

Candidates Meet The Press

By DAVE MCLEMORE

Student Government candidates met with press members of WECC Radio and the EAST CAROLINIAN Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m.

The "Candidates Meet the Press" program will be broadcast by WECC Radio along with "Candidates Meet the Students" assembly which will be held at 6:30 p.m. tonight in Wright Auditorium. All students are invited to attend this meeting.

The press meet with the candidates opened with a short platform statement from the candidates for the offices of President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer.

The meeting with candidates was both informative and entertaining. Bill Deal, for example, made several remarks on student apathy. Deal felt that the "issues" should have greater publicity and be placed before the students. He said the only way to get student interest is to let the students know what is going on around campus. Deal mentioned the elections as an example of student apathy due mostly to a lack of knowledge of what is happening on campus.

When asked how he purposed to "make people know what is going on," Deal replied that the answer lay in greater use of the EAST CAROLINIAN and WECC, and by working closer with the downtown radio stations and newspaper.

Nellie Lee, editor of the EAST CAROLINIAN, asked the presidential candidates what they thought about the cartoon in the EAST CAROLINIAN. Bill Moore replied he "thought it was very unbiased. I thought it added a little humor to the election." Sniteman seemed to think it was "a good article." Deal said he thought "it had a lot of deep thought in it if you really studied it."

Lee asked Bill Hunt (candidate for Vice President): "Can you extend your platform further than reform of the Honor Council? Hunt replied that he could promise the same as all the others, but these are more than often campaign promises, not feasible aims. Hunt, however, did say that he thought it would be an excellent idea to have an honor system placing more stress upon individual responsibility to see that the school honor is upheld. But such, he made clear, would evolve through time and not be obtained overnight.

The idea of coed dorms was laughed off. Bill Moore considered it "infeasible on the campus at this time."

Bill Deal thought the traffic barcade was placed wrong.

All three presidential candidates thought the Administration stepped a little off the deep-end in its action against Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Nu fraternities. They felt the penalties were too harsh considering the deeds.

Ted Hooks, Editorial Editor for the EAST CAROLINIAN, asked the three Presidential candidates what they thought of the EAST CAROLINIAN endorsing a Presidential candidate. Moore stated that he didn't think it would be appropriate since the EAST CAROLINIAN was "student-supported." Sniteman seemed to think that the paper should not support any one candidate since it was financed through the SGA and there might be dissension if it did so. Deal said "I don't mean to sound wishy-washy, but I can see both sides of a situation like this." He noted that he paid for a subscription to the Raleigh NEWS AND OBSERVER and I likewise paid a subscription fee which is included in the Student Activity Fee for the EAST CAROLINIAN. He stated that if the NEWS AND OBSERVER wanted to come out as endorsing Moore for governor, then that was its prerogative. He felt that the EAST CAROLINIAN should endorse a candidate if it wanted to. "I can see the arguments for it, but I can also see the other side," he said.

Other aspects of the program consisted of platform views by each candidate, and an airing of views on Faculty Evaluation by each of the Presidential candidates. The topic of rumors concerning the candidates and certain outsiders were also covered within this meeting.

For full coverage of "Candidates Meet the Press," listen tonight at 6:30 p.m. for further highlights of the Sunday press meeting.

Shown above are scenes from the "Candidates Meet the Press" program which will be broadcast on WECC tonight.

Trustees Chairman, Morgan, Defends Dr. Jenkins' Stand

By HENRY HOWARD
Director Of ECC News Bureau

So far as the chairman of the East Carolina trustees is concerned, President Leo W. Jenkins is on the right track in his pursuit to improve the college.

Furthermore, he thinks that a lesser effort would run the risk of decided disservice to higher education in North Carolina.

State Sen. Robert B. Morgan of Lillington, now in his second term as chairman of the board, says he feels sure that Dr. Jenkins' job would be easier and would give him no less return if he were less persistent.

Under Dr. Jenkins' leadership the college has been trying to establish a two-year medical school and to explore whether it can become a university. Both projects have drawn strong support and strong opposition alike.

Chairman Morgan says he is called on frequently to answer questions about why East Carolina and its president aren't content to "let well enough alone."

His reply, he says, goes like this: "I grant you Dr. Jenkins' lot would be much easier if he would just sit back and wait to see what might come his way—and his prestige and, yes, even his salary, would be no less."

"But some of the parents who want their boys and girls in college might be disappointed."

"Some of the sick and infirm who will be and have been treated by our graduate nurses might go lacking in care."

"Some of the state's young athletes who are coached by our graduates might not achieve that will to win."

"And the teacher, the scientist, or the doctor might not impart that knowledge, or make that discovery, which could change the course of all mankind."

Sen. Morgan, the first ECC alumnus to serve as chairman of its trustees, professes "great pride" in the record East Carolina has made. He says he envisions a bright future for the role of the college in higher education.

ECC Debaters Place Fourth

North Carolina's only representative took fourth place last weekend in the 19th annual Brooklyn College Debate Tournament in New York.

Barry Dressel and Richard Papeun posted a 5-1 won-lost record in the 54-team event to bring honors back to North Carolina in the two-man division.

Only Georgetown University and Mount Holyoke (Mass.) College, each with a 6-0 mark, topped the ECC entry.

The US Naval Academy (Annapolis) and the US Military Academy (West Point) equalled the ECC mark of 5-1.

Dressel, a freshman from Irwin, Pennsylvania, and Papeun, a senior from Petersburg, Virginia, were accompanied to the tournament by their coach, Albert Pertaion of the drama and speech faculty.

Tournament entries included teams from American, Bucknell, Catholic, Columbia, Cornell, Johns Hopkins, Niagara, Notre Dame, Temple and other universities; the universities of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont; and Fordham, Providence, Seton Hall and other colleges.

Next competition for the ECC team will be April 2 in Miami, Fla., in the annual Southern Speech Association Debate Tournament.

Constitution Institute Prepares For Session

The fourth Institute on Constitutional Democracy and Totalitarianism at East Carolina is scheduled during the first half of the 1966 summer session.

The institute aims to prepare North Carolina social studies teachers to carry out the State Department of Public Instruction's new approach to teaching about communism and to offer specialized training to liberal arts students in political science and related fields by seeking to compare the ideals and institutions of democratic systems with those of totalitarian states.

The main part of the five-week course, scheduled June 6 to July 12, will be devoted to comparative studies of political and economic theory and political institutions. While examples for study will come from many governments, the emphasis will be on comparison of ideas and institutions of the United States and the Soviet Union.

Dr. William F. Troutman Jr., and Dr. Faye Carroll of the political science department will direct the institute. Three guest lecturers will be sponsored by the American Bar Association's Standing Committee on Education Against Communism.

The nine quarter hours of credit it offers can count toward a graduate or undergraduate degree. Admission and registration procedures as well as fees are the same as for other college courses.

Institute lectures will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon daily except weekends from June 6 - July 12 in Old Atstin Building.

ELECTION PRECINCTS

Women and men students shall vote in their respective dormitories with the one exception. The residents of Woman's Hall shall vote in Jarvis Hall.

One central precinct will be located in the College Union (Precinct XIII) for use by women students and men students living off campus and for use by dormitory students who are unable to return to their respective dormitories to vote.

Note: "Candidates meet the Students" precedes broadcast of "Candidates Meet the Press" beginning tonight at 6:30 p.m. on WECC Radio.

Dr. John P. East Talks Before YRC

Dr. John East will be the guest speaker at the March meeting of the ECC Young Republicans Club. This meeting will be held Wednesday night, March 23, at 7:30 in New Austin Auditorium, according to B. Scot Ober, YRC Publicity Chairman.

Dr. East, Republican candidate for Congress from the First District, astounded political analysts and poll watchers recently capturing a record 40 per cent of the vote in the special January election to fill the unexpired term of Herbert Bonner. He has already declared himself a candidate to oppose Walter Jones in November for a full two-year term. He is expected to talk on the recent campaign, and also discuss his plans for the upcoming election.

Everyone is invited to attend this important meeting.

Our Last Chance . . .

Tonight will be our last opportunity to become acquainted with those candidates running for Student Government offices in tomorrow's election.

Numerous efforts have been made by campaign managers, WECC, and this newspaper for the purpose of giving the student body an opportunity to evaluate all the candidates before going to the polls to vote.

Tonight at 6:30 pm. in Wright Auditorium, Student Government candidates will address the Student Body in a last attempt to acquaint the students on campus with individuals seeking a Student Government position.

We encourage all students to meet with the candidates at this time. This will be the final chance for all students to decide exactly why and for whom they will be voting in tomorrow's election.

We strongly urge that all students participate in Thursday's SGA election. It only takes a few minutes for us to cast our votes and take an active interest in helping to put the candidates of our choice into office.

All of us should feel compelled to vote tomorrow if for no other reason than the fact that we should have enough concern and personal pride to want SGA officers who will be representative of the feelings and ideals of all East Carolina students.

Only through a combined effort on the part of all students will we be able to have an effective and efficiently run Student Government Association. All of us can be participants in helping to attain such a goal by getting out and voting tomorrow. If we do not vote, we have no one to blame for the candidates elected to office except ourselves.

Women Can't Win . . .

(ACP)—College women live in a dream world, says the Daily Texan, University of Texas. For four years they are equal to men. They compete with them for grades, for honors, for recognition. They can even become student body presidents or newspaper editors.

The Daily Texan said in an editorial: Many women graduate expecting to find careers in which they can use their educations, where they can be "fulfilled." "A mere housewife? Never!" they say disdainfully. Most find that while their understanding of Eliot and Tynbee Kierkegaard may make life infinitely richer, it may not make them materially as well off as a few courses in shorthand and typing.

A lucky few will snare positions in which they can make use of their education and intelligence. We are warned, however, that careers may not be as attractive in the flesh as they seem in one's imagination. Of course, many men, too, are subject to post-graduate disappointment.

Still, more men are successful than women. Some persistently insist that women simply are not as intellectually capable as men. That's why there have been no female Tolstoys, Beethovens or Nietzsches, they argue. There haven't been any Negro Beethovens either, but that doesn't mean there aren't be.

Women and Negroes are both second class human beings in this society. According to a recent magazine article by Christ Jules Feiffer, Negroes are "star victims" while women's position is far less dramatic and, consequently, less conscience-demanding (than the Negro's). Lost in the shadow of our greater prejudices, she drags along, her problem not taken seriously by either herself or anyone else, her identity a mess because she has neither a rock of acceptance nor rejection to anchor it. Woman is a second class victim. And what is her problem? We all know it is man."

According to Feiffer, men created women simply to become "deliciously conscious of themselves." They really don't like women at all. Whether or not women are liked by men, most of them will choose or be forced into a role basically of satisfying a male counterpart. There seems to be a basic motivation for women to look up to men, for men to look up to men, and for no one to want it any differently.

A renegade female can choose a career, but she will be branded a misfit by most of society. Or a woman can choose to juggle both a career and marriage, but here probably will be a second class career. When hubby is transferred, she will quit her job and administer the moving. When the children are ill, she will take a leave of absence to mother them back to health.

We see no way for the female to evade her own particular kind of necessity. One writer in Look magazine's special January issue on "The American Woman" suggests that she find her "way back to true womanhood" so that "the American man will recover his pride and his manhood."

On the other hand, we were told during childhood that if one can touch her left elbow with her left hand, she will change sexes. Now let's see . . .

Letters To The Editor

DISTAFF DEFENDER

Editor: Mr. Papeun, we poor pitiable enslaved males who happen to love, cherish and respect Womanhood and all which that implies, sincerely pity you, because you hold a view of the feminine gender which is seriously warped, to say the least.

"Woman is unable to experience existence; it is much too painful." Speak with a woman who has given birth, or lost an infant to disease and the unpredictable quirks of fate. Visit a young wife whose husband has just been senselessly slaughtered.

Woman desperately needs man to satisfy her wants, but man does not need woman." This is indeed ludicrous, as millions of men who do not need women, need other men.

"She hinders progress—it threatens her dominance." You might have a point there, Mr. Papeun. Madame Curie really went all out to block progress, didn't she.

And one more thing, while we are on the subject. Were it not for your despised women, you would not exist to write your vitriolic little letters, and wouldn't THAT be a shame?

Sincerely,

John Flores

BROADHURST BOOSTER

To the Women Students,

On Thursday, March 24, the SGA elections will be held. All students should take vital interest in these elections because the outcome will affect you, the student body.

The women students should especially examine the qualifications of the candidates running for the office of Chairman of the Women's Judiciary.

Many of the present rules regarding women students are outdated. In order to initiate changes in this system, the chairman will have to work with the legislature; therefore, a candidate who hopes to effectively fill this position must have both legislative and judicial experience. Janet Broadhurst has both. Having served as President of Cotten and Vice-President of Fletcher for two years, she has served on the Women's Judiciary for six quarters. Janet is also a junior class representative.

If elected Janet plans to establish a committee, to re-evaluate the women's rules. She also plans to form an TSC for women so we can have an organization through which we can channel our efforts for the future ECU.

Having known and worked with Janet for three years, we feel that she is qualified and capable. She is a dependable person who will serve as chairman of the Women's Judiciary with the interest of all the women in mind.

We urge you to cast your vote for Janet Broadhurst for Chairman of Women's Judiciary on Thursday, March 24.

Mary E. Laney, President of South Fletcher
Jeannette Elder, President of North Fletcher

On The Raw Side

Bible Belt Bombs Beer Blast

By Dave McLemore

A tip of the flagon to Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Nu. Bad publicity with the gods is all East Carolina needs right now to insure the achievement of university status. Since inadequate facilities for the support of a medical school exist in the local hospital and the ECC Science Division, the realization of a medical school might well depend upon the extra aid for which university status would qualify East Carolina.

This, for better or worse, is the Bible Belt. We are in the uncomfortable position of being a tax-supported institution (I pay tuition just for kicks) located in an ultra-conservative area in which Mr. Average Citizen to which the college is responsible reveals his level of culture and sophistication in his choice of favorite T.V. shows—"Gomer Pile" and "Bonanza" (rated one and two in this area by the Nielson survey). Due to the fact that it is his children who enter this college, ECC has been "forced" to play mamma and cater to illogical, Fundamentalist norms of social be-

ISSUE EMPHASIS

To the Editor:

When I announced my candidacy for SGA President, I hoped that we could have a campaign without mud-slinging, name-calling, or rumors. It was my hope that the campaigns of the candidates could be conducted on political issues and not personalities.

As the campaign has developed, various rumors about me and about other candidates have come to light. If I have in any manner contributed to these rumors, I would hope that they would be disregarded. It is most unfortunate and I apologize to those persons affected. In addition, I would appeal to anyone aiding my campaign who may be spreading rumors to stop this practice and do all in their power to correct this situation.

It is only when students cast their votes on the basis of the platform and ability of the candidates, without outside interest that we can develop a better SGA.

Sincerely,

Bill Moore

PLATFORM-NOT RUMOR

Letter to the Editor:

On Thursday, we the students of East Carolina College, will face some very important decisions. We shall determine for ourselves who will hold the various S.G.A. offices during the coming year. I am sure each of us wants to cast his vote in the most intelligent manner possible.

Of course the best way to decide how to cast a vote is to study the issues and examine the candidates. However, there is one other rule to follow, and perhaps it is the most important one of all. Be careful about being fooled into voting for or against a certain candidate just because of a false rumor.

I am aware of a rumor that might have a profound effect upon the thinking of a large number of voters, and I wish to clear the record, so the election might be decided in a more reasonable fashion.

This rumor concerns Bill Moore who is a candidate for S.G.A. President. Let me say here that I am not a supporter of Mr. Moore, but I do not see any reason for allowing a misconception about any candidate to exist.

The rumor is simply that anyone who pledges their vote to Mr. Moore will be entitled to either free entertainment or refreshment at a well-known establishment in Greenville. I have spoken with Mr. Moore about the truth behind this statement. He assured me that there was no such promise made by anyone of his impractical and unethical nature of such a plan to capture votes. He and I both agreed that such irresponsible statements damage the quality of an election.

This gossip is just one of many rumors that exist and damage the honest efforts of all candidates for office. Rumors are very easily started, and they spread rapidly. I appeal to you, as intelligent individuals, to vote on platforms rather than on rumors.

Sincerely,

Barry A. Blick

SOMETHING FOR ALL

Dear Editor,

The day is fast approaching for the election of new officers of the S.G.A. for next year. I would like to take this opportunity to make a comparison of the three candidates who are running for the top office, that of president.

I have heard many rumors spread about all candidates. I will only say that all that I have heard about myself and my platform, that I have not stated affirmatively, are FALSE. Too many people are being converted by ideas and stories that they should ask the candidate about. Any of the candidates will be, I am sure, glad to state their views.

I would like to point out in comparison several things about my background, as opposed to the other candidates.

First, I have no party. I am a member of no small group of people who make up a faction of the campus. I am for everyone who is a student here, whether he be a man, woman, member of the IDC, IPC or a day student. My platform has something for all.

Second, I do not have a running mate. This is for one reason. I am running for President, not Vice President, Secretary, etc. I am devoting my entire effort to this office, and the successful campaign of this office. I do not say that this is bad, but you should vote on the man, not the duet or trio.

Third, I feel that I have the only candidate that has been in the SGA as a working member for three years. I have started programs for the women, and I have lived on the "hill" every quarter for three years, therefore I know the problems of both. I have the grades. A man for this office cannot afford to be even, or "up a few," because this job demands so much time, and you have to study also. We have had too many past presidents who have had to give up their office, or not be able to graduate with their class, because they could not maintain a "C" average.

Fourth, I believe that my platform is the only one that has a positive approach. Why should we go into an office with a negative outlook? We must think positive to grow and accomplish anything.

I hope that these comments will not seem out of place or detrimental to anyone, that is not their purpose. Think before you act, and realize what you are getting for your vote. More than that, cast a vote, not just as a student, but as part of East Carolina College. It only takes a minute, but the reward may be great.

"Repair the present, plan for the future, with something for all." This is my goal, let it be yours.

Sincerely yours,

Bill Deal

Administration Fails Students; Married Couples Face Problem

By BILL RUFTY

This year East Carolina has come the closest yet to becoming a university. However, as every Piedmont legislator and his brother have so aptly pointed out, several problems must be corrected first.

One of the major problems of the campus of our future ECU is one which the Administration has seemingly overlooked or purposefully neglected — the housing of married students.

According to Housing Director Dan K. Wooten, there are two places on campus for married student housing. The largest married student housing area is the basement of Ragsdale dormitory with a total of eleven rooms for a capacity of eleven couples. The second housing area is what is known as "Slay Annex" which contains two apartments for four married students.

Not only is there no provision for housing on campus for married students as is the duty of every state supported institution, but there is a scarcity of off-campus housing. New apartment buildings go up every day but obviously the Greenville owners do not seem to feel it is worth their efforts to build apartments for married students as the prices for a majority of the residences range from $95 to $115 a month for a modern furnished apartment.

According to Director Wooten, "There are only two (apartment complexes) that cater especially to college students. They both range from $60 to $65 a month which is about what most married couples can afford. Most of the married students wind up in trailers off campus."

In striving for university status the Administration has forgotten two important factors. First, the success of the university is its number of graduate students. Second, the majority of the graduate students, on whom the university depends on order to grow and receive grants, are married. Naturally the graduate student, in most cases, does not own a trailer or have over a hundred dollars a month for rent.

It is also most important for undergraduate married students to have proper housing, for a college education for one or both mates may be necessary for future success of their marriage.

Although married student housing is almost nul on our campus, this writer conducted several informal interviews with married students which show the inadequacy of the very few facilities available.

One male student commented, "our rooms are so small that even a husband and wife feel cramped when they are together, so visiting is almost out."

Another student stated that cooking "is not allowed in the rooms. And when you have to eat every meal out, you run into money. The silliest rule is that we can keep food in a refrigerator in the room but cannot cook."

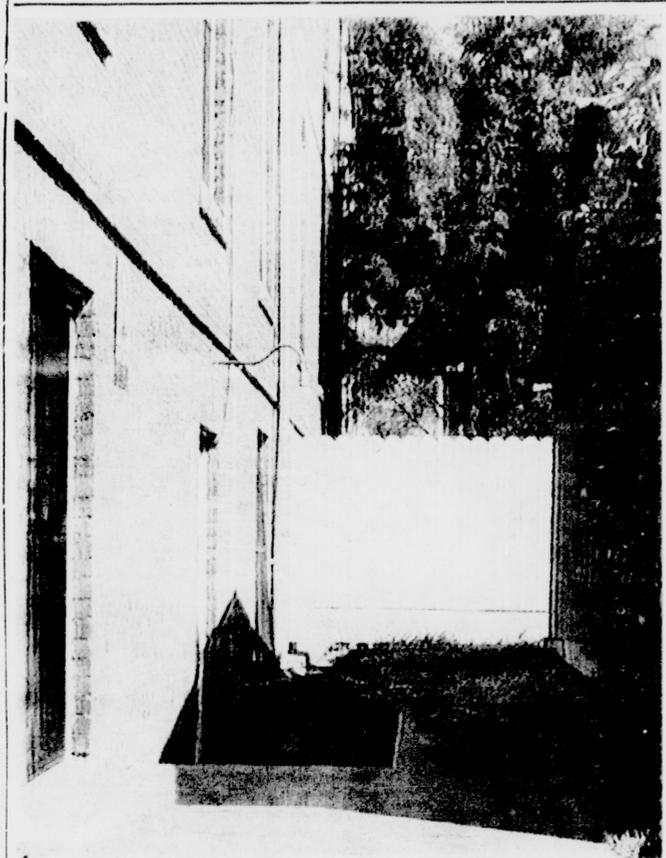

To add to the complaints about inadequate facilities, a young married student had this to say about trailer living: "Most of the couples in trailers are still paying on them and probably will for a while after college." The trouble, he explained, is that some of the students have to have their parents to help them with the down payment and the first few installments.

Quantity, quantity is all we ever hear from the university stand point. There is Lincoln University in Tennessee with an enrollment of about 400. What is needed now is adequate facilities instead of packing students in just to boast of a large enrollment.

Two questions might now be posed to the Administration—deserving to be answered in the interest of the students.

One, why has nothing been done to relieve the problem of on campus married student housing?

Two, what is the reasoning behind the addition of another two hundred freshman girls next year, when the area (Ragsdale Hall) could be used for married couples?

Dilapidated, slum-like quarters depict the cramped basement of Ragsdale Hall—the largest area for married students (eleven).

"Slay Annex," the only married student apartment building, houses two couples.

Candidates

By BARBARA COOK

I should like to announce to you my candidacy for the office of secretary of the Student Government Association in the coming elections, March 24. As an independent candidate for this office, I want to serve the student body. I will support and work with whom ever you elect to the other executive offices. I am aware of the responsibilities of this office and will carry them out in the best tradition of the SGA.

I should like to see a more efficient means of bringing the results of each SGA meeting to your attention, for recent elections have revealed the lack of interest among students in their support of the SGA. Too few students ever realize the facilities available to SGA executives and representatives which have been constructed within the past year. As secretary I will keep you, the students informed of the SGA decisions, and I encourage each of you to cast your ballot for the candidate that desires to promote the benefits of your SGA.

Thank you for your support.

By DENISE KOGELMAN

Every Tuesday night at 6:30 twenty-five girls assemble in Wright Annex. These girls compose a body known as the Women's Judiciary Council. How many of you really understand what this special council is, its powers and limitations, and its objective? Some of you may have a misconception of the function of Judiciary, as I had before I became a member. Since you will be electing a chairman this Thursday to preside over this council, it is important to realize exactly what the Women's Judiciary Council at EC is.

Judiciary has the jurisdiction in matters concerning disciplinary problems not included in House Council yet which are not serious enough to deserve suspension or expulsion. All cases concerning the conduct of women students are referred to this council. The defendant must appear before Judiciary and explain the circumstances of the accusation. After hearing the explanation and questioning the defendant, Judiciary must discuss the case and vote upon the penalty according to the demerit system in the KEY. The council's main objective is to be impartial and fair in deciding penalties. I might add that Judiciary has no power to decide whether or not a school rule is either fair or obsolete, nor can Judiciary organize any council to investigate or alter the rulings over women students. This is a misconception. The Social Standards Committee, and not Judiciary, is designed for that purpose. Judiciary only has the power to act as a body of judges to insure that those rules established by the administration are enforced and that those who do not abide by the college rules receive the correct penalties.

The Chairman of Judiciary presides over this body of judges insuring impartiality and fairness, and voting in case of a tie. I have served as a member of House Council, and I am now acting as Secretary of the Women's Judiciary. As secretary, I have worked closely with the chairman and, together, we have tried to set up a fair precedent for future judicial cases. From this experience I feel I can effectively perform the chairman's duty of insuring the EC's Women's Judiciary Council always upholds its principle of fairness to women students. I hope you will support me with your vote.

ART

A 20-piece one-man show by the dean of the East Carolina School of Art, Dr. Wellington B. Gray, is on display this month in the Hallway Gallery of Rawl Building, home of the art school.

The show includes temperas, collages and watercolor paintings. The gallery is on third floor of Rawl. The show will remain through Thursday, March 31.

Dr. Gray's main emphasis is color. He compares early realistic work to later severe styles in his current show. Each painting in the show is non-objective and simplified.

Dr. Gray is represented in public and private collections in Edinboro, Pa.; Akron, Ohio; Highland Park, Ill.; Mobile, Ala.; and Greenville.

Prior to coming to EC in the fall of 1956 he was dean of the Art School of Edinboro (Pa.) State College.

Dean Gray has also taught at Albion College, Cambridge Springs, Pa.; New York University; Highland Park, (Ill.) High School; and in the Connellsville Public Schools in Pennsylvania.

He holds the BS from Kutztown (Pa.) State College and the MA and EdD degrees from New York University. He has also studied at New York State College for Teachers, the Pennsylvania State University and the University of the Philippines.

MUSIC

Three representatives of the East Carolina School of Music had duties at the annual meeting of the Music Educators National Conference (MENC) in Kansas City, Mo., March 19-21. Dr. Thomas W. Miller, assistant dean, reported on music in higher education. Dr. Thomas H. Carpenter worked with the section on public school music. Dr. Martin Mailman, composer-in-residence, was a committeeman for MENC's contemporary music project.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

A recent book by Dr. John P. East of the East Carolina political science faculty, "Council-Manager Government," is on the recommended reading list of Phi Beta Kappa, as published in the winter issue of The Key Reporter, quarterly newsletter of the society.

Faculty Senate Discusses Parking

The Faculty Senate held its regularly scheduled meeting on February 14, 1966, at 4:00 p.m. in Room 132 of New Austin. Mr. James Poin-dexter, Chairman of the Faculty, presided. Members absent: Mr. Carter, Miss Greene, Mr. Gross, Mr. Martin, Miss Petteway, Mr. Phelps, Mr. Spear, President Jenkins, Dean Williams, Dean Horne, Mr. Middleton.

The Chairman asked if there were any corrections in the minutes of January 4. The Chairman then directed that on page 2 of those minutes, the first sentence be changed to read, "Mr. Graham moved to strike out the words 'and competent' from Item 1 of Paragraph 2." He also directed that members absent be recorded: Members absent on January 4 were: Mr. Gray, Mr. LeConte, Mr. Loessin, Mr. Weigand, President Jenkins. Subject to these changes the minutes of January 4, 1966, were approved.

The Chairman stated that the statement on academic tenure and due process had been given to the Board of Trustees by Dr. Jenkins, and was being studied by the Board.

Mr. Miller then spoke on his recommendation, as Chairman of the Committee on Faculty Parking. He distributed a chart showing parking spaces available at various places on the campus and the number of stickers issued for those spaces. The total showed 640 stickers issued for staff and 406 available parking spaces. Mr. Duncan stated that 90 or more spaces were to be made available for parking. Mr. Matthews suggested that streets now closed should be opened for parking. Mr. Duncan replied that this would necessitate re-opening these streets. Mr. Duncan suggested special stickers be issued to elderly or handicapped faculty members to insure parking places for them near their offices and classrooms.

Mr. Miller stated that faculty members have a right to a parking space just as they have a right to a classroom and office space. Mr. Dunigan suggested that it was a matter of whether the college considered the salary of a person, who, because of insufficient parking spaces, was forced to walk to school, more expensive than the cost of building extra spaces. Mr. Dunigan made a motion that a group be appointed to study the value of the faculty's time as opposed to the value of parking space. There was a second to the motion.

Mr. Holt announced that the President had appointed a committee to study the traffic problem and suggested that the recommendations of the Chairman of the Parking Committee could be incorporated in the study of this group. Mr. Miller said that the President would like an expression of the Senate's feeling on the parking problem. Mr. Steelman asked if the Buildings and Grounds Committee had been consulted in the matter of traffic and the addition of parking spaces, since this is both a traffic and a landscaping problem. Mr. Duncan replied that this committee had not been consulted.

Mr. Bing moved that the Faculty Senate Committee on Faculty Parking be discharged and that the President's committee be given charge of the traffic problem. The motion was seconded. Mr. Gray, in response to a question, said that the President's committee was composed of Mr. Wooten, Mr. Tucker, SGA President Greene, and himself.

Mr. Bing's motion to discharge the committee carried 23 to 17.

Mr. Reynolds moved that the committee be commended for its work. The motion was seconded and carried unanimously.

Mr. Parnell moved that the Faculty Senate endorse the recommendations of the Chairman of the Committee on Faculty Parking. Mr. Finch suggested that the recommendation that each faculty member be issued one sticker in the designated area would work a hardship on some faculty members. Mr. Miller replied that this might be avoided by issuing more than one sticker but that each faculty member have only one number. Among other things, this would keep in order statistics of ratio of stickers to spaces available. Mr. Fleming suggested that designation of areas for each faculty member would be inconvenient for these faculty members who teach in widely-separated buildings. Mr. Miller replied that any solution would be a minor inconvenience to some. He was looking for the greatest good for the greatest number.

Mr. Saunders moved to delete the recommendation that the assignment of these spaces be designated by areas. Motion was seconded. Mr. Miller stated that the whole force of the recommendations was nullified by this amendment. Mr. Dunigan reminded the senate that the majority of the committee had been against this recommendation. Mr. Howell thought that if there were more parking spaces, the area designation would be unnecessary.

Motion to delete was defeated with 20 voting for the motion, 29 against.

Mr. Gray said that since the President's committee is composed of two members of the administration, one member of the student body and one member of the faculty, he moved that the College Traffic Committee be reconstituted to include adequate representation of the faculty. Motion was seconded.

Mr. Steelman moved to amend Mr. Gray's motion to specify the composition of the committee to include 3 members of the faculty and 1 member of the administration. Mr. Holt stated that the committee appointed by the President was campus-wide in context. Mr. Ellen asked the name of the committee and was told that it was the College Traffic Committee. Motion of Mr. Steelman to specify the membership of the committee was defeated 21-21.

Motion to reform the College Traffic Committee to provide adequate faculty representation was carried unanimously.

Mr. Capwell asked why it was necessary to reserve faculty parking spaces until 12 o'clock. The reason for this was the difficulty of finding parking spaces when members of the faculty worked at night. The spaces are occupied by students and visitors. Although it was generally agreed that enforcement of these regulations is almost impossible in the case of visitors, the regulations can control student parking. Miss Williams pointed out that the faculty would be inconvenienced by their not being allowed to park at the library at night if certain areas were designated. Mr. Weigand pointed out that the lack of available space discouraged certain work faculty could or would do at night.

The motion to endorse the recommendation of the Chairman of the Senate Parking Committee was carried by a vote of 33-3.

Mr. Fleming moved that a record of the Senate voting on these matters be given to the College Traffic Committee. Mr. Parnell moved to amend Mr. Fleming's motion to have a record of the vote sent to the President also. Mr. Parnell's motion to amend was carried with 2 senators voting against. Mr. Fleming's motion carried with one opposed.

Mr. Clay moved that the Senate recommend that all fines levied against faculty and staff as of this date be forgiven. Mr. Dunigan said that the Senate would then sanction protests that involved breaking the law.

Mr. Saunders moved to amend the motion to add that any fines paid by faculty or staff this school year should be returned. Motion to amend was defeated.

Mr. Matthews thought the faculty should not be exempt from the payment of fines. Mr. Gray said most fines levied were in September because of inadequate parking. The motion to forgive fines of faculty and staff was defeated with 5 voting for the motion.

The Chairman suggested that, since several of the deans concerned were present, the order of the Agenda should be arranged. Since there was no objection, Item 6 of the agenda, concerning the School of Business' request to change the requirement for the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration to give the student a choice between taking 15 to 25 hours of mathematics was considered.

Dr. Browning was asked by the Chairman to comment on this proposed change. Dr. Browning stated that the School felt it would serve some students better by giving them a choice in this matter. He also stated that it would enhance any Masters of Business Administration program that might be developed by the School as well as meet one of the criticisms of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business.

Mr. Jones moved that the proposal of the School of Business be accepted. Mr. Fleming seconded the motion and stated that Dean Williams had approved the change. The motion carried unanimously.

The next discussion was Item 8 of the agenda concerning the clarification of what constitutes an emergency in allowing emergency cuts. Miss Potter moved that absences from classes due to weather be considered emergency cuts.

Mr. Mallory stated that the Senate had no idea how much clerical help was entailed in issued excused absences. He suggested that the enforcement of regular class attendance be left up to the instructor. Mr. Fleming disagreed, stating that the cut system should be uniform. Mr. Holt stated that the only reason the school was kept open during the snow was for on-campus students. Mr. Mallory suggested that the Chairman appoint a continuing committee on this problem. Miss White said that the only excused absences were death in the family, sickness, and being away representing the college. The dean should have the right to exercise discretion in the matter of issuing other excused cuts. Motion of Miss Potter did not carry, with 10 voting for the motion.

Mr. Reynolds asked that courses on the last page of the agenda be included in the block of new courses on pages 1 and 2 of the agenda. There was no objection.

Mr. Saunders moved to approve courses in Items 3, 4 and 5 as well as the new graduate programs mentioned by Mr. Reynolds. Motion was seconded and carried unanimously.

Mr. Jeffries moved that classes shall not be dismissed on a college-wide basis for extra-curricular programs or lectures except in infrequent cases where the President or Dean judges the occasion to be of such unusual importance that it requires the attention of the entire faculty and student body. Mr. Jeffries pointed out that the dismissal of classes for the Christmas program was especially difficult for science teachers, who had planned labs, and suggested that the Christmas program be held late in the afternoon or at night. Mr. Loessin stated that the resolution does not change the present policy, because the dismissal of classes is by the President. Mr. Haggerty said that the large student body precluded every student's attending anyway. Mr. Reynolds stated that teachers could arrange their work in anticipation of this yearly interruption. Motion was carried with 23 voting for and 12 against.

Mr. Holt stated that it did not change the present rule that the President could dismiss classes at his discretion. The Chairman stated that of course the President could veto the action of the Senate. Mr. Loessin repeated that the motion did not change the present policy. The Chairman felt that the sense of the motion would insure that classes would not be dismissed for such occasions as the Christmas Program as dismissal would be for only extraordinary events.

Moral Revolt Presents Problems

CHICAGO (CPS) — What should be the University's role in guiding student morality?

This question was among those bothering educators at the National Conference of the Association for Higher Education, held here March 13-16.

Two speakers challenged the wisdom of administration attempts to impose rules on students.

Fred M. Hechinger, education editor of the New York Times, suggested a "community of scholars" needs to have rules, but they should probably be set by the students themselves.

Students in today's affluent society are demanding more attention for themselves as students and asking for more autonomy for their personal lives, Hechinger said. The students' quest for maturity, he pointed out, involves both direct participation in university affairs and intellectual permissiveness.

The idea the university should play the role of a parent (in loco parentis) was even more strongly rejected by Helen Newlis, Dean of Students at the University of Rochester.

"The student must be free to question the existing order and to test new attitudes," she urged. While the university does have a role in liberating from conventional attitudes which inhibit ingenuity and imagination, she said.

This applies both to moral attitudes on such questions as sexual practices and to over-valuing grades against individual expression and imagination, she argued.

In response to Mrs. Newlis' remarks, Miriam Sheldon, Dean of Women at the University of Illinois, cited a need for such restrictions as hour limitations for women's dorms.

"Male students between 18 and 22 will use every device they can. . . Freshman girls will date practically anybody, from freshman boys to married instructors, in some cases," she said.

The discussion after Hechinger's talk showed general agreement on the "moral revolution" among young people these days. Hechinger pointed to a study showing one out of six teenage girls in Connecticut are pregnant and unwed. A member of the audience responded that the ratio was even higher in New York State.

A Dean from one school reported students manufacturing LSD in the chemistry labs and selling it for four cents a cube, while a representative from another college asked how a dean should deal with a "good girl" who had asked to be fitted with a diaphragm.

No conclusive answers to these problems were found.

A recent addition to the campus are two maps of the same. The maps have been strategically located in front of Wright Auditorium and Memorial Gymnasium. To aid the directionless, the maps are conveniently color-keyed—red for academics, yellow for housing, and blue for others. A branch of Dr. H. David Stillwell, the maps also represent the work of Gamma Theta Upsilon fraternity and the Maintenance Department.

Pembroke State Offers Summer Mid-East Tour

PEMBROKE, N. C. — Pembroke State College will offer a 1966 tour of the Mediterranean World and the Holy Land as a part of its Summer Session. Those taking part in the tour will receive six semester hours credit, three in Religion 320, a World Religious Seminar; and three in History 331, Survey of Modern Near East and Mediterranean World.

Directing the tour will be Miss I. Ruth Martin, for 12 years professor of Religion and Journalism at Pembroke State. Miss Martin directed a similar tour to Europe in 1964. She holds graduate degrees from Southwestern Seminary, Fort Worth; and Emory University, Atlanta. During 1958 she studied at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Miss Martin has toured extensively in Europe and the Near East.

The tour will begin June 9 and conclude June 30. Several days will be spent at each of several stops including Lebanon, Jordan, Egypt, Greece, Italy and France. Other stops will be made at London and Lisbon. Accommodations will be in first class hotels with full board included in the price of the tour. The group will leave New York by Swiss-air jet and return by the same line.

Price of the tour is $1,100.00 complete from New York. Application for membership in the tour may be requested by writing to Miss I. Ruth Martin, Pembroke State College, Pembroke, N. C. or to Dr. Herbert Oxendine, Director of the Summer Session, Pembroke State College. Full information will be sent by return mail.

Pirates Scuttle Heels!

By RALPH SMITH

East Carolina initiated the 1966 baseball season Friday afternoon by downing the Tarheels from the University of North Carolina 5-3.

Carolina threatened in the first inning when back to back singles by Butch Watts and Danny Talbott left men on first and second base with one out but their hopes of an early score quickly evaporated when Bob Hume hit a long fly ball to the left fielder and Bob Bonczek was put out at first on a slow grounder for the final two outs of the inning. The Pirates did not waste any time scoring four runs in their half of the inning. Tarheel pitcher Mike McGlaughlin walked the first three men he faced before being replaced by Mike Flanagan. The Pirate right fielder, Wayne Britton, was then given a free base by Flanagan for East Carolina's first run of the new season. With the bases still loaded, Richard Hedgecock hit for a single to move the Bucs ahead 2-0. Flanagan then appeared to settle down a little by putting out the next two men he faced. But a wild pitch enabled Fred Rodriguez to score from third base and immediately afterwards a single by Lynn Smith brought across the fourth and final run of the inning.

Second baseman Fred Rodriguez accounted for the fifth Pirate run in the second inning by smashing a home run over the left field fence with no one on base.

Carolina tallied their first run late in the third inning when an error by Wayne Britton and singles by Danny Talbott and Bob Hume put three men on base. Carolina catcher John Shaw was put out at first base enabling Butch Watts to come home from third. Charlie Carr was put out at first base for the third out.

East Carolina threatened to score again in the bottom of the fifth inning when Richard Hedgecock went to first on a single. Carl Dodona and pinch hitter Richard Narron walked to put three Pirate runners on base. The attempt to add to the score was cut short, however, when Lynn Smith hit a pop fly to the first baseman for the second out and Richard Hedgecock was put out in an effort to steal home.

The Tarheels brought in their second run in the sixth inning. Bob Bonczek led off with a long double to center field and advanced to third base when John Shaw was put out at first base. Center fielder Charlie Carr sent Bonczek home on his first hit of the day, a single between shortstop and third base.

East Carolina pitcher Jimmy Raynor held the Tarheels in check until the ninth inning. A double by Butch Watts and an error by shortstop Olie Jarvis left men on first and third. Bob Hume connected for a double giving Carolina their third run. Bob Bonczek made the second out of the inning hitting a short pop fly to the third baseman. Catcher Johnny Shaw accounted for the third out giving the Pirates a 5-3 victory.

How Sweet It Is

By Mike York

By MIKE YORKE

—If it wasn't settled before, it certainly is now! I'm referring, of course, to the issue over our becoming another puppet, pardon me—portion, of the Greater University of North Carolina. The rude welcome given the pious Tar Heels in our first baseball game Friday seemed a clear indication of our "family" feelings. The Bucs, while not sharp, were never in real trouble as they shattered much of UNC Coach Rabb's optimism. A pleased, though not jubilant, Coach Smith commented: "We made enough mistakes to lose, but the boys hung in there. It was a good win."

—Jim Raynor's 8 2/3 innings in the opener undoubtedly increased Coach Smith's optimism about the strong senior's potential. For Jim, however, it was strictly sweet revenge for a bad taste that has lingered since the NCAA regionals in Gastonia almost two years ago when the Heels came out on top, revenge by any other name is still sweet.

—At deadline time my info was still fairly spotty on the accomplishments of our tankmen at the NCAA nationals in Normal, Illinois. Two big bright facts, however, did get through: EC placed sixth overall in a field of forty-eight teams. This was about as expected so it ranks as a big plus for our charges. Number two—big Mike Tomberlin came back with a big national championship in the 200 yard backstroke event. We love you, Mike!

—Next year the NCAA moves to sunny Congress, California for the finals. In view of our light graduation losses and our fabulous freshman team moving up we should bring back a substantial portion of that "warm California sun" next spring.

—A salute to the many, many, pirate fans at the Carolina game Friday afternoon. The stands were packed thirty minutes before game time and they kept coming. Did they leave due to lack of seats? None—they faithfully lined the fence two and three deep in a brilliant display of fanmanship. Keep it up fans, the team was very aware of, and loved your presence.

—Ancient Sport Department—Broughton Stokes, Stanton Cagle, and yours truly took it upon ourselves this busy Sunday afternoon to do our part toward perpetuating the ancient and beautiful art of kite flying. After several meager purchases and a period of experimental soaring our aim was achieved. There it was 300 feet up dancing gaily in the breeze until some damn tree that should have been cut down eons ago grabbed it. You snicker huh?! Well just you wait, our plans include a 7'c Batman plastic kite for next week.

Tomberlin, Nat. Tank Champ, Spurs Team In NCAA Meet

By MIKE CONLEY

Mike Tomberlin is the national college champion in the 200 yard backstroke. East Carolina finished sixth out of forty-eight teams in the NCAA college swimming and diving championships. Six swimmers compiled 108 points to finish behind four Southern California teams and LaSalle. Dick Tobin, Mike Tomberlin, Owen Paris, and Mike Hamilton all finished in the top six in one or more events.

Coming from behind in the last 25 yards, Mike Tomberlin gained his national victory with a new East Carolina record of 2:06.2. Mike also set a new team record of 57.2 as he finished third in the 100 yard backstroke. In a close diving contest, Dick Tobin finished third in the one meter diving and fourth in the three meter diving. Owen Paris placed 5th in the 200 yard breaststroke and 100 yard butterfly.

An unfortunate accident struck East Carolina when Paul Donahue, cut off an inward two-and-a-half dive, came down on the board and cut his head. Before the accident he was in contention, but he was not allowed to continue. He is reported to be all right now.

Lane Jorgensen and Tom Houghton, along with other members of the team picked up points by finishing in the top twelve enabling the team to gain its sixth place finish. San Diego finished first in the team competition followed by San Jose, Santa Barbara, Long Beach, LaSalle, and East Carolina.

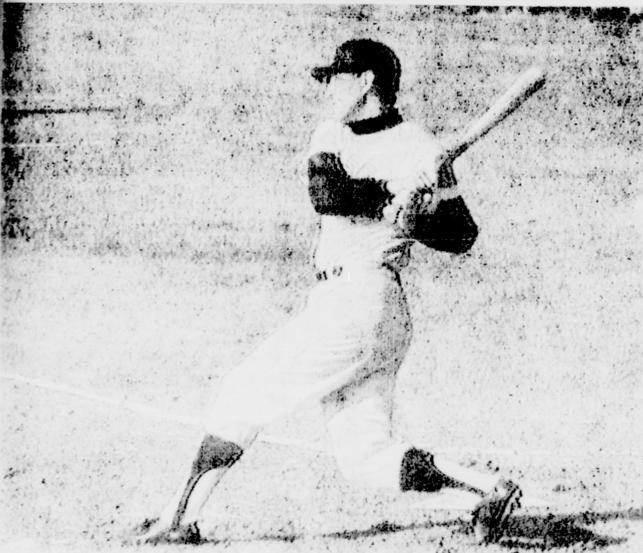

East Carolina's strong finish in the national championships was a fitting conclusion to an outstanding season. First the Pirates demolished all Southern Conference opposition during the dual meet season, and then they captured 14 out of 17 events in winning the Southern Conference Championship Meet in their first year. Coach Martinez's swimming teams have won more national championships than any other sport in EC's history.

With this year's strong freshman team coming up to the varsity, Dr. Ray Martinez is happily looking forward to next year's championships which will be held at Converse, California in the heart of some of the nation's finest swimming talent. And Mike Tomberlin will be back to defend his national championship.
