Medical School Becomes Reality At East Carolina

By Walter Hendricks

Despite vehement opposition from several sources, the N. C. General Assembly approved a bill calling for the establishment of a two-year medical school here at East Carolina which was introduced in the senate Thursday, April 1 by Senator Walter Jones of Pitt County.

Opposition included trustees of the Greater University, senators from the Piedmont area, The Raleigh Times, and Governor Dan K. Moore.

However, credit must be given to those who were bold in their stand for approval of the establishment of an EC medical school. A few of them were Senator Walter Jones, Rep. W. A. Forbes, Sen. Robert Morgan, Dr. Roy Norton, The Greenville Reflector, The Durham Sun, and countless doctors and medical societies.

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, President of the college stated upon being notified of the news, "It is a great victory for the people of the East and a great stride forward for the entire state."

"Our task now," he said, "is to do all within our power to mold this new facility into a tool that will improve the medical resources of the East, into an institution that will make a genuine contribution to the medical future of our state and nation."

Calling for an appropriation of $10,000 for the first year and $250,000 the second year, the medical school will employ a dean and 85 other workers. Included will be specialists in anatomy, biochemistry, pharmacology, physiology, and pathology. An annual appropriation of about $700,000 will be needed once the school is established.

The terms of the recently passed law requires that East Carolina must obtain $4 million from other sources before the state will allocate the $1.5 million for buildings and equipment. It is hoped that 50 per cent of the total cost will come from federal funds with the remainder donated by various foundations.

A 77-acre tract of college-owned land west of Charles Street is the future construction site of the facility.

Before the year is up a program director to help find the required funds to match the state appropriation will be hired.

The program director will work with Dr. Robert W. Williams, Jr., Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences at ECC, who has already begun contact work with various foundations and agencies with an interest in helping medical education.

HISTORIAN TO SPEAK

The Duke scholar earned the A.B. and M.A. degrees at Emory University and the Ph.D. at Princeton. Since joining the Duke history department in 1952, he has produced several volumes and has written a number of articles and book reviews for scholarly journals. East Carolinian Fills Top Slots

Under the direction of a new staff, the East Carolinian begins production for the summer session. Jimmy Young, summer school editor, says that there are still many staff positions open, and that there is a drastic need for reporters, typists and proof-readers.

Frisby Hendricks assumes the associate editorship for the summer, while Ron Dowdy takes over as business manager. Other staff members include Paul Michaels, feature editor; Robert Duncan, layout editor, and Tim Bagwell, greek editor.

Because there is a shortage of campus news during summer school, the East Carolinian requests that students submit any article they would like published, for consideration by the staff. Features, poems, and letters to the editor are highly encouraged.

The newspaper now plans to prepare one publication per week unless student interest in publications picks up, and more people apply for staff positions.

SGA Election Polls Open For E.C. Summer Government

Elections for summer school SGA officers are slated for Thursday, June 17. There will be three voting precincts. Precinct number one will be the lobby of Wright Auditorium. Precinct number two will be the lobby of East Cafeteria, and the third precinct will be the lobby of Aycock dormitory. Polls will be open from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

A total of nineteen candidates have filed for the election, which will fill the four executive offices and a seven member legislature. David Heller, Jerry Hicks, and Steve Snitman vie for the presidential post, while Whitty Bass runs unopposed for the vice-presidential post. Jim Kimsey, candidate for treasurer, and Cella Orr, candidate for secretary, are both unopposed.

Seven members-at-large will compose the summer school legislature. Those who have filed are Charles Bernier, Sara Biggs, Bonnie Brooks, Mary Cooper, Angel Coston, Linda Daniels, Jan Jackson, Miriam Jones, C. G. Moore, and Charles Wackerman. It is hoped that there will be a larger turnout at the polls, as summer school elections in the past have failed to solicit mass support.

Another Step Forward

Friday's passage through the North Carolina House of Representatives, of East Carolina Medical School Bill was a final and triumphant link to what has been a tough and anxious battle for the bill's proponents and the many EC supporters. Many persons have worked diligently during this legislative session to bring about this forward looking and far reaching legislation. For the bill is one of the most progressive steps taken by the N. C. General Assembly for some time.

The only change in the proposed bill and the passed bill is an amendment proposed by Rep. R. D. McMillian, an opponent of the bill from Robeson. The amendment sets a deadline (Jan. 1, 1967) for E C to find two national medical accreditation associations to accredit the Medical School's standards.

This amendment should be no problem. In fact, the amendment is probably a good one.

Getting proper accreditation is a matter of getting the Medical School together on paper and presenting it to the medical associations for their approval. The amendment should get the Medical School rolling. . . immediately. . . and once it begins to make progress, the administration cannot afford to slow it down.

President Leo W. Jenkins certainly should be congratulated on the legislative victory. This is one of his numerous pet projects. . . and it is now in the clear to move rapidly.

Another person to be thanked by the school and by all of North Carolina is Sen. Robert Morgan. Sen. Morgan has put his best foot forward in every instance to get this bill through the legislature. . . and a fine job he has done. One of his more impressive appearances was made on the day that the bill first came before the Joint Appropriations Committee. Throughout the battle, Sen. Morgan performed extremely well.

In the House, Rep. W. A. (Red) Forbes, guided the Medical School proposal with superb skill. The House was where the skeptics of the bill resided in force. . . and here, the bill could have run into obstacles to delay and possibly kill the proposal. The bill with the amendment attached made its way clear of any real opposition. . . and its sponsor, Rep. Forbes is to be praised.

A fourth person. . . "walked softly and carried a big stick." That was Sen. Walter Jones. Sen. Jones introduced the bill last April first and has been a big factor in getting the Medical proposal passed.

There are of course many others to thank for their look to the future. Dr. Roy Norton, Ed Beddingfield and Dr. Ernest Ferguson are among these.

These are a few of the people who have seen the dire need of medical facilities in the state. They have seen that Eastern North Carolina needs this Medical School to continue its progress. But they have seen that progress in the field of medicine in this area will mean an economic lift—for the state. . . and in turn the nation.

Passage of this all-important bill is proof positive that North Carolina can and will take upon itself the development of its resources to their fullest and not wait for the federal government to step in with Federal Aid or Anti-poverty to bring areas of the state to an economic par.

And to every student who has attended. . . or who will attend this institution. . . this is a great day for you. You went to a school with a medical school. It's a tremendous factor. It makes your diploma worthy of comment. It puts you in contact with some of the nation's top doctors. . . be you a medical student or business major. The mere working, seeing, and talking with these people will certainly fill your sphere of knowledge of the world in which you live.

Steve Sniteman

The Student Government of East Carolina is made up of you, the students. Without you, the SGA would have no function, could serve no purpose, hence, it would cease to exist. Since the SGA does exist because of you, and the members of the SGA come from persons out of the student body, the enactments of legislation by these individuals will directly or indirectly effect each one of you. I urge you to represent yourself in the election on Thursday. I do not say vote for your friends, or vote against persons whom you may hold some animosity toward, rather, vote for the persons who will represent you the way that you should and want to be represented. I say this, knowing all the time that the summer school elections are not participated in to a great extent, but also in the hope that you will see the importance of making your wants known regardless of the time of the year. Make no mistake, you are important; therefore, the Student Government is important, if for no other reason than the SGA spends a great deal of your money and passes legislation concerning you as a student body. Only by you selecting those individuals who are in coordination with your ideas and wants, will your money be spent and legislation be passed as you would wish. The SGA has a responsibility to you in seeing to it that your wants are not just known, but fulfilled. In contrast, you also have a responsibility to the Student Government by voting, such as in the election on Thursday, and by supporting the candidate of your choice not only on voting days but throughout the entire year.

CU Offers Dances, Program To Students

The East Carolina College Union began its summer activities with a combo dance featuring "The Monzas" from Burlington, N. C., on Registration night, June 7, from 7:15 p. m. until 10:15 p. m. A capacity crowd jerked and swam to the music of the popular artist. The College Union student committee group plans and stages these activities.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mr. Young:

As elections for the summer school approach, your paper will no doubt be filled with many facts concerning the candidates for the offices of the SGA. We wish to commend you for giving the space in the East Carolinian to help inform the students of campus affairs, however, one person cannot know every fact of all the candidates. We wish to add to the picture concerning Steve Sniteman, candidate for SGA President.

Steve has served our student body as vice-president during the regular year. His understanding of the student body has been broadened greatly through his work as chairman of the Entertainment Committee, chairman of the College Ring Committee, and member of the student legislature. Steve is conscious of the needs of the students and the college. His awareness of the problems of the Student Government Association and its branches make him indeed qualified for this demanding job. His experience is not confined to the executive branch of the SGA alone. As a member of the Men's Judiciary and chairman of the Appeals Board, he has seen the campus judicial system become the effective, honored organization it is today.

When students go to the polls to vote tomorrow, we urge them to stop and consider experience and dedica-

EC Students Receive Grant From Job Corps For 1965 Summer Work

Greenville—About 150 students will get summer jobs under a grant of more than $43,000 from the federal Economic Opportunity Act, East Carolina College officials learned this week.

The federal grant—to be matched by around $4,800 in local funds—makes possible a $48,000 program of three parts:

1. A fund of $18,000 to give summer jobs to 30 returning or entering ECC students as assistants in Carteret County Community Action Program.
2. A fund of about $16,500 to give about 100 students in ECC's summer school various self-help jobs as staff and faculty assistants.
3. About $13,900 to hire 22 students as special assistants for the summer to work on planning surveys scheduled by the ECC-based Eastern North Carolina Regional Research and Development Institute.

Matching funds for the grant are provided by the college itself (about $3,000) and by Carteret County (about $1,800).

The grant was issued by the U. S. Office of Education under College Work-Study Program authorized by the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

A student is eligible for employment under the program if his family's income is $3,000 a year or less. A rule of thumb used as a guide in determining eligibility puts it another way: if a family can contribute no more than $200 a year to a student's college education, the student is probably eligible.

Watermelon Feasts on the Mall are scheduled periodically throughout the summer. Students, faculty and staff all enjoy "taking a break" for the Watermelon Feasts.

Table Tennis tournaments will be scheduled throughout the summer. Check the campus bulletin boards for information.

The annual 4th of July Celebration will be held in Ficklen Stadium on Monday, July 5th at 7:30 p. m. The program will consist of music, greetings from representatives of the college, city of Greenville and Pitt County, and a finale of fireworks by Mr. Ed Rawl, pyrotechnician.

A special entertainment is in store in August when Humorist C. Shaw Smith brings his whole family to present an evening of fun and magic.

The College Union committee group will meet each Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 p. m., in the Browning Lounge, Rawl 105. All students are invited to join.

tion over personal ambition. We urge them to support Steve Sniteman for President of the summer school SGA.

Sincerely yours,
STUDENTS FOR BETTER CAMPUS GOVERNMENT

Attention Students:

Vote "Steve Sniteman for Summer School Student Government President" during Thursday's election.

Summer School is a hard-driving time of every school year for students who are attempting to catch up or to get ahead academically.

And for the Student Government, Summer School is also a hustling time for work. . . and a period in which to make solid progress. But the progress made must be a part of the Student Government's year-round activities. . . not just something that happened during the summer and results were evident only during the summer sessions. The Student Government must be a 52-week a-year task. . . a unified effort!

And who is more qualified to bring about this coordination in SGA work than the "regular session" Vice-President. . . a man who is on the job year-round?

Who will gain more experience with which to follow up the summer's work next fall than the summer school president of the SGA?

As Editor of the East Carolinian this past year and as one who not only works closely with but must keep a constant and critical eye on the SGA, I would suggest that you elect STEVE SNITEMAN (regular session Vice-President), President of the Summer School Student Government.

There is no question of "Will Steve work hard?" Steve Sniteman has already proven that he can get the job done.

So, elect a top-notch man Thursday.

Vote Sniteman,
Larry Brown, Jr.

heard in a long time." This is what one critic had to say about Jim Kweskin & The Jug Band, six musicians working their various home-made toys and gadgets and making an artful musical presentation. They call it jug band music using washboards, kazooes, stovepipes, combs, sandpaper blocks, washtub basses, and the inevitable empty molasses jug. The guitar, banjo, fiddle, and harmonica are the more conventional instruments used.

The Jug Band, with leader Jim Kweskin, creates its own foottapping phenomenon appealing to the lovers of folk, blues, jazz, satirical and just plain "good time" music.

IAN AND SYLVIA

Ian and Sylvia and Jim Kweskin & the Jug Band will lead off the entertainment series for the Summer Session June 23, at 8:00 p. m., in Picklen Stadium. It will be a double feature with folk music and original jug band music.

They infuse their own personalities into the rendition of a song giving it a classical presentation. Ian and Sylvia give their listeners a reassurance of the basic values of American life through their music. Their repertoire of English and American classic ballads, mountain music, blues, cowboy ballads, and French-Canadian material is faultless.

Fraternities Maintain Highest Scholastic Average In History

Scholarship averages of members of college fraternities throughout the nation have maintained their substantial lead over the respected all-men's averages for the past academic year, which had established an all time record for improvement. According to an analysis just released by the National Inter-Fraternity Conference.

college man is first to obtain an education and second to develop those qualities which will make him a well-rounded individual.

The Inter-fraternity council is in the process of planning an academically inclined orientation and rush program.

Starting as a pledge it is most important for one to remember that only if he makes the grades required for initiation and continues to uphold his scholastic responsibilities will he be considered as an asset to the fraternity system, and a good fraternity man.

During the past academic year, 41 institutions qualified for the Summa Cum Laude rating for superior scholarship, with every fraternity chapter on their campuses exceeding the all-men's averages. This figure is the highest since the National Inter-Fraternity Conference began maintaining comparative data. Sixteen institutions have been able to maintain this honor for three successive years.

Of the 60 national fraternity systems, 26 had a majority of their chapters averaging higher than the all-men's averages on their respective campuses. In two cases, Alpha Delta Gamma and Farm House, every chapter in their organizations were above the all-men's average.

Fraternities on campus here at East Carolina strive to promote the scholastic standing of their members and pledges. Each fraternity realizes that the primary aim of a
