Board Elects Bowen, Willis

Tony R. Bowen

J. Alfred Willis

The Publications Board, at its meeting last week, elected Tony R. Bowen of Goldsboro and J. Alfred Willis of Gloucester editors of the EAST CAROLINIAN and REBEL, respectively.

Dr. James H. Tucker, chairman of the Publications Board, accepted applications for the posts. The applicants were then interviewed at the Board meeting and these two named to the editorships for the coming year.

Bowen, a sophomore, has served the college newspaper as reporter and business manager. He has held two posts, in addition, on all four campus publications. He has served as editor, and currently serves as co-editor, of THE KEY. For the past two years, he has worked on the BUCCANEER, first as copy editor and this year as managing editor. This quarter, he is on the REBEL staff in the post of business manager.

As editor of the REBEL, Willis will be charged with the editing of the campus literary magazine. A senior at the college, he has served the literary publication as associate editor for the past two years. He has, in addition, written several columns for the EAST CAROLINIAN. Other campus activities have benefited from his services. He was one of the organizers for the recent Contemporary Arts Festival.

Plans for the EAST CAROLINIAN for the coming year, according to its newly-elected editor, include concentration on the quality of the newswriting in the publication. Then, too, "We wish it to serve as a means of promoting school spirit as well as an organ of informing the students and faculty," said Bowen. The paper will see the restoration of a former column, the "Bramblebush," plus the initiation of another which will concern itself with presenting concise comments on world events.

Changes in make-up and format of the newspaper are also advocated by the editor. Bowen has announced that the first issue of the newspaper is scheduled to appear during Freshman Orientation.

The new editor of the REBEL, Willis, seeks to continue the award-winning standards of the literary magazine. Many plans are in the making for the REBEL. He seeks to "widen the scope of the publication for interviews and contributions outside the state." Now rated the best magazine of its kind in the South, the REBEL will probably, in five or ten years, become the East Carolina Quarterly, according to the new editor.

With the plans for the publication, Willis also wishes the annual literary contest sponsored by the magazine to be on a nation-wide basis next year. The first issue of the magazine is planned for the first week of October.

With posts of editor, Bowen and Willis will get seats on the Publications Board, the Dean's Advisory Council, and the Student Senate.

Math Professor Succeeds Carter As Director

Dr. J. O. Reynolds, professor of mathematics, has been appointed Director of Graduate Studies at the college and will begin his new duties September 1, President Leo W. Jenkins has announced.

In this position Dr. Reynolds succeeds Dr. Ed J. Carter, who has requested a change in assignment to return to full-time teaching as a professor in the School of Education, Dr. Jenkins said.

Dr. Reynolds has been a faculty member of the Department of Mathematics at EC since 1947. Before joining the college staff, he taught for ten years in high schools of North Carolina and served as a graduate assistant and part-time instructor at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

He is a graduate of Guilford College and received the M.A. and the Ph.D. degrees at the University of North Carolina.

Dr. Reynolds is a member of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, the National Education Association, and the N. C. Education Association. He is listed in the 1962 edition of Who's Who in the South and Southwest and in North Carolina Lives: Tar Heel Who's Who, 1963 edition.

Dr. Carter came to East Carolina in 1950 from Murray State College in Kentucky. He served first as a professor of education and later was appointed chairman of the Department of Education. For several years he headed the Bureau of Field Services at the college and since has been Director of Graduate Studies.

APO Presents Annual Gift To Charity

A gift of $250 from the Kappa Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, to the Pitt County Chapter of Crippled Children and Adults has been announced.

Bill Cannon, treasurer of APO fraternity, presented the check to Larry Averette, treasurer of the Pitt County Chapter. The gift is the fourth consecutive presentation from the fraternity to the Crippled Children and Adult Chapter and represents the funds from an annual benefit held by the fraternity solely for the purpose of aiding crippled and handicapped children.

Holleman Dies In Auto Accident

Larry Holleman, president of Sigma Phi Epsilon, was killed in an auto accident in Wake County, Saturday morning. He was killed when the car in which he was riding went out of control and overturned.

Another member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, William Steckel, suffered bruises and lacerations.

Both boys were thrown from the car when it went out of control and overturned on the Old Stage Road, south of Raleigh. The accident occurred about 1:40 a.m.

Holleman was a junior majoring in business. He had served as pledge trainer for his fraternity and was a member of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

HONOR COUNCIL

Yesterday evening the newly installed Student Senate voted on and unanimously passed an amendment to the SGA Constitution that changed the entire structure of the judicial system of East Carolina College. This amendment created Honor Councils and an Appeals Council as well as changed the names of our present Judiciaries and House Committee.

The Inter-Dormitory Court, the House Committee, the Men's Judiciary, and the Women's Judiciary all remained basically unchanged except for the alteration in name to Inter-Dormitory Court Council, the House Council, the Men's Judiciary Council and the Women's Judiciary Council, and the addition of two day students at large to the Men's and Women's Judiciary Councils. The latter two bodies also will elect their own officers from within their respective membership after almost a quarter's orientation. The students will elect the members, though.

Another portion of the amendment created an Honor Council for men, women, and one for situations involving both men and women. These bodies will replace the Discipline Committee as we know it now, or rather as we knew it previously. For the first time, an all-student judicial branch will have the power to suspend or expel. The Men's Honor Council and the Women's Honor Council will each consist of seven students elected by the student body (of the proper sex for the respective council), four of junior standing and three of senior standing. In addition an alternate for each Council of either junior or senior standing will be elected to serve in the absence of one of the members of either Council.

The Honor Councils will act on "cases referred to it by any member of the student body, staff, faculty, or administration" that involves student violation of the Honor Code ("Thou shalt not lie, cheat, or steal."). A Joint Honor Council to be elected by and from the membership of the Men's and Women's Honor Councils, was established to deal with violations involving both men and women students. The Honor Councils will also act on cases in which students are caught falsifying records, or otherwise caught in an act that might involve the suspension or expulsion of the student or students. With the creation of the Honor Councils students for the first time have the power to suspend or expel.

To clarify any chance of misunderstanding of East Carolina's unique version of the Honor Council, we would like to emphasize that at no place in the amendment is it understood that students are on their honor to report another student for violation of any rule. But, of course, they may. When, in a couple of years, it is felt that East Carolina is more nearly ready for an Honor System, an Honor System probably will be initiated (with the approval of the students, of course).

An Appeals Council was created by still another section of the amendment. This Council will be student controlled and be moderated by a student chairman. Serving on the Appeals Council will be four students, the SGA vice-president and three students elected by the Student Senate from a list of no less than eight students screened by the Executive Council of the SGA. Three faculty members will be appointed in staggered terms by the college President to serve on this body. These seven members will elect their own officers from within the membership with a student serving as chairman. The Appeals Council will act on cases appealed from the Judiciary Councils or the Honor Councils in the event that a student or students feel that they were unfairly convicted or unjustly sentenced.

Another feature of the amendment was the fact that it created positions of Attorney Generals. These attorney generals, who will be appointed by the respective Deans, will assist the dean in the investigation of the details of each case and will act as the prosecuting attorney on behalf of the administration during the trial. The Deans may appoint the individuals they wish to fill these positions, as well as the number that they feel may be necessary to handle the job effectively without the loss of too many quality points to anyone.

The rights of the students that appear before any branch of the Judicial system were enumerated in one section of the amendment. The right to face and question his accuser, the right of active or passive counsel, and the right to be assumed innocent until proven guilty are the salient points of this section.

Finally, there will be no duplication of positions filled by members on any level of the judicial system.

Many long hours and a wealth of tedious thought and effort have gone into the creation of the Honor Council. We challenge the students of the Honor Councils, as well as the students of East Carolina College, to strive to make it a success to prove that our school is growing in every way, including student maturity and the acceptance of student responsibility. —Summers

EL TORO

by

Ronald W. Gollobin

There have been several serious repercussions as a result of last Tuesday's "TORO." First of all, the 800 cases of A & P tuna have been removed from the shelves and replaced with cranberry sauce. Secondly, several people on the serving line with the nastier tempers have been taken off and given jobs as housemothers. The cashier who looks under pieces of bread for hidden bacon has been ordered to clean her nails. The head cook has been fired and replaced with a professional—ex-Sergeant Bill Botulism. Also since last Tuesday's "TORO," the auditors have found that the cafeteria is making more money than the bookstore. As a countermeasure, the bookstore is trying to negotiate a merger between the two. The loudspeaker announcements will be cut down to four repetitions per announcement. The infirmary reports that tomatine cases have dropped sharply since last week's article. Ramon and I do not really have first hand information of the cafeteria because we are not allowed in there anymore.

Educational note: William Golding's book, LORD OF THE FLIES, is not about the cafeteria.

Members of the Pi Kappa Teria fraternity will meet in the Tomaine Domain.

The newly elected President of the Student Council Association was being mocked the other night by an impudent senator. The President asked the Sergeant-At-Arms to make the senator quit mimicking him. The Sergeant-At-Arms promptly told the senator to quit acting like a fool.

Ramon is almost through with his book TWELVE STORIES THEY WOULDN'T LET ME DO IN THE EAST CAROLINIAN.

The President of the Day Students announced that the seasonal monsoons have filled the swimming holes in the Day Student Parking lot. The kiddie wading pools (for Freshmen) are also open.

The Secretary of Maintenance said last Thursday, "By 1984, we hope to have more employees than there are students."

The English department has been worried about the unusually large number of rats that have been steadily leaving Austin Hall. This may have the same significance as rats leaving a ship.

"A Quiet Contradiction" which appeared in the Fall issue of THE REBEL as a short story, and again in the Winter issue as a play, will appear in the Spring issue as an epic poem.

The thirty-five dollar prizes for poems, short stories and essays in the REBEL contest will be paid off in Confederate money. The editor's comment was, "After all, suh, the magazine is called the REBEL."

The free movie in Austin this weekend is, "Gene Autry and His Last Roll of Caps," (Repeat).

A number of students have been going to the downtown Post Office to buy stamps and to mail letters rather than going to the campus Post Office. One of the nursing students told Ramon the reason was that the barking and the vicious growling from behind the window scared her. Ramon told her that that was the reason they put bars on that window.

The President of the Student Council Association is leading the fight to keep Austin Hall out of the city's Slum Clearance Project.

The entertainment committee appropriated $18,635 to get Finister Finkwell and his Three Unknowns for Homecoming in the Fall.

The Psychology department announced that the national average I. Q. of college students is 115. They said that the average I. Q. at East Carolina is 105. The average faculty I. Q. has been estimated at 95. The average administration I. Q. estimate was lower, but our censorship code does not permit us to print the exact figure.

Authoritarianism

(AGP)—Fraternity leaders at Wayne State University, Detroit, Michigan, criticized as unfair a recent magazine article charging fraternity authoritarianism.

THE DAILY COLLEGIAN said the article in Look stated that "Fraternities must prove they belong on campus—or get off." The picture report focused on the life of a Phi Gamma Delta pledge at the University of Illinois.

Bernie LeMieux, president of Tau Kappa Epsilon at Wayne State, said that, unlike the pledge at Illinois, "We want our pledges to know us, and we want to get to know them."

Commented TKE Social Chairman Bob Diehl: "A gross generalization. They have based their report on one man in one chapter of one fraternity on one campus. Of course, fraternities on all campuses are undergoing a change, as is the entire educational process. I feel a well-rounded education needs outside activities."

"A pledge is in no position to judge the true aspects of fraternity life," said Tom Carter of Delta Chi fraternity. "The article is not valid in its criticism."

The Look report claimed that most fraternities are "citadels of snobism and racial bigotry."

"This is not so at Wayne," Carter said. "Here, everyone expresses himself as an individual and in a democratic manner. Usually, we pick the best route to travel."

Also commenting on the article was Director of Student Activities Dr. J. Don Marsh. "They've pulled out the old bromide that fraternity activity is incompatible with scholarship," he said. "The academic average of fraternity men at the University has always been above the all-male average."

Alumni

EC alumni are now voting by mail on officers of the Alumni Association and directors of eight districts of the organization who will hold office during 1963-1964.

Ballots carried in the May alumni bulletin will be received at the Alumni office on the campus through May 31. Installation of new officers and directors will take place at the spring business meeting of the association Saturday, June 8, during 1963 commencement weekend at the college.

Nominations were made by a committee of members of the Alumni Association; and, where nominees are unopposed, space is provided for write-in candidates.

George Willard, Jr., Superintendent of Willard City Schools, and Lester Ridenhour, Principal of the Turrentine Junior High School, Burlington, are candidates for the presidency of the Alumni Association.

Those nominated for other major offices are W. E. Sutton, Wilmington business man, and Mrs. Doris (Jacqueline Byrd) Roper of Rocky Mount, Vice President; and Mrs. Ruth Blanchard Garner of the Dean of Women's staff, Treasurer.

Candidates for positions as District Directors are Fred H. Martin, Asheville, District 1; Mrs. Leslie H. (Sylvia Greene) Chadwick, Winston-Salem, District 2; Edward H. Emory, Wadesboro, District 3; Mrs. Guy L. (Mattie Belle Stovall) Whitehurst, Oxford, District 5; William N. Howard, Greenville, District 7; Evan Griffin, Williamston, District 9; no nominees, District 11; and Robert A. Maness, Smyrna, Ga., and Edwin F. Harrison, Hampton, Va., District 13.

ROTC Cadets Receive Awards For Superior Work In 1962-63

Forty-two awards for superior achievements in EC's 600th Detachment of the AFROTC have been given to cadets in recognition of their work during the 1962-1963 academic year. Recipients of awards have been announced by Major Elebert L. Kidd, professor of Air Science.

Cadets honored, their awards, and their major qualifications for recognition are as follows:

Greek News

The "Brothers" and pledges of the Kappa Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity recently serenaded two girls who have been pinned by brothers. Libby Chandler, who was pinned by David Tucker, was serenaded at Jarvis Hall while Phelps was honored with song at Umstead Hall. Both coeds were presented roses by the chapter president, Richard Smith.

Marcus Cate was elected pledge president by the other members of the pledge class.

Alpha Xi Delta

Good weather and ample enthusiasm promoted a successful Alpha Xi Delta beach party the first weekend of May. The sorority enjoyed their stay at the Plyler Cottage at Morehead Beach, North Carolina, with Mr. and Mrs. Keith Kerr and family chaperoning. Pledges entertained the sisters with their talents during Fun Night. Sisters kept the pledges busy on a scavenger hunt Saturday afternoon. The trip was an annual function of the social program of Alpha Xi Delta.

Queen, Bunn Present Senior Music Recital

Sybil Evone Queen and Nettie Jean Bunn were presented by the School of Music in a joint senior song recital Monday, May 27, at 8:15 p.m. in Austin Auditorium. They are pupils of Mrs. Gladys White of the School of Music.

The program was presented as part of their work toward the completion of a B. S. degree in music.

Miss Queen opened the evening recital with Quilter's "Over the Mountains," Mozart's "Alleluja," and Gluck's "Divinites du Styx," and intensely dramatic performance.

Among Miss Bunn's selections were "The Watcher," by Dr. Gordon Johnson, faculty member in the School of Music; "Hallelujah," by Bach; "Vom Tode," by Beethoven; "Night Wind," by Farley; and "Res' My Shoes," by Wilson.

Miss Queen attended Gardner-Webb Jr. College, from 1958-1960. At EC, she is a member of the College Choir, Women's Glee Club, College Singers, and Choral Union. She has appeared in the 1962 Spring Musical "Guys and Dolls" and also in the "Messiah."

Burlington Mills Leaders Speak To Delta Sigs

John Morgan, vice president and chief of staff for the Pacific Division of Burlington Industries, discussed the rapid growth of the Burlington Mills before members of the international professional business fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi during a dinner meeting at Silo Restaurant last Tuesday. The Burlington Mill was founded in 1923, Mr. Morgan stated, and is the largest textile company in the world.

Comptroller of the Pacific Division of the Burlington Industries J. P. Pew related interesting facts to the group concerning the company. He also described the many job opportunities offered to college graduates.

Roger Nixon, president of the Delta Zeta Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, introduced the two speakers.

Buccaneer Honors Staff, Queen At Banquet

Members of the College yearbook staff and the reigning yearbook queen were feted at the annual Buccaneer Banquet, held last Wednesday at the Greenville Country Club.

Editor Walter C. Faulkner presided. Among those cited for outstanding contributions to the publication for the year were John W. Garriss, associate editor; Tony R. Bowen, managing editor; S. Gale Koonce, business manager; Eleanor Poole, copy editor; John MacDiarmid, sports editor; and Ronnie Neal and Ted Whitmyer, assistant business managers.

ROTC Initiates Successful First Annual Field Day

Approximately 200 AFROTC cadets, dates, and wives attended the First Annual Field day activities held last Friday on the drill field, next to the Rawl parking lot. A picnic and dance followed at Elm Street Park.

The field day activities, a traditional affair at most summer training units, but the first to be initiated by an AFROTC detachment, consisted of a relay race, sack race, potato race, and various other competitive games designed to invoke fun and frolic from all concerned. The various flights competed in the games. The winning flight is to be announced at the Awards Day ceremonies on May 23 and will receive an 18-inch engraved trophy.

The picnic at Elm Street Park consisted of refreshments prepared by the cadets. A local combo furnished music for the dance which followed on the park grounds. The entire field day program was planned by Cadets Col. Carroll Norwood and Major Edward L. Joyner.

Cathy Shesso, the reigning Buccaneer Queen, was introduced and presented with the traditional trophy as a souvenir of her year as "first lady of the yearbook." Miss Shesso was escorted by Tom Mallison, outgoing president of the Student Government Association.

Faulkner called to the attention of the approximately one hundred guests the meritorious work done by the yearbook faculty advisers. Dr. John Ellen and Miss Gwen Potter, both faculty members of the college, have served in these capacities for the past two years. Mrs. William Rackley, secretary in the School of Business, and Dr. James H. Tucker, Dean of Student Affairs, were thanked by the editor for their services this year.

Lee H. Blackwell of Goldsboro, representative of Taylor Publishing Company, spoke to the group on the forthcoming yearbook. He told them that "the staff has used to advantage the activity of the campus and the tradition found in the Austin tower." Mr. Blackwell informed his audience that the books were expected to arrive and be distributed by June 6.

MSC Honors 1963 Graduates With Banquet

Honoring 1963 EC graduating seniors who are members of the Wesley Foundation, organization for Methodist students, will be a banquet at the Methodist Student Center tomorrow night at 5:30 p.m.

Sam B. Underwood, Jr., attorney at law, and chairman of the Board of Trustees of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, will be the keynote speaker.

Interested students are cordially invited to attend the banquet and are requested to register at the Methodist Student Center prior to the banquet.

Ola Mae Bundy, newly installed vice president of the Wesley Foundation, is in charge of arrangements.

Pirates Win Tourney

West, Barnes, Smith Hurl Pirates On

The Pirates captured the Area 7 NAIA (Regional Baseball Crown) by defeating Georgia Southern, 3-2. The East Carolina ninemen won their first two games while they lost their third game.

The Pirates, 1961 NAIA champs, will move on to the national tournament at St. Josephs, Mo., beginning June 3. By defeating Georgia Southern the best of three games the Pirates also turned back the Carson-Newman Eagles. A rundown on the four games follows.

In the first game the Pirates squeaked by the Eagles from Carson-Newman College 1-0. The game lasted 14 innings and it was entirely a pitchers duel. Lacy West hurled the complete 14 innings for the Pirates allowing just six scattered hits, while walking five and striking out twelve. West won his ninth game of the season. The Carson-Newman hurler, Clyde Wright, also went the route for his team. In picking up his second loss of the season, Wright allowed eight Pirate hits. The winning run came when Wright weakened and right-fielder Merrill Bynum collected an infield single. He was sacrificed to second, and Wright then gave an intentional pass to Chuck Connors. All-State shortstop, Carlton Barnes, then doubled to left-field scoring Bynum.

EC lefthander, Pete Barnes, extended the Pirates defensive scoreless innings to 23 innings as he hurled the Pirates over Georgia Southern 3-0. Barnes, in picking up his fourth tournament victory, allowed just four hits in the nine inning game. Barnes struck out just three while going the route for the EC ninemen.

East Carolina scored single runs in the fifth, seventh, and eighth innings and collected 11 hits. The key blow of the game was Junior Green's triple to right center in the seventh inning. Carlton Barnes and Buddy Bovender each collected two hits, while Bovender had a double.

THE LAST PITCH of the Area 7 tourney was thrown by reliever Pete Barnes as he struck out the batter to win the tourney for the Pirates, 3-2. The arrow points to the ball after the batter tried in vain to drive across the winning run. Mike Smith hurled a 4-hitter in the first eight innings. All-State first baseman Tommy Kidd is shown in the background.

In the third game of tourney play for the favored East Carolina Pirates the defending NAIA champions, Georgia Southern, handed the Pirates their first setback in tourney competition, 11-4.

Pierce Blanchard scattered eight Pirate hits while Danny Herb and Royce Exley supplied the necessary hitting power to give Georgia Southern its victory in the first of two games they had to play on Saturday. Herb bounced a home run off the glove of Lacy West in the sixth to give the Georgians three runs. Herb batted in four runs and Exley's three singles accounted for three more.

The Pirates used four pitchers in a vain attempt to stop the Georgian team in their first victory over the favored Pirates.

In the deciding game, sophomore Mike Smith allowed just six hits in picking up the win. He was relieved by Pete Barnes with two men on base, one run across, two out and the score 3-2 in favor of the Pirates, in the ninth. Barnes again promptly put out the fire as he struck out the only batter he faced to end the tournament and to give the victory to the Pirates and Mike Smith.

The Pirates scored all three of their runs in the third. All-State shortstop Carlton Barnes said Bovender was hit by a pitch ball, and Green walked to bases. Bell was relieved by Meybohn who immediately West, forcing in the first run. Bovender sacrificed across the plater after which Bynum's scored Green.

The Pirates are now 3-1 in tourney play with an overall 7-1 record and the Area 7 Regional Champs.

Greensboro Paper Chooses West, Barnes, Kidd On Team

The EC Pirates helped to dominate the "63" All-State Baseball Team. The team was headed by ace hurler Lacy West, smooth-fielding Carlton Barnes, and long ball hitter Tommy Kidd. The selection was by the Greensboro Daily News All-State First Team.

West, the mainstay of the Pirates pitching staff, had a record of 8-2 for the season with a batting average of .320.

Barnes, the teams leading hitter in season play, batted .323 with three homers and 19 runs batted in.

Kidd blasted six home runs and drove in 25 runs for the "Pirates Powerhouse."

Wake Forest placed 4 players on the team while Pfeiffer placed three.

EC Aquanymphs Hold Annual Show

The EC Aquanymphs, composed of 35 coed swimmers, presented "Splashes of Broadway" Wednesday and Thursday nights at the college pool.

The Broadway rhythms featured songs from top musicals, among which were "The King and I," "Brigadoon," "West Side Story," "South Pacific," "New Moon," "Gypsy," "Annie Get Your Gun," "Oklahoma," and "My Fair Lady."

The annual watershow was produced by Miss Gay Hogan of the physical education department. Assisting her were Mrs. Sherri Smoot and Mrs. Patrick Gruke.

"The fifteen numbers were professionally done with skill and grace, making an enjoyable evening of entertainment," said one of the spectators.

SPORTS REVIEW

By RON DOWDY

The "Baseball School of the South" prevails again. To this statement we add our deepest congratulations to the "63" Pirate baseball team.

Coached by the strategy-minded Earl Smith, the Pirates have just proven victors in a four-game tournament in Statesboro, Georgia.

The Pirates will head for St. Josephs, Missouri later on this week. The National NAIA Tourney is scheduled to be held June 3-8 in St. Joe.

From the student body here at East Carolina there can be nothing but our sincerest appreciation for Coach Earl Smith. He has combined many years of learning and talent into our present EC baseball team. He has put together a group of boys who play as a "team," and he coaches them as if they were such. He has used his past experiences in different situations to improve the Pirates team.

The strategy Coach Smith uses is one which there can not be one question, except—how were you sure that that was the right move to make. To that question he would probably answer; "from past experience."

The main reason the EC baseball team has progressed at such a rapid pace is the fact that they have used team work. On every team some certain individuals stand out more than others; and to this we extend our congratulations to the trio of Pirates who made the All-State Baseball Team. They were Lacy West, Carlton Barnes, and Tommy Kidd. To mention why would be repetitious—so just check the statistics when they are published.
