VP Candidates Await Run-Off; Don't Forget To Vote Thurs.

By JAY BARBER
On Thursday, you will be asked to go to the polls and vote for the SGA Vice-President in a run-off election.

As a vice-presidential candidate on the Student Party ticket, I would like to express my views on the upcoming election.

I run on the Student Party platform and program, and I still support these proposals. It is most important that the Vice-President be able to work closely with the President, and during the past several weeks, Steve and I have gained a valuable and working understanding. In order to have unity in your student government, I would greatly appreciate your support and vote on Thursday. It is most imperative that you attend the polls since the vice-presidency is a very important office.

While I have this opportunity, I would like to thank the EAST CAROLINIAN and WECC Radio for their excellent coverage in reporting the elections. They have done a magnificent job. Thank you for your past support and that which you may give me on Thursday.

By FRANCEINE PERRY
This Thursday SGA Vice-President hopefuls Jay Barber and Frank Rice will again vie for the number two office in a run-off election.

In the general election last week, Student Party candidate Barber captured an eight per cent lead in the total votes cast over Rice. The third Vice-Presidential candidate, Bill Hunt, received a fourth of the votes. (Jay Barber, 1261; Bill Hunt, 777; Frank Rice, 1022).

Hunt disclosed Sunday night that he had thrown his support to Rice, and thus confirmed the rumor to that effect.

"I was very closely associated with Frank during the campaign and I was very much impressed with his thoughts and viewpoints. I am sure that he would well represent the students as Vice-President."

Hunt went on further to express his pleasure at the number of votes he received and his gratitude to the students who voted for him.

Regarding the Student Party, Hunt said, "If the enthusiasm shown during the campaign by the Student Party is any indication of the quality of work they will do now that they are elected, East Carolina will definitely move forward."

Slightly less than half the student body cast votes in last week's election. It is difficult to tell, at this point, whether this run-off will cause anything like the furor which was plainly evident in the first campaign, but a sizeable turn-out is expected at the polls Thursday.

By FRANK RICE
Last Thursday the students of this "university-destined" campus, made their choices for EC's student government for next year. In all cases except one, the choice of the majority was the party slate. I was the exception! I am facing the SP candidate for the office of Vice President. I wish to explain very briefly, why I feel I am qualified to do a more efficient job and especially, to serve better.

One duty, if elected, will require me to cooperate with the President and the rest of the executive council. From my previous experience, I feel that I can do this very well while at the same time protecting your free voice in YOUR GOVERNMENT.

Please allow me to compare qualifications with those of my opponent's.

1. I have had prior experience in representing the students by serving in the Student Legislature.

2. It is evident that the Women's Judiciary needs to and will be revised. I have had experience in such areas in working on Men's Judiciary.

3. Also apparent, has been the long need for a Women's IDC. Now that this is almost a reality, a Vice Pres. with dormitory council experience can be most helpful in its organization. I have had such experience for two years.

4. The duties of Vice President include the planning of recreational entertainment. With constant contact in dormitory council entertainment, I feel I have a knowledgeable experience.

In closing, please remember Thursday is your chance to select a free voice in the student government, tied to no service but to YOU THE STUDENT. Help keep a check in the balance of power.

Frank Rice

Attention Upperclassmen

Upperclassmen men students were supposed to sign up for dormitory rooms for the Fall Quarter 1966-67 on the dates of March 16, 17, and 18. However, there may be some upperclassmen who neglected to sign up for a room at that time. If this is your situation, you are advised to contact the Housing Office by Thursday, March 31, in order to reserve a room. If you fail to reserve a dormitory room for Fall Quarter on or before March 31, it will be impossible for an upperclassman to secure a dormitory room without first being placed on a waiting list with the incoming freshmen.

New Rebel Editor To Be Appointed March 29, 1966 3:00 p.m.

SGA Conference Room Letters of application should be submitted to Dr. James H. Tucker, Dean of Student Affairs.

IDC Reviews Rules, Dormitory Decorations

By DAN SAIEED, JR.

At its Monday night meeting the IDC approved the color scheme for the basement social area of Aycock dormitory. Dean Mallory presented the color scheme drawn up by the Glidden Paint Co. The walls will be painted, drapes added, and new furniture installed in this area.

Eddie Barnes, Chairman of the SGA Elections Committee, asked the IDC members to watch the polls in the dormitories. The dormitory presidents were made responsible for this task.

The Ugiest Man on Campus Contest Committee, headed by Bill Moore reported that they had sent out leaflets describing the contest to various campus organizations. The filing date has been extended to March 29. The election for the U.M.O.C. will probably be after Easter.

Freddie Goins, IDC acting president, pointed out that the IDC review rules for the KEY. A motion was made that the executive council have the power to decide on the changes and send them to the Administration. The motion was passed.

Ben Franklin was appointed new chairman of the News Letter Committee. This committee is in charge of publishing a news letter to be sent to the dormitory students to inform them of dormitory activities and news.

The Radio Committee reported the purchase of a stereo AM-FM tuner for Jones Cafeteria. It will be installed soon.

NEWSWEEK REPORTS: The key to new morality is the widespread belief that a boy and girl who have established a meaningful relationship have the moral right to sleep together.

WHAT DO YOU THINK? Hear this and other topics discussed at the Family Life Conference March 29-30-and-31, 1966!

WECC will broadcast a debate between the two candidates for SGA Vice-President tonight at 11:00 p.m. Campus radio offered both candidates equal air time and they chose to debate each other concerning election issues. All students are urged to listen to WECC tonight.

Casting Auditions Begin For 'Father'

Casting auditions for this season's final Playhouse production, "Life with Father," are scheduled Monday and Tuesday nights on the campus.

Albert Pentalion, drama faculty member who will direct the comedy, will hold tryouts for the 11 roles in the play from 7:30 to 10 each night in McGinnis Auditorium.

The play has eight male and three female characters. Pentalion noted that at least two of the male roles require children so he encouraged any interested youngsters in the ECC area to attend the auditions.

As in the past Playhouse productions, casting auditions are open to students, faculty and residents of the ECC area. Candidates for roles may study the script in advance in Joyner Library where copies are on reserve.

"Life with Father" is scheduled for a four-night run May 4-7 in finale in the 1965-'66 College Theater Series sponsored by the Student Government Association.

The play's 10-year run in New York was one of Broadway's longest. Its setting is New York around 1880 and its story is the comedy of the Clarence Day family's effort to get father baptized.

The three-act play was written by Russell Crouse and Howard Lindsay. It is based on the book by Clarence Day.

World News Briefs

LATE NEWS FROM UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL (Monday, noon)
WASHINGTON—A federal judge has ordered the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen not to carry out a threatened strike against the nation's railroads on Thursday. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff issued a temporary order forbidding a strike until four p.m. (EST) on April 5 and scheduled a hearing on the case the day before.

THE WHITE HOUSE—Indian Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi arrived in Washington today for two-days of talks with President Johnson and other officials. She wants more U. S. help to meet her country's food crisis and to solve other problems. Mrs. Gandhi arrived by helicopter from historic Williamsburg, Virginia, where she spent last night after her flight from Paris. He said their talks will cover such questions as how to achieve and maintain peace in Asia and elsewhere.

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court today backed the Justice Department's use of federal law in civil rights murders that have gone unpunished by local authorities. The nine-to-nothing decision announced by Justice Abe Fortas means that trials can go ahead in a Mississippi case where a federal indictment was thrown out by a lower court. The indictment charged 17 Mississippians in the 1964 deaths of three young civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Mississippi.

SAIGON—Giant B-52 bombers struck closer to Saigon today than they ever have before. Hitting within 16 miles of the capital city and barely a mile ahead of advancing Marines, the strikes apparently blew up a Viet Cong mine factory. The leathernecks followed the raids with new landings. The bombardments and advance landings are part of a campaign to secure Saigon's vital river link to the South China Sea.

JAKARTA—Indonesia's President Sukarno became more of a figurehead leader today. The nation's new, staunchly anti-communist military government disbanded Sukarno's special guard. The much criticized guard's commandant—Brigadier General Mohamed Sabur—was fired. The action followed yesterday's formation of a new 30-member Indonesian Cabinet . . . free of communist-oriented backers.

ANKARA, TURKEY—Turkey's legislature overwhelmingly elected former career officer—General Cevdet Sunay—as president of the Turkish Republic. Sunay succeeds ailing President Cemal Gursel, who has been in a coma 49 days following a series of strokes; Sunay is a moderate and pro-western. He resigned his commission last week in order to assume the nation's presidential chores.

PARIS—American Undersecretary of State George Ball conferred with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve De Murville. Paris observers say the meeting is a possible prelude to France's pullout from NATO. French government officials have said French President De Gaulle's decision to pull out of the Atlantic Alliance and details of their implementation may be communicated to the NATO Allies "At any time."

NEWTON, NORTH CAROLINA—A mysterious silent explosion of an unidentified flying object was reported early this morning in Western North Carolina. Police officers in six towns, including Newton, North Carolina, said they saw a light moving soundlessly from East to West. One group of police officers said they saw it explode silently.

Election Reflections . . .

Steve Sniteman soon takes the lead in our Student Government Association. Knowing Steve as the responsible and industrious person that he is, we can say with a great deal of pride that the Presidency of the SGA is in capable and reliable hands.

Experience is one of Steve's major assets along with the fact that he carries the interests of the student body as a format for his year in office. We can justifiably expect great things from Steve. His past record represents stability and the desire to serve the Student Government in his fullest capacity.

Steve's term of office will be one of great challenge. . . a change from any organizational element East Carolina has seen in the past.

Never before has a political faction such as the Student Party succeeded so successfully in getting most of its party candidates into office. At this time all executive offices are filled with members of the SP with the exception of the Vice Presidency. Thursday's run-off election will determine whether or not the SGA will operate under the leadership of a total Student Party regime.

Circumstances have appeared a bit out of the ordinary in this election. No one could accurately predict what would happen with a one party system on the ballot. Many seemed surprised at the SP 'slate sweep.' Others had prophesied the Student Party win for months in advance.

Even with a few rumors floating midst opponents, the fight ended as a comparatively clean one. There were times throughout the campaign when candidates felt dubious as to what election results would hold for them. The election was tense and full of excitement from the very first day the campaign show went on the road. Tuesday night's climax left winners happy; the losers relieved.

Presidential candidates Bill Moore and Bill Deal contributed more than any other one factor in creating student interest in this election. Both Deal and Moore were qualified candidates. . . that in itself made for interest and uncertainty throughout the election. Campaigns on the part of both candidates were organized and carried out effectively.

One wonders exactly what would have happened if all these people who pledged support to individual candidates had followed through on their promises by voting in last Thursday's election. What would have been the result of election tallies if just half this student had cared enough to meet the candidates at Wednesday night's campaign assembly? Would 80 more voters have determined a different outcome?

We have a new leader at the helm and by the end of the week we will have a complete slate of officers for the proving ground. Forgetting all "ifs," no matter who our choice candidates were, it is our duty to align ourselves behind a new President and the executive branch now in office. It is for the good of all that we should take a positive attitude toward helping these new officers continue the progress that has been made during President Eddie Green's administration.

Held 'til Friday . . .

The EAST CAROLINIAN will publish Friday of this week rather than on the usual Thursday.

In order to report results of the run-off election and finish renovating the photographer's dark room, it is necessary that we publish Friday.

Deadlines for Friday's paper will be 6:00 p.m. Tuesday.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

To the 947 students who supported me in last Thursday's election for SGA President and, also, to the other interested students on this campus who do not want to be completely dominated by a small minority group in the SGA and who call themselves the "Student Party," I appeal to you as a student of good judgment and sound reasoning to go to the polls this Thursday and support my running mate, Frank Rice for SGA Vice-President.

Frank is the one person left on the election slate that can offer any resistance to the "sp's" control of our campus.

I urge you to vote and support Frank Rice in the run-off election this coming Thursday.

Also, let me again thank each student who supported me in the campaign. We only polled 947 votes but from my conversations with many of you since the election I have the consolation of knowing that these were sincere votes from sincere students who believe in good government by many as opposed to poor government by a controlled few.

Sincerely,
Bill Moore

This Thursday the final election will be held for the SGA executive officers. The two candidates that oppose each other are qualified and experienced, yet, I would like to ask specifically that Jay Barber be scrutinized very carefully. Jay has worked on the platform of the party and has demonstrated his ability many times over as a man that can get the job done.

Jay has the time to devote to SGA as he has already shown by his academic achievement and participation in various organizations, and I feel that he would excel as a vice-president. I realize that there will be criticism of party domination, but I can assure everyone that Jay has as his goal to work for the SGA and not to just benefit the party.

Steve Sniteman

To the Editor:

Three cheers for the EAST CAROLINIAN! At last our college paper is fulfilling its secondary role—that of attacking and exposing society's wrongs.

A newspaper's primary role—reporting the straight news—is very aptly done in the EAST CAROLINIAN, considering that the paper appears only twice weekly.

East Carolina must really be university-bound, if the fact that students are no longer afraid to voice their complaints about how their own concerns are handled may be considered as evidence. It was a pleasant surprise to notice in the March 23 EAST CAROLINIAN a story about the poor housing for married students and an editorial about our now-defunct Sigma Nu and Pi Kappa Alpha fraternities.

It's up to you, EAST CAROLINIAN, to say publicly what other students can say only privately. Keep up the good work, and remember the "pen is mightier than the sword."

Betsy Rogers

Editor:

We would like to commend Mr. Papeun on his comments about woman. He is certainly truthful when he says: "she pursues man, choking him with her whims and wishes." In fact, just the other day I almost choked my boyfriend to death because he would not give me a piece of chewing gum!

In certain respects you are correct, because some women act in the manner you described, just as men also have their "Whims and wishes;" however, this is not true of women in general, nor of men. You also said, "But, man does not need woman to satisfy his needs," and if this is true perhaps you should have a talk with our boyfriends.

Without the efforts of Madame Curie, Florence Nightingale, Clara Barton, Queen Elizabeth II, and many others, not to mention all the mothers where would we be today? If woman has been the downfall of man, it is only because of his own stupidity and his weakness for her.

Finally, if you really believe what you wrote, we suggest that you investigate a new lonely hearts club, because you are obviously not getting the "right" kind of woman.

3 "Evil" Women

To the Editor:

It's a strange world we live in, and the strangest thing about it is the people. The people, who made the decisions often say one thing and do exactly the opposite. Their minds are swayed by lies and their choices are determined by rumors.

You the students have elected a fine slate of officers for next year. You have put a man in the top position as President who is a capable leader, Steve Sniteman will make the Students a good leader, but more than that he will make the Student Government Association a good co-ordinator.

My congratulations go to Steve and the Student Party. I have promised Steve that I will continue to work with him next year. I plan now to seek re-election as Speaker of the Legislature, where I feel I can assist him best.

To all of you who voted for me and especially to those who campaigned for me, I hope that I have not let you down. My deepest thanks go to you for all your support and votes.

When campaigning I made several "platform promises." These I'm going to keep. I will continue this week to have a revision of the girls hours passed before the end of this quarter. I also hope to see some improvements in the infirmary and on "the hill."

Again my thanks to all of you, and congratulations and good luck to a great guy—Steve Sniteman and his new administration.

Sincerely yours,
Bill Deal

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Bill Rufty for his fine article on the living quarters for married students. Mr. Rufty poses a few questions that will probably not be answered by the time he or I leave ECC. The reason for this is that the Administration has no plans and could not care less what happens to the married students. They (Administration) have taken a "so what?" attitude, and always conclude with "if the married students don't like the living quarters they can move."

The prospect of moving to an apartment in the Greenville area is beyond the financial realm of the married students who live on campus. If we were able to afford other housing the Administration would have no one living in their one-room sum dwellings.

Thank you, Mr. Rufty,
John K. Meares
Ragsdale Basement

Dear Editor:

The campaigning is over! The ballots have been marked and counted! The SGA now has a new President, Stephen B. Sniteman (SP).

Mr. Sniteman's post election victory statement is the main causation for this letter. I now quote from Sniteman's statement, "—But, may I also say that one of the finest experiences that I have had is knowing and having Bill Deal's friendship. I only hope that he continues

On The Raw Side

Notes On The News

By Dave McLemore

Congrats to the U.N.C.-C.H. social fraternities who were taken off probation and allowed to have females again. We were about to suggest that Senator Jordan be granted the investigatory task, but we now see that his services are not necessary. After all, what are a few gross improprieties among friends.

With the gentleman who hates women, I beg to disagree. I have always felt that there are valid places for the female in our society—at the front of the train, the back of the bus, Greensprings Park, my apartment. . . On Fridays, after a hectic week, I often find myself saying with Ambrose Bierce: "Here's to woman! Would that we could fall into her arms without falling into her hands." By the close of the weekend I am generally in agreement with George Meredith who remarks: "I expect that women will be the last thing civilized by man."

I have to agree with Governor Moore and J. Edgar Hoover, an in the SGA, for I need his help." The next paragraph in the paper begins, "Bill Moore graciously saluted his opponent—"

What disturbs me is the fact that Mr. Stephen B. Sniteman at no time had the courtesy or consideration to even refer to the man who almost caused him to be involved in a run-off, that being Bill Moore (who polled 30.5% of the total vote).

Stephen B. Sniteman mentioned Mr. Deal, but evidently he did not even consider the fact that Mr. Moore was in the race or the fact that it was a damn close race and not (as he had hoped) a "Sniteman landslide."

I voted for Stephen B. Sniteman because I felt he could represent each and every student on a fair and unbiased basis, however, I now realize that I along with 1600 other students made a GRAVE MISTAKE. Why, Because Bill Moore, Bill Deal you and I are all STUDENTS regardless of our political convictions.

I can only HOPE that Mr. Stephen B. Sniteman's first action and words as our "new President" is not an indication of how he plans to rule and manipulate the student government at EC for the coming year.

Regretfully yours,
James Adkins

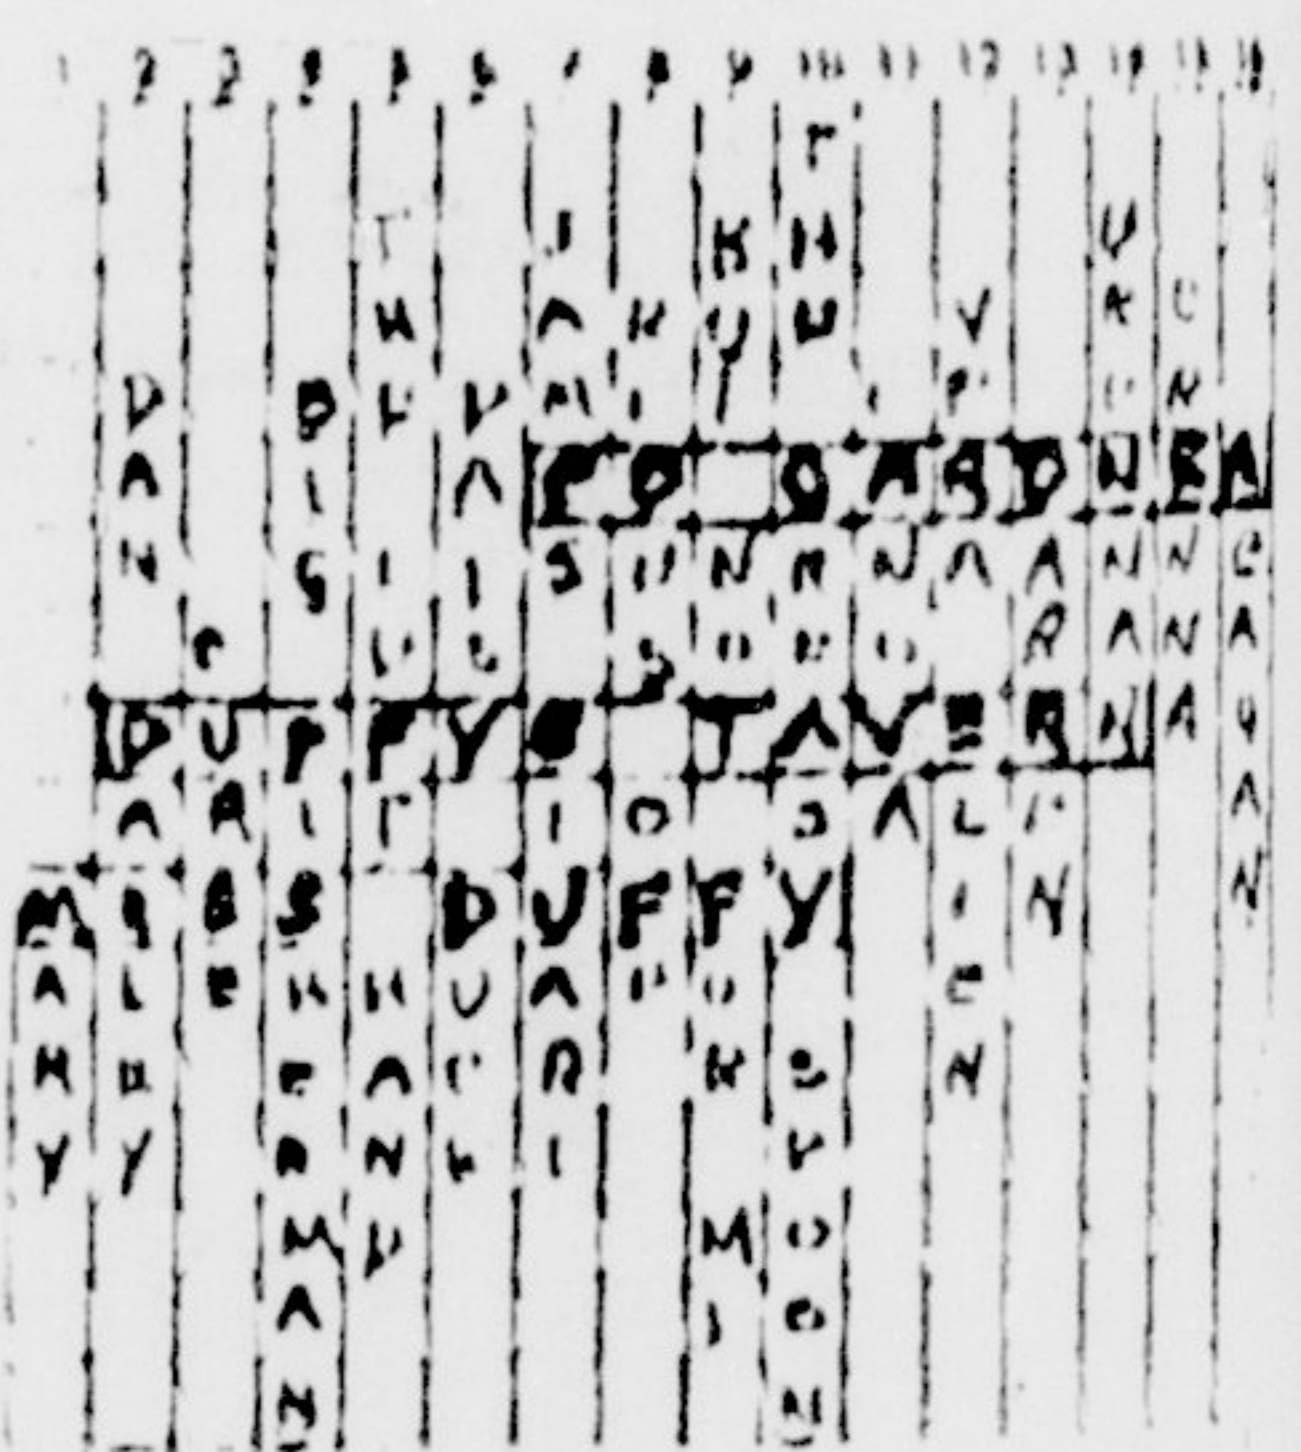

To Mr. Papeun:

What man gave birth to you? Concerning your recent article on the evil of woman, you have described only a few facts of woman—and man. Certainly possessiveness, egocentrism, dominance, and desire for security are present to varying degrees in people—male and female.

You have made many trivial statements about woman, and you have generalized immensely. Your article is one of complete emotion, excluding all logic. Did you ever think that man and woman might complement each other? Did it ever enter your mind that man and woman, as two distinct beings, have the ability to combine forces and experience life to its fullest?

Mr. Papeun, if you really meant what your article said, you're wetter behind the ears than I ever thought a college student could be. You are a college student, aren't you?

Christi Stephens

authoritative government is more comforting and safer than a democracy. In fact, in an effort to show that I am progressive, adult, and aware, I am going to trade in my all-day suckar and security blanket on a pack of cigarettes and a fall-out shelter. . . if my F.H.A. loan comes through.

While I feel that we can win the war in Viet Nam, I firmly believe we can accomplish the task without the aid of "The Ballad of the Green Berets." The men who "jump and die" remind me of the story of the Pied Piper, and the regiments of rats which, charmed by the Piper's music, jumped into the sea and died. If I were a member of the Special Forces I would highly resent a laudatory song which places me upon a pedestal with the common rodent. I hope that "The Ballad of the Green Berets" is not the 20th Century's answer to Beowulf.

Dean Of Student Affairs Stresses Dept. Coordination

DEAN TUCKER

By BILL RUFFY
Over the complicated inter-related departments of the Student Affairs Office is a man who might well be dubbed "Mr. East Carolina himself," Dean James H. Tucker.

In a recent interview, Dean Tucker explained the problems, solutions and plans of his department, which includes, the Dean of Men, Dean of Women, student counseling, the College Union recreation, Central Ticket Office, Student Aid programs, dozens of related affairs.

"I feel," said Tucker, "that my principal job is to coordinate all of the departments under me, to better serve the students' interest and those of the citizens of the Greenville area."

Immediately connected with the welfare of the students is Dr. Tucker's direct work with financial aid for the students. "One of our biggest problems used to be Student Aid. We have worked continuously at this problem and have arrived at a point where any student with a 'C' average may receive financial help from this office," Dr. Tucker also works ardently to secure jobs for those students who feel that they need to work.

"A very major problem," Dean Tucker continued, "was that the students needed a counseling center. We started to work on this three years ago by hiring two full time counselors. Since that time we now have three counselors including a full time psychiatrist. Another counselor has already been hired for the Fall Quarter. Plans are being developed so that in the not-too-distant future, East Carolina will have a complete testing and counseling center. I have hopes that this center will not only be opened to college students but to others in our general area."

The active Dean is also very much involved in the students' activities. He is chairman of the Publications Board, which is responsible for setting the policies for the Buccancer, the Key, the Rebel, and the EAST CAROLINIAN, and for awarding printing contracts for these four publications.

Being advisor to the Student Government Association, Dr. Tucker stated, "I have always said and believed that if it were not for student government, several more employees would have to be hired to handle the large amount of activities covered by the SGA and its committees. I feel that it offers an opportunity for the students to participate in extra-curricula activities and to learn more about government. In short, I am wholeheartedly behind the student government."

In so vast an operation as Student Affairs some problems become seasonal. For instance every spring the work on granting scholarships, work, scholastic, and academic, becomes a little heavier. Also the placement of students for jobs for the Fall Quarter, in the Fall students who found that they need jobs for the first time begin to apply. SGA activities seem to be the heaviest in the Fall. However, Dean Tucker competently handles all problems and prepares for the following seasons.

Future plans for additions to the personnel according to Tucker, are under consideration. Immediately needed is an assistant Dean of Women and a new counselor both of which will be hired for the upcoming Fall Quarter. There is also speculation as to the hiring of an Assistant Dean of Men and additional clerical help within the next year.

BUSINESS

Dr. Joseph W. Romita, associate professor of economics, has been selected to attend the Seminar on Contemporary Economics of the University of Virginia in Charlottesville this summer.

The Seminar will be held on the main campus of the university from June 13 to July 8.

It will bring together some 40 professors from leading colleges and universities in the eastern states. Discussions will apply the tools of analytical economics to vital economic problems of the changing times.

Dr. Romita is the first representative of the ECC School of Business to be selected to attend the annual UVA seminar.

A native of Massachusetts, he earned his master's degree from the Wharton School of Commerce and Finance of the University of Pennsylvania and a PhD degree in political and economic sciences from the University of Madrid (Spain).

Before coming to East Carolina, Dr. Romita taught at the University of Florida and Rollins College. He has had wide experience as an international economist with the US Chamber of Commerce in Washington and has served as an economic attache with American embassies in Spain, Paraguay and the Philippines.

HISTORY

Some southern Civil War governors may have helped the North by failing to cooperate with the Confederacy but Virginia's William "Extra Billy" Smith was not one of them, says an East Carolina historian.

Dr. Alvin A. Fahrner differs with historians who group "Extra Billy" with the governors of southern states who were slow to aid Jefferson Davis in the Confederate cause.

In fact, says Dr. Fahrner, Gov. Smith "cooperated to the fullest extent possible with the Confederate government in all matters affecting the defense of the South."

He adds that "Extra Billy" was "truly a pillar of the Confederacy who has not had his due from the historian."

Dr. Fahrner's views and evidence to support them appear in an article in the current issue of The Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, quarterly journal of the Virginia Historical Society.

The East Carolina history professor, a member of the faculty here since September 1960, is a native of Helvetia, W. Va. He earned his degrees at Hampden-Sydney College (AB '36) and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill (MA, PhD '52).

He has taught at Coker College in Hartsville, S. C., for the extension division of the University of South Carolina and at Longwood College in Farmville, Va.

Before starting his college teaching career he was on the faculty of the public schools of Southampton County, Va., and served for seven years in the US Navy during and after World War II.

HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Dr. Thomas J. Martin of the health and physical education faculty was one of six panelists for a Friday afternoon health and physical education session at the NC Education Association convention in Raleigh.

MUSIC

Articles by Dr. Thomas W. Miller, assistant dean of the School of Music, appear in current issues of two national music journals.

One of the articles suggests ways to develop a comprehensive high school music program. It appears in the Music Educators Journal.

The other, based on a speech of Dr. Miller's to a meeting of North Carolina music teachers, examines cultural influences on the development of a music curriculum. It is published in the Music Journal.

Both articles are related to the theme of the recent biennial convention of the Music Educators National Conference in Kansas City. They were chosen for publication by both journals to help music educators prepare for the convention.

Dr. Miller was chairman of the East Carolina delegation to the Kansas City meeting.

He has degrees from Boston University (DMA '64), East Carolina (MA '56) and Westchester (Pa.) State College (BS '52).

EDUCATION

Dr. Douglas R. Jones, dean of the School of Education, and two of his faculty members, Dr. Joseph W. Congleton and Dr. Helen Ingram, are representing the education school at the North Carolina Education Association convention in Raleigh this weekend.

S. E. Stewart, EC Graduate, Obtains Doctorate Degree

Shelton E. Stewart, head of the science division at Lander College, has returned to the campus after a leave of absence of two years. He was granted the leave by Lander to work on his doctor's degree at the University of Georgia. He has successfully completed all required work on it, and the degree will be formally conferred in June.

Dr. Stewart's thesis is entitled "Recent Evolutionary Advances in the Houstonia Purpurea Complex." His research program was devoted to investigation of environmental effects upon vegetative structure. He also studied natural and artificial hybridizations, chromosome races, and natural isolating barriers. The study included description of developmental processes of reproduction in this group.

Bluet is a common name of Houstonia and it grows wild in much of Greenwood County. A large part of Stewart's research material was collected in the county.

Professor Stewart carried out his program in the botany department at the University of Georgia under the direction of Dr. David Mulcahy, associate professor of botany.

Dr. Stewart earned his masters degree at the University of North Carolina in 1959. The thesis for that program was "The Vascular Flora of Lee County, North Carolina." His B.S. degree in the natural sciences was earned at East Carolina College in 1956.

Stewart was associate professor of biology at Lander from 1959 to 1962, when he began his leave of absence. He teaches Biology, Botany, Bacteriology, Genetics, Embryology and several related subjects in the general field of Biology. He is a member of the South Carolina Academy of Science, the Southeastern Association of Biologists, and National Association for the Advancement of Science.

Professor Stewart is faculty advisor of Alpha Chi scholarship society at Lander.

Stewart's chief hobby is greenhouse gardening, and he supervised the building of a greenhouse addition at the college. He has conducted many of his experiments in this growing area. His other hobbies are dancing and tennis.

SCIENCE

An East Carolina biologist and one of his former students have contributed an article to appear in the summer issue of a French biological journal.

Dr. Clifford B. Knight of the ECC faculty and J. Parker Chesson, now on the biology faculty of the College of the Albemarle at Elizabeth City, collaborated on the paper to be published by the French journal on soil life, La Revue d'Ecologie et de Biologie du Sol.

The article describes the effects of various doses of DDT on families of springtails, small wingless insects that inhabit forest soils. It is based on research conducted at East Carolina under Dr. Knight's direction.

The French journal has an international board of editors and takes research articles in English, French or German.

Chesson, an August 1963 graduate, earned BS and MA degrees in science at East Carolina.

Dr. Knight has AB and MA degrees from the University of Connecticut and a PhD from Duke University. He joined the ECC faculty in September 1956.

Dr. Edward P. Ryan of the biology faculty is the author of the first published article on reproduction of an important commercial crab in the waters of Hawaii and Asia.

The article is a 2,000-word account of what seems to cause the portunus crab, similar to the American blue crab, to mate.

Dr. Ryan gives evidence that the female attracts the male by means of a sex-attractant chemical, pheromone.

The article, titled "Pheromone: Evidence in a Decapod Crustacean," appears in a recent issue of Science, the journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Its author, a native of Trenton, N. J., joined the East Carolina faculty last September.

Dr. Ryan has degrees from the University of Hawaii (PhD), Ouachita Baptist College (BS) of Arkadelphia, Ark., and the University of Delaware (MS).

Students Offer Ideas

(ACP)—Students at Auburn University, Auburn, Ala., indicated recently that they believe the success of any teacher evaluation program lies with the instructor, reports the PLAINSMAN.

Without exception, the 199 students interviewed by the PLAINSMAN said they had been fair in evaluating professors in Auburn's fall quarter evaluation project, sponsored by the student government-faculty committee. Some, however, admitted they were overly complimentary in cases in which it was necessary to protect their class standing.

Only 15 students, or 7.5 per cent, said they felt teacher evaluation would be of no value in improving instruction. Most of these said they believe professors in most cases were unwilling to change.

Some of the suggestions made for the improvement of evaluation included:

- 1. Conducting evaluation at mid-quarter and at the end of the quarter on an out-of-class basis.

2. Drawing separate forms for each school.

3. Allowing student participation to be clearly voluntary in all cases.

4. Allowing full freshman participation.

5. Allowing more time for evaluation.

6. Publishing evaluation forms in the PLAINSMAN before beginning the project.

7. Allowing space for student comment beneath multiple-choice questions.

8. Furnishing a copy of the results to the student's dean and department head.

9. Rewarding good instructors.

10. Publishing the results.

In an earlier PLAINSMAN survey, 33 instructors who participated in the voluntary fall quarter program asserted that the success of the program rested with the student.

Marilyn Michaels became a star in 1965. Now she is on her way to even greater fame with her debut album release by A B C -Paramount. "Marilyn Michaels" is an exciting L. P. that features many greats all America will recognize. On Jackie Gleason's first TV show of the 1965-66 season Marilyn did the old standard, "Bill Bailey," included in the album.

Also, in 1965 Marilyn was awarded the coveted role of Fannie Brice in the national company of "Funny Girl." Jule Styne, who was responsible for Barbra Streisand's casting, is one of Marilyn's biggest boosters.

Marilyn's singing voice encompasses both the alto and coloratura soprano registers. She is a gifted mimic, with thirty-seven distinct vocal impressions in her repertoire. She picked every song in her debut L. P. and you'll love the magnificent voice and personality of Marilyn Michaels as she marches to stardom.

Danco in the U. S.

For years Carl C. Schmidt of Danco Records dreamed of opening offices in the United States. Now Danco has offices on 48th St. in New York.

You will not find every Danco recording in the top listings but things are happening, for Carl honestly feels there is room for more good productions on the U. S. record market.

In Carl's own words: "When I hear a voice, a real good one, I tremble and know I am facing a prospect." Carl feels he can render a great service to talented youngsters who are willing to face hard work to get ahead. He is also a fierce defender of youth.

At this very moment Carl is looking for a female rock 'n' roll band made up of at least four girls. He wants girls that can play and sing at the same time. Who knows this not-yet-discovered group could be on top tomorrow, recording for Danco Records. So it looks like Danco does have a place in the record market.

Two Decca album releases slated for early June will feature Johnny Wright and Kitty Wells singing a variety of established, hit country tunes. "Country Music Special" is Johnny's L. P. and Kitty's album is "Country All the Way."

Victor's Victories

R C A Victor has completed the recording of the National Theatre of Great Britain production of William Congreve's comedy, "Love for Love," starring Laurence Olivier. This is the third collaboration between the esteemed British dramatic company and R C A, with tentative release of the album set for October.

Sgt. Barry Sadler's "Ballads of the Green Berets" (the no. 1 selling album in the country) and Neal Hefti's "Batman Theme" have been released on R C A's Stereo 8 cartridge tapes.

The Late "Gentlemen Jim"

The late Jim Reeves is again represented at the top of the best selling country charts (No. 1 in Cashbox, No. 2 in Billboard) with the single "Snowflake." It is a tribute to the beloved balladeer that his public has remained as constant as if he were still alive. Reeve's posthumously released recordings have been hits. That includes four singles and three albums.

Reeves was unique among country and Western singers in his international appeal, so that it was a shock of universal magnitude when the singer and his piano player-road manager, Dean Manuel, were killed when their private plane crashed in the suburbs of Nashville during a thunderstorm.

GIANNI SCHICCHI'S ENRAGED relatives learn the shocking news that the deceased Gianni has willed his health to the Church in the School of Music-Playhouse production of the Puccini opera. Lead roles were sung by Roger Stephens as Gianni Schicchi, Phyllis Corbett as Lauretta, and Bob Chambers as Remiccio.

The show opened Wednesday, March 16, and continues through April 11.

Book Club Offers Fellowship

A new annual writing fellowship program directed to the college senior was announced today by Mr. Harry Scherman, Chairman of the Board of the Book-of-the-Month Club.

Officially titled "The Book-of-the-Month Club Writing Fellowship Program," the project will be administered by the College English Association under a grant from Book-of-the-Month Club.

Beginning with the academic year 1966-67, which coincides with the Book-of-the-Month Club's 40th anniversary, the program calls for fourteen fellowships of $3,000 each. For the purposes of the program, the United States and Canada have been divided into seven geographic sections, each section having approximately the same college population. Two fellowships will be awarded in each area annually.

Mr. Scherman pointed out that although there are many fellowships available for those who wish to pursue scientific and scholarly investigations, there are relatively few fellowships available to the young creative writer.

"It is our hope," Mr. Scherman said, "that this program will help rectify this situation. We have designed it to give the gifted senior an opportunity to develop his creative talents in the year following his graduation.

"The fellowships will be given without any strings attached to allow the recipient the widest possible latitude free from immediate economic strain," he added.

The program is open to any person who will be a senior in an accredited college or university in the United States or Canada on December 1, 1966 provided, however, he is nominated by a member of the English Department of his college. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight December 1, 1966.

The first year's winners will be notified May 11, 1967 and awards given on June 15, 1967. Application blanks may be obtained from any college English Department or by writing to: Dr. Donald Sears, Director, Book-of-the-Month Club Writing Fellowship Program, c/o College English Association, Howard University, Washington, D. Wayne Britton, Pirate outfielder, was one of the few bright spots in Buc baseball last week. His 3 for 3 at the plate led the meager Pirate attack.

Learn Observation

By JOE BRANNON
It was a dreary day for the EC nine as the men from somewhere in Yankee land knocked the home team heroes out of the park. Arturo Vansorski and Boris Ruzak were the strongmen for the invading team. Each hit eight home runs as Bobby Jones, the local pitcher, tried to find the strike zone. With the score seventeen to zero in the top of the first, Coach Red "The Mad Man"

Davis made a change. He sent little Larry Sparks to center field. It was three up and three down for the locals. Not a word was heard as John "Bozo" Smith swung at a pitch that hit in front of the plate. Later Bozo said he was trying to hit the ball on-the-bounce. The game ended after four innings. The game was called due to darkness. The score was in favor of the invaders—39-0.

MSU Students Group Charges Censorship

A group of students at Michigan State University have accused the administration and Student Publications' Board of "monopoly censorship" for the alleged suppression of several independent student publications.

The charges involve an independent newspaper, "The Paper", an independent literary magazine, "Zeitgeist", and two student political publications, "Logos" and "Organon", put out by the Committee for Student Rights. "It is impossible," the students charge, "for any independent student publication to financially and legally exist under the present regulations at MSU."

The present university regulations give the Student Publications Board sole authority over all student publications sold on campus. "The Paper" has managed to exist temporarily through the use of a fund drive permit obtained through the student government.

However, both "The Paper" and "Zeitgeist" have been unsuccessful in their attempts to secure sales permission from the administration or the Publications' Board. The Committee for Student Rights has refused to seek permission, maintaining that freedom of the press is guaranteed by the Constitution.

To demonstrate their grievances the protesting students are planning to picket the next Publications Board meeting which is scheduled for Thursday, March 10th., in the Union. At this meeting "The Paper" is also planning to make another appearance before the board.

The planned demonstration will be another link in a chain of immediate events which began last summer when Paul Schiff, former editor of CSR's "Logos" was denied readmission to the university. One of the charges leveled at Schiff by the administration was that he illegally distributed his newspaper in a dormitory.

In October five students were arrested on charges of "trespassing" when they distributed an anti-war literature in the student Union during a Career Carnival. In November four student editors walked off the official student newspaper, "The State News", because of the alleged censorship of documents relating to the Schiff case.

When "The State News" failed to carry its own story, the next day, MSU students were informed of the walkout by The University of Michigan's student paper, "The Michigan Daily". Three thousand copies were brought to East Lansing, from Ann Arbor, and sold on the MSU campus by the Committee for Student Rights.

The Redmen's Revenge, In Living Color

By Mike York

By MIKE YORKE

Thursday afternoon the rains came and when they left cold weather literally blew in. Under this meteorological camouflage a band of savages from the far north crept in. This marauding horde, fearfully known as the Redmen, had laid waste to three previous unassuming settlements and fully intended to make a particular Pirate fair near the river Tar prize number four.

By the seventh pass around the quaking and decomposed Buccaneers it was very obvious that a distasteful fate was theirs. Even Madame Lorraine would have been helpless before these heartless, bloodthirsty, Redmen.

In fairness to the savages, however, it must be noted that they were motivated by a lingering thirst for revenge against the Tar river denizens. Two moons ago, far to the south in the land of citrus, another Pirate band from the coastal plain of Carolina had turned an earlier seeming Redmen massacre into a humiliating defeat.

But such was not to be on this day of infamy. By the time the cold, windy daylight had turned to bleak dusk the Redmen had tallied 17 scalps while surrendering a lone topnot. The surviving Pirates melted into the horizon, amidst weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth. They numbed vows of regrouping the Redmens revenge, in living color, reclaiming their last honor on the morrow.

The day of intended revenge broke clear and crisp. Earl Smith, the most bloodthirsty of the bunch, was on deck early to arouse and ready his depleted forces. Bu Jim Raynor was assigned the point for the counter blow. His ability was recognized so the choice was a natural one.

Raynor did an admirable job for over six passes around the Indian camp. He lopped off Redmen right and left and appeared in complete command of the battle. Such appearances were deceiving. The Redmen regrouped during the sixth attack on their bastion and captured five quick Buc scalps.

The Pirates were unable to recover from this killing blow. With Raynor among the casualties, the Bucs could not muster sufficient force nor leadership to fight further.

This final battle, while more representative of Buc ability, was decisive. The Redmen had come for, and totally achieved, complete revenge. The trip back to the land of Hiawatha would be a joyous one. Those remaining a home camp would surely be pleased with this complete retribution. Those left breathing in the Pirate cove, however, will pause to take stock of their true prowess before again venturing onto the field of battle.

The coaching search is continuing but the signs indicate the end may be at least, in sight. Such names as Fred Lewis, head mentor at Syracuse, and Chuck Daly, Duke assistant, are lending much class to our press (er-ah rumor) releases.

Several Pirate cagers have expressed a desire for a coach-quick. The lack of a leader begets lack of direction and that, understandably, can be troublesome to the fellows who devote so much of their lives to the game of baseball for East Carolina.

I was introduced to lacrosse by our game Saturday. It is, without doubt, a rock-em, sock-em institution. Full of action as it is, however, it gets old if you have to stand through the entire proceedings. Perhaps future contests could be staged in Ficklen. Football got in the way Saturday.

Say what you will about ECC recruiting small football players but I've got a little first hand evidence to the contrary. After a practice in light dress last week I gave two of our "small" players a ride to the gym. They climbed in back like a pair of overnourished buffalo. After driving onto a level paved road I had to adjust my rear view mirror substantially to compensate for those "small" fellows in back.

Only one of our baseball games has had good positioning in the NEWS and OBSERVER thus far. Yep, you guessed it, the 17 to 1 Basco was front and center.

Frank Rice, baseballing politician, did indeed have an interesting campaign to follow. So interesting that it led to a runoff this Thursday. He is being given credit as the only candidate to dent the Student Party's armor.

FOR SALE: Stereo tape recorder, dual features. Will sell at loss. Can be seen at 218 Aycock.

Bucs Drop Pair

The UMass Redmen came, saw, and conquered last week. They played well in all phases while issuing two demoralizing blows to the Pirates.

The 17 to 1 loss in the first game bordered on ridiculous. The Bucs lost complete control. The official score should read 14-1 as the abbreviated eighth inning didn't count. Ted Whitley, starter on the hill, absorbed the loss. The Bucs were held to 4 singles while the Redmen swung at will.

In game two, Coach Smith started his ace Jim Raynor. The choice appeared good as Raynor was in control through 6 2-3 innings. The Redmen then turned the tide with two out and none on. They tallied all five runs in the sixth as Raynor tired.

Dennis Burke was sharp in relief as he held the visitors scoreless the rest of the way. The damage was already done, however, as the Bucs could muster only mild threats, but no runs, the rest of the way. Wayne Britton's 3 for 3 at the plate is worthy of note.

Massachusetts left Greenville with a 5-0 record. They have now scored 72 runs in 5 games. The Bucs record dropped to 2-3.

The Pirates next take the home field against Ithaca College this Thursday and Friday at 3:00. The series record with Ithaca is a strong 7 wins and 1 loss in our favor.

A Pirate and a Tar Heel face off. The action was tight in our Lacrosse opener for three quarters when the Heels took over to win going away 15-6.
