Homespun Politician:

Senator Gore Speaks Tuesday

United States Senator Albert Gore from Tennessee will speak on Tuesday, September 27, in Old Austin Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. He has earned a reputation among his Senate colleagues as an international statesman, homespun politician, brilliant lawmaker, and expert on domestic and foreign affairs.

Elected to the United States Senate in 1952, after serving fourteen years in the House of Representatives, Senator Gore quickly became an authority in the fields of foreign relations, international economics, national affairs, and nuclear policies. He is an active member of the powerful Foreign Relations Committee, Finance Committee, and Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

In line with his various Senate duties, Senator Gore has served as President of the United States Group of the Interparliamentary Union; has worked for the development of reactors for converting nuclear energy to peaceful uses; and has served as the Senate advisor to the United States delegation to the Geneva Conference on the Cessation of Nuclear Weapons Testing.

Appointed by the late President Kennedy to the United States U. N. Delegation, Senator Gore faced the issues of the Cuban missile crisis, the defeat of the Troika proposal, the financing of the United Nations activities, and the debate on the peaceful uses of outer space.

Senator Gore served as Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee's Sub-Committee on African affairs. He toured fifteen African countries, studying first-hand the problems of the emerging nations of Africa.

On the national scene, he is the author of the Gore Medicare Bill (1964), which was the first Medicare bill to pass either house of Congress. He is the author of several tax reform amendments, international trade bills, monetary and economic measures, and has advocated anti-poverty legislation and other progressive programs for social improvement. Senator Gore co-authored the historic Interstate Highway Act and served as Chairman of the Public Roads Committee. In addition, he has been involved in the areas of social security, balance of payment provisions, and defense and security measures.

Born on a farm in Tennessee, Senator Gore is a self-made man, having worked his way through Middle Tennessee State College, the University of Tennessee, and YMCA Night Law School, earning both his

B.S. and LL.B. degrees. He was elected to his first political office at the age of 24 — Superintendent of Schools in Smith County, Tennessee. Just before his election to the House of Representatives, he was the Tennessee Commissioner of Labor.

SGA Grants Appropriation

By DOYLE PERDUE
SGA Staff Writer

The approval of budgets was the main order of business at the Student Legislature meeting Monday night, Sept. 19, in Rawl Building.

After the meeting was called to order, the chair asked for old business. Several temporary appointments were made to fill vacancies until the new Legislature takes office. Several committee reports to be heard were deferred until the new Legislature meets.

Then the question of budgets came before the chair. It was announced that the Student Government Association has a total income of $202,000; however, the budget of the SGA totals $222,000. This leaves a deficit of $20,000 for Steve Moore's Budget Committee to eradicate.

Budgets presented to the Legislature for approval or disapproval were The Key, The Rebel, The East Carolinian, the Student Government Executive body, and the EC Playhouse. The budgets approved were The Key, $2,930; The Rebel, $1,951.94; The East Carolinian, $32,775; the SGA Executive, $12,340.93.

The budget of the EC Playhouse caused some sharp debate in the meeting. Because there has been some disagreement between the Budget Committee of the SGA and the Playhouse representative who appeared before the Committee, the Legislature appeared eager to question the proposed budget.

Because of the failure of the musical, "Stop the World" produced this summer by the Playhouse, the SGA wants some say in the presentations of the Playhouse. Naturally, the Playhouse is opposed to any control by the Legislature. However, the only source of income for the Playhouse is the SGA. Also, the funds requested for cast parties, were suggested, including the proposition that cast members use their own funds for the post-performance parties. Finally, the measure was tabled until next week when a representative of the Playhouse will appear before the Legislature.

The controversial "separation of powers" amendment was brought before the Legislature. The measure was quickly ruled out of order by Speaker Bill Deal.

Earle Beasley proposed that this amendment be added to the Election Constitution instead of the Constitution of the SGA.

Speaker Deal said, however, that no Election Constitution was in existence.

In reply, Mr. Beasley told the Legislature that an Elections Constitution was on file in the SGA office.

After Mr. Beasley was ruled out of order, the "separation of powers" amendment was again presented. This time, the controversial measure was tabled until the next legislature assembly by Speaker Deal.

The assembly was adjourned with the announcement of meetings by the opposing campus political parties.

MRC Approves Budget

By DAN SAIEED, JR.

Approval of the budget was the main order of business of the Men's Residence Council (M.R.C.) held in Aycock Basement, September 18 at 7:00 p.m.

Bill Moore, (M.R.C. President), turned the chair over to the treasurer who presented the budget. The total budget for the year is $5,606.41. Some of the allocation presented for this quarter in the budget are for Homecoming $208; Golf Tickets for the Exhibition at Brook Valley $100.00; Executive pay Scale, President $150.00, Vice - President $75.00; Treasurer $100.00; Court Chairman $75.00 and Recording Secretary and Corresponding Secretary $75.00. After the rest of the budget was presented this budget was approved by the body.

Moore then presented some items for the coming year. He suggested to the M.R.C. that a series called "Meet the Fellows" be inaugurated. This series will present informative speakers to lecture on campus. This was voted and approved by the body.

It was also announced that Martha Hardee, a sophomore, will be the homecoming representative for the M.R.C. Other motions approved at the meeting were $200.00 for the homecoming float, $100.00 for a portrait of Norman Swindell for the Memorial Room and $150 for the charter of a bus to Washington, D.C. for the East Carolina vs. George Washington football game.

About That New Dorm...

By JOANNA SANDIFER

In reply to the many complaints about the construction and lack of facilities in the New Women's Dorm, the following information will answer many questions.

The state law required that not more than $1,100,000 be spent on New Women's Dorm. The bids were considerably more than this amount.

The building committee was also required to have a reserve fund of 4 percent of the building's cost until near completion. This fund was to take care of unforeseen obstacles. Thus the second elevator had to be left out. F. D. Duncan, East Carolina College Business Manager, has been advised that the second elevator will be installed in two weeks.

Carolina Telegraph and Telephone Company was given orders to install a telephone on each floor. They installed the telephones on the first through the eighth floors. They have promised to install phones on the last two floors this week.

'The Emerging East' Floods Thoughts Of Homecoming

With homecoming weekend less than three weeks away, East Carolina College is rapidly laying plans for the 1966 version of its annual traditional celebration.

Members of the administration, faculty, Student Government Association, and the Alumni Association are working together to carry out this year's theme of "The Emerging East" in the various homecoming activities.

The three-day event will begin Friday, Oct. 7, with a concert in Memorial Gymnasium at 8 p.m. featuring the Four Seasons. The College Union will sponsor a dance in Wright Building at 9 p.m. the same night.

Saturday's activities are highlighted by the homecoming football game at 2 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium when the East Carolina Pirates face Southern Conference opponent Davidson College.

Before the game alumni and guests can view the traditional homecoming parade through downtown Greenville. Beginning at 10 a.m. the parade will feature the contestants for homecoming queen, visiting dignitaries, several bands, and various floats depicting The Emerging East.

Following the game, open house programs are planned by many fraternities, sororities and other organizations. At 4:30 p.m. the College Union will hold open house in the New Extension of Wright Building, and the School of Business will hold a reception in Room 106 of Rawl Building.

The Four Seasons will again be presented in concert Saturday evening in Memorial Gymnasium. At the same time the traditional homecoming dance will be held in Wright Auditorium with music furnished by the Russ Carlyle Orchestra.

Returning alumni will be welcomed in Greenville churches on Sunday morning, and during the week-end the various campus religious organizations will conduct special homecoming activities.

Dr. James Tucker, dean of student affairs, is the administration chairman of the EC homecoming committee. Student chairman is SGA Special Events Chairman Carleen Hjortsvang of Greenville. William P. Eyceman, director of Alumni Affairs, is handling homecoming arrangements for the Alumni Association.

Largest Enrollment Ever: 9,023 Students Fill Campus

East Carolina College announced today an enrollment of 9,023 students on campus for the fall quarter.

The figures show an increase of about 14 per cent over last fall when the total was just under 7,900.

Another record freshman class accounts for a sizable share of the enrollment. In all there are 3,516 freshmen. Last year's freshman class of 3,454 was the largest first year class in North Carolina college history.

Final enrollment figures were tabulated on the college's automatic data processing equipment for the fifth year. Spokesmen said the system worked better this year than ever before.

The total barely exceeded maximum expectations. President Leo W. Jenkins announced last May 15 that East Carolina would be forced to freeze enrollment to avoid overcrowding.

A breakdown of this fall's student numbers (with last year's figures in parentheses):

Freshmen, 3,516 (2,454); Sophomores, 2,185 (1,516); Juniors, 1,293 (1,181); Seniors, 1,115 (999); Graduates, 709 (565).

Again this year, as in recent years, men students outnumber women by a slight edge, 4,583 to 4,440.

The overall total includes from all four undergraduate classes 3,092 newcomers to East Carolina and 5,022 returning students. It also includes 189 students in the Undergraduate Evening College, freshman night school operated on campus by the Extension Division.

In addition to on-campus enrollment the college will record through its Extension Division this year some 11,000 additional registrations. The division operates two-year resident centers at Camp Lejeune, Cherry Point and Goldsboro, a freshman center at Manteo and various extension courses in some 40 Eastern North Carolina communities.

Democrat Club Plan Rally

East Carolina College will see the formal opening of the Democratic campaign on the campus on Monday, September 26 at 8:00 p.m. at Old Austin Auditorium.

The Young Democratic Club of East Carolina College has announced that there will be a Walter B. Jones Rally on that date. The rally will be an attempt to recapture a true political convention. Posters, bands, and speeches will be evident in the meeting. The speakers will be: Mr. Henry Harrell, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Party; Representative W. A. Forbes and Mr. Horton Roundtree, both candidates for the North Carolina House of Representatives; and Representative Walter B. Jones, representative of the First Congressional District of North Carolina to the United States House of Representatives.

Students and faculty members are cordially invited to attend. Jim Kinsey, co-ordinator of the Walter B. Jones Rally stated, "We are looking forward to the rally with great enthusiasm. This will be the first rally on campus for the Democratic candidates who have helped East Carolina College so much in the past. We hope to create a spirit of enthusiasm on campus that will help send our Democratic candidates back to the capitol."

A 'University' Student Body? . . .

With Parents Day and our first home football game falling at the same time this year, perhaps we should take a moment to think of the image we should project to visitors on our campus this weekend.

Already a number of state legislators have indicated that they will be on hand for the Pirates' first showing on the home field.

Conduct which is unbecoming to the student body should be guarded with care . . . if the students have the makings for a university, then this is a chance for them to display the fact.

Many visitors will be here who are prejudiced against our desire for University status. Any event, no matter how innocent, might well be taken to extremes if there are visitors here who are looking for an issue to use against us.

Alcoholic beverages should not be a part of game entertainment. Without it there is far less chance that we'll make the front pages of the Raleigh papers.

Often we are given credit for things which are "slightly" distorted in fact. And that's an even better reason to prevent a situation involving conduct and behavior that could blow out of proportion and be used against us later.

Actually all students are hosts for Parents' Day. It is important that we make weekend guests and visitors as comfortable as possible. Leaving a good impression for them to take back home with them won't do anything to hurt us. A bad impression might.

What we do this weekend can easily determine whether or not we are to be called a mere "party school" or a college that has a "university" student body.

Give Us Substantial Issues! . . .

An air of confusion appears to lie within the ranks of student politicians seeking office in next Thursday's SGA elections.

Perhaps we should stop and recall the purpose of an election of this type. Isn't it for the benefit of all students . . . their chance to decide who will be their student leaders.

Certainly in this election there is the inevitable conflict which naturally exists in a two party system. However, it seems that both the Student Party and the new University Party may have trouble deciding on what the basic issues in their campaigns will be.

We might well question any issue involving proposed party conflicts and the use of "mudslinging" at individual personalities to camouflage party goals. Already rumors are drifting in that do not sound as though they will in any way benefit the workings of our Student Government Association.

Things like continued faculty evaluation, what the SGA can do to further our chances for university status, and issues that would benefit the whole college give us substantial issues should be the basic aims for anyone running in this election.

If a two party system is going to exist, then it should constantly keep in mind what is best for the majority of the students and not what is best for individual candidates and party reputations.

Last year's SGA set a strong example as to what this year's legislature might do well to follow. No one can say that students have not benefited from such things as student polls, reapportionment, a better lecture and entertainment series or the extension of women's hours, which seemed and unlikely reality at the beginning of last year.

Whatever the results of this election, the SGA should keep in mind the work already begun on faculty evaluation and reorganization of the Women's Judiciary. Don't let the good that was done last year die between party lines and issues.

We wonder if it is not possible for both the University and the Student Party to offer real issues vital in the life of the student body and its growth.

Party rivalry is fine and produces interest and challenges to all concerned.

We just hope that both camps will search for substantial issues rather than running on rumors and propaganda that could be the death of a two party system in the future.

If East Carolina is finally ready for a two party system and the basis for a democratic form of government, then let both party leaders and members give students issues that show thought and maturity on their part.

Give the students something they can vote for and not a lot of gossip or unexplained rumors. Over 9,000 people will be affected — election issues need to be concrete and worth voting for.

The Russians Are Coming!

By Mike Conley

THE RUSSIANS ARE COMING is an excellent comedy as most of you who have seen the movie will agree. But when the laughter stops, a thoughtful message weaves its way into the viewers' mind. Far from being things to fear and hate, the Russians emerge as human beings remarkable similar to those which inhabit North America. The myth of the fire-breathing Red is destroyed in good fun and for this the movie deserves the acclaim it has received.

For those of you who unfortunately have missed this picture so far, I will review it quickly. A Russian submarine runs aground upon a summer resort island off the coast of New England. The rest of the picture concerns the contacts between the submarine crew and a group of New England villagers.

Although they landed by accident, the Russians fear that they will be thrown in prison if they are captured. Most of the Americans also exhibit fear, believing that if Russian sailors are in America then they must be invaders.

Whipping up action against the Russians is the movie stereotype of the super-patriot, in this case a sword waving American Legionnaire. As often happens, those who follow this type of leader wind up feeling very foolish.

One important point illustrated by the movie is that mutual fear paralyzed both groups preventing their getting together. The distrust shown on a small scale in the movie is too often demonstrated on a large scale in the real world of East-West relations.

It is to be hoped that this movie will be seen by the Russian people as well as by the American people. For it might be a weapon in breaking down remaining barriers of fear and hatred. In our shrinking world we can no longer afford to retain the mistrust build up in the past. We must recognize that all human beings can get along together.

'Hey Diddle Diddle'

By John Stone

The S.G.A. books are now in the process of being audited. We understand that a couple of S.G.A. treasurers have their bags packed just in case they have to make a fast exit. It has happened before.

All kidding aside, a big "thank you" should go to Mrs. Henderson of the Student Fund Accounting Office for a marvelous job of putting up with everyone this year.

Well, I told you last week about the new party. Now it is a reality. We wish the best of luck to Mr. Deal and all of his followers.

This two party system should produce competition for all positions which will insure the most qualified person in the job. It will be interesting now to see just how the lines are drawn and for what each party will work.

The U N is getting underway again this year. We have been told that the Secretary - General has appointed a Republican as Under-Secretary.

Either the Republicans have changed or the capable Secretary - General doesn't know what he is doing. It appears that this U N will be just about as effective as the real thing.

Hey diddle diddle, the cat and the fiddle: the cow jumped over the moon. The little dog laughed to see such a sport, and the Presbyterians have "The Itch".

Attention: It has been noted that the Dean of Student Affairs viewed three men and two women students in the process of mixing Screwdrivers on the main street at Williamsburg this week-end. The three men were wearing yellow shirts and the women wool suits.

There is about one-half gallon left. To claim it, just report to the Administration Building.

Would you believe: The Administration passing a rule allowing drinking at the football games this year.

Quote of the Week: (outside the room where BUCCANEER photos are being taken) "Smile, it only hurts once."

US National Student Association Meets For 19th Annual Congress

The Collegiate Press Service

CHAMPAIGN-URBANA, Ill. (CPS)

The 19th annual congress of the U.S. National Student Association, a two-week "talk-in" of seminars, committees and splinter caucuses, adjourned September 1 after calling for an end to the draft and the "termination of offensive military operations" by the United States in Viet Nam.

The 650 representatives to the Crampaign-Urbana, Illinois, meeting also:

— called for the legalization of marijuana and for further research into the effects of LSD;

— asserted that the role of the white student in the civil rights movement is to work with the primary source of discrimination, the white community;

— condemned the Civil Rights bill of 1966 as wholly inadequate to meet the needs of minority groups.

Opposing "in principle" any system of forced service to the government, the students called for the gradual abolition of the draft, but conceded that Congress has the right to conscript "in times of a national emergency."

The final resolution was condemned as a "Sear-Roebuck catalog" on the draft by radical leader Dave Harris, Stanford student body president.

The bill was essentially the version that emerged from the Liberal Caucus following a stormy debate in which Harris, favoring immediate abolition, led a number of delegates out of the meeting to form their own "Radical Community."

The congress recommended that alternative service in the Peace Corps, in teaching or in social service work be made available to draftees and urged immediate reform through the abolition of the "undemocratic" 2S student deferments. The NSA national office was further mandated to organize and support legal resistance to the present Selective Service System.

Condemning the Viet Nam war as part of "a series of miscalculations and miscalculations," the congress approved 181-83 the results of an all-night committee debate. The resolution urged the following action by the United States:

— an immediate cessation of bombing and the "termination of offensive military operations";

— recognition by the U.S. that the National Liberation Front must be included in any negotiations and American pressure on the Saigon government to recognize the same;

— disassociation with Saigon if it "continues to regard peace efforts by its citizens as treasonable;"

— establishment of an interim coalition government, including representatives of the NLF, with free elections to be held as soon as possible;

— a U. S. pledge of assistance to the interim coalition for economic and social reconstruction.

The NSA International Affairs Vice President was ordered to urge universities to refrain from entering into defense contracts which aid the war effort and to organize a public dialogue, regional programs and community education projects on the war.

Initially calling for a blanket repeal of the legal restrictions on LSD subject only to such regulations as are now put on alcohol, a Drugs on Campus bill emerged from the plenary session recommending that the Food and Drug Administration sponsor the establishment of an independent professional organization which would give competent researchers authority over screening, dosage control and supervision of subjects undergoing the LSD experience.

The marijuana provision, calling for reconsideration and revision of federal legislation as well as repeal of all state laws which prohibit its possession and use, passed easily.

Association officers were ordered to seek funding for a Drug Studies Desk in the national office to survey student usage and its effects on their academic and personal well-being.

After spending two hours watering down a bill on the student in the civil rights movement, the congress turned around and passed it in its original form.

Objecting to what he termed an insufficiency of debate, Howard Abrams of the University of Chicago secured reconsideration from a very tired session.

The resolution declared "that because the primary source of discrimination in this country lies in the white community, white students should direct their efforts to working within that community to reform the attitudes and institutions which perpetuate discrimination."

In a topsy-turvy debate, which saw Southern whites arguing for "black power" and moderate Negroes holding against, a strong positive stand was included in the resolution on the development of "political and economic independence and power in minority groups."

Following the 12th International Student Conference in Nairobi, Kenya, the previous week, NSA censured its International Affairs Vice President Charles Goldmark for his affirmative vote in the ISC on a strongly pro-Arab resolution on the Arab-Israeli conflict. The Nairobi resolution was termed "in substantial conflict" with NSA's neutralist position on Middle East problems.

National officer elections were almost anti-climatic following the withdrawal of a circus of "unofficial" candidates and challenges, leaving the presidency the only contested race.

ALPHA OMICRON PI
An East Carolina College sorority found that selling doughnuts is an easy way to make money. Thirty sisters of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority invaded the campus and the entire town Thursday with delicious doughnuts. They even hit nearby Winterville and Ayden.

The sisters of Alpha Omicron Pi decided that some improvements were in store for their house at 805 Johnston St. and then agreed that making the money would mean much more than just paying a set fee.

Five hundred dozen doughnuts were ordered from Raleigh and the girls set to work. They then sold all in one day.

It was a big job but the girls agreed that doughnuts were a good choice because they must be sold immediately or money is lost.

The girls made a profit of $125 for their day's work.

Jean Fritz of Goldsboro is president of the Alpha Omicron Pi chapter and supervised the project.

THETA CHI
Epsilon Iota Chapter of Theta Chi will have an Open House Saturday, Sept. 24, from 2-4 p.m. At this time all rushees are invited to attend.

The flash of polished chrome spokes, bright flutter of three American flags, and warm smile of a delightful lady has sparked a revival of transportation here at East Carolina more sacred than the Mercedes Benz or the classic Duesenberg. Cycling, once one of America's greatest recreational pastimes, is experiencing a popular rebirth among faculty and student body members alike.

The unofficial leader of this growing campus revolution is Dr. Rachel Kilpatrick, a full time member of the English Department. In a recent interview, Dr. Kilpatrick displayed her bright red Three-Wheeler (christened "Pegasus" after the mythological winged horse) and made several comments about cycling in general.

The Three-Wheeler, not to be confused with tricycles, was designed mainly to provide a form of exercise for persons living in retirement homes. However, its design, which includes large rear tires (whitewalls cost a little more), a three speed gear system, and hand brakes gives it greater advantages over tricycles, and in some cases bicycles, making it much safer and easier to ride.

Dr. Kilpatrick, who rides her three-wheeler to and from home and across campus as long as weather permits, cited several more points in favor of pedaling. These included the availability of parking space (perhaps an increase in the sale of combination locks . . . eh merchants?), financial benefits: not a nickel for petrol, insurance, or licensing, and a personal desire to ride the "contraption" which was not safe to ride when she was a little girl in a large city.

Local traffic has never been a problem. When she pedals along any of Greenville's streets traffic usually stops altogether. In fact several cars have made the extra loop around the parking lot to get that second look.

Dr. Kilpatrick said she wished more students would take an interest in cycling if only to save time in making the long passage to classes. It might be noted that cycling has begun a rebirth at many colleges and universities and is now considered vogue at many of the "sister" and "brother" institutions.

When asked about the number of bicycles already on campus, Dr. Kilpatrick stated that "there are a surprisingly large number among the faculty" and a great many more available to the students. Another professor on campus has already ordered a Three-Wheeler similar to hers and indications are that other professors may take up the sport. Even now there are rumors of forming a cycling club.

Due to several recent cases of student over eagerness to ride the "Pegasus" without permission, Dr. Kilpatrick has had to keep it locked in her office when she is not riding it. The College Union tandem rates are up (ten cents an hour) and all signs seem to point to a Grand Prix in the making.

Suspended Fraternity Men Return Under Watchful Eye

Things are getting back to normal for two East Carolina fraternities a good bit earlier than the fraternity men had expected when they were suspended last March.

Chapters of Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Nu have resumed normal campus operations, under strict controls of alumni advisers and officers of the college administration, because they "have shown good faith in completely reorganizing themselves."

Dean of Men, James B. Mallory, says both fraternities have worked hard at "weeding out the undesirable, the troublemakers" from their membership lists.

"We think," he says, "these men are ready to take their place in the fraternity group in such a way that they will make a real contribution to the life of the campus."

He said ECC President Leo W. Jenkins allowed the chapters to resume operations "on my recommendation." He continued: "I feel confident that both chapters will demonstrate clearly that our faith in them is justified."

With some 39 members now, the PiKAs have reopened their house at the corner of Fifth and Holly Streets. On the other hand, the Sigma Nu's have placed their house at 411 W. Fifth up for sale and are looking for another place.

Mallory said the chapter's officers, alumni advisers and housing corporation, in conjunction with the dean of men's office, are looking for a house for the Sigma Nu chapter.

Under the reorganization, leaders of the PiKAs are Bill Steed of Robbins, president; Skip Wright of Greenville, vice president; Gib Blackman of Fremont, treasurer; Gerry Gregg of Chevy Chase, Md., secretary and Gave Gerow of Burlington, pledge master. Among their alumni advisers are Bob Taft and J. M. (Spunky) Teachey of Greenville.

Student officers of the new Sigma Nu organization are Pete Hondros of Winston-Salem, president; Steve Swain of Winston-Salem, vice president; John Connelly of Richmond, Va., secretary; and Eddie Cockman of Rockingham, treasurer. Alumni advisers include Jack Wall, Wayne Holloman and Bill Cozart of Greenville. Area alumni on the housing corporation are L. S. Ficklen and J. T. Little.

The two chapters were suspended last spring because of what officials said was "conduct unbecoming to gentlemen. They were told the suspension would remain in effect until September 1967.

But, according to Dean Mallory, the students in the chapters, their alumni advisers and the national organizations of the two fraternities made concerted efforts which brought favorable results much sooner than had been expected.

"We are very well-pleased," says Mallory, "at the way these chapters have reorganized in recent months. We feel confident that out of this adversity we have experienced will come stronger and better chapters of Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Nu at East Carolina College."

Both chapters are controlled by alumni boards, appointed with approval by the national fraternity offices and the administration of the college. The advisory boards are charged with the responsibility of establishing policy for the chapters and for directing all rebuilding operations.

Improve Study Habits; Classes Aid Students

On this campus, at this very moment, there are literally hundreds of students who are apprehensive of their grades which will be coming out November 23. Some will remark, "Why this is only the second week of school, why worry?" The majority of students on campus, have a clean academic slate. Transfer students have a C average, freshmen have the equivalent of an A average, and Juniors and Seniors have a C average. It is a known fact that it is easier to work from a C average upward than to get into a hole of deficient quality points and then begin working toward a sound average.

Dr. George Weigand, head of Counseling and Guidance has announced that classes for improved study habits will begin tomorrow, Wednesday, September 21, at 1:00 p.m. The class is entitled "Increasing Your Learning Efficiency" and will be held in Room 209, Wright Building.

The classes will present to the students proper modes of studying, when to study and when to enjoy recreation, proper reading habits, and many other aids for a successful college career.

There is no credit for the class and no compulsory attendance. All interested students are urged to attend the first class to register. Those who are unable to attend the first meeting should stop by Dr. Weigand's office to find a convenient time of instruction.

Dean Of Academic Affairs Issues Registration Policy

Dr. Robert W. Williams, Dean of Academic Affairs, has issued the following statement in order to clarify the policy regarding the payment of late registration fees and the administration of the policy:

"The Registrar guided by the policy set forth herein will determine who is to pay a late registration fee.

Students whose registration has been cancelled because they have been declared ineligible to return but who are subsequently admitted after appeal to the Admissions Committee shall not pay a late registration fee. Students whose schedule is not completed by the end of the registration period will pay a late registration fee unless the Registrar certifies to the Business Office that registration was not completed for a reason or reasons beyond the control of the student. Such certification will not normally be made except during the regular period for registration.

The Division of Student Affairs has agreed not to schedule orientation sessions or other meetings for students during the time set aside for their registration and to discourage any student activity that might interfere with the registration process.

The Deans of School and the Chairmen of Departments are requested (1) not to schedule meetings for students on the day set aside for their registration; (2) direct advisors to impress upon students the importance of completing registration on the day set aside for their registration."

Attention

All persons interested in serving as a delegate to the Model United Nations or the North Carolina Student Legislature should come by the SGA office immediately and sign up. These two conventions are open to all interested persons. Freshmen are especially encouraged to sign up.

'DEAN' HARDEE

'Dean' Hardee, EC Graduate Perfect Jewel Of SGA Office

By BEV CARAWAN Staff Writer

Those people who don't know better assume upon entering the SGA complex that the SGA has its own Dean. This is caused by the coincidence that Miss Dean Hardee happens to be employed as executive secretary for the SGA.

Although the sign on her door denotes Dean's title as Receptionist, her duties are far more varied. A varitable housemother for the executive officers and committees, Dean types, takes messages, mimeographs, acts as purchasing agent, and makes deposits while coordinating all other SGA functions.

Dean, as she is known by the SGA circle, easily "fit in" as the replacement for Mrs. Margaret Stevens this summer since she had worked in Mrs. Stevens' office and as a student fund accountant.

Students should take an interest in student government affairs.

Since Dean's time cannot be completely occupied with SGA work, in her few spare hours she enjoys "all kinds of music." She not only listens to music, but also plays the piano. Dancing has been one of her favorite avocations since she took lessons at four years of age.

EC Vs. Louisiana

By Clem Williams

Notes Fro Stas

Saturday night, the Pirates of East Carolina will battle Northeast Louisiana. If my memory serves me right these "Louisiana boys" took quite a thrashing last year with the final score being 45 to 0. Coach Stas believes that they have a much better team than last years with a total of 26 lettermen returning from a sophomore dominated squad. One other thing that should be pointed out is that they lost only one man from last year's squad.

Coach Stas remarked, "They run what is called a slot — T offense and they will run a man in motion quite often. They have a very quick boy in the backfield who runs the 100 yard dash in 9.4 seconds consistently. We will try to keep him off balance by not letting him get too far without hitting him. Their players are good sized averaging 195 pounds per man on the offensive line and 210 pounds per man on the defensive line. Their backs average approximately 175 pounds per man."

Quote From Scout

During halftime at the William and Mary game the Louisiana scout asked what he thought about the up and coming game against East Carolina. The Louisiana scout said, "We are coming up here for revenge because of the trouncing we took last year and I also believe we have improved in all phases of the game since last year."

Levy Gives Pirates Inside Track

Coach Mary Levy, of William and Mary, believes that East Carolina should have the inside track for the rest of the season. The reason being, he said, "They are playing a lighter conference schedule the rest of the way. The tie doesn't count in the conference standings though the title will be decided on what happens for the rest of the season."

True, William and Mary has a tough schedule but maybe Levy didn't look too closely at our schedule. Southern Illinois, Southern Mississippi University, and The University of Louisville pose as no easy problem for the Pirates.

From Sports Illustrated

Kevin Moran, 6 feet, 230 lbs, leads the East Carolina defensive line that just could buy the Pirates a Southern Conference title in the first year they are eligible to win it. Coach Clarence Stasovich calls his defense, "the very best I've ever put on a field," and he's had a few, having won 32 of 39 games since he came to Greenville. Fullback Dave Alexander, a Little All-American, led the conference in total offense last year. He is gone, but Tom Grant, a wingback, and Bill Bailey, a tailback, return. The Pirates will make people wonder why they let them into the conference in the first place.

Due to several requests and a burning personal interest this slot will begin a detailed search for former Pirate Athletes with our next paper. Much of the information I have on many old 'Bucs' is some what outdated or totally inaccurate. Should any of you feel good-hearted enough to pass on any info you might have regarding our old standard bearers it would be greatly appreciated. It just might make good reading to.

What Happened To George Washington? "Would You Believe They Got Chopped Down"

George Washington, one of the prevalent top team in the Southern Conference, was toppled by tiny Davidson College. In the past Davidson's football team has played in the shadow of its great basketball teams, which have been in the top ten in the nation for the past four years.

The Pirates will play the "Davidson Wildcats" on homecoming day and from the looks of things we could have our hands full. For some reason, I think the Wildcats will have their hands full with the Pirates.

ROBERT ELLIS

Athlete Of The Week

Safety Man, Robert Ellis

(Editor's note: The athlete of the week is chosen each week by the sports staff of the East Carolinian.

We realize that in any team sport it takes a group effort to win. However, we hope to spotlight one player a week who had a particularly good individual performance.)

Defense was the name of the game. Number twenty-three was the man of the hour, Robert Ellis, a six foot, 182 pound senior defensive safety was the man inside of that jersey. On a hot afternoon in Williamsburg, Virginia, Bob Ellis provided East Carolina with enough offense to gain a tie with the William and Mary Indians.

Stopped cold by a tough "Buc" defense, William and Mary was forced to punt late in the third quarter. Dan Darragh, a sometime quarterback, dropped back and twice kicked the ball inside the EC five yard line. Each time the play was called back on a penalty. On the third kick, a lower and shorter kick, Ellis the punt returner gathered the ball in on his own twenty five yard line and took off for the right sideline. He was hit no less than four times but managed to keep his feet. When the last opponent was wiped out at the William and Mary thirty five, Bob sprinted the final yards untouched into the end zone.

Some of us were reminded of last year's Lenoir Rhyne game. This same Bob Ellis twisted and churned for a seventy seven yard punt return for a score. Offense is no stranger to our number twenty three. He played offensive wingback (on a single wing team) at Williams High in Burlington, North Carolina. It must also be noted that Robert played a good game in leading a defensive secondary that held Darragh to ten completions in twenty three attempts and only sixty four yards through the air.

Coach Martinez States Optimism

The first athletic team to win the Southern Conference Championship, the swimming team, had its first meeting this past Monday at the gym. The team met at full force with many additional swimmers trying out. The team elected Senior Mike Hamilton as captain and he immediately set the first organized workout for next Monday afternoon.

This year's varsity is mainly composed of experienced swimmers plus the five returning All American candidates from last year. Coach Martinez is very optimistic and says this is the strongest team ever assembled at East Carolina. The squad not only has its share of outstanding swimmers, but also men who will definitely add depth which is so badly needed.

Every event is covered and is led by All Americans Owen Paris, Outstanding Swimmer at the Southern Conference meet, Mike Tomberlin, National 200 backstroke champion, Mike Hamilton, capt. and also school record holder, and our very fine diver Dick Tobin, along with one time National Diving Champion Les Gerber. The team has twelve freestyle sprinters with such speedsters as Lane Jorgeson, Eric Orrell, Bob Monahan, Bill Mills, John Sultan, Skip Moody, and Greg De Vid. In the distance events, ECC is well taken care of with Jim Manchester and Bill Lafferty. The 200 and 400 individual medleys have Rick Conway, Eric Orders, and Mike Dineen. The 200 backstroke and breaststroke are covered by Tomberlin and Owen Paris who will be backed up by such excellent swimmers as John Sultan in the back and Jim Marasco and Don Synder in the breast. Also, Mike Hamilton and Doug Murphy with Barry Littleton will swim the butterfly.

The first meet is scheduled against Carolina on Dec. 10 which will be followed by such nationally ranked colleges as NC State, Florida, and Florida State. The duel meet season is a tough one, but the team will be peaking for the College Division Nationals which ECC placed sixth in last year. With the team representing ECC right now, a National championship isn't an impossibility.

40 Students Meet For Rowing Team

Around forty individuals reported for the first practice Monday, Sept. 19, of the Rowing Team. The individuals, from the freshmen, sophomore, and junior classes received sweat clothes and rowing trunks to begin fall tryouts. In spite of a steady rain, Coach Brousseau had the crew working out on the rowing machines to develop basic techniques and then moved outside for calisthenics and some roadwork to increase endurance.

Because of the large turnout, prospects for a successful season look good. If possible, there will be a fall race of the first three boats here on the Tar River. The race will end at the foot of Evans Street. This will be the first crew race ever held in this area, and should provide some insight as to the potential of the squad for races next spring.

Many veteran oarsmen turned out. But at least half of last year's varsity boat is missing due to academic problems or graduation. In addition, none of last year's junior varsity has reported for the workouts. But according to last year's varsity cox'n Paul Shannon, this year's turnout should amply fill any vacancies now open. Shannon stated that enthusiasm is high and everyone is working hard. Many boys, about 80 percent, have never rowed before. So the first month's sessions will be in the new practice barge recently built for the team by G & W Boats here in Greenville. The barge will probably go into the water sometime this week so that the team can begin using it this week or early next week on the Tar River.

All interested should contact Andre Brousseau in Room 1-D, Old Austin or call him at home—752-5729.

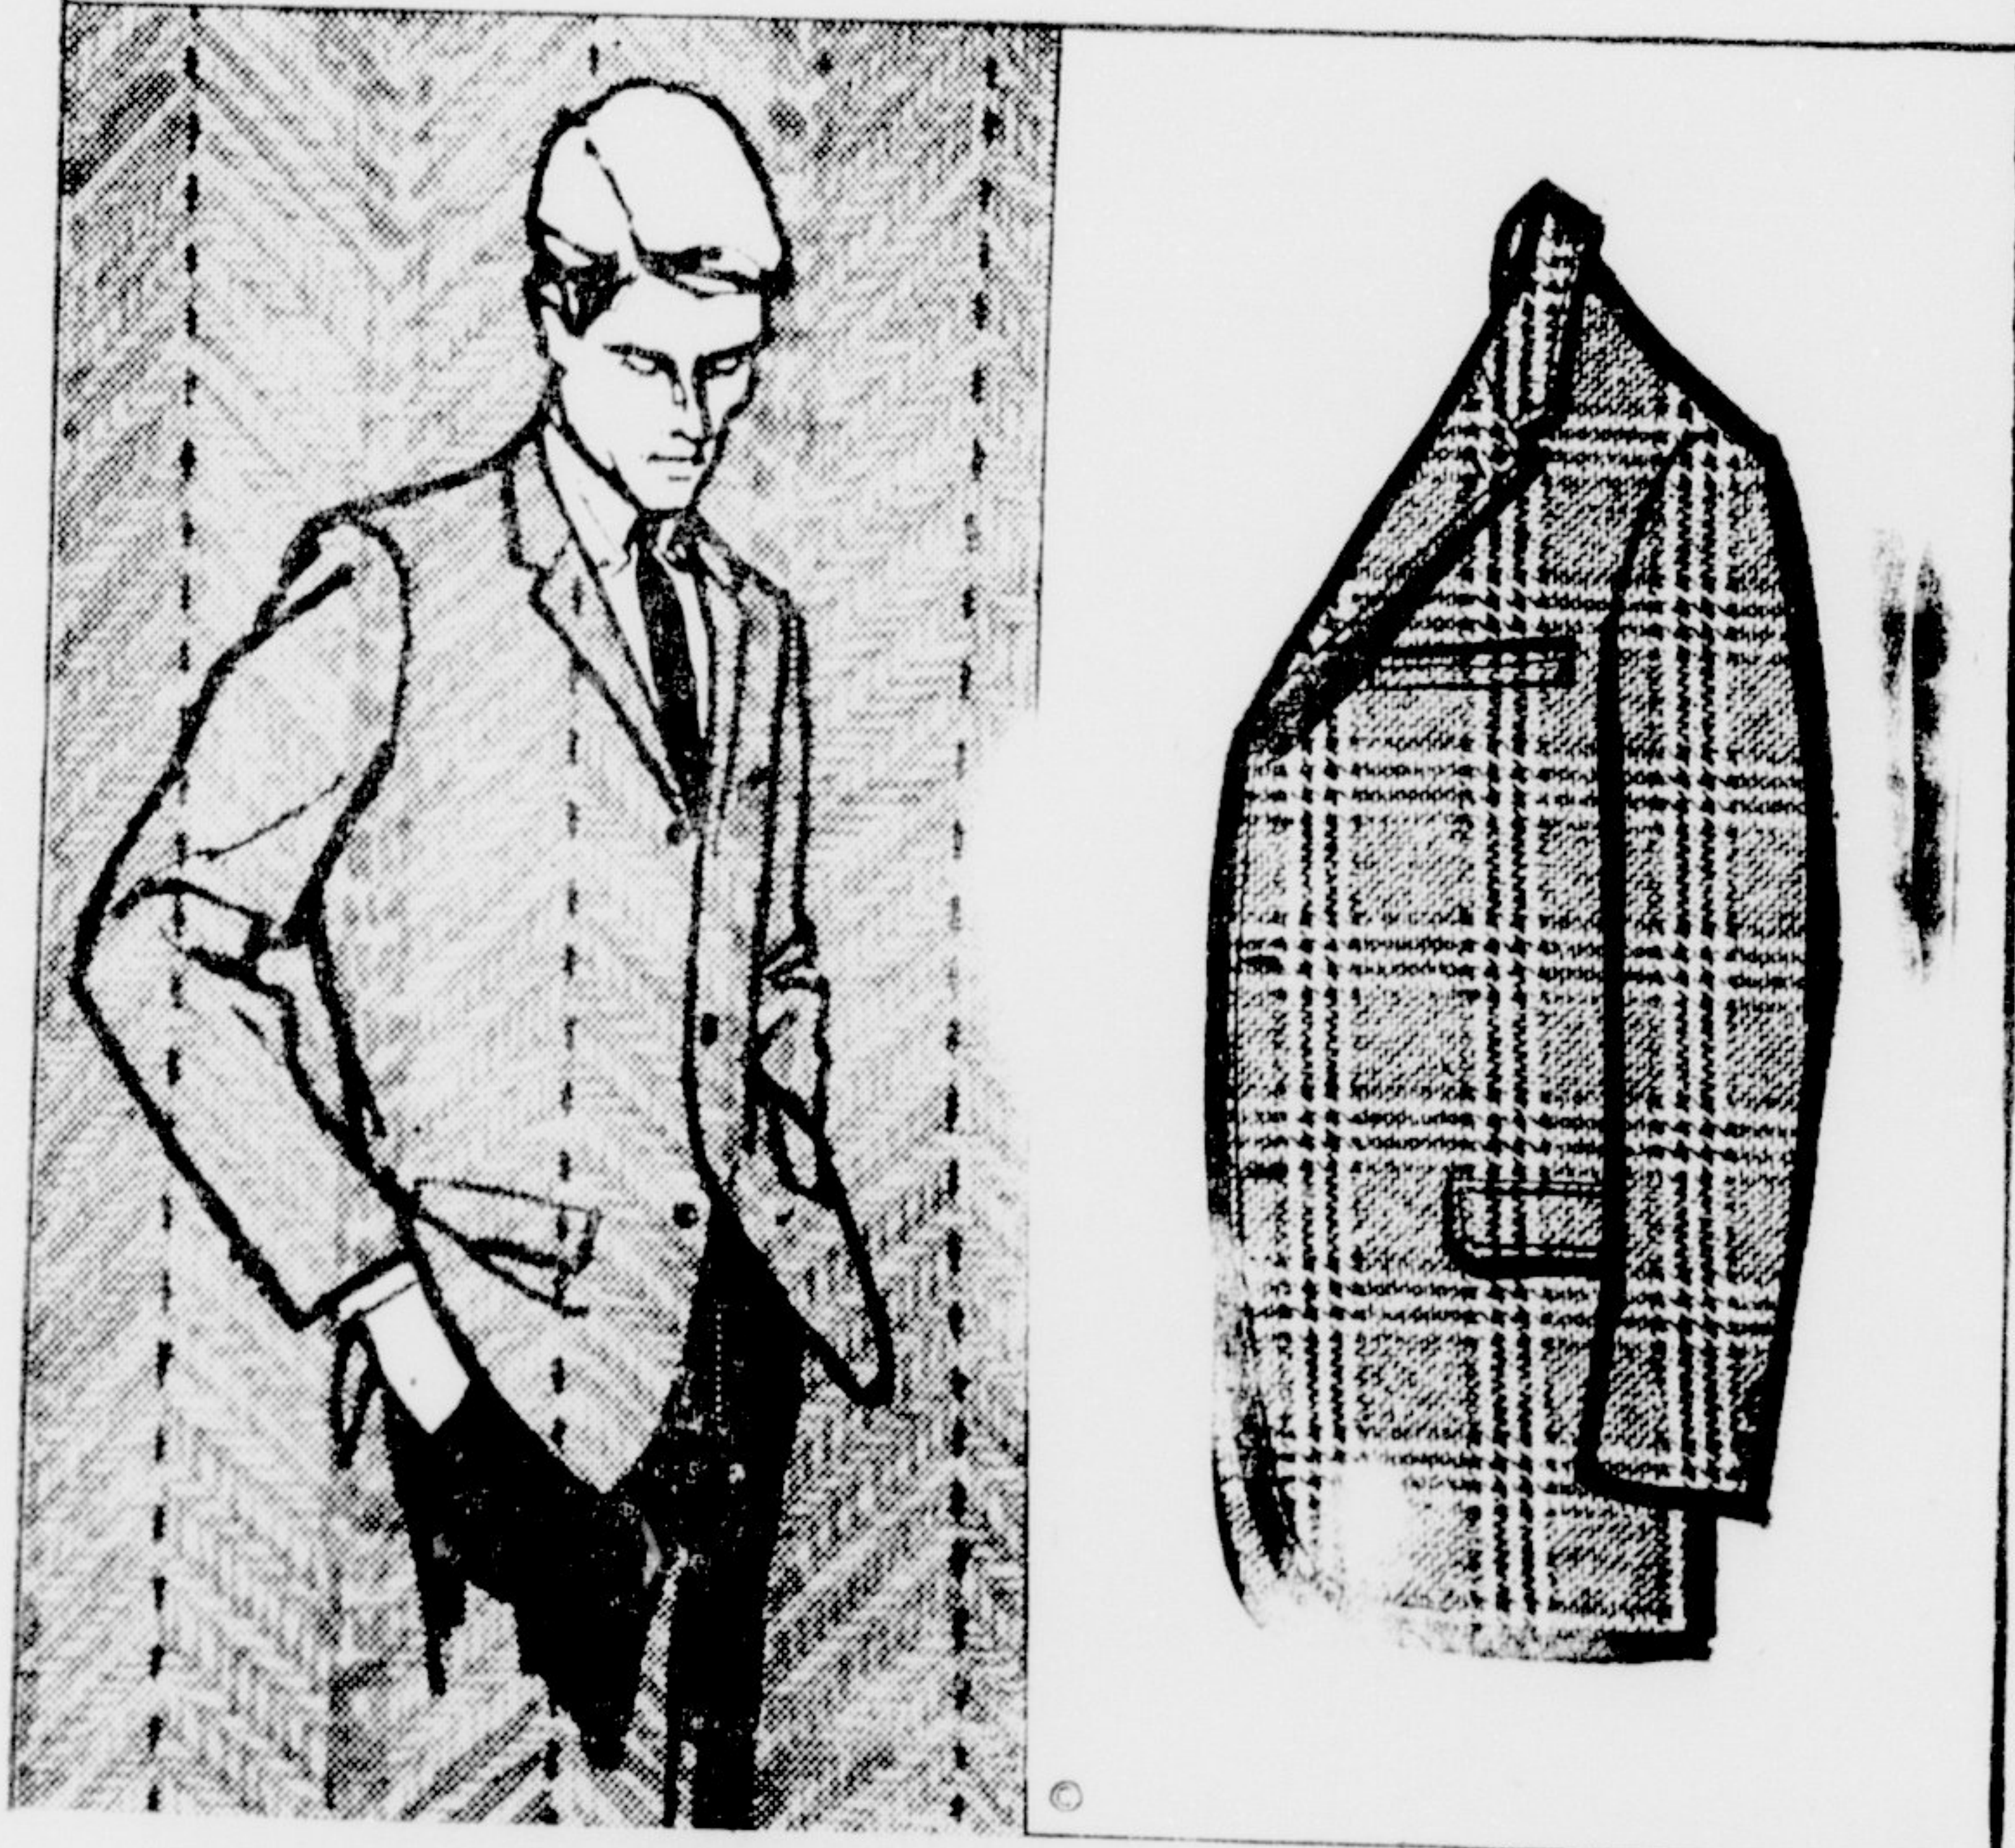

Jayroe & Hudson To Lead Runners

The East Carolina cross-country team will have its second contest September 26. Last week the Pirate runners ran in an invitational cross-country meet and beat North Carolina State University. The Pirates are much stronger than last years team and should get even stronger as the season progresses. The Pirates are highly favored to overwhelm these team with ease.

Leading the Pirate runners will be Donald Jayroe and Charles Hudson. In the Fayetteville Invitational it should be mentioned that Donald Jayroe won first place. The team will miss Terry Taylor because of an automobile accident. Terry should be back in contention before the season is over.

The team has much more depth than previous teams at East Carolina. Coach Baxter Berryhill predicts that the team should be one of the top ones in the Southern Conference.
