Interested Students Obtain Filing Blanks For Spring Elections

Filing for office for the spring election will begin Thursday, March 4, and end Friday, March 12. Filing blanks will be available in the Student Government Office from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day.

Blanks for which students may file are: SGA Executive Offices, class officers, class representatives to the Board of Trustees, and college Marshalls.

A compulsory meeting of all candidates will be held Monday, March 15, in Room 130 at 8:30 p.m. All candidates must attend or be disqualified.

Written campaign expense accounts must be on file in the SGA Office by 4:00 p.m. Friday, March 19. A candidate failing to do so will be disqualified.

The elections will be held Tuesday, March 23.

East Carolina's Student Government Association has announced that President Jim Mahan will be completing his student teaching obligations in Goldsboro this quarter. However, he will continue in his present position as SGA president. Although Mahan will be living in Goldsboro, he will return here on Monday and Tuesday nights in order to fulfill his job as president.

Pageant Selects Gloria White As Miss Greenville Of 1965

Miss Gloria Rose White of Belmont, N. C. was chosen Miss Greenville of 1965 last Thursday in the annual pageant. Seven lovely East Carolina coeds performed before an admiring audience in Austin Auditorium.

Miss White, wearing a white evening dress of her own design, featuring a bell-shaped skirt and a full-length sequin panel, received her crown from the retiring Miss Greenville, Carolyn Faye Spencer.

The other six girls in the pageant were: Pamela Jane Dalton of Greensboro, first runner-up; Karen Anne Lox of Roanoke, Va., second runner-up; Carla Lee Griffin of Chesapeake, Va.; Frances Apdlett Lamm of Greenville; James P. Stephenson of Newport News, Va.; and Drina Kay Walters of Lumberton.

The pageant, sponsored by the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce, was beautifully decorated in a ranch setting, labeled "Jaycee Bar Ranch." The Master of Ceremonies was Jimmy Capps, popular radio personality. A combo with organ, drums, and electric guitar furnished music at intervals and accompanied some of the contestants in their talent presentations.

Miss North Carolina, Sharon Kay Finch, gave a short speech and sang a song, "Greenville, U.S.A." She wore a long green sheath embroidered with sequins. Two other reigning beauty queens were present also, and they were recognized in the audience by Capps. They were Anne Davis, Miss Wilson, and Barbara Montague, Miss Roxboro.

For her part in the talent competition, Miss White sang a musical arrangement of Eugene Field's poem for children, "Wynken, Blynken, and Nod" accompanied by a song, she wore an olive-green velvet long-sleeved sheath dress with a boat neckline and an Empire bodice. Pamela Dalton, first runner-up, sang two songs: the popular "People" from the current Broadway musical Funny Girl, and a semi-classical melody, "Love Is Where You Find It." Karen Lox, second runner-up gave a dramatic reading of an original monologue of a young woman in the Civil War era. She wore a period costume.

After the swimsuit competition and a short farewell speech by the retiring Miss Greenville, the three finalists were announced.

They were then called out on stage one at a time to be asked two questions, one whimsical and one serious, by the Master of Ceremonies. Their poise and ability to answer quickly was noted by the judges to be the deciding factor in the selection of the winner.

The same two questions were asked of the three girls. The first was, "You are dressed formally. Your date arrives in a sport shirt. The date is a fraternity informal. What would you do?" And the more serious question was, "What is the most serious problem confronting the United States, and how do you suggest that it be solved?"

To the former question, Miss White replied that she would "go upstairs and change to something more decent for the occasion." To the latter she answered that this nation's most serious problem is "the war in South Viet Nam" and that Americans should "pray for the boys there and for peace."

The new Miss Greenville, a green-eyed blonde, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White of Belmont. She is a sophomore and a member of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority. Her musical training includes several years study in piano and voice. She has sung with the folk-singing group "The Greenfield Singers," and models for the local Belk-Tyler's department store on WNCT.

The role of beauty queen is no novelty to Gloria White. She has previously been Miss Cramerton, a member of the queen's court at the Apple Festival, and Queen of the E.C.C. White Ball. She plans a career as an interior designer.

The judges for the Miss Greenville Pageant were: Mr. Jerry Ball of Charlotte, an attendant of Humble Oil Company and an outstanding judge of both local and state pageants throughout the entire South; Mrs. Ben Harner of Snow Hill, a former Mrs. North Carolina; Mrs. Ames Evans of Greenville, an experienced judge of many pageants and parental chaperone of Miss Greenville; Mr. Curtis Alderson of Elizabeth City, a judge of many pageants; and Mr. Rick Pindell of Raleigh, a realtor, experienced judge, and last year's Vice Chairman of the Miss North Carolina Pageant.

The Miss Greenville Pageant is an official preliminary of the Miss America Pageant held each year since 1921 at Atlantic City, New Jersey. The new Miss Greenville will compete in the Miss North Carolina competition later in the year in which a winner will be selected to represent the state at Atlantic City.

Miss Gloria Rose White of Belmont, N. C. was selected Miss Greenville of 1965 over a field of seven EC coeds. Miss White also holds the title of EC Whitehall Queen. She was previously Miss Cramerton and a member of the Queen's Court at the Apple Festival.

Peace Corps Visits EC; Orients Students In Work

The week of March 8-12 is Peace Corps Week on the East Carolina campus. An interesting program has been arranged to orient students with the objectives and history of the young service organization. These Peace Corps volunteers will meet in Wright Lobby during the week with material available for interested persons.

The placement test for the Peace Corps will be administered Wednesday, March 10 through Tuesday, March 16 from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. in Room 125 Old Austin. This test is necessary for all prospective volunteers as a means of evaluation.

Also, the Peace Corps film, "Mission of Discovery" will be shown Monday and Tuesday nights at 7:00 p.m. in the Library Auditorium.

Speakers are available for interested organizations night or day during the week. For information call 536-3426.

East Carolina College has already contributed six volunteers to the Peace Corps. Last September, the school had the following students serving around the globe: Patricia Brown, the Philippines; Willard J. Clark, Nigeria; Walter Nathaniel Dixon III, Liberia; Mary C. Pierce, Pakistan; Ellsworth E. Sinclair, Liberia; and James Taylor, Nigeria.

During the short history of the Peace Corps, the organization has contributed immensely to the image of the United States. The benefits of service in the Peace Corps are shown by examining the present status of 3400 returned volunteers. After serving their term in a foreign country, thirty-four percent of these volunteers are now in graduate school, while seventeen percent are attending undergraduate school. More than fifteen percent hold teaching jobs and eleven percent are in government service.

The age of the average volunteer is 23.9 years and ninety percent are between 21-40 years old. Surprisingly, there are 580 married couples serving in the Peace Corps. The majority of the volunteers are serving in Africa and Latin America in educational capacities.

Dr. John Horne Claims Large Increase In Applications For 1965-66 Admission

By JOHN AVERY
Applications to East Carolina College have increased at the rate of one hundred and ten percent over last year. Director of Admissions Dr. John H. Horne released figures Saturday which graphically illustrate the growing influence of the college. As of last week, approximately seven thousand applications have been received by the Admissions Office at a continuing rate of $60,000 per week. "At this rate it is simple to project the figure to over ten thousand by next September," Dr. Horne said. Already over 3100 freshmen have been admitted to the Freshman Class of 1966.

Another indication of the tremendous growth of East Carolina is the quality of work presented by these prospective students. Dr. Horne estimated that the present SAT scores average thirty to forty points higher than last year at this time. With over 7500 SAT scores received, the number of high scores (1100 or above) has doubled.

The applications include students from forty-four states and fifteen for-ign countries (including the Grand Bahamas, Japan, Korea, India, Iraq, Iran, Jordan, Formosa, Canada, and Chile). Numerous students have applied to East Carolina after learning of the outstanding schools of Art, Business, and Drama.

Dr. Horne pointed out that these figures can be deceiving. "Even though we are now admitting all qualified applicants, the moot question is how many will enroll," he said. The problem exists because many students apply to more than one school to be assured of acceptance. For instance, last year, sixty-five percent of those accepted actually enrolled at East Carolina.

"The war-baby boom is certainly upon us now and these increases should continue through next year with a leveling off afterwards," Dr. Horne said. With over four hundred high schools represented in these new figures, the importance of the SAT as a means of standardization is increased. Dr. Horne also admired the quality of the out-of-state students' records. "We are now getting much better representation from other states as the better students apply here. Even though the minimum SAT is 900, most students present scores of more than one thousand."

Dr. Jenkins also was impressed by this great increase and released the following statement: "The tremendous demand for higher education in North Carolina is such that we shall have many more applications than we can accept. Therefore, out of necessity, we shall be obliged to accept students on the basis of their credentials—giving preference to North Carolina students with the highest records of academic achievement. It also places a tremendous responsibility upon those who are already accepted to be worthy of their membership in this college, realizing that this space they occupy could have been and was desired by three or four other students. All of the state-supported colleges in North Carolina have no alternative other than keeping those who have come here with serious intentions and excluding or eliminating those who do not have these objectives."

NRHS Holds Excursion

Several members of the East Carolina chapter of the National Railway Historical Society participated recently in a special excursion planned by the Old Dominion chapter, Richmond. Members of the local chapter among the 153 passengers were Miss Velma Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Dade, Bill Morris, and Bob Morrison.

The special trip, partly over lines without passenger service for more than a decade, ran from Richmond to Brems over the Chesapeake and Ohio's scenic James River line. Near Brems, the special train, consisting of two streamlined, self-propelled "rail-diesel-cars" (RDC's), crossed the Rivanna River and climbed over a twisting but picturesque route to the industrial town of Dillwyn.

NRHS membership is open to all who are interested in rail travel and history.

explanation please

SGA President, Jim Mahan, is living in Goldsboro this quarter. His academic program has taken him away from the campus, and thus, away from his elected position as president. Our student leader will, however, leave his new post as student teacher in Goldsboro twice each week and come to Greenville to take up his duties as leader of student action.

It seems that this course of action taken by our president has raised a few eyebrows about the campus. This is expected. But how far will the eyebrow rise before the hand rises also? The SGA is teeming with rumors and ideas concerning the situation. Many persons within the realms of the SGA 'IN CROWD' seem to have their own ideas about the sudden and stunning program of study taken on by Mahan this quarter. But then there are only several weeks before a new slate of officers take the helm.

It seems that someone, certainly Mahan should have known that this course of study was necessary during spring quarter. But due to the lack of information, the school is without an active president for a period of weeks.

Truly, the situation is not as bad as imagined when one first hears the shocking news. This certainly is not Presidential protocol . . . and of course, should never become such. In fact, there should be no excuse for the present situation.

If Mahan can conduct all the business on the presidential agenda with only two evenings in his office . . . his latest arrangement of executive office hours is A-OK.

But, in the same breath, if this is true . . . it is certainly time to begin thinking about who the students select to occupy the executive office during 1966. Exactly how much is the office of the President worth to the student body.

Certainly the position may be made into what the elected person desires to make it . . . but the presidential responsibility seems more demanding than what Mahan will allocate of himself Spring quarter.

The question is not whether Mahan has done a good job with his position thus far . . . this is not for us to decide.

However, we may take a look at the time that our president devotes to his duties. Even if the president is the student-"outside world" liaison . . . and nothing more.

We are of the opinion that the presidential office requires a certain amount of dispersing duty. And this is time consuming . . . to say the least. Then there is the role of overseeing the execution of the duties . . . meeting and representing the students . . . working with the SGA and producing dreams that the SGA may work toward . . . innovating new and unique ideas . . . and on the list goes. And one comes back to the question of time. Will two nights per week be enough to perform such a function properly?

And so the question remains . . . how can these duties be performed? The students deserve an answer. And soon someone is going to demand the answer. What will the SGA present as their excuse?

This column of the paper is open to the SGA for their explanation . . . at their convenience.

LETTERS

The EAST CAROLINIAN welcomes letters from its readers. The briefer they are the better the prospect of publication. Letters should be kept to a maximum of 150 words. They should also be of general interest to all students. All are subject to condensation and should conform to the standards of decency and good taste. We assume no responsibility for statements made. Any letter that is not accompanied with the name of the person who wrote it will not be published. If you wish for us to withhold your name please state so in the letter.

To the Editor:

Before coming to East Carolina, many times I had heard about a problem which exists here—STEALING. For you know, knowledge of acts seeps out. I had heard it linked with the "Big Joke" about EC's honor system of rules which lacked, I am told, practicality and logic. But in hope and optimism I wanted to see the best, not the least of the best.

Last spring I had the disappointment of experiencing a "less than best," for while I was at the circulation desk in Joyner Library, someone lifted my physics book and notes off a table in the Reference Room.

Fall quarter, again in the library, I returned from the card catalogues to find my pocket book with my monthly allowance missing. Oh, it was not a drastic amount of money, $30, but gone.

Saturday night while working at a local business establishment someone, a college student, saw fit to take my TIME magazine (which is required reading for one of my courses) and cigarette case from the counter.

Definitely, I should be more careful, less careless. But tell me, do I not trust anyone, anywhere, at all?

I see the situation from a viewpoint of pity, for those who lack respect for others property can not possibly possess true respect for their own possessions, for themselves.

Those of you who have taken not only my possessions but those of others, I know not whom you are. You do. But whomever you may be, you are certainly to be pitied. Yet even more tragic, I pity your future children. The home and world they will have to live in as a result, undoubtedly will not be one of self-respect and personal dignity.

Respectfully submitted,
Connie Justice

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Unfortunately there are thieves wherever we go. These people, (I presume they are human), are a disgrace not only to their parents and friends, but also to their school. The only thing we can do is say "please be careful where you leave items of value unattended."

Dear Editor,

It seems incredible that it is necessary for me to write this letter, but after two years, I must.

When I arrived at East Carolina I was given an English and math placement test. There was no mention of a foreign language placement test. During Orientation, I asked about the lack of this test, and the reply was that it would be given in the near future.

It is now two years later, and I have just walked out of the French 4 Departmental Exam, with clear knowledge of what I did on it.

Through my career, repeating French 3, twice, and repeating French 4 three times, I have wondered and inquired what I would do. Having two inadequate years of French in high school, requires me to enter French 3, unprepared. I can not drop French for Spanish or German due to the fact that French is required for my graduate work. What do I do? I will have to continue to struggle on. But please, Mr. Editor, assist the Future foreign language students of EC by asking the administration to give placement tests.

My name is well known to French teachers, but I prefer not to sign.

To the Editor:

Concerning the letter to the editor in the Friday, February 19, EAST CAROLINIAN, I would like to retract the article because my information in several sentences was misinterpreted. I hope that I have not caused anyone any undue trouble, and I apologize to all persons involved for my mistakes.

Nominee for the award for "Foresight in Foreign Policy," Senator J. William Fulbright. On January 26, 1965, the senator emerged from his Foreign Relations Committee to tell reporters that the Hoang (South Viet Nam) regime was in no immediate danger of being overthrown. The Hoang regime was overthrown that evening, January 27, Senator Fulbright was unavailable for comment.

Our nation's leading scrap metal dealers in convention at Miami Beach, recently heard Commerce Department official, George Durant say that they ought to start thinking about selling scrap iron to the Soviet Union. This is mildly reminiscent of the pre-World War II days when we sold scrap iron to Japan and then got it back at Pearl Harbor. But times have changed and the Russians would never do anything like that anyway. . . they promised.

Senators George Smathers (D-Fla) and Milward Simpson (R-Wyo) have introduced some sorely needed legislation in Congress. It is aimed at establishing qualifications for persons appointed to the Supreme Court. It would require that future nominees have at least some experience on the bench so that there would be a record by which the Senate could judge the candidates. At present, five members of the high tribunal have no record (which is unusual).

An administration farm prediction that there will be a million fewer farms in 1964. The OMAHA EVENING NEWS states in relation to the trust the Agriculture Department will be able to expand its efforts to take care of that business.

Two Deep South congressmen, B. Williams of Mississippi and Bert Watson of South Carolina recently stripped of their senatorial seniority by the Republican Party. This was a result of their support of the Republican nominee in the presidential election. Congressman Adam Clayton Powell of New York also crossed the line to support the Republican nominee. The party will wish him and later he will be chairman of a House committee. Why the double standard plan as black and white?

Geography Majors Work By Chamber Of Commerce

Geography majors at East Carolina College, particularly those with special interest in city planning, and the local Chamber of Commerce have found they can work together for mutual benefit.

It started when Harold Creech, manager of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association, and a former associate were invited to a routine departmental meeting of the EOC geography students.

Dr. Robert E. Cramer, departmental director, readily noticed unusual interest among the young geographers while Creech and Joe Grimes, executive director of the Downtown Fayetteville Association, made their presentation.

"It's not too unusual," Dr. Cramer says, "that we have some of the fellows stay a few minutes after those meetings, but this time? Well, about 25 of our boys stayed to talk."

So what was the big deal? Creech and Grimes had channeled the roomful of collegiate energy in the practical direction of application with this question: "What's the greatest need of our city right now?"

There was underscoring:

East Carolina Crushes Atlantic Christian 113-96 For 12th Win

By RANDY RYAN
East Carolina crushed Atlantic Christian College 113-96 to close out the season with their twelfth victory in twenty two games. Bobby Kinnard led the Pirates in scoring with 31 points while senior Billy Brogden, playing in his final game, was second with 27 points.

Billy Brogden finished his career at East Carolina with over one thousand points. The only senior on the squad, Brogden, received a standing ovation in tribute to his abilities as he was introduced at the start of the game.

It was Billy's night as he began the ten point spurt in the first half that established the Pirate lead with a driving layup. As a fitting final to his career on his final play Billy dribbled through the entire Atlantic Christian team and drove for a layup even after being fouled. The basket was good and he swished the charity toss to complete a three point play to finish his college career. Brogden received another loud ovation as he left the court for the last time.

Bowling League Starts Spring Quarter Sessions

The College Union Bowling League will be starting its spring quarter session next Tuesday, March 9. It is for both men and women enrolled at East Carolina. The league is a handicap league. There is a special rate of $1.10 for three games and there is no fee for shoe rental. The league meets every Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 pm. Transportation will be provided by the lanes.

So come on out to Hillcrest Lanes Tuesday at 4:00 and have some fun. See you there.

Pirates to a 22 point halftime lead from which Atlantic Christian never recovered. The turning points came with eight minutes left in the half as Billy Brogden drove for a lay-up with the score 32-27 in favor of the Bucs. Grady Williamson and Jerry Woodside followed with baskets and Kinnard then pumped in a pair of buckets to cap the ten point spurt that put the Pirates ahead by 15 points at 42-27.

The Pirates had grabbed the lead at the opening on three quick baskets after Nick Serba's foul shot to go ahead 6-1. The scoring remained close in the first ten minutes and the lead changed hands three times in the first eight minutes. The Pirates slowly began to pull away until their ten point outburst.

Bobby Kinnard had a hot first half. In scoring his 25 points he shot 70.6% from the floor. Danny Pasquarello came on strong with 18 points, most of them coming in the second half. Pasquarello had come in for Gerald Smith who had gotten into foul trouble early. Jerry Woodside, who fouled out in the second half, had 18 points for the night. Larry Phillips chipped in with 11 for the Pirates cause.

The Pirates hit on 47 of 76 shots for a 56.6% while the Bulldogs had a 47.4%, hitting 37 out of 74 shots. The leading scorer for Atlantic Christian was Alton Hill with 21 points while Nick Serba had 19 points. Atlantic Christian finished the season with an 8-19 record. This was the Pirates second victory over Atlantic Christian this season.

Intramural Competition Offers Challenge At ECC

Yesterday was the last day for students to sign up for the tennis and golf intramural competition. However March 15 will be the deadline for all people to register their teams. There will be two leagues, the fraternity and independent leagues. Each horseshoe team can have as many as ten players on their roster.

The deadline for badminton will be March 22. Again ten players can be registered on each team's roster. All team directors, or managers, please check bulletin boards, so your team will be able to participate.

The first intramural activity for this quarter began this afternoon at 4:15. This was the time which four softball teams put forth their best effort to win their opening game. All Independent League games will be played on the field next to the tennis courts across from Aycock Dormitory. The fraternity league will play their games on the field adjacent to Fourteenth Street.

From previous talk and expectations the Rockets and Dazzlers are supposed to be the leaders in the Independent League. The Lambda Chi Alpha, Kappa Alpha, and Phi Kappa Tau Fraternities appear to be in the top three in the other league.

Many East Carolina men have been active participants in Intramural Sports this past year. Here, a group of students enjoy a competitive basketball game.

Pirates Trounce Frederick College; Woodside Hits 28

Jerry Woodside and Gerald Smith led East Carolina to a 101-72 victory over Frederick College. Woodside was high point man for the game with 28 points while Smith was runner-up with 25 points for the evening.

Smith got the Pirates rolling with his opening bucket in the first period. The Pirates never lost this opening lead and throughout the first half they held an eight to ten point advantage. In the closing minutes of the half the Frederick Lions rallied to pull within two points of the Bucs, 28 to 30, when they scored three successive baskets. East Carolina answered with four straight baskets of their own, to give them a 40-32 lead at halftime.

Smith, who led first half scorers with 12 points, hit three consecutive baskets in the opening minutes of the second period to give the Bucs a 14 point spread at 46-32. The Pirates rolled along to lead by more than twenty points. In the second half Woodside hit for twenty points as the Bucs out gunned the Lions to roll to their eleventh win of the season. In the closing minutes of the game, coach Wendell Carr sent in the subs but East Carolina still managed to break the century mark on Mike Baker's layup in the last minute of the game.

Gerald Smith once again was a leader as he hit continuously from the corner to draw the Frederick defense out. Jerry Woodside took advantage of the situation by capitalizing on many inside shots and layups to lead the Pirates scoring once again. Woodside shot a hot 80% as he hit on 12 of 15 attempts from the floor. From the charity line Woodside hit 4 of 7 attempts while Smith went 5 for 5. Bobby Kinnard turned in one of his best performances of the season as he dominated the boards with 20 rebounds and chipped in 19 points for the East Carolina cause.

The Pirates dominated the Frederick Lions in every respect except free throw percentage. East Carolina had a 57.3 shooting percentage as compared to Frederick's 36.6 per cent and led in rebounds 55 to 33.

Steve Cottrell led the Frederick scorers with 22 total points while Paul Hodges and Tex Murray each had 15. Last year East Carolina defeated Frederick by the almost identical score of 101-78 in the first round of the Camp Lejeune Tournament. East Carolina is now 11-10 on the season.

Physics Club Sponsors Monthly Series; Speakers Talk On Scientific Subjects

East Carolina's Physics Club is sponsoring this school year a monthly series of speakers to address club members and interested persons on various scientific topics.

The Physics Club, established during the winter quarter of the current term, will present Dr. R. Brehme, a physicist at Wake Forest College as its next speaker. He will speak March 23 on Einstein's Theory of Relativity.

Scheduled to address the April meeting is Dr. K. Z. Morgan, director of the Health Physics Division of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory. Dr. Morgan's topic will be "Maximum Permissible Exposure to Ionizing Radiation."

Outstanding physicists who have previously addressed the club include Dr. Carlisle Rogers, a physical chemist from the Kinston Du Pont Plant, who presented a talk entitled "Physics of High Polymers"; and Dr. J. D. Memory, physicist on the faculty of N. C. State in Raleigh, who discussed nuclear magnetic resonance and electron spin resonance.

Dr. Thomas Sayetta of the ECC physics faculty addressed the group in December on a topic much in the news recently, lasers. Dr. Sayetta discussed basic theory and pointed out the many applications of the laser.

The Physics Club, which is affiliated with the American Institute of Physics as a student section, was organized in an effort to encourage interest in physics and to give physics majors contact with professional physicists through lecture engagements.

The club also furnishes information about graduate school requirements and employment opportunities.

The club's meetings are held in room 319 of Flanagan Building at 7 p.m. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Student officers of the club this year are Raymond Fornes of Greenville, president; Tom Houston of Greenville, vice president; and Carolyn Abner of Burlington, secretary-treasurer.

A capacity crowd fringed, jerked, and hopped to the music of the Embers from Raleigh, here last Wednesday night. The occasion was the quarterly combo dance sponsored by the College Union. Door prizes at intermission created an air of excitement for those who attended. Joe Rippard, Chairman of the Record and Dance Committee was master of ceremonies for the dance.

Extension Division Offers 32-Day Study Tour Of European Capitals This Summer

A 32-day study tour of European capitals of culture and art will be offered next summer by the Extension Division of East Carolina College.

To be directed by Dr. Leon Jacobson, professor of art history in the School of Art at ECC, the tour is scheduled during the first term of the 1965 summer session at East Carolina, June 6 through July 7.

Nations on the itinerary are England, Holland, Belgium, West Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France.

Cities to be visited include London, Amsterdam, Brussels, Cologne, Lucerne, Milan, Venice, Florence, Rome, Nice, Lyon and Paris.

Among many famous shrines of culture and art to be visited are the British Museum, Amsterdam's collection of Van Gogh paintings, the Belgium city of Ghent, the Rhine Gorge, Milan's La Scala Opera House, the Florentine Silver Museum, Rome's Pantheon and Colosseum, The Louvre and the Palace of Versailles.

The trip will begin on Sunday, June 6, with an overnight New York-to-London jet flight. After a short hop from London to Amsterdam on June 11, the tour will travel by rail and bus until its return trans-Atlantic jet flight from Paris to New York on Wednesday, July 7.

Enrollment for the five-week tour must be limited to 32. Applications can be accepted immediately and until May 1. A refundable deposit of $1 is ample to hold a reservation.

An eight-page brochure describing the summer tour is available from Dr. Jacobson or from the Extension Division on the ECC campus.

The tour offers nine quarter-hours' college credit at two levels: undergraduate credit through Art 155 for bachelor's degree candidates; graduate credit through Art 325G or Education 350D which can be applied toward a master's degree or for teacher certificate renewal.

Officials have pointed out that teachers who take the tour for renewal credit can apply that credit to the five-year renewal period beginning July 1, 1965, because the tour will be completed after that date.

Though priority will be given to tour members enrolled for college credit, Non-credit audit members will also be accepted if there are available spaces.

Basic cost of the trip is $1,452. That includes most expenses except passports, extra baggage charges, laundry and personal expenses. Covered by the membership fee are transportation, hotels, meals, tips, taxes, sightseeing, baggage and passenger transfers. A tuition fee of $30 is added if the tour is taken for credit.

More information about the upcoming tour is available from Dr. Leon Jacobson, P.O. Box 2727, Greenville; or from the Extension Division in Rawl Annex on the ECC campus.

Art Major Represents School On National College Board

Mademoiselle Magazine recently announced the appointment of its 1965 College Board members. Mary Carole Cochran, senior art major, has been selected to represent East Carolina.

The National College Board is composed of winners of the magazine's annual College Board Competition, a contest designed to recognize young women with talent in art, writing, editing, photography, layout, fashion design, merchandising, retail promotion or advertising. Board members, from the United States, Canada, and abroad, were chosen on the basis of entries they submitted showing ability in one of these fields.

The girls will remain on the College Board until they are graduated. During this time, they will report regularly to the magazine on events at their college.

All College Board members are eligible to compete for the twenty Guest Editorships awarded by the magazine each May. To win one of the top twenty prizes, they submit a second entry which shows specific aptitude for magazine work.

The twenty lucky Guest Editors go to New York to spend the month of June as salaried employees of Mademoiselle. They help write, illustrate, and edit Mademoiselle's August college issue, sharing offices with the regular members of the staff. They advise on campus trends, interview well-known personalities and represent the magazine on visits to publishing houses, stores, and advertising agencies. In addition, they are photographed for the August issue and receive consideration for future staff positions with Mademoiselle and other Conde Nast publications.

Last year's Guest Editors had a special bonus—a flying trip to England, where they visited Stratford and Oxford between stays in London.

National Contest Seeks College Queen

One of our students, here on this campus, could be the next National College Queen.

The annual search is now underway to select and to honor "the nation's most outstanding college girl." Young women attending this school are eligible as candidates. A special invitation has been extended to our students. The winner will receive more than $5,000 in prizes, including a trip to Europe and an automobile.

The 1965 National College Queen Pageant will be held in New York City and this year Pageant officials will again award 50 free trips to the World's Fair. One college girl from every state, including Alaska and Hawaii, will be flown to Manhattan to compete for high honors.

This pageant is the annual event which gives recognition to students for their scholastic ability. It is not a "beauty contest." Judging is based on academic accomplishment — as well as attractiveness, charm and personality. The judges are seeking a typical American college girl.

For ten years the National Queen Contest has been held until it has become a tradition of hundreds of colleges and universities. This year, one of our girls can win and bring national attention to our school. The Finals are held during the week of the World's Fair. The event is a highlight of the New York Is A Summer Festival celebration, which is sponsored by the New York Convention and Bureau.

For full details — and a complimentary blank — just write to the National College Queen Contest, 1501 Broadway, New York 19.

All undergraduate students, freshmen through and including seniors, are eligible. A candidate must be recommended by two friends, sororities, fraternities, campus club groups or the girl of their choice — by putting her name in the above box.

ASIS Proves Undependable

LUXEMBOURG (CPS) — The American Embassy in Luxembourg announced recently that it has received several complaints from students contracting to use the services of Luxembourg, advertises itself as a clearing house for American students seeking summer employment abroad.

The State Department said that "On several occasions the Embassy has tried on the students' behalf to discuss these complaints with the directors of the ASIS but has found the latter to be totally uncooperative."

State Department officials announced that in view of this situation they refuse to endorse the activities of the ASIS.

ASIS previously operated from Denmark and Germany before establishing headquarters in Luxembourg in 1961. Although it is understood that the two principal officers are American, the State Department reports that ASIS has "no United States connections" and to their knowledge "is not organized under the laws of any American jurisdiction."

Among the agencies mentioned by the State Department as former work abroad are the Office of International Education, 300 Second Ave., New York 10001; the Experiment in International Living, Puney, VI.

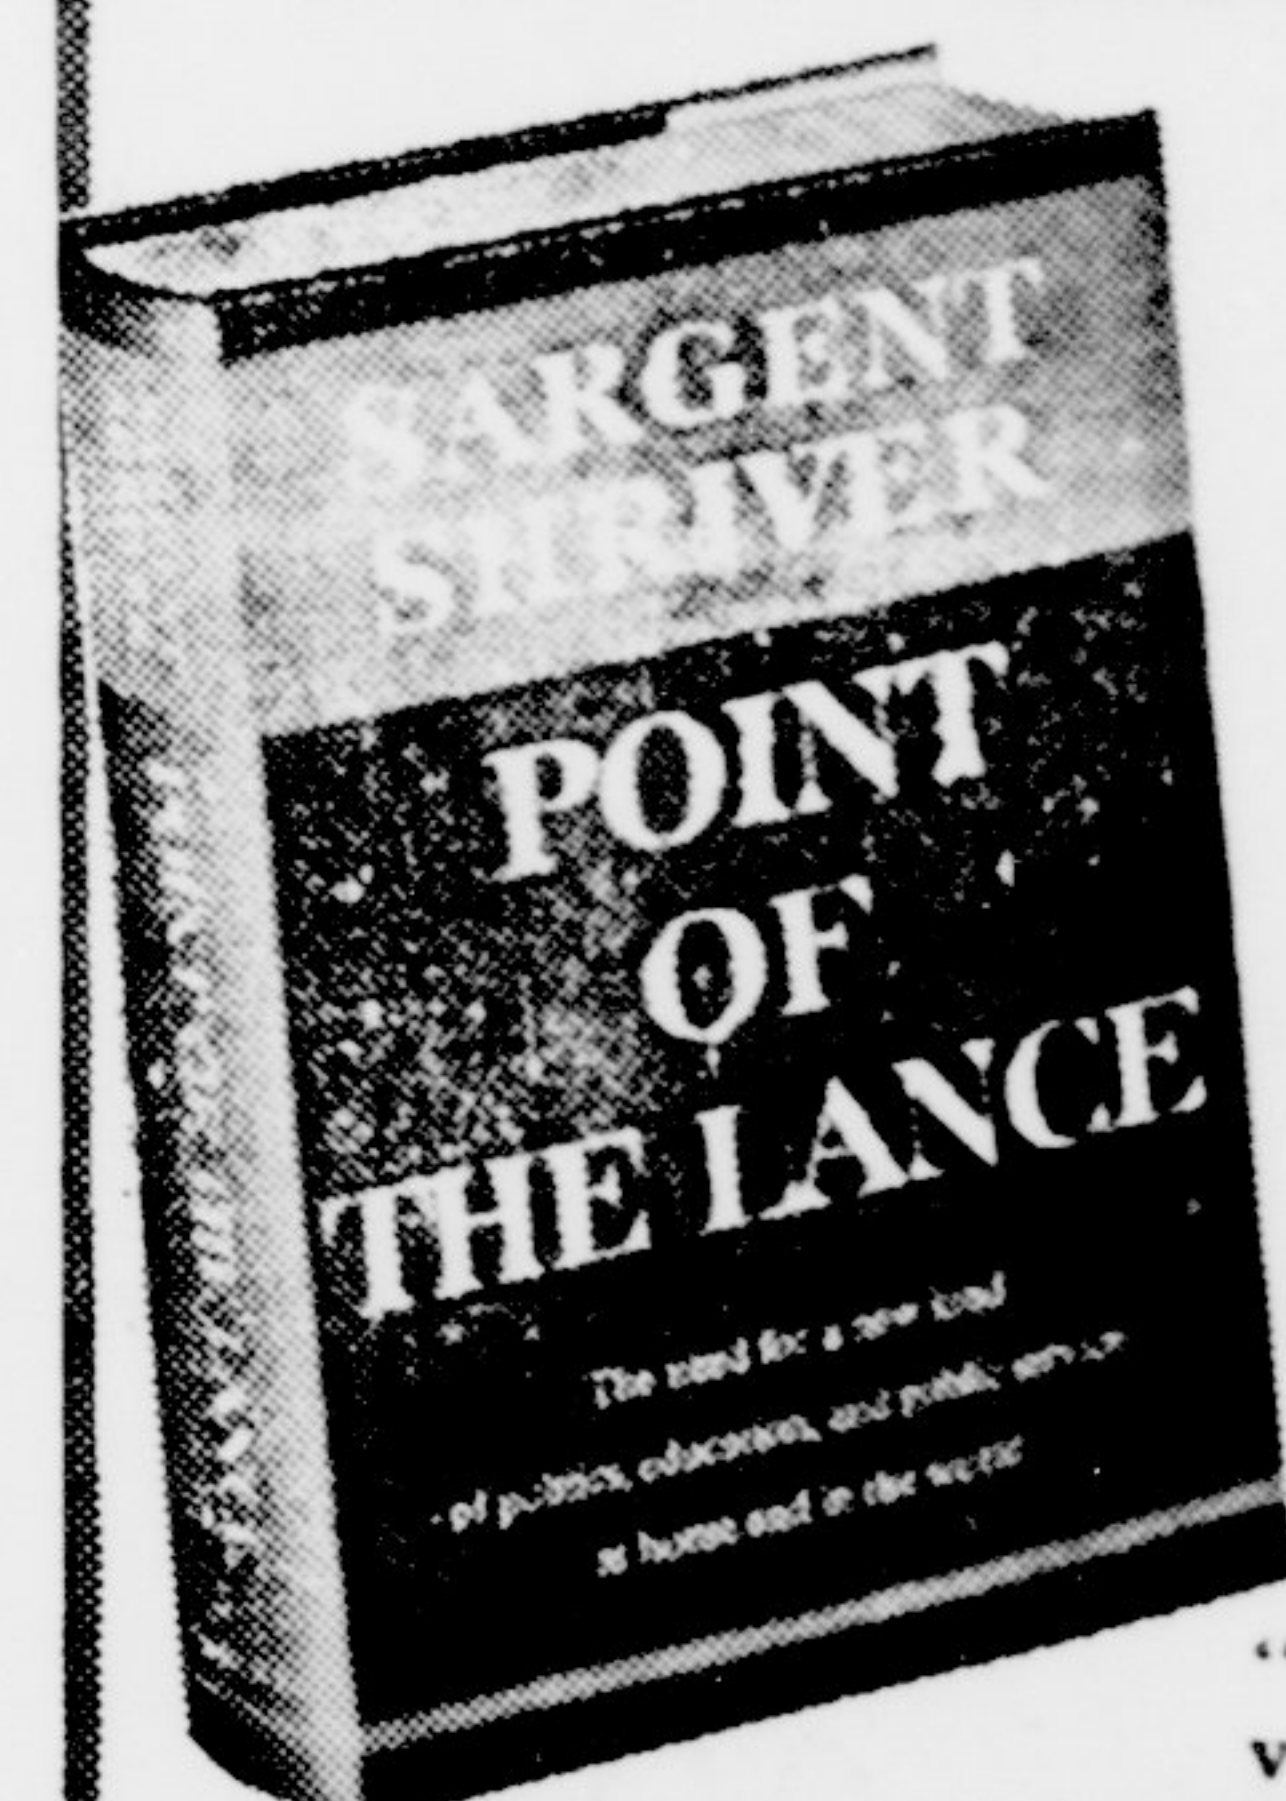

Also recommended was the National Student Association, 1000 Avenue of the Americas, New York 10018, which provides a comprehensive outline of summer opportunities abroad.

A stirring book by the Director of the Peace Corps and the War on Poverty

POINT OF THE LANCE

by Sargent Shriver

16 pages of illustrations
At all bookstores.
Cloth, $4.95. Paper, $1.45

"This book combines the vision and hardheaded, practical touch of its author, one of the ablest new figures in public life of our generation. It is a book to give courage and hope to the anxious and fearful, and to confirm the faith of those who see what a great future lies before mankind. If Sargent Shriver's ringing words could be read by millions — as I hope it will be — it would advance the cause of peace and tell Americans more about their true selves than any book I have seen in many a year. It is a distinguished and thoughtful book by a shining personality."
