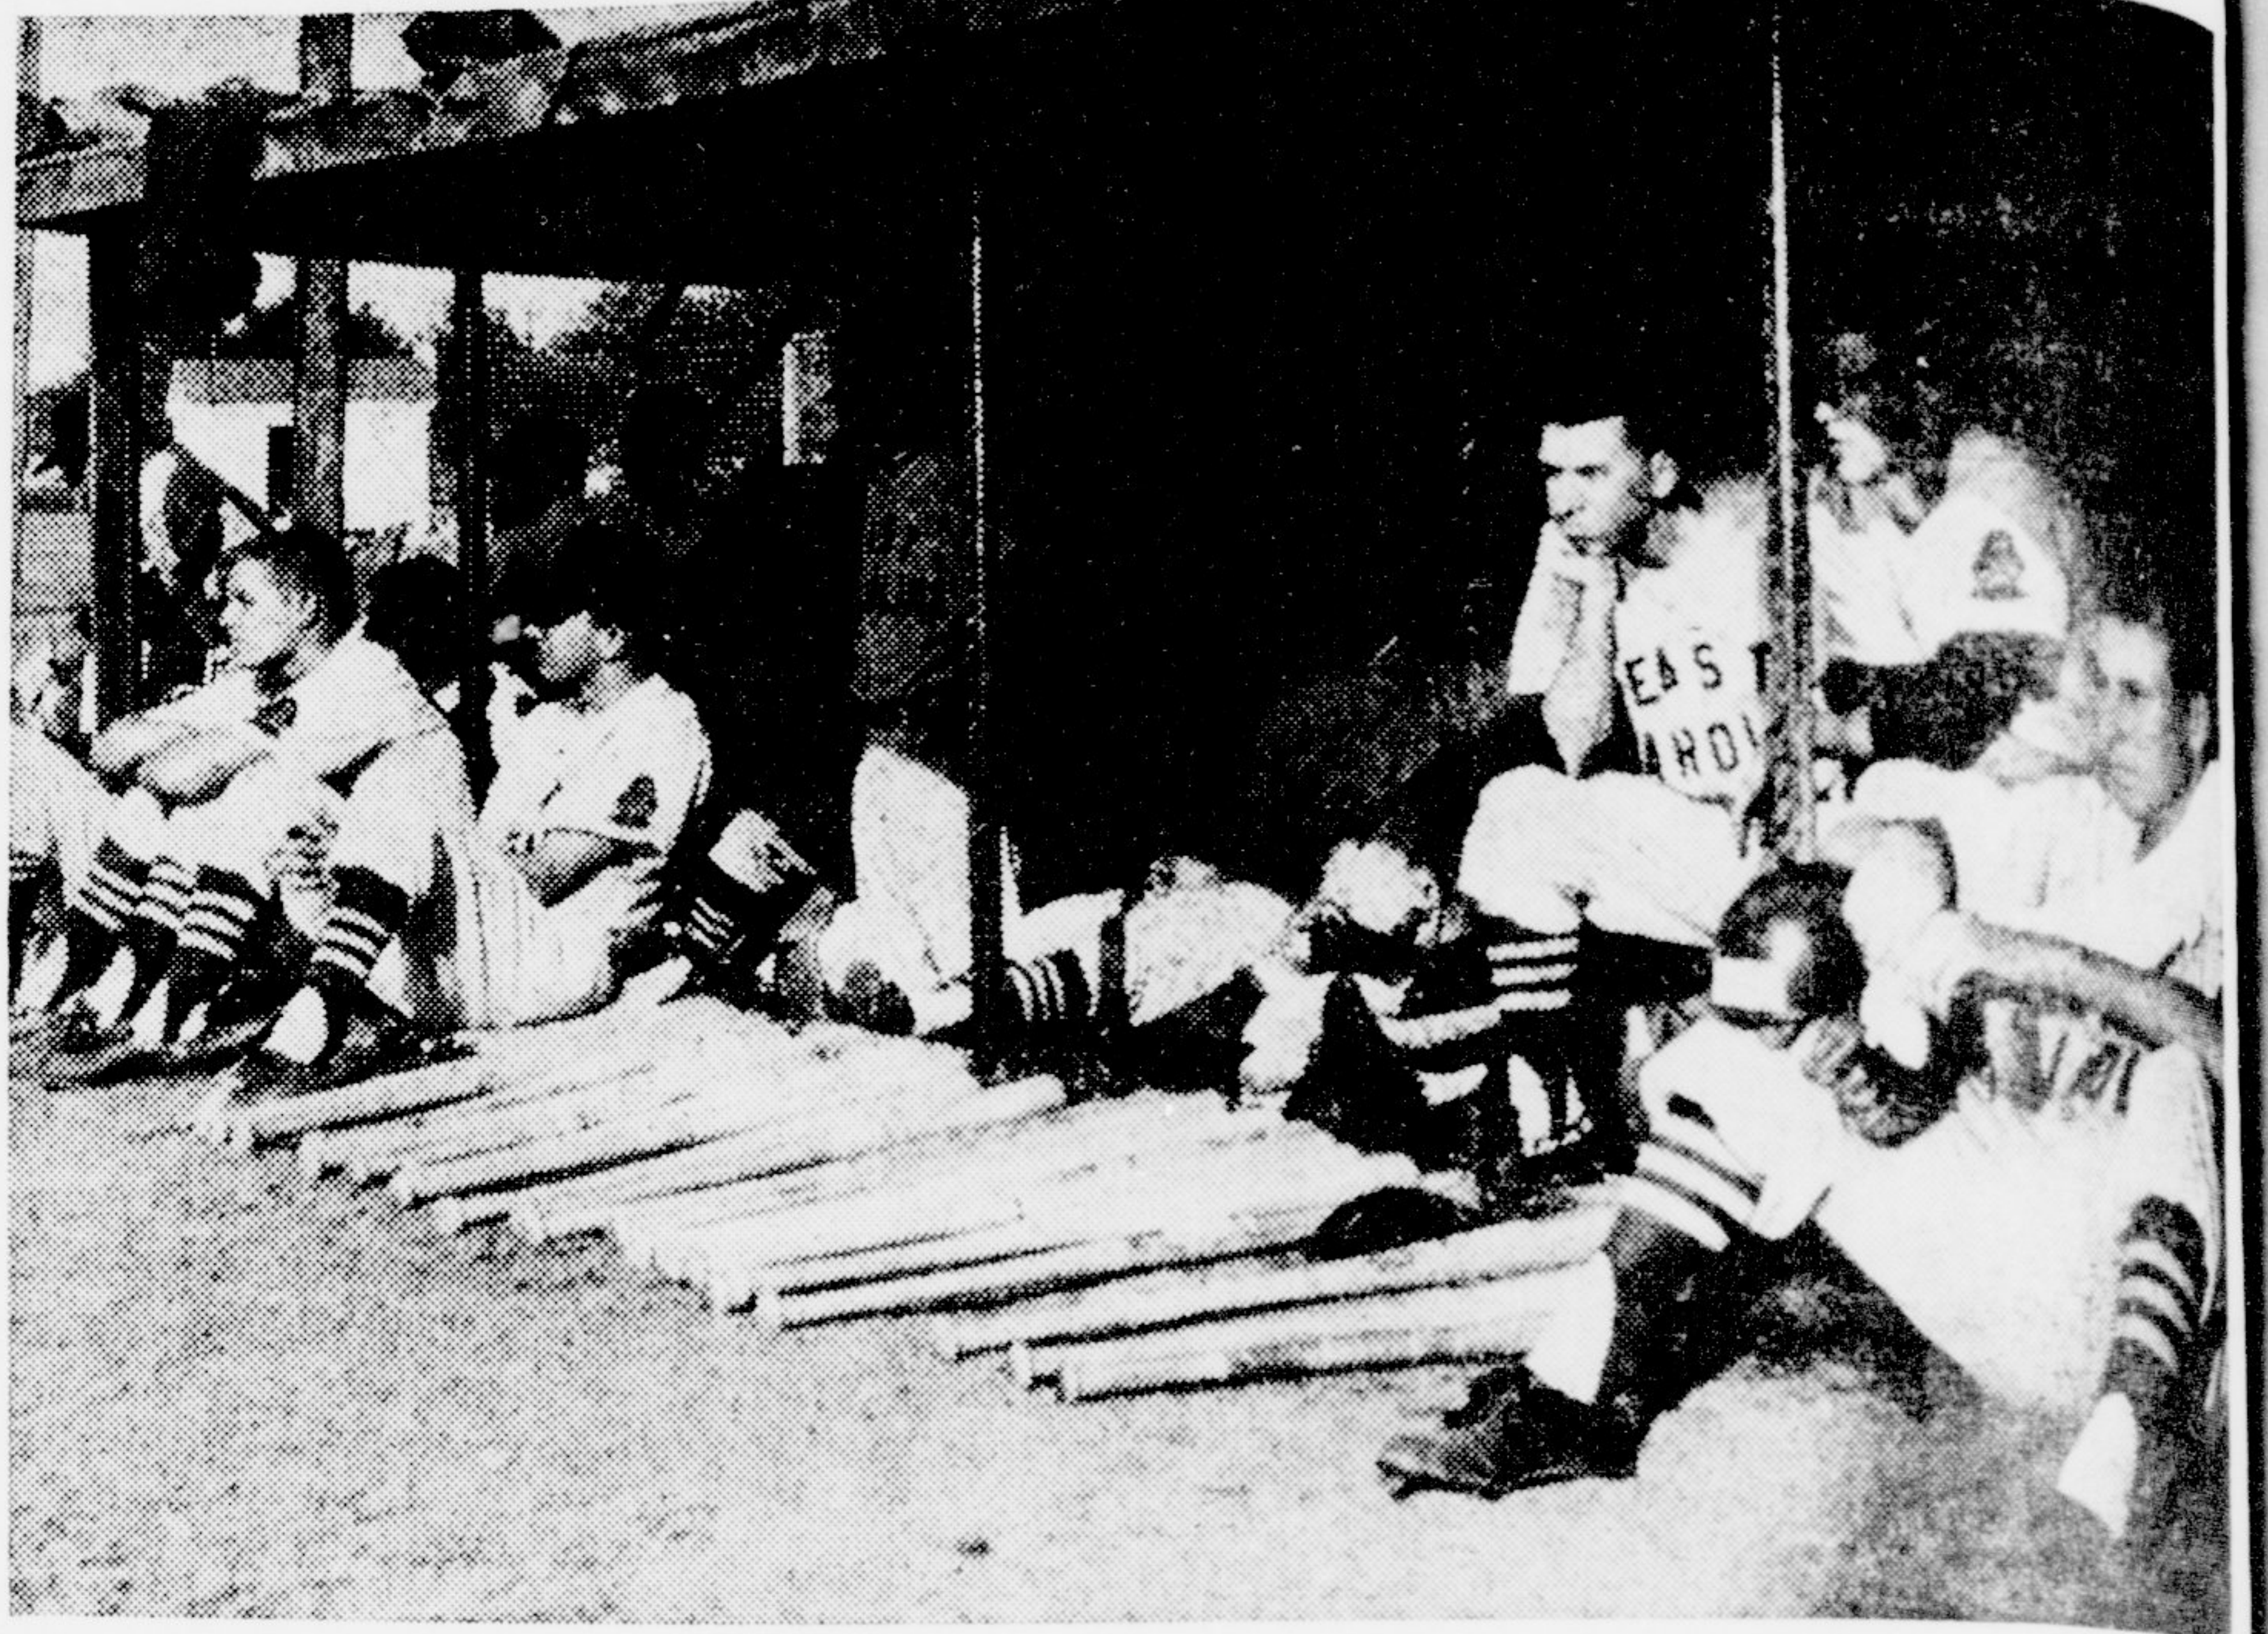

Cox and Taft of PiKA and Vaughn and Rigelman, an independent team, reached the finals. Vaughn and Rigelman won the tournament with the best three out of five sets.

Pirates Win

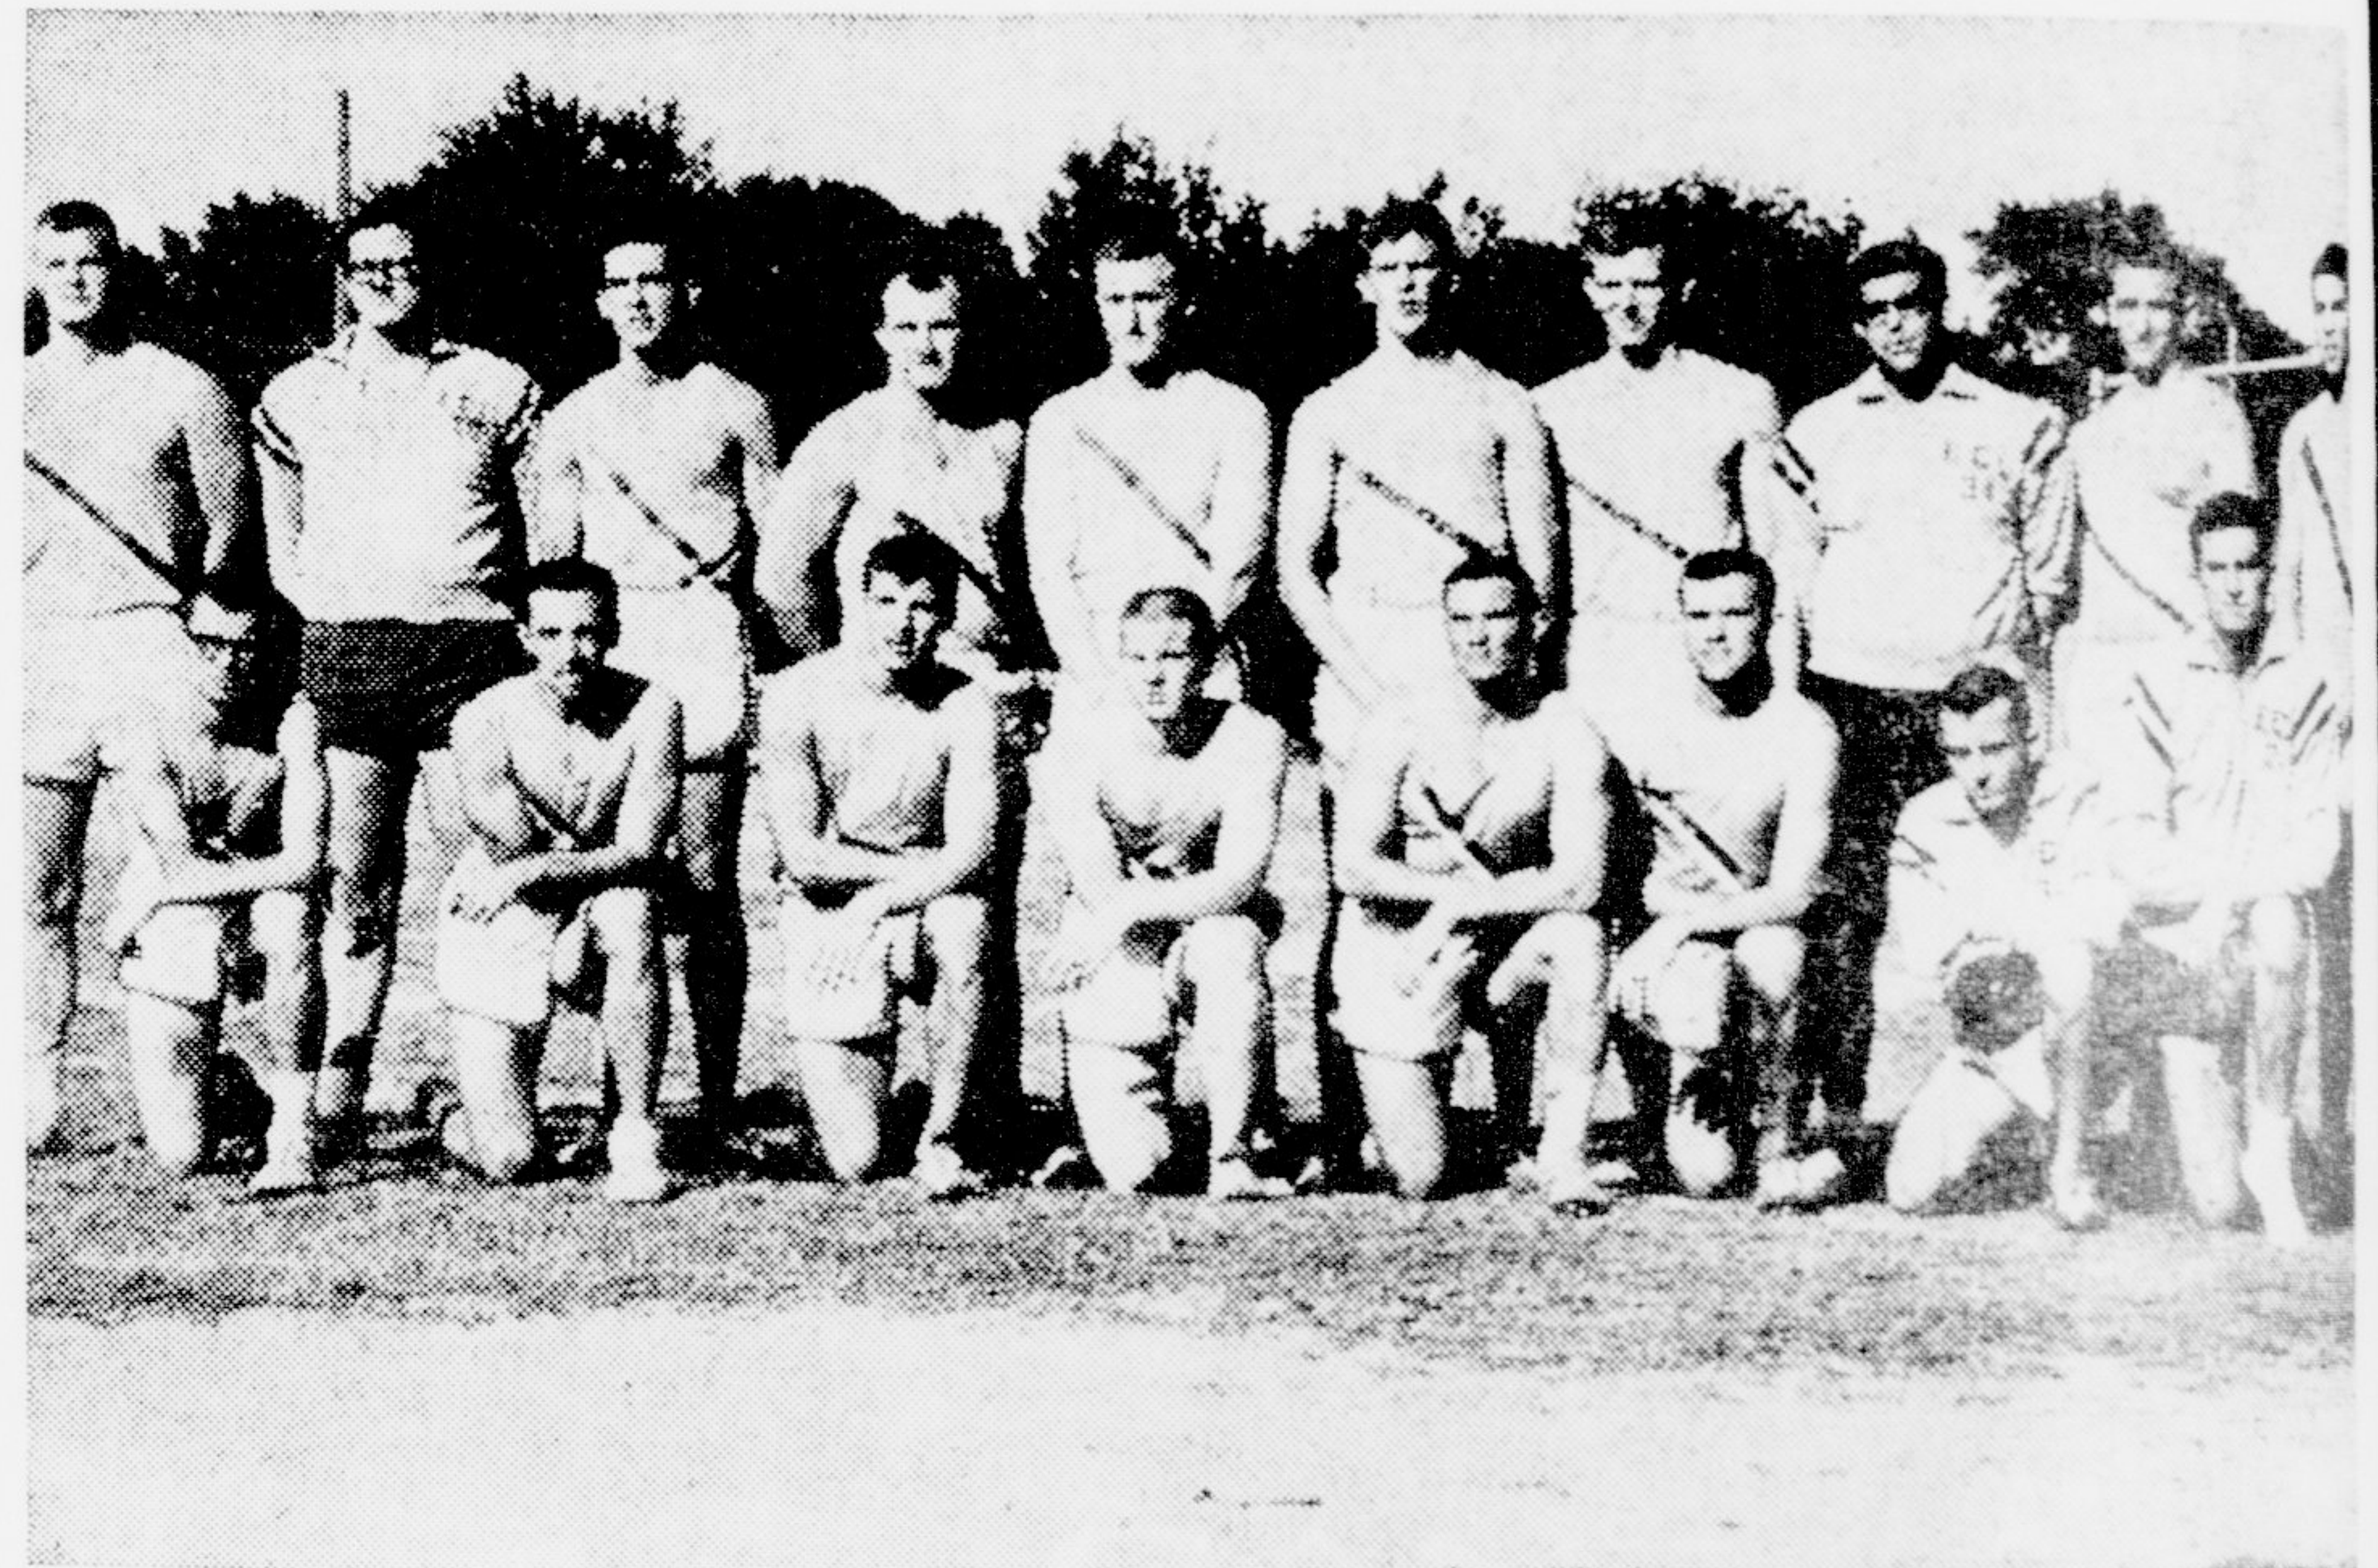

The Pirates won their first game in the Southeastern play-offs of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Baseball Tournament. After fourteen innings, ECC won, 1-0. Supporters may send telegrams to East Carolina Baseball Team, c/o Georgia Southern College, Statesboro, Georgia.

Oh No--What Next?

Here members of the '63 Pirate baseball team try to figure out what will happen next. West had just given up a one-hop home run and Pete Barnes (with face in chin) thinks, "I guess I will have to go so the umpire won't be able to call anymore like that one. Barnes went in two innings later, threw two pitches and won the ball game for the Pirates. The victory was the second in as many days over Pfeiffer College.

1963 Pirate Thinladders

Associated Press Predicts Pirates In NAIA Tourney

STATESBORO, GA. (AP)—East Carolina College of Greenville, North Carolina apparently will be in the favorite's role Thursday when the Area NAIA Baseball tournament opens here.

The Pirates, who won the small college championship in 1961, are given the nod on the basis of a well-rounded team with an 18-4 record and the pitching of Lacey West who has an 8 and 2 record this season.

The host Georgia Southern College team, last year's national champs, has a 19-11 won-loss record and coach J. I. Clements said they stand "a real good chance to repeat if we get good pitching."

But Clements said the pitching has been "a question mark all year—good at times, terrible at others."

The tournament will start at 9:30 a.m. Thursday with West Liberty State College of West Virginia meeting Troy State of Alabama. The second game, at 12:30 p.m. puts Carson-Newman of Tennessee against The East Carolina team and the first day's activity winds up with Georgia Southern taking on the winners of the first game. The event is a double elimination affair and the winner will represent The Southeast in the National tournament at St. Joseph's, Mo., June 3-8. Should rain interfere with the schedule, the tournament here will be reduced to single elimination.
