

EC Trustees Present Resume Of Adoption At Fall Meeting

SGA President

Jim Mahan, President of the Student Government Association, has recently stated his reasons for backing the withdrawal of EC from the National Student Association.

President Mahan Emphatically Favors NSA Disaffiliation

Student Government President Jim Mahan came out Friday in support of the Legislature's move Monday night to disaffiliate with the National Student Association. He also stated that he felt that East Carolina should belong to a national organization but that "NSA isn't the one."

President Mahan has been studying EC's membership status for two years and as he says, "I personally do not feel that we have gained very much from NSA, nor do I feel that we are likely to in the future."

"NSA has become too politically oriented, too involved in controversial issues which do not affect the general body of students in any way."

Mr. Mahan then pointed out that NSA has only three hundred members out of a possible several thousand. "Their membership seems confined somewhat to small, religious girls schools and to large mid-western colleges and universities."

"Certainly I feel that we should be affiliated with some national student organization—I believe that this is very necessary. However, NSA isn't the one."

"We need an organization which will concern itself with student problems on campus, an organization which will help us solve these problems. We don't need NSA."

"We went to the convention this year with an open mind. We went with the idea of discovering whether or not NSA is for us. It isn't."

"NSA has moved too far away from its original purpose for us to continue our affiliation. So we must look for an organization which will."

East Carolina's trustees elected a new chairman, approved three new degrees, established the new School of Arts and Sciences and heard a series of regular reports in the board's regular fall meeting here Thursday.

State Sen. Robert Burren Morgan of Lillington, a member of the board since mid-1958, was the trustees' unanimous choice to succeed Henry Belk of Goldsboro as chairman. Morgan, who will mark his 39th birthday Monday, is the youngest chairman in the board's history and the first ECC graduate to serve as chairman of the trustees.

Annual reorganization of the board's officers was the first order of business Thursday, thus Morgan presided throughout most of the semi-annual session. Re-elected vice chairman was James Whitfield of Raleigh, also an ECC alumnus.

The three new degree programs approved by the board will become effective in September, 1965, pending approval by the State Board of Higher Education. They are: a master of arts in education in biology, a master of arts in biology and a bachelor of science in industrial technology. The latter is designed to produce supervisory personnel for industries.

In approving the School of Arts and Sciences, the trustees formally organized liberal arts and science programs into a broad division whose administrative director will be Dr. Robert W. Williams Jr., recently named assistant dean.

Routine reports included such topics as enrollment, finances and long-range planning. In response to the planning report, the trustees authorized the executive committee of the board to proceed with plans to employ a professional campus planner to devise an overall plan for physical development of the campus.

In addition to Morgan, Belk and Whitfield, trustees attending Thursday's meeting included Henry Oglesby of Washington, D. C., and Grifton; Fred F. Bahnsen Jr. of Winston-Salem; William A. Blount of Durham; Reginald F. McCoy of Lenoir County; Mrs. J. Russel Kirby of Wilson; David J. Whichard II of Greenville; and Irving E. Carlyle of Winston-Salem. Two board members, Harry Dalton of Charlotte and W. W. Taylor Jr., of Raleigh, were unavoidably detained and could not attend.

The new chairman is a 1947 graduate of East Carolina and a 1950 graduate of the Wake Forest College law school. One of two senators from the 12th District, he is a native of Harnett County and a naval veteran. Morgan was elected to the General Assembly as a senator for the 1955 session and has been re-elected every two years since.

He is a past president of ECC alumni and in 1955 received the "Alumnus-of-the-Year" award.

Non-Credit Classes Continue Education

East Carolina has announced its first non-credit classes as the first step toward a possible full program of continuing adult education to be offered through its Extension Division.

An announcement from Dr. David J. Middleton, division director, said registration for the first three classes will begin immediately. He described the non-credit program as another attempt by the Extension Division "to offer the resources of the college to the general public."

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of the college, said of the non-credit program's beginning:

"We have got to extend this activity throughout Eastern North Carolina for there are many people who are desirous of upgrading their positions and their own personal lives. We have a definite obligation to do all we can to satisfy that desire."

He added a prediction that the non-credit program will expand rapidly "when more people become acquainted with it."

The three courses, to be offered through the new Undergraduate Evening College (UEC) of the Extension Division, will begin early next month. They are: (1) a course in small business management, (2) a refresher course in Gregg shorthand and (3) a poetry workshop.

All three are scheduled in two-hour evening sessions in regular campus classrooms. Through special arrangements the instructors will be borrowed from the regular East Carolina faculty.

Dr. Middleton listed this schedule for registration: 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in the offices of the Extension Division (2 Rawl Annex) beginning Friday, Sept. 25. Registration for the poetry workshop and the business management course will close at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 6.

The business management course will begin a series of eight 7 p.m. sessions on Thursday, Oct. 8. The tuition fee will be $14 per person. The poetry workshop, also carrying a $14 enrollment fee, will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. for eight consecutive Tuesdays beginning Oct. 6.

A non-credit refresher course in Gregg shorthand is scheduled to begin next week in the new Undergraduate Evening College (UEC) operated by the East Carolina College Extension Division.

The course, whose tuition is $18, is designed for those who have been accomplished in shorthand to the extent of handling dictation at the rate of 100 word per minute or more but who now need review of shorthand principles to regain proficiency.

It will begin on Tuesday evening, Oct. 13, at 7 o'clock and will continue for 10 two-hour sessions on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

EC Begins Debate Team For College Competition

East Carolina announced today it is establishing a debate team and is planning intercollegiate competition in at least four tournaments this school year.

To be sponsored by the department of drama and speech, the team will be coached by Albert Pertalion, a member of the department's faculty. It is viewed by officials of the college as another appropriate addition in the continuing development of the liberal arts program at ECC.

Of the team's establishment, Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, ECC president, said:

"This activity is a great asset to a growing college, particularly a college interested in liberal arts. I see no reason why our team, once it gets organized, should not challenge any college in the nation. I have confidence that these students will bring much credit to our college and to our state."

To date, the new team is scheduled to participate in four tournaments: three to be held at the University of Alabama, Lenoir Rhyne College in Hickory, Hampton Institute in Hampton, Va.; and the Southern Regional Debates at a Southern University to be selected and announced at a later date.

Pertalion, a former varsity debater at Louisiana State University and at Southeastern Louisiana College, Hammond, La., is spearheading the organizational effort. He said the nucleus of the first-year team will come from his oral argumentation class roll; but he noted that the activity is open to the student body generally.

Debating is considered an extracurricular activity as are most other forms of intercollegiate competition. Squads consist of four members backed up by alternate debaters. Winners are determined by observing judges and intercollegiate debates are usually open to the interested public.

Pertalion said he has been encouraged by early developments in the team's establishment. He noted that, while upperclassmen as well as freshmen will comprise the team, the first-year group will be considered a freshman team for competitive purposes.

The East Carolina squad, as other collegiate debaters throughout the United States, will argue the standardized topic for the 1964-65 season: a resolution that the United States should launch a federally-sponsored work program.

The organizer and coach of the team joined the ECC faculty in September of 1963 after serving on the faculty of his undergraduate alma mater, Southeastern Louisiana College (AB). He also holds the master's degree, from Louisiana State University.

Directors Hold Workshop At East Carolina College

Directors of children's choirs from churches in Eastern North Carolina and as far west as Burlington will participate here next week in a church music workshop at East Carolina.

The one-day workshop, second of a kind to be presented at East Carolina, will also have as participants two youngsters from each of the choirs.

It is sponsored by the School of Music and is scheduled Saturday, Oct. 10; no registration fee will be charged.

Directors of the event are Dr. Carl T. Hjortsvang, associate professor in the School of Music here and an authority on choir music; Mrs. Ingeborg Jarratt, also of the School of Music faculty; Don Hinshaw, minister of music at the First Baptist Church in Wilson; Margaret (Peggy) Hoffman, organist at the United Church in Raleigh; and Roger Searles, minister of music at the St. Paul Methodist Church in Goldsboro.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the David J. Whichard Music Hall on the college campus.

Morning and afternoon sessions will include introductory talks on sources of help for directors, discussions on literature for children's choirs, demonstration rehearsals of children's choirs and a five-member panel discussion on children's choir problems.

According to Hjortsvang, directors planning to bring children should notify him in advance. "This will help to make certain that there is sufficient music and materials ready," he said.

Three other workshops scheduled during the 1964-65 school year by the School of Music include: organists, Nov. 7; choir directors, Jan. 9; and the Children's Choir Festival, May 8.

Frosh Elections Begin Wednesday

The twice-weekly meetings will consider topics including: proportion drill, brief forms and phrases, reading and self dictation, joined and disjoined word beginnings and endings and omission of vowels.

A member of the regular School of Business faculty at ECC who is presently on a year's leave of absence, Mrs. Christine Myers of Greenville, will be the instructor.

Registration for the course is currently in progress and will continue through 5 p.m. Oct. 13, the beginning date for the course. Interested persons may register by visiting the Extension Division offices in Rawl Annex on the ECC campus between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

With the addition of the non-credit courses, the Extension Division broadens the scope of its UEC program which opened for the first time this month with an enrollment of 175. Those students are seeking college credit which may be considered for application toward a regular college degree.

In the non-credit program, there will be no examinations, no grading and no recorded credit.

Frosh Elections Begin Wednesday

General elections will be held Wednesday, October 7 between 9:00 and 4:00. Vacancies to be filled are all Freshman officers, sophomore male and female senators, Jr. Class President, Women's day student vice-president and treasurer, Sr. class male senator and 2 day student representatives, and SGA Treasurer.

Each dorm will have a ballot box. Ballot boxes will also be set up on the mall and CU for day students.

There was no applicant for Freshman Treasurer. This position will be filled by write in. The procedure for write in is: write person's name and place an X by the name. If the name is misspelled or not checked the vote will not be counted. Any other position may have write in votes but must follow the write-in procedure.

All winners will be determined by 50% plus one of the votes except in the case of Day Student representatives where the top 2 will be declared winners.

No one filed for Jr. class male senator, this will also be determined by write-in.

Notice

The student with the most original and attractive handmade sign in Raleigh at the Presidential Rally will be given personal invitation to attend the Inauguration.

Letters To The Editor

'Service'

It isn't an easy job being editor of this paper. If we attempt humor, we're in poor taste; if we attempt serious factual reporting, we're lacking interest.

It takes a lot of time and some would call dedication. We prefer the word fascination. For the paper is just that—fascinating. And it takes just that to cause staff members to work 18 or 20 hours a day. This time, naturally enough, includes classes.

For less than a nickel you gain something which we would hope tells you of campus events, past, present, and future; something which would keep you up to date on the people and places around here.

We strive here for honesty in coverage. We want non-partisanship and fairness. We even hope occasionally of bringing about an effective change. We bare our thoughts to anyone who would read.

Our goals are many and varied. But mostly we strive to bring about a more effective and interested student body. We wish to see the death of any system which entails a "we-they" outlook. For above all, we want all college-concerned people to realize that there is no "they." It is our college and there exists no one called "they" anywhere at this college. There is no single part of the college which could be eliminated. The students, the staff, the faculty, and the administration—all serve a necessary function. All are part of "our" college.

This is our major goal, then, the realization that all people here at East Carolina are just that—people. They have human problems and feelings.

There is no reason that there should not be close ties between all groups here.

We inform. We try to influence. This is our purpose and function as a newspaper. So watch. Help us. Valuable critical views we want and need. Tell us what you want in a newspaper. That's what we want to give you.

This is our policy. Service. Honesty, and Information. These are our goals.

We can't reach them alone.

Dear Editor:

Your editorial SO DRINK UP is disgusting, nauseating, and does not show good moral sense. Whom are you trying to impress with such writing? As a leader, and I do assume you have some leading qualities, you should make every effort to lift up the morals on the Campus of East Carolina College, instead of causing them to go lower.

Your observations around you will point up the evils of the use of alcohol. So why promote it? I will say look at the bums in your family, or any family, and they will be the ones, who have been taken over by the use of alcohol. I know it is true in my family. What assurance do you have that you will not become such a bum? You know, and I know, a person becomes an alcoholic by starting out with his first drink.

Would it not be just as sensible for you to suggest to your fellow students to take a Six-Shooter and play Russian-Roulette, it would kill them a little more quickly and not cause the sickness and the heart aches for all concerned, that alcohol would?

Alcoholism alone, with its five million victims has become the nation's third largest health problem. The use of alcohol causes men to harm their neighbors, both by deed and by example. It is my opinion that over 80% of the discipline problems on the East Carolina Campus are caused by the use of alcohol. So why look at it so lightly? It is time for the leaders on the Campus, and the College Administration in particular, to take a positive stand against the usage of such disease causing beverage.

YOU ARE YOUR BROTHERS

KEEPER. Promote the good and decent things in the College paper. Be a leader in the community.
Sincerely,
Frank Stenbeck

To the Editor:
The challenge has been made!! The only question now is whether or not the young socialists (Democrats) can defend their unrealistic vision of "A New Society."

After the free world has been blackened by our losses in Cuba, Laos, Viet Nam, Cambodia, Indonesia, and Algeria, Lyndon Johnson still grasps hands with Hubert Horatio Humphrey and shouts, "Let Us Continue."

What kind of "New Society" does President Johnson have in mind? In his acceptance speech at Atlantic City he did not mention the most important word in the world today—freedom. Also no mention was made of the force which has no room for freedom—communism.

I do not think such nonsense can be defended. I repeat, the challenge has been made.

Sincerely yours,
Charles M. Oldham Jr.

To the Editor:
In the past I have made it my place not to complain, but after reading the letter in the Sept. 29th issue about the "Cut System" I decided to add my opinion to Miss Carter's.

The system now in use definitely has its disadvantages, as the previous letter stated, of course it may have some advantages too but right now that is not the question. The question is, are the students of East Carolina College adults or children?

It seems to me that when a student enters college they do so for more than the purpose of gaining higher education. It was my opinion that college was also posed to produce responsible men and women.

The system now in use is not a thing new or different. It is found in any elementary or high school. When a student sets up college, he or she is supposed to leave their mother at home and under this system the students of East Carolina have acquired another in the form of the administration.

This system is ridiculous and I know of no other major university or college that uses places East Carolina back to high school level not the level.

This is a time when East Carolina is trying to build a great one that will compare to any college in the nation. But we are building this image by restricting it with a rule that other college has long since grown.

I do not think the majority student body was in favor of regulation (with the exception of juniors and seniors) and I know how it ever made a point of what is supposed to be "growing college."

Yours truly,
Vince Nelson

To The Editor:
Just a note to remind you of the parking lot located on the across from the Junior Hall. It is much easier to park in the walk to the dorm than to get other drivers as you get their dates in on the other dorms. The approach are not nearly as bright as when you are parked in the dorms!! And it relieves congestion, too.

Doubtful Future Should Barry

Foolin' Around With Fris Activities For Students

By FRISBY HENDRICKS

PITT COUNTY FAIR

Last week we saw the epitome of apathy. On Wednesday, September 30, a Sophomore Class meeting was called. The meeting was highly publicized with the officers of the class putting in time to make known the date of the meeting.

Three of our staff are sophomores and with a self-righteous attitude, we went to Wright Auditorium to attend the meeting.

On entering, we found that exactly 20 students, including officers, were there. We are tired of waiting and complaining about the apathy in students, and so we are just going to accept it, which is an unhappy state for 19-year-olds.

Psychologists and sociologists can explain, along with us why the student does not care. So we simply ask the 100 students and faculty members who do care, to continue to attempt to make this school a good liberal arts school, but forget trying to make EC a GREAT liberal arts college.

LECTURE SERIES

This week our lecture series along with other guest speakers have the spotlight on them. Today, Dr. Proctor, Associate Director of the Peace Corps, will speak at Austin at 10:00 a.m.

On the 10th, Senator Strom Thurmond will speak at the Memorial Gymnasium at 8:00 p.m.

Rory Calhoun will meet informally with the students, at North Cafeteria at 5:15-6:00 p.m. Sunday. After his speech at 7:30 in Austin, there will be an informal reception in the Buccaneer Room.

Drew Pearson, noted columnist, will speak at 8:00 p.m. on Monday, October 12, in the gymnasium. Four distinct personalities, definitely conflicting—the week should prove very interesting. Two strongly conservative men and two strongly liberal men, all devoted to each of their causes. On each of these lectures there should be standing room only.

UPTOWN ENTERTAINMENT

The movies uptown are numerous, and we sadly report, second-rate. However, there are two exceptions—"It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" at the Pitt and "The Fall of the Roman Empire" at the State. Neither of these two performances are "spectaculars," but both are entertaining. Both are filled with name stars, but we were not given the impression that they were at their best. If our readers do decide to see the movies uptown, we suggest these two.

Calhoun Politics At East Carolina

Rory Calhoun will visit the East Carolina campus on Sunday, October 11. The motion-picture star will be in North Cafeteria from 5:15 until 6:00 where he will talk informally with students.

He will then go to Austin where he will speak formally beginning at 7:30. Students, faculty and general public are invited to attend the talk.

He will speak in support of the Republican candidate for president, Senator Barry Goldwater.

Mr. Calhoun will be introduced by members of the Students for Goldwater organization which is made up of YR's and desistant Young Democrats.

After the speech there will be a reception in the Buccaneer Room. The speech is free and is sponsored by the Students for Goldwater.

CHI BETA PHI

Chi Beta Phi scientific fraternity will meet Thursday night at 7:00, October 1 in Flanagan 317. All members are urged to attend.

Five Campus Fraternities Operate Under New Rules

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (CPS) — The five campus fraternities of American International College (AIC) are operating under a new set of rules that severely curtail their social functions.

Under a set of guides handed the fraternities by the AIC administration, the fraternities may hold no open mixers, hold only seven social functions each semester, admit neither freshmen men nor freshmen women to their houses, and may not serve alcoholic beverages to anyone in the house.

The new rules were an administration reaction to several parties held at fraternities over the summer during which neighbors of the houses called Springfield police to quell disturbances. The parties themselves violated AIC rules which prohibit summer fraternity social events.

The five fraternities on the campus are Phi Sigma Kappa, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Tau Epsilon Phi, all nationally affiliated; Alpha Sigma Delta, and Zeta Chi, both local groups.

The fraternities at the College had been holding "open mixers" every Friday evening and "they had been getting out of hand," according to one observer. It was to curtail these parties that the social events of the fraternities were limited to seven parties—stag or mixed—each semester.

Under the new rulings, guards and college officials may enter fraternities at any time to make sure rules are not being violated. Harry J. Cournotes, vice-president of the College, explained that "it would be better for campus cops to enter the fraternity houses rather than Springfield police."

It was reported that the local police are prepared to raid the houses if more disturbances take place.

"The fraternities are currently in a bad state of public relations, and the rules are an attempt to bring them back to a status of repute," Cournotes said.

"I have faith in the student body," he continued, "and I believe that fraternities should exist, if they discipline themselves, and I think that the behavior that led to the very bad public relations was due to the fraternities themselves."

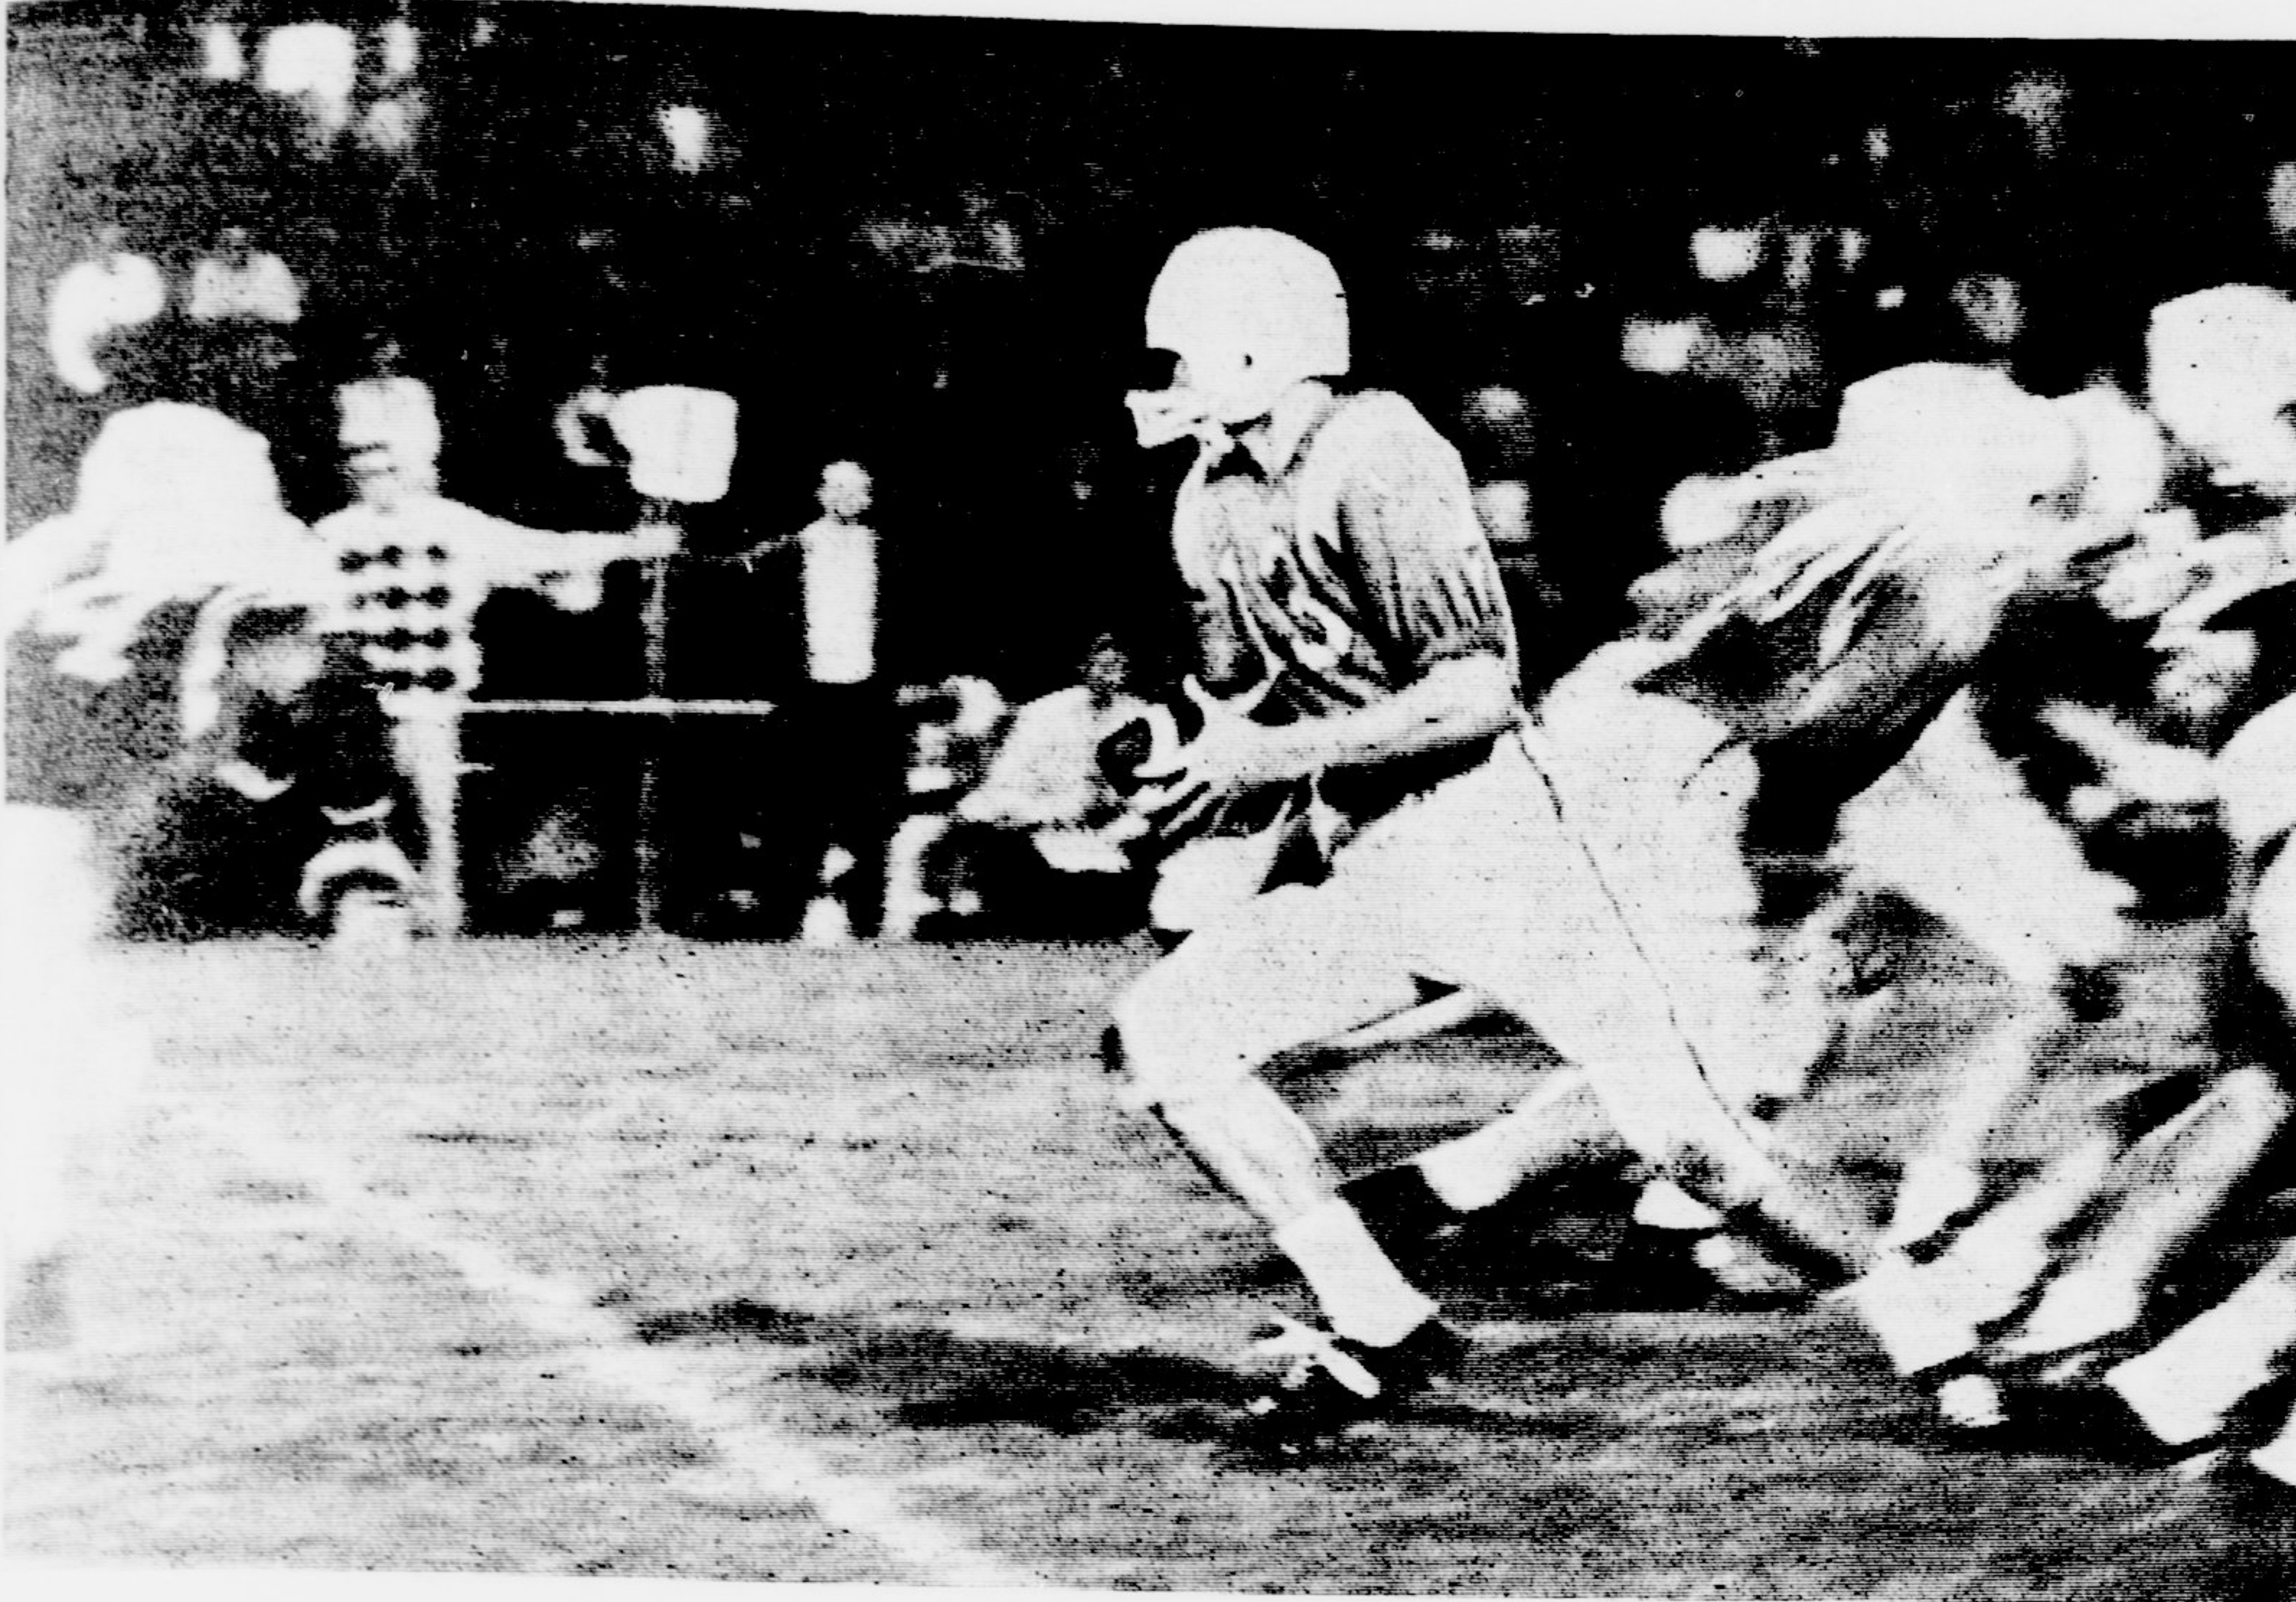

President of the inter-fraternity council Mike Bigos said the "situation is pretty grave as it stands right now. I suppose we can appeal to all the brothers on campus to cooperate with the rules that have been established by the administration."

Notice

There will be a meeting of the Freshman class Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in Wright Auditorium to hear Freshman candidates for office.

As the election of Freshman class officers in the past has been merely voting for the person with the fanciest campaign posters. It is hoped that the Freshmen electing their officers will be able to judge them by their qualifications and not their campaign propaganda.

Any Freshmen interested in efficient government will attend.

Setting up one of the pass plays that led to a touchdown, the Chowan Indians quarterback looks for protection. A large crowd of Pirate fans watched the rampaging Redskins triumph over the Baby Bucs in our first game last Saturday night.

East Carolina College's Baby Bucs Yield To The Papooses Of Chowan

By JIM NEWMAN

Greyson, Chowan's speedy half-back, caught three touchdown passes and kicked three conversions to lead his team to a 27-20 victory over the Baby Bucs of East Carolina.

The Bucs never seemed to get fired up in the first half, scoring only 7 points while the chargers from Chowan had 14. Chowan's first TD came with 3 minutes left in the first period. Chowan recovered a fumble on EC's 14.

On the next play George Murphy passed to Greyson in the end zone for Chowan's first score. Greyson's PAT (point after touchdown) was also good to bring Chowan's lead to 7-0. With two minutes gone in the second period Murphy hit Greyson again for a 33 yard pass in the end zone. Greyson's kick was true and this brought the score to 14-0.

Although two blocked punts hurt the Pirates, the Baby Bucs finally hit pay dirt with 5 minutes left in the half. Tailback Neal Hughes hit Jimmy Snyder with a 19 yard aerial on Chowan's 23 yard line. Snyder sprinted the remaining distance to score EC's first TD. The Baby Buc's kicking specialist was true on his first PAT to cut Chowan's lead to 14-7. The Buc's downfield blocking was quite evident in E.C.C.'s scoring play.

Greyson took the kickoff on the Chowan 16 and got to their 42 before one of EC's defensive standouts, Paul Hutchins, brought him down. An EC pass interception and a Chowan fumble closed out the first half.

Chowan opened the second half by scoring a TD with 2 minutes gone in the third period. Greyson scored his twenty-first point of the night by running for a TD from EC's 4 yard line and also kicking the PAT.

Bill Prince received the kickoff and returned to the Pirate's 33. Two plays later Neal Hughes connected with wingback Tom Grant for 24 yards. However, an illegal receiver's penalty brought the ball to EC's 36. The Bucs were then forced to kick. Minutes later it was Chowan's ball, second and thirty-two on their own 24 yard line. Greyson ran for 11 yards to make it third and 21. At this time Chowan's fullback broke loose for a 65-yard TD. The conversion was short.

A Chowan 15-yard penalty brought about the Pirate's second TD of the night. The penalty moved the ball to the Chowan 10. From here it took Neal Hughes two plays to score his first six points. Chowan still lead 27-13. With 3 minutes left in the game Bill Prince ran another TD and Farris kicked the extra point.

End Badger Johnson, center John Schwarz, and tackle Van Harris were assets to the Pirate's defense in their 20-27 loss to Chowan.

Pi Kappas Down Phi Kappa Taus

During the past weekend, the brothers and pledges of Pi Kappa Phi responded to a challenge issued by the Phi Kappa Taus to a football game in excellent fashion.

The two teams met Saturday morning and the Pi Kapps emerged the victors by a score of 30-0. Leading the way to victory were brothers Bobby Childress, who threw five touchdown passes, and Ray Lewis, who caught three of the touchdown passes.

The following evening, a party was held at the newly acquired chapter room located on Dickinson Avenue. All members of the fraternity have worked hard renovating the lodge and everyone has certainly enjoyed using it.

In addition to the weekend activities, the Pi Kapps entertained rushees at a cookout held at the fraternity house. Hamburgers and hot dogs were consumed in great quantity and everybody was satisfied with the afternoon.

Histories Familiarize Students With Campus Fraternities

Fraternity Rush For Men Begins Monday, October 5

Jim Kimsey, I.F.C. Rush Chairman, states that Formal Rush for male students will begin Monday evening, October 5. The hours for rush will be as follows:

- Monday — 7:00-10:00 P.M.
- Tuesday — 7:00-10:00 P.M.
- Wednesday — 7:00-9:30 P.M.
- Thursday — 7:00-9:30 P.M.

During Formal Rush each rushee will be required to visit all fraternities. This visitation of the fraternities is to be completed by the close of rush on Tuesday night at 10:00 P.M. On the remaining two nights, Wednesday and Thursday, the rushee will be allowed to go to the fraternity of his choice.

Bids will be issued on Friday, October 9th, from 12:00 noon until 4:00 P.M. in the Buccaneer Room in the Cafeteria Building. If a rushee is sick and cannot come to pick up his bid, he should notify Dean Malory's office no later than 12:00 noon of October 9th. His bid will then be taken to him by an I.F.C. Committee.

If there are any men who decide to rush and have not paid their fees, they may begin rush on Monday night, the 5th of October, and the first fraternity that they visit will take their fees and issue them their rush card.

After hectic weeks of rush parties, socials, and all the other formalities of informal rush, the sororities on the EC campus have ended their informal rush.

While the coeds breath a sigh of relief, the male students are just beginning their formal rush.

Pledges can be seen wearing their newly acquired pledge pins and smiling from ear to ear over their new found life with the Greeks. Pledges, this new life you have found among the Greeks is one you should cherish the rest of your lives.

Let this become a warning to you, however. Greek life on any college campus should be a part and not a total of your existence. You are still a coed on the EC campus and you should remember that your Greek life is a supplement to your happy college days.

Lead To History

In order for the male students to become more familiar with the fraternities on the E.C. campus, a short history has been compiled in order that it may be of help to the rushees. It is our sincere wish that you will be an informed rushee of those fraternities to which you visit.

Alpha Epsilon Pi

The Alpha Epsilon Pi's are located on Summit Street. This social fraternity was founded November 7, 1913, at New York University. The local chapter, Epsilon Kappa, was founded during the winter of 1961. It is one of eighty chapters today.

Their ideals are those of brotherly love, faith, courage, and honesty. At Christmas, in cooperation with a local church, they gave a party for needy children. Within the fraternity, awards are given for scholarship, service and best pledge.

Kappa Alpha

Living up to the ideals of Robert E. Lee and the South was the purpose of the founders of Kappa Alpha Order in December 1865, at Washington and Lee University.

The National Convention is held each January 19 to celebrate Robert E. Lee's birthday and the founding of the order. This and the Old South Ball are two of the major events.

Six Kappa Alpha Orders are now in North Carolina. The local chapter, Gamma Rho, was founded in September, 1958. The K. A.'s usher at football games, give a Christmas party for underprivileged children, and participate in intramural sports. The K. A.'s reside on 9th Street.

Lambda Chi

With the motto, "Every Man a Man," Lambda Chi was founded to foster the spirit of Christian brotherhood in an academic and social environment. Chartered November 2, 1900, at Boston College, the national fraternity now includes over 85,000 men. The local chapter was chartered May 2, 1959.

A Christmas party and an Easter Egg Hunt for children are two annual activities. In intramurals the fraternity has held the title of champions in nearly every sport in the past two years.

Phi Kappa Tau

Phi Kappa Tau, since the beginning of the Gamma Eta Chapter here in 1960, has followed its purposes of establishing close bonds of brotherhood and loyalty to the school. The members are interested in Democratic organization, worth of the individual, and Christian ideals.

They follow the interest of all Phi Tau's since its national founding at Oxford, Ohio, March 17, 1906. The brothers donate to the annual Red Cross Drive, help a needy family at Christmas, and participate in Homecoming activities.

Pi Kappa Alpha

Men who wear the diamond-shaped Pi Kappa Alpha pin strive to promote high scholarship, social values of true brotherhood, ideal American manhood. The two important social events each year are the Dream Girl Ball and the Concert By the Sea.

The men participate in the Cancer Drive, and Bloodmobile Drive. They sponsor a party for under privileged children. Within the fraternity an award is given to the Best Pledge of the Year and the Fred Robertson Award to the most outstanding brother of the year.

Since the founding March 1, 1868, at the University of Virginia, Pi Kappa has grown to include 127 chapters. The local chapter, Epsilon Mu, was founded May 17, 1958.

Pi Kappa Phi

"Nothing shall tear us asunder" is the motto of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. The members try to follow this motto as they promote their ideals of fellowship, trust, scholarship, Christian manhood, and citizenship.

The national founding was December 10, 1904, in Charleston, South Carolina. Locally it was founded February 16, 1963. During the first year of chapter activities the Pi Kaps participated in the Bloodmobile Drive, Arthritis Drive, intramurals, Greek Week, and Homecoming. Awards given within the fraternity include the Master Chapter Award and scholarship awards.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Sigma Phi Epsilon participates in the Heart Fund Drive, Bloodmobile Drive, and Homecoming festivities.

The Scott Key Award and Dubach Scroll Award are given within the fraternity for the man with the highest average and the highest service record.

"The fraternity with a heart" was as its ideal the lasting bonds of brotherhood. Sigma Phi Epsilon was founded locally April 15, 1961. Nationally the fraternity was founded in Richmond, Virginia, November 7, 1901.

Sigma Nu

Sigma Nu fraternity has been active on campus by helping to raise funds for football uniforms by participating in intramural sports. Civic-minded, the fraternity sponsors a Christmas party for underprivileged children, an Easter Egg Hunt, and a Midget League football team.

With colors of black and white, and gold and the white rose as its flower, the Eta Beta chapter was organized May 16, 1959. Virginia Military Institute was the place of national founding in 1869.

Theta Chi

Norwich, Vermont was the location of the national founding April 10, 1856. With the national brotherhood, scholarship, and leadership, the Theta Chi's motto "Alma Mater" Theta Chi for Alma Mater fraternity participates in all activities.

They also help the community through participation in the Cancer Drive, Bloodmobile, and the March of Dimes.

Paradise Widow Bird Makes Home On Campus

A male, African exotic bird has been captured by an E.C. Biology professor and is now a part of the East Carolina biology department.

Using a Japanese mist net forty feet long and eight feet wide, Dr. Talmage E. Lundy caught the tropical fowl while it was feeding with sparrows in the yard of a local physician, Dr. James Smith.

He stretched the net between two poles just as a gill net is done for catching fish. The bird, not being able to see the net, flew into it and was trapped.

The Paradise Widow Bird put up very little resistance when caught in the net.

However, his wild nature did not particularly like making the adjustment to a wire cage. At present he is a very well behaved young fellow. He does take any opportunity that occurs to escape the cage and is by no means tame.

Dr. Lundy was able to recognize the Paradise Widow Bird from birds of the same species that he had seen in pet shops in New Orleans, La., and Salt Lake City, Utah. The bird is a member of the Weaver Finches and is probably about two years old.

The Paradise Widow Bird is now in his handsome mating plumage. His tail is approximately eighteen inches long while his body is only about three inches in length. He has a pink buffer ring of feathers around its neck with his breast being a slightly deeper shade of pink. The remainder of his plumage is glossy jet black. He has a typical finch bill. Though not a song bird, he does sometimes make an indistinct twittering noise. The Paradise Widow Bird is now beginning to lose part of his tail. All the Vidua paradisiesia loose half their tails and become less gawdy in winter.

The Paradise Widow Bird is polygamous (maintains a harem). While the female bird spends her time slaving over nesting, incubation, and feeding the young, the male spends his time with the other males.

Some of the male species during courtship will flutter and flip to heights of 300 feet in the air, when the female is in the grass beneath him.

Presently the bird is residing at Flanagan in office 13 in the Biology Department. There is a strong suspicion that the Paradise Widow Bird escaped from a private cage.

The fact that he is a non-migratory bird makes it almost certain that he did not stray from his natural habitat in Africa.

When asked what the Biology Department plans to do with its new member, Dr. Lundy stated that they would keep the bird and in the Spring buy a female for mating purposes.

Thurmond Here

Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina will speak at 8 p.m. Saturday, October 10 at a rally to be held in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Senator Thurmond will arrive at 6 p.m. at the Greenville airport. He will speak at Respass Brothers Bar-B-Que before a group of 500 at a $5.00 a plate fund-raising dinner.

Following the dinner, the senator at Memorial gymnasium, sponsored jointly by the Citizens for Goldwater, the Conservatives Club, YRC and Students for Goldwater.

Students, faculty and the general public are cordially invited to attend. There will be no charge.

Dept. Of Science Assigns Teachers

A new entomologist began his teaching duties in the Division of Science at East Carolina College when classes for the 1964-65 school year got underway.

The new assistant professor is John Graham, a New York native who is teaching radiobiology this fall and entomology next year.

In announcing the appointment, biology department director Dr. Graham J. Davis said addition of the 34-year-old entomologist expands the biology faculty to 15.

Graham, a native of Newburgh, N. Y., comes to East Carolina from N. C. State in Raleigh, where he has been working toward his PhD degree.

A former cryptanalyst with the United States Air Force Security Service, he holds the BS degree from City College of New York and the MS degree from Cornell University where he was a graduate fellow.

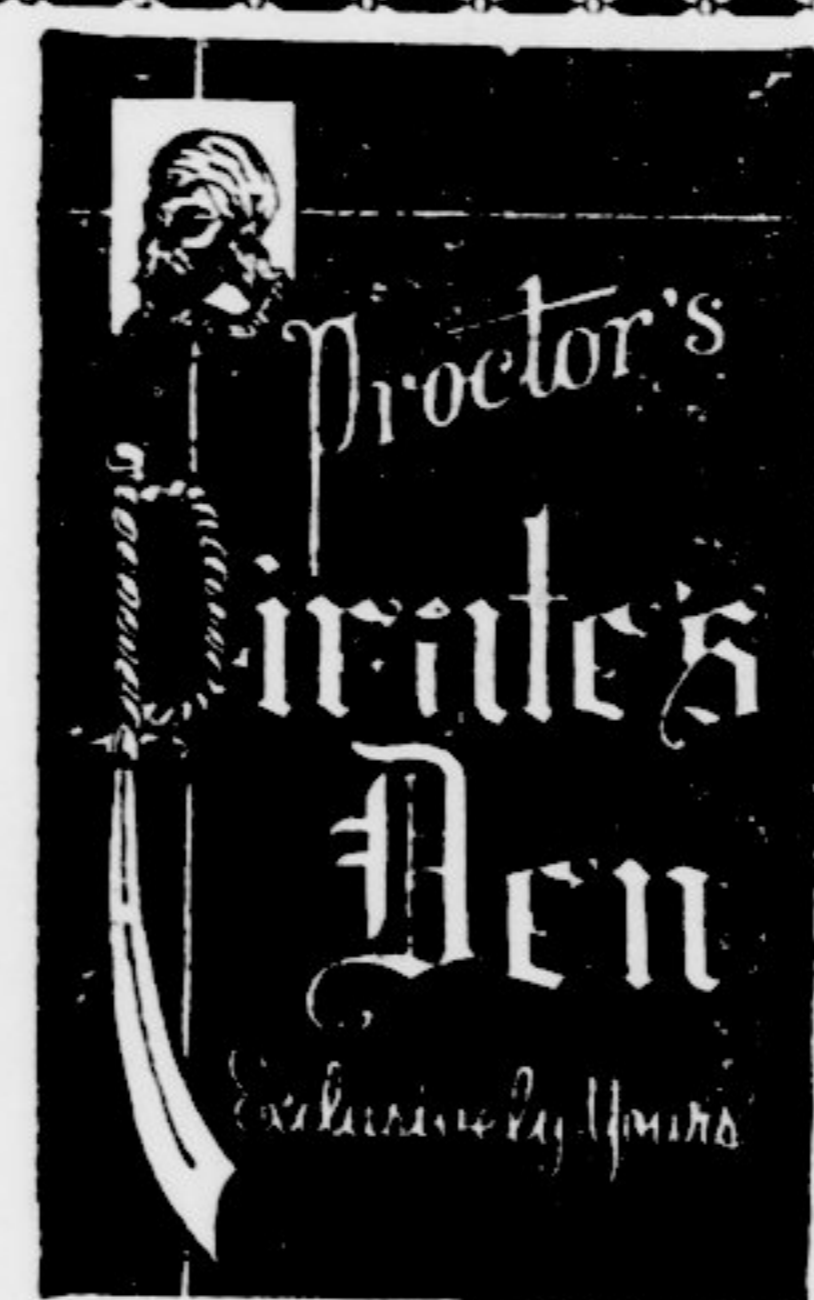

In addition to his work with the USAF Security Service, Graham has held a clerical position with Joseph Davidson Inc., of New York City and a teaching job with the Fox Lane School in Mount Kisco, N. Y.

His academic interests include teaching and research in four main areas — insect physiology, morphology, a branch of biology dealing with the form and structure of plants and animals; taxonomy, the study of the general principles of scientific classification; and general economics.

Organizer

There will be a meeting of all YRC's and other interested people to organize and promote Senator Strom Thurmond's visit to the East Carolina campus.

The meeting will be held in Rawl 130 at 7:30 pm Thursday. All students with political interests are urged to attend.

Faculty Activities

Joseph H. Hanchow of the East Carolina business faculty was one of two lecturers for a recent Greensboro Training program for certified public accountants.

Sponsored by the Professional Development Committee of the North Carolina Association of Certified Public Accountants, the program included Hanchow lectures on standards of auditing related to field work.

About 40 practicing accountants attended the course. The group was divided between Hanchow and Robert L. Dickens, assistant dean of business at Duke University.

Hanchow joined the EC School of Business faculty in the winter of 1963. He teaches principles of accounting and electronic data processing, computer and accounting functions. He also maintains a senior partnership in the Wilson accounting firm of J. H. Hanchow & Company and makes his home with Mrs. Hanchow in Wilson at 1000 Branch St.

Jefferson Hux Faucette of Mishawaka, Ind., a native North Carolinian, has been awarded a teaching fellowship for the 1964-65 school term at East Carolina.

An EC graduate of 1962, Faucette has been assigned to the college's reading clinic where he will work while pursuing a master's degree in education and guidance. His appointment continues through next May 21.

Faucette was chosen for his high academic record, his ability in a specialized field (education) and his promising future as a successful master's degree candidate in the EC program.

Born in Roanoke Rapids, Faucette is a 1958 graduate of Morehead City High School. He studied at George Washington University before coming to East Carolina.

David Ross Thomas of Asheville has been awarded a teaching fellowship for graduate study at East Carolina during the 1964-65 school year.

The 1962 graduate of East Carolina (BS) began his duties here this quarter in the Department of Geography. He will continue his assignment until May 21.

Thomas was chosen for his high academic record, his ability in a specialized field (geography) and his promising future as a successful master's degree candidate in the EC program.

He is one of 53 college graduates who are currently working as teaching fellows in 13 departments of instruction at East Carolina this quarter.

Choice of teaching fellows is made by the college administration on recommendation of the directors of departments in which they will work.

Under the supervision of regular professors, the teaching fellows conduct classes and handle other teaching assignment while working toward graduate degrees at East Carolina.

A member of the 1964 biology graduating class at East Carolina, Charles Robert Stroud Jr. of Goldsboro, has been awarded a one-year teaching assistantship for graduate study at N.C. State in Raleigh.

Stroud will be assigned to the department of zoology in September while working toward a master of science degree. He is currently engaged in research at State under a National Science Foundation undergraduate research participation program.

A graduate of the Goldsboro High School, he attended the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill from 1958 to 1959.

While at EC, he was a member of Chi Beta Phi, national honorary fraternity for science majors; Phi Sigma Pi, honorary scholastic fraternity for men; and the Science Club.

He is married to the former Linda Mills of Greenville, also a biology graduate of East Carolina who has accepted a teaching post in Wake Forest for the coming year.

Dr. Audrey V. Dempsey, professor in the School of Business at East Carolina spoke Saturday afternoon during the central regional meeting of the North Carolina Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs (NCFBPWC) in Burlington.

Also speaking at the same meeting was Mrs. Bert G. Tyson of Greenville, federation president.

Dr. Dempsey discussed the results of a recent survey conducted among women students in the EC School of Business.

This survey was conducted by Dr. Dempsey as part of the program of the Committee on Employment Practices of the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women in North Carolina. She was named to the committee last spring by Governor Sanford.

The ECC professor joined the business school faculty in 1949. She holds the AB, MA and EdD degrees from Colorado State College at Greeley.

She is a member of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club and is currently serving a three-year term on the Administrative Committee of the John Robert Gregg Award. She is listed in "Who's Who of American Women," "Who's Who in Education" and "Who's Who in the South and Southwest."

Five faculty members in East Carolina's Department of Industrial Arts have been given three-year committee assignment for the North Carolina Industrial Arts Association (NCIAA).

They are Dr. Kenneth L. Bing, East Carolina industrial arts director and new chairman of the Teacher Liability Committee for NCIAA, and four members of his staff:

Paul E. Waldrop Jr., chairman of the Constitution Committee; B. E. Scott, chairman of the Curriculum Committee; and Dr. Thomas J. Hagwood, head of the Resolutions Committee; Robert W. Leith, state membership chairman for the American Industrial Arts Association.

The appointments were made by the NCIAA Executive Committee. Each appointee was notified of his appointment by a letter from the state president, Lynn P. Barrier of Matthews.

A native Virginian who has taught sociology at Richmond Professional Institute (RPI) for the past three years has been appointed associate professor of sociology at East Carolina.

The newcomer is Dr. William H. Gulley, native of Arlington, Va., who began teaching in the sociology department this fall.

In announcing the appointments, Dr. Melvin J. Williams, department director, said Gulley was teaching introductory and modern sociology and modern social psychology this quarter.

Gulley, a member of the sociology faculty since 1958, is also on the sociology faculty at his alma mater from 1956 to 1958. He holds AB, MA and PhD degrees from University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

He is a member of the American Association of University Professors and served as president of the chapter. He also holds membership in the American Sociological Association, the Virginia Sociological Association, the Southern Sociological Association, the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the American League.

Eight Study Sessions Begin Here Soon

A series of eight two-hour study sessions on various phases of the operation of a small business will begin at East Carolina this week.

The non-credit course, one of three currently planned by the new Undergraduate Evening College at EC, is designed primarily for persons who own, operate or manage a small business or for those who plan to enter business.

Its two-hour sessions will begin at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 8, and continue for eight consecutive Thursdays at the same hour, with the exception of Thanksgiving Day. Classes will be held on the EC campus.

Tuition for the non-credit course is $14 and interested persons may register in the offices of the Extension Division weekday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. through next Tuesday, Oct. 6. The offices are located in the ground floor of Rawl Annex on the EC campus.

His lectures will be augmented with discussions by visiting specialists from the Small Business Administration and from the fields of accounting and advertising.

Topics to be considered in the course include human relations, business communication, record-keeping (including tax, inventory and accounting records), credit and collection, advertising and sales promotion, shrinkage, success and failure factors in business and aids available to small business through the federal Small Business Administration.

As in other UEC non-credit courses, there will be no examinations, no grades, and no recorded credit.
