Campus WECC Continues On Air

WECC, East Carolina College radio station, will continue to broadcast throughout the summer. Nick Barnes will be the summer manager.

The radio station is an extra-curricular activity for the students and is operated by the students. They are always interested in finding new staff members. No experience is required for working with the station. Anyone interested in working on commercial radio is urged to participate in the campus radio. The experience is a valuable asset towards getting on a commercial radio.

There is no pay for working on the radio but anyone who sells commercials for the station gets a 5 percent commission.

WECC is the only request station in Greenville. The request number is 758-4250 or college extension 356. The station is on the air from 12 noon until 12 midnight. They broadcast popular and rock music until 10:00 p.m. and slow music from 10 till 12 midnight.

The station participates in just about all of the activities on campus. They will make any announcements concerning campus activities and meetings. They will also broadcast lost and found notices.

Every Friday night WECC sponsors a record hop on the CU patio at 8:30 p.m. Emcee's for the record hops will be Steve Roberts, Jimmy Stephens, Tommy Britt, and Ron Dees.

The members of the radio staff would like to invite all interested students to come by the station on the second floor of the library.

EC English Dept. Adds Journalism

A journalism course will be offered through the English Department beginning Fall Quarter. The new course, the first of its kind at East Carolina, could be the basis for additional journalism courses depending on its success this fall.

Labeled under English 249, the course offers three hours credit consisting of an introduction to newspaper and magazine make up with lectures by professional journalists and experience with The East Carolinian, The Rebel Magazine, and The ECC News Bureau.

Journalism will be taught by Mr. Lowery, new journalism professor and new advisor to the East Carolinian. The course is open to all students with a pre-requisite of English I and II.

English 249 is scheduled at 12:00 on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday in room 309, New Austin Building for Fall Quarter.

Students desiring to enroll, may sign for the journalism course in Drop-Add or Fall Pre-Registration in Second Summer Session. However due to the popularity of journalism, the course will only be open for a short period of time.

Flip Wilson, Anita Sheer Join In Presenting Concert

The first concert of the summer entertainment will be presented next Wednesday, June 21. It will feature Flip Wilson and Anita Sheer. Students, faculty, and staff will not need tickets but will be admitted on their ID cards. Tickets for the public will be issued at the door for $2.00. The concert will be in Wright Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

Flip Wilson is one of today's most outstanding comedians. His ability to hold the attention of the audiences is unquestionable. He has spent many years studying humor and the different approaches to comedy. While on the comedian circuit, he had the opportunity to perform before all types of audiences. He has also appeared on television, notably the 'Johnny Carson Show'.

Flip is known as a 'Jazz Comic' because he has appeared in clubs and on many bills with such famous jazz performers as Ray Charles, Cannonball Adderly, Oscar Peterson, Miles Davis, and Dizzy Gillespie. He is the only comic to ever appear at Birdland, where he played three times a year from 1962 until it closed.

He has played the Village Gates, the Gaslight Club, and Carnegie Hall in New York; the Hungry 1 in San Francisco; and Playboy Clubs all over the country, to name a few of his showcases.

Anita Sheer will appear for the first half of the concert. She is unusually gifted in presenting the folk music which she plays and sings.

Anita sings in twelve languages. Her performance portrays her respect and affection for the music and traditions from the many lands of which she sings.

As an instrumentalist, she could very well get by with her guitar playing alone, for Anita Sheer is Election Apathy?

The election taking place today is the result of hard work and interest by students who are determined not to let government by the students for the benefit of the students fail.

The Elections Committee should be praised for its far-sighted desire to set an early election thus establishing a summer student government as quickly and efficiently as possible.

Twenty students are campaigning ardently for support of their summer government plans from their fellow students. This is a well rounded campaign, for both parties as well as independent candidates are represented.

Yet, four member-at-large offices are vacant. Three dormitory representatives are running unopposed.

Is this the better service promised to the student? Is this the appreciation shown for the summer movies, entertainment, and other SGA benefits?

Certainly no blame can be placed on the Elections Committee or the press coverage for the lack of interest in filing.

Editorial challenges, as do the editorials themselves, go unheeded many times. For the sake of the summer student government, however, please accept this challenge:

Don't let the student freedom on this campus fold because of disinterest; don't let petty prejudices keep you from voicing your opinion on student government, either through this newspaper or through other media at your disposal; and never . . . never, let it be said that the "Ronnie Run Homes of the East" do not care to express their freedom through supporting campus activities.

Can't Sell A Book By It's Cover

"Mucho Thanks" goes to the men working on a book exchange for students. Now perhaps that discontinued $10.00 book can be redeemed for more than old book dealers' prices.

If one can exchange his text books with another student(s) the cost of an education can possibly be held within the excessive mark instead of outrageous.

Students may be able to trade texts this fall rather than having to run over Belk Dormitory at 2:00 a.m. the day before the exam trying to borrow a book.

Academic Evolution

The question has been raised as to why one journalism course has created so much stir among professors and students alike or such as last year when anthropology courses brought appraisal from sociology students.

In the great process of academic evolution, the German courses became the German department.

The History department fathered the Political Science department.

When the Humanities department died, born in its place were the Philosophy and Sociology departments.

The English department's drama courses have produced a Drama and Speech department.

Without jumping the gun and saying, "Look out UNC School of Journalism," we shall stay conservatively optimistic and watch the progress of the new Fall Quarter course.

How Come?

The EAST CAROLINIAN, being of service to the students, tries to find answers to several questions regarding student life. Sometimes however, a few of these questions must be placed in the "Unexplainable How Come Department". Perhaps you can solve some of the following.

"How come at every double door you try to push, it's always the other side that opens?"

"Why is it that the temporarily out of order door in Rawl Building has been broken since Winter?"

"How come the nearest exit on third floor New Austin is always an Up Staircase when you want to go down?"

"Why can't one tack or nail posters onto the trees when they'll probably be cut down next week anyhow?"

"Why is it that an art major girl can wear shorts all the way across campus to and from Rawl Classroom Building during the week and the girl who wants a coke at the service station across the street has to dress in a skirt of acceptable length with matching blouse?"

An Objective View

Decisions By The FCC

By John Sultan

The decision by the Federal Communications Commission dealing with cigarette smoking advertisement is an infringement on private enterprise — the right of every man to produce goods or services for his own benefit with government as a protectorate of individual rights. The decision allows non-smoking interests to present their views, whether the owners of the network want to present them or not. This is a deliberate attempt to destroy the private enterprise system in the television sphere.

The networks are private industries who gain their profits qua livelihood by allotting periods of time to companies for advertising. If the Federal Government intervenes by dictating what a network can advertise and what it cannot advertise, it is then, in essence, determining the profits qua livelihood of the network. In other words, the Federal Government is ruling the lives of each member of the network from president to janitor. The Federal Government does not have the right to dictate the lives of the people; therefore, it does not have the right to dictate what the networks advertise.

If the television networks accept the decision by the Federal Communications Commission, it will not be long before the automobile, plastic bag, or bicycle industries are attacked. These industries are also quite hazardous to the health of the American citizen, and so why should the anti-smoking advocates receive time on the television networks and other anti-anythings receive nothing. And this is the entire issue. Neither the anti-smoking, nor the anti-anythings should receive time on television without the consent of the networks. Once the Federal Government allows one group to present its views, it must let other groups present their views also. Then the television networks cease to be private industries, but they are just toys to be tossed by an advocate of any issue.

The television networks must refute the ruling by the Federal Communications Commission. If they allow this ruling to be imposed on them, television will cease to be a private industry, but it will become a puppet of the Federal Government. Television will become a service to the public, and any person or group that can pressure the Federal Government can serve the public. Pressure will be the mandate in the television industry, and eventually pressure will destroy the industry.

The television networks have been free to select their own advertisements, and they should be allowed to continue doing so. Destruction of the decision is essential to continue television as a private industry; hopefully, the networks agree.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

DEAR EDITOR:

The following resolution was passed at Glendon College, York University, Toronto, Canada. Inquiries should be made to the President of the Student Council, Larry Goldstein. Applications and Calendars can be obtained directly from the Registrar's Office of Glendon College.

It is hoped that other universities in Canada will adopt the same cooperative attitude towards conscientious objectors. Furthermore it is recommended that interested students apply for Canadian Land-Immigrant status as this is permanent, whereas student visas are temporary.

The President of the Glendon College Student Council promises every aid in his power to such American students.

In view of the dangerous escalation by the United States in Viet Nam, we, the Student Council of Glendon College, York University, feel that we must speak out. We condemn the American escalation as liable to lead to a major war.

We urge that the Canadian Government stop the shipment of war materials to the United States and voice its disapproval of this American action.

We recognize the validity of young men's refusal to serve in armed forces anywhere. It is our wish, then, that the administration of Glendon College aid the cause of peace by accepting late, though valid applications from foreign students whose studies have been interrupted by their refusal to obey their country's call to arms.

It is resolved, therefore, that the Student Council make known these recommendations so that interested conscientious objectors may apply to this institution and be made welcome here.

Students with non-Canadian certificates are advised to apply for admission to Glendon College by July 1 (see page 20 of the Calendar for 1966-67), but late applications will be considered.

The Council Saw War

By Gerry Atkins

Certainly one of the most interesting spectacles of recent times took place last week as the United Nations Security Council debated and re-debated the crisis in the middle East. One could evaluate many things about the internal workings of that organization and world diplomacy by watching the action that took place before millions of viewers.

The observer was repeatedly led to wonder about the worth and ability of the U. N. as more and more reports of bloodshed and devastation came in. The Security Council met almost continuously in emergency sessions after the fighting broke out to try to put an end to what it had hoped would never begin. It took two cease-fire resolutions by the Council before any agreeable answer came from the combatants. However, not even the strongest of U. N. supporters believe the resolutions influenced Jordan to become the first Arab nation to call it quits. It took a vicious Israeli pounding to make the Jordanians seek peace.

Egypt's President Nasser, who found out later that he had not been dealt a good enough hand to defeat that of Israel, made the initial threat of fireworks when he told U. N. peacekeeping troops to get out. This was the first indication to observers of the weakness of the U. N. It is only as powerful as the faithful support it receives from its member nations. The Communist nations have shown time and again that they are interested in peace only if their prosperity is endangered by war. They showed moral and oratorical support for the Arabs and could not have cared less about peace until Israel started its onslaught against its favored foes. Only then did conscientious peace negotiations begin on all sides, as Soviet courage was tested, and, once again, found to be lacking.

The United Nations, however, is not a completely useless organization. Although it does have inadequate peacekeeping machinery, it can help to repair damage after the cruelties of war are completed. Also, the U. N. provides a necessary forum for discussion by nations. When war occurs, the U. N. is seen as being weak, but, during long non-war periods, peaceful discussions of common national interests are often overlooked. Not until man completely loses his animal tendency of aggressiveness will the United Nations be regarded by all as a working success.

Toward the end of last week's war the Council sessions began to grow rather comical as the Arabs and their supporters charged Israel with grave war atrocities. Israel was bent on destroying them all, they said, and they just could not understand why. This was, of course, a face-saving move, just as was Nasser's earlier collaboration with King Hussain of Jordan to agree to tell the world that the U. S. and Britain had sent planes to help Israel.

The United States ambassador, Arthur Goldberg, greatly disappointed many Americans with his petty pleas for cease-fire by all sides, including Israel. What was obviously an attempt to soothe ill feelings brought on by the war, Goldberg disappointed those Americans who are tired of our government playing patty-cake with folks like Nasser at the excuse of so-called diplomacy. Goldberg's theme was to blame Secretary General U Thant for withdrawing U. N. troops. He should have told the Security Council and the world that the U.S. was delighted with Israeli successes and the Arabs would receive our support only when we received theirs.

Elections Letters To The Students

President

Bill Elam

Students,

In my previous years at East Carolina College I have participated in various activities which have really meant a great deal to me. My experience includes being a member of the SGA Legislature, Men's Honor Council, Homecoming Committee, Freshman Orientation Counselor, Campus Traffic Committee, University Party Committee For Laundry Facilities in the Men's Dormitories, and I shall be on the Public Defender's Staff in Summer School for Judicial Trials. My campaign posters read, 'A friend sincerely interested in his fellow students'. I want to serve you! This is the reason why I chose to run for President of Summer School.

Many students, especially politically-minded students, take such a nonchalant view of Summer School Government as something which must exist, but appears to be nothing more than mediocre. Why not have a Summer School Government that is looked back upon as an action group? When students return in the Fall they will then notice that some action has been taken!

It is with this 'action ambition' which I feel can accomplish something this summer. Two main objectives will be the center of action.

First, I would like to see East Carolina College observe Independence Day, July 4th, with the absence of classes. Perhaps an extra afternoon or evening of classes would be mandatory if this legal holiday was observed with no classes this year. If this cannot be done this summer, why not present this to the administration so that the schedules for the following summers can be arranged so that no classes will be held July 4th of succeeding summers?

Another idea which I have been confronted with is the relaxation of the college rules pertaining to women students wearing Bermuda shorts on campus, and I feel the girls are justified in this complaint. If these policies were passed this summer I think next year's Student Government can look back to the Summer School Government and see that some action has taken place.

Thus, I humbly request that you vote for me for President of the Student Government Association so that I may be able to serve you.

Thank You,

Bill Elam
Candidate for President

Students,

I have known Bill Elam for more than a year and can really say that he is not only qualified but definitely the best possible choice for president of Summer School SGA.

Bill has worked hard for the students in unnoticed roles repeatedly for the past two years. Being a member of the legislature, Men's Honor Council, Homecoming Committee, Freshmen Orientation Counselor, and more; he is truly one person who cares about you, the students.

If you want a president who gets things done, doesn't mind doing hard work, takes excessive pride in his work and will talk to all interested students about the SGA, Bill Elam is your man.

I am really glad that Bill decided to run for president, not only because he can do an excellent job, but also because he really deserves such a job. I only wish that I was in summer school so that I could vote for Bill, but instead I am supporting him 100 percent. I sincerely hope and request that you do the same by putting him into office.

Thank You,
Layton Getsinger
Treasurer, SGA

Dear Students,

Elect Bill Elam president of SGA and you can't go wrong! I have known Bill quite some time and he definitely possesses all the qualities a president needs. He is really a workhorse who will do anything for anyone. He is the type of person who really works and will not complain when the going gets rough. Added to this quality characteristic is his delightful attitude towards work. He is not only interested in doing an excellent and thorough job, but also is quite an inspiration. When everyone else is frustrated and wants to quit, Bill is right there pushing on, inspiring everyone to go just a little further. This is the type of person you need for president! I really can't express the high degree of quality for candidacy which is innate in Bill, but I sincerely urge you to elect him and find out exactly what I mean.

Thank You,
Sherry Robertson
Historian

John K. Meares

Dear Students,
As a candidate for the position of

S.G.A. President, I am taking this opportunity to tell you of my interest in seeking this position. I have served in all branches of the S.G.A. and I feel that for this reason, that I am not only familiar with student government policy, but I am also qualified to seek this position. I am asking for your support today in the S.G.A. election for President. Whether elected or not, I will continue to do my best for you the student, and to work for your best interest.

Please bear in mind that a President is only as good as the people who are elected with him. For the reason I am asking that you also vote for the Student Party candidates. Do not be led by false promises; and if I and the SP candidates are elected we make one promise, and that is to do the best job of representing you the students. In the past the Student Party has looked out for the interest of the students, and we will continue to look out for your interest.

Thank You,

John K. Meares

Dear Editor,

For the past two years I have watched and observed John Meares, and the work that he has done for the S.G.A. and the student body. John has given two years of faithful service to the S.G.A., and he has done it with the intentions of making East Carolina College a better school. John has worked on so many committees and has represented the school in a very fine way. If a person would just read John's campaign poster they will be amazed at the things that John has done for the students and for the school.

If elected, I know that John will represent and do the very best job for the students and school as he has done in the past. I urge all students to cast a vote for John K. Meares today, and if you do, you will know that you have done the right thing by the way John handles the job of President.

Sincerely,

Sandra Rabhan

Dear Students,

I suppose that the ideal voter in a political election is a person that can choose a candidate in an unbiased manner, but for me, it is rather difficult to be an unbiased voter when one of the candidates is John Meares. I say this because for two years I have seen John serve the student body without expecting to receive recognition or compensation.

As a past SGA President, I do not believe there is anyone that has appreciated the services that John has rendered to the SGA any more than I, because he fulfilled many committee positions and served in many unrewarded posts which were a necessary part of the SGA. It has been this type of attitude that has made John an integral part of Student Government and frankly it is my hope that each one of you will give him your vote of confidence today as he has given you his in the past.

Steve Sniteman

Vice President

Steve Morrisette

To the students,

I would like to take this opportunity to declare myself a candidate for the office of vice-president of the Student Government Association. Having served in the legislature this past year as a representative from Jones Hall and as a member of the rules committee, I have become familiar with SGA procedures. For the past two years I have lived on the hill and as a freshman served as a representative in the MRC. If elected I will work for all of the students at East Carolina and try to make summer school a progressive period for student government. Your vote will be greatly appreciated on Thursday.

Sincerely,
Steve Morrisette

Dear Students,

In political campaigns, it seems that it is common procedure for a person to campaign on all the job qualifications that he possesses. I suppose all of this is a necessary part of government, but as a girl I cannot honestly say that I can expand upon Steve's work as a Dormitory Counselor, SGA Legislator, or Delegate to Model United Nations, as I am sure many of the boys can, but what I can say, and what is just as important to me as a woman student, is the personal qualifications of Steve Morrisette.

As the Rose of his fraternity, I have seen many girls put in awkward situations and at all times Steve has been a gentleman, regardless of the circumstance. In effect, he is the kind of person anyone can respect and admire.

I hope that today, each one of you will consider Steve Morrisette for Vice President, for I know that with his political and personal qualifications, he can help us achieve our college goals with his leadership.

Sincerely,
Nita Barbee

Secretary

Becki Barrow

To the Editor:

Realizing how important the activities of the Student Government Association are at East Carolina College, I feel that each student enrolled in this institution should have a voice in these actions. And what better way can be found to voice one's opinion than by being able to elect one's own leaders. Voting is not only the right of each individual student, but also it is his responsibility. Therefore I urge each of you to BE a part of your Student Government by voting in the Summer School Elections on Thursday, June 15, 1968.

Becki Barrow

Candidate for SGA
Secretary

Legislature

John Reynolds

Fellow Students:

In a few hours the polling places will close. If you have not voted, please vote. The Summer School Legislature will be appropriating tens of thousands of dollars, and the various agencies and executives of the Summer School SGA will be handling this money. This is YOUR MONEY. If you do not vote you are, in effect, saying you don't care what happens to your money. By not voting you are increasing the possibility that candidates who do not care about your needs will be elected. You are increasing the chance of candidates being elected who have not given a thought to the fact that they will have to bear the burden of responsibility to see your needs are met and to see that your money is spent in YOUR BEST INTERESTS.

Sincerely,

John Reynolds (SP)
Candidate for Legislature,
Member-at-large

University Party

To the Editor:

I would personally like to give my support to the candidates running on the University Party ticket for executive officers. I can positively say that by placing your support behind Bill Elam for President, Paul Shanon for Vice-President, Becki Barrow for Secretary, and Ikey Breedlove for Treasurer as a 'write in' candidate, that these four, along with the student legislature, will work as a unit to provide a most successful Student Government for you, the students. Bill, Paul, Becki, and Ikey are perhaps fresh on the political front, but this is why I am supporting them. They are hard workers interested merely in the good of the students, and not bickering about silly little political matters that don't help the students one way or the other. Bill, Paul, Becki, and Ikey are capable and qualified for their positions, so I hope you, the students, will join with me in supporting the University Party in the election today.

Thank You,

CU - Center Of Campus Life

Many students do not realize the numerous activities, services, and facilities provided by the College Union. Miss Cynthia Mendenhall, Director of College Union Activities and Miss Anne Sherrill, Assistant to the Director have worked many long hours for the betterment of the College Union. These ladies have succeeded past and present in making the College Union the campus center of recreational and social activities, as well as a service center.

CU Organization

Certainly to be credited for its hard work and determination is the College Union Organization. This group is open to all students, both undergraduate and graduate. The officers slated for Summer School are Tom King, Pres.; Betty Jo Sunday, V. Pres.; and Nancy Kuhn, Sec. The Activities Chairmen are Danny Long, Bingo-Ice Cream Committee; Harold Chambers, Watermelon Feast Committee; Jim Crayton, Table Tennis; and Tommy Hicks, Dance Committee.

ACTIVITIES

Bingo-Ice Cream

Among the most enjoyable CU activities in Summer School are the Bingo-Ice Cream Parties scheduled on Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in CU 201. Prizes of all kinds are given to the winners. Some given last week were: a lawn chair, a waste paper basket, ECC mugs and ice buckets. Cones of ice cream are scooped up by the committee members as quickly as the students can manage to cram them in. The players receive prizes for everything including one for losing. The students enjoy the opportunity to play, eat and win prizes.

Watermelon Feasts

Watermelon feasts are always enjoyed by the overheated summer school students, faculty and staff members. These feasts will soon be underway. They will be held approximately every ten days. Last summer, some students missed the feasts due to class schedules, so, to make sure everyone has a chance to get their share, they will be scheduled on different days during the school week.

Dance Parties

To add to the fun of the weekend, dance parties this summer, the Campus Radio is making plans with the CU to have dances on Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. on the patio. Usually the dances are held in 201 CU Building but weather permitting, they will be moved outside. A combo dance has also been planned for Wednesday, July 12 in Wright Auditorium.

Bridge

The CU has scheduled a Beginners Bridge Class in Room 214 at 3:00 every Tuesday and Thursday. This class teaches the fundamentals of bridge for those interested. Also for more advanced players, Duplicate Bridge is scheduled for Monday nights at 7 p.m. in Room 114.

Bowling

without doubt one of the finest female guitarists in the world today. The New York Magazine calls her 'the best girl Flamenco guitarist in the world.'

The first person ever to be accepted as a pupil of the great Carlos Montoya, Anita also studied the guitar in Spain, learning the art of Flamenco from its creators — the gypsy minstrels.

She has demonstrated her art at such notable bistros as the Blue Angel and Number One Fifth Avenue in New York; the Gate of Horn in Chicago; and the Hungry 1 in San Francisco; as well as throughout Europe.

Television viewers have seen her on such highly popular fare as the 'Garry Moore Show', the 'Jack Paar Show', 'Hootenanny', and 'P.M. West' here in the states, as well as on the BBC in London.

Jack & Sally Jenkins Mark III Trio

The second summer concert will be presented Wednesday, June 23. It will feature 'Jack & Sally Jenkins' and 'The Mark III Trio'.

Jack & Sally Jenkins, fast becoming the number one singing team in the nation, are responsible for the continuation of that great and uniquely American tradition, the romantic singing team. Medleys from great Broadway musicals, operatic arias, folk songs — with Sally's flute and Jack's guitar as accompaniment and original interpretations of popular ballads are all expertly covered by the talented couple.

Jack and Sally met while attending the University of Tampa where they received Bachelor of Science degrees in music education. They were discovered by Guy Lombardo who booked them for a year long tour. They have appeared on the Mike Douglas and Ed Sullivan television shows, performed leading roles in several Off-Broadway productions and have been engaged by the Americana Hotel in New York and the Fontainebleau in Miami Beach. They have performed for many community and college concerts.

Versatility is the trademark of the Jenkins and their style keeps collegiate audiences wondering what is coming next.

The Mark III Trio started as the rhythm section of the University of South Florida Jazz Band. They began to rehearse and became interested in forming their own group. The trio explored their versatility and began to perform, utilizing many different instruments.

The Virginians

The third summer concert will be presented on July 5. It will feature 'The Virginians'.

The Virginians compose a highly individual, vibrant, and surprising group of entertainers. The first surprising fact is that they are all North Carolinians. Their name was conceived when a record company official auditioning the group in 1965 observed their gentlemanly appearance and mannerisms, and their neo-colonial neck pieces and shouted excitedly 'The Virginians.'

But so much for regional character, for The Virginians are certainly anything but limited to regional appeal. They have delighted audiences throughout mid-western Canada and the eastern coast of the US from the New York Catskills on down. Their first national recording for Epic Records, 'It's a Long Walk Back to Paradise' gained them a goodly degree of national recognition.

The second surprising facet of The Virginians encompasses the many attributes of their brand of entertainment. By pooling their various talents they have attained an individual sound, an all important attribute of any group. They are extremely versatile. They come on strong with a big amplified rock sound — then, just as suddenly the volume drops to a whisper and the listener hears strains of an emotional ballad or Broadway show tune. You are certain to hear material written by the boys themselves, and you are likely to be greatly shocked when, without warning, you are thrust into a mandolin-banjo bluegrass breakdown.

Lee Evans Trio

The fourth summer concert will be presented July 26. It will feature Lee Evans and his Trio.

'Lee Evans is absolutely the best of the new, astenatic pop-jazz geniuses around today.' These words of Walter Winchell, recently syndicated throughout the country, helped spotlight a bright new talent.

The Lee Evans piano, supported masterfully by bass and drum, has been enthusiastically applauded by the most demanding audience in the world — the other musicians who came to hear him. His new and different versions of popular classics by Cole Porter, George Gershwin, Harold Arlen, Irving Berlin, and Leonard Bernstein are characterized by the absence of flimsy tricks. His is a presentation of modern music in a new idiom. A rhythmic beat and recognizable melodies are the substance of the offerings of Lee Evans.

Dorothy Kilgallen of The New York Journal American was quick to comment after the release of a recent Lee Evans record: 'Roger Williams, move over — and I mean 'way over'. With 'Piano Plus,' Lee Evans has established himself as undisputed king of pianists in the lush pop field.'

Born in New York, Mr. Evans began studying the piano at the age of five. His original ambition to be a teacher was, for a time fulfilled, but it was inevitable that a performing career was to be his ultimate attainment. Following military service and a brief period as a teacher of music and social studies, Lee Evans made his first big success in the entertainment world. A series of highly successful night club engagements was climaxed by a national concert tour in 1962 with Carol Channing, to be followed by feature billing on CBS-TV's spectacular, 'The Gershwin Years', in which he appeared with Frank Sinatra and Ethel Merman.

Recently he returned from London where he was piano soloist on a Canada-TV spectacular with Robert Goulet and George Saunders. His most recent television appearance in the United States was on the Ed Sullivan Show.

The past successes and bright future of Lee Evans and his Trio attest to the undeniable fact that good pop-jazz makes people sit up and listen, and brings them back again and again. Lee Evans has also proved that jazz with melody is the most listenable and in the greatest demand.

David, della Rosa & Brooks

The fifth and final summer concert will be presented August 2. It will feature David, della Rose and Brooks.

The musical phenomenon that is David, della Rose and Brooks is a new sound in the realm of entertainment. Their fervent belief that people are willing not only to listen to, but also enjoy good music, tastefully presented, is carrying them on the crest of a wave that will be shortly breasted over the whole country, perhaps, the world.

Within one evening's concert, the group covers the spectrum of popular music. From the hit recording charts may come an "I Know A Place." From the movies comes "The Shadow of Your Smile," a new Orleans beer hall is responsible for "Charlie's Trombone," and the American Musical Theatre brings medleys from "Oliver," "West Side Story," and "Annie Get Your Gun."

For originality, Hod David and Skip Brooks combine as one of America's fastest rising song writing team and bring a freshness to the stage with such songs as "Bad Times Gone By" and "If It's Real." David, della Rose and Brooks are setting new goals for top musical groups by combining Hod's talent on the guitar with Skip's talent on the piano which, combined with the harmony of all three voices, creates a musical sensation. An old favorite such as "Zippity- Doo-Dah" takes on an entirely new flavor when played in this new mode of music. Comedy, which is an essential part of their show, flows freely throughout the evening. Their humor, just like the rest of their act, is fresh and new.

Hod plays the electric six and twelve string guitar and also the bass. Skip is proficient on the twelve string guitar, vibes and piano. The group frequently uses the musical accompaniment of a bass and drum behind the guitars, piano and vibes which gives an even stronger sound to this already powerful group of musicians. Instrumentally the group has skill, versatility and a variety of sounds which, blended with their wide range of vocal harmonism, makes for a fantastic musical experience.

Completion of the new Baptist Student Center is anxiously awaited by BSU members.

Baptists Build New Center; Welcome New BSU Minister

Beginning Fall Quarter, the members of the Baptist Student Union of East Carolina College hope to occupy their new Baptist Student Center at 511 E. Tenth Street. The new facility consists of a renovated house plus an additional multi-purpose room.

Constructing this new, modern building is Chapin Construction Company of Greenville. The cost of the completed first phase of the project is approximately one hundred thousand dollars, and is being paid for by Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

This building is the first phase of a project which will include another building on the western side of the new plant. The two will be joined by a Japanese garden.

Some of the facilities available in the new center will be several lounge areas, a study area, a library, the Chaplain's office, and a secretary - workroom. Also included will be the resident couple's apartment, a prayer room, and a mechanical room. The kitchen, kitchenette, and covered terrace are also valuable assets to the building. A unique feature will be the gallery at the entrance which will be used to display art works.

The program of the Baptist Student Union is divided into four general areas. These are worship, work, study, and fellowship. The area of worship with college students has much room for experimentation and the BSU is trying several new and different forms of worship.

Some of these have proven to be quite meaningful to BSU members. Included in fellowship are sharing, concern, and recreation.

Serving as Chaplain to the students is Rev. Dwight Fickling, Rev. Fickling is a graduate of Catawba College, Appalachian State Teachers College, and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. A native of Badin, N. C., he is married to the former Frances Kerley of Stony Point, N. C. and they have two children, Amy age 10, and Tim, age 7.

Concerning the new Center, Rev. Fickling said, "I feel that the new Center is a very much welcomed, long awaited, and much needed addition to the ministry of the East Carolina College BSU."

"It is intended to be just that—a center where students may gather for fellowship, inspiration, instruction, planning, etc. and may then disperse to share the spirit of love with fellow students and put into action the plans that have been made."

Rev. Fickling is leaving East Carolina to assume similar duties at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro in the fall and will be replaced by Randy Mishoe, a native of Conway, S. C. Mishoe is presently attending a seminar in Washington, D. C. on the Church in the inner-city. From there he will go to Ft. Hamilton where he will spend eight weeks in Army Chaplain's School.

A graduate of Clemson University, Mishoe served as Clemson BSU President and as president of the South Carolina State BSU. Mishoe is also a graduate of Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary and is married to the former Barbara Dempsey of Anderson, S. C.

The present center is located at 404 E. Eighth Street and is open to students from 12:30 to 9:30 p.m. every day.
