Amendment Arouses Legislature

By NELLIE LEE

Tuesday afternoon's SGA meeting turned out to be a matter of proposed ethics, a plea for the separation of powers and what could possibly be considered an idealistic plan for electing judicial members through student body elections.

Opening what looked like a fast and furious SGA show were President Steve Sniteman and Speaker of the Legislature Bill Deal as they brought before the SGA opposing methods for filling Judiciary seats.

Sniteman spoke out against Legislators having the power to elect themselves through their SGA positions and friends to positions on the Judiciary. Supposedly, according to Sniteman, there are many qualified students on campus who never get a chance to serve in a Judicial position due to a monopoly of power now resting within the ranks of the Student Legislature. Sniteman presented the idea that more students would be inclined to seek Judicial positions if they thought there was a chance for getting on the Judiciary.

Opposing Sniteman and yet offering an "equal" chance for both student body and legislative members was Speaker Deal who opposed the idea of voting for one's party affiliation rather than basic issues. Deal brought forth a plea to let the student body elect the Judicial body in a campus wide election.

Earle Beasley, Student legislator, presented the following amendment, in keeping with Sniteman's proposals, to the Legislature for a vote:

"No person serving as a member of the Student Legislature or the Executive Council may serve in a judicial post which is selected by the Executive Council and approved by the Legislature. He may, however, serve in any judicial post to which he may be elected by general election of the student body."

Opposing Beasley's amendment was Speaker Deal who proposed the following for a vote by the Legislature:

"All Judicial bodies that are now appointed and elected by the executive and legislative branches of the Student Government Association shall be elected by the student body in a general election to be held in the fall each year."

Deal's proposal was voted down by an 8 to 1 vote thereby bringing the amendment made by Beasley up for a vote by the Student Body within the next seven days.

President Sniteman

By STEVE SNITEMAN

I have called a special meeting of the legislature because I think that there is a matter of great importance to our student body, more specifically for those individuals who want to take a more active role in our student government.

In the past, if a member of the executive council or the legislature has desired a judicial post, his approval generally has been a matter of mere formality since those of us on these bodies have bonds of friendships generated through our mutual interest. But, ARE our votes cast in friendship also ethical? Is it proper for us to award ourselves judicial posts when others around us are just as conscientious in their desires to serve?

Some people have complained that there are not adequate applications for judicial post even NOW and that by prohibiting members of the executive council and legislature from applying, we will limit further the number of persons desiring to serve. But our paradox is that, with the elimination of executive council members and legislators from this competition, MORE students will feel they have a chance and consequently MORE will apply.

We all believe in certain aspects of good government and I feel these aspects should be incorporated in our student government.

Number 1 — That any judicial body should be as free as possible from the potentially corrupting influences of politics.

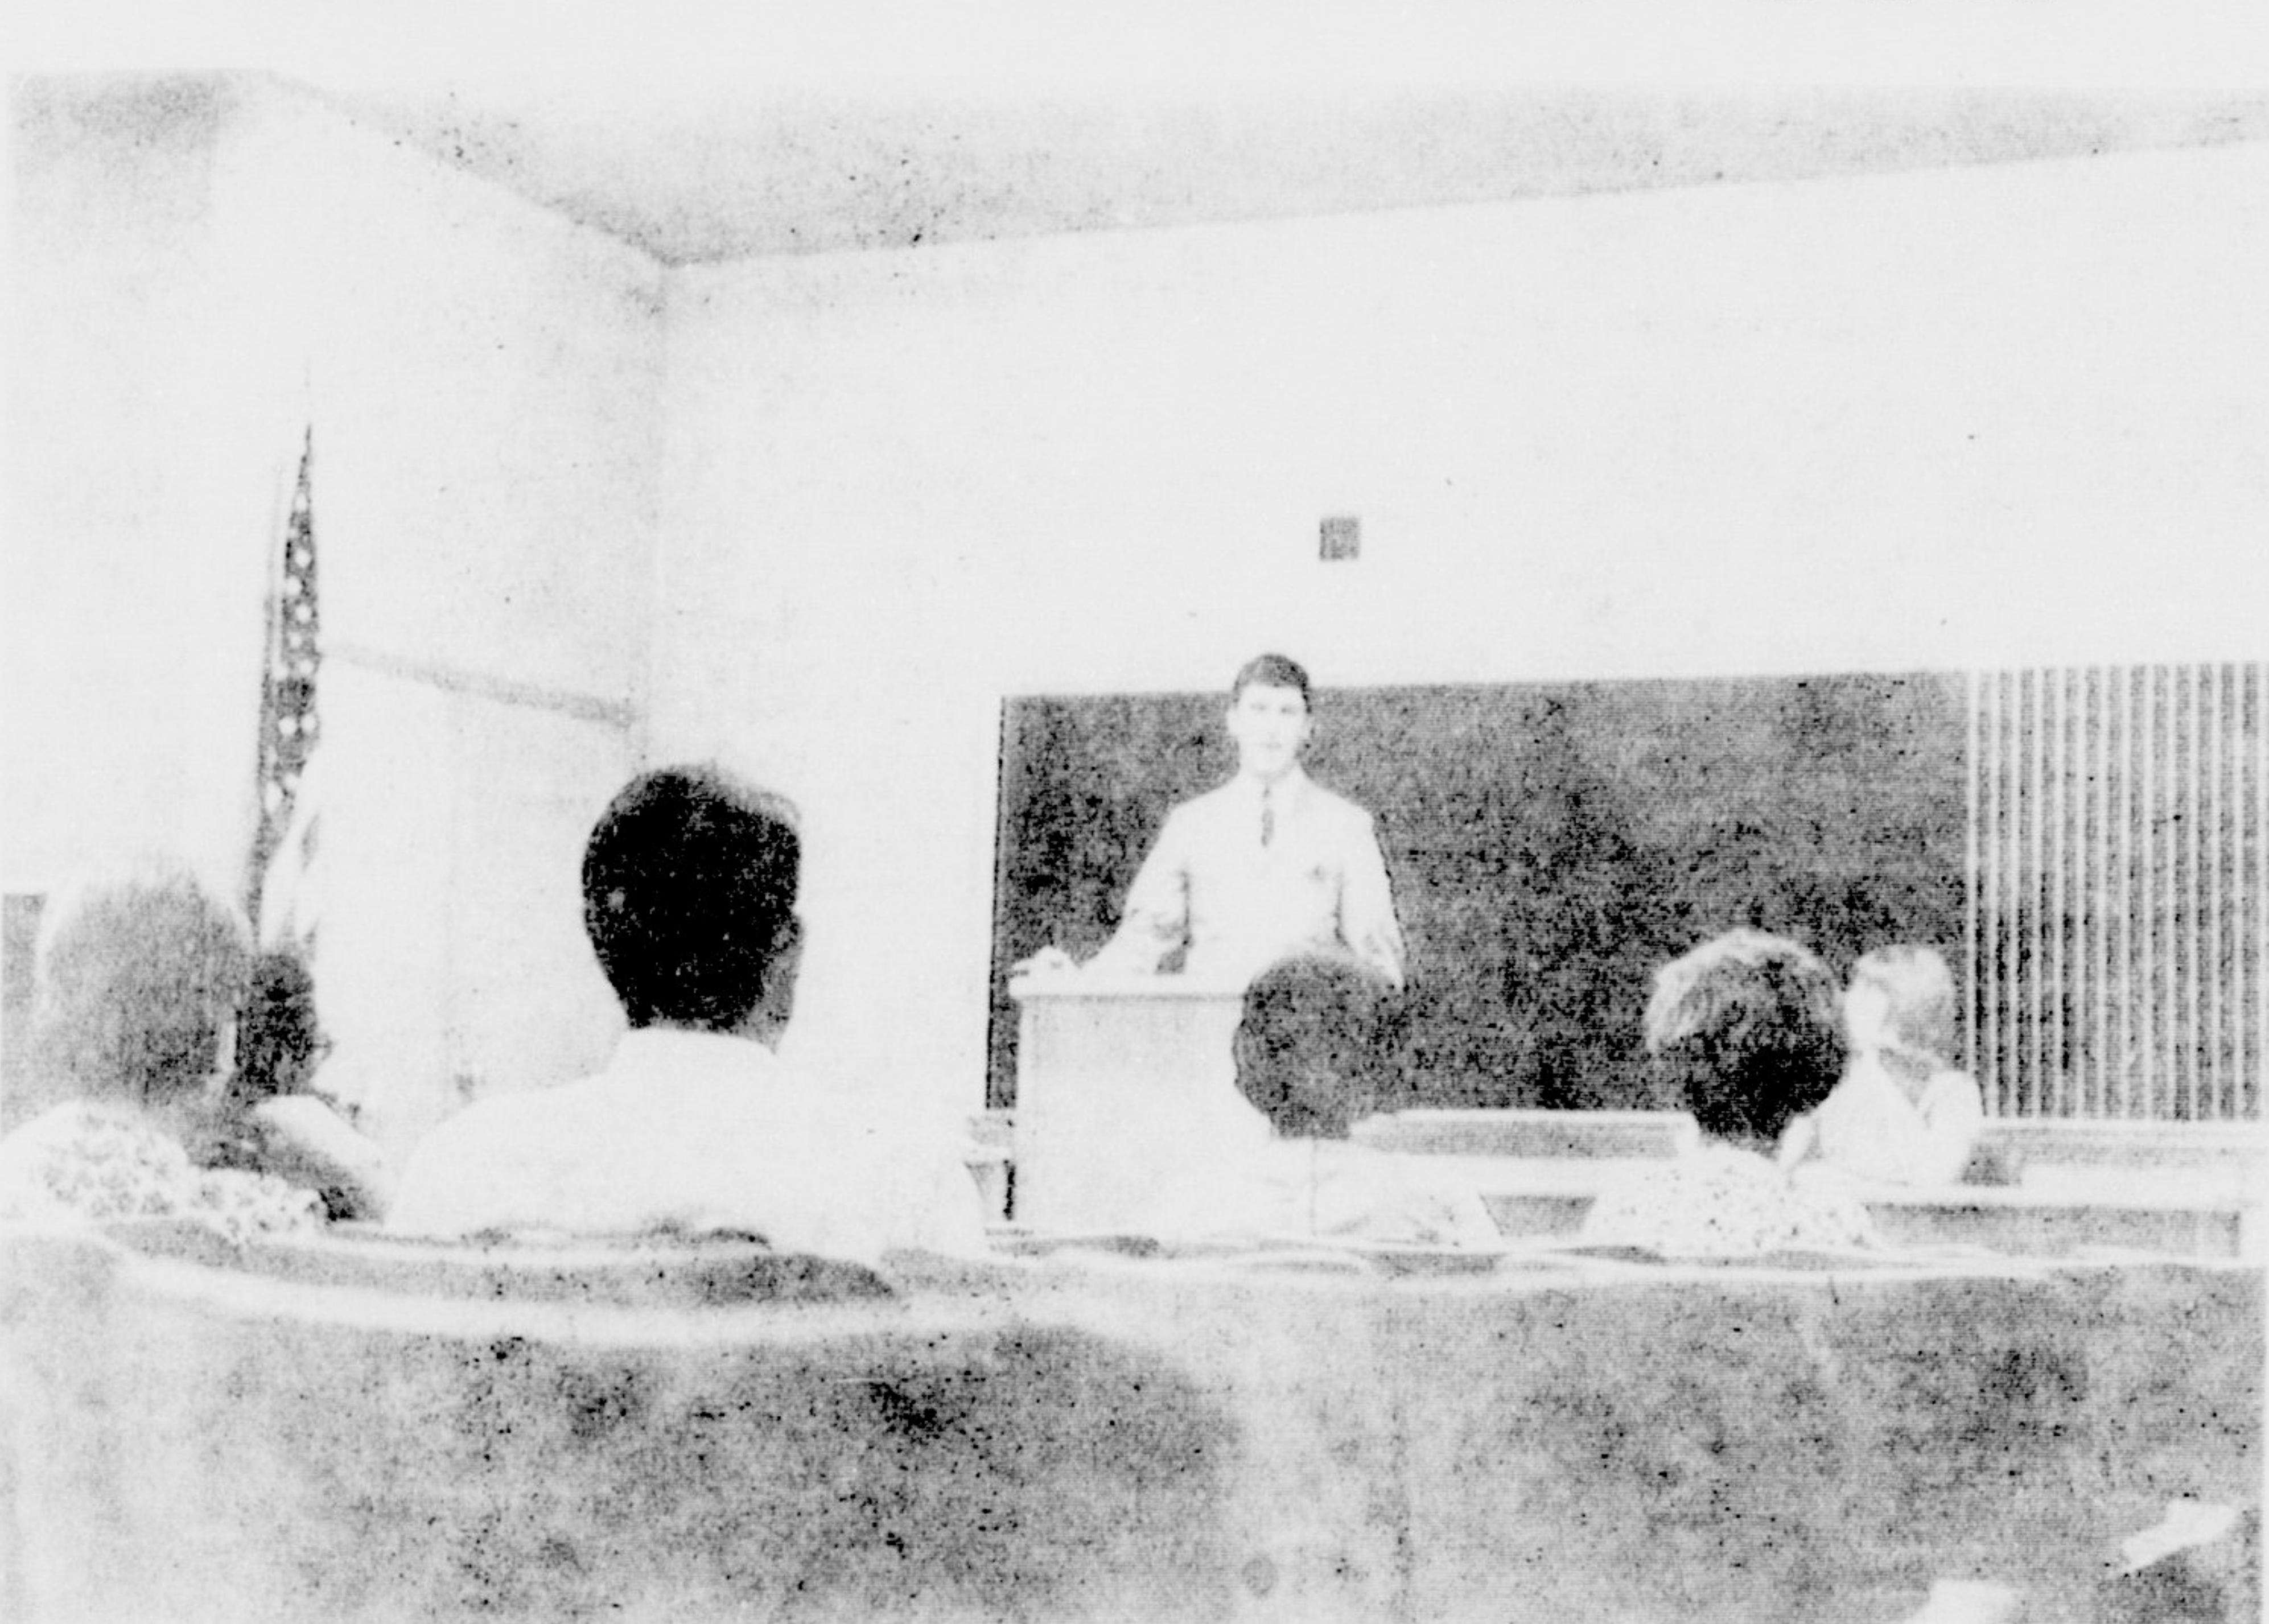

Number 2 — That it is totally unfair for any group in a position such as our student legislature or executive council to be able to confirm itself membership in such an esteemed body as any one of our courts.

Number 3 — That those governed, in this case, our students, have the right to select by popular ballot any persons to serve in any post which that government shall designate for them to elect.

Therefore, we feel that the proposed amendment is necessary. Respecting the rights of students to select their legislators, and members of the executive council, I must recognize the power of these persons to serve as a conscience for the desires and dictates of the students. However, I cannot for the life of me see how our SGA can tolerate this deplorable situation one day longer.

I am calling on you, the members of our student legislature to act and react now. The goals of our judicial system and, in effect, the effectiveness of our entire student government rests on your action.

Bill Deal Addresses SGA

By BILL DEAL

The founding fathers of the United States of America had an idea in mind when they first formed the document that this nation would be ruled under the Constitution. This idea was a three branch type of government with no one branch having the burden of power.

Here at East Carolina we have tried as have states, schools, and organizations, to do this. However there is one major factor which contrasts ECC, that is unlike the idea of the founding fathers of the United States. Sure, we have a constitution but what FREEDOMS, as such, does it give. This constitution gives a working basis for the student government with a pattern of rules and an organization of the different branches.

What I am getting around to is this, there is no system of CHECK AND BALANCE here, because there is no need for any judicial board to review the type of legislation that is enacted here. To have a "separation of powers" is fine if there is an overlapping of duties.

At ECC the Honor Councils have nothing to do with the executive or legislative workings of the SGA, except for the fact that they are selected through these bodies. Now the question arises, EXACTLY!!! They are selected often by themselves BUT the answer here is that their job has not a tinker's damn relationship to what they would or will be doing in the Legislature etc. If there is so much of a problem here then why not let the student body elect the Judicial Body members in a campus election.

If this were done you can believe that QUOTE "the same people" would run in front of the student body, as seek election by the student Legislature. WHY because they are the ones that are interested enough, and think that they are capable enough to hold the office and do the job whether they be on 20 other committees or bodies.

By passing a motion that would limit the branches of govt. that a student could serve on you are burying some of the best student workers and God forbid we can't afford to lose any of the FEW notice I said few who take an active interest in SGA at East Carolina.

The age old question comes up here why, with 9,000 students can't you get enough people to file and run for office. I don't know, Leo W. Jenkins doesn't know, Dr. James Tucker doesn't know, President Steve Sniteman doesn't know, and least of all I don't know. "You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink!!!" We have pushed student Government here as long as I have been here and we still have to extend filling for Judicial Boards each time because we can't find enough people to file. Being on the Honor Council is a nasty job. I can see why only certain people want to accept the responsibility. Are these people who wish to run, to serve, and contribute to the thing they enjoy, to be started and then stopped.

I live for the Student Government Association. This SGA has done more for my college career than anything that any dean or professor could ever say or do. If, and there are some of you out there, were limited to the service you could render to the SGA, ECC would be a complete failure for you!!!

Weigh the points, consider the situation, the makeup of our SGA and realize that placing a limitation of this type on the students of East Carolina College would be one of the greatest detriments that could ever happen. Not only would it necessitate a new constitution but it would cause a total revamping of the Judicial system that it has taken years to build up here at ECC.

When you cast your vote for this bill, think of the seat or office that you hold here and in the other fields of the SGA. Will you be able to sit there again and serve your fellow students if this bill passes?

Vote not for the party you belong to — because the party is not the students you represent. This is a democratic SGA, not a parliamentary government — you don't owe your vote to your party but to the 9,000 students whom you serve.

Men's Residence Council Plans Trip And Elections

Game Trip

The Men's Residence Council has chartered two buses to carry students to the EC-William and Mary Game in Williamsburg, Virginia this weekend.

Scheduled time of departure for residents of Men's Campus and their dates will be 8:00 a.m. Saturday morning. Buses will load in front of Belk Hall, new men's dorm.

Cost for the trip includes $5.25 for round trip bus fare and admittance to the game. Tickets may be picked up from Bill Moore in Room 211, Belk Hall, or in the Dean of Men's office.

The bus trip to William and Mary has been approved for all girls. Expected time of return Saturday night is 10:00 p.m.

Elections

Men's Residence Council elections will be held Tuesday, September 20 from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

Filing for office will be held from September 12 until September 18. Offices open are:

2 floor senators from each floor in Jones, Aycock, Scott and Belk Dormitory.

1 governor for each residence hall.

1 lieutenant governor for each residence hall.

To file for office: put name and address on a note card and slip it under MRC office door in lobby of Scott Dorm.

Hickory, Dickory, Dock . . .

It's time we start talking of student government and what it's all about. Historically, the words Student Government or the better known letters SGA have frightened the minds of most anyone who has seen them in print. We have lived with the dirty phrase "student apathy" and even today it appears that student government obviously means nothing to the majority of the 9,500 students who attend East Carolina College.

Due to this complacency the student government, of course, is not run by the student body theoretically as we would like to think, but by a handful of people we know as our "student leaders." (It is fortunate that the overwhelming majority of people we know as our SGA have been conscious and of excellent character.)

However, recent events have indicated that the demands of student government have now reached a point that they cannot be handled by this small group alone. These people have been doing their best to serve and represent you, but have reached a point where they can no longer do so. In every sense of the word, the SGA has found itself in a crisis that may determine its character for a long time to come. The burdens now placed on these people are an outrageous result of our infamous student indifference.

The importance of this "crisis" lies in the now raging debate over the proposed amendment to the SGA constitution concerning the filling of judicial seats. Beginning with the Legislative meeting held on Tuesday it seems that East Carolina's political scene is being dominated by such charges as Party bloc voting, favoritism, advancement of self, and "the potentially corrupting influences of politics."

The ratification of Mr. Snitman's three aspects of good government (see front page) as seen by the overwhelming majority vote for the proposed amendment is a landmark in reviving the standard of ethics which we hope would characterize the spirit of the Legislative branch of the student government. At the same time the proposed amendment implies a certain standard of ethics to be observed in the judicial body.

The executive council and legislative branch of the student government were designed to represent the conscience of the student body. The judiciary, on the other hand, we would hope is not to be a contest of political factions, names, and cheap posters (as all political contests now appear to be). While we certainly honor Mr. Deal's assertion that there may be several members of the Executive Council and Legislature who are more than qualified to serve on the Judiciary, we would not like to think that there fails to remain at least a few qualified students in the other 9,000 or so students left on campus.

While we admire Speaker Deal's idealism in proposing general elections and yet cannot condone his proposal on the basis that politics are not so nice at East Carolina, neither can we fully condone the amendment accepted by the Legislature for it implies a "screening" of all candidates for judicial posts. Are all other offices of the Student Government Association to be immune from this sort of review while the Judiciary lies in the palm of the Executive Council and the Legislature? Again we are reminded by the distant cry of "corrupting influences."

There is an unfortunate, but somber note to be added . . . already we have found that this amendment has become the center for several rally cries from party and "regional" (the hill) organizations alike. We hope that what has been said will at least instill a desire to view each side from an objective standpoint, weighing the individual worth of each proposal.

Hungry Giant Of Asia

By Mike Conley

The specter of the Red Guard, the band of militant young communists who are seeking to deify Mao Tse-tung and to destroy all traces of "decadent western influence" puzzle of Red China, the hungry giant of Asia. While the ridiculous extremes to which the idolization of Mao has been carried have created humor in the West, the problems concerning the succession of Chinese political power are serious and important.

A widely held theory in the West has been that after the present leadership, who are veterans of the Long March and the Revolution, die out and the country becomes more prosperous, the new leadership will become more moderate and less aggressive in its foreign policy. This theory may be true, but recent developments have raised questions as to how soon it will be applicable.

For it is becoming more and more likely that Mao's successor will be Minister of Defense Lin Biao, a hard-liner whose past record includes command of the communist Chinese forces in the Korean War. However, it is difficult to predict how long Lin or any other Mao successor could remain in power for when a longtime communist powerman dies a no holds barred power struggle occurs like that which followed the deaths of both Lenin and Stalin. But whether Lin Biao, or Secretary General Teng Hsiao-ping, or even Premier Chou En-lai comes out on top, there is no indication that this would lead to any relaxation of East-West tensions.

The surge of the Red Guard Movement appears to be a continuation of the Chinese tradition of hatred for foreigners which goes back at least as far as the Boxer Rebellion. The present Soviet regime has been no more successful than the previous one in healing the Sino-Soviet rift which has turned into a struggle for the allegiance of the other communist countries.

In this contest the Soviets appear to have been the most successful, for Red China has retained only one communist ally, the small poor country of Albania in the Balkans. Chinese relations with the neutral nations have also been deteriorating. The most important example of this deterioration, of course, is the Indonesian break with China; but there have also been other setbacks especially in Africa. Chinese hatred towards the United States seems to have increased edged on by the Vietnam War and the Chinese's paranoid fear that the United States and the Soviet Union have joined in a plot to encircle China.

The actions of the Chinese government often seem amusing to Westerners such as the claims that the political writings of Mao can help grow rice better. But the anti-foreign activities of the Red Guard and the increasing isolation of Red China are not amusing and should provoke thoughtful concern because of the size and power of China and its position in Southeast Asia.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I was among one of the four hundred girls that entered the New Women's Hall with great expectations. Many, like myself, had previously lived in good ol' Cotten with its dim lights, crawling ants, and cramped quarters. Now, however, those quarters seem delightful. The young ladies now living in E.C.C.'s new dorm are faced with frustrating problems that far surpass those of the older dorms. True, we have large closets with sliding doors, huge baths, laundry rooms (not yet furnished), clean walls, plenty of book shelves, and hard mattresses that do not sag to the floor. We even have an abundance of explanatory signs such as those on the bathroom door stating "Women."

Yet the walls are so thin, we can hear the softest sound from the adjoining room. We reach out to open a door and the knob falls into our hands. There are ten floors in this new dorm, and one elevator — one elevator that works at random. We never know if we will be the next to experience the ordeal of riding up and down in an elevator that will not open. Following the sound of the alarm, we hear screams and frustrating remarks of frightened girls as the elevator passes each floor. Upon asking a maintenance man when another elevator would be completed, he stated that it would be ten or twelve weeks. Those of us who live on 8th, 9th, and 10th floors find it straining to our already tired legs to climb the stairs, but we have been forced to do so.

Another major problem is the one-way intercom system, which is presently working properly. A father, a date, or out of town may waste an hour waiting before he comes to the conclusion that his daughter, girl friend, or acquaintance is not getting dressed — she simply isn't in. At present, however, she may be waiting, she may be dressed, but may have missed her calling through a "malfunction of the system." Upon inquiring about this situation we were told that before a two-way system would be installed, bids must be made concerning the cost. (These proper formalities could take a year.)

Not only have we been cut off from society by our terrific intercom system, but also there is a lack of telephones. For instance, those of us on 9th and 10th floor are without telephone service completely. But maybe hope remains — there are empty telephone booths with dangling wires!

And how do you iron a dress without an ironing board? We are neat packers, but then clothes do wrinkle, and not every girl has plenty of clothes to replace unworn ones. And in our unironed clothes, we may stand at our windows and gaze at our lovely view — but we must remember not to frolic, for the screens are light and loose.

To skim through a few of the minor problems: no ventilation in the bathrooms or on the staircase, no paper towels in the bathroom, no televisions, only one washer to every floor, and no driers. We know the dorm was needed, and thus built hurriedly, but there is no excuse for cheapness.

To you freshmen and upper classmen who live in the older dorms, feel proud, for they will still be standing when the New Hall is in shambles.

$2.50 For A Diploma

By John Stone

Since the Legislature room has been taken for photography work, and the Student Legislature has been driven out of its own quarters, the question has arisen: who has more authority, the elected representatives of the students or a certain editor of THE BUCCANEER.

A certain campus personality is missing this year. Has the administration decided to go on another "witch hunt"?

Is it possible for a certain S.G.A. Treasurer to make ends meet this year with $210,000.00 expected income and a total of $250,000.00 in requests from the various campus organizations? We wonder what this years audit will show.

Can the capable Speaker of the Legislature successfully form another political party and give the S.G.A. President some loyal opposition, or will the Student Party run the Legislature as well as the Executive Branch.

"Oh death, where is thy sting?" Best wishes to the students of Dr. Alvin Fahrner. You have him at the prime of his life. When he was younger he spoke to fast, and when he gets old, he will speak too slowly. Consider yourselves lucky, but don't get caught unawares.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE: Governor Dan K. Moore supporting East Carolina University?

Quote of the Week: (THE DAILY TARHEEL) "They're getting so cocky down at East Carolina College now that you can buy a car tag that says ECU for $2.00, for $2.50 you can buy a diploma."

Dear Editor,

Aw. Come on!! It seems to me that illegal narcotics on this campus can only be the inevitable result, especially when hidden under such provocative wraps. Do you really believe a sound verbal slapping of hands is what's needed? It is my belief that if you really care enough to try to prevent the spread of illegal drugs on this campus you should contribute more than one-third of your editorial column. You speak of this as a "quiet" campus. What do you consider Harvard — seventy — six trombones accompanied by drums? This campus has remained relatively untouched only because so far few of our students have the money to support a habit. However, as E.C.C. grows and attracts a larger student body, we will certainly have to face this problem. The time to begin is now and not in a half-hearted manner.

I do not mean this as a personal affront to the EAST CAROLINIAN or to its editor, but to anyone who shakes the proverbial finger and then turns his back on this problem.

Sincerely,
Angela Ritchie

Dear Editor:

The parking situation on campus for day students is terrible. If a day student does not drive to school and find a place before 9:00 a.m. there are none available.

SGA Makes Plans For Coming Year

According to Steve Sniteman, the S.G.A. is planning to do many things in the coming months. At the present time is working on fall elections. Jay Barber is working on the faculty evaluation booklet, which will come out soon in the fall.

Mickey Hill, chairman of the Honor Society, is receiving letters from other honor societies for the purpose of establishing an honor society on Campus. In the future an Attorney General will coordinate the honor councils. It will give the judiciary an organized head to go to consult with their problems.

Barry Blick is working on Business Forum. This forum will try to get various businessmen to visit the campus.

The Cheerleaders have new uniforms bought through the S.G.A. Sniteman also commented, "We will try to bring a true reality of Political Parties on the Campus of East Carolina."

Steve Moore, S.G.A. Treasurer, and the Budget Committee have been completing budgets for the year. The Budget committee will meet to consider appropriation of $250,000.00 and from an expected income of $210,000.00. The committee is composed of Steve Moore, Chairman, Bill Deal, Mary Catherine Joyner, Martin Lassiter, Jan Jackson, Earl Beasley, Steve Moore and John Meares.

Budgets already before the committee are $13,600 for Campus Movies; $6500 for Central Ticket Office; Lectures and Entertainment $65,000; East Carolinian $33,000.00; E.C.C. Playhouse $13,000.00; Rebel $6,000; Executive Council $13,000.00 and Full Time Salary $10,000.

14 Spunky Cheerleaders Lead 9,000 Screaming Students

By TED HOOKS

Attired in colorful new uniforms, East Carolina's 14 cheerleaders have one big goal on their minds for the coming season and that is to make EC the most spirited school in the Southern Conference.

"With our 27-3 won-lost record and 9,000 screaming students behind us, East Carolina can easily be the most talked about college in the South," beamed Ed Walton, Head Cheerleader.

"We can only lead the yells, added Ed. "It's the fans in the stands who make the difference."

"We urge everyone to attend the games and help us achieve our goal."

EC's cheerleaders are a busy bunch.

Participating in the Homecoming Parade, making posters, traveling all over the country and cheering are but a small portion of the duties of this energetic group of team boosters. With their lively pep rallies, giant bonfires, and new cheers, these 14 students add zest and color to EC's winning tradition.

This year's male cheerleaders are: Ed Hale, a senior Psychology major from Roanoke Rapids, N. C. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity.

Don Simmons, a senior Geography major from Goldsboro, N. C. He plays Varsity Tennis and is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha.

Chick Krautler, a sophomore, business major and brother in Theta Chi who is from Silver Spring, Maryland.

Another new member of the squad is Skip Ciampa, a Business major and sophomore from Fayetteville, N. C. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha.

The Head Cheerleader is Ed Walton, a senior from Arlington, Va. Ed is a veteran cheerleader, a member of Lambda Chi, and a Physical Education major.

Johnny Grubbs, a senior History major and member of Kappa Alpha Order. Johnny hails from Winston-Salem, N. C.

Jim Camp, a senior Geography major and member of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity. He is from Pittsboro, N. C.

From New Bern, N. C. is Don Pierce, a Junior Political Science major.

The feminine rals in the East Carolina Roar will be: Marilyn Temberlake, a senior Psychology major from Youngsville, N. C. This year will mark her second appearance as a Varsity cheerleader and she is a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

Pam Dalton, a senior Education major from Greensboro, N. C. and member of Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority is a three year varsity veteran.

A History and English major from Alexandria, Va. is Mrs. Linda Evans Banks, a junior.

Patsy Simmons, a sophomore Education major from Portsmouth, Va. and member of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority.

A Junior Physical Education major from Richmond, Va. is Brenda Bullock, a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority. She was chief of her freshmen cheerleader squad and this season is her second year as a varsity cheerleader.

From Petersburg, Va. is Sherry Robertson, a sophomore and member of Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority.

Last and least is the spunky Pirate Gary Dean a sophomore Political Science major, wrestling team member and brother of Kappa Alpha Order. 1966 will be Gary's debut year and he is from Winston-Salem, N. C.

PI KAPPA PHI

The Brothers of Pi Kappa Phi have returned to East Carolina College with aspirations for another year of prosperous growth. In our past campaign, the Beta Phi Brothers earned a Master Chapter rating for the third consecutive year since its induction to the ECC Fraternity system. With new initiative, the Pi Kapps this year are earnestly working toward the Supreme Master Chapter berth as the number one Chapter in the Nation.

New Officers have been elected to guide and lead this year's efforts. Bill Dryden is the new Archon, while Jim Mather has taken over the reigns as Warden. Retaining their positions are Jack Smith; Treasurer, Rod Justus; Secretary, Danny Luper; Historian, and Bob Gunter; Chaplain.

In intramurals, the Pi Kapps are bidding to retain the President's Cup which was won last year after a long and bitter struggle. With football as the initial intramural activity, the Pi Kapps are feverishly working to jell a grid-iron combination that will be comparable to none.

With Rush but a few weeks away, we would sincerely like to invite all rushees to our house at 1301 East 5th Street. Let us show you the true Brotherhood which we have to offer.

LAMBA CHI ALPHA

Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity started the year off with the new officers. They are: Charles Reddick, President; Chuck Humphrey, Vice-President; Bill Austin, Secretary; Johnny Wishart, Treasurer. The Lambda Chi's are well represented on the 66-67 Cheerleading squad. They are Ed Walton, Head Cheerleader, Ed Hale, Donny Simmons, Jim Champ, and pledge Skip Ciampa. We are proud of Skip Oliver who may see a lot of action this year in fullback position.

Brothers of Lambda Chi will hold their annual Field Day with all the sororities in the near future.

The Lambda Chi's would like to introduce our Spring pledge class. They are Pete Murphy, Skip Ciampa, Wayne Gardner, Jim Parsons, Paul Roseman, Skip Oliver, Glen Chitty and Bill Turcotte.

The brotherhood of Lambda Chi to welcome all new students to East Carolina and sincerely want to see you this fall. The house will be open for any questions the students have pertaining to Rush and Lambda Chi will be glad to assist you in any way. The house is located at 525 Cotanche Street.

KAPPA SIGMA

The Kappa Sigs are proud to report that they have acquired a "new" house at 208 S. Pitt Street. After a summer of long hours and hard work, the house is beginning to take shape. The house has 7 bedrooms with 3 full bathrooms, plus a large party-room.

Since last spring, when this fraternity gained colony status, it has been reorganized to conform to Kappa Sigma standards. The men of Kappa Sigma are anticipating a successful rush and expect 1966-67 to be a year of growth in many ways.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to visit the Kappa Sigma House, especially all freshmen.

ALPHA PHI

The Alpha Phi's, winners of the Most Outstanding Sorority trophy, have started the new year with many plans and activities. Informal rush was held Monday and Tuesday night, with the theme of Autumn Leaves. Plans which include a float have already begun for participation in Homecoming activities.

Alpha Phi Sorority welcomes all the new freshmen to the campus of East Carolina College; and invites the freshmen girls to visit them at their house on Tenth Street.

ALPHA OMICRON

Wednesday, September 14, at 7:30 p.m., a reception for Miss Caroline Fulgum was held at the Alpha Omicron Pi house, 805 Johnston Street. Approximately 125 house mothers and sorority members attended. Miss Fulgum is the new Panhellenic advisor.

Zeta Phi Chapter is honored to have Wendy Witham former President of Gamma chapter at the University of Maine as a resident advisor. Wendy is currently enrolled at East Carolina as a graduate student in the School of Education.

NOTICE: Membership drive for Home Economics Chapter will be held Wednesday, all day, Thursday and Friday till noon.

Local Pilot Club Sponsors School

The Pilot Club of Greenville, Inc., is sponsoring "The Alice Bell Charm and Fashion School" to be held at East Carolina College in Wright Building, Monday and Tuesday, September 19 and 20. Two sessions will be held each day at 10 to 12 noon and 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Adult tickets are $5.00 and student tickets $3.00 and each ticket is valid for two sessions. Tickets can be bought at the door, or from any member of the Pilot Club; or by calling Mrs. Thomas Carawan, Treasurer, 752-4934 or 752-5290.

According to Dean Ruth White of East Carolina College, freshmen who desire to attend the school will be excused from closed study the nights of Sept. 19 and 20.

Conference Of CPA's Convenes Here

A conference for Certified Public Accountants on sources of business loans is scheduled at East Carolina College on Thursday Sept. 29.

It will feature eight speakers who will seek to improve the preparedness of attending CPAs to give clients information and help in getting favorable financing.

The conference is sponsored by the Coastal Plains Chapter of the N. C. Association of CPAs in cooperation with the Eastern North Carolina Development Institute (ENCDI) and the School of Business, both at East Carolina College.

Spokesmen say the conference is intended "to provide for the CPAs a discussion of topics relating to sources of loan funds available to business firms."

The faculty assembled to discuss the various topics includes: Joseph H. Hanchrow CPA and ECC business faculty member; Mitchell Allen, president First National Bank of Eastern North Carolina Jacksonville; H. W. Wentworth, executive vice president N. C. Savings and Loan League, Greensboro; Fred A. Dow regional director Small Business Administration Charlotte; Jonathan L. Peeler president, J. Lee Peeler and Co. bond brokers, Durham; T. W. Thompson second vice president and mortgage loans manager, Security Life and Trust Co., Winston-Salem; Charles S. Edwards, N. C. coordinator, Economic Development Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce, Raleigh; H. Powell Jenkins, executive vice president, Business Development Corp. of North Carolina, Raleigh.

The conference will be held in the College Union Assembly Hall of Wright Annex on the ECC campus. It will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 4:30 p.m.

After the conference the Coastal Plains chapter will have a regular meeting at 7 p.m.

Further information is available from Thomas W. Willis, ENODI director, P. O. Box 2703, Greenville.

Denver 'Clarion' Takes Voting Poll

EDITOR'S NOTE: We are prompted to run the following Associated Collegiate Press release after hearing that over 80 per cent of the potential voters in South Viet Nam voted in Sunday's election. We remind our readers that only 60 per cent of the potential voters in the United States voted in the 1964 election.

LOWERING THE VOTING AGE (ACP) — For the past 20 years, 18-year-olds in Georgia have been able to vote in local, state, and national elections. Now, Georgia Congressman Charles Weltner has a bill before Congress to lower the voting age to 18 and make it uniform throughout the country.

The University of Denver CLARION decided to follow up this lead and find what student sympathies are on the issue. After tabulating 364 written ballots in a poll conducted during student elections, it was interesting to note that student sentiment was so equally divided—49.6 per cent were for the bill, 50.4 per cent against it.

The CLARION said in an editorial: It seems clear, at least from indication on the University of Denver campus, that if students themselves do not have enough confidence in the ability of 18-to-21 year olds to vote intelligently, this bill is headed for sound defeat.

It is commonly agreed, the CLARION continued, that there is no magic moment at 21 at which time the light descends and one is qualified to drink, vote, marry, pay taxes, and receive a diploma. And yet, there is a hesitancy to champion its own cause by the very group which would be affected by the bill.

In spite of the fact that this group parades and demonstrates on college campuses, it is more freedom and not more responsibility (or freedom from responsibility) that it is seeking.

Thus, we find a paradox in which many adults recognizing the maturity of those who are old enough to attend college and fight in foreign wars, favor lowering the voting age, while the 18-to-21-year-olds, uncertain of their own abilities, are not solidly behind the bill.

The most interesting remark made on any of the CLARION ballots brought up an important point: Most 18-year-olds do not have enough information and experience to make an intelligent decision when voting—but then neither do the 20-year-olds, 30-year-olds, or 50-year-olds.

Alumni Appoints Director Eyerman

William Penn Eyerman of Lillington is the new director of alumni affairs of East Carolina College.

An alumnus himself, he succeeds Janice G. Hardison. Miss Hardison, after three years as alumni director, asked to return to a position on the college English faculty.

Eyerman, 24, joins the college staff after serving his fraternity, Phi Kappa Tau, as a national officer for two years.

He received a BS degree in English from East Carolina in 1964. As a student he was president of his freshman and sophomore classes, 1963 summer president of the Student Government Association, vice president of the SGA and president of the State Student Legislature.

He was a charter member of the East Carolina chapter of Phi Kappa Tau, received an award for outstanding service to the SGA and was elected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Eyerman is a 1960 graduate of Fayetteville Senior High School where he was president of his senior class. He attended Fayetteville Senior for three years while his father was an Army doctor stationed at Fort Bragg.

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Melvin F. Eyerman of Lillington. (Dr. Eyerman is health director of Harnett County.) He was born at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., while Dr. Eyerman was stationed there.

His wife is the former Judith Carolyn Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lawrence of Winterville.

Mrs. Eyerman also attended East Carolina and later completed a course in cytology at Rex Hospital in Raleigh. Presently she is employed as a cytologist at Pitt County Memorial Hospital in Greenville.

Make Or Break?

By Clem Williams

The 1966 edition of the East Carolina Pirates will take on the College of William and Mary. Many coaches believe this could be the game that will decide the Southern Conference championship. Coach Stasavich has been working his players very hard in order to get them ready for the long awaited season opener.

Coach Wilborn had the following words to say about the sophomores on this year's team.

ENDS

Miles Honeycutt: 5' 11", Wt. 225 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Vienna, who will be used mainly on defense. Miles shows a great deal of promise and could get a starting position."

Jeff Wayne: 6' 3", Wt. 160 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Charlotte, N. C., who could see action at a defensive safety."

Bob Withrow: 6' 3", Wt. 173 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Dayton, Ohio who could start at short side end. Bob shows a lot of promise and could turn out to be an outstanding pass receiver."

Johnny Johnson: 6' 3", Wt. 211 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Winston-Salem, N. C. who has a great deal of potential and could see a lot of action as an offensive end."

Jimmy Adkins: 6' 1", Wt. 183 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Kinston, N. C. who should see a lot of action as a reserve on both offense and defense. Jim was all-state as a freshman."

Jeff Dudley: 6' 2", Wt. 178 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Charlotte, N. C. who has a lot of work."

Ed Carleson: 6' 3", Wt. 194 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Charlotte, N. C. who has a lot of potential but needs a lot of work."

TACKLES

Worth Springs: 5' 10", Wt. 192 lbs.,

Class: Soph. "A native of Charlotte, N. C. who should see a lot of action on offense and as a reserve tackle on defense."

"Ham" Hamilton: 5' 11", Wt. 201 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Orlando, Fla. who showed a lot of promise in early season drills. Ham should see a lot of action on defense."

Bill Livermore: 5' 11", Wt. 202 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Alexandria, Va. who showed great promise in early season practice."

Ronald Vincent: 5' 10", Wt. 196 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Greenville, N. C. who shows promise of becoming a good football player. Ronald is blessed with tremendous speed and quickness."

GUARDS

Ben Grieb: 6' 0", Wt. 195 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Alexandria, Va. who should see action as a reserve."

Bob Reynolds: 6' 0", Wt. 190 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Ayden, N. C. who could see action as a reserve defensive end and offensive guard."

Randy Rose: 6' 0", Wt. 196 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Rocky Mount, N. C. who shows great potential but needs a lot of work."

Van Hester: 5' 10", Wt. 185 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Burlington, N. C. who could see action as a reserve center."

Wayne Lineberry: 6' 2", Wt. 217 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Wadesboro, N. C. who is slated to be a starter at middle-linebacker. Wayne was a member of last year's all-state freshman team."

BLOCKING BACKS

Charlie Overton (Big "O"): 5' 11", Wt. 185 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Edenton, N. C. who could see action as a rover-back on defense and blocking back on offense."

Bill Cothren: 5' 11", Wt. 191 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Statesville, N. C. who should see action as a rover-back on defense and blocking back on offense."

WINGBACKS

Feller Rhodes: 5' 11", Wt. 157 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Chesapeake, Va., who should see action at a defensive safety position."

Mike Ellis: 5' 9", Wt. 178 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Burlington, N. C. who could see action as a reserve defense back."

Mike Bridges: 5' 11", Wt. 175 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Hickory, N. C. who shows great potential. Mike has tremendous speed and it should be noted that he runs the 100 yard dash in 9.7 sec. Mike could see action as a defensive safety."

TAILBACKS

Dennis Coang: 5' 11", Wt. 130 lbs., Class: Soph. "A native of Winston-Salem, N. C. who should see action as a reserve tailback and as defensive halfback. Dennis has good speed and potential."

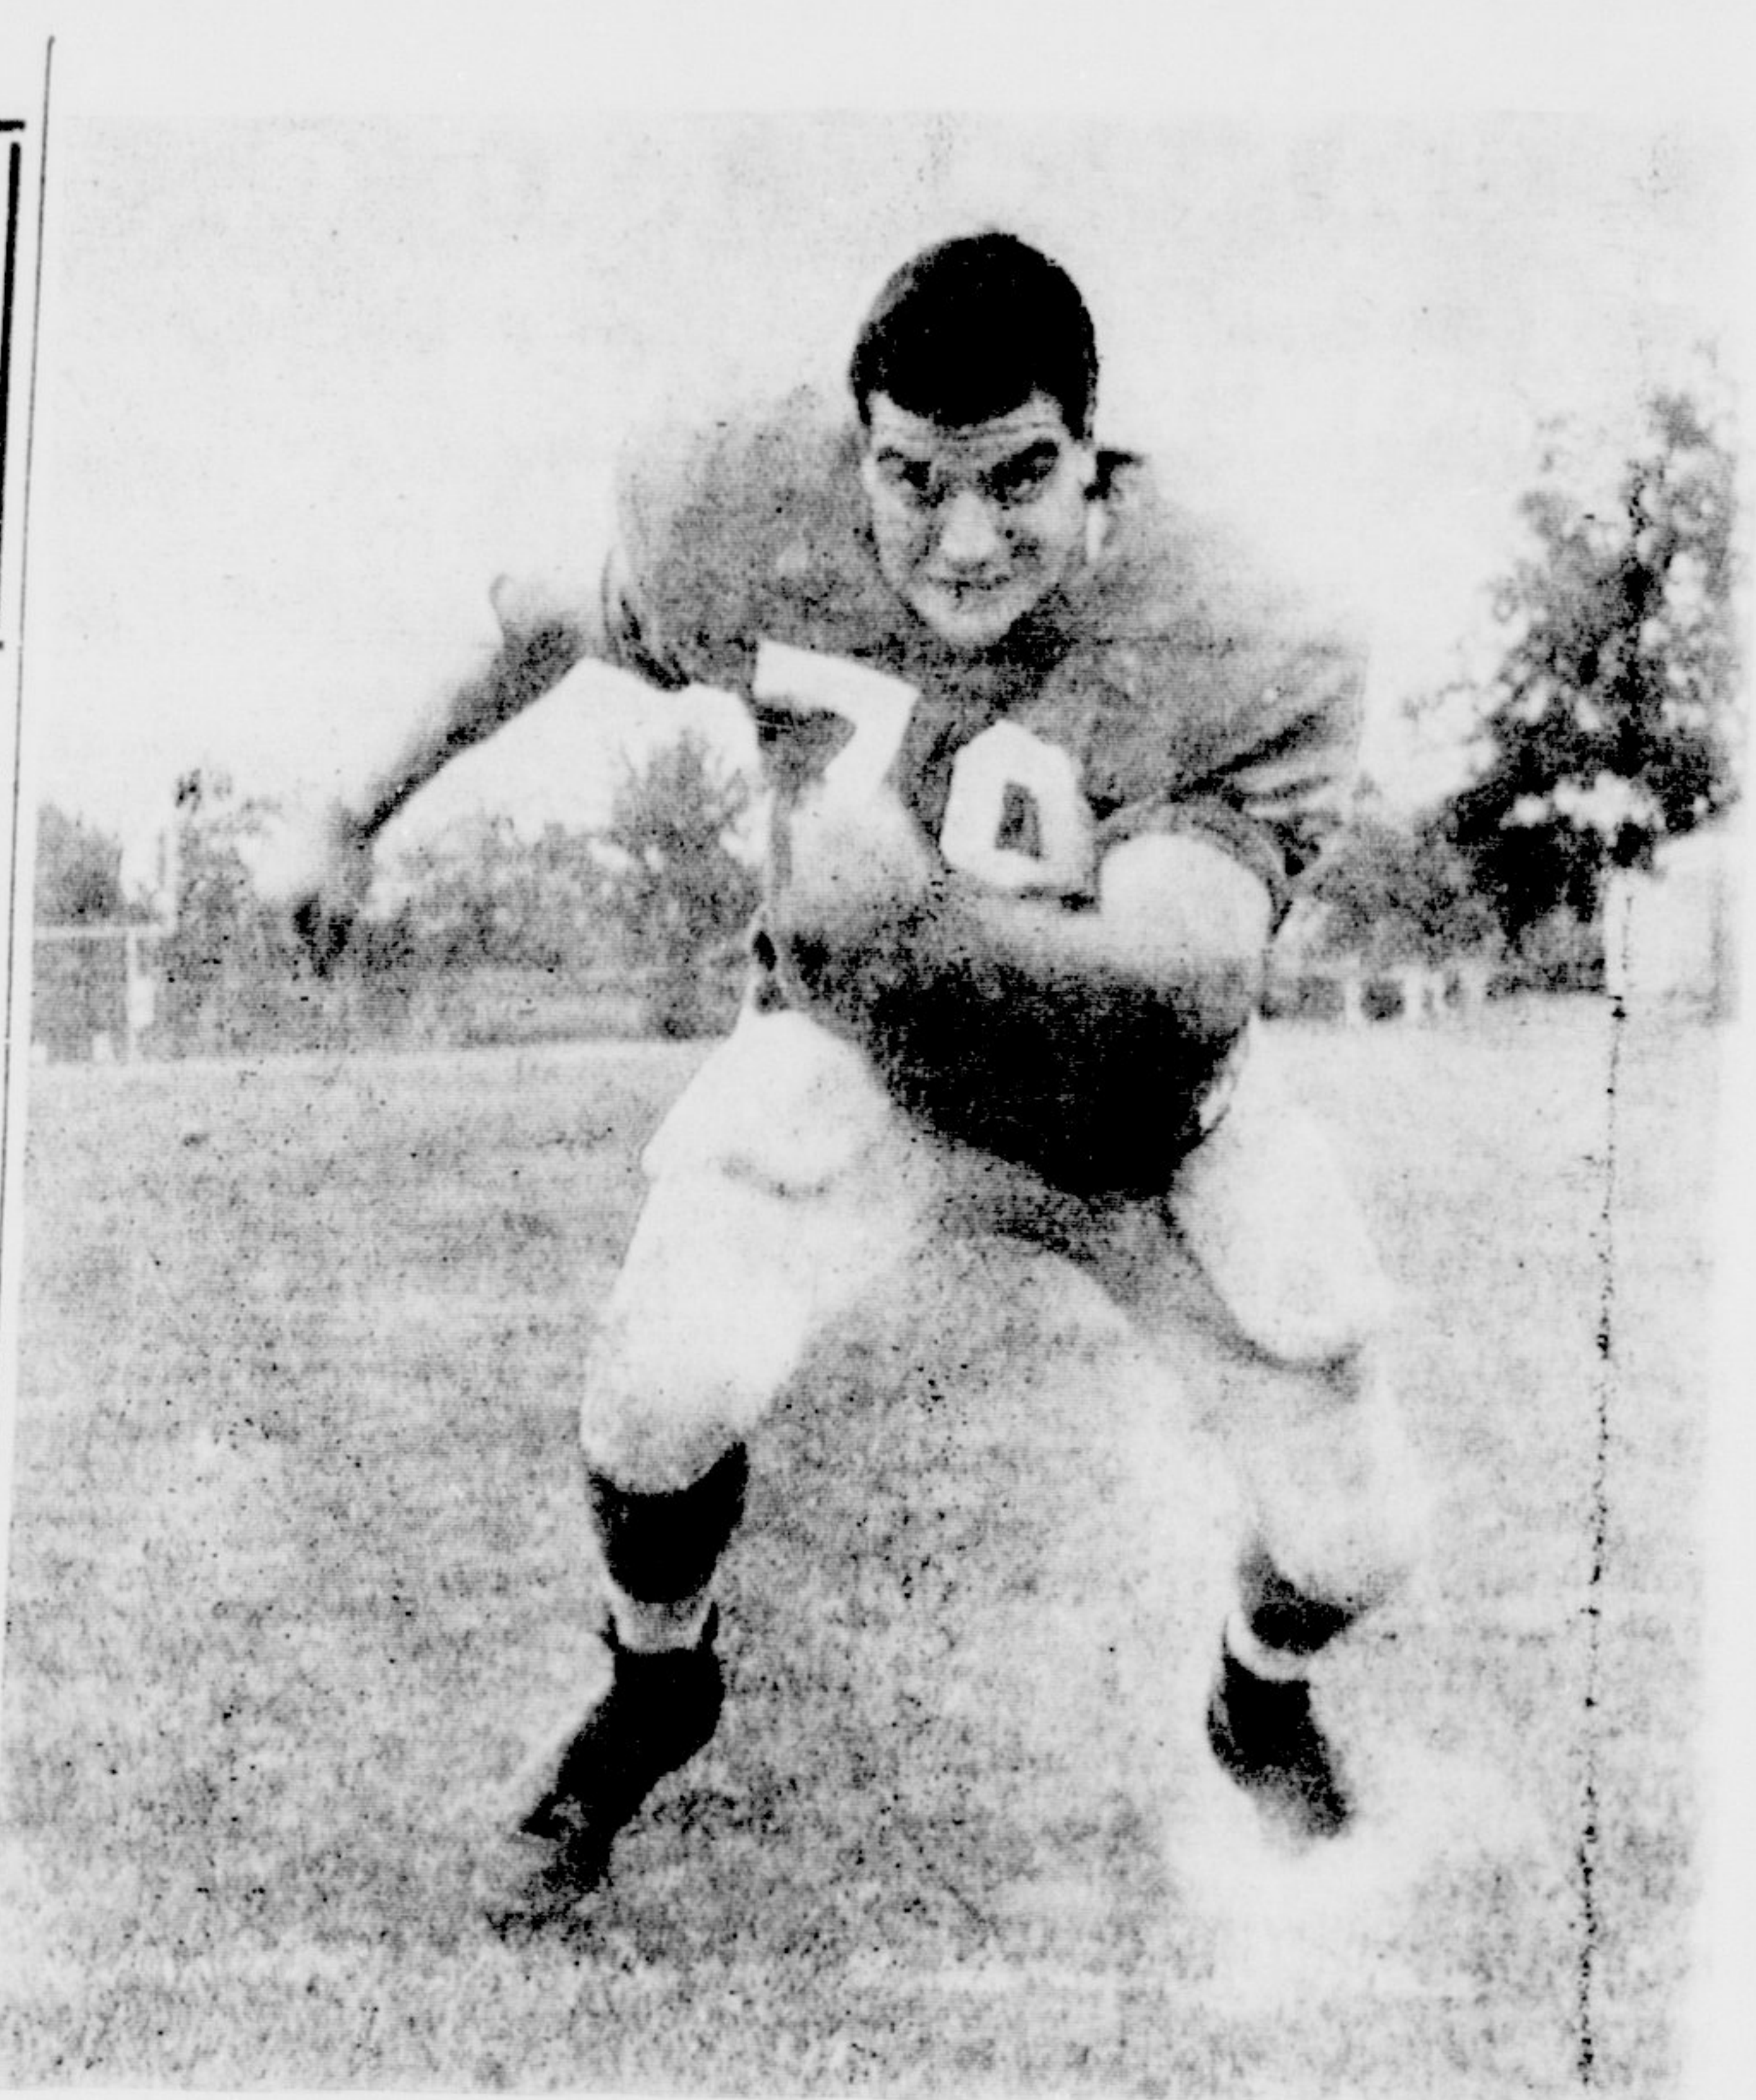

THE BIG QUESTION

The big question in East Carolina's offense will be the position of fullback. Three of the four fullbacks are sophomores. Jim Flowe, the largest of the fullbacks, shows great promise. He is 6' 0" and weighs 215 pounds.

George Gay, a 6' 0", 190 pound speedster, could be a great fullback. George has good moves and is a real hustler.

Skip Oliver, a 6' 2", 193 pounder, has good speed and could see action on offense and defense.

Saturday, East Carolina will make its debut into a major college schedule. With the team and coaching they have, it could mean the Southern Conference Championship.

Rowing Club

Brousseau Explains Plans

The East Carolina Rowing Club held its first meeting of the year on Monday, September 12. The purpose of the Fall meeting was to launch a rowing program early this year so that the crew could row all year long during Fall and Winter in preparation for races during Spring quarter.

Coach Andre' Brousseau explained the program to the squad of hopefuls which comprised many new members. The team will row on the Tar River here in Greenville. This will allow the students to see the races for the first time here at East Carolina. A complete schedule of this year's races will be published at a latter date.

Coach Brousseau stated that because of the many new members of the crew, the squad will start this fall with basic fundamentals. The first practice will take place in the workout room in the Gym beginning Monday, September 19 at 3:30 p.m. Coach Brousseau encourages all new members and any old members who could not make Monday's meeting to report to the workout room next Monday.

Some of the old members who turned out for Monday's meeting were Al Hearn and Dave Reynold, two veteran stroke oarsmen of last year. In addition last year'sarsity cox'un Paul Shannon and veteran cox'un Ivan Brown will again vie for the first boat tiller.

The only senior oarsman out is Fred Mitchell who held down the three seat in last year's varsity.

Other veterans back were Gary Wooten, Stuart Beatty and Dan Forbes.

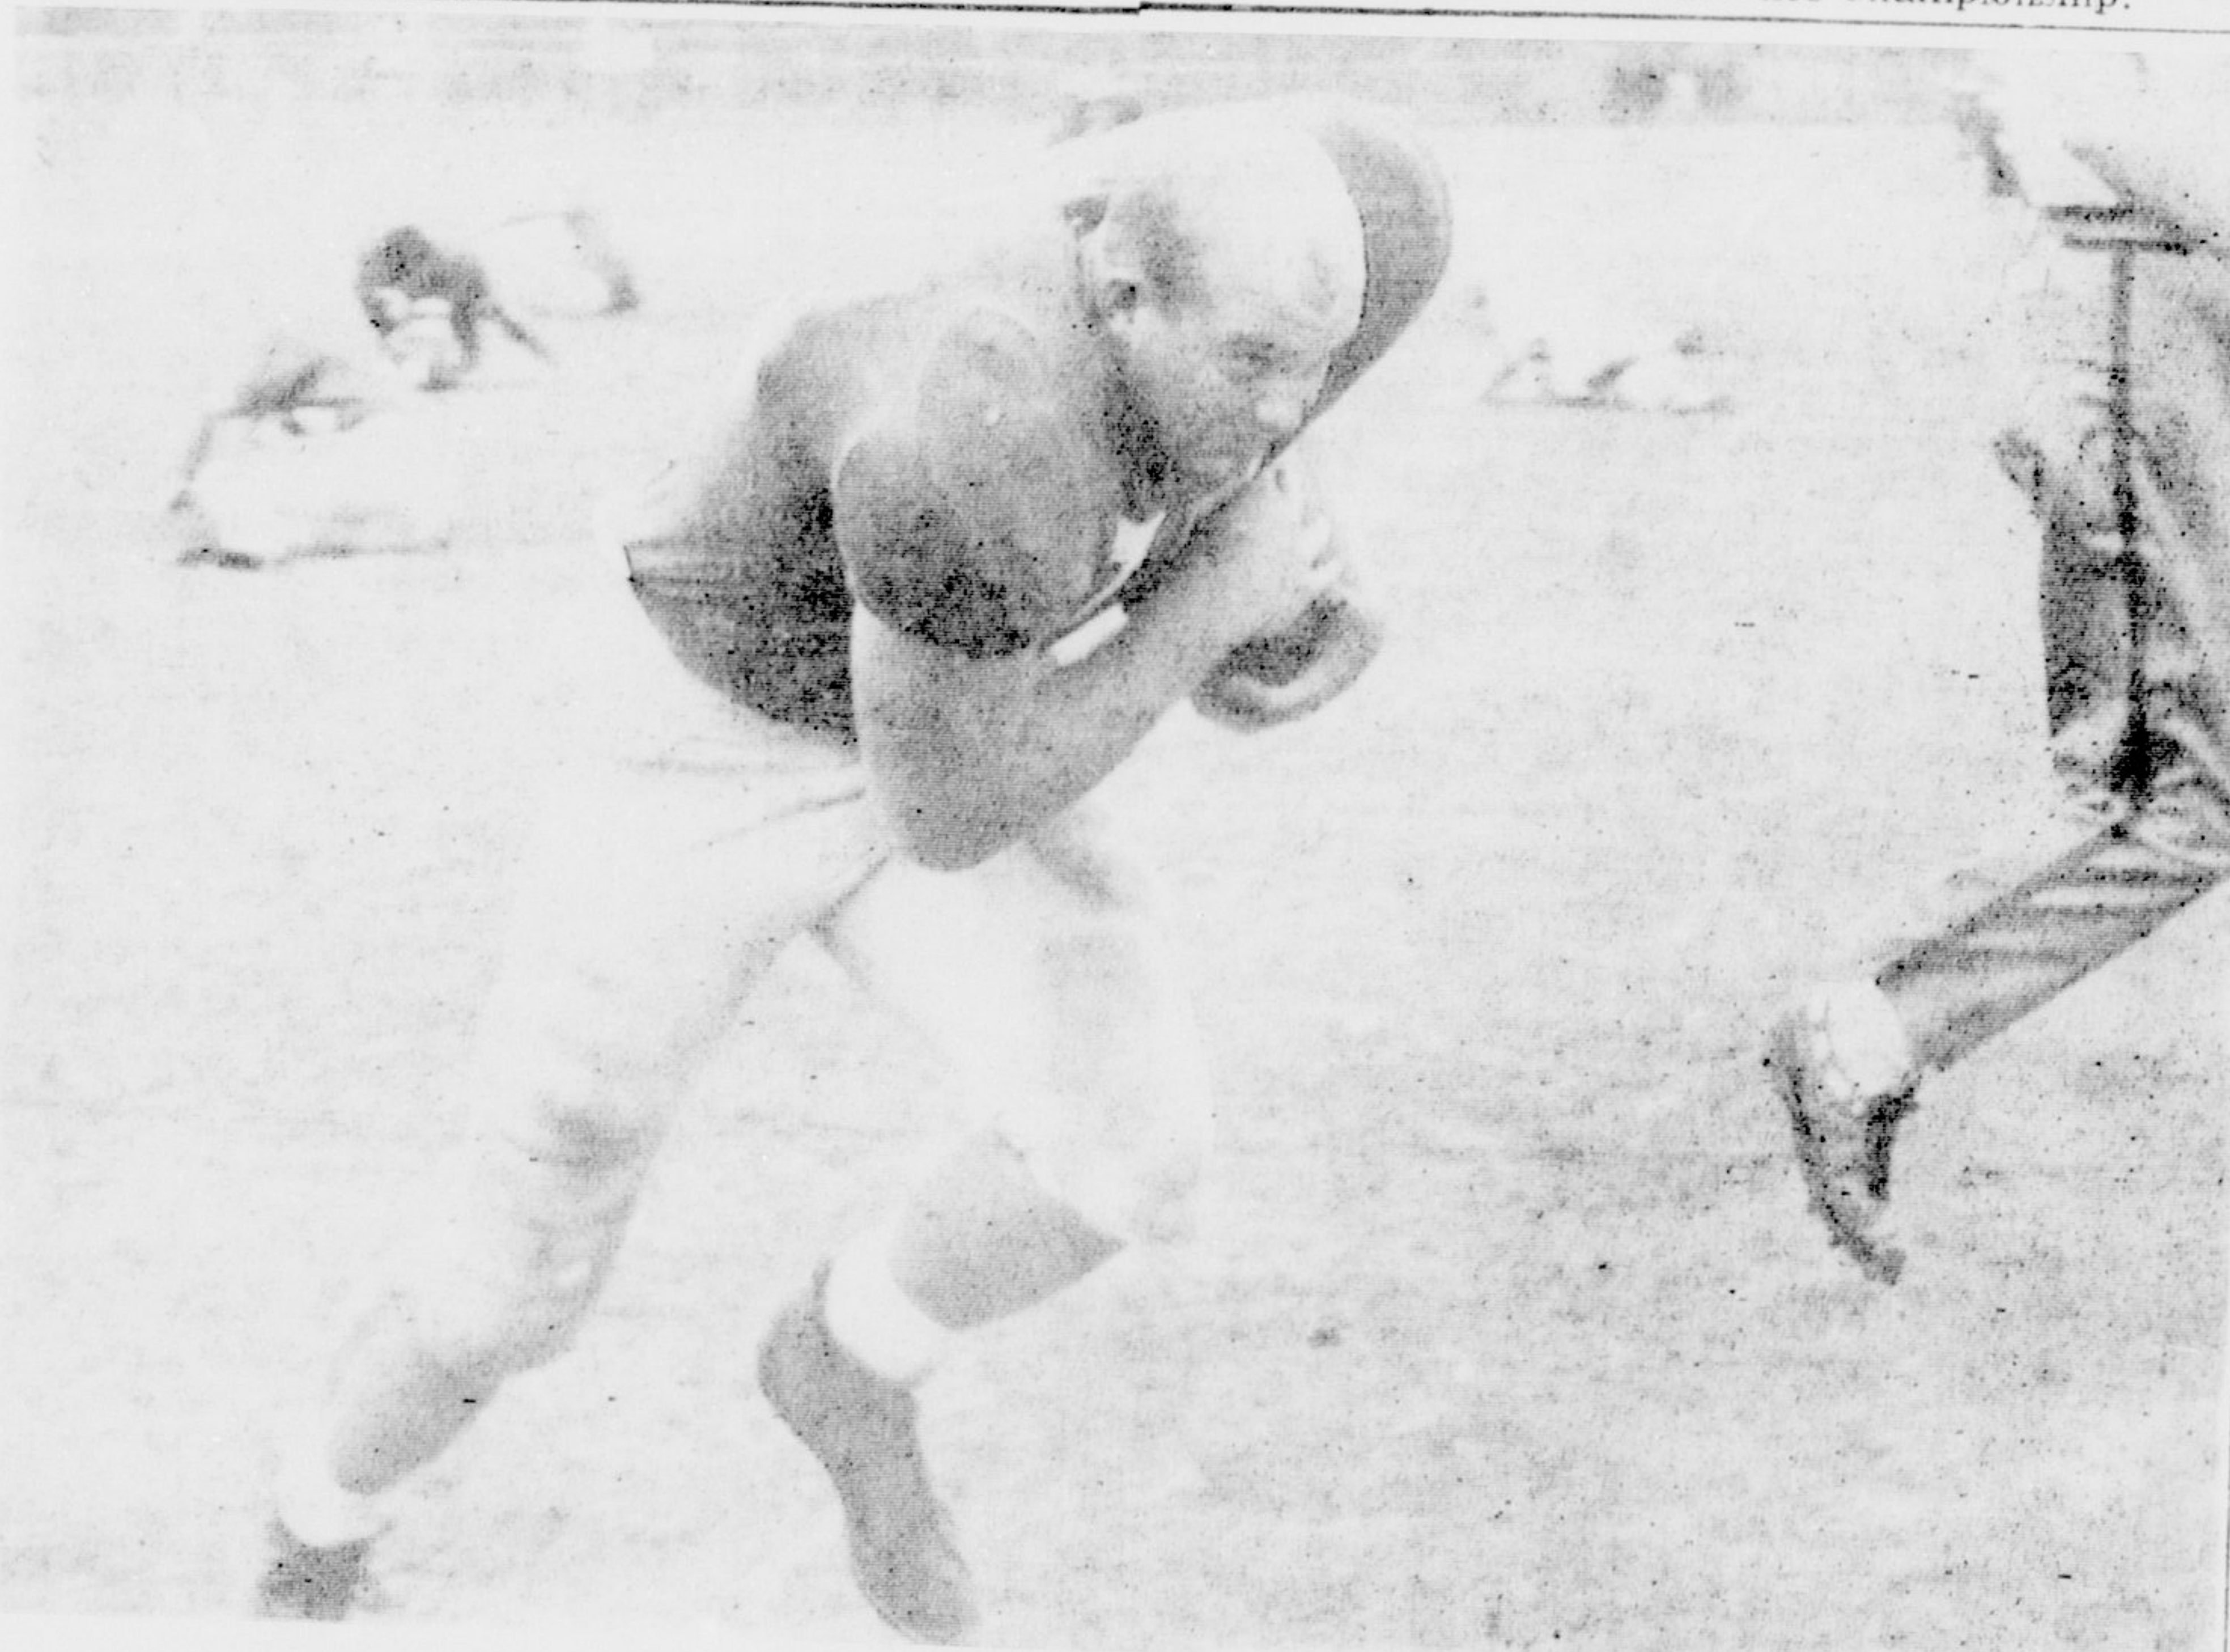

This year will see races in the Varsity, Junior - Varsity and Freshmen teams. In addition, if enough interest is shown and sufficient equipment can be attained, races will also be scheduled in light weight varsity, junior varsity and Freshmen category.

There are many places open this year without experienced oarsmen to fill them. And with the added incentive of Rowing here in Greenville for the first time, the team hopes to attract new members.

Anyone interested should contact Coach Brousseau in Old Austin I-D or call 752-5729. Men in the dorms should see Paul Shannon room 202, D Belk Dorm or Fred Mitchell, 115-A Belk Dorm.

ECC TENNIS

There will be a meeting for all persons interested in trying out for the ECC Varsity and Freshmen tennis team on Friday, Sept. 16, at 7:00 p.m. Room 101 in the Gym.

Playboy Picks Pirates

PLAYBOY has picked the East Carolina Pirates to win the Southern Conference title for this year.

The Grid experts in the Playboy Empire added that the University of Maine players have yet to recover from injuries sustained in the Tangerine Bowl when the Bears met the Battlin' Bucs of EC. (If your memory is a bit hazy from last December, the Orlando scoreboard showed a wap-sided 31-0 victory for the Pirates)

Alabama's Crimson Tide has been tabbed by PLAYBOY as the best bet to wind up the 1966 season as the nation's number one football team.

Writing in his annual "Pigskin Preview," published in the magazine's September issue, football prognosticator Anson Mount points out that Alabama gets the top preseason billing from sheer weight of material and talent. Mount says that the Tide's only major losses from last year are right down the middle of the offensive unit — quarterback, fullback and center — but the replacements will probably be nearly as good, and the returning players should be better than ever. Mount rates Nebraska, Syracuse and Arkansas in the same class with Alabama, figuring that each of these teams is good enough for a 9-1 record in 1966.

Mount tabs Alabama coach Bear Bryant as Coach of the Year.

The following teams, Mount predicts, will wind up the season in the "Top 20": Alabama, Nebraska, Syracuse, Arkansas, Notre Dame, Purdue, Michigan State, Mississippi, Illinois, Colorado, Georgia Tech, UCLA, Miami of Florida, North Carolina State, Tennessee, Texas Christian, Georgia, North Carolina, Southern California, and Utah State. Each of the following teams is given a chance of breaking into the top 20: Louisiana State, Texas, Washington State, Southern Methodist, Michigan, Ohio State, Boston College, Virginia Tech, Houston,

New Mexico State and Texas Western.

Playboy's offensive All-America Team includes: ends Ray Perkins of Alabama and Gen Washinton of Michigan State, tackles Wayne Moss of Clemson and Cecil Dowdy of Alabama, guard Tom Regner of Notre Dame and LaVerne Allers of Nebraska, center Bill Carr of Florida, quarterback Bob Griese of Purdue, halfbacks Nick Eddy of Notre Dame and Floyd Little of Syracuse, and fullback Ray McDonald of Idaho.

PLAYBOY'S All - America defensive unit includes: ends Sam Harris of Colorado and Bo Batchelder of Illinois, tackles George Patton of Georgia and Loyd Phillips of Arkansas, guards Diron Talbert of Texas and John Richardson of UCLA, linebackers George Webster of Michigan State and Jim Lynch of Notre Dame, defensive backs Frank Horak of Texas Christian and Neal Starkey of Air Force, and safety Lynn Hughes of Georgia.
