Folk Singer, Josh White, Jr., Reappears on EC Campus

JOSH WHITE, JR., folk singer and actor on the rise, will again return to the East Carolina campus on June 16 at 8:15 p.m. in Wright Auditorium. JOSH, JR. is the son of the world famous Josh White, Sr., entertainer and recording star.

A single amber spotlight focused upon the articulate fingers of the old master of folk music as he played the introduction to "One Meat Ball". A tiny figure, much shorter than the table beside which he was standing, suddenly burst forth in song. At the age of four, JOSH WHITE, JR. had begun his career in show business.

Nineteen years have since elapsed to find JOSH, JR. one of the most popular entertainers in his field. During his early years, JOSH, JR. studied at New York's Professional Children's School.

His weekends and summers were spent further developing his artistry by increasing frequent appearances with his father.

In 1961, the time came when JOSH, JR.'s talent demanded that he be presented in his own right, first as a club performer and then as a concert artist. Since that time, he has been acclaimed in nightclubs, folk music rooms, and concert halls across North America and Europe. He has been seen at the Village Gate and the Bitter End in New York, The Troubadour in Los Angeles, The Shadows in Washington, The Bunkhouse in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada and the world-famous Playboy Club in Chicago. He has sung in concert at Carnegie Hall and Town Hall in New York, Orchestra Hall in Chicago, Jordan Hall in Boston and at more than three hundred colleges and universities in the United States and Canada. JOSH, JR. has also appeared in clubs and in concert throughout Europe and has recently returned from an extensive tour of England and the Scandinavian Countries.

JOSH WHITE, JR.'s ability to entertain is not limited to his musical work. An extremely versatile performer, he has played dramatic roles in five Broadway shows, most recently, "Only In America", and "The Long Dream." Television audiences will recall his dramatic and variety appearances on such network programs as "Hootenanny", "Ben Jarod," "The Armstrong Circle Theatre", "The Mike Douglas Show", "The Today Show", and "The Mike Wallace Show". European viewers have seen his work on both BBC and Granada Networks as well as the Scandinavian Television Network. In Canada, he has appeared on CBC's "Let's Sing Out", and "The Pierre Berton Show".

In addition to his ever-increasing number of solo appearances, JOSH WHITE, JR. has been presented in concert with such outstanding attractions as the Henry Mancini Orchestra, The Glenn Miller Band, as well as many of the country's leading concert groups. His ability to be programmed in concert with others, be they big band, folk, rock and roll, comedy or jazz is a tribute to his versatility. Evidence of JOSH, JR.'s entertainment value is indicated by the 1965 Billboard Poll of Colleges and Universities which placed him as the eleventh most popular campus attraction in his field.

Although in recent years his style has increasingly differed from that of his father, JOSH, JR. is quick to admit his debt for the techniques that were developed during his years of apprenticeship. From time to time, their busy individual schedules meet and then, to the delight of audiences, they are heard together in concert.

"I'M ON MY OWN WAY," JOSH WHITE, JR.'s first solo album, has been recently released by Mercury Records and presents the many moods of this versatile young artist. Members of the Columbia Record Club found it to be the alternate selection for January and is still available through the club.

Welcome Freshmen. Your honesty, excitement and candidness is refreshing.

Good luck to all of you.

ENLIGHTENED FRESHMAN...Need I say more?

Freshmen Impressions

"Two grades of C and EC's the place for me" is the tune echoed across the campus as newly arrived Freshmen make their debut this summer. Bright eyed freshman can tell it better in their own words.

"I love it. I only wish my professors knew I was a freshman and that I have to make two 'C's' to come back in the fall", lamented a freshman indulging in the fruit of the barley.

A sprightly brunette, her arms filled with new books said, "The big campus is so impressive. I can hardly wait to get started."

An intellectual looking boy stomped out of his hall phone and screamed, "These pay phones are monument to stupidity." A grin wiped away his contorted expression when he decided to read the directions. "I'll learn. I don't soon forget 3 lost dimes", he laughed.

"Everyone is so friendly and helpful, exclaimed a starry eyed blond in bell bottom slacks, boys have gone out of their way to show me shortcuts to class."

Overheard in the freshmen orientation meeting is this gem in the new Pirate treasure of quotable quotes. A striking blond inquired of Dean White, "What can we do if we can't get along with our house-mothers? To quick response was "You must have Miss Hawthorne in Rags-

Kimsey Verses Dowdy In Presidential Battle

JIM KIMSEY

RON DOWDY

As the time for elections draws near, every student should take time to study the issues involved and the qualifications of the candidates. Any student who casts an educated and informed vote is doing his part to make leadership in the Student Government Association more effective.

Since no one knows the future, we must judge from the past. This has long been one of the most important factors in casting ones vote. A close look at my past years of service to the S.G.A. will, I believe, show that I am capable and willing to assume the responsibilities involved in the job as President. However, the President is only one person, and alone he cannot be very effective. Work in the S.G.A. is based on cooperative efforts. Only with each officer doing his job can the administration be a success. When all of the officers do work together, the result is one of progress and benefit to the entire student body.

If elected to serve you as your summer school President, I will work with my fellow officers and the members of the Legislature to bring action on the following point:

1. Free Summer Theatre tickets to Students.
2. An informal summer school dance that all students will enjoy attending.
3. Good popular entertainment series including outdoor concerts.
4. New movie equipment so movies may be shown in air conditioned Wright Auditorium.
5. Old movie equipment set up in the amphitheatre behind Fletcher so we may have outdoor movies.
6. Rooms open in air conditioned classroom buildings so they may be used for night study.
7. Free tutoring services for students who are in need of special help, and
8. Establishment of an East Carolina Forum for those faculty and students who wish to have an informal exchange of academic ideas on contemporary problems.

All of these points are well within the scope of the Summer School S.G.A. When executed, they will be of benefit to the college and to the student body, but most of all they will serve to make summer school a little more enjoyable for the individual student. I would appreciate your vote and support to help me put these points into operation.

Tomorrow, Thursday, June 16th you will be able to cast your vote for the students of your choice who will represent you in the Student Government Association for the remainder of summer school.

As a candidate for the office of President of our summer school Student Government, I am fully aware of the responsibilities this position entails. During the summer of 1964 I represented the student body as their Vice-President. This position, as well as serving as Chairman of the Men's Judicial Council, a member of the Deans Advisory Council, Senator from Aycock Dormitory, the Men's Honor Council plus numerous other positions which I have held during the regular term affords me the legislative, executive, and judicial experience necessary to fulfill the Presidential position with your interest (the student) foremost in mind.

If elected, during my tenure I will continually endeavor to work for the students. By doing this I will strive to obtain student tickets to the summer theatre performances at no additional cost to the students. There is a good possibility that we may contract "The Highwaymen" for a concert during the later part of this month. This decision, if elected, will be made from the result of a student poll which will be taken immediately after the election. We already have Josh White and Jerry Butler contracted for concerts on June 16th and August 3rd, respectively.

As President, I will work with the Administration and have a list of all of the professors and the courses which they will be teaching for the second session of our summer school. This will be prepared in advance of pre-registration.

For years, now, the day students have needed permanent newspaper stands located at strategic places on campus where they can pickup a copy of The East Carolinian. This I will also have arranged while in office.

Effective in September, the campus movies will be shown in air-conditioned Wright Auditorium. I will strive to advance the completion date which will enable the summer students to have the advantage of air-conditioned comfort.

Completion of the aforementioned platform is what I will work toward if elected President of our summer school Student Government. These are possibilities which I firmly believe in and not a group of promises which I intend to forget if elected to that position.

Please remember to exercise your privilege to choose your own student representatives by casting your vote tomorrow at your dormitory precinct or the College Union between 8:00 A.M. and 4:00 P.M.

VOTE

It is the responsibility of the people of a community to participate in the election of its governmental body. As students, we are members of the East Carolina College community. As students, we are also obligated to vote in Student Government Association elections if we expect to have any voice in the affairs of our school.

Most of you who are freshmen come from high schools where the only authority the student government has is to choose the entertainment for the senior prom. The SGA of East Carolina has the major voice in most affairs concerning the students. In order to keep this authority, we must take care to elect responsible and capable people to represent us.

Tomorrow, we again face the challenge of electing our SGA officials. These officials are no less important just because they will only be in office three months.

Each candidate had the privilege of informing the students of his or her qualifications and goals through the EAST CAROLINIAN. All articles appearing in paper were written by the candidates to the students.

It takes only a few minutes to vote! We are not represented if we do not vote. Let's make this the most representative SGA elections in the history of East Carolina College.

Editor's Note: This column begins a weekly biased view of national, state, local, and collegiate news written by the editorial staff of the East Carolinian.

We begin this column with the most earth shattering news that has hit the campus since East Carolina was offered a chance to be on the General Electric College Bowl. Last week Life magazine (June 3, 1966) presented a four-page article on Parsons College of Iowa. What does East Carolina and Parsons College have in common? See Mike Yorke's SCARRED SCRAPINGS on page 4.

If we could choose one department that has shown the greatest improvement and worked hardest for East Carolina to become a good liberal arts college, we would nominate the Philosophy Department. In less than three years the department has been formed, faculty members have been secured, and the national honorary philosophy society, Phi Sigma Tau has become a chapter on the EC campus. Chapel Hill is the only other campus to have a chapter in the entire state. With all these accomplishments, another new item arrived at our desk. Dr. John Kozy, chairman of the philosophy department, was elected a new member of the executive council for a three year term at the society's convention at Baldwin Wallace College. He was also elected to the editorial board of the society's quarterly journal, "Dialogue".

While we are speaking of nominations, we feel that the California primaries should be mentioned. Last year George Murphy, dancing partner to Shirley Temple, became California's junior Republican senator. Last week, Ronald Reagan won the Republican gubernatorial primary. There is now talk that John Wayne will also run for public office.

Therefore, considering the present situation, we suggest that Andy Griffith run against the Democratic candidate in the 1966 North Carolina Gubernatorial race.

Hooks's RAIN DANCE

Ted Hooks

Managing Editor

It's beginning to look as if summertime 1966, is going to be a lost cause.

We have a reputation in the weather circles to uphold. Greenville has long been tagged the Kidney of the South and our annual Monsoon season baffles any geography major. Our economy rests on the rain. Drugstores sell more rust remover than sun tan lotion.

This first week of beautiful weather is spoiling us.

But lying lost and unused out there somewhere is an army of rain clouds that should have ushered in the lazy warm days of first session. What we got instead was a cloudless sky, bright sun and cool breezes that tease the natives of some ill omen. We know it's going to rain. We're ready. This time.

No rain. Not even a threatening sky. And to think that some hurricane named Alma is charging madly around the Caribbean as a Monsoon season is ancient history.

Now if enough students will get out and wash their cars, forget their umbrellas, plan beach trips we can officially welcome the rites of our traditional Monsoon Season. For it will surely pour upon us if we do.

Challenge Ahead...

We are all facing a challenge that most of us do not realize. Summer school serves various purposes for different people.

Some people attend summer school in order to complete their undergraduate works earlier. Others attend in order to make up academic deficiencies accumulated during the year. If you fall in the latter category you face a strenuous challenge. The acute awareness of the average you must attain is an added pressure in itself. You are here because you know the outcome will be worth the time and effort you will spend. It is extremely important that you don't forget this fact.

INCOMING FRESHMEN...

You are a unique group of freshmen in that you are beginning your college education in summer school. There are some of you who are here for the simple reason that you want to get started early. Others of you are here because you need two C's in order to be admitted in the fall. Your challenge is more complex because you have not had the previous experience of college life without the strain of academic probation.

You can be a probational student and still be a well-rounded college student. The most strategic element in achieving a successful college education is a well planned budget of time. If carefully planned, a time schedule can leave adequate time for study and leisure without totally restricting your social life. This does not mean to neglect your primary concern - academics!

Get Acquainted...

A college newspaper must represent a variety of interests. In order to do this it is necessary to employ a variety of people. The EAST CAROLINIAN Staff invites all interested students to come by the office (3rd. floor Wright Building) and get acquainted. Anything you might be interested in may be expressed in newspaper work, whether it be writing, typing, or association with people. If you would like to try newspaper work and are uncertain, there are competent people to help you. If you do not feel you will have time to work, come by anyway. There is always a good discussion in process. Any ideas concerning the newspaper are also welcome. Remember, you are the student and this is your newspaper. Take advantage of it!

Hope to see you soon.

CU Offers Activities To Summer Students

Opening with a combo-patio dance, featuring music by the MUSTANGS, the College Union initiated its summer program on registration day.

Other phases of the College Union program include:

BRIDGE: Duplicated bridge sessions are to be held on Monday nights, at 7:00 p.m., in Room 114. This is designed for competitive bridge players--persons who enjoy bridge.

Beginners and intermediate bridge lessons are offered on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 3:00 p.m., in Room 201. Persons interested in lessons are invited to stop by the College Union office and inquire.

BOWLING: The College Union summer bowling league, a mixed, handicap league, bowls at Hillcrest Lanes on Tuesday and Thursday at 3:00 p.m. Students needing rides are asked to stop at the College Union desk.

The cost of the bowling to the participants is $1.10 each day of the league. This includes the bowling fee, shoe rental and secretary's fee for a roll of three-games.

WATERMELON FEASTS: The first watermelon feast of the season is scheduled for Tuesday, June 14; another for Thursday, June 23. These will be held at on the mall--in front of the cafeteria--at 3:00 p.m.

BINGO-ICE CREAM PARTIES: These parties will be held on Wednesday nights, from 7:30 p.m. - 8:30 p.m., in the College Union Assembly Room, 201.

COLLEGE UNION MEETINGS: The volunteer student service organization will meet on Wednesday afternoons at 3:00 p.m. in the Assembly Room, 201.

DANCING: Campus Radio WECC will provide the dance party in Room 201 or the Patio on Friday nights. Either record dancing, or occasional combo dances will be held Friday and Saturday nights. On Friday, June 24 a combo dance will be held.

CHESS: A meeting will be held Monday, June 13, at 1:00 p.m. for the purpose of organizing a chess tournament. Interested students may inquire at office.

Students Meet Candidates

by Beverly Carawan

STEVE MOORE
Candidate for Treasurer

Dear Students,
I write to you as a recent graduate, and a past Student Government President. I understand the problems that confront the students and I also know the student who is best qualified to lead you as your President. Ron Dowdy has served the East Carolina College student body many times before and is now offering his services again. I urge you to cast your vote for Ron Dowdy for Student Government President.

Sincerely,
Eddie Green

DANT GOEPPER

The SGA and its functions have long been of great interest to me. As a member of the student body, I feel it is my duty to actively participate in the student government. Concern in itself is not enough. I feel that I must participate and support the ideals which I believe to be right.

The summer school session of the SGA is just as important as the regular session and must be supported in the same fashion. The quality of leadership must be maintained if ECC is to continue its dynamic growth. It is necessary and important that the work of the regular session and the summer session be correlated to a high degree. In the past two years, I have served as treasurer of the Sophomore Class, Elections Chairman and Attorney General. I feel that these positions have provided me with the necessary experience to qualify me for the Vice-Presidency.

Tomorrow's election determines the school leaders for the next three months. It is up to you as a member of the student body to support the SGA. You can do this by voting. A vote for me will be a vote for future action based on past experience.

Seven polling precincts throw open their doors tomorrow at 9:00 A.M. for SGA balloting. John Meares, election chairman, announced the sites as Ragsdale, Aycock, College Union, Fletcher, Garrett, Jarvis, and Slay in a meeting of candidates, Friday, June 10.

Jim Kimsey is Ron Dowdy's opponent for President. Running for Vice-President are Dant Goepper and Rodney Walters. Unopposed candidates for Secretary and Treasurer respectively are Jan Jackson and Steve Moore.

Ted Hooks, Anna Bassford, Donna Deans, Marion Morgan, Betty Caviness, Fred Southerland, Nancy Hicks, and Becky Holder seek positions as member-at-large.

With 8 candidates for 7 legislative positions, and 2 candidates unopposed, there has been little campaigning. Limits on expenditures are $35 for executive candidates and $25 for at-large candidates.

Since elections are held only once in the summer, those students elected will serve both sessions of summer school.

R. Rodney Walters (left) and Dant Goepper (right) are the candidates for summer Vice President.

MARION MORGAN

I am Marion M. Morgan a third quarter freshman from Richlands. I have a natural interest in government and politics so I am majoring in Political Science.

During the past two quarters I have been an active member of the Young Democrats Club, and I have been elected treasurer for next year. As a member of the 1966 Buccaneer Staff, I became acquainted with all phases of campus activity and the work of the various campus groups. I have lived both off campus and in a dormitory; I understand the problems of both groups.

If I am elected, I shall work for and support an improved summer program for the entire student body. I believe that we need more emphasis on integrating the groups which are unique to our summer sessions into our summer program. During the summer East Carolina enrolls many teachers, graduate students, and students from other colleges. Often the needs of these groups are overlooked and I believe that this deserves the special consideration of the Student Legislature. Many of the students from other colleges who attend East Carolina's summer school might become interested in transferring to our school if they were better acquainted with the many advantages and opportunities which our college offers. The hundreds of freshmen who come to East Carolina need a better program of orientation. These students encounter the many problems of adjusting to college life which are especially difficult on a campus as large as ours. Because these students receive little orientation during summer school, many of them must rely on friends from home or the guidance of regular students. Too many of these students do not find the help that they need and frequently become discouraged. Many of these students either leave during summer school or fail to return in the fall. There East Carolina loses much of its valuable potential. Improved programs for orientation of these students and services to help them with their special problems are definitely needed.

During the campaign I hope to meet as many of you as possible. I live in Room 322 Fletcher and I welcome any of you who would like to meet me and discuss your views on the need for improving our summer program. I do not represent any special interest groups. I firmly believe in representing each student as an individual. I shall always be available to any student for discussion of campus problems and recommendations for the improvement of our student government. I shall do my best to see that changes which are in the interest of the entire student body. With your help we can make the East Carolina College Student Government Association the true body of representation that it is meant to be.

DONNA DEANS

My name is Donna Deans. Perhaps you have noticed me working in the College Union Soda Shop. At the present time I am running for SGA summer school representative.

To be quite honest with you I have never had any experience of this kind except in high school. But I am greatly concerned about the events in the legislation and the student life at East Carolina. As an indication of this, I am now serving on the popular film committee and the popular concert committee. This summer I will also be acting as a member of the orientation committee.

In my association with the many students at East Carolina, I have been in a position to hear their many complaints and praises; therefore, I feel I can understand the problems of the student. I realize that the composition of this student body is somewhat varied in relationship to the regular sessions.

In the summer session we have many ages and occupations represented. There are many students here who have completed their undergraduate work but have returned to work on various courses of study. These students, even though they are out of the college age bracket, should be taken into consideration for at least one major student activity.

Another problem I have noticed is the lack of parking space for students. I feel that during the summer when more students commute that at least one of the faculty-staff parking lots, such as the new ones at New Austin, could be used by students. It seems apparent that at least in the first session that many of these spaces are vacant.

Although my experience may be limited, I feel that my desires as shown in my committee work indicate my interest in becoming an active part of East Carolina's student government.

On June 16, VOTE! Remember you are a part of this school. You can make it what you want.

TED HOOKS

The supreme power of all students is vested in the Legislature. In running for Member-at-Large of the Legislature, I hope to be elected so that I may represent every EC student concerning his affairs and wishes during the summer sessions.

Your student legislature appropriates funds for all student publications, SGA Agencies, extra-curricular activities, and Student-sponsored salaried positions. It also has the power to override a presidential veto, and to impeach and remove any elected student official.

With all this power, our summer legislature can be a dynamic force working for you as a student.

Enrollment figures for this summer are over 4,000. This is more students than most colleges have the year around. I feel that we should be provided with top notch entertainment this summer for the 4,000 students. We need it.

At present I hold the position of Managing Editor of The East Carolinian. During the past year, I have worked as Asst. Sports Editor, Features Editor, and Editorial Editor. I have participated in the student self help program, have been a resident of 2 dorms and lived off-campus. And would you believe I stayed in the infirmary for a week and survived? Other organizations are the Orientation Committee and Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity.

In working with the East Carolinian and other student organizations, I have become very familiar with the different phases of East Carolina life and almost too familiar with our many needs. I hope to replace these needs with accomplishments from your legislature.

E C Coed Anticipates 1966 National College Queen Title

A tall blonde who's preparing at East Carolina for a home economics career is carrying North Carolina's banner into competition for the "National College Queen" title.

18-year-old Carleen Emily Hjortsvang, an all-A student and a vigorous student leader at ECC, has been chosen "North Carolina College Queen" for 1966. She is competing with 50 contestants for the national title.

Coronation of the national queen will come on Sunday evening, June 19. The entire pageant will be filmed in color for television and will later be presented as a special TV program on stations across America.

North Carolina's representative is facing more than 20 national judges -- educators, journalists, celebrities. They score each finalist on her knowledge, academic achievements, personality, poise and attractiveness.

To earn the right to participate in the 1966 event, Carleen was chosen by a panel of national judges. They included Lawrence Freundlich of Doubleday & Company, Cynthia Cannon White of Simon & Shuster, Wilbur F. Eastman of Prentice Hall and George V. O'Brien of the US Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

To the winner, Chrysler Corporation will present a Plymouth

Sports Fury convertible. Best Foods will award her 10 shares of stock in Corn Products Company.

She will win a complete wardrobe and a trip to California where she will be a special guest at the Rose Bowl football game and will appear in "The Tournament of Roses Parade" next New Year's Day.

A 1965 graduate of Junius H. Rose School and a rising sophomore at East Carolina, Carleen stands 5-foot-7, weighs 125 and has hazel eyes. She is the daughter of Dr. Carl T. Hjortsvang of 210 Lakewood Drive, Greenville.

At ECC, Carleen was elected secretary of her Freshman class, chosen as chairman of the Student Government Association Special Events Committee and elected as a College Marshal.

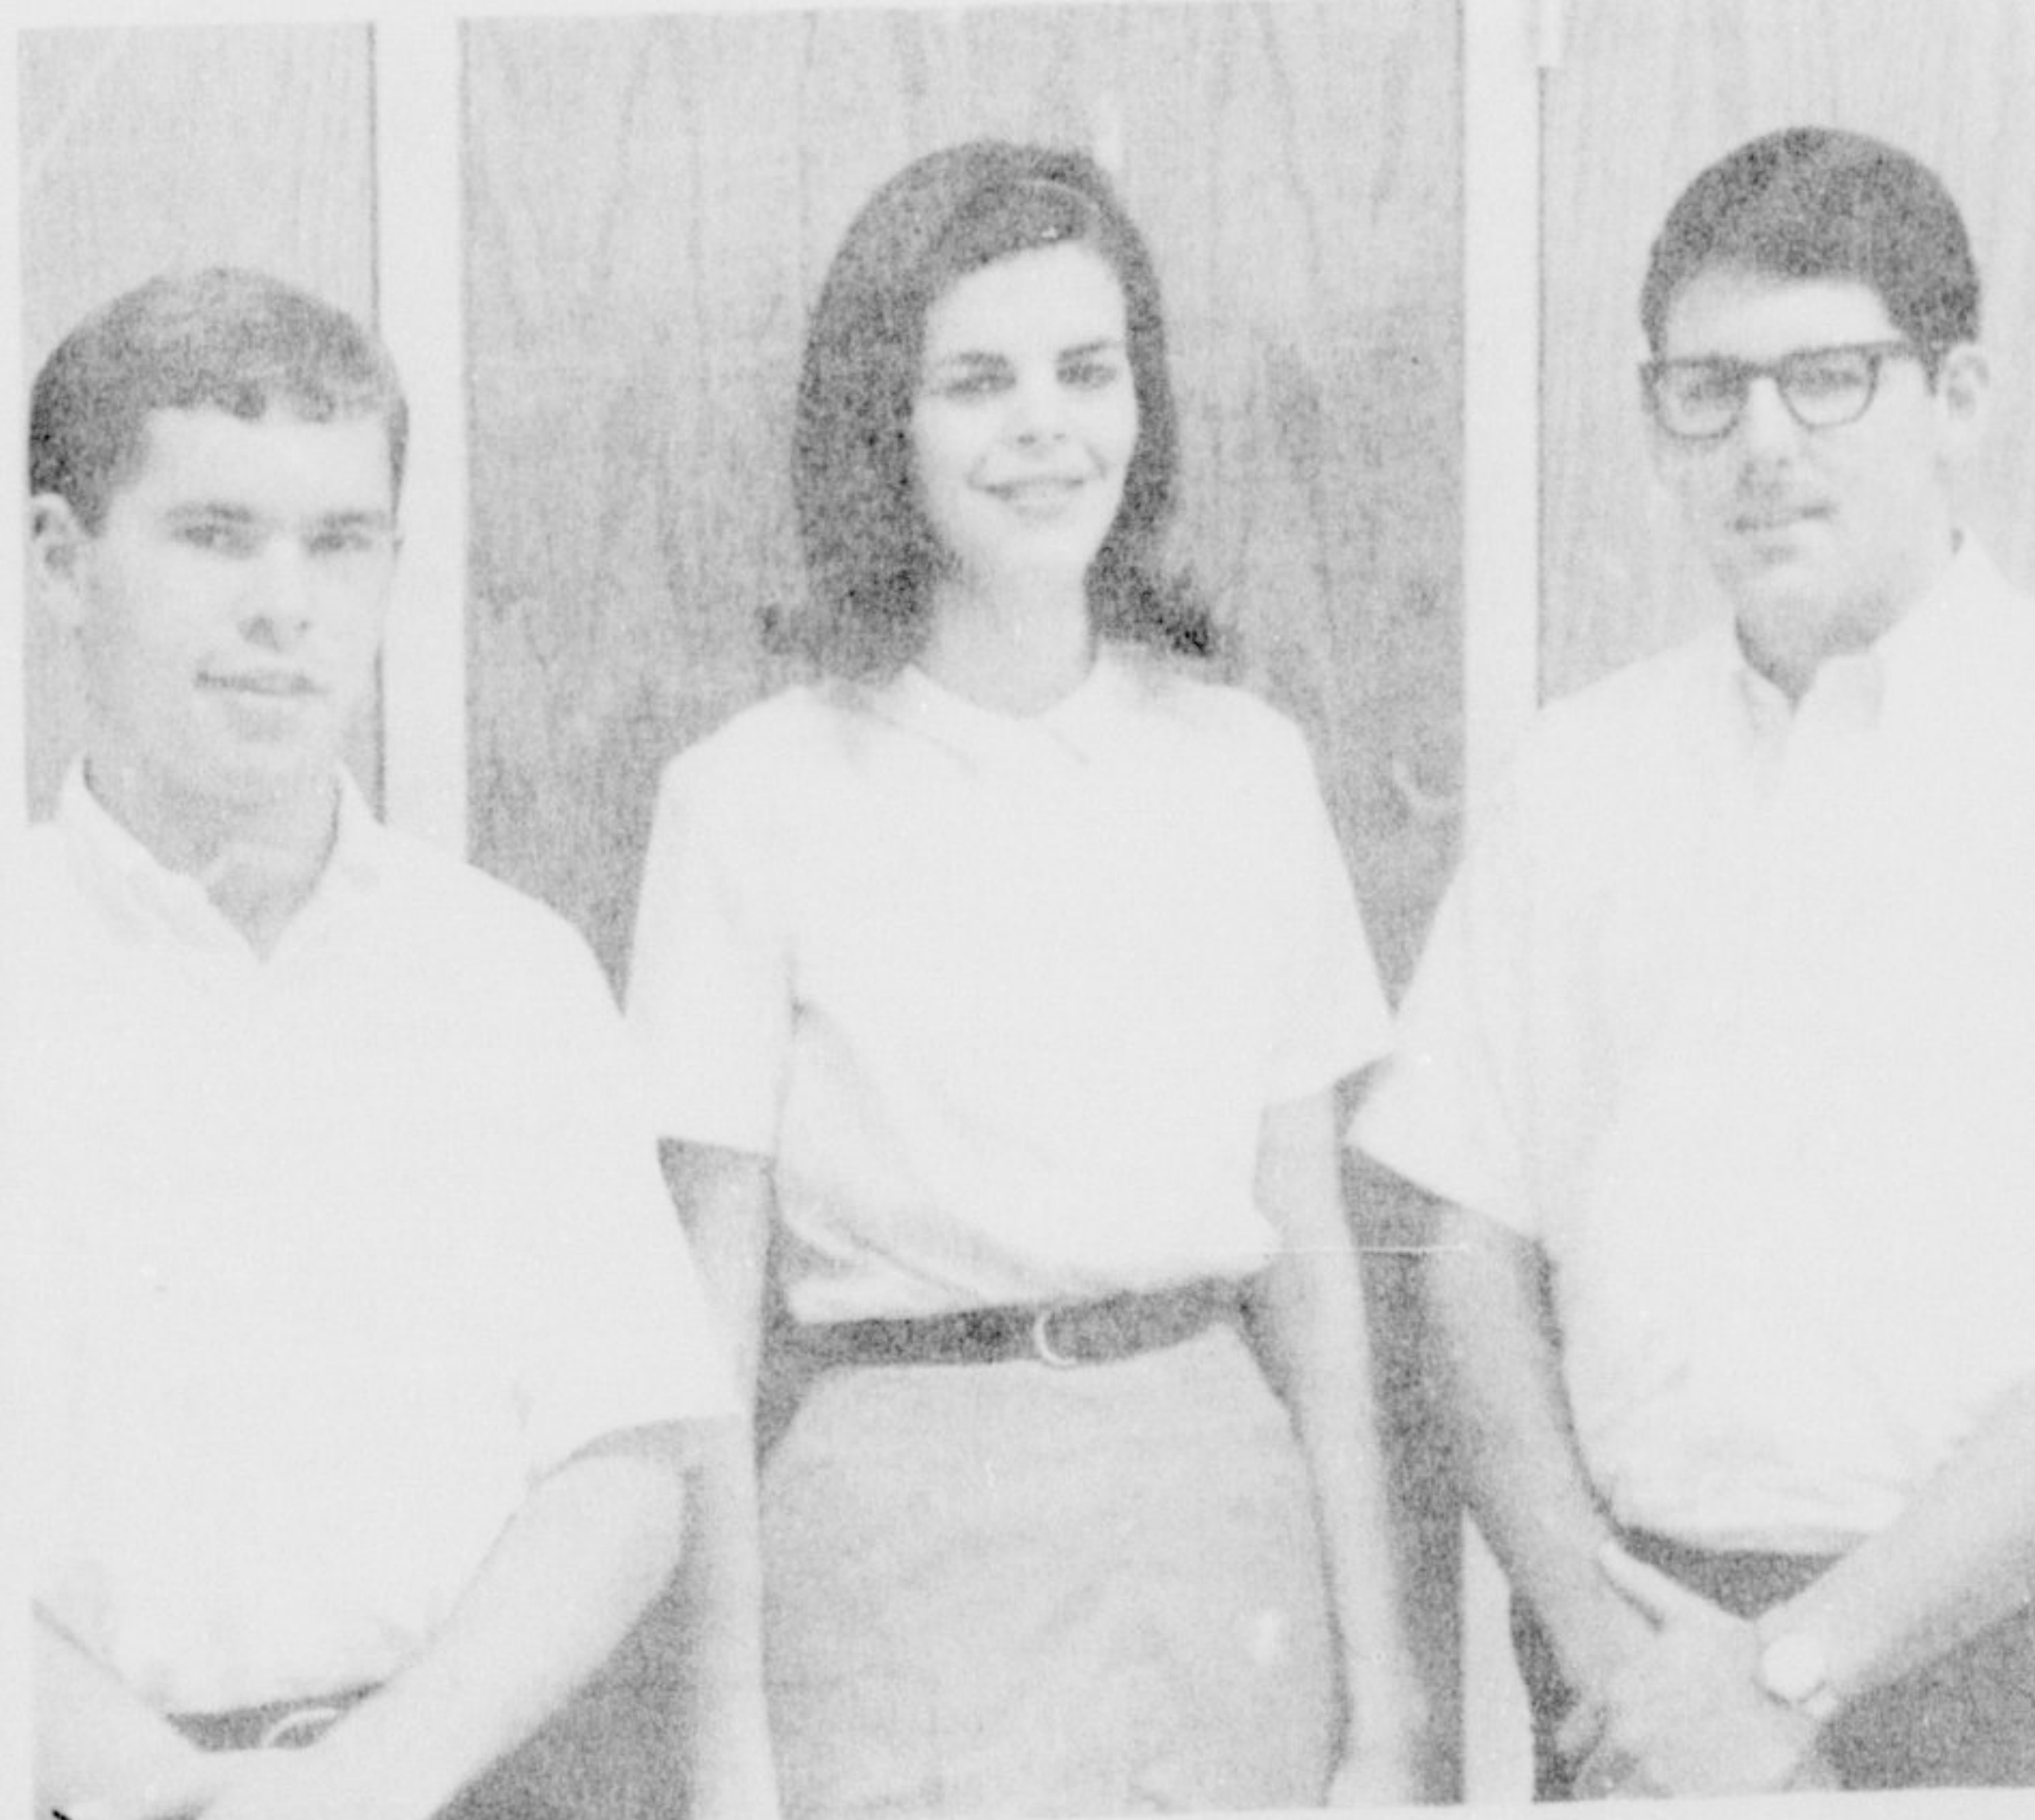

She is a member of the college chapter of Alpha Phi social sorority and the Volunteer Tutorial Program for underprivileged children.

She sings with the Chapel Choir and has written for the college newspaper, the East Carolinian. She also served last year on the staff of the Buccaneer, the college annual.

Last summer Carleen studied in Mexico and has done volunteer social work at the Migrant Work Camp in Beaufort. Her goal, after college, is to do social work in VISTA and the Peace Corps.

S.C. CROWN SHINES THROUGH NCAA GLOOM

Of necessity the first offering from this slot for the humid term must be of less than joyful content. The Buc baseball saga (1966 version) is over. It climaxed in a sticky bunk room at The Citadel with the announcement from Coach Earl Smith that the rule book was in our favor and the Pirates were Southern Conference champions in their first year of league play. Rule book thumbing was necessitated by a cloud-burst that washed out the last game of a scheduled twin-bill, our last conference game. A loss in that game would have deadlocked the league lead between EC and West Virginia. The conference bylaws had been satisfied however, so jubliance prevailed in Charleston as thoughts turned to the upcoming NCAA playoffs. Plans were quickly drawn up for the Gastonia trip that was to be preceded by an extended practice session at Camp Lejeune with the Marine nine. Jim Raynor tuned up for the regionals by hurling a sparkling no-hitter at the Leathernecks. The Clinton Comet tossed in nineteen strikeouts for good measure.

In opening round play against UNC Raynor, who thinks anything less than perfect is lousy, proved to be his own worst enemy. His first error of the season, a wild throw at first base, cost him dearly. Down the drain went his brilliant six inning shutout as well as a precious one run lead. Most costly of all, however, was his loss of composure after the errant throw. Raynor lost his control and the ballgame but not before impressing a literal throng of pro scouts with his awesome speed and strength. The big fellow deserved a better fate but none was forthcoming as Gastonia continued to be a jinx town to the Pirate ace. Jim has one year of eligibility remaining should he choose to push aside the pro offers which are sure to come. That eligibility does not include participation in any further NCAA playoffs, however, so Gastonia appears to be the only egg Jim won't get to crack in his college career.

Porous gloves and a continued lack of pitching depth combined to send the Bucs home after their second game, an encounter with second ranked Florida State. The Seminoles did not wrap it up without a scare however. Dennis Burke, undefeated Pirate lefty, had the proud visitors eating out of his hand for six innings with no-hit ball. This was bolstered by Ollie Jarvis' towering 385 foot home run in the first frame to give the Bucs a lead that looked good as Burke kept getting sharper. Five big errors in the last three frames overcame anything that Coach Smith could do as he juggled through his entire pitching staff in an effort to out-savvy the Seminole skipper. The Bucs rallied for a three up tie in the bottom of the eighth but to no avail. The Seminoles pushed across three runs to ice it in the ninth as Lady Luck looked the other way for the Pirates.

Twice self-defeated the weary Bucs scattered for the summer. They each took a portion of East Carolina's first Southern Conference crown in a major sport with them. Have a good summer fellows, you've earned it.

BUCK PLACE LAST IN SCHOLARSHIP COUNT

In the scholarship count at Gastonia Florida State came out on top with 24, Mississippi State was second with 17, North Carolina is in with a dozen for third place, and East Carolina fourth with about one-half dozen. It appears we were competing in a rather high cotton crowd. And we came so close except for--Oh well...

DAILY NEWS OUTDOES ITSELF

The four day, eight column series in the Greensboro Daily News last week was nothing short of precedent breaking. Smith Barrier, News Sports Editor, did the lengthy feature after a visit to our campus during which he apparently was given an extensive tour of our athletic plant. Gene Warren, ten year man on the Daily News Sports staff, told this writer last week that Barriers feature was the biggest single piece of work the veteran scribe has ever turned out. It was quite a tribute to our athletic progress to say the least, and to think Greensboro is only 45 miles from Talbott Hill....

FRATERNIZING WITH THE FLUNKIES

Flunk-Out U. alias Parsons College is situated in the Western Iowa town of Fairfield. Parsons College is expected to make an eight million dollar profit from total operations this year. You cannot flunk out of Parsons College, only into it! The remaining sordid details are chronicled in last week's LIFE for all to see. Why should that interest an EAST CAROLINIAN sports writer you ask? Especially since Parsons is considered an athletic outlaw, among other things, by the NCAA, AAU, etc. Guess whose football team will be flying to Fairfield, Iowa in the fall of 1967?

EC Karate Team Finishes Season

The East Carolina Karate Team recently completed its 1965-66 season by competing in two final tournaments. The first was held at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, in which Gregory Parsons placed first in the green-belt division and Joe Gralick placed third in the green-belt division. In the black-belt division, East Carolina scored third and fourth places by John Ferry and Paul Donahue respectively. Other teams competing in the tournament were Camp Lejeune scoring first and second black-belt division, Fort Bragg scoring no places, and Cherry Point scoring no places.

The second and most recent tournament, the Annual National Karate Championships, held in Washington, D. C., on May 7, included a field of over 600 entries from all parts of the United States. East Carolina sent five team members who made a favorable showing. Of the five, Frank Goins, Joe Beato, and Ed Daly were defeated in the quarter-finals of the white-belt division. In the green-belt division, Greg Parsons was defeated in the quarter-finals while Joseph Gralick went on to tie for fifth place out of 200 contestants.

'65-66' Southern Conference Feels the Pirate's Impact

By Mike Conley

East Carolina demonstrated in its first year of competition that it was ready for the challenges of the Southern Conference. The 1965-66 season saw the Pirates capture the conference swimming and baseball crowns, complete a 3-1 football record while destroying George Washington's hopes for the championship, and place in the middle of the basketball race and the wrestling and tennis tournaments.

The present Southern Conference lineup includes a diversity of schools ranging from the fast growing state schools of West Virginia and East Carolina to the smaller liberal arts schools of Davidson and William and Mary and to the military schools of The Citadel and Virginia Military Institute. This diversity among member institutions marks the Southern Conference as somewhat unusual as compared to the country's other leading athletic conferences. For instance, the Big Eight is composed entirely of state supported universities on the Great Plains, while the Ivy League is bound together by a tradition of high academic excellence. The Southern Conference's

Secretary-General Attends Institute

Jim Kimsey, Secretary-General of the Middle South United Nations General Assembly, will represent East Carolina College at the National Student Leadership Institute at the United Nations in New York. He was one of twelve students awarded scholarships to do specialized work at the U.N.

The Institute, which will last ten days, will feature lectures by some of the most prominent world leaders of today. Major lecturers already scheduled for the Institute are Ralph Bunche, Under Secretary for Political Affairs, C. V. Narasimhan, Chief de Cabinet and Under Secretary for General Assembly Affairs, and U Thant, Secretary-General of the United Nations. In addition to these lectures, several ambassadors are scheduled to speak. The Institute is organized and sponsored by the joint efforts of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations and the United Nations.

two main neighbors, however, are more diverse. But both are Southeastern Conference and are Atlantic Coast Conference have experienced difficulties with their weaker members. Tulane being forced to drop out of the SEC football program and Wake Forest was reportedly considering the same action with the ACC after it experienced a horrible football losing streak a few years ago.

When the Southern Conference was founded in 1921 it included the major athletic powers in the South: Alabama, Auburn, Clemson, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Tennessee, Virginia, and Virginia Tech. It was from a school which joined the conference in 1929, however, that the Southern Conference gained national recognition. For the powerful Duke football teams of 1938-39 led by George Acafee were ranked nationally and the 1941 Duke Football team was rated number two in the nation. The 1946-47-48 North Carolina teams were also nationally ranked in the top ten as Charley Justice made the All-Southern Conference Team for each of those years. The only present Southern Conference team to have gained the top ten was West Virginia's 1953 Sugar Bowl team. Bowl victories scored include the Sun Bowl by George Washington in 1957; and the Tangerine Bowl by The Citadel in 1960 and East Carolina in 1964 and 1965.

Basketball has become the conference's most successful sport beginning with the stardom of Jerry West at West Virginia. The Mountaineers were in the top ten from 1957 to 1961, being ranked number one in 1958. Jerry West and Rod Thorn made the Conference All-Star Team each year of their career. 1964-65 saw the Davidson basketball surge sparked by SC All Stars Fred Hetzel and Dick Snyder. The greatest individual mark by a Southern Conference player was the 100 points scored by Frank Selvy in a single game in 1954, a NCAA record.

There are many former Southern Conference players in professional sports. Jerry West has become a backcourt star for the Los Angeles Lakers and Fred Hetzel had an outstanding rookie year with the San Francisco Warriors. Dick Snyder recently signed a contract with the St. Louis Hawks who picked him as their number two draft choice. In Pro football the conference has been represented by such recent stars as West Virginia's Sam Huff and Chuck Howley, Richmond's Bruce Gossett, and The Citadel's Paul Maguire. East Carolina has recently contributed such notables as Glen Bass-first string receiver for the Buffalo Bills; Tom Michel-now with the Washington Redskins but formerly with Detroit and Minnesota. Pirates on the way up include Dave Alexander and Mitch Cannon. Bill Cline ('64) is playing in the Canadian pro loop.

At the first meeting for the summer, Wednesday, June 8, the College Union elected its officers and special events chairman. This group plans and stages social and recreation programs for the entire college family.

The officers are: President: Betty Lou Baker, from Washington; Vice President: Bill Benfield, from Rocky Mount; Secretary: Bettie Lou Barber, Portsmouth, Va.; Reporter: Harold Chambers, Elizabeth City.

Special Events Chairmen: Bingo-Ice Cream Parties: Jean Fritz, Goldsboro; Dance: Jim Crayton, Greensboro; Watermelon Feasts: Zeb Cummings, Tarboro; Tournaments: Bill Benfield.

The College Union committee members meet every Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. in the College Union Assembly Room, 201. The membership is open to all enrolled students--undergraduates and graduates. New members are welcomed.
