US Senator Karl E. Mundt Lectures Here Monday Night

The Honorable Karl E. Mundt, U. S. Senator from South Dakota, will lecture in Old Austin Auditorium on Monday, January 24, at 8:00 p.m. His topic will be "What Challenges are Freedoms?"

Senator Mundt is one of the most outstanding statesmen and speakers of our time. Prior to his induction into the Senate in January 1949, Sen. Mundt spent 12 eventful years as a congressman, where he was an important member of the Foreign Affairs and Un-American Activities committees.

As a member of the House Committee investigating Un-American Activities he had first-hand opportunity to make a study of Communism within the borders of our country. He was acting chairman during the espionage hearings resulting in the discovery of the so-called "Pumpkin Papers."

In the Senate he is a member of the Senate Committee on Executive Expenditures and its important subcommittee on Senate Investigations, as well as the Committee on Rules and Administration.

As a congressman, Mr. Mundt was author of H. Res. 215, which in 1945 passed both Houses of Congress, conveying congressional approval for the establishment of International Organization of Educational Affairs, UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, stemmed from Mundt's resolution.

Late in 1945, as a member of a Special Committee of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, he made an extensive trip to 20 countries of Europe, Africa and Asia, studying economic and political conditions abroad. The entire trip consumed 63 days, a month of which was spent in Russia and Russian dominated countries. Since this committee was to report back to Congress on the merit of Russia's claim for UNRRA relief, this group was given unusual latitude in making inspection trips in Russia, all the way from Leningrad to Baku on the Caspian Sea. It was the only Congressional Committee which spent any substantial time in Russia, making unsupervised studies and inspection as well as conferring with its leaders. Also it was the first Congressional Committee to get into Russia since 1939.

Mr. Mundt made two other trips to Europe, the last of which was in 1947, when he served as co-chairman of a Joint Committee of the Senate and the House. This committee visited 22 countries of Europe to determine the merits of the Voice of America legislation of which Mr. Mundt was the author. The result was the enactment of the Smith-Mundt act early in 1948.

Karl Mundt ranks as one of the strongest speakers in both Houses and is noted for his rare wit and philosophy. He is in constant demand by leading forums, educational groups, business organizations. He has appeared three times on America's Town Meeting of the Air, five times on the American Forum of the Air and twice at the annual Washington meetings of the Women's National Defense Conference. An ardent conservationist, he has appeared on ten national conventions of the Izaak Walton League of America. Overseas, he has spoken in Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Finland, Russia, Hungary, Greece, Turkey, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Egypt, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, Germany, Yugoslavia, Greece, and Portugal. Articles by Mr. Mundt have appeared in many leading periodicals here and abroad.

Senator Karl Mundt from South Dakota will lecture here Monday night in Old Austin Auditorium. The topic of Senator Mundt's speech will be "What Challenges Our Freedoms."

Greene Accuses EC Legislature Of Unfulfilled Recommendations

President Eddie Greene delivered a rousing speech to a stunned Student Legislature when it met Monday afternoon.

Greene declared that this Legislature had "done less for the Student Body" than any legislature since he had been in school. He cited the number of recommendations and other ineffectual and weak legislation as the Legislature's only appreciative work. Concluding, he challenged the Legislature to become "a strong respected body — not just a body that makes recommendations." (Ed. Note — refer to Tues., Jan. 18 issue for complete speech.)

After Greene's address the Legislature passed the rules and operations of the following committees and organizations with very little discussion:

The I. D. Cards Committee, the Campus Movies Committee, the Lecture Committee, the Entertainment Committee, the Central Ticket Office, and the Associated Arts Board. The Speaker submitted the following appointments to the Legislature for approval:

Representative Jo Anne House for chairman of the I. D. Cards Committee and Representative Jerry Medford for Parliamentarian. Both appointments were approved.

The Legislature also approved two new committees proposed by the Speaker and his appointees to serve on them:

Women's Hours Committee — Margery Hendricks, chairman; Celia Orr; Jane Mewborn; Dee Dee Leonard; John Bell; and Benn Webb.

Telephone Investigation Committee — Steve Yelverton, chairman; Sandy Wentzel; Janice Mumford; and Bill Moore.

Freshman President Earle Beasley moved that the Speaker be required to establish committees that will work on student needs and that every member of the Legislature be appointed to at least one of these committees. The names and purposes of these committees should be decided by the Speaker upon recommendation of the legislature. The motion was carried.

Representative Janice Jackson proposed that a committee be formed to work with the Social Standards Committee to investigate women's hours. Both President Beasley's and Representative Jackson's motions were made before the Speaker appointed the two new committees. Also before the appointment of the committees, there had been some questions raised about the Telephone Committee which had been passed but never formed.

At the end of the session, the Speaker admonished the legislators to "take with much consideration" Greene's statements and agreed that the Legislature had "become slack" in its work.

Representative Sallie Yopp, on a point of information, asked the Speaker how the Legislature could hope to deal with major and more important problems when its efforts on recommendations had been, for the most part, futile.

The Speaker declared the point "well-taken."

NC's Top Merit Finalists Visit Campus In February

Some 300 of North Carolina's top high school seniors have been invited to visit the campus for a weekend next month.

Those who accept the invitation will be guests of the college Friday, Feb. 11, and Saturday, Feb. 12, for a series of get-acquainted events on a program designed by a special EC committee. The program includes meals and lodging furnished by the college.

Spokesmen say the program is intended to honor the outstanding high school seniors of the state for their scholastic achievement as reflected in results of the National Merit Scholarship competition.

All invitees are rising college freshmen who rank among this year's National Merit Scholarship semifinalists.

They were invited this week in letters from ECC President Leo W. Jenkins.

In store for the visitors are meetings with professors, college officials and student leaders; a Friday night banquet which will feature an address by President Jenkins; tours of the campus; and other events.

They will be guests of the college for a Friday night performance by the famous Mark Twain imitator, Hal Holbrook; a Saturday afternoon varsity swimming meet matching East Carolina and The Citadel; a Saturday night varsity basketball game between ECC and George Washington University; and other special events.

Next month's affair is the second annual special weekend the college has arranged for the National Merit Scholarship semifinalists. Last year the pilot program was held in late April.

A 12-member campus committee, headed by assistant public relations director James W. Butler, organized the weekend program. Butler's committee members include: Rudolph Alexander, Dr. Ed J. Carter, Mrs. Stella Daugherty, Mrs. Mildred Derrick, Mrs. Frances Dudley, Mrs. Tennala Gross, Kenneth James, Cynthia Mendenhall, Mrs. Edith Webber, Ruth A. White and Dan K. Wooten.

Air Force ROTC Detachment Announces 31 Cadet Promotions

Thirty cadet promotions in rank have been announced in the East Carolina Air Force ROTC detachment.

Lt. Col. Elbert L. Kidd, director of East Carolina's aerospace studies department, listed one full colonel, three majors, eight captains, four first lieutenants and thirteen second lieutenants who have advanced in the college AFROTC program.

The third-and-fourth-year cadets with new rank include:

Second Lt. Guy W. Alcock, Pollocksville; First Lt. Martin N. Linker, Mooresville; Second Lt. Donald G. Frye, Carthage; Major Robert

W. Kaylor, Wilmington; Capt. Thomas F. Justice, Jacksonville; Second Lt. Daniel R. Stringfellow, Jacksonville; Capt. Christian Vandyken, Amsterdam, Netherlands;

Lt. Col. Albert L. Evans III, McGuire Air Force Base, New Jersey; First Lt. L. E. Willer, Everett, Pennsylvania; Second Lt. John M. Pentecost, Donelson, Tennessee;

Addressing the Student Legislature, SGA President Greene cited several areas in which the organization had done little or no work.

IDC Announces Annual Dance

Dorm Council Receives Pressure; Rescinds Editor's Appropriation

By DICKIE DAVES

A meeting of the IDC was called to order Monday night, January 17, by President Bruce Biggs. The meeting was held in the IDC's new meeting room in the basement of Aycock Dormitory at 6:00 p.m. Minutes of the January 10 meeting were distributed among the members and approved. Committee reports were not given due to the fact that this was a special meeting.

There were only two items of business on the agenda.

The Social Committee reported on the IDC dance to be held this Friday night at the PGI. The dance is for all the male dormitory students and their dates. Five hundred tickets were to be made available by today at the IDC Office on the first floor in Scott Dormitory.

The total cost of the dance was reported to the group as $418. This included $25 to hire two Go-Go Girls, but Dean Mallory interjected by saying that since the dance was not to be stag and since boys would be there with their dates that the Go-Go Girls should be deleted from the dance.

The Go-Go Girls were accordingly deleted.

This brought the cost down but it was stated that two campus policemen would have to be employed to watch the door for the dance. The cost of these would be $20.00. A motion was made and seconded to this effect and passed by the members.

Bill Moore then brought to the attention of the meeting the problem of transportation. Moore said that it might be possible to charter a bus for that night to carry men and their dates to the PGI and back.

M. Lewis Collie, owner of the PGI said that there were several acres adjacent to the PGI and therefore parking would be no problem. A motion was then made and seconded to the effect that the IDC should appropriate money to charter a bus. The motion was carried.

The Social Committee then announced that it would contact both radio stations in Greenville and the Campus Radio, WECC, to publicize the dance. Dean Mallory also stated that there would be mimeographed sheets slipped under each man's door in the dorm to inform the men of the event.

The question was raised as to what would be the qualifications to attend this dance. President Biggs stated that only those who had tickets were to be admitted. Biggs said that the dance is semi-formal and that coats and ties are in order. A motion was made and carried that the IDC accept the Social Committee's Report.

The floor was then thrown open for general discussion concerning the motion that was carried last week about sending Editor-in-Chief Nellie Lee of the EAST CAROLINIAN to the convention of newspaper correspondents in New York City. The IDC voted $70.00 to send Miss Lee.

Dean Mallory said that he and Dean Tucker had vetoed this request because the treasury of the IDC was to be used for dorm improvement or dorm social functions only.

Mallory also stated that the voting of this money was illegal and contrary to the Constitution of the IDC. He said that this trip would in no way benefit the men and that the SGA was responsible for such expenditures.

Further, he said that if the IDC did still appropriate this money that it would be creating a "dangerous precedent." At this point a motion was made to rescind this money voted for the trip. The motion was carried.

President Bruce Biggs called for further business and discussion. There was none. A motion was then made and carried to conduct all further business including the report of Bill Moore on his trip to the University of North Carolina, next week.

The next meeting of the IDC was set for Monday night, January 24.

Dean Mallory explains why the appropriation for Editor Lee's trip was vetoed.

Council member Bill Moore suggests ideas for annual IDC Dance to be held Friday, January 21, at 8:00 p. m.

the Music World of Jerry Williams

Blonde, green-eyed, and bouncy Skeeter Davis was born in Dry Ridge, Kentucky, and grew up with three sisters and three brothers. Now a star, she is untouched by stardom. As far as Skeeter is concerned only one thing has changed... she has moved to Nashville.

A real trooper, Skeeter has been on stage since 1949. She became a real pro via her experience on shows broadcast over WLAX Lexington, Kentucky and WJR, Detroit, Michigan.

Skeeter has had many big hits. "Sun Glasses" hit big this past summer. "The End of The World" was one of her first. Others: "I'm Falling Too" (She wrote that one), "Last Date," and "Set Him Free." We can't forget "I Can't Stay Mad At You" or "He Says The Same Things To Me."

Skeeter's a fine gal and her fans can look forward to many more great hits to come from the songstress. You may write direct to Skeeter at: Seward Road, Brentwood, Tennessee. Or you may send your card or letter to me and I'll forward it directly to Skeeter. Also, I have an LP by Skeeter for the best card or letter telling me why you like Skeeter Davis. The next two best entries will receive photos. Send entries to: T. Jerry Williams, 908 Main Street, Tarboro, North Carolina 27886.

Bits and Pieces

Soon I'll have a big story on Herb Alpert and his Tijuana Brass. I'm sure you all have heard by now Herb will be in Greensboro, North Carolina on March 5. If you want him next year at ECC contact Connie de Nave Public Relations, 200 West 57th Street, New York, New York 10019. Cousin' Bruce of WABC will be another subject of the MW of JW in the coming weeks. He's rated top DJ in the nation. Also, Bruce writes a monthly column for TEEN LIFE. Ron Elliott of the Beau Brummels has just announced that he will marry Evelyn Kay Dane in a private ceremony in Oakland, California on January 29. They met at San Francisco State College and will make their home in Frisco. The Beau Brummels are currently in the Bay area for recording sessions for Autumn Records and will attend the wedding.

"Road-weary" Porter Wagoner just left the hospital after recuperating on a strict diet of food and sleep. Wagoner entered the hospital under his own will power for ten days rest before beginning his 1966 series of personal appearances. Last year he made more than 230 around the U.S. W. E. (Lucky) Moeller, Nashville talent executive, reported the largest completely-paid crowd ever to witness a single Country Music show, packed Houston's Astrodome Jan. 8 and had the time of his life. Performers were: Rodger Miller, Webb Pierce, Faron Young, Red Sovine, Jimmy Dickens, Kitty Wells, Johnny Wright, Bill Phillips, Ruby Wright, Minnie Pearl, Justin Wilson, and Bladge Ruffino. Norma Jean (subject of an up-coming feature) will be in Wilmington, N. C. on Feb. 12.

In Feb. I'll start drawing again for singles and LPs sent to me for review. They're all top recordings so send those post cards to RECORD DRAWING, THE MUSIC WORLD OF JERRY WILLIAMS, 908 Main Street, Tarboro, North Carolina. Be sure you put your own address on your entry.

Carter Becomes Guest Conductor

Herbert L. Carter, director of bands at East Carolina, became last week the first EC representative to guest-conduct a state band clinic in Pennsylvania.

Thursday through Saturday he was guest conductor at the District State Band Clinic at Smethport, Pennsylvania. He conducted evening concerts Friday and Saturday.

The East Carolina musician worked with 185 high school musicians auditioned from the Smethport area for the clinic's Symphonic Band.

He also conducted a special woodwind clinic during the weekend. Carter is an accomplished clarinetist as well as a band conductor.

Business Dept. Begins Work On Executive Development

East Carolina has announced the establishment of an annual seminar program to bring business and industrial executives to campus to help them keep up with the times.

Its Executive Development Seminar series, to open with a 10-week conference next spring, will gather executives from Eastern North Carolina commercial, industrial and financial establishments to hear national experts discuss the latest management concepts.

The EDS program will be presented by the ECC School of Business in cooperation with the ECC-based Eastern North Carolina Development Institute and the Extension Division of the college.

The first conference is scheduled March 10 through May 12. It includes 10 one-day sessions on consecutive Thursdays and features a 10-man faculty of experts in business and industrial management.

A fee of $300 will be charged for each of the 30 participants. That will cover most of the seminar's cost which spokesmen say will run close to $12,000.

Planners say the seminar program was designed to give the practical as well as the academic view of material covered. Thus the faculty will include high-level working executive along with the PhD.

On the first conference faculty are listed in order of scheduled appearance:

Leon C. Megginson of Louisiana State University (March 10); Wilbur B. England, Graduate School of Business Administration, Harvard University (March 17); Joseph A. Litterer, Graduate School of Business, University of Illinois (March 24);

Martin L. Black Jr. of Duke University (March 31); Dr. Jack N. Behrman, School of Business Administration, University of North Carolina (April 7); Harry A. Lipson, School of Commerce and Business Administration, University of Alabama (April 14);

Donald M. Burger, personnel director, Collins & Aikman Corp. (April 21); Paul A. Batter, Graduate School of Business Administration, Harvard U. (April 28); Clinton R. Prewett, Psychology Department director, ECC (May 5); and William H. Newman, Graduate School of Business, Columbia University (May 12).

A typical Thursday in the 1966 seminar will have the 30 participants in session by 10 a.m. They will have lunch together in a campus cafeteria and then resume their discussion to continue until 4:30 p.m.

The director of the seminar, James H. Bearden of the School of Business faculty, and Thomas W. Willis, Development Institute Director, have mailed brochures describing the EDS program to commercial, financial and industrial establishments throughout Eastern North Carolina.

Sigma Alpha Sorority Gives Public Concert

Sigma Alpha Iota, the music sorority here will give a public concert tonight in Old Austin Auditorium at 7:15 p.m.

Episcopalians Hear Behanna Relate Story Of Conversion

Rev. Patrick Houston, Chaplain at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Greenville, has issued an invitation to East Carolina students of all faiths to come to the church at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 25, and hear a speech by Gert Behanna.

Mr. Houston described her vividly:

"Gert is the author of THE LATE LIZ, a first person confession of sin and salvation, of a trip to skid row on silk sheets. Born to rich parents, reared in the Waldorf Astoria, Gert married the first man who asked her so she could get away from her father. Three divorces and many drinks and pills later, she tried to kill herself. When she failed even in this, she had no place to go but to God. God completely changed her life, and now Gert spends all her time telling people about her new life."

Gert Behanna's book was written under the pseudonym of Elizabeth Burns, and it sold over a million copies.

"Episcopalians are not exactly known for their evangelical fervor," said Mr. Houston. "So why am I pushing this lady evangelist (if all things)? She knows God and she communicates Him better than most I have come across. And she's honest. In fact, she is too honest for most church people, and I, for one, am just mean enough to enjoy the discomfiture of "nice people who attend church without being aware that they are the Church."

St. Paul's Church is located at Fourth and Holly Streets.

Foreign Film Committee Presents Kafka's Expressionistic Allegory

A film presentation of Franz Kafka's THE TRIAL will be shown in Old Austin Auditorium on Wednesday, January 26, at 7:00 p.m. It was chosen by the Foreign Films Committee and the Inter-Religious Council to be included in the Foreign Film series this year.

Franz Kafka was born in Prague of Jewish parents in 1883. He studied law and afterwards worked briefly as an official in a government insurance bureau until he became impressed by the power of bureaucracy to stifle the self. Kafka had grown up resenting his father's intolerance of other people's opinions, yet he seems to have desperately desired his father's approval. Furthermore Kafka suffered poor health throughout most of his life — he died in 1924 — and was tormented by a sense of inadequacy.

A vague sense of doom hovered over his writings and in those writings he embodied great human symbols concerning birth, the meaning of life, human suffering, punishment, and death. THE TRIAL, like most of Kafka's writings, is expressionistic rather than realistic, a kind of allegory of the tormented mind of man bearing its burden of undefined guilt in the face of an unspecified charge by unidentified accusers.

EC Nursing Student Receives Scholarship

A senior in the College's School of Nursing is recipient of the third annual scholarship award of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club.

Jane Sapp of Winston-Salem was given the $100 award this week during the club's monthly meeting.

Edith G. Myers, assistant professor in the ECC School of Nursing and chairman of BPWC's scholarship committee, presented Miss Sapp a check which will be applied toward its recipient's education at ECC.

Miss Sapp was selected on the basis of maturity, nursing ability, leadership and citizenship.

She stands sixth in her class both academically and in nursing aptitudes. Dean Eva Warren of the School of Nursing has singled her out for special commendation.

Miss Sapp is a member of the Student Nurses Association.

EC Pirates Clip VMI Keydets

Alford Leads Injured Pirates To Southern Conference Win

By RANDY RYAN
Sports Editor

A determined crew of Pirates sailed their ship to victory against V.M.I. Monday night with a 87-85 victory. The Bucs climbed back from as much as a eleven point down at one time with two of their starters on the bench. The determined Keydets pressed the Pirates in the final minutes as they cut the Buc lead to a single bucket on Robin Porter's shooting.

Jimmy Cox had given the Pirates a six point lead with 18 seconds left in the game but the action was far from over as Porter hit a pair from the charity stripe and then cashed in with a basket before the final buzzer sounded. The Keydets had grabbed the lead nine minutes into the first half after a nip and tuck battle up to that point. From there the visitors took off as Porter and Charlie Schmaus, a human scoring machine, started to hit from all over the court. The Bucs battled back to a six point margin at the intermission, with V.M.I. leading 44-38. Charlie Alford was the big gun for the Bucs with 14 points in the first half while Schmaus with 18 points, and his teammate Porter with 13 points led the Keydets.

The Bucs took the lead five minutes into the second half on Danny Pasquariello's jump shot which turned the score to 54-53 in favor of the Bucs. With their foot in the door it wasn't long till the Pirates had mounted a nine point lead with nine minutes left in the half. Two minutes later they once again built a nine point margin, but from that point on it was a down hill ride as the Keydets cut the Pirate lead to one point. Again the Bucs came through with the points to open the gap to six, but the visitors hung on to stay only four points behind.

The clinching points came on a four point play by Charlie Alford. Alford took a long pass and stuffed it for two points, getting fouled after the basket during the process. He was awarded a one and one shot and administered the death blow by sinking both shots for an eight point margin with only 35 seconds remaining. Porter went on a scoring spree scoring a three point play with 21 seconds, but Cox ended all argument with his pair of foul shots. Porter's four points did give the Bucs a nervous moment but with only two seconds left and a full press on, but the Pirates held on for their second Southern Conference victory.

Schmaus wound up the evening with 37 points and his teammate Porter with 27. For the Bucs it was Alford with 29 points and Danny Pasquariello with 20 as the high men respectively. Jimmy Cox chipped in with 17 and Bill Duckett with 12. Pasquariello was the big man on the boards for the home team with 10 rebounds. Jack Hartung, center for the visitors led their rebounding with 9.

The Bucs played without the services of Jerry Woodside, leading scorer, and captain Bobby Kinnard. Woodside road the bench again with an injured leg while Kinnard was ejected from the game early in the first half when a fight broke out with Jack Cooper. The fight lasted about as long as the Liston-Clay bout and there was about as much action, but both men were ejected none the less. Cox's total was impressive in the light of his missing a large portion of the second half after he had drawn four fouls early in the second half.

The victory boosted the Bucs season record to 6-9 while the Keydets dropped their eleventh game against three victories. V.M.I. is 3-6 in the conference.

Bill Duckett (20) puts in a lay up in the final minute of play as the UMI team looks on helplessly. Duckett had 12 points for the evening.

Jimmy Cox (22) in jump ball with Charlie Schmans, the game high scorer who had 37 points for the night. Cox did a fine job defensively for the Bucs.

Dirty Word Again

By Randy Ryan

Once again I will take my stand for school spirit. Oops, did I mention a dirty word. Perhaps school spirit is no longer "in." Whatever the reason, it must be asking a little too much to expect a student body of almost 8,000 to fill a gym structure must also hold the few loyal towns people and faculty that show up each week.

There are a few fans that show up each week, but the majority of students seem to find better things to do on the night of the game. Perhaps they throw rocks at the moon, or watch one of the morn shows on the idiot box, or count flowers on the wall. Whatever vital service they perform they certainly move no further than the doorway while an exciting game is going on right here on campus.

There is no reason why we shouldn't draw more students than we do. The Pirates have won five of the six games they have played at home. Four of those victories have been exciting, come from behind victories, won in the final seconds. We have an exciting ball club, that plays brilliant ball at times and seldom lets down when they get on the short end of a 10 point spread. They always seem to scrap and run their way back into the lead and come through with a flourish. Granted, the team does not have the best record in the conference, but that is no reflection on the team spirit. All but the two point loss to Furman came in games on the road. On the road, the Bucs have managed only one win, but that may be due to the lack of support.

Jimmy Cox, a sensational sophomore, is an exciting ball handler who has become a new hero for the dedicated East Carolina fan who takes the trouble to show up at the games. Cox dribbles and steals his way through the game giving the crowd a fine display of basketball. Jerry Woodside and Charlie Alford usually provide the scoring punch while Kinnard handles the boards well. It all adds up to an enjoyable evening of basketball, but then I suppose a lot of you are too busy to bother with a mundane matter like your school basketball team.

Recently there has been a great push to make East Carolina a University. What kind of University has less than two thousand students show up? How easy is it to get a ticket for a Duke or U.N.C. game? To get a thousand tickets here all you have to do is walk in at game time. The apathy that exists on this campus is stunning. It makes a joke of any delusions of E.C.U. If the students won't respect their own team, how will any other schools respect them? It is a pathetic situation when a student says, "get drunk, go nude but don't be caught dead at a basketball game."

East Carolina has had a traditional lack of school spirit. We have had it with three years of almost perfect football, we have had it with three years of .500 basketball. It makes no difference if a team wins or loses; anything that might be considered a school oriented function never draws any response from the student body. It seems to have the opposite effect. East Carolina is one of those rare places where a guest may come to speak on an interesting and vital topic only to find that the speaker outnumbered the audience.

The old gym shakes with about as much noise as a morgue. The silence is deafening, you can even hear the drops of perspiration as they hit the floor. Understand though, that I am not faulting those few people that do show up, instead I recognize you as the few college students in this institution. All the cheerleaders ever hear in reply to their cries are their own echos.

I expect these words to be taken with the usual apathy, if they are read at all. After all this is the COLLEGE paper. I would just suggest one thing for those of you who speak so highly of this place to the friends who mock you at home for going to such a fine institution. Don't worry about ECU, if we keep demonstrating our great concern with all aspects of this school, they might not even call this a college anymore.

Play boys, play. Play for the glory of old East Carolina. Play for your scholarship and free ride. Play for your team and all you can get, because that is your only reward besides self satisfaction. Don't bother looking at the stands boys, no one cares but you.
