Soul King, Ray Charles, Sings All-Time Favorites December 7

By BOB McDOWELL
Ray Charles, the "genius" of soul, will bring his world famous show to East Carolina Thursday, December 7, at 8:00 p.m. in Minges Coliseum. The genius will be here to entertain with his million-selling hits of "What'd I Say?," "Georgia On My Mind," "Crying

Time," and his latest hit single, "Yesterday."

Ray Charles rose from obscurity to the top of the rhythm and blues field in less than a decade. One of the few individuals gifted with perfect pitch, Charles has used this gift to express himself through music.

Using arrangements that reflect his interpretation of the "soul" of the song, Ray Charles was able to convey a personal warmth that white audiences found lacking in the big band brassiness of the forties. This "soul" appealed to the public, enabling Charles to break through the race barrier and to begin performing to white audiences in an era when music as well as people was segregated.

Ray Charles offers a part of himself with every note. He had lived the lyrics he sang and he had a way of expressing himself — his soul — which transformed the banal lyrics of the early fifties into kinetic expressions of emotion; the joy of "Hallelujah, I Love Her So," the pain of lost love in "Georgia On My Mind," and the earthy humor of "What'd I Say?"

His first smash hit for ABC Paramount, "Georgia On My Mind," marked the beginning of Charles' career which has since elevated him to the top of his field.

Always a versatile and sincere performer, Charles' latest records have been in the country music field. His first country album, "Crying Time," sold well over a million copies. He followed this success with "Country and Western Meets Rhythm and Blues."

In his latest album "Listen," Ray Charles has returned to popular music with an interpretation of Lennon - McCartney's "Yesterday" that has already sold more than a million copies as a single.

Versatile, sincere, and talented, Ray Charles will be here to entertain December 7.

THE KING OF BLUES . . . Ray Charles performs at Minges Coliseum on Thursday at 8:15.

Sorority Rushees Convene Tonight

All potential rushees must attend the Sorority Convocation, Thursday, November 30, at 7:00 p.m. Convocation will take place in Old Austin auditorium.

Convocation is open to all freshmen and upperclassmen. Freshmen must have passed 15 hours with a C average and be presently carrying 12 or more hours.

The program will include talks by Dean Ruth White, Miss Carolyn Puleham, and the president of the Panhellenic Council, Cynthia Freeman. Instead of giving the individual histories of their sororities, each president will give a phase of Greek life such as duties of pledges, expenses, friendship, sisterhood, social life, scholarship, social graces, and rush in general.

The purpose of the Convocation is to better acquaint rushees with the national sororities on campus and what they can expect from rush. Also rush rules and data blanks will be distributed. The data blanks must be filled out and returned to the office of the Dean of Women by Monday, December 4. Rush will take place January 20-27.

Republicans Emphasize 'Opportunities Unlimited'

Senator James Pearson of Kansas keynotes the Republican sponsored "Opportunities Unlimited" Conference Saturday in Chapel Hill. Student leaders at East Carolina and other North Carolina colleges and universities are invited to the conference.

Congressman S. Fletcher Thompson (5th District, Georgia) and Congressman Jim Gardner (4th District, North Carolina), will also address the group. Gardner will present a "Case Study of a Candidate," while Thompson will fortell "The Issues of the 90th Congress."

The Conference begins with registration at 10:00 a.m. in the Lobby of Girard Hall. Several addresses precede lunch. Following the informal luncheon, there will be three seminars on careers in public affairs.

"Opportunities in Communications" is the topic of the first seminar. Panelists are Phil Kirk of the Salisbury Post; Dr. Ken Byerly, professor of Journalism at the University of North Carolina; and Jim Sims, a Newscaster at WSJS-TV in Winston-Salem.

Seminar II is entitled "Opportunities in Government and Politics." State Representatives Charles Taylor and David Jordan; N. C. Republican Executive Director Gene Anderson; and V. B. Mizell are panel members.

Leaders of the third seminar, "Opportunities in Business, the Professions, and Social Service," are John Mellote, N.C.Y.R. National Committeeman; Dr. John East, Political Science professor at East Carolina; Bob Newhoff, of Frosty Morn Packing Company; and John L. Stickle, President of Stickle Yarn Company.

A discussion of "How to Get Into Politics" and Thompson's address will end the conference. A $2.00 luncheon fee is the only cost for the conference.

Ambassador Advocates US Expansion Of War

Dr. Tran Van Chuong, ambassador from South Vietnam to the U.S. (1955-63), warned EC students November 15 that unless the U.S. deals North Vietnam "a paralyzing blow, a crippling blow" South Vietnam will not be able to last much longer.

Chuong, lecturing in McGinnis Auditorium to about 200 students and faculty members, explained that the war is damaging South Vietnam more than North Vietnam.

Advocating the mining of the port of Haiphong, the Peking-Hanoi railroad, the Long Bien bridge, and all missile sites in North Vietnam, Chuong accused the U.S. of not really trying to win the war but only trying to persuade the North Vietnamese to give up.

Concerning the U.S.'s bombing policy Chuong said, "I am not advocating the bombing to ashes of North Vietnam . . . I am advocating to strike only where it will hurt."

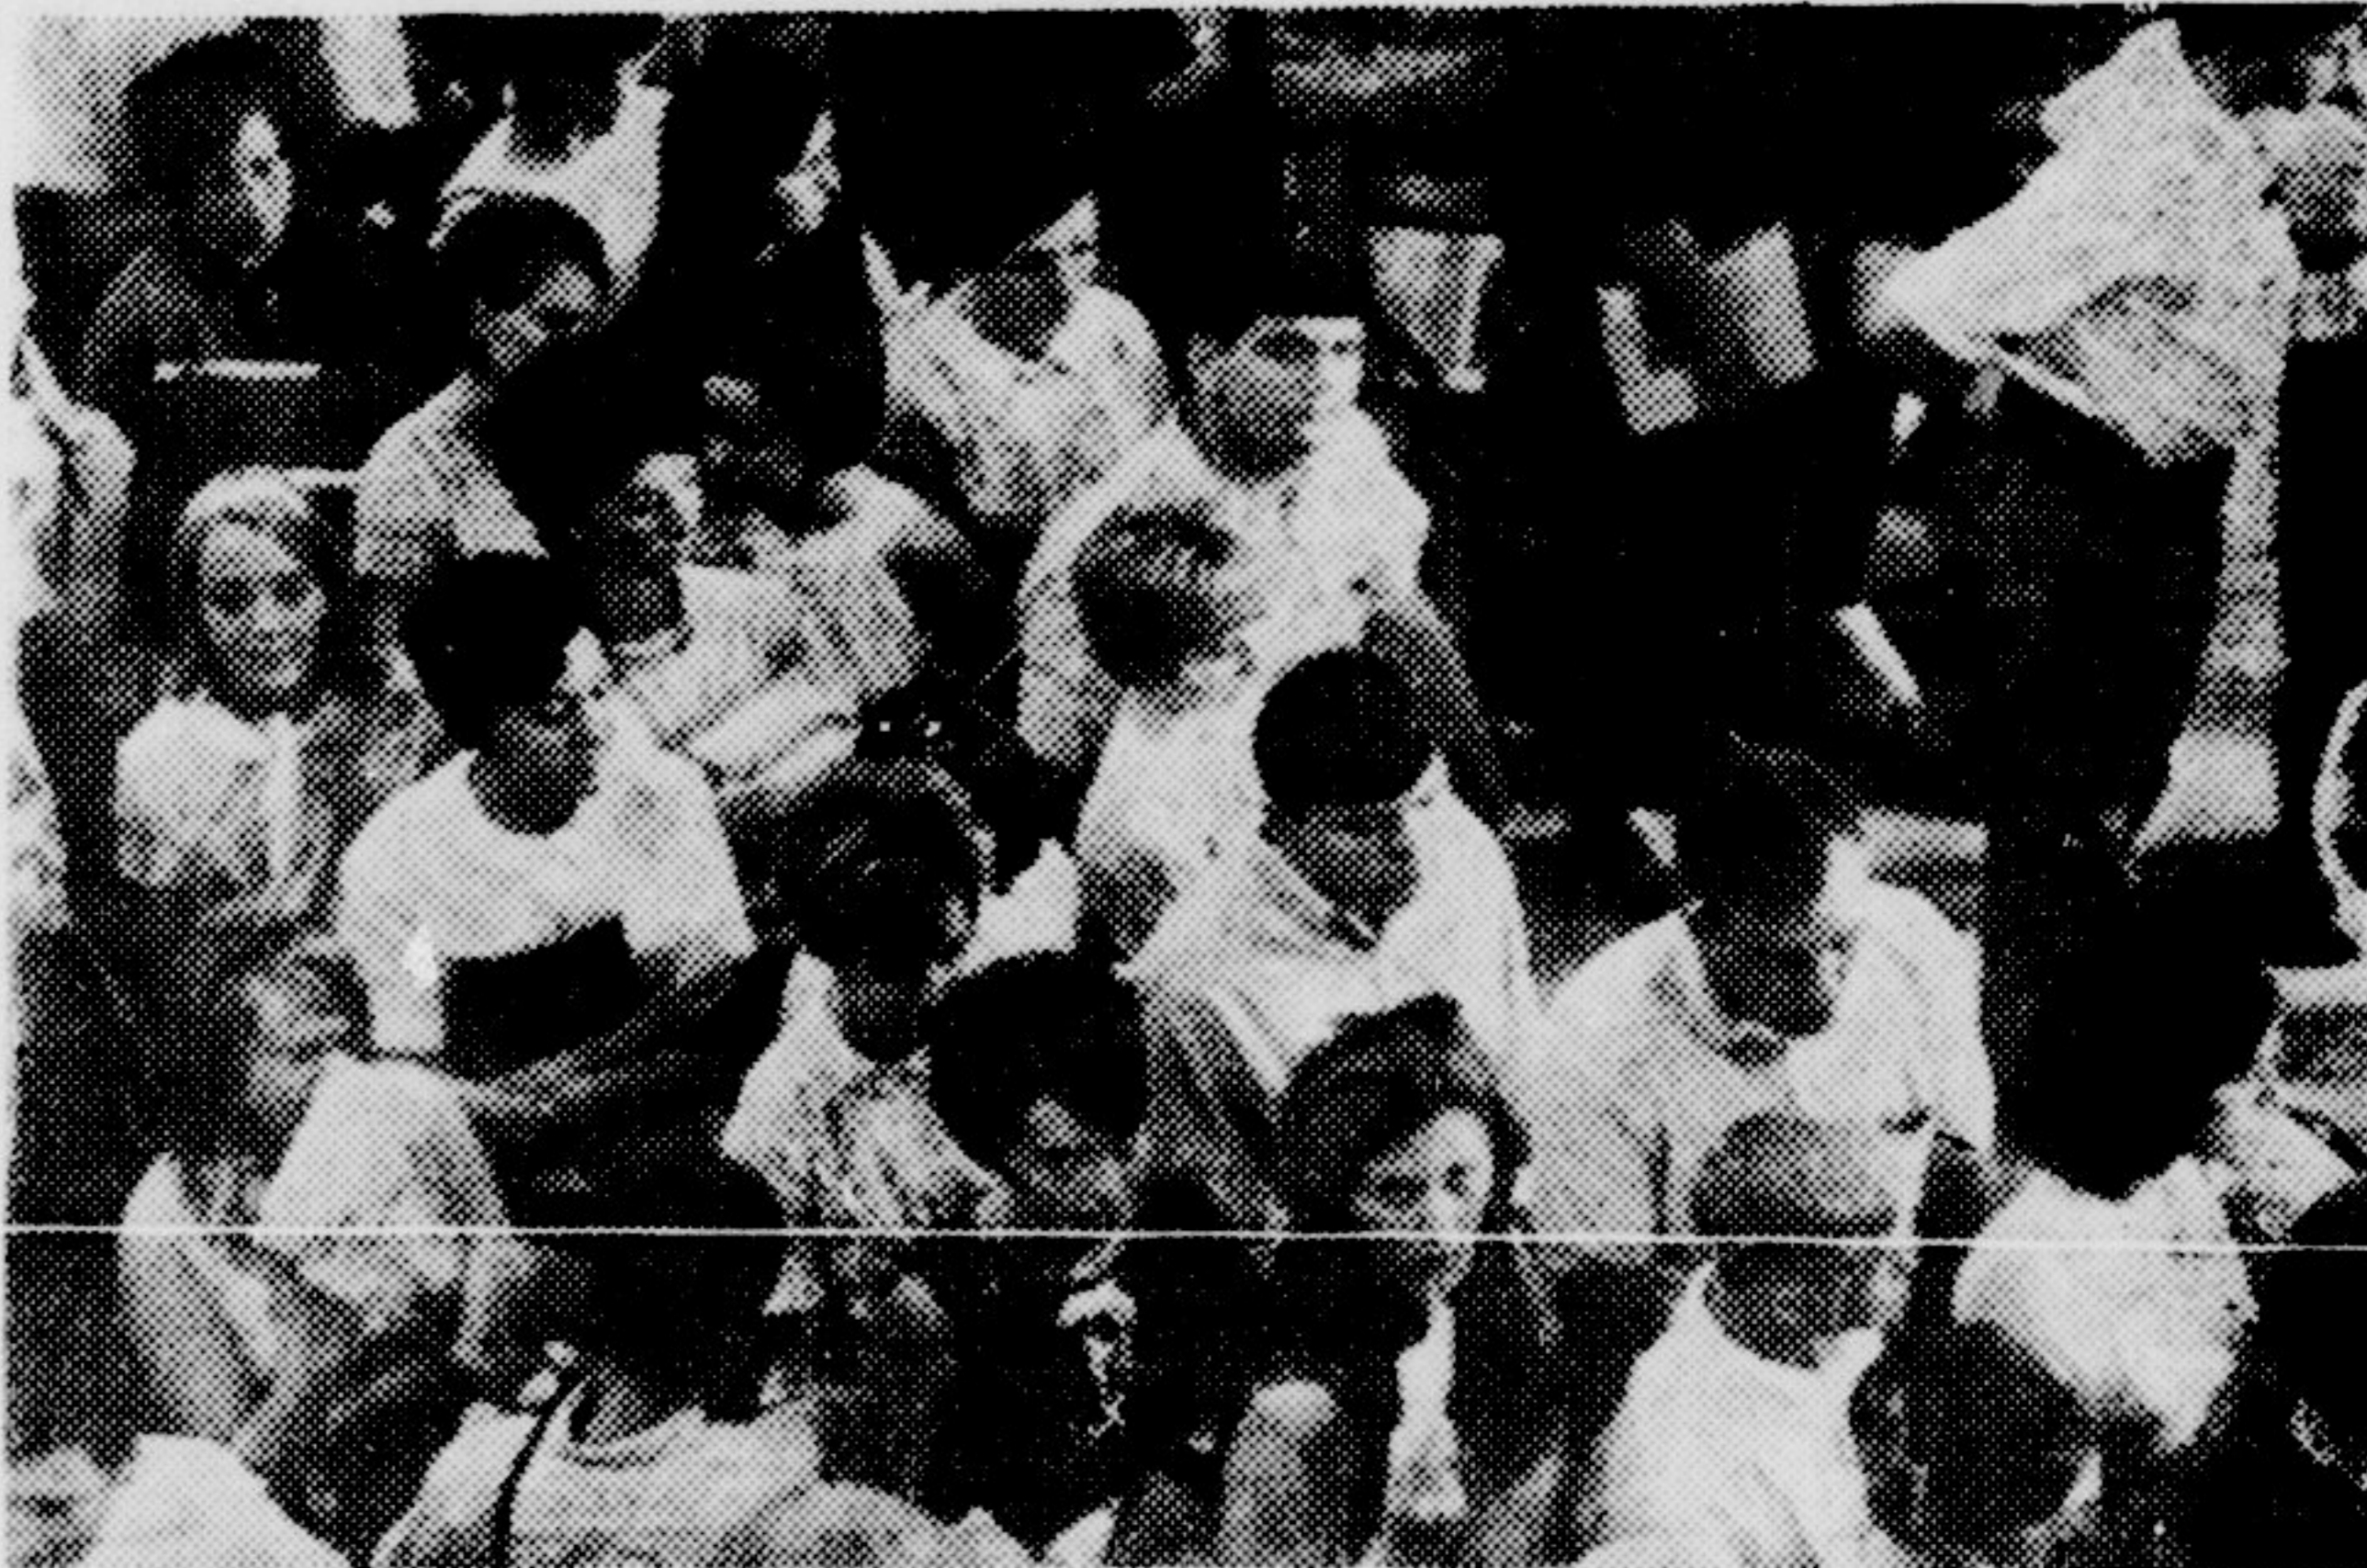

Chuong added that if South Vietnam is lost to the Communists, if the U.S. commitment can be overturned by a Communist satellite country, then he would be glad he is an old man with white hair, for then he would not live to see the day when the world is overrun with Communists.

The fourth guest speaker in East Carolina's Lecture Series program, Chuong is the father of Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu and was appointed ambassador to the U.S. by her husband, the late Ngo Dinh Diem. In 1963 Chuong resigned in protest to the Diem Regime and remained in Washington, D.C.

Before the Viet Minh takeover in North Vietnam, Chuong was Minister of Foreign Affairs for Vietnam and represented Vietnam at the July 1954 Geneva Conference.

Chuong received his doctorate in law in Paris in 1922 after studying in Algiers and France. He practiced law in Hanoi until 1945 when his home was requisitioned by the Viet Minh government.

THOUGH IT LOOKS LIKE THE SAME OLD STORY . . . Reports from students who have gone through drop-ad state that the lines may be long, but the time going through is shorter.

Model Security Council Programs Arab-Israeli, Red China Debates

By BOB ROBINSON

The United States is expected to be condemned for aggression in Vietnam by a resolution to be introduced by Bulgaria when the Model UN Security Council meets here Saturday.

Bulgaria will state that the U.S. has committed acts of aggression against North Vietnam and has interfered in the private affairs of a country by preventing a government popular with the people from assuming control of the country.

Among the other questions that the student - delegates will discuss are — the return to popular rule in Rhodesia, the peaceful settlement of the Arab - Israeli dispute, and the admission of Red China.

An emergency resolution may be introduced in an attempt to settle the Cyprus dispute peacefully.

This will be the second annual meeting of the North Carolina Model Security Council. The council is expected to be much bigger than the last one. Two more schools have accepted invitations to participate, one group from as far as Milton College in Milton, Wisconsin. Much interesting debate should be generated.

Dr. Hans Indorf of the Political Science Department will serve as the advisor to the all day session. The tentative schedule for the Council is: 9:00, opening of the Council and the address of the speaker; 9:30, starting debate on the Vietnam resolution; 10:00, starting of debate on the Rhodesia resolution; 12:30, breaking for lunch; 1:30, opening and starting of debate on the Arab-Israeli question; 2:30, starting of debate on the admission of Red China.

When asked why Red China would not be admitted as previously reported, Reid Overcash, Secretary General for the session replied, "It was mainly a misunderstanding with Chapel Hill. We thought that they would seat Red China because they were voted to seat them in the Model General Assembly held here last year.

"It was felt that this would be out of character since the United Nations has not seen fit to seat Red China. Also, the Model Security Council is supposed to be a learning experience. Someone representing Red China might be tempted to use theatrics, and disrupt the session," he said.

East Carolina will represent five countries: Argentina, Mali, Israel, Jordan, and the United States.

Israel and Jordan have been invited to attend the session as non-voting members to debate the Arab-Israeli dispute. The United Arab Republic (Egypt), which will be represented by Duke, has also been asked to attend to discuss the issue.

Overcash said, "This should be a very interesting and educational experience. The balconies of Wright Auditorium will be open to any student who wants to observe the activities, and I hope that all interested students will attend."

DANISH PHYSICAL FITNESS . . . appears in the site of its origin—Ancient Greece. The Danish Gym Team will perform at East Carolina December 12, at 8:15 in Minges Coliseum.

Why Not Basketball?

Gone are the high spirits and pageantry of football season. At present the bleakness of winter and the "dead quarter" are upon us. School spirit (and in fact spirit, period) reaches its lowest ebb during Winter Quarter. It doesn't have to be this way.

Basketball games in the past have had poor attendance, even though basketball is the dominant sport during the winter months. This low interest could be attributed to cold weather or even to the lack of color that surrounds the Fall sports. Nevertheless basketball is an important sport to East Carolina and offers a chance to relax from the inevitable boredom of winter study.

The spirit committee and cheerleaders are working as hard as in any season. Spirit awards are still being presented and conference standings are an important goal for this year's team. Prospects for the '67-'68 team are very good. Prospects for student support, if based on past years, are bad.

If based on potential, however, student support of basketball can reach its highest mark this season. Does it really make a darn? Most definitely it does! No team likes to play before a half-full home audience or in front of more supporters of the visiting team. This in many respects has an effect on team morale and perhaps even team performance.

With any pride at all East Carolina students can definitely fight a cold walk or two to come out and cheer their basketball team all the way to the conference playoffs. Why not? There's nothing to lose but apathy!

Walk Right On . . .

With the commencement of classes in the New Gymnasium and the failure of block scheduling, it is becoming apparent that some type of transportation system is necessary for cross-campus travel.

Block scheduling, that is, allowing one open hour before and after a distant class, appears to be the best solution to the ten-minute dash from Old Austin to Minges Coliseum. However, in many cases this quarter, the blocking of classes far distant from each other proved to be impossible, due to class scheduling and the number of persons taking courses taught at the New Gym. Therefore campus transportation seems to be the best solution.

The problem of cross-campus transportation is not a new one. Four years ago members of the National Railway Historical Society and several interested students started a drive to get a trolley car system on campus. There were several good points and several bad points for the trolley system. However, plans and arguments came to an abrupt end when the treasurer of the SGA refused to issue funds for a preliminary survey of the planned trolley car route.

In the spring of 1967 a transportation engineer, who is an alumnus of East Carolina, volunteered his services to map a sufficient transportation plan for this campus, free of charge. After consulting with the president of the Student Government Association he left. He was never referred to the Administration or ever contacted by the SGA afterwards.

There are definite plans by the Administration for a transportation system (possibly bus) in the future. However, it is our contention that such a system is needed now and that the SGA can (and must) play an important role in aiding the Administration to set up this system.

It doesn't help to cry over lost chances and spilled milk or even to form long-range plans in the future. Students are having to run the mile in ten minutes; they need a remedy now!!

Mob Victory

Editor:

November 14, 1967 is a day ECU should be proud of, for this day has proven without a doubt that the South will definitely rise again. All the bigotry, racism, and narrow-mindedness associated with this region was shown to exist still, as a handful of students attempted to voice disagreement with national policy and were attacked, both physically and verbally, by a large body of young men.

The mob which intimidated and harassed this group of dissenters demonstrated the force which will eventually destroy this school and this great nation.

When the right to disagree is lost, all values are also lost. In closing, I wish to congratulate the football players for another hard-earned "victory." Well done, Boys.

ROTC Purpose

Editor:

I find it hard to try to explain why any American would misuse (sic) the purpose and the mission of the United States Aerospace Power as was done in two editorials in last Thursday's paper. Maybe someone should be reminded of the blood of those men who gave their lives to achieve that which we, the United States, have achieved today and blood which will spent in the future.

These Aerospace Power displays prove the purity of our intent to preserve peace and our determination to keep our wings and ourselves so strong there will never be doubt as to the preservation of our nation for which we display these symbols.

Flyboy Fearless

Sir:

It has come to my attention that our campus has been uniquely endowed with a paragon of military virtue whom I call Captain Fearless. Captain Fearless can be identified by his immaculate uniform and his blinding display of military decorations; a solid gold sunburst for marching in a straight line despite the formidable odds he faced in crossing the New Austin parking lot at 4:00 o'clock rush hour, a purple heart for blisters received while marching from Old Austin to New Austin, and a medal for valor in facing the rigors of drop-add.

Capt. Fearless is a well-know authority on Vietnam and uses every opportunity to express his belief Signs of change? Take notice members of the M.R.C. and W.R.C. Duke University President Douglas Knight said women students will be allowed to drink alcoholic beverages in their dormitories beginning next semester.

Men of Duke have had the privilege since 1964 . . . (William & Mary this Fall) . . . How about us next?

One of the most openly violated laws on this campus is disregard of the Up and Down signs in New Austin. Don't try to go by the signs or you will be crushed to death by those who choose to disregard said signs.

The military cadets on this campus recently executed three ring-leaders in the attempted overthrow of the present military commanders. The three leaders will be buried in New Austin Parking lot next week.

Recently I sold eleven books back to the school book store. I received 66¢ for them.

Where else but on this campus can one sell paperback books to a store for six cents each? That's that the United States is protecting the Vietnamese people FOR democracy, and if a few million of them are killed in the process that's just a few less mouths for Asia to feed.

Recently, Capt. Fearless put on a very impressive display of "Aerospace Power for Peace" in which our country's military might was arrayed in an attempt to explain the ROTC program on this campus. In connection with this display, I would like to call your attention to the CBS 7:00 o'clock news which recently did a full color report on our aerospace heroes spraying a Vietnamese village with ample amounts of "PEACE".

It must be reported, however, that the Vietnamese civilians were somewhat less impressed with the only practical application of "Aerospace Power for Peace."

Air Force Romance?

Dear Sir:

I would like to comment on the article in your November 16th edition of the EAST CAROLINIAN referring to "ROTC KILLERS." I have been a student at East Carolina for the past four years. Near the end of February I hope to be commissioned as a 2nd Lt. in the United States Air Force. I earned this commission through ROTC so one might say that I am a bit prejudice, (sic) Probably so.

Before submitting such an article, Mr. Leonard, I wish you would familiarize yourself with all the facts. Let me point out some of the facts that you probably did not bother to gather. These "ROTC KILLERS" are the same young men that organize, plan, and execute the MARCH-A-THON, a drive to help the Pitt County March of Dimes Campaign . . . theme being We march so other (sic) may walk.

These "ROTC KILLERS" are the same young men that have helped our Student Government Association organize, and plan campus blood drives. These "ROTC KILLERS" are the same young men that have held Christmas Parties for the under-privileged children of PITT County. Yes, Mr. Leonard these are the same young men that will give their lives so people like you are allowed to express themselves as they please.

You stated in your article that "the Air Force exists in order that certain human beings might be annihilated. Let me remind you Mr. Leonard, that the Air Force exists because of an Act of Congress. Let me also remind you that the President of the United States and the members of Congress are all civilians, and that our military establishment is a tool of our civilian government to be used as they please. If you think that our military establishment is detrimental to the United States you should direct your energy toward putting a man in office that will represent your point of view, or have you forgotten that we are a democratic nation?

I would like to point out one last fact, Mr. Leonard. You stated that "when stripped of its glossy exterior the Air Force loses much of its romantic appeal. How true it is Mr. Arnold, being shot at is never romantic, losing ones (sic) life is never romantic, and reading an article like yours is never romantic.

'Wreck Of The Ol' 97' Features Acid, Rags, And Folk Rock Tunes

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column is the first in a series of columns by Bob McDowell on the "New Directions" in popular music which are emerging in the form of "acid rock," "raga rock," "folk rock," etc. This column will also attempt to review local groups from time to time in an effort to encourage local talent.

What is the Wreck of the Ol' 97? The "Wreck" is a Dean of Women's nightmare: five unshorn, unshaven young men who comprise Greenville's most talented combo. With a combined musical background that exceeds thirty years, the "Wreck" has a definite lead on all the other combos in the area. Bobby Paul, John Tuttle, Tim Hildebrandt, Steve Sullins, and Tommy Steele are the Wreck of the Ol' 97. Together, they play everything from "hard rock" to rhythm and blues. Their professed aim is to please the public so they play everything from "Stubborn Kind of Fellow" to "Lucy in the Sky with Diamonds."

Bobby Paul is one of the best bass players in North Carolina. He is a college dropout who likes music "because it makes people happy." Although his favorite type of music is country and western, he has no trouble adapting to the varied repertoire of the rest of the band. He is an avid Beatle fan who can't stand "grit" music.

Tim Hildebrandt is an excellent lead-guitar player who doubles on bass for some numbers. He is a Senior at East Carolina with a major in extra-curricular activities and a minor in girls. He has been playing guitar for six years without ever playing a single note in tune. He likes all kinds of music, but his favorite type is rhythm and blues. He loves acorns and winter and hates long hair on boys. He also says that Mike Brooks has good storm windows.

John Tuttle looks like near-sighted, long-haired advertisement for Mr. Clean as he squints over his drums in search of the rest of the group—he hasn't found them yet. John thinks that rhythm and blues and "hard rock" are the best forms of music now on the charts. He dislikes soul music because "it is all 'the same old song.'"

Tommy Steele is a Junior Music major from Montpelier, Vermont. He is probably the most talented musician in the group. He plays organ, sax, bass, and rhythm guitar. Tommy is the only married member of the group—but that's his tough luck.

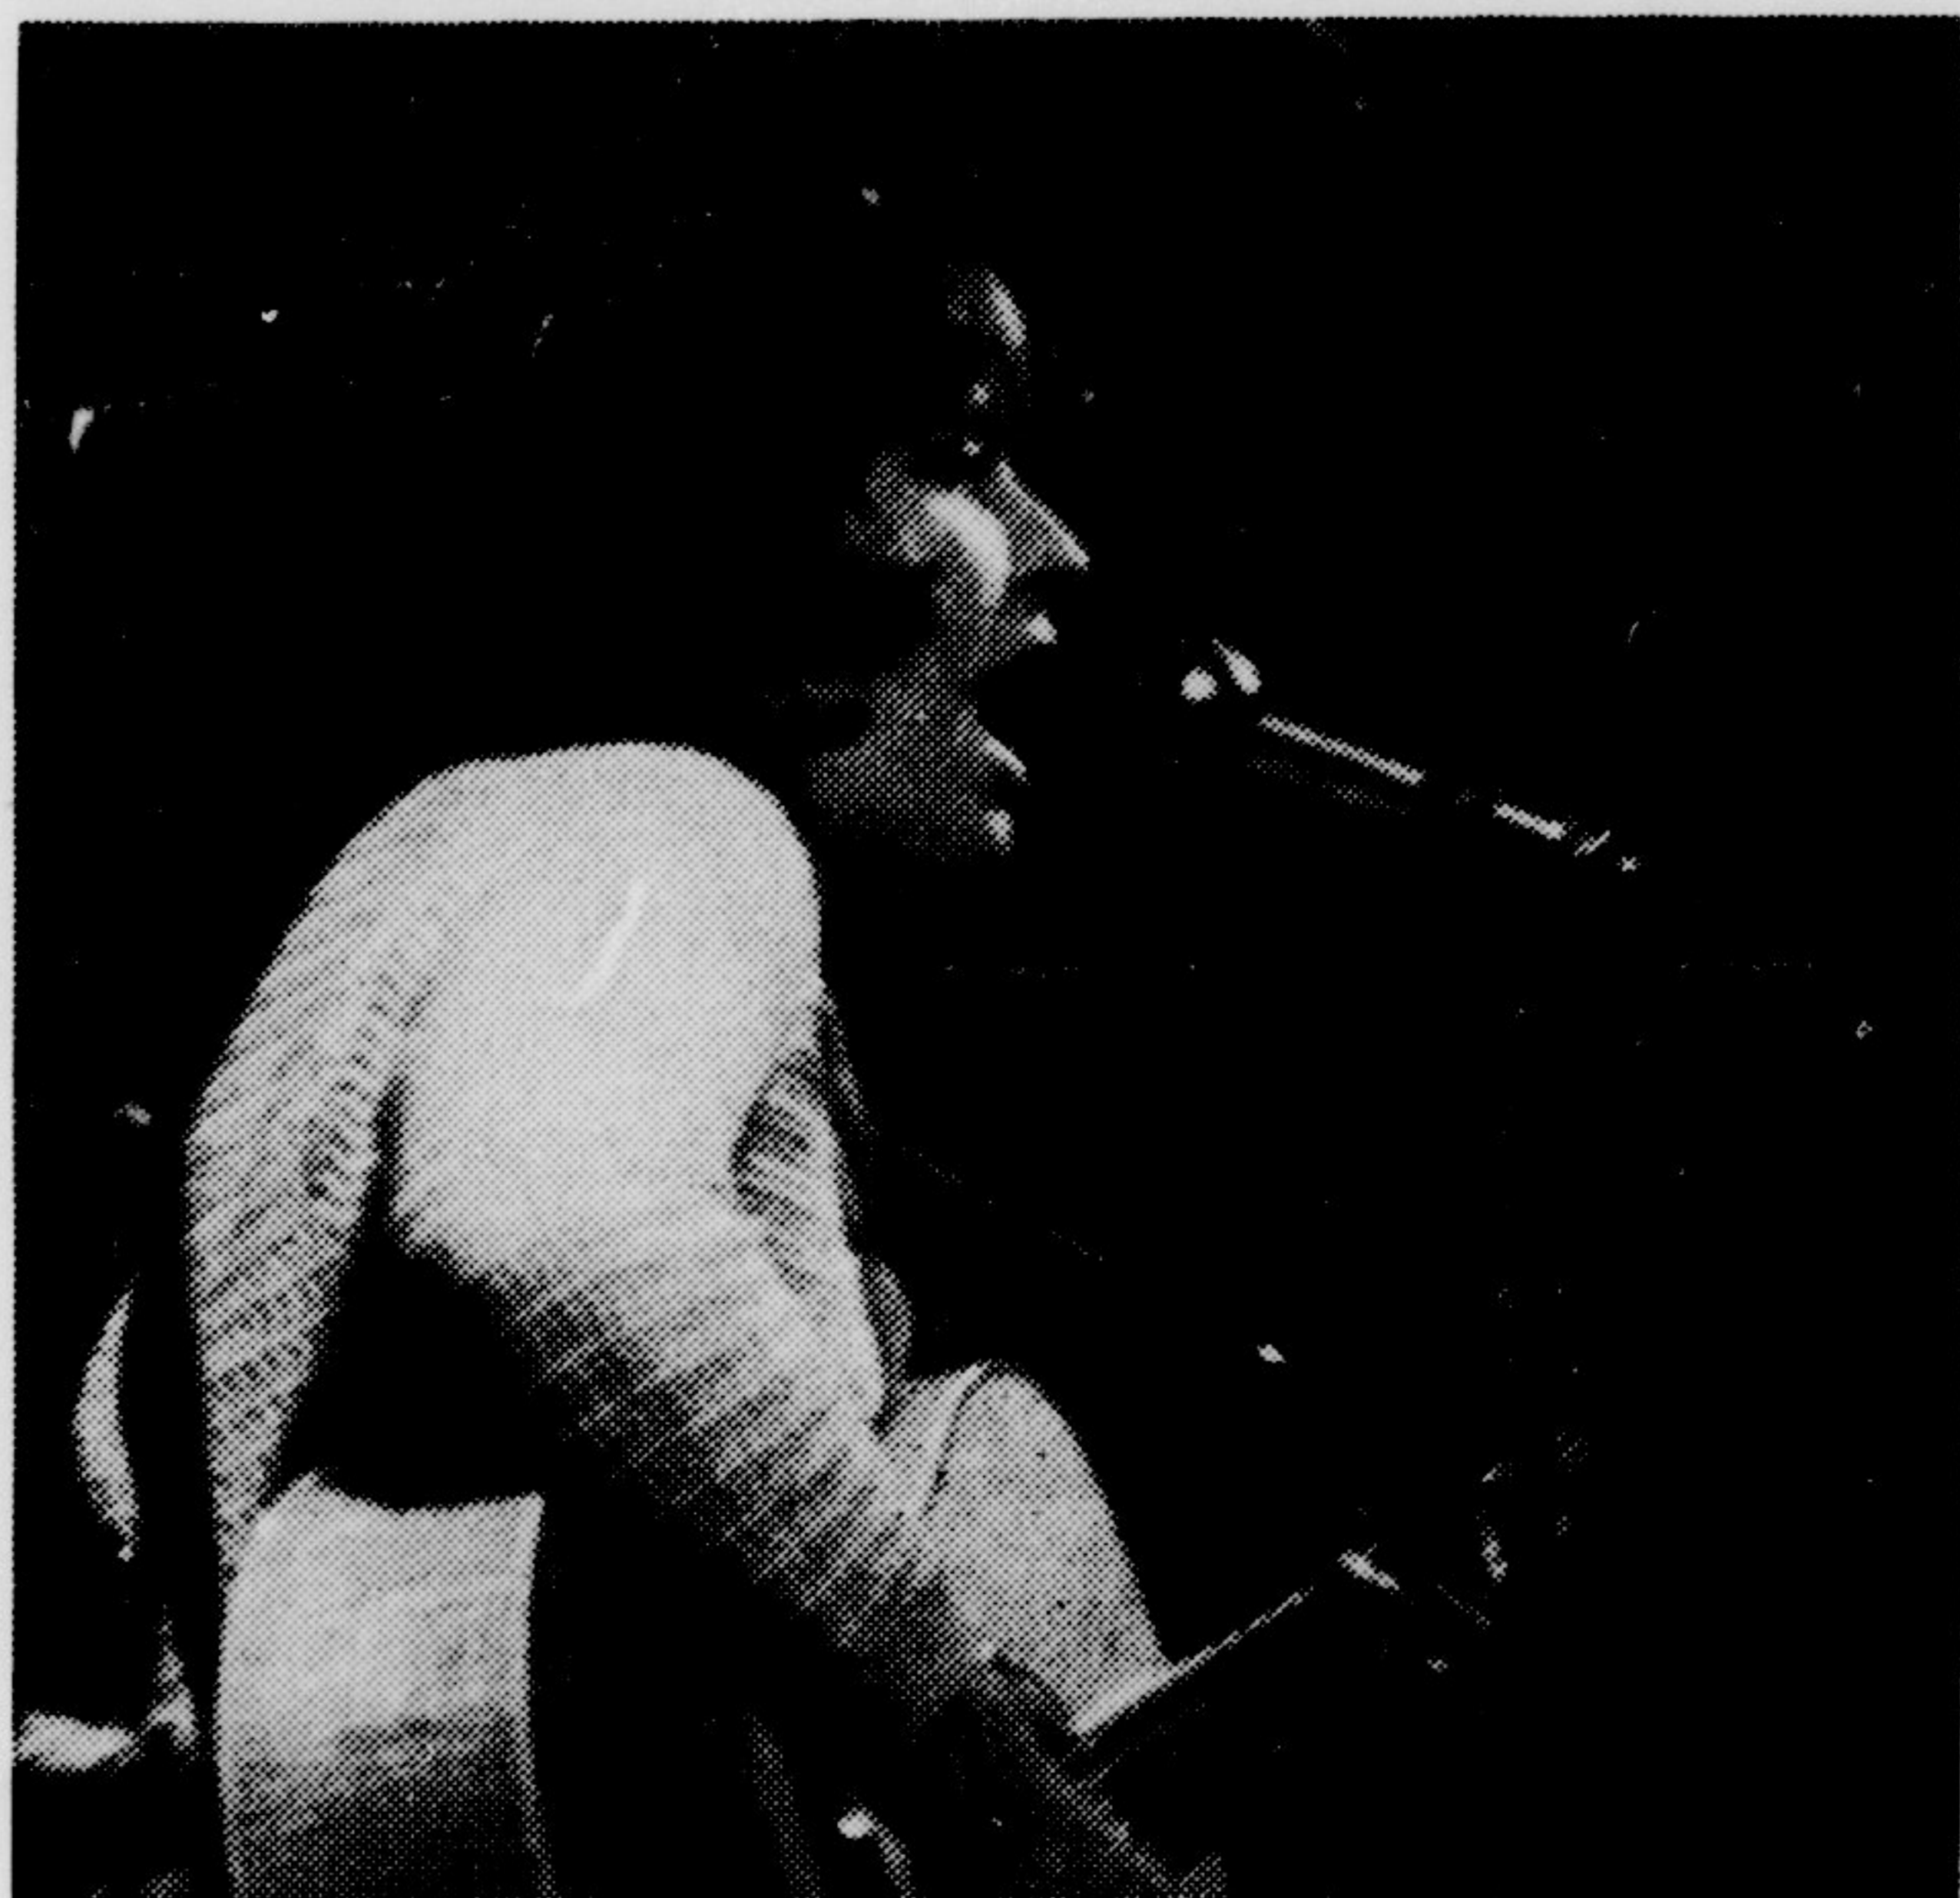

Steve Sullins is the most mysterious member of the "Wreck." He was born in the Philippines but currently makes his home in Independence, Missouri. Rhythm guitar is his specialty. Steve has a background in folk music and has played in several folk groups, both in Independence and at E.C.U.

In a recent interview, Tim Hildebrandt said that the trouble with the music on this campus was that there was not enough variety. He commented that soul music got too much attention both by local radio stations and local clubs; but he added, "I like 'soul' music because it has a basic, shuffle beat that's easy to dance to."

Tim stated that the "Wreck" tried to play as much of a variety of music as possible. Some of their best numbers are: "Expressway to Your Heart" (soul), "Lucy in the Sky with Diamonds," "Slippin' and Slidin'," and "You Keep Me Hanging On" (the Vanilla Fudge version).

In addition to doing their own sets, the Wreck has backed up such nationally famous performers as the Tams, the Showmen, Major Lance, and the Drifters. The "Wreck" is currently accepting bookings through Bowmar Productions of Wilson, N. C.

Raun McKinnon performed last week during exams.

Raun Pushes For Hit Records

During exam week, those who were entertained by a talented young performer. Raun McKinnon is presently performing on a circuit of southern colleges and universities. Raun is from New York, where she has recently cut a record album and a single. Her main concern on the tour is to introduce and promote the upcoming release of these recordings. Raun expressed definite pacifist beliefs on the war and the draft and is concerned with all such universal anxieties. However her deepest concern is people. Her songs express the moods and feelings of common people who are caught up in the perils of life and the troubles of today.

Although Miss McKinnon did not herself attend college, she enjoys performing for college and university audiences. She found the audience at ECU pleasant and enjoyable.

Bucs Open Against St. Peter's

By Wes Sumner

East Carolina's cage Bucs get their first test of the approaching basketball season Saturday night as they play host to St. Peter's College in the opener for both squads. The contest will be a measuring stick for both teams, who will test their guns in non-conference competition before beginning warfare in their own respective loops.

Both teams, however, will be out to grab the psychological value of a victory in the season opener. A mark in the win column at this stage of the game can set a team off on a winning tangent, which would be especially sweet for the Pirates who have some tough opponents on the schedule this year.

St. Peter's is most likely to play the same team that stormed the National Invitational Tournament last year, only to bow to the eventual champion, Southern Illinois. The Peacocks will be headed by O'Dea, Laurie, and Grant, all scorers above the fifteen point mark.

A LOOK AT THE PIRATES

By now I guess you're beginning to fear for the fate of the Pirates, and even the team isn't taking St. Peter's lightly. But before such fears are formed, let's take a look at what our team has to throw at the Peacocks.

First, the Pirates will be sporting more height than last year, led by 6'9" center Charles Alford. Vince Colbert is at one forward post, and Bob Lindfelt, Jim Modlin, and Don Andrae are vying for the other up-front post. . . . and anyone who has watched these boys in practice can guess that the Bucs will be grabbing their share of the rebounds.

Shooting? The Pirates also appear very strong in that department, headed by such sharpshooters as Earl Thompson, Fred Miller, Jimmy Cox, and Fred Campbell, not to mention some of those big boys up front who were named for rebounding.

The Bucs also will have the advantage of playing on a home court before a home crowd.

Considering all those factors, action is sure to be plentiful in Minges Coliseum Saturday night in what promises to be an exciting and revealing cage contest.

STUDENT ADMISSION

Students may pick up their tickets for Saturday night's game starting right now until late Friday afternoon, Dec. 1. All that is needed to obtain tickets, which will be on a first come - first served basis, will be the presentation of ID and activity cards at the ticket office in Minges Coliseum. The office opens at 8:00 in the mornings and stays in business until 5:00, giving everybody an opportunity to get over and pick up tickets.

Tickets for the Old Dominion game Tuesday night, December 5, in Minges may be picked up December 4 and 5. From December 4 to December 8 tickets will be offered for the Furman game, as will tickets for the Atlantic Christian match.

It doesn't really matter how you go about getting tickets, just be sure you get them! This four game home stand promises to be a real dilly, so get out and push the squad to four straight victories. There will be one whole side of the new Coliseum left for students Saturday night, and it has been promised all year provided the student body supports the team by being there.

NOTICES

Tickets for the St. Peter's game December 2 and the Old Dominion game December 5 can be picked up all week at the ticket office in Minges Coliseum.

Reminiscing of ECTC days and basketball in Wright Auditorium, EC's cage Bucs open a very promising season Saturday night with St. Peter's College.

EC Harriers Join Conference Team

The East Carolina varsity cross-country team took second place in the Southern Conference Championships held at Richmond last Monday. William and Mary College had three of the top four places and won the team title for the second year in a row. ECU had four runners in the top ten, and the team scored far ahead of the third-place West Virginia University team.

Three ECU runners were selected for the eight-man All Conference Team. Don Jayroe was an All-Conference selection for the second year in a row, and joining him this year were Ken Voss and Randy Martin.

The second place Conference finish completed a very successful season for the Pirate Harriers, who had compiled a ten and one dual meet record and a first place finish in the State meet.

Bucs Debut Saturday In Promising Season

East Carolina's improved basketball Bucs, picked by a pre-season poll to finish fourth in the Southern Conference, tangle with a powerful St. Peter's College team in the season opener here Saturday night.

Guided by the capable hands of head coach Tom Quinn and assistant Kirk Stewart, the Pirates aim to improve the 7-17 record amassed by last year's squad. The Bucs boast a bigger and stronger unit than last year, largely due to the addition of 6'9" Charles Alford to the Pirate lineup.

St. Peter's Peacocks sport the same basic unit that made an unsuccessful National Invitational Tournament bid last year, losing to Southern Illinois in the finals.

St. Peter's operates from a hard-running offensive set-up, headed by top scorers Pete O'Dea, Harry Laurie, and Ken Grant, all of whom averaged more than 15 points per game last year. The Peacocks also aim to be strong on the boards, with four men at 6'5" in their starting five, led by O'Dea, who holds the rebounding record at St. Peter's.

Quinn, full of optimism for this year's unit, has stressed the importance of Alford's height in the pivot. Quinn is also full of praise for the leadership of co-captains Vince Colbert and Jimmy Cox.

Coach Quinn says, "we will not necessarily use the same starting line-up for each game, or even all the way through a given game. We have eight boys we plan to rotate, depending on the needs of a particular game situation."

He was unable to name a starting five for this week's opener with the Peacocks, but said they would be from a group of seven. He named Vince Colbert for one forward post; Charles Alford at center; either Bob Lindfelt, Don Andrae, or Jim Modlin at the other forward post; and Earl Thompson, Fred Miller, and co-captain Jimmy Cox vying for the two guard posts.

Game time for the opening conflict of the season is 8:00 p.m. Saturday night in the debut of the all new Minges Coliseum. The Freshmen get their first as they play Chowan Junior College in a preliminary game. Tip-off is at 5:50 p.m.

Yankees Edges Lambda Chi For Campus Championship

By RONALD VINCENT

Hedgecock's passing to Wood helped bring about the intramural football campus championship for the Yankees as they downed Lambda Chi 12-6 in one overtime. Richard Hedgecock and Ken Wood teamed up for both T.D.'s for the Yankees — the second one coming on the last play of the ten minute overtime. Bill Dickens passed to Ken Austin for Lambda Chi's only score.

The Yankees scored the first time they got the ball. Hedgecock hit Ken Wood on a three yard pass to climax a 60 yard drive. Lambda Chi then came back to tie the score on the last play of the first half. Dickens' found Austin open on another three yard pitch to end a 55 yard drive. The second half developed into a defensive battle. The Yankees had a first down on Lambda Chi's three yard line but could not score.

The Yankees then got a break by winning the overtime coin toss to take possession of the ball. On the first series of downs, they could not manage to score. Lambda Chi then took control for only one play due to a pass interception by Rob Williams. The first three downs were fruitless but on fourth down Hedgecock and Wood all alone in the end zone for the score.

Gary Domanski had three interceptions for the Yankee defense. Jons Bang and Bill Dickens each had one for Lambda Chi.

In the individual scoring race in football, Rick Judson of Pi Kappa Phi claimed the Fraternity League title with 87 points. Gary McCulloch of Fat City took the League I title with 55 points. Ed Thorne of the Yankees led League II with 65 points to win the title.

In the volley ball championships, Lambda Chi defeated Phi Epsilon Kappa 15-12 and 15-9. In the first game, Lambda Chi never trailed but never lead by more than four points. In the second game, Phi Epsilon Kappa took a 7-5 lead early in the game but could not hold on for the win.

Deadline for basketball entries is November 14, 1967. Please have all entries in on time. Play will begin Winter Quarter.

All team managers in football and volleyball should come by the intramurals office to pick All-Star ballots. There will be an All-Star Team chosen from each League. Please come vote as soon as possible.

All-Star Game Gives 'Most Valuable' Title To EC's Neil Hughes

After providing gridiron thrills all season long for the Pirates, senior tailback Neil Hughes exploded once again in the first Sudan Temple All-Star game in Raleigh Saturday, November 25.

Hughes paced the East squad to a 10-7 win over the stars of the West, grabbing five passes for 81 yards and rushing 11 times for 32 yards. He also highlighted the scoring of the contest, taking a pass from Carolina's Jeff Beaver to romp 63 yards for a touchdown.

For his work in the contest, Hughes was named Most Valuable Player, chosen from a group of the best college senior gridgers in the state. Hughes, who has been playing tailback in East Carolina's single-wing, was switched to halfback in the T-style offense employed by the All-Stars and performed admirably in the new position.
