

State Communist-Ban Law Arouses Storm Of Protests

On Tuesday, June 25, the North Carolina State Legislature passed a bill, House Bill 1365, prohibiting "known" Communists from speaking on the campuses of state-supported colleges and universities. The new law also bans persons who have pleaded the Fifth Amendment when questioned about Communist affiliation.

The reaction to the newly-enacted law was almost immediate. As the bill passed, two days prior to adjournment of the legislative session, many Senators were unaware of the business at hand. Senator Robert Humber of Pitt County stated that many of the senators were shocked not only by the bill but the manner in which it was passed. Senator Humber explained that a request for the suspension of the House rules was requested so that the bill could be considered immediately. The Senator explained that this procedure is used only for routine legislation as a rule. The anti-Red law should have been sent to a committee for study, he further pointed out. The bill was not studied, though, and in less than two hours from the time it was introduced in the House, it had passed both the House and the Senate.

Senate President Clarence Stone, a strong supporter of the bill, is said to have refused recognition of senators who wanted to discuss the bill. One report has it that the vote showed the aye's equalling the nay's, but Stone declared the bill passed.

The law was in the House for fifteen minutes and in the Senate for four minutes. While the measure was being introduced in the House, the President of the University of North Carolina, William Friday, was notified. President Friday then raced to Raleigh in an effort to head off the bill, but arrived too late.

After the bill was passed, State Attorney General Wade Bruton ruled it constitutional. "It involves a property right rather than the right of free speech," said Bruton, in affirmation.

Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, said he didn't often indulge in the "luxury of" (continued on page three)

NAPLES—President Kennedy ended his ten-day European tour Tuesday. The trip, designed to strengthen the Atlantic community, took the President to Bonn and the Berlin Wall, to his ancestral home in Ireland, to talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, and then to Italy where he was received at the Vatican by Pope Paul VI.

WASHINGTON—Two persons were arrested in New York and two in Washington by the FBI and charged with conspiracy to obtain military information for the Soviet Union. The arrests followed by one day an order by the State Department for a Soviet Embassy cultural attache in Washington to leave the United States for attempting to recruit a Russian-born U. S. Central Intelligence Agency employee as a spy.

KNIGHTDALE — A Norfolk-Southern freight train crashed through a burning trestle three miles east of Knightdale Tuesday, killing two men and critically injuring a young apprentice. Three diesel engines and nine cars piled into Marks Creek when the trestle gave way. The cause has not been determined, but it is suspected that lightning must have struck the trestle, setting it aflame during a storm Monday night.

Summer SGA Hears Motions, Grants Appropriations

Appropriations for Summer expenditures were the big items on the agenda at the first meeting of the Summer School Student Government Association. The meeting, Monday evening in Rawl Building, was presided over by newly-installed SGA President George Wightman.

SGA Treasurer Spencer Knight announced that Vice President and Business Manager F. D. Duncan of the College has approximated $19,000.00 as the amount available for Summer School disbursements. Since there is no method of exact determination of the number of students to be enrolled second session, only an estimate of funds is available.

Editor Tony R. Bowen of the EAST CAROLINIAN presented the newspaper budget request for the Summer terms. The request of $3,961.50 was to cover printing of twelve issues for the two sessions. The Senate allocated $3,686.50 of the request.

Doug Crumpler introduced a motion asking the Association for appropriation of $550.00 for a new set of drums to be used by the Marching Pirates. The motion was passed unanimously. He further asked that the proposed Entertainment Series budget be accepted. The proposed $3300 was accepted, following discussion on the planned artists. It was reported that a package deal had already been contracted. Included in that allocation is the "Three In Concert" who will appear here next Thursday. Plans are also being made for the Chad Mitchell Trio. Carol Daugherty moved that

Behr Attends YRC In San Francisco

Lawrence Behr, sophomore of Greenville, treasurer for the North Carolina Federation of Young Republicans College Council and 1st District Director for the Young Republicans Federation, attended the 13th Biennial Convention of the Young Republicans National Federation in San Francisco, California, Tuesday through Friday of last week.

Some 1,200 delegates and alternates from the 50 states and Puerto Rico registered for the four-day convention at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel there.

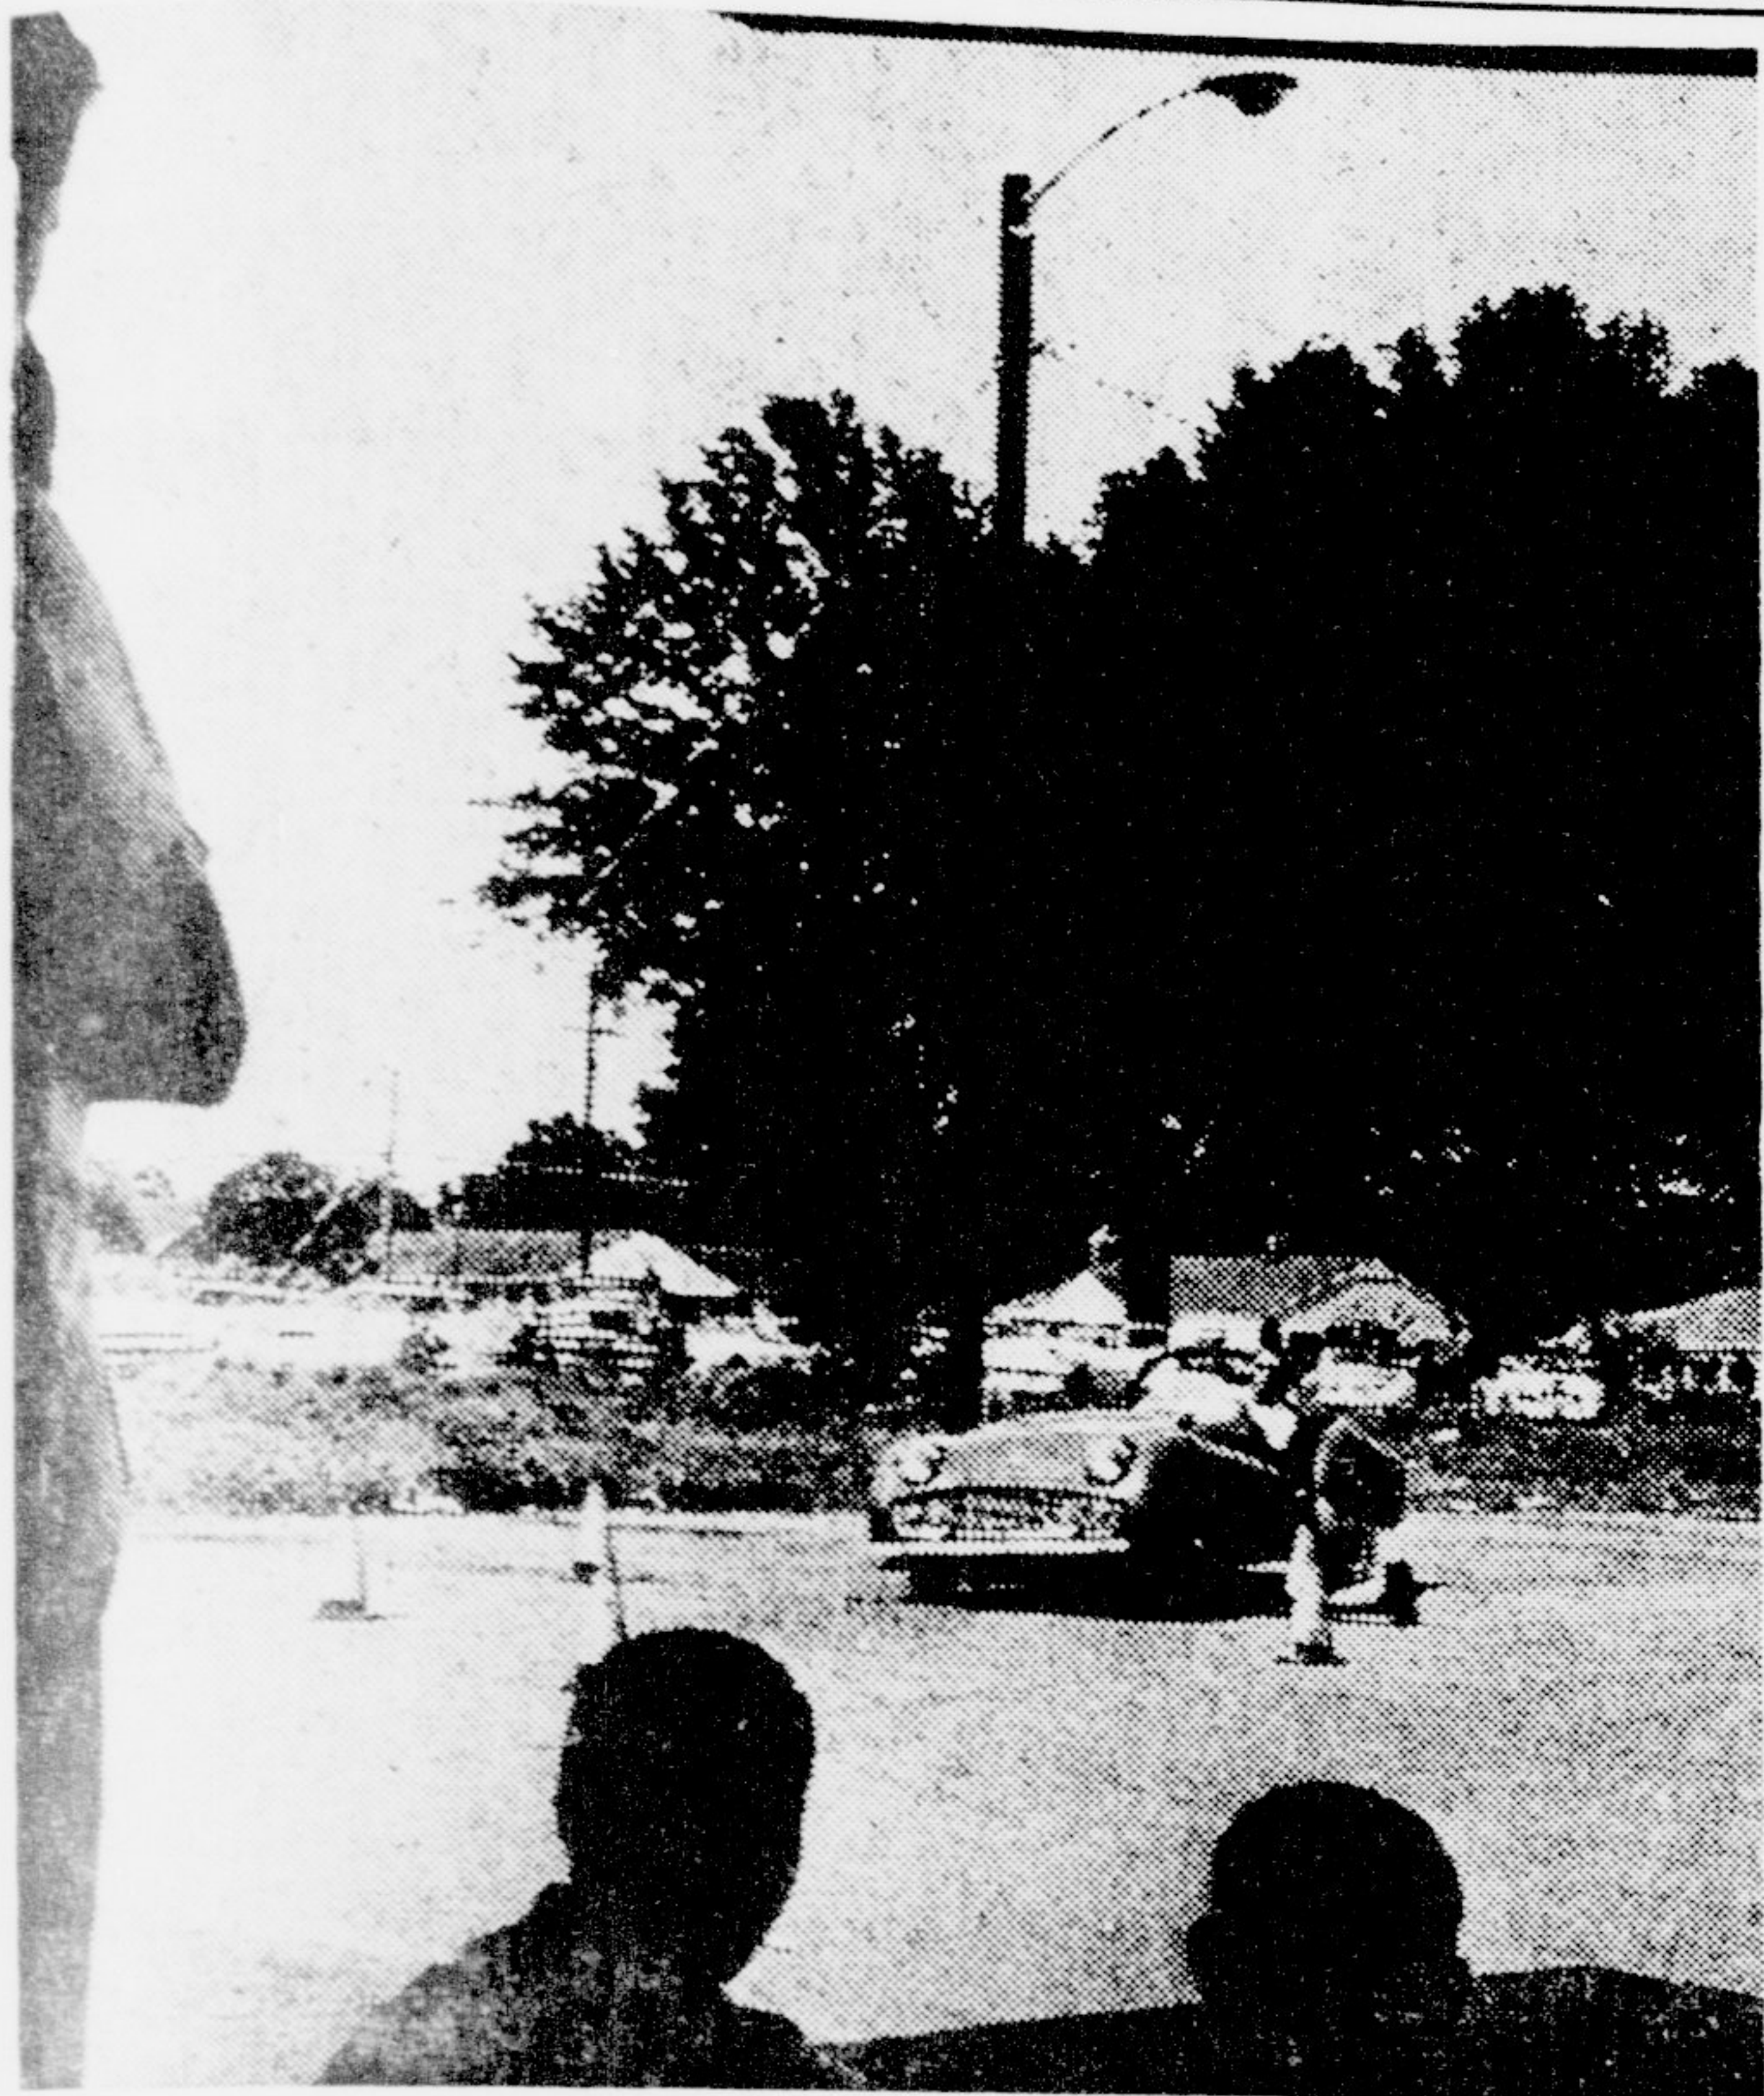

"The feeling among the delegates for Senator Barry Goldwater, prominent Arizona Republican for the presidential nomination, ran high," Behr stated, "as Goldwater spoke to a wildly enthusiastic rally of some four thousand Republicans. A poll, conducted by one of the major press services, showed Goldwater had a 74.3 per cent support for presidential nomination while Nelson Rockefeller of New York polled slightly more than 10 per cent."

Governor Mark Hatfield of Oregon, keynote speaker for the Wednesday general session, marked the first major event of the Convention, Tuesday, June 25. In addition, Senator Jack Miller of Iowa spoke at a special men's luncheon on Thursday, while women delegates attended a fashion show featuring the latest in San Francisco styles modeled by prominent Republican women.

Senate to be added to the $100.00 already in the budget of the group planning the Summer Program for Asian Studies. Passed unanimously the grant will be used to bring a group of Korean dancers to the College during the time of study.

Dean Rudolph Alexander explained the problems involved in distributing Identification Cards during Registration, following with a motion to appropriate $80.00 for persons issuing the cards. The motion was approved.

While discussing the Identification Cards, it was announced that a need for the formerly-used picture "ID's" was evident. With the proposed system, both a picture card and an IBM card, as now used, will be necessary. A committee is to be appointed to investigate.

Tri-State Auto Cross

A participant in the Tri-State Auto-Cross event held last Sunday, the driver of this sports car appears to be in winning form. Six states were represented in this event by thirty-six entries. The local Buccaneer Sports Car Club, the sponsoring organization, awarded twenty-eight trophies to the winners in the various classes. One minute, eight seconds was the fastest time recorded for the course.

Union Stages 'Fourth' Spectacular Tonight

Brilliant and colorful aerial displays of fireworks and a spirited program of music by East Carolina's 50-piece Summer Band, directed by Herbert L. Carter, will make the July Fourth celebration tonight one of the most spectacular to be staged locally.

The event, scheduled for 7:00 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium, is sponsored and financed by the College Union as a campus-community attraction. The public is invited to attend without charge. An estimated audience of 8,000 people is expected to be on hand to enjoy the celebration. All spectators are urged to sit in the concrete stand in the interest of safety.

Plans for the festivities have been in the making for several weeks by the College Union Student Band under the supervision of Miss Cynthia Mendenhall, director of CV activities.

The big show will open with a concert of marches, patriotic tunes, and light selections by the band. President Leo Jenkins, Col. Harry E. Bawerty, Greenville City manager, and George Wightman, President of the Summer School Student Government Association; will extend greetings to spectators.

Highlights of the evening will be a spectacular pyrotechnic display staged for the second year by Mr. E. E. Rawl, Jr., of Greenville. The display of fireworks will begin at 8:30, and continue for approximately 45 minutes. "Aerial displays," he stated, will be produced by shells fired by steel mortars from 3 to 6 inches in diameter. Approximately 300 of these shells have been purchased for the event; some of them weighing as much as eight pounds. After fired into the air, many of the shells will break into colored patterns as many as six times each. In all, the 300 shells will provide about 500 "breaks" during the evening.

"This means a colorful and sensational display," Mr. Rawl said.

"Fireworks of the best type have been bought for the show," he added. "Some of the shells cost as much as $18.00 a piece."

"The pyrotechnic display will, in general," he said, "be on the quiet side," but enough salutes will be used throughout the show to liveen it up with some big booms.

Finale for the show will be produced from 60 motors. When the fuse joining them is set off, the fired shells will break at one time into a great multi-colored cluster and will end the evening's celebration with a brilliantly eye-catching spectacle.

Refreshments will be available at a concession stand operated by the Student Supply Store.

Umpire Danny Bowen calls "baawwlllll" as pitcher Vince Eiduke of the Lambda Chi Alpha's goes a little wild on the pitch. Has Been batter Wallace Parker stands with bat poised to swat the ball, but decides not to try it. The Lambda Chi's won over the Has Beens, 8-7.

Intramural Softball Promises Sizzling Race For Lead Position

WHAP!—and the summer softball league got underway for a sizzling summer of dormitory, fraternity, and county team play. This afternoon at 4:30 four teams of college men gather on the softball field on College Hill Drive to participate in a modified version of America's favorite sport, baseball.

The league was designed primarily for giving the men students on campus, as well as in the county, a recreational opportunity to keep in shape, according to Mr. Buck Coker, Assistant Intramural Director.

Lambda Chi Alpha 8, Has Beens 7
Lambda Chi Alpha opened league play winning a squeaker over the Has Beens, 8-7. After a first-inning tie, the Has Beens led the game until the bottom of the sixth inning. The Greeks then picked up the two deciding runs to post the win for them. Both teams had big innings. Lambda Chi scoring four runs in the fourth inning, and the Has Beens tallying five in the second.

Pitcher Vince Eiduke was given the victory for the Lambda Chi's, while pitcher Pete Jones of the Has Beens was tagged with the loss.

Country Gents 10, Little Rebels 6
The Country Gents picked up their first win of the season in as many starts with a 10-6 shellacking of the Little Rebels.

Theta Chi 7, 500's 4
A five-run fourth inning was too much for the 500's as they succumbed 7-4 to Southall a blistering hurler for Theta Chi. The 500's led the ball game 3-2 at the bottom of the fourth inning, the Theta Chi's lashing out five runs to put the game in the bag. A small fifth-inning rally was not enough to overcome the 500's 4-run and the Theta Chi's walked away with their first victory of the year.

Lambda Chi 12, Little Rebels 1
Lambda Chi won their second game in as many starts with a 12-1 thrashing of the Little Rebels. Smith's sizzling pitching for the Little Rebels was not enough to slow down the Lambda Chi's as the Greeks took their biggest win of the year. Pitcher Vince Eiduke was credited the victory for Lambda Chi as Smith was tagged with the loss. The Rebs picked up their lone run in the first inning while the Greeks scored almost consistently throughout the game.

The Has Beens and Theta Chi both evened their records. Tuesday at 1-1, as the Has Beens crushed Theta Chi, 15-1. Has Beens pitcher Thacker took the victory as Theta Chi pitcher Hunt suffered the loss. The losers picked up their lone run in the fifth inning while Has Beens picked up their runs in the first, third, fourth, and fifth innings.

Rinks 9, Pika 5

An initial six-run inning was the key to the Rinks 9-5 win over Pi Kappa Alpha. Gilbert and Kimrey smacked home runs for "Pika", Kimrey's coming in the winner's big four-run fourth inning. Smith homered in the second inning for the winners second.

Bullard Assumes Coaching Position

Harold Bullard, a student assistant football coach last year at East Carolina, Friday, was named by head coach Clarence Stasavich as varsity end coach.

A native of Rockingham, Bullard completed work on his master's degree last spring.

Bullard was an outstanding fullback at Lenoir Rhyne under Stasavich from 1955 to 1958. He was elected first-team Little All-America. He was picked to two all-State College teams for two years.

After completing college, he was drafted by the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League, where he played briefly. He also played in the Canadian Football League.

Bullard was football coach at Genden Military Academy in South Carolina from 1958-1962.

He succeeds Ray Pennington, who resigned last spring.

Poll Reveals Pro's, Con's Of N C Legislative Action

By Tommy Stroud

On June 25, the North Carolina legislature approved a bill banning all known-Communist speakers from State-supported college campuses. Immediately following the passage of this bill, an avalanche of objection from newspapers and citizens throughout the state was heard in the Tar Heel capital. Since the passage of this bill affects our own campus, a sample poll was conducted in the CU Monday for the purpose of obtaining view points of the student body.

Fifty-nine students gave their views, and out of the fifty-nine, forty-one disapproved the legislative action, fifteen approved the action, and three believed Communists should be allowed to speak, but with limited freedom. The majority of those opposing the bill felt the bill to be undemocratic in nature because it infringed upon the right of freedom of speech. However, some other interesting opinions were brought to mind. D. D. Gross, director of religious activities on campus, stated that, "A free society cannot exist without men and women who can examine ideas critically and make decisions responsibly. It is the function of colleges and universities in a free society to do all they can to produce such men and women. When colleges and universities are frustrated in this primary responsibility then they cease to be educational institutions and become agencies of indoctrination. Such agencies would turn out graduates conditioned to indoctrination and therefore easy targets for further indoctrination, such as Communism. The ban therefore defeats its purpose."

Several students took the view that banning Communists from our campuses would put the American college student in the dark about the very thing that threatens our way of life the most. It was also felt that the main objective of attending college is to become aware of other ways of life. Then, too, students should be allowed to decide for themselves what is right as opposed to what is wrong. One student pointed out that in order to fight an idea or person, this idea or person must first be understood.

To pass a law such as this, is not fighting Communism, it is running from it.

On the affirmative side, some felt that college students are informed enough to know what Communism is and should have the right to ban them from our schools. It was feared that young students, especially freshmen, would be easily indoctrinated with Communist beliefs.

Those who offered limited speech as a possible solution suggested that Communists should be allowed to speak only for the purpose of helping students understand Communism.

U S Army Major Visits Campus

Major Doris Calcagni, a member of the Army Nurse Corps, visited the campus last Thursday afternoon. Miss Calcagni, originally from Worcester, Mass., and a graduate of Worcester School of Nursing, is now completing an assignment as Nurse Counselor at Fort McPherson, Georgia, only one of many places at which she has served.

During her visit here, Major Calcagni spoke to a group of student nurses on the benefits of becoming a commissioned officer in the Nurse Corps. Travel, educational benefits, and salary increases brought about by rapid changes in rank were mentioned as advantages of being in the Nurse Corps rather than working in a hometown hospital. Full 24-month scholarships to be used towards attaining a Bachelor's Degree in Nursing are available to graduate nurses and to student nurses who are either seniors in a diploma school or juniors in a 4-year school. Registered graduate nurses, who join the Nurse Corps within 30 months after completing Nursing school, are paid a monthly salary and the tuition needed to complete their B. S. Degree. Those who join after a 30-months period receive up to one year's full commission, but are not helped with tuition expenses.

To enter, a young nurse, male or female, must be single, although marriage after entering is permitted. Upon entering, he or she receives a rank of Second Lieutenant. A two-year program consisting of 3 years of active duty in the Corps is available. An excellent retirement plan, which can begin after 20 years of active duty, is also available in the Nurse Corps. At retirement there is a minimum rank of Major and a minimum salary of $315 per month for the rest of his or her life. In addition, members of the Nurse Corps are automatically members of Officers' Clubs throughout the nation.

"Capriccio" by Michael Ciry will also be performed by Tyson, accompanied by Bette Jo Gaskins at the piano. Miss Jernigan will play, among other selections, Mendelssohn's "Two Songs Without Words" and Dello Joio's "Prelude for a Young Musician." The program will be highlighted by their combined performance of the "Sonata for Alto Saxophone and Piano" by Paul Creston, contemporary American composer.

Mr. Tyson, from New Bern, is the first East Carolina music student to present a full program of saxophone works.

Anti-Red Law Brings Protests

profanity" but he called the anti-Red measure "a damned fool bill."

Major L. R. McLendon of Greensboro, chairman of the Board of Higher Education, said the bill was "rammed" through both houses of the General Assembly and was a real backward step in the progress of education in North Carolina.

President Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina stated, "We are not afraid of Russian missiles or military might, so why should we be afraid of the 'mouths?' The College president appeared deeply concerned in an interview with an EAST CAROLINIAN reporter. He has discussed and written about the bill to many Legislators in an effort to get the law repealed. Dr. Jenkins further stated, "We found that debate on comparative worth of democracy versus totalitarianism puts democracy in a very favorable light."

On the new law, Senator Humber, quoting Woodrow Wilson said, "It is the wrong way to do a right thing." Senator Humber endorsed President Jenkins' statement as being "the only rational approach to the permanent solution of this basic issue." When asked what effect the law would have on campuses, the Senator replied, "If an invitation is extended to a guest speaker along with a questionnaire of 'are you a Communist; do you believe in Communism?' such an inquiry becomes an affront to any patriotic and intelligent citizen."

Scholar, summed up the problem, stating, "This resolution was an unwise and ill-conceived measure. It originates from a wrong concept of government. The progress of mankind is based on freedom of investigation and research . . . Freedom does not need defense against malicious and unscrupulous offenders. It has enough stamina and vitality to defend its own virtue. It is the weak that needs defense . . . Freedom does not need censorship of false philosophies . . ."

When asked about the future of the bill, the Senator stated that it would probably be repealed in the next session. Only a simple majority vote would be required to defeat the measure and have it recalled. The Senator closed the interview by quoting Woodrow Wilson again, "The best way to deal with a fool is to hire a hall and to encourage him to discourse to the people."

In an interview with Dr. John Howell, Director of the College Political Science Department, Dr. Howell stated, "the law implies that the people in academic institutions would want to invite speakers who would present Communism in a favorable light. We don't." Dr. Howell is conducting a workshop this summer for the purpose of educating North Carolina public school teachers on Communism.

Similar bills of anti-Communist nature have been introduced, but defeated, in California, Ohio, and New York.
