'Richard III' Opens Wed. And Runs Through Sunday

By NELLIE LEE

William Shakespeare's drama "Richard III," to be performed by the East Carolina Players, is scheduled to open in McGinnis auditorium next Wednesday night at 8:15 P.M. and run through Sunday, February 14.

The timely "Richard III" embodies basically the story of a man who searched for love throughout life and never found it. He is Richard III — hunch-backed, along with other physical deformities and quite often repulsed by humans. Consequently he converted love to lust for power and throne. Richard III is a bloody, murderous sort of person. He killed a total of nine people in his attempt to gain the throne.

Though "Richard III" is full of blood, murder, and other evils, it is not a true tragedy. Since Richard III is such an amusing and clever sort of villain who never broods about anything, the play is better described as a melodrama. It is the type of play that resembles a charming Hitchcock movie.

John Sneden, designer for the play, said "The playhouse chose "Richard III" as a presentation because of the success in performing Shakespeare's "Cleopatra" last year. "Richard III" is not done too often. It is a very exciting melodrama with plenty of action throughout the play. We think everyone who sees the play will enjoy it."

Members of the play have been at work on the scenery and sets for "Richard III" since the beginning of January. The basic setting of the play is built on levels with several stair cases included. Perhaps the most unique factor about the sets are the projections which are built out from the stage. This allows a more sensual contact with the audience. A special machine for providing misty effects will be used for ghost scenes.

Costumes for the play came directly from New York City. The costumes are elaborate and include armor for battle dress and appropriate attire for the coronation of Richard III.

Cast members for the play are numerous and include both faculty and students. Faculty members who will perform are Sanford Peele, cast as George, Duke of Clarence, John Sneden, Richard, Duke of Gloucester, Douglas Ray, Duke of Buckingham, and Rosalind Roulston as Margaret, widow of King Henry VI.

CU Construction Complete In June

By this June, the East Carolina campus will have a new College Union, located in the Wright Building annex now being constructed. It is to be paid for with the $650,000 allotted for the "extension and renovation of the Wright Building."

The new Union will be air-conditioned, newly furnished, and will have a "more efficiently arranged area for our recreation program," according to Miss Cynthia Mendenhall, Director of College Union Activities.

The first level of the new CU will house the recreation facilities that were present in the former location below Wright Auditorium.

On the next level will be offices and several new features: an auditorium for students; lounges for informal socializing, television viewing, and card-playing; and seminar rooms that will be available upon reservation for campus organizations, committee meetings, and discussion groups.

The third level will be used for Student Government Association activities.

There will be a patio at the northeast corner for outside parties and dances in the spring and fall; and the area behind the new annex will be developed for such casual outside sports as horse-shoes, croquet, badminton, and shuffleboard.

It is hoped that here can be a music listening room with both classical and popular records, a check-room for student property, and an increased number of bicycles to be rented.

Student Body Awaits Ferrante & Teicher

FERRANTE & TEICHER, the "Movie Theme Team" who will appear here on Tuesday, February 9 at 8:15 P.M. in the Christenbury Gymnasium, are innovators in the true sense. They have made the mundane piano duet a thing of the past, and produced in its stead a dynamic approach to popular tandem pianistics.

They've been playing as a team since their graduation from New York's Juilliard School of Music, where they met when they were six years old.

In the first stage of their career they played only the classics, concentrating on the standard repertoire for two-piano teams.

Their imagination and curiosity soon had them experimenting with their pianos and devising certain "gimmicks" which altered the sound of the piano, sometimes making it sound like a big orchestra. For awhile they enjoyed a career with this innovation which brought them before the public not only through concerts, but television and recordings as well.

They were signed to a recording contract by United Artists and recorded a single entitled "Theme from the Apartment," from the movie of the same name. This recording earned them a gold record and the prize for selling a million discs and was immediately followed by the theme from "Exodus," which also won them a gold record. Today they are the foremost interpreters of music from films, and are the largest single factor in making this kind of music one of today's most popular forms.

Now Ferrante and Teicher fans eagerly await each new recording.

The program they present here will combine the pop classics with show tunes and their own arrangements of such favorite composers as Gershwin, Rodgers, Kern, Porter and others. They will blend their arrangements with new sound effects gained by the use of special gadgets the have devised to extend the tonal range of their Steinway concert grand pianos.

Students Applaud Paganini Quartet

The third of the six Fine Arts Concert Series at East Carolina College featured the Paganini String Quartet in Old Austin last Monday night.

With great dexterity and agility, the Paganini group played selections from Haydn, Gnastrera, Webern, and Beethoven. The group received its name from the Stradivarius instruments they play. All of their instruments were owned by the violin genius Paganini whose playing was so miraculous that he was thought to be possessed by the devil.

The members of the Paganini Quartet are first violinist, Henri Temianka, co-founder of the quartet; second violinist Stefan Krayk, head of the String Department at Santa Barbara; viola player Albert Gillis, and cellist Lurien Larporte.

Mr. Gillis is the only American born member; the rest of the quartet are naturalized American citizens. Mr. Krayk reflected the audience's response as "very appreciative; that's why we played them another quartet!"

Music major, Jan Coward, was congratulated by Mr. Temianka for the notes he prepared for the program.

Dr. Holt Heads Committee For SACS College Study

Dr. Robert L. Holt, vice president and dean of East Carolina College is new chairman of the key Committee on Standards and Reports for Senior Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Appointed by Emmett B. Fields, dean of arts and sciences at Vanderbilt University and chairman of SACS's Commission on Colleges, Dr. Holt will head the 19-man committee during 1965.

Under his guidance the group will study schedules of campus requirements and procedures for periodical reports of member senior colleges in the Southern Association, one of six regional accrediting agencies in the nation.

Among Dr. Holt's committeemen for 1965 are Provost Taylor Cole of Duke University, President D.

W. Colvard of Mississippi State University, President K. S. Pitzer of Rice University, President Edgar Shannon Jr. of the University of Virginia and Vice President Judson C. Ward Jr. of Emory University. Others are college presidents, vice presidents and deans from throughout the states covered by SACS and a few public school superintendents.

Gordon W. Sweet, executive secretary of the association, notified Dr. Holt of his appointment by letter from SACS headquarters in Atlanta, Ga.

At East Carolina, Dr. Holt heads the overall academic program as vice president and dean, his post since May 3, 1963. In all, he has held four offices at ECC since 1960 when he came here as director of religious activities.

equal representation?

Things are brewing in the Senate. And one thing in particular the Senate faces is a possible "first constitutional amendment".

A proposal presented by Senator Bob Kerlin at last Monday's Senate Meeting, states that the Senate is in bad need of re-apportionment. Senatorial post are definitely not proportionate to the number of people on the campus.

Kerlin's proposal went further to announce a plan to correct this mis-representation.

The bill prescribes that the Senate should be filled with one Senator for each 300 persons of each classification. Therefore, if there were 3000 persons in the Sophomore class, there would be 10 Senatorial post for the Sophomores.

This bill is similar to the House of Representatives in our National government.

A second bill is slated to be brought forth in the near future. Possibly Monday night. This bill will differ from the Kerlin proposal. Proposed will be a senatorial representation that is similar to the U.S. Senate. Eight person would represent each classification. There would be 32 senatorial posts.

This bill proposes that a certain group or area of the student body and not a certain population be represented. The second proposal is efficient and this is its major merit.

Both proposals have their better points. And as every new proposal, there are the bad points to each.

One main point made quite clear by the Kerlin Bill is that the classifications with the most population should receive the most representation. It is evident that this would mean that the Freshman and Sophomore classes would have the majority of the representation. It is apportionate and democratic.

The second proposal would allow the upper classmen an equally strong voice in student affairs. These upper-classmen are people that have worked for the school and know the operation and history of the school. But, as efficient as this system is, there is no real apportionment according to population.

And collectively, both proposals lend themselves easily to a take-over by certain groups . . . possibly a Greek take-over or a Greek exclusion in the Senate.

Both Bills would cut the communication lines to the people represented. The present representation is based on a Senator, living in a certain dormitory or area, representing the people with which he lives. Thus, communication is no problem.

But with the new plans, there is no compact group that may be contacted. There is a loss of communication with the represented.

There is another point concerning representation that the EAST CAROLINIAN wishes to present to the students.

There is no representation of the graduate students in the Senate. WHY NOT? These people are members of the student body and should be represented.

These people have four years of experience in college already behind them. These people represent all portion of the United States. . . and thus, have varied experiences in student government. Many have already worked in student government. These people are a part of the campus. . . these people are a benefit to their surroundings. Why is there no representation.

Possibly this question about the graduate students will be tied in with the new "apportionment amendments."

The showdown should come Monday night. We eagerly await the results.

TO THE EDITOR:

Your paper stinks. There's nothing in it to challenge or interest one in reading except a random article now and then. I for one student had rather see the paper discontinued than continue in the neutral, say-nothing state of the present.

My activity money is being dumped into a bottomless pit of the East Carolinian. Woe. Woe.

Dear Woe, Woe be unto you; I shall make one statement, ask one question.

The East Carolinian is a student newspaper, your newspaper. What have YOU done to alleviate this state of non-existence? Carrie Tyson

TO THE EDITOR:

Please get off the "Note Treason" kick. How could anyone so foolishly allow so much room to go to waste? The treason mud is over. The book is one big farce and falsehood. Let it be that and forget it. It's as absurd as demanding another general election, because Goldwater just might win.

Get off, will you?

TO MISS TYSON:

Well, it happened again. Yep, I overslept right through my 8:00 class.

Can't something be done? I can see myself right now: "Well Dad, you see, it's like this; I'm not allowed to return because of a QP deficiency. Yes, I made all C's or above, but I overslept several times, and . . ."

In a recent editorial you stated that our paper would come out only once per week to improve the QUALITY. Quality of what? Browning the administration? Listen, why don't you wise-up? Don't you think they see through what you're doing? In order to advance as far as our heads of administration have, they had to be perceptive and wise.

Now we have top-notch administrators in our school. Praise yes, when praise is due Miss Tyson, but PLEASE decrease the QUANTITY of the syrup.

Glitter Of Publicity

By BOB BROWN

News repeats itself; it has once again snowed for the convenience of every one that must travel. Your dear reporter went home this past weekend with the hopes of having a good time; well, the snow messed up things but good, and to top it all off Sunday night at 11:15 he would not return until the following day; I just happened to miss two classes because of him.

Certain items of concern to the newspaper have been drawn to my attention. The items are mainly the use of capitals in the title, date strip right under the title. The reason for this is not grammatical correctness, but for reasons of typographical uniformity. Lower case letters look better and balance out the top of the page better than capitals. None know better than we that what we do is, beyond a shadow of a doubt, grammatically incorrect. I hope that this clears up any questions that arise.

This coming February 11th we will be entertained with the play of Ferrante and Teicher. They play some of the songs that they are famous over the years. Be sure to get your tickets now and attend this concert; it is at 8:15 p.m. in the Gymnasium.

This Friday and Saturday the State theater you, the students of East Carolina, will be entertained with the play "THE IS COMING". Live it up, split a seam or two, and their typical slapstick comedy.

This Sunday at the "Orderly" This is bound to be the funniest picture that has ever been produced. Do not miss it. You all be good and see you next week.

Socialism?

Election time 1964 has come and gone and many an uproar has disturbed the tranquility of our nation. One of the most frequent hurled mud balls during the last election was the one labeled "socialist." Who are the Socialists? What do they think?

Clifton Deberry was their presidential candidate and Edward Shaw was nominated by the Socialist Workers Party to run as their Vice Presidential candidate. Here's what they had to say: Here's where they stood on the issues they cared to stand on. Here's where they stood on "Congressional Inquiries."

Congressional committees hold public inquiries over TV in which people are cruelly pilloried before the whole nation. The victims are bombarded with loaded questions that violate their democratic rights and invade their personal lives. Those who invoke their constitutional right not to answer the inquisitors are publicly smeared as suspicious characters who "have something to hide." Victims of the Congressional inquisitors have been framed up on "contempt" or "perjury" charges.

Abuse of youth's inherent right to challenge the status quo is vividly illustrated in the case of three University of Indiana students. They had criticized Washington's Cuba policy; they had invited a Negro youth to address a student meeting on the right of self-defense against white-supremacist violence; and they had expressed the view that the American people would fare better in a socialist society. For that, and nothing more, a politically-ambitious prosecutor secured indictments against them under an Indiana thought-control law on the ridiculous charge of conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the government. The trial judge held the law unconstitutional and squashed the indictments. In an effort to overturn the ruling the prosecutor has appealed to a higher court where the case is now pending.

Minority political parties trying to exercise their democratic right to contend for votes run up against repressive election laws rigged to maintain a two-party monopoly of the ballot. Bipartisan schemes are hatched to deny minority parties equal free time with the Democrats and Republicans over TV and radio. Manipulating the two major parties like a pair of loaded dice, the banks and corporations use them against all non-capitalist organizations.

Legislative enactments, orders and court rulings encroach on labor's freedom to strike because of strict regulations; whether openly or through trickery, public officials and the bosses in collective bargaining and the bosses' government more and more into the affairs. The capitalists are quick to use police against the civil rights. Whenever pious promises, concessions fail to keep people in line, repression is inevitable weapon to the literal custodians of the sort. A all hazards the sacred capitalist principle private profit above all.

Fed up with a country where freedom now, and fighting for it. Their mobilized by the big Southern demonstrations last year, they test discrimination and demand the right. Wave after wave of Negro fighters went up against and fire hoses; undaunted arrests, they came out determined to continue the human dignity and rights.

In the giant March on Washington, sparked by the Southern demonstrations, Negroes came over the land to voice their demand for jobs and freedom. It not reflected a rise in militancy under the impact of the Southern struggle. The began in Northern cities, minorities are segregated, infested slums. School bused in opposition to the Negro and Puerto Rican in the educational system. Puerto Ricans inspired by the example, are demanding democratic rights in the pressing for union support right to full equality in the Confronted with a lack of action from conservative groups they are taking action. Construction sites, hotel places are picketed in discrimination in hiring and equal rights on the job. They are pressed for higher wage laws covering all for a shorter work week and more jobs. Protests are conducted with brutality and there is a determination to exercise the right of self-defense against legal hooligan attacks of demonstrators.

EC Plans 'On-The-Spot' Tour Through Southwest Next Summer

An educational tour to give on-the-spot lessons about the Southwestern United States has been planned next summer by East Carolina.

Officials have completed plans for the four-week bus trip, set next July 16 - Aug. 13, and have invited applications from all interested persons.

The trip is routed in 19 states and Mexico. Its dates roughly overlap the second session of summer school at the college. It offers nine quarter-hours of college credit.

Sponsored by the EC Extension Division, the 29-day journey will be the division's sixth annual American Study Tour.

In announcing plans for the tour, Dr. Robert E. Cramer, director of the EC geography department and tour director, noted that the last Southwestern trip the Extension Division offered, in 1961, was booked to capacity several months in advance. Therefore, he said, persons interested in the 1965 trip should apply as early as possible.

Though the tour will emphasize the Southwest, the route takes a southern course at the outset before looping through the Southwest and returning to North Carolina through central states.

Planned are visits to Beauvoir, the Mississippi home of Jefferson Davis; New Orleans' French Quarter; the Carlsbad Caverns; Juarez, Mex.; the nation's largest pecan farm in New Mexico; the Grand Canyon; Las Vegas; Hoover Dam at Boulder City, Nev.; Disneyland; the San Joaquin Valley; Yosemite National Park; Muir Woods National Monument; Pikes Peak, the Air Force Academy; the Truman Library at Independence, Mo.; and other points of interest along the route.

The itinerary includes these 19 states: Alabama, Arizona, California, Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, Nevada, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas, Utah, Virginia and West Virginia.

As in past years, the 1965 tour offers extension credit at two levels: undergraduate credit through Geography 150b for bachelor's degree candidates; graduate credit through Geography 350b for bachelor's degree candidates; graduate credit through Geography 350Gb or Education 350Gb which can be applied toward a master's degree or teacher's certificate renewal.

Cost ranges between $442 and $554, depending on accommodations requested. The enrollment fee includes transportation by air conditioned bus, hotel and motel accommodations, sightseeing fees and tips. It does not include most meals or other personal expenses.

If the tour is taken for college credit, $30 is added to the total cost. Non-credit audit enrollment is provided for.

Dr. Cramer says the planning of the tour received "our every effort to organize a tour which will be interesting, educational, varied and enjoyable."

Further information and application forms are available by contacting Dr. Cramer through P. O. Box 2723, Greenville, N.C. 27835.

Five Publications Present Faculty, Alumna Articles

East Carolina College is represented in at least five recent publications by articles written by faculty members and one alumna.

Following is a summary of those articles:

Dr. Albert L. Diket, a member of the history faculty in the School of Arts and Sciences, is author of an article, "John Slidell and the 'Chicago Incident' of 1858," which appears in Volume V of "Louisiana History," a quarterly. Dr. Diket's article concludes that Slidell, not Stephen Douglas as intended, was the greatest victim of the "Chicago Incident" in July, 1858. The article is on pages 369-386 in the Louisiana historical journal's 1964 volume. Its author joined the ECC history faculty in September, 1959.

Sharon Kaehle German, colleague on the English faculty in the School of Arts and Sciences with her husband, Dr. Howard German, wrote a 3,000-word essay on one of Shakespeare's classics. Her critique of "King Lear" appears in the Shakespeare issue of "Forum," a literary journal published by Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Ind. In the essay, "The Upward Passage in 'King Lear'," Mrs. German pinpoints the play's catastrophe: "... the breakdown of communication between human beings." Her article appears on pages 10-15 in the third number of "Forum's" Volume V. Mrs. German joined the ECC faculty in September, 1963.

Dr. Wellington B. Gray, dean of the School of Art, is the author of an article, "Four Crises in the Arts," in the December, 1964, issue of "North Carolina Education," monthly journal of the N. C. Education Association. His essay lists and describes crises for the artist in four broad areas: attitudes, participation, support and education. It appears on pages 10-11 in the December issue. Dr. Gray came to ECC in September, 1956.

Nancy Rebecca Ridenhour, a 1964 ECC graduate from Harrisburg (Cabarrus County) who now teaches home economics at Asheboro Junior High School, wrote an essay, "My Growing Pains," which appears on page 11 in the January issue of "North Carolina Education." Miss Ridenhour despite the college "growing pains" she describes, concludes: "... I am happy. I am a teacher. I wouldn't be anything else!" She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ridenhour, Route 1, Harrisburg. At East Carolina last year she was a practice teacher at Washington High School under the supervision of Alice Strawn of the ECC home economics faculty.

Patricia Reynolds Willis of the School of Arts and Sciences' English faculty is the author of an article which describes the philosophy, purpose and operation of the East Carolina College Poetry Forum. It appears on pages 21-23 in the winter issue of "North Carolina English Teacher," quarterly publication of the N. C. English Teachers Association. Mrs. Willis points out in her article that the Poetry Forum was created at ECC for "... the needs and potentials of the young ...". The author, who is a director of the Poetry Forum, joined the English faculty at ECC in September, 1962.

BILL PECK, Chairman of the delegation from East Carolina to the State Legislature which will convene in Raleigh, North Carolina, February 18, 19, and 20.

State Student Legislature To Meet February 18-20

Each year North Carolina gives college students a chance to take part in the state government through the State Student Legislature. Students from North Carolina Colleges go to Raleigh and spend three days introducing bills and resolutions, debating them, and voting on them.

The purpose of the SSL is to acquaint students with the state government and how it works so they can compare their school legislatures with it. The SSL also gives active students from all over the state a meeting ground, and promotes intercollegiate co-operation.

The date of this year's SSL is February 18-20. East Carolina will send 9 delegates to the House of Representatives, 2 to the Senate, and 3 as observers and alternates. The delegates vote on the bills as individuals rather than a school. The only time they will vote in a bloc is on East Carolina's bill.

East Carolina has a good reputation at this convention because it consistently sends good people and introduces good bills. Delegates are chosen by the External Affairs Chairman and a committee of 2 or 3 previous delegates. They select people who are active and who will take the job seriously. The delegates start researching and drafting the bill about two months before they go to Raleigh. At the convention they work about 16 hours a day. East Carolina usually tries to send 1 or 2 seniors, 5 juniors, 5 sophomores, and 3 freshmen. This year's delegates are Bill Peck, Bob Kerlin, Bill Deal, Joe Brown, Ray Owen, S. R. Tolley, Celia Orr, Katy Quealy, Jane Mewborn, Jan Jackson, Sandy Wentzel, Luanne Kaylor, and Carrie Tyson.

East Carolina is presenting a bill to recommend to the North Carolina General Assembly that the present Alcoholic Beverage Control Laws be changed to allow the sale of alcoholic beverages by the drink and to allow privately controlled stores to sell alcoholic beverages. The delegates feel that this bill would be beneficial to the state and has a good chance of passing.

Phi Epsilon Kappa Selects Pledges

PHI EPSILON KAPPA

Ron Bergman, Pledge Master of Phi Epsilon Kappa, professional Physical Education Fraternity, announces that the following men have been accepted into the Epsilon Pledge Class at East Carolina.

Clinton Frank Harrell, Jimmie Richard Grimsley, Joe Price, and Bob Roberts were the men accepted. Harrell, a junior from Chowan, was elected President of the Pledge class by a unanimous vote.

The Pledge period is to last about five weeks during which members of the pledge class are to make pledges bearing the Greek initials of the Fraternity and the Phi Epsilon Kappa seal.

Castellow Announces Deadline Date Of Fees, Applications For National Teachers Exam

Prospective teachers who wish to take the National Teacher Examination at East Carolina College Saturday, March 20, must complete application forms by Friday, Feb. 19, according to Wilbur Castellow, ECC director of testing.

Castellow said all application forms and fees must be mailed to the Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, N. J., no later than the deadline date.

Applications for the examinations and bulletins of information describing registration procedures may be obtained from Castellow in Rawl building Annex, Room 143.

The designation of East Carolina as a testing center will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with candidates throughout the country, Castellow said.

At the one-day test session, a candidate may take the Common examinations, which include tests in professional education and general education, and one of 13 teaching area examinations.

The Common Examination will be given in two parts. The first half will last from shortly after 8:30 a.m. when the examinees assemble until noon. Part II will be given between 1:45 and 3:15 p.m. after a 90-minute break for lunch.

Optional specialized tests will be offered immediately following the Common Examination. Castellow said those will be finished by about 4:45 p.m.

HOUSEMOTHER—Mrs. T. Basden is the new housemother at the Pi Kappa Alpha house. She began service after the Christmas holidays. Her home is in Raleigh.

Mrs. Basden, New Housemother At Pika House Since Christmas

PIKA
Since returning from the Christmas holidays, the men at the Pika House have been sharing their school home with Mrs. T. Basden, their new housemother. Being housemother for a fraternity is no easy job and calls for a woman of many talents and much patience. Mrs. Basden meets these qualifications very well as any Pika will tell you.

Hailing from Raleigh where she has lived the greater part of her life, Mrs. Basden is the widow of the late musician, Taylor Basden. She has two children: Mr. William H. Basden, Director of Music in Camden, S.C., Public Schools and Mrs. Lonel B. Sears, a Raleigh housewife. Her granddaughter, Miss June Sears, is presently a student here at East Carolina.

After her husband's death Mrs. Basden worked as a Raleigh Public School cafeteria manager for several years before moving into interior decorating work which she has done for the last fifteen years. For eight of these years she managed the Remnant Shop, a fabric shop in Raleigh.

While in Raleigh, Mrs. Basden was an active member of various church committees and sang in her church choir. She numbers among her favorite hobbies sewing, decorating, and music. In the one month she has been here she has overseen the painting of her room and made new curtains for her windows as well as starting to upholster her chairs.

Serving as Pika hostess, Mrs. Basden has proved invaluable during rush. She has added more variety to the meals served at the house along with increasing kitchen efficiency in her job as kitchen overseer.

Judging from her friendly attitude and her helpfulness the Pikas count themselves lucky to have such an outstanding woman for their housemother.

CHI OMEGA NEWS

The sisters of Chi Omega are proud to have a new sister, Lynda Ruth Robbins, initiated into their Rho Zeta Chapter. She was initiated Friday night, January 29. Congratulations "Rink!"

Tuesday, February 2, Judy Driggers who is pinned to KA brother Eddie Barnes, was serenaded at the Chi O house. The KA brothers (even in the cold night air) serenaded beautifully!

Sigma Alpha Iota, EC Music Fraternity Hosts Province President, Gives Musicales

SIGMA ALPHA IOTA
Sigma Alpha Iota, EV's national music fraternity for girls, played hostess this weekend to her province president, Mrs. Elizabeth Fossey, who annually visits each school in her province to confer with the officers and check on the chapter's progress.

The Beta Psi chapter on campus held a formal business meeting Saturday for Mrs. Fossey's observation and a musicale for her entertainment. Participating in the musicale were Margaret DeLong (flute), Glenda Alford (piano), and Mary (flute), Georgia Mizesko (voice), Jean Carpenter (clarinet).

Climaxing the weekend was the formal initiation of our fall pledge class on Sunday afternoon, a much anticipated event which was postponed for two weeks due to snow. Honored guest at the sacred and completely secret service was Mrs. Fossey.

Following initiation and dinner at the Kenland Motel, we reluctantly let her return to her duties at the Union University in Tennessee. The Beta Psi Chapter of A.A.I. here at EC was honored to have Mrs. Fossey and we hope that she was favorably impressed with the sisters and their year's achievements.

Sigma Alpha Iota feels that the EC students should recognize the achievements of its members in the field of music, not primarily to glorify its name, but because the "educated" student should be enlightened on all aspects of his respective college and because an education limited to purely academic interests reduces the effectiveness of a man's personality in this world.

We of Sigma Alpha Iota wish to pay particular tribute to Miss Helen Charabas, a junior piano major from Washington, D.C. Helen is working for a performance degree and is studying with Dr. Robert Carter, whose ability as a teacher

KAPPA ALPHA

The KA's acquired six new pledges during winter quarter. The new pledges are: Russel Fields, Greenville; Ronnie Williams, Greenville; Julian West, Statesville; Mike Patterson, Ropeboro; Steve Snitman, Stanton, Va.; Ike Stuberland, Kinston.

The KA's are now making plans for their biggest weekend — the annual Old South Ball. This year the event will be held at the Biltmore Hotel in Morehead City on April 2-3.

In intramural basketball the KA's are holding their own — having only lost one game. They are now tied for first place. Saturday, February 6, the KA basketball team is playing the Washington City league All-Stars in an exhibition game to raise money for the Washington Recreation Department.

KA's thanks go to brother Jim Early for his year's of outstanding intramural play. Jim graduates this quarter and is an expectant father. Best wishes, Jim.

Congratulations also go to Jim Munford on his recent pinning to Miss Joan Waller of Winston-Salem.

ALPHA OMICRON PI

The AOPi's are champions in the sorority basketball tournament since they defeated the Delta Zetas last Tuesday. The AOPi's basketball team is undefeated at the end of the tournament thanks to our team: Ann Neville, Carolyn Wright, Mary Coble, Lyn Watson, Donnie Hewett, Ann Stephens and Coach Diane Crawford. Next AOPi will play the champion of the girls' dormitory tournament.

Mrs. Jo, Sanders, the collegiate director for District III of national AOPi will be visiting East Carolina's chapter during formal rush. Mrs. Sanders has had much experience in applying the finishing touches that make a good formal rush and her guidance will be very much appreciated by this chapter.

ALPHA PHI

This past Sunday afternoon the Alpha Phi sisters enjoyed being together and preparing for rush. The planning and practice for rush activities increased the enthusiasm for the coming week. Sister Ann Crenshaw is doing a tremendous job as rush activity co-ordinator.

THETA CHI CHATTER

This weekend was very quiet at 414 West 4th Street, for not only did a few brothers go home, but the remaining ones devoted the weekend to studying. Everyone relaxed Saturday night at the house partying during the Blizzard of 1965. It was Bob Kerlin's birthday Saturday, so naturally he took the traditional trip to the shower.

A social fraternity is made up of many people, and is much more than just an organization to hold parties. The members are students interested in not only an education, but also topics that affect themselves as citizens. In regard to this, three of our brothers, S. R. Tolley, Bill Hunt and Bob Kerlin have been selected by the S.G.A. to represent East Carolina at the State Student Legislature on February 18, 19, and 20 in Raleigh. We are quite sure that they will very adequately represent East Carolina.

Room 3, feeling that intellectual superiority should be balanced with physical adaptivity, have been working out on the rifle range under the direction of pledge Rock Parsons. Within a week, it is felt that this skill will also be mastered. The top three television shows, as a result of a poll by the constituents of Room 3, remain The Rogues, Man from U.N.C.L.E., and Slattery's People. These are thought to be the only shows that exhibit any creativity or intellectual imagination.

The discussion topic for this week is "The Aspirations of Woody Mitchell" or "A Tree Grows in Room 3." Oh, yes, Jim Cromartie was judged to be contingent.

ALPHA XI DELTA

The sisters of Alpha Xi Delta have been very busy for the past few weeks getting ready for rush. They are really looking forward to next week. Sister Lynda Love is in charge of the party Sunday afternoon, Kinda Jennings, Wednesday, and Barbara Trader Friday night. These girls deserve a lot of credit for heading these committees. Linda Daub, who is Membership Chairman, and Lynn Taylor, Rush Chairman, have also been very busy getting ready for rush. Patti Patillo, National Field Counselor of Alpha Xi Delta, will be here for rush. Everyone is looking forward to seeing Patti. She was here last year for rush, also.

PI KAPPA PHI

Pi Kappa Phi initiated eight new brothers Thursday night. They are Eddie Brock, Norfolk, Va.; Jack Cotten, New Bern, N.C.; Jim Dail, Edenton, N.C.; Skip Dicamillo, Haddonfield, New Jersey; Flip Elliott, Falls Church, Va.; Frank Johnston, Edenton, N.C.; George Styron, Morehead City, N.C.; and Jim Williams, Washington, N.C.

In addition, Mr. Gorman Ledbetter was formally initiated as an alumni, and becomes a faculty advisor of the chapter. Mr. Ledbetter is an instructor in the Business Department at East Carolina and we are sure he will help the chapter in many ways.

Two Brothers spent the majority of last week in hospitals. Brothers Gary Miller and Ray Lewis underwent minor operations during this time. They returned at the end of the week fully recovered.

Brothers Brock, Davis, Frye, Ramseur, and Scott with pledges Mallon, Rice, and Wayman participated in the Intramural Wrestling Tournament last week. Currently, thanks to their efforts, Pi Kappa Phi is in second place.

A party was held Saturday night at the chapter lodge — "The Niche". Entertainment was furnished by the dynamic "J.T. and the Troils" and the ever-present juke box. Another get-together is scheduled for this weekend with J.T. ready to perform again.

PHI SIGMA

The brothers of Phi Sigma Pi, National Honorary Fraternity, held

a dinner meeting at the Pika House on Wednesday evening, January 27, at six p.m.

Twenty-five brothers and a fraternity advisor, Dr. Richard Todd, were present to hear and speak and show slides from the trip around the world about the University of the Seven Seas.

A delicious dinner, consisting of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, gravy, green beans, and cranberry sherbert dessert, was enjoyed by all.

President Raymond Jones presided over the meeting and announced that the Candlewick Inn had been reserved for the fraternity's Founder's Day banquet on April 10. He then introduced Vice-President Williams, who introduced the speakers.

Dr. Douglas is a member of the Department of Sociology faculty and is a specialist in the area of marriage and the Family. He came to EC in 1958. Mrs. Douglas has a Masters Degree in Psychology and has had a life-long interest in psychology and religion.

Their presentation was both interesting and informative. They took the brothers "Around the World in Sixty Minutes" with 400 beautiful slides. Mrs. Douglas commented on the religion and architecture of each country. Dr. Douglas spoke about the population pressure and adjustment change.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

At Sigma Phi Epsilon, plans for just been completed concerning a 1965 Grand Chapter Congress to be held at the Baltimore Hotel, New York City. The members attendance will be comprised of a president and one alternate delegate from each of SPE's 171 chapters across the nation. Included in the program for the 1965 Congress are five sessions for such things as policy making, by-law revision, and addition, the election of a new slate of National Officers, a leadership school, and the 20th anniversary banquet for the National Congress. In addition, one day will be set aside for a guided tour of The World's Fair.

On Sunday, January 31, SPE initiated three men into the ranks of the Brotherhood. These men are John McClinton Truesdale of Lancaster, South Carolina; Hunter L. million of Williamsburg, Virginia; and Anthony Thomas Ford of Williamsburg, Virginia. The first step of the formal initiation was held in church with the ritualistic ceremony being held behind closed doors in the fraternity house.

The next week will prove to be one of great importance to the members of SPE. The fraternity's current executive council led by president Ernie Josephs will yield the positions to a new slate of officers who will serve the chapter in an official capacity for the 1965 term.

Davidson, Ranked Sixth In Nation, Downs EC As Kinnard Gets 20

By RANDY RAYAN

Davidson, ranked sixth among the nation's major colleges, took an 8-6 victory over East Carolina last Thursday night. It was the 14th victory in a row for the Wildcats who are undefeated in Southern Conference play.

Fred Hetzel was game scoring leader with 23 points and also led in rebounds with 13. Bob Kinnard was second high man for the game while leading the Pirates with 20 points.

The powerful Wildcats jumped to a 22-22 half time advantage on the scoring power of their front line trio of Hetzel, Don Davidson, and Dick Snyder, who accounted for 65 of the Wildcats points. Davidson hit for 19 points while Snyder pumped in 18. Snyder was also the defensive standout of the game as he held the usually high scoring Jerry Woodside to six points. Woodside had entered the game as the Pirates leading scorer with a 21.9 average.

The Pirates came back in the early second half to pull within nine points of Davidson but the Wildcats proved too powerful as they finally took control of the game. Their strong shooting in the second half gave them a 50 percent average for the game, but the big factor was the control of the boards where the Wildcats held a 48-31 advantage over the Pirates.

This was the 26th straight victory at home for Davidson and they now boast a 15-1 record for the season. East Carolina now stands 8-6 for the season.

Buccaneer Citation To Honor Faculty

The professors outstanding work in each of these areas has prompted their selection as a Buccaneer Citation Recipient for 1965. Those selected for the honor include: Dr. Francis R. Adams, Mr. Edgar R. Loessin, Dr. Jean Lowry, Dr. Miriam R. Moore, Dr. Ralph R. Napp, Dr. James Poindexter, Dr. H. Daniel Stillwell, Mr. Jerr Sutherland, and Dr. Richard C. Todd.

Dr. Seaborg, Prize Winner, Lectures Here April 11

Dean Alexander spoke to the SGA delegates Monday and said that the East Carolina College Lecture Committee has been trying to get Dr. Glen Seaborg, Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, to speak to the East Carolina College students and faculty for over a year. Last spring Congressman Herbert Bonner tried to help us, but Dr. Seaborg's schedule was full. East Carolina students may look forward to seeing Dr. Seaborg this April. Dr. Pruitt of the EC Psychology Department was able to persuade him to come this year instead of next year.

Dr. Seaborg will be the first Nobel Prize winner ever to speak on the campus of East Carolina. He is the former Chancellor of the California Institute of Technology and number one in the technical field. Bob Lecoure, senior, said, "It would be an honor to the campus to have him as our speaker." The SGA voted and approved the additional funds needed to obtain Dr. Seaborg.

Pirates Alley

Question Of Grammar

By RON DOWDY

What really makes an athlete? Is it the publicity one receives, the thoughts of getting one's name in the headline, or is it the money in it. On this campus all three can be eliminated, because we don't have (directly) the media to publicize an individual nor does the Athletic department have the money to give every athletic participant what he deserves. Here at EC we have a swimming team, a wrestling team, and a crew team as well as the big three sports. Did you know that? La crosse is being added soon! What really makes an athlete? It is the desire and determination to do a job well and to represent his school in the highest fashion. Our athletes work because our coaches work them; they are all dedicated to one goal—to do their most, to play fair and hard.

So, the next time you see an athlete walking around campus—greet him and 'thank him' for doing a job which we are "not" doing; and, go to their events cheer them on to victory!

Next basketball season we play all of the Southern Conference foes except West Va., and they are all scheduled on a home-and-home basis (except V.P.L.). We play a total of 17 conference games of which we need play only ten (10) to get into the tournament. With Billy Brogden being the only regular who won't be back, the school should sport another good season.

send our thanks.

In the lobby of the gym, there is an article about the "Tangerine Bowl" victory in the CHINA POST! Yes... E.C. is internationally known.

Coach Stas is still receiving awards... the latest being that one from the Washington, N.C. Touchdown Club. It was a large engraved silver platter given in honor of his recognition as "Coach of the Year" and even more so for their appreciation of a job well done.

Tomorrow, he attends the largest Touchdown Club banquet in the south... the one in Atlanta, Georgia. He is presently having to turn down several dinner and speaking engagements due to his hurried schedule.

Seniors making plans for their first year of graduate study or students already pursuing graduate study are eligible to apply. The decision of the committee will be based upon the student's academic record, evidence of professional interest, personal qualifications, and need of financial assistance. ## CONGRATULATIONS GO TO AIKEN!

Congratulations to Mr. Earl Aiken for doing such an outstanding job of selling the Pirate Athletic Program to so many newspapers across the country! Mr. Aiken came here in August of 1962 from his own publicity firm in Lenoir, before which, he was a Lenoir - Rhyne associate. Hardly a day goes by that there isn't an article in the News & Observer about sports at East Carolina. Mr. Aiken, Director of the Office of Sports Information, has a strenuous job facing him each day... but yet each day he has another good angle. To you sir, we Entries will be judged by photographs and a description of the girl. The five finalist will win an all-expense trip to Winter Haven and the finals will be held at Cypress Gardens. The winner also will receive a scholarship from U. S. Cheerleaders Association.

Other finalists last year were Sharry Daye Baird, Birmingham-Southern College; Cindy Lee, Auburn University; Carolyn Lawrence, Ohio University; and Judy Griffin, Austin Peay State College.

William & Mary Nips Pirates In Close Cage Battle

By RANDY RYAN

William & Mary edged by East Carolina by a 61-58 score when Walter Wenk sunk two free throws with 12 seconds remaining in the game. It was the climax to a close fought game that gave the Pirates their seventh loss against eight victories.

The score was tied at 54-54 with just a little over three minutes to play when Wenk came through with a basket and Larry Caffrath sank a free throw to give William & Mary a 57-54 lead. Danny Pasquariello hit a basket for East Carolina to cut the Tribe's lead to 57-56 but Ben Tomery, the Indian's center sank a basket to re-establish the three point spread, 69-56 with 36 seconds left to play in the game. The Pirates called for a time-out and when play resumed Bobby Kinnard hit a jump shot to pull the Pirates within one point. As the Indians slowed the game down to preserve their slim lead, Wenk was fouled deliberately so that the Pirates might get their hands on the ball.

There was still hope as Wenk stepped to the foul line with one-and-one situation, because he had hit only 3 out of 11 previous free throw attempts. But Wenk sank both shots to give William & Mary their sixth victory of the season against ten losses.

EC Becomes Depository For Geological Survey Maps

East Carolina has become the sixth North Carolina depository for maps produced by the U.S. Geological Survey of the Department of Interior.

As a result maps covering all regions of the United States will be kept on file in the geography department, a division of the School of Arts and Sciences.

The first shipment, numbering about 1,000 maps, has arrived on the campus and student assistants are cataloging and filing the maps under the direction of Dr. Robert E. Cramer, department director.

Dr. Cramer said the Geological Survey provides its map service free to selected institutions of higher education with programs in geography and geology.

The new EC map supply will be expanded each time the Geological Survey adds to its series. It will be "used intensively," according to Dr. Cramer, in geology courses offered by his department.

The maps will be used by students and faculty at East Carolina and by other interested persons. Their use, however, will be restricted to the map room of the geography department on the third floor of Graham Building, the department director said.

He pointed out that the new collection is especially important to the department because it adds comprehensive coverage of the United States to a series of foreign maps deposited at ECC by the Army Map Service The Army Map Service chose EC as a depository last year.

Dr. Cramer said the Geological Survey has a dual purpose in its program of depositing maps at various locations:

(1) To make the maps available to students and researchers in cartography, geomorphology, and (2) to disperse the central map collection from Washington, D. C., to avoid the possibility of total loss.

Other North Carolina depositories are located at Duke University, North Carolina State University, N. C. Department of Conservation and Development, the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, and Wake Forest College.

The EC geography department has the largest undergraduate collection of its kind in the state. It offers more cartography courses than any other college or university in the state. Many of its graduates have found jobs in cartography because of specialized training received here.
