

Jenkins Gives Realistic Explanations

Medical Report Serves EC's Goal

EDITOR'S NOTE: Due to the fact that there has been quite a bit of discussion concerning President Leo W. Jenkins' explanation as to "WHY" the Medical School Study Report was not released for the general public until last Thursday, we of the EAST CAROLINIAN feel that all EC students might be benefited by seeing what Dr. Jenkins' full explanation involved. Printed in full here (not as it appeared in other North Carolina newspapers) is Dr. Jenkins' reasons for withholding the medical report. This is an attempt to present what he told North Carolina Press officials without taking certain statements out of context and using them in the manner that many press medias did late last week. Most everyone read what was said in the papers at that time and due to the fact that we publish only on Tuesday and Thursday, we think that this direct statement may well give a different slant to the pros and cons of the situation.)

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins made the following statement last Thursday regarding the recent controversy brought about by his withholding the complete Medical Report concerning East Carolina's proposed two year medical school:

By DR. LEO W. JENKINS

"Several of North Carolina's outstanding physicians encouraged us to pursue the establishment of a two-year medical school at East Carolina College. The Legislature authorized us to proceed with a feasibility study. We, in turn, followed normal procedures and invited out-of-state consultants to advise us of the necessary steps to take in order to develop a commendable program.

We knew when the consultants visited us that they would be very objective. We were fully aware that only upon their objective assessment could we initiate steps leading toward the establishment of a medical school. In its final effect only a realistic report would have served the interests of the College and the State.

On the first page of the consultants' report is the statement: "The Consultants make this report only to President Leo Jenkins. He may exercise his judgment in sharing it with others." I have exercised my judgment by doing what I thought best. Perhaps it was poor judgment to share the recommendations and not the complete supporting details with our Trustees. But I make no apology for not releasing such information to others at that time.

During all phases of the discussions I felt it incumbent upon me to be guided by considerations affecting what I believed to be the total interests and future of the College.

It is to be regretted that the earnestness of our concern for the complete needs of eastern North Carolina, including that for a medical school, could be construed as anything less than our concern for the needs of the State as a whole.

I am now, with the consent of the Executive Committee of our Trustees, making available to all media of communication the full report of the Consulting Committee.

The following is a summary of the Consultants' major comments and recommendations and our actions to carry them out.

(1) The Consultants advised that we did not then have the kind of academic base, especially in the sciences, which might allow for the medical school. This was based, in part, on two major considerations:

1. We did not have doctoral programs with concomitant strong research programs;

2. The science departments were not oriented toward medical education but toward a more classical and descriptive approach. We, of course, are forbidden by law to offer doctoral programs. It should have been no surprise to anyone that our science departments were not oriented toward medicine for, with no medical school, there has been no reason to offer more than the pre-professional programs in the medical sciences. To expand and reinforce fields of instruction relating to the life sciences, the consultants suggested that "authorization might be sought from the Board of Higher Education and from the General Assembly for the establishment of an Institute of Life Sciences and Community Health." We agreed that this was an excellent recommendation and a proposal for such an Institute was prepared and presented to the Board of Higher Education. The Board has unanimously authorized us to select a director who will proceed to develop the program of the Institute.

DR. LEO W. JENKINS

(2) The Consultants suggested that the academic base would be strengthened by added support in molecular biology and biochemistry as well as by a change of leadership in the Chemistry Department. In preparing for the establishment of the Institute of Life Sciences and Community Health, we have added three molecular biologists and another biochemist effective September 1, 1966. The chairman of the Chemistry Department has returned to teaching and a new chairman well acquainted with the requirements for medical schools began duties in July. Under his leadership, significant steps are being taken to upgrade and revitalize the Chemistry Department.

(3) The Consultants stated that "it was a pleasant experience to visit a library which seemed adequate for a college" but that "the collection in health related areas was superficial." This, too, might be expected since we have had no previous occasion to build a library collection satisfactory for a medical school. Our intentions, of course, are to employ a director and staff for the Institute of Life Sciences and charge them with the responsibility of selecting the books as required.

(4) As the Consultants stated, departmental chairmen and faculty were not involved in plans for the development of a medical school. However, as I stated to the Legislature, we would develop a medical school only if a quality school could be developed, and to us, this meant that specific plans would be made only after expert advice from consultants was obtained and a medical dean or director was hired to develop and direct the program. Planning in any other way would have been superficial at best and consequently we thought it inappropriate to divert our departmental chairmen and staff from their normal duties to engage in formative plans for a medical school. But when we had a definite recommendation, we formed a committee to work with the development of the Life Sciences and Community Health Institute.

Our actions in the past five years should have established some confidence in our efforts to meet academic and institutional requirements. Shortly after being appointed to my present position, I asked the entire faculty to fulfill the self study and evaluation requirements for the various accrediting agencies, and all of these accrediting agencies sent representatives to evaluate our programs and the projections recommended by our faculty. It is a matter of record that we put into operation as soon as was possible practically all of the recommendations. This resulted in major changes in our programs between 1962 and 1964 and has resulted in continual planned progress since.

It should be quite obvious that we are trying to take the necessary steps and to develop the finest program possible in terms of need and resources. I personally think that the Consultants advised us well and that the Institute of Life Sciences and Community Health will provide the adequate base on which we can build. The steps which we have already taken should indicate our own interest in providing the best programs possible for the people of North Carolina."

Independent Candidates Announce Election Slate

Freshman Class

Freshman candidates running on an independent ticket in Thursday's election include the following people and offices respectively:

Freshman Class President: Randy Diuguid seeks office with a desire to serve his class and no particular party group. In high school he served in several student government positions and indicates that he feels qualified to do the job if elected Freshman Class President.

Freshman Vice President: Willis Stoney Creech, Steven Rouso and Charlie E. Strickland seek office as independent candidates.

Creech runs on past experience as a legislator at Rose High School here in Greenville. Also in high school he served on his student newspaper and was a member of the Quill and Scroll Honor Society.

Rouso lists former experience as a basis for being able to represent his class in this election. In high school, he was a member of the Key Club, the National Honor Society, Treasurer of the Inter-Club Council, and was quite active in Student Government activities.

Strickland plans, if elected, to carry out the desires of his class in whatever capacity he can. In high school, he worked in the Student Government, was in the Hi-Y, the Key Club, the Beta Club and played on the Varsity Basketball squad.

Freshman Class Treasurer: Becky Ball runs for Freshman Class Treasurer and opposes another independent candidate, Gary Haigler. Miss Ball lists her past experience as treasurer of her high school sophomore class, Treasurer of her student body and treasurer of the N.C. District East Junior Civilians as qualifications for serving EC's freshman class this year. Also she was actively involved in student council work and other high school activities.

Haigler runs for office on the basis of his past experience in club and student government work. He is also a member of the Freshman Cross Country Team.

Freshman Dorm Representatives: Independents seeking representation in the SGA Legislature are Gwen Bullock from Umstead Hall; William Bullock from Jones Hall; Reid Overcash from Aycock Dorm and Steven A. Roberts from Jones Hall.

Miss Bullock states that if she is elected as a representative she will respect the position and accept it as a demanding and serious opportunity. Previous high school experience which she feels qualifies her for the job include treasurer of her class, committee work during all four years in her Student Government Association and a member of the National Honor Society.

Bullock indicates that he will serve the interests of his class if elected. He feels past experience in SGA work will qualify him for the job. Overcash plans to serve Aycock Hall in every capacity possible if elected to the SGA Legislature. He feels that he is qualified for the job.

Roberts runs in order to better represent his dorm. Past experience and a desire to serve are factors significant in his candidacy for representative.

Sophomore Class

Sophomore Independent Candidates running for office on an independent ticket are:

Sophomore Class Treasurer: Sherry Robertson seeks office on the basis that she feels qualified to do the job. She is a member of Sigma Sigma Sorority, a varsity cheerleader, and served last year as a member of the Features Staff for the BUCCANEER, and was a member of the Modern Dance Club.

Sophomore Day Student Representatives: Off campus students running for election on the independent ticket are Louisa Hamilton, Connie Donnell, Barbara Cirulis, and Pete Hoogendowk.

Miss Hamilton runs on the basis that she feels she is qualified. She is a resident in the Alpha Phi Sorority House.

Miss Donnell feels she can best serve the interests of day students. She resides at the Alpha Omicron Sorority House.

Miss Cirulis runs for office to better represent EC's Day Students. She is a sister of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority.

Hoogendowk indicates that all votes and support in electing him to the Legislature will be "greatly appreciated." Presently he is a member of the BUCCANEER staff, the Circle K Club and the Presbyterian Center.

Dormitory Sophomore Representatives: Candidates for this position include Linda Thomas from Jarvis Hall, Patsy Womble and Charlie Watson from Belk Dorm.

Miss Thomas runs for the purpose of better serving the residents of her dorm. She is a pledge of Sigma Sigma Sorority and is a member of the House Council in Jarvis Hall.

Miss Womble runs on the independent ticket because she desires to serve her dorm rather than anyone political group.

Watson promises the boys of Belk Dorm that he will do all within his power to stand up for their rights if elected as a representative. He feels qualified to serve on the legislature.

Juniors and Seniors

Members of the Junior and Senior class running for office in the coming elections on an independent ticket are:

Junior Class Vice President: Miss Linda Bullard runs for this position and states that she hopes "each student will realize the importance of the Student government and will do their part by voting on Thursday. Miss Bullard is vice president of Sigma Sigma Sorority and has served in various capacities with the SGA and was a member-at-large on the Women's Judiciary.

Junior Class Secretary: Running on the independent ticket for secretary of the Junior Class is Judith

(Continued on page 2)

Election Explanation

In today's issue the EAST CAROLINIAN presents articles by both the Student Party and the University Party concerning their candidates and proposals for Thursday's SGA elections. The information concerning Independent candidates and party candidates was compiled from information turned into this office last Friday by those candidates wishing coverage in today's paper.

Placement of articles in today's paper are as unbiased and objective as we could possibly make them. Due to problems in layout and the amount of regular news in this paper, we find it impossible to set all candidates on pages 1, 2, or 3.

Therefore we have divided election news over the first three pages in order to give both party candidates and independent candidates adequate coverage and column space. If some articles are longer than others, it is because some candidates naturally turned in more information than did others. We tried to make all campaign publicity as fair as possible.

We hope that on the basis of election news presented, the student body will find a purpose for going to the polls and voting Thursday.

We wish the best of luck to all candidates — we tried our best to give each party and candidate a chance to say what they desired in this issue. It's far from the best journalistic principles, but the only conclusion the staff could reach after surveying the volume of information submitted by individual candidates.

N.J.J., Editor

Meet Team

reported day, Sept. The indi- n, sopho- received trunks to site of a seau had e rowing e techni- side for roadwork out, pro- sion look will be a ee boats race will s Street. crew race and should o the po- ces next arned out. ear's var- academi- In addi- onal var- workouts. s varsity s year's y vacated- that everyone ys, about wed be- sessions ce barge by G. & ille. The that the this week "Tar Riv-act An- D, Old 752-5729.

Student Party Announces Candidates

By BARRY BLICK
Student Party Chairman

Time was when campus elections were based on "personalities."

Not anymore. Today, East Carolina has one of the most respected student governments in the country.

With this foundation, a two-party political system has entered the workings of the SGA.

"Big deal (pardon the pun), what's it done for me?" you may ask.

Good question. Everybody asks this at one time or another.

The answer is simple. Remember in the early spring of last year when the term Student Party was whispered, shouted and echoed all over the campus and the word Viet Nam was pushed to the back of the conversation.

Well, the STUDENT PARTY was formed after months of preparation and a slate of nominees ran in the Spring Elections under the banner of "QUEST FOR QUALITY."

Bands played, horns blew, confetti filled the air. The new STUDENT PARTY hit the EC campus with the impact of a beer blast. Five of the six SP candidates won.

And most important, more people than ever had voted.

"Voted for what?" you ask. A sound platform — "A QUEST FOR QUALITY."

Now, this is where you, the student, enters the picture.

The new political party promised a lot. The SP kept its promises. Many goals have been accomplished.

For instance:

1. Women's hours: Week-end hours were extended until 12:30 and week nights until 11 p.m.

2. Legislative Reapportionment. This has been accomplished so the students will have fair representation in the student legislature. (Remember your legislators appropriate over a quarter of a million dollars a year for your interests.)

3. Campus Movies in Wright Auditorium. This has been put into effect. The SGA purchased $12,000 dollars worth of new movie equipment and now YOU can watch the free flecks in air-conditioned comfort and the screen is bigger than the ones downtown.

4. Official Ring Sales. The SGA has distributed material about the one official EC ring, so you won't get hooked on a fake.

5. Entertainment Series. Remember last spring when a poll was taken for the entertainment YOU wanted? Well, The Four Seasons will appear for you Homecoming and the Righteous Brothers will follow that up on October 27th. (The SP settles for nothing but top notch entertainment for EC).

The Student Party speaks for what it has done for you, not what it promises to do.

Other projects in the SP platform which are now being worked on are:

6. Revamping of the Judicial System (so you will get a fair, impartial hearing) This is near completion.

7. Book Exchange. This is greatly needed. Nobody likes to shell out 10 bucks for a book and then not be able to sell it back to the book store.

8. Faculty Evaluation. Your benefit? So you will not have to sit in a boring class and wonder how the professor ever got the job. And to protect you from faculty members who give out "F's" like it's their only pleasure in life.

9. Speaker Exchanges. This project will promote EC and let the outside world know what we're doing.

10. Community - Student Economic Relations Committee. This will insure EC students of getting a fair shake from the merchants downtown.

11. Student Polls. To find out what you want your money spent for. EXAMPLE: The Four Seasons and the Righteous Brothers concerts are an outcome of this project.

12. Parliamentary Procedure Classes. When a student is elected to an office in the SGA, he will be tutored on parliamentary procedure so he can represent to his best ability.

In its "QUEST FOR QUALITY" the Student Party has endorsed the following candidates:

SENIOR CLASS: Vice-President—Janice Richardson (sp).

Qualifications: Secretary - Treasurer of Women Judiciary, Faculty Evaluation Committee, Comm. for Revising Women's Rules, Homecoming Committee, Panhellenic Council, Student Counselor, Orientation Counselor for three years, East Carolinian Staff, SGA Secretarial Staff.

Secretary: Earle Ruffin (sp)

Treasurer: Jane Stephenson (sp)

Qualifications: President of Sorority, Dean's Advisory Council, Former Chief Marshal, Orientation Counselor.

JUNIOR CLASS: President—Martin Lassiter (sp)

Vice-President — Bill Dryden (sp)

Qualifications: Pi Kappa President, Vice-President of Inter-Fraternity Council.

Secretary — Vicky Lee (sp)

Treasurer — Kathryn Bateman

SOPHOMORE CLASS: President — Ted Hooks (sp)

Qualifications: Member-at-large Student Legislature Representative, Legislature Chaplain, Public Defender of the Men's Honor Council, Attorney General's staff, EAST CAROLINIAN, Managing Editor, Editorial Editor, Asst. Sports Editor, Orientation Counselor, Self-Help Program, Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity.

Vice President — Carleen Hjortsvang (sp)

Qualifications: Secretary of Freshman class, Chairman of SGA Special Events Comm., Orientation Counselor, Marshal, North Carolina College Queen, Buccaneer, Tutorial Program, Alpha Phi, Gamma Beta Phi.

Secretary — Janice Long (sp)

Qualifications: High School: Sec. Library Club, Sec. N. C. High School Library Assoc., Student Assembly, Freshman Class Officer, Future Teachers Club, Gil's Athlete Assoc.,

Girl's State Representative. Treasurer — Stephen Yelverton (sp)

Qualifications: Freshman Rep. in Student Legislature, Freshman Class Executive Council, Under-Secretary General of the Middle South Model United Nations — 1967, Delegate to the State Student Legislature of N. C., SGA Lecture Committee, SGA Campus Telephone Committee, East Carolina Law Society, Freshmen Honors Seminar, Sophomore Honors Seminar, Dean's List and Honor Roll.

FRESHMEN CLASS: President—John Binkley (sp)

Qualifications: Senior Service Club, Monogram Club, Ushers Club, Nomination from West Point.

Vice-President—Steve Fuss (sp)

Secretary — Kacy Crane (sp)

Qualifications: Va. Girl's State, President of Spanish Club, Secretary of Drama Club, National Quill and Scroll, SGA Representative

Treasurer — Ann Hendershot (sp)

Qualifications: Student Cooperative Association, Homerom president, National Honor Society, Delegate to Civitan Youth Leadership Conference, Senior Class Editor for annual staff.

DORM REPRESENTATIVES (sp)

Cotten — Marcia Grant; Slay — Carol Firestone; Ragsdale — Phyllis Grady; Umstead — Patsy Simmons, Brenda Allen; Jarvis — Dine King; Wilson — Linda West; Garrett — Susan Street; Fletcher — Bonita Lewis, Courtney Andrews; New Dorm — Majory Hendricks, Gale Adams; Aycock — David Lloyd, John Britt; Belk — Earle Beasley, Freddie Goins.

DAY STUDENT REPRESENTATIVES (sp)

Vivian De Paola, Linda Tterton, Steve Burns, Sandy Wentzel, Leslie Shannon, Ralph Euedge, Bill Marks, Thomas Daughtry, Carol Julian, Caroline Riddle, Linda Love, Charles Malone, Beth Wilson.

Independent Candidates...

(Continued from page 1)

Ann Joyner. She feels qualified for the position as she served as representative for her Freshman Class last year.

Junior Class Treasurer: Sheila Smith is a candidate for this position.

Miss Smith is a member of Alpha Phi Sorority and feels that on the basis of her activities on campus during the past two years she is qualified to hold this position if elected.

Junior Class Dorm Representative: Miss Pam Luper seeks election from New Women's Dormitory. She feels qualified to serve the girls in her dorm as Legislative representative.

Senior Class President: Louis D. Ambrosia runs for this position on the basis that he feels qualified to handle the position. He is presently serving as President of Alpha Phi Omega and served as Advertising Manager of the EAST CAROLINIAN.

Senior Class Vice President: Bill Dickens and Ronald R. Siegfried are opposing each other for this office. Dickens feels that he is qualified and shows interest in numerous student activities including the Circle K Club, the Men's Residence Council, Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity, and he was formerly Sophomore Class Vice President.

Siegfried is a member of the AF-ROTC where he holds the rank of First Lieutenant and serves as the Group Administrative Officer. Showing interest in various other campus activities such as Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity, he feels that he is qualified for the office of Vice President.

Day Student Representatives: Bob Lane and Alice Lucas are opposing each other for day student representatives.

Lane runs for office having served the students of East Carolina as Attorney General of the Men's Honor Council, secretary and vice president of the Men's Residence Council and as a representative to the inter-Fraternity Council. He feels he is qualified to represent Day Students in the Legislature as a resident of Lambda Chi Alpha House.

Miss Lucas is a sister of Alpha Omicron sorority, chairman of the College Union committee, a member of Gamma Beta Phi Honor Society, the Sociology Club and the Psychology Club. She stresses serving her fellow students as her primary interest in this election.

NAVAL AIR RESERVE

The Naval Air Reserve Training Unit (NARTU) will be on campus this week recruiting students for the program. Those interested should see recruiting officer in the Student Union lobby.

EC Artist, Donald Sexauer, Participates In La. Exhibition

Five intaglio prints by an East Carolina College artist will be added to a noted collection of oils, sculpture, prints and watercolors for a distinguished traveling show in the state of Louisiana.

The prints by Donald Sexauer will be part of the year-long exhibition shown in Louisiana's universities, colleges, libraries and public buildings for 1966-67.

Sexauer's chosen prints are "Homage to Myra," "Flowers in a People Garden," "Peace Bird," "Image Maker-Myself" and "Ride Through November."

He is one of several artists in the Southeastern United States invited to participate in the show. His invitation came from the Louisiana State Art Commission.

Sexauer is chairman of graphics in the School of Art at East Carolina. His prints have been widely exhibited and have won many prizes in and out of North Carolina since he came here in 1960.

He studied art at Edinboro State College in his native Pennsylvania and he holds the MA degree from Kent (Ohio) State University. Before joining the ECC faculty, he taught for three years in the Madison, Ohio, schools.

COMPLETE RIB-EYE STEAK DINNER

- Baked Potato or French Fries
- Tossed Salad with your choice of dressing
- Delicious Colonial Roll

$1.49

Now an exciting new restaurant, where great eating costs so little. New Char-Steak House. Elegant colonial atmosphere. Superb food (cooked the way you like). And economy prices to make eating out a pleasure for you—and your pocketbook. So come one, come all. Come as you are and come out often. Discover the fun of eating on the exciting new Char-Steak House.

LONDON BROIL STEAK DINNER—OUR FINEST	$1.99	CHOPPED STEAK DINNER	$1.09	SEAFOOD DINNER	$1.29
RIB-EYE STEAK DINNER	$1.49	RIB-EYE STEAK SANDWICH DINNER	99¢	CHARBURGER SPECIAL	69¢

EACH DINNER COMPLETE WITH • BAKED POTATO OR FRENCH FRIES • GARDEN FRESH TOSSED SALAD WITH YOUR CHOICE OF DRESSING • DELICIOUS COLONIAL ROLL

Evans and 8th Sts.

University Party Announces Candidates

By BILL DEAL

University Party Spokesman
There now exists the long awaited second party on the campus of East Carolina College. Although the University Party is still very young, an excellent response has been shown by the students.

The University Party has many goals. The first and foremost is to create enough interest to give ample competition to the Student Party.

This Thursday the students will have an opportunity to choose between the candidate of one party or the other. When you go to the polls and cast your vote, remember that there are two parties. If all the students are to be represented equally, careful consideration should be given to the party which you choose.

The University Party candidates are for the interest of the students. The Freshman class is a prime interest of this new party. We feel that the new rules and changes, such as doing away with "closed study," lighter penalties for certain judicial offenses, an area on the "hill" for men and their dates, and more top name social events would benefit the school and its students. No longer must we be dominated in the SGA by one party. You now have a choice. Go to the polls and help be a part of the birth and growth of the University Party!

Candidates running for office on the University Party Ticket include the following people:

For Freshman Class President is Ray Bunche. Bunche worked in the Student Government Association at Rose High School for three years. He feels that he is capable of taking on the responsibilities of the office of president. He makes no bold promises as to what he will do if elected. He indicates that he will serve his class as best he can if elected to this position.

For Freshman Class Secretary is Bev Carawan. Miss Carawan was editor of her high school paper here at Rose High School in Greenville. She was actively involved in high school activities and served in several positions within Rose High's Student Council. Presently she is a Young Republican member and works as assistant news editor for the EAST CAROLINIAN.

Running for Freshman Class Treasurer is Rick Judson. He was active in high school activities and is currently on the Cross Country Team.

Day Student Representatives running on the University ticket include:

1. Bill Deal, spokesman for the University Party, who has been committed with East Carolina's SGA for the past three years finds himself in his last election here at EC. Deal has served the SGA this past year as Speaker of the Legislature and was a candidate for the SGA Presidency in last spring's election. If elected Day Student Representative, Deal plans to seek re-election as Speaker of the Legislature.

2. Jim Kimsey, present Secretary General of the Model United Nations, seeks election to the legislature on the basis of past qualifications and offices formerly held on campus. Kimsey was formerly SGA Treasurer, a Student Legislator, a member of the SGA Executive Council and Chairman, a member of the Presidential Cabinet, Secretary of Finance, SGA Summer School President, SGA Summer School Treasurer, Junior Class President, President of EC's Law Society, Senate Delegate to the State Student Legislature, Delegate to the United Nations Model General Assembly, Delegate National Student Leadership Institute, Men's Honor Council, Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, Deans Advisory Council and the Young Democrats Club.

3. Dan Saieed is a resident of Greenville and seeks election because he has had "the opportunity to talk with many day students about their problems and worries." Saieed is co-news editor of the EAST CAROLINIAN, secretary of the Newman Club, a member of the YDC and served as news editor for the college newspaper during the summer.

Dorm students seeking seats in the Legislature under the University Party Ticket are:

1. Dianne Matheson is running for office as a representative of Cotten Dorm. Miss Matheson indicates that if she is elected she will try to uphold the responsibilities given to her, and at the same time try to represent the voice of each girl in her dorm.

2. Everett Smith is a freshman seeking election from Aycock Dorm.

He says that he feels all groups should have a voice in the affairs of government. If elected, he plans to represent the men of Aycock Dormitory and not any one political group.

3. Linda Davenport is a candidate for freshman representative of Umstead Hall. During high school Linda served in numerous capacities in the Student Government. As a student proud of the new privileges granted students this year, she stresses the importance of individual responsibility and the need for a spirit of unity throughout the campus.

4. Sarah White is running for freshman representative of Umstead Hall. In high school she served Student Government Committees, was assistant editor of her school paper, teen reported for her city paper and editor of her senior class paper. Presently Miss White works on the EAST CAROLINIAN staff.

Senate Elects Ellen Chairman Of Faculty

The Faculty Senate held its first meeting of the year Sept. 13. The following is a transcript of the minutes.

The Faculty held its organizational meeting on September 13, 1966, at 4:00 p.m. in Room 132 of New Austin. Dr. Wellington B. Gray, Vice Chairman of the Faculty, called the meeting to order and asked the Secretary to call the roll.

Dr. Alton Finch, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, presented the committee's nominations.

The Vice Chairman asked if there were any nominations from the floor for the office of Chairman of the Faculty. Miss Blanche Watrous nominated Dr. Alton Finch. Miss Harrison moved that the nomination be closed, and the motion carried.

The Vice Chairman asked for nominations for Vice Chairman. There were none.

Mr. Ray Jones was nominated for the office of Secretary. Miss Williams moved that nominations for this office be closed, and motion carried.

The Senate then voted by secret ballots for the nominees, and the following officers were elected:

Chairman of the Faculty—Mr. John C. Ellen;

Vice Chairman—Mrs. Miriam B. Moore;

Secretary—Miss Marjorie Harrison;

Parliamentarian—Mr. William F. Troutman.

Mr. Gray turned the meeting over to Mr. John C. Ellen.

The Chairman asked for nominations for the five members of the Agenda Committee. Nominees were: Mr. Ed Welch, Mr. James Batten, Mr. Robert Graham, Mr. Joe Steelman, Miss Virginia Herrin, Mr. Grover Everett, Miss Louise Williams, Mr. Alton Finch, Miss Stallings moved that the nominations be closed, and the motion carried.

The Senate, by secret ballot, elected the following members to the Agenda Committee: Mr. James Batten, Mr. Joe Steelman, Miss Virginia Herrin, Mr. Grover Everett, and Mr. Alton Finch.

The Chairman asked for approval of the Senate in postponing the regularly-scheduled meeting on September 20 to a later date in order to give the Agenda Committee time to meet and notify the Faculty of the meeting and publish the Agenda. He explained that it was impossible to give the Faculty the required week's notice before September 20. There being no objection to this, the Chairman said he would call a special meeting as soon as possible.

Mr. Gray moved that the Secretary of the Senate be directed to send a letter to Mr. James Pindexter, Chairman of the Faculty during the 1965-1966 year, expressing the Senate's appreciation for the fine work he did in helping organize the Senate and serving as its first Chairman. The motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. Gray moved that the Senate be adjourned. Motion carried.

LAST TRIP

Two buses have been chartered for students wishing to attend the George Washington football game against the Pirates. This event is scheduled for October 15 in Washington, D. C.

Total cost for the bus trip and game ticket is $7.00.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Tuck in Dean Mallory's office or from Bill Moore in Room 211-A, Belk Dorm.

The trip on air-conditioned Trailways busses will also include a two hour bus tour of Washington after the game.

This will be the last bus trip to a football game this year.

University Party Holds Meeting

Bill Deal opened the first University Party meeting Tuesday night by reiterating that the purpose of the formation of the party is to create a two-party system at East Carolina. This, Deal said, is necessary for the best interests of the students, and in order to prevent one party from being able to pass a bill in the legislature without any opposition.

Mr. Deal read and explained the Constitution to those present and stated that fifth article naming the precincts is to be added. It was emphasized that the success of the party depended solely on the support of the students, and the organizational work done in the party thus far was no indication of what could be done.

A second meeting has been scheduled for tomorrow night at 6:30 p.m. in Old Austin auditorium.

Alexander Explains EC Ticket Office

Dean Rudolph Alexander, in reply to questions concerning the elimination of ticket requirements for student activities, has released the following statement.

"It has come to my attention that some students and faculty members do not realize that they can be admitted to concerts, plays, lectures, and entertainment on their ID Cards just before curtain if seats are available. This has always been our policy, but perhaps it should be included in the news story announcing each program."

Everyone is strongly urged to come by the Central Ticket Office and get his ticket prior to a program. Those with tickets will be admitted first and will be able to get the best seats. For many programs, there will not be any seats left after those with tickets are seated; therefore, it is easy to see the importance of securing a ticket.

The Central Ticket Office operates to serve the students, faculty, staff, and the public. It provides a sizable amount of income to the SGA from ticket sales, while it provides an orderly method of securing tickets for the students, faculty, and staff. Continued improvements in service are constantly being studied. Suggestions are always welcomed."

CANDIDATES MEETING

... Candidates running in Thursdays election receive briefing ...

Traditionally Scotch by Hunter Haig

Imported from Scotland by Hunter Haig, this Kilty Tweed sportcoat is the correct and comfortable choice for the spectator and active sportsman. Hunter Haig's good taste is carried out in shoulders which round over softly, in just wide enough lapels that roll naturally. In a variety of patterns and color tones that bespeak the Highlands and the Bagpiper.

Hunter Haig
For the traditionalist who is also an individualist

THE Campus Courier

Something To Think About . . .

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following paragraphs are a portion of an article from the upcoming October 4, edition of Look Magazine. The author of the article, entitled "The Case For The Small College," is senior Look Editor, Christopher S. Wren. The article not only airs some of the benefits of the small college, but more important for East Carolina prompts us to think about the failings of the large college and why students are often caught in the crisis of a non communicative student-faculty relationship.)

"Don't send my son to Harvard," an old college drink song tearfully pleaded back in the days when you could afford to be choosy. With the youth wave yet to crest on the college campus, anxious parents now are relieved to get their offspring in almost anywhere. This fall, 6,055,000 collegians will be squeezing into 2,207 accredited institutions of higher learning in the United States. By 1970, the enrollment will climb to 7,225,000.

In the elbowing for classroom seats, some good educational bets are being overlooked among the better, though less ivied, small private colleges, which keep the calm of less hectic years. Their campuses seem so Hollywood-picturesque that no one would be surprised if a fusty old dean emerged dancing a softshoe routine with the freshman football team. They exude first name informality. Many have close church ties, although the president of one claims that today "the affiliation is more of affection than a legal tie."

The trouble with small colleges is that they look too wholesome to be true. The high school senior asks: "It's a lovely place to visit, but can I get an education here?"

At a good small college, the answer is a solid "yes." President John W. Nason of Carleton College in Northfield, Minn., explains: "The small college offers the students the center of the stage, as distinct from the large university. The small college will give the high-school graduate a better chance to develop more of his potential because competition is less keen. Athletic competition is less than at a larger university. There's a better chance for leadership, a chance many students wouldn't otherwise have."

The smaller schools are accessible. Last year, despite their limited enrollment, The Council for the Advancement of Small Colleges reported that more than half of its 81-member institutions still had openings for students. They may cost more than tax-supported universities, but Gordon White, assistant director of admissions at Lake Forest College in Lake Forest, Ill., says: "A student can attend a small college more cheaply if he is in financial need. We base scholarships on need. The state universities award a tuition grant, which still leaves you room and board to pay." He estimates that half of Lake Forest students receive financial aid.

A small college will take an applicant who it thinks will graduate. A state university will take in many more but may flunk out a third of its freshman class. White feels strongly: "We just don't put our admissions on IBM cards. There's a lot of agonizing that goes into them." Dean of the College Howard W. Troyer at Cornell College in Mt. Vernon, Iowa, says his admissions office is told: "Never accept a student unless you think he can make it. We don't want him to fail."

Dean Troyer thinks "the freshman year is the most important in a student's academic life. If you shuttle him around in large classes and then fail him because he didn't remember enough, you've defeated his psychologically. On the other hand, if a student still needs you when he graduates, you haven't educated him enough."

The trademark of the small college is a half-filled classroom, where even a freshman can argue with a professor. "Classes are so small," says one president, "that intellectually the student is always on trial." At larger schools teaching freshmen is a chore left to graduate students. Says a classics professor, "Being given a teaching position at a university is not an honor but a job. Graduate students are harried or pressed for time, and the elementary classes get short-changed." The best of the small schools insist that every faculty member teach at least one freshman course.

The relationship between teacher and student becomes a two-way street. Arthur Kistner, an assistant professor of English at Cornell College, taught earlier at the University of Illinois: "There, I might have one or two good students who really cared to learn. The rest were just putting in their time, and you were tempted to do the same. Here, a man is judged on his teaching, and at least a quarter of the students really care. I'm not reluctant to give free time, because I enjoy it."

'Foah Score And Seven Years Ago, My Grandfather...'

By ROBERT EWEGEN
The Collegiate Press Service

(As presented by Little Boy Johnson, president of the United States and grandson of a former President whom we all know and love. The address was delivered at the dedication of the American military cemetery "Gettysburg East," outside of Saigon in the year 2052.)

Mah fellow Americans:

Foah score and seven yeahs ago, my grandfather brought forth upon this continent of Asia a new political concept, conceived in expediency and dedicated to the proposition that we are better dead than red.

Now we are engaged in a Great Society (oops, I mean a Great Civil War), and for that matter have been engaged in that Great Civil War for four score and seven yeahs now, testing whether that concept of a permanent American military presence in Asia or any concept so ill-conceived and so ineptly executed, can long endure.

We are met on a great battlefield of that war, a battlefield where General Ky was overthrown by General Hee, where General Hee was overthrown by General Me, where General Me was overthrown by General Wee, where General Wee was overthrown by General Gee, and so forth through the 56 different coups that finally culminated last spring in General Flea's government, which we are now convinced is in a position to bring to this nation the political stability that is so necessary if we are to begin to effectively roll back the aggression from the north.

Excuse me folks, I just received an urgent note. (Oh no, not again.) Hrrumph. What I meant was the 57 coups which finally culminated in General She's coup three minutes ago which we are finally convinced is in a position to at last offer this nation the political stability that is . . .

Hmmrph Be that as it may. We have come to dedicate this battlefield as a fitting memorial to the light to moderate losses that our forces have sustained over the past 87 yeahs so that my grandfather and his successors could test the theory that the way to bring Hanoi to the peace table was to escalate further.

It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this, and anyone who thinks otherwise is a nervous nellie and probably a traitor besides and simply helping to prolong the war.

The world will long note and long remember what we did here, probably because we will still be long doing it, but the world will probably never understand why we did it.

And frankly, I'm fed up with that kind of idiotic questioning emanating from the capitals of the world over the last nine decades! I don't care why we are here! The point is we are here and it's too late to pull out now! We are going to stay here. We are going to escalate! This unpatriotic practice of deferring grandfathers has to stop so that we build up our troop commitment to 68,000,000 men. Only then will we have an adequate strength ratio of 84 to 1 necessary to put down this insurrection.

And as long as I am president, mah fellow Americans, I promise you this: we shall not withdraw, I promise that this nation, under me, shall have a new birth of conformity (boy will we shut up those peace-niks) and that government of consensus, by manipulation for the sake of saving face shall not perish from the earth, although admittedly the population might.

(Ewegen is editor of the Colorado Daily.)

ATTENTION

All persons interested in serving as a delegate to the Model United Nations or the N. Carolina State Student Legislature should come by the SGA office immediately and sign up. These two conventions are open to all interested persons. Freshmen are especially encouraged to sign up.

From The Belfry

Another New Dorm Crisis...

By John Stone

Everyone has been worried about the new girls dorm. You know that it is supposed to fall this year.

Well, last week a young lady who lives on the 10th floor accidentally slipped and her foot hit the wall. Did she hurt her foot? No. Her foot went right on through the wall.

Now the wall is crumbling. From what I can tell it looks as if it is made of some sort of fiberboard, or maybe better yet, a very heavy type of paper.

Well, I'm not sure that I care to live there. I've just started writing this column and I'd hate to have my journalistic career stopped before it starts.

The University Party held its first meeting last Wednesday night. I was unable to attend but some of my friends did. Apparently they are having trouble getting anyone to run. It seems that everyone who is anyone is a member of the Student Party. At least that is what they say.

I will be very much interested in seeing how the elections turn out this Thursday. There is dissention among the ranks of the SP and the UP is simply trying to get members. Oh, well, I suppose that's politics for you. At any rate, do get out and vote. Only you can prevent a total Party take over.

What's all the big cheese on campus for lately? We have seen city detectives, city police, and even representatives from the Sheriff's department floating around.

We all understand that we are not to drink at the football games, but now to start watching Mr. Julian's Bar-B-Q Special. Please Give me liberty or send me to Chapel Hill.

ATTENTION MALE FRESHMEN: There is a shrewd animal on campus that is out to get you. He is easily recognized by his Fall coverage. Generally, he will wear tassel loafers (black or brown), over the calf socks, Corbin slacks, a blue, yellow, or white Gant shirt, and pants will be held halfway up under his arms with an Alligator belt. Some have a tie or sweater or both; however these articles are optional.

At any rate, all wear a small jeweled pin on the left side of the chest. Be careful that one does not fast talk you. Listen to what he has to say then ask questions.

If you find right ones, it can be the best thing that ever happened to you. Take your time and don't take the first piece of bait. See all, and then decide. You'll be much happier.

Would you believe there are only 76 more shopping days until Christmas.

Quote of the Week (On an air mail letter sent to Harvard University from the Business Manager of the EAST CAROLINIAN) "FLY IT"

Letters To The Editor

Letter to the Editor

Fellow students of Belk,

My name will appear on the ticket as CHARLIE WATSON Thursday running for representative of Belk dormitory. I won't promise to accomplish things that sound good and then realize that I can't do anything. I do promise that I will stand up as long as I'm in college for your rights as students. For one thing, I think we need space at all dorms especially Garrett, and Fletcher to pick up our dates. I'm sure I'm not the only one that has received a ticket while calling for my date. Fellows, I can't accomplish anything by myself — I need your help to do these things. I sincerely hope you help by voting for me Thursday, September 29.

Gratefully yours,
Charlie Watson
47-D Belk Hall

Letters to the Editor:

Seniors of E.C.C.:

Through a small oversight on my part, I did not learn of the elections meeting last Thursday. According to the elections rules, I will not be able to print my name on the ballot; yet, I can still run for President of the Senior Class. My friends say I still have a chance to lead my class this year. By writing in my name on the official ballot you can vote for me for Senior Class President. This voting must be done exactly like this:

X Ben Webb
under the other candidates for President. Your vote and consideration will be appreciated.

Sincerely,
Ben Webb

Dear Editor:

During the course of this coming week, the students of East Carolina College will be given an opportunity to select their class officers and S.G.A. Representatives. The most unique feature of the election is that for the first time two political parties are competing to secure these positions. The voters now have to examine both the over-all structure of each party and the personal record of each candidate involved to be able to make a wise decision.

The Student Party has offered its platform and philosophy to the voters as a means of informing them of our goals for the coming year. I find no preparation of such a platform when examining the statements of the University Party. Just where does the University Party disagree with the records, platform and philosophy of the Student Party. As a matter of fact, I have not been able to discuss campaign issues with a University Party chairman, for there is none. I contend that the University Party is administratively and ideologically unorganized. All I find is a group of people who feel that they must have a tag on their name to win an election.

Mr. Deal, who is the guiding force in the creation of the University Party, seems to feel that there is enough magic in a party name to win an election. I feel it is the magic of a carefully thought out program and highly organized campaign that produces the all-important product of success.

Sincerely,
Barry Allen Blick
Student Party Chairman

Dear Editor,

On Thursday of this week the students will have an opportunity to select the people who will represent them in the coming year as student leaders and representatives. They will also have an opportunity to choose between two parties, the year old Student Party, and the newly formed University Party.

The University Party, or shall I say "Bill Deal," has been challenged on the point of a platform. I have stated clearly the goals of the new party. Our prime purpose is exactly what we have done . . . form a two party system. If my memory serves me correctly, the Student Party had a very slow start. The University Party at its first meeting, had more people than the Student Party now has in attendance. At this meeting ideas were discussed, plans for the future made, and a working basis for the year begun. How in heaven's name can a party just started be a success without some time to get on its feet? There must be a beginning.

The Student Party as of yet has given the students no "pie in the sky" for this year. We have seen what was done last year. Again, how can the University Party tell what it has done when it was just born?

I had strong convictions against the Student Party plan of reappointment for this year. I, no doubt, will have strong objections to many of the things they will do this year. Now, a party will be in existence to help in the fight to vote negatively on measures of the opposite party.

I, and I am sure that I speak for the party, being temporary Chairman, that the University Party in many ways seeks the same goals as does the "SP." We intend to have a slate of officers in the coming election, and contrary to what Mr. Blick may think we do have an organized campaign that will be a success. By a success I do not mean a landslide, but again the birth of a force that will combat the present one party domination.

Bill Deal

East Carolinian

Published semiweekly by the students of East Carolina College, Greenville, North Carolina

Member
Carolinian Collegiate Press Association
Associated Collegiate Press
Editor Nellie Lee
Business Manager Richard Daves
Associate Editor Becky Hobgood
Secretary Wooty Hagan
Subscription rate $5.00

Mailing address: Box 2516, East Carolina College Station, Greenville, N. C.
Telephone, PL 2-5716, or PL 8-8426, extension 244

New EC Mascot Roars Out Spirit

Saturday's football game saw a new addition to East Carolina's school spirit. The cannon, which was borrowed by Frank Rice, SGA Vice-president, will be on hand to "sound the cause" for four out of five home games this season.

A special event of Homecoming this year will be the naming of the Pirates' new mascot. Anyone with suggestions for a name to the cannon may submit them to Frank Rice or Dean Hardee in the SGA offices on third floor Wright Annex.

On Monday, Oct. 3, there will be an election in the CU Entrance to decide an appropriate title. The name should be descriptive of E.C.'s school spirit. The person submitting the winning name will receive a monetary reward. The winning name and its originator will be announced in next Tuesday's EAST CAROLINIAN.

Now we'll blow our opponents over with our spirit (and cannon).

PAMLICO ROOM
... Students enjoy change of atmosphere ...

Pamlico Room Provides Change

By DOYLE PERDUE
Staff Writer

complaints about the cafeterias on campus. A few people have found a solution to the problem of eating well at prices suited to a student's budget. This solution is the Pamlico Room.

Located beneath South Cafeteria, the Pamlico Room serves students from 9:30 a.m. until 10:00 p.m. on Monday through Friday and from 4:00 until 10:00 p.m. on Sunday. The Pamlico Room is operated in conjunction with the cafeterias to give the students continuous service from 7:30 a.m. until 10:00 p.m.

Although each cafeteria line serves five people per minute, the four cafeterias are unable to provide speedy service. The Pamlico Room was opened to relieve the load on the cafeterias. Also the Pamlico Room is convenient for the students. Students can obtain late snacks or take food back to their dormitory.

The Pamlico Room prepares short orders and cold plates as well as dinners. A hungry student can buy any type of sandwich he desires, as well as steaks, seafood, vegetables, and salads. Several specials are offered, such as a ten ounce steak with potatoes, onion rings and a salad for one dollar and forty-nine cents. The prices of food are slightly higher than the prices in the cafeterias; however, prices average from ten to twenty per cent lower than prices at the local beameries.

The Pamlico Room compares favorably with the other cafeterias. A better selection of food is offered, and it is prepared on the spot. The hours of the Pamlico Room are more convenient for the students than the cafeterias. Students who patronize the Pamlico Room heartily recommend it to other students.

Students, Faculty Arrange Lectures

Nine East Carolina College students are working with several faculty members to present during the 1966-67 season one of the campus' most ambitious lecture series.

Bill Ruffy, a sophomore from Concord, is student chairman of the group. Other student members are Bruce Johnson of Ayden, Pat Fridly of Pleasant Garden, David Summerfield of Chesapeake, Va., Ben Terrell, Jean Webb and Be'h Wilson of Raleigh, Bennie Teel of Greenville and Steve Yelverton of Fremont.

U. S. Senator Peter Dominick, R-Colo. opened this year's lecture series. A Democratic senator, Albert Gore of Tennessee, is scheduled to continue the series tonight in Old Austin Auditorium.

Other programs planned for the year — and there are nine in all — include lectures by John Spencer Churchill, nephew of Sir Winston, and Columbia University historian Dr. Richard Hofstadter. Also on schedule are several film-lecture programs.

Plans for the series and for each event in it are made by Ruffy's student group in conjunction with six faculty committee members: Dr. Hubert Coleman, history; Dr. John East and Herbert Carlton, political science; Dr. William Byrd, physics; Dr. H. Daniel Stillwell, geography and geology; and SGA concert manager Rudolph Alexander, chairman.

Graduate Students
PUT YOUR WIFE TO WORK! AS SECRETARY-RECEPTIONIST
 Contact: Dwight R. Fickling, Chaplain
 Baptist Student Center, 404 East 8th Street
 Tel. 752-4646

FINANCIAL SUCCESS ON THE CAMPUS

or
How to Keep Your Money From Running Out Before Your Month Does

First get yourself a checking account. (Wachovia, preferably.) That way you always have a current record of your financial position. You can pace yourself. Besides, if you're not carrying all that cash in your pocket, you're not as likely to spend it. If you do choose Wachovia—and we hope you do—you'll have a choice of Regular or Pay-As-You-Go. With Pay-As-You-Go you pay only for the checks you write. No checks, no charge. But either way, you'll like checking with Wachovia. Why not come in and talk it over?

WACHOVIA
BANK & TRUST COMPANY
 Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

REBEL MAGAZINE

... Business manager Henry Townsend and Editor Ron Watson discuss plans . . .

New Rebel Staff Aims High; Watson Lists Current Goals

By JIM FLEMING

Until a couple of years ago, East Carolina had one of the top literary magazines to be found on American campuses with at least three all American top honor ratings to its credit. After two pretty lean years, this year's determined and almost completely new staff, headed by Ron Watson, is reaching for a return to the spirit and quality of "The Rebel" at its best.

Ron, who transferred from Waford before going into the Navy, will be a senior next quarter and is twenty-four. He carries a double science. When asked the purpose of "The Rebel" he said,

"The main purpose of "The Rebel" is to provide for the members of East Carolina College a means of creative expression. Hopefully, this expression will arouse in some degree an interest in social, political, and economic concerns. We are convinced that our point of view should be centered in our interpretation of the title of magazine and the region in which the magazine exists. Whatever the original intentions were, the current "Rebel" is rebelling. This rebelling is not aimless, but is directed at making a contribution to eastern North Carolina through the material published in "The Rebel."

Ron is backed by the associate editor, Bettie Adams; the assistant editor, Pat Wilson; the business manager, Henry Townsend; the copy editor, Nargo Teu; and several others.

Along with the new staff have come new ideas. Along with short stories, interviews, poetry, and the regular art section, there will be readied the book reviews and after three years, editorials. Completely new will be photographic essays and drama.

The literature and art will be accepted only from the students, faculty, and administrators and will be at least two thirds student work. The staff is open to all interested people to serve on the art staff. "The Rebel" office is on the top floor of Old Austin with office hours posted on the door. Anyone interested in serving on the staff and or contributing to the magazine is invited to drop by.

Greenville Proclaims 'Constitution Week'

By JOSEPH ROMITA

Associate Professor of Economics. This week of September 17-23 proclaimed "Constitution Week" by Greenville City Mayor S. Eugene West, marks the 179th anniversary of the signing of the United States Constitution. Its adoption was one of the greatest achievements in American history.

A hundred and seventy-nine years is not a long span in history — and yet it is enough to make our Constitution the oldest in existence; few nations indeed have managed to make their political institutions so long endure.

The wealth of America lies more so in its people — than in its land resources. We have our present-day richness and strength to prove that a society with an open mind can better welcome the new and original ideas and techniques which can enrich, and have enriched, our economy, our culture, and our spirit.

Yet, as citizens of this democracy we cannot allow ourselves simply to stand by as mere onlookers in a world where political and economic change is the only thing that is certain. We must bestir ourselves, accept both the responsibility and the opportunity for service to community and country, find our respective causes and serve them with a will.

In our free society we have the greatest potential for creativity — a society which preserves individual initiative — which maintains a free market place of ideas — which presents an essentially classless character by offering reasonable equality of opportunity, and which is sustained by free universal education. And, out of such creativity we have a chance to select the best in terms of industrial progress, political leadership, social gain, and cultural advance.

As I proudly look back to a half century as an American citizen — I see before me the immigrant's desire to live in the United States as an expression to the irrepressible hunger that fills the hearts of all men for liberty and human dignity.

I'm proud to be an American. Under this Constitution, may "this nation, under God, shall have a rebirth of freedom."

Notices

LOST: A round gold history fraternity pin. It has a black triangle on the face and the letters Phi Alpha Theta. If found, please return to CU office or to Fletcher Hall, Sherry Gillian, Box 1290, Fletcher Hall.

FOUND: Oxford H.S., initials RJE 1963, Blue Stone, Gold.

LOST: A black lady's umbrella with a light wooden handle. Finder, please notify East Carolinian office, Reward.

FOR SALE: Siamese Kittens — Seal point — $10 each. Call 756-3109. Johnny W. Spencer, Jr., Lot 35, Lawson's Trailer Park, Greenville, N. C.

FOR SALE: Smith Corona "Sterling De Luxe" portable typewriter, full keyboard and case. Almost new. Phone 752-7222.

Unhindered

Something for action. For shaking off the pleasant sloth of Summer and accomplishing things. The skirt is brief and quick-moving, in a 4x4 checked wool. Fly front, matching belt. Sizes 6 to 16. The tunic poorboy is drop-needle-stitched wool, zippered in back. S-M-L. Both, Dirt Brown, Cactus Green, Persimmon, Foggy Blue, Elderberry, Navy.

222 E. 5th Street

ANNOUNCING 7th ANNUAL

REBEL WRITING CONTEST

$15.00 1st PRIZE
4 CATEGORIES essay poetry fiction
art

$5.00 2nd PRIZE

Entries should be submitted to Rebel
Office room 300, Old Austin, Or College Station, Greenville, N.C. Box 2496

Deadline for entries is October 10, 1966

Flight Instruction Program Motivates Potential Pilots

How would you like to obtain a "Private Pilot's License" without cost, and begin a rewarding career as an Air Force pilot serving your country? As a student with over two years remaining at East Carolina College, you have this opportunity.

This "Flight Instruction Program" is offered by the United States Air Force through the on-campus detachment of the Air Force ROTC. Upon acceptance in the program, you will begin, in your final year at college, instruction at the Pitt-Greenville Airport that should culminate with a "Private Pilot's License."

The Air Force ROTC program also enables you to earn a commission in the United States Air Force while receiving forty dollars a month during the Two Year Program. There are, however, a few requirements in order to qualify. The program requires that you have over two full years on campus prior to graduation and attendance at a Summer Training Camp of six weeks' duration. You must also pass an aptitude test that gauges your potential as a future officer and pilot in the United States Air Force. A physical examination and an interview with the officers on the campus Detachment Staff are also required. You are under no obligation however until you officially enter the program in your junior year at East Carolina College. If you are a junior and plan to attend graduate school at East Carolina College, you may still be able to enter the program.

Even though the qualifications may seem stringent, the rewards are far greater than the requirements. The officer and pilot in the Air Force is a member of a select few. As such, his opportunities for advancement in a challenging career are almost unlimited. You might eventually qualify as an Air Force astronaut. The thrill of flying cannot be matched by any lesser profession.

At present there are twenty (20) cadets participating in the "Flight Instruction Program." They are: Cadets Alton L. Barfield, Jr., Stephen M. Blanchard, Charles K. Butler, Maurice A. Coleman, Jr., Gary E. Davis, David B. Edelen, Robert A. Goodman, Carl C. Guthrie, William E. Harrison, Kenneth T. Joyner, Gary K. Newsome, Russell E. Nolan, Jr., Phillip M. Privette, Douglas B. Rosser, John W. Sheldon, Ronald R. Siegfried, Stephen B. Snteman, Guy P. Sumpter III, Lester F. Welty, and Timothy M. Wooten. If you would like to learn more about this program, talk to any of these men or stop by the Air Force ROTC office in New Austin building.

PRESIDENT'S CUP

... Richard Scott and Bill Dryden of Pi Kappa Phi display their President's Cup which every team aims for during Intramural Season ...

Last Sunday, 25 September 1966 at 12:00, "East Carolina Concepts" program on WNCT-TV Channel 9, showed the "Flight Instruction Program" in action here at East Carolina College.

AFROTC FLIGHT PROGRAM

... Potential Airmen give way to the skies via planes ...

Intramural Corner

Pi Kapps Roll Over Lambda Chi 20-7

Concluding the action of the first week of intramural football, Pi Kappa Phi battled the Lambda Chi Alphas in Fraternity action, with the Jets securing a forfeit over 3rd floor Aycock in the Independent League warfare.

Thursday afternoon, in the "game of the week," Jimmy Dial, Pi Kappa Phi quarterback, threw three touchdown passes as the Pi Kapps clipped Lambda Chi 20-7. Displaying a sharp passing game and tough defense, the Pi Kapps definitely established themselves as the team to beat in the Fraternity League.

Standings as of September 22:
FRATERNITY LEAGUE

	W	L
Pi Kappa Phi	1	0
Pi Kappa Tau	1	0
Pi Kappa Alpha	1	0
Theta Chi	0	0
Kappa Alpha	0	0

Lambda Chi	0	1	Delta Sigma Pi	1	0
Sigma Phi Epsilon	0	1	Stumble Bums	0	0
Alpha Epsilon Pi	0	1	Phi Epsilon Kappa	0	0
Kappa Sigma	0	1	Assorted Nuts	0	0
INDEPENDENT LEAGUE
	W	L	Third Floor Aycock-w	0	0
Jets	1	0	Third Floor Aycock-e	0	1
			AFROTC	0	1

Dormitory Counselors Receive Appointments

East Carolina College Dean of Women Ruth White has announced the appointment of five new women dormitory counselors at the college this fall.

The dormitory staffers, three of whom are replacements, began their duties last week as the 1966-67 school year opened. New counselors are: Garrett Hall, east wing — Inez Fridley of Richmond, Va.; Jarvis Hall — Mrs. Phyllis Hood of Norfolk, Va.; Fletcher Hall, north wing — Nancy Lewis of Farmville; Cotton Hall — Mrs. Sally Parker of Macclesfield; New Dorm, west wing — Gladys Stokes of Pitt County.

Miss Fridley, a graduate of Richmond Professional Institute with a degree in social science, plans to further her graduate studies in guidance and counseling at ECC.

A graduate of the University of Maryland with a BS degree, Mrs. Hood is a former residence hall counselor at the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg, Va.

Miss Lewis returns to her alma mater from Goldsboro where she was a Wayne County Home Economics Extension Agent. She has an AB degree in mathematics and science from Meredith College in Raleigh and an AB in home economics at East Carolina.

Mrs. Parker, a former librarian, has taught in the public schools of Edgecombe County. She earned the AB and MA degrees from East Carolina and has done summer residence hall counseling at Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone.

Miss Stokes, a resident of Greenville, has AB and MA degrees from East Carolina. She is a former teacher in the Pitt County schools.

Try-outs for reading of Evervman will be held Sept. 27, 1966 at 7:30 p.m. in New Austin Auditorium, Room 132. Anyone interested please attend. If you are unable to be there, contact Dr. Ralph Rives, New Austin 313.

The freshmen girls will meet in Old Austin Auditorium on Thursday, September 29, for the purpose of choosing the official class blazer color. This will be a short meeting but an important one. All freshmen girls are urged to be present if possible.

ATTENTION
Anyone interested in joining the Spirit Committee please contact Frank Rice, Vice President of the S.G.A., on third floor of Wright Annex.

The Naval Air Reserve Training Unit (NARTU) will be on campus this week recruiting students for the program. Those interested should see recruiting officer in the Student Union lobby.

Now! The HONDA

Just in time for back-to-campus. Your Honda dealer is having his Fall Sales Spectacular. You'll find the kind of low down payments you've always looked for. The terms are so easy you'll barely notice them. Drop by your Honda dealer's today. Learn why some people have all the fun.

Free Brochure: Write American Honda Motor Co., Inc., Department C-7, Box 50, Gardena, California ©1966 AHM

Clem's Clipboard

Pirates Toppled

By Clem Williams

Winning Streak Broken

The fighting Pirates of East Carolina hosted the Indians of Northeast Louisiana Saturday night. The Indians, operating from an explosive Slot-T offense broke East Carolina's winning at eight straight games since the defeat last year at Furman. The Indians scout certainly told the truth when he said, "We have improved in every phase of the game and that this game will be one of revenge."

Disappointing

"Disappointing" is the word Coach Odell Welborn used to describe Saturday's game against Northeast Louisiana. "I was really disappointed, we made a lot of mistakes and the bad thing about it was that they all came at crucial times in the game. We were penalized forty-five yards. Dalton LeBlanc, their offensive halfback, is a real fine runner and he really had a good game against us."

Coach Welborn also remarked, "We have a lot to do on defense, though we do have some improvement over last week at some positions. We are going to put a lot of emphasis on defense this week because we have a tough game coming up with Furman. This will be our second encounter with Furman and they will not be a pushover."

Second Game D-I-V-E

"The same thing happened last year when we played Furman," noted

Coach Welborn, "and it happened again this year." The Pirates will be wanting revenge against the Paladins because they ruined a perfect season last year.

Fifth Year In College And First Of Football

Dalton LeBlanc, Northeast Louisiana halfback, who scored the winning touchdown against the Pirates is in his fifth year of college. LeBlanc used up four years of eligibility in track and decided to come out for football to finish up his collegiate career. LeBlanc is also the President of the Student Government at Northeast Louisiana State.

"I must say for his first year of football he really looked good just to be a beginner."

Noted Performances

Kevin Moran, defensive tackle, played his usual tremendous football game despite the loss.

Bill Bailey, Pirate tailback, outshined everyone when it came to individual statistics. Bailey rushed for 1411 yards in 19 carries.

Neal Hughes, defensive starter for the Pirates and reserve tailback, came into the game several times and gave the Pirate supporters a thrill with his whiz-bang style of running.

Churchill Grimes, offensive end and reserve defensive end played a rugged game on offense and defense.

Jim Flowe, fullback had several good runs and broke away on several occasions just to be stopped by one lone defender.

And About Furman

The Pirates have an upcoming game with the "Paladins" of Furman University, which I am sure that they want a little revenge for. Furman will come to Greenville to play this time and they will come to play in the "Pirates Den." This will be the Pirates second conference game. Thus far the Pirates have a winless record but I'm sure without a doubt Stasavich will come through with some maneuver for the upcoming game.

NEAL HUGHES

... No. 43 stands deep for the Pirates ...

Athelete Of The Week

Neal Hughes, Triple Threat

By Bruce Summerfield

Neal Hughes, fine junior performer from Asheboro, North Carolina is this week's pick for "athlete of the week." In an era when football is so specialized, Mr. Hughes showed the home folks what a "complete ballplayer" really is.

Against Northeast Louisiana, Neal played the entire game on defense, returned a punt, returned kickoffs, and played a fill in job at offensive tailback with sheer excellence. The offensive show came as no surprise.

As a freshman, the five foot, ten inch, one hundred seventy pounder led the Purple to a victory over the Gold in the annual spring game. He threw for two touchdowns and scored one himself. In his first game of varsity competition, he raced seventy one yards against West Chester the first time he touched the ball. However, Neal hurt his leg against Furman and lost the speed (ten and three tenths seconds in the hundred dash) needed to turn the corner. For the rest of the year he played offense sparingly. Shifted to the defensive backfield, he started at right halfback there for the remainder of his sophomore season. Until that time he had never played defense. Neal played offensive tailback in a split "T" at high school.

Saturday night all Neal did was to rush for fifty two yards on six carries, sparking a touchdown drive. Passing he completed two of four passes (the other two were dropped by receivers) for nineteen yards. He helped the secondary hold the Indians from Louisiana to only seventeen yards passing, and ran back two kickoffs for forty two yards. Neal almost intercepted a pass trying to duplicate his feat against William and Mary. All in all an otherwise sad night for the home forces.

JIM FLOWE

... "Battering Fullback" from Charlotte churns-up turf ...

Sports Illustrated

All-American Preview

NEW YORK — The talent-laden Spartans of Michigan State have placed four players on the 20th annual All-America Preview Football Team named in the current issue of SPORT magazine. Halfback Clinton Jones, who scored 112 touchdowns last season, and end Gene Washington, who grabbed 40 passes for 633 yards, head the offensive club, while play-wrecking end Bubba Smith and pass-pilfering George Webster at halfback bulwark the defensive squad.

Joining Jones at an offensive halfback slot on SPORT'S All-America Preview Team is speedy Floyd Little of Syracuse, a strong pre-season favorite to capture the Heisman trophy, as college football's outstanding player.

The line-busting fullback of the club is 6-4, 240-pound Ray McDonald of the University of Idaho, who rumbled for 1,092 yards on 213 carries last season, scoring 15 touchdowns. Purdue's Bob Griese, who completed 142 of 233 passes for 1719 yards and 11 touchdowns, gets the call at quarterback.

Playing opposite the Spartan's Washington at end is equally talented Davey Williams of Washington, who "will outjump, outmuscle or outreach the defensive back for that ball," say the experts.

The interior linemen are tackles Gary Bugenhagen of Syracuse and Maurice Moorman of Texas A&M, guards LaVerne Allers of Nebraska and Bob Hyland of Boston College, and center Ray Pryor of Ohio State.

On the defensive squad, Michigan

Saad's Shoe Shop
Prompt Service
Located—Middle College View
Cleaners Main Plant
Grand Avenue

State's Bubba Smith is paired at end with Sam Harris, a fine crashing wingman from Colorado. The tackles are Loyd Phillips of Arkansas and George Patton of Georgia, with Nebraska's Wayne Meylan anchoring the center of the defense at middle guard.

The linebackers are Townsend Clarke of Army, Bill Bob Stewart of SMU, and Bob Matheson of Duke. Neal Starkey of the Air Force Academy and Frank Horak of TCU join Webster of Michigan State at defensive back to complete SPORT magazine's 20th annual All-America Preview selections.

ECC TENNIS

Any persons interested in trying out for varsity or freshman tennis should contact coach Harold Bullard in Room 204 in the gymnasium.

Siamese Kittens — Seal Point, $10 each, Call 756-3109.

LOST: A black ladies umbrella with light wooden handle. Lost in Ladies Rest Room on first floor EP building. Finder please notify East Carolinian office. Reward.

Intramural Corner
See
Page 7

LeBlanc Leads Northeast In Upset Victory Over EC

By RALPH SMITH

East Carolina's Pirates suffered their second defeat over a period of two years Saturday night in losing to the Indians of Northeast Louisiana State College 21-14.

Halfback Dalton LeBlanc made the difference scoring two touchdowns including one 63 yard run. The speedy Frenchman had 135 net yards in rushing out of a total 331 for Northeast Louisiana. Quarterback Steve Mansur scored the other Northeast touchdown in the last few seconds of the first quarter.

East Carolina led in a ball game for the first time this year with approximately 3 minutes gone in the third quarter. Senior tailback Bill Bailey moved from the Northeastern 4 yard line to the 3. The Pirates tallied on a run by Jim Flowe to make the score 14-7.

In total offensive yardage Northeast gained 48 yards in comparison to East Carolina's 34. Bill Bailey led the individual statistics with 190 yards in combined rushing and passing. The deciding factor was obviously not the overall statistics, but the failure of the Pirates to come through on important third and fourth downs. Also, the Bucs lost a total of 42 yards in penalties with several of them occurring at crucial points in the game. East Carolina rallied late in the quarter on a 38 yarder by Jim Flowe, and brought the ball to the 12 yard line with a pass from George Gay to Bailey. The Bucs were penalized for having the backfield in motion and Northeast recovered the ball on a pass interception by Ron Gaetano.

With 2:26 remaining in the third period the Bucs took over again after Bill Bailey gathered up 21 yards that began on the East Carolina 29 yard line. With a good combination of passing and rushing the Pirates moved the Indians eight very early in the last quarter. However, on the fourth down with 3 yards needed for a first in ten situation the Northeast line held firm as Neal Hughes was repelled at the line of scrimmage. The Pirates never got within scoring distance again as the Indians rolled on to complete the upset.

The victory was especially sweet for the Louisianians after losing to last year's edition of the Buccaneers 45-0 and winning a total of 3 games in a two year period. The victory was the second in as many weekends for the Indians after scalping Southeast Missouri last weekend 20-9.

East Carolina has not yet entered the win column this year. In their first game the Bucs tied William and Mary 7-7. East Carolina's conference quest continues next weekend as the Paladins from Furman University enter Ficklen Stadium. In addition to looking for the first win of the season the Pirates will have another added incentive as it was Furman that marred the otherwise perfect record of last year's squad.

Memo: To Presbyterian Students AND ALL OTHERS TOO

Last Week 8,824 Students at ECC Did Not Come to the DEN and the ITCH.

For those who may not know, The Den serves supper Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at 5:30 p.m. (home cooked—$1.00), after which there is thirty minutes for talk about things religious and non religious. (We dismiss at 6:45 p.m.)

The Itch is a student coffee house open on Friday and Saturday nights from 8:00 p.m. until midnight. The menu includes coffees, teas, cheese, pancakes, etc. Each hour on the hour there is special entertainment. All of this is non profit of course and students who want to may volunteer to serve as waiters.

Now, if you are tired of going to the same old places and listening to the same trivia, then join the nonconformists and try the DEN and the ITCH.

(Incidentally 200 students DID come to the DEN and the ITCH last week.)