Stickley Visits EC As First To Come In Current Race For NC Governor

By CHUCK WHITE

John L. Stickley, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of North Carolina, will speak at a meeting of the East Carolina Young Republican Club on March 12, at 7:30 p.m. in New Austin auditorium, Room 131.

Stickley, who is contesting the Republican gubernatorial primary with Rep. James C. Gardner, is the first gubernatorial candidate to visit the East Carolina campus in the current campaign.

The candidate, a resident of Charlotte, is a textile broker by trade who has long taken an interest in politics. He has supported candidates more according to his judgment of their capacity for action and commitment to good government than according to party.

He was a registered Democrat until 1964, when he changed his registration to Republican. For three elections he was chairman of the Democrats for Jonas Campaign Committee which promoted the election of Republican Rep. Charles R. Jonas.

As President of Lions International in 1956 and as a member of its Executive Committee for five years, Stickley traveled the world and made many acquaintances among world leaders. He has also served as President of Wingate College.

Stickley believes that the election of a Republican Governor will be the beginning of true two-party government in North Carolina, which is, in his view, necessary to the realization of full potential for economic growth, educational achievement and highway development.

EC Workshop Theatre Presents One-Act Plays

By TOM SPEIGHT

Two one-act plays, "An Albino Kind of Logic" by Curtis Zahn and "The Ugly Duckling," by A. A. Milne, are to be given by the Workshop Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, March 19th and 20th at 8:15 p.m. in room 201 of the UU.

"An Albino Kind of Logic," a contemporary play directed by Angela Ritchie, is a social comment on logic and its various colors. The three principal parts, John, Jane and Jim, played by Bob Bowman, Pam Honaker and Lindsey Bowen, are to be backed up by a chorus including Jack Scarry, Jim Fleming, Linda Taylor, and Michele Lowe.

Following the serious "An Albino Kind of Logic," Ann Schreiber directs "The Ugly Duckling," a comedy by A. A. Milne, the author of "Winnie the Pooh."

This amusing fairy tale with a happy ending concerns a king and queen who are trying to marry off their daughter, an unrecognized beauty, to an insecure young prince. To avoid embarrassment, the prince and princess trade places with their servants, and in the end they have a double wedding.

The king will be played by Jim Fleming, the queen by Linda Meyer, the chancellor by Taylor Green, the princess by Evelyn Marshall, Dulcibella by Linda Taylor, Carlo by Jack Scarry, and the prince by Bob Tompkins.

Students and the public are invited.

Summer Theatre Announces 'Season 5' Formal Auditions

The professional East Carolina Summer Theatre will hold the first of two North Carolina auditions for its upcoming fifth season with a session in Greenville this Saturday, March 9.

Producer Edgar R. Loessin said he will be looking for actors, singers, dancers, instrumentalists and technicians from 2 to 6 p.m. in McGinnis Auditorium, home of the Summer Theatre.

He will hold special auditions for children (ages 5 through 14) from 12 noon to 2 p.m.

Publication Notices

Applications are now being taken for Editor-in-Chief of the university year book, the BUCCANEER. Interested students should apply to Dr. James Tucker in the New Nursing Building or the BUCCANEER Offices in room 210 Wright Building.

Final deadline for organizations to submit a list of 1968-1969 officers and description of next year's activities to THE KEY is March 29.

All campus organizations which are recognized by the SGA are required to file a constitution and a data sheet with Dr. James Butler, Co-ordinator of Information Services before they will be listed in THE KEY. Letters stating this requirement have been mailed to the organizations.

THE KEY offices are at 192 Wright Auditorium. Dr. Butler's office is in the Division of Student Affairs in the Nursing Building.

Ministry Slates Program On War

A series of programs on war and Vietnam sponsored by the United Campus Ministry will be held at the Baptist Student Center at 511 East 10th Street, March 6-27. The symposium is open to the public with programs beginning at 6:00 p.m. on the following dates:

March 6 - "A Political Review of our Involvement in Vietnam," Dr. Phillip J. Adler.

March 13 - Films: THE HOLY, THE PHOENIX.

March 20 - "The Question of the Right to Dissent," Dr. Herbert R. Paschal.

March 27 - Student Debate: "Our Military Commitment in Vietnam."

SP Nominating Convention Readies SGA Election Slate

By TOM SPEIGHT

Earle Beasley was nominated as the Student Party candidate for SGA President Tuesday night at their third annual nominating convention.

Beasley is a junior Political Science major who was president of his freshman class, chairman of the SGA popular entertainment committee, and dormitory representative to the SGA legislature. He has been active in Student Party activities and in the SGA. He also has been a member of the Judicial Review Board.

The Student Party Convention was called to order at 6:00 p.m. by Bill Diuguid, chairman of the party. Carleen Hjortsvang, party treasurer, reported on the minutes of the previous meeting.

After the approval of the minutes, nominations were opened to the floor, with the stipulation that only bonafide party members be allowed to vote. However, on a motion from the floor, the rules of the Student Party Constitution were suspended to make everyone present eligible to vote.

Earle Beasley received the nomination for SGA president by acclamation.

The nomination for SGA vice-president was given to Bill Mosier again by acclamation.

By WES SUMNER
Mitch Ryder, the Beach Boys, and Ferrante and Teicher head the list of big-name entertainments to be presented by the Entertainment Committee.

Singer Johnny Rivers, the Honorable Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential candidate, and comedy team Homer and Jethro are also included in the list of major events booked for the spring session.

Mitch Ryder, who reached national renown in the pops field with his "Devil With a Blue Dress On" and a host of other best-selling records will be on campus Wednesday night, March 13, in Minges Coliseum. The show, which begins at 8:15, will require tickets, which may be obtained at the Central Ticket Office. There will be a 50 cents service charge for each ticket for the show.

The Beach Boys, whose recordings in the pops field have enjoyed a popularity span of more than five years, perform in Minges Saturday afternoon, April 6 at one p.m.

Pianists Ferrante and Teicher, whose music ranges from pops to movie themes to classics, perform in a return engagement in Minges Friday night, April 26.

The next day, April 27, popular singer Johnny Rivers, whose sound ranges from fast "rockers" to blues, will give a show on the college mall at two p.m.

The more politically inclined on campus will get a chance to hear the views and predictions of 1964 presidential candidate Barry Goldwater in a program March 25. The lecture will begin at eight p.m. in Minges.

Comedians Homer and Jethro, known for their homespun humor, will appear on March 2 at eight p.m. in Minges.

The only dance currently slated for the spring quarter will be April 27 in Wright Auditorium, as musical group Ruby and the Romantics perform in a free event.

Two plays are also planned for the spring session, "The Thieves Carnival" from April 3 through April 6, and "The Knack", which runs from May 6 until May 9. Both plays will be presented in McGinnis Auditorium with 8:15 curtain times.

The North American Air Defense Command Band and the Alma Trio will both present concerts, the first on March 27, and the Alma Trio show on April 18.

Other lectures slated for spring quarter include "Chile", a travel-adventure film and lecture by Geza de Kosner March 12, and "Royal England" April 22.

A service charge of one dollar will be assessed for the Beach Boys show and a 50 cents charge will be required for the Mitch Ryder and Ferrante and Teicher events. Admission to other events will be either by free ticket or by I. D. card.

SSL Delegates Travel To Raleigh

The twenty-five East Carolina students who will attend the 31st annual session of the State Student Legislature in Raleigh March 6-9 hope to put through a mock bill to establish a Department of Urban Affairs in North Carolina.

Students in the EC delegation are Rhodes Cherry Stokes, Gwen Bullock, Henry Woodburn, Grant Boone, Everette Daniel, William Richardson, Ralph Lipscomb, George Francis, Mitchell King, and James Laumann.

Also, Barbara Atkins, William Diuguid, James Greene, John Schofield, Gwendolyn Strickland, Reid Overcash, Maryita Clarke, Dianne Marie Holland, Sarah White, and Rex Meade.

The East Carolina delegates, sent to the session by the Student Government Association, will be among representatives of some 20 schools and universities expected to present bills.

Bills to be introduced cover a wide range of topics, including: licensing of day-care facilities for children, expansion of east-west highways, distribution of birth control pills, open housing, legislative reforms, legal protection for student teachers, and granting legislative veto to the governor.

he was a Summer School student legislator, and he is presently a member of the SGA, where he is Chairman of the Rules Committee. He is also a member of the Political Science Club and has been generally active in student politics.

There were two nominations for SGA historian, Cathy Webb and Ann Hendershot. However, Ann Hendershot withdrew herself because of a conflict of interest within her sorority. She pointed out that one of her sorority sisters is running for office on the University Party ticket, and Cathy Webb was then given the nomination by acclamation. Cathy Webb, a sophomore, is a member of Kappa Delta and has been an active Student Party member.

In summing up the hopes for the Student Party campaign, presidential candidate Beasley said "The one thing that we wish to work for is a strong Student Government that is dynamic but at the same time dignified."

At the end of the convention, Diuguid announced that the Student Party platform had not yet been completed, but that it is presently being drawn up by delegated members.

The platform will be presented at the Monday evening meeting of the Student Party.

This, That, and The Other Revise The Revision? Walt Whittemore

The beginning of any new term on any campus is naturally accompanied by certain changes. Many students are brought to the last obstacle between them and their degrees; many others realize that they can still rectify the shortcomings of previous terms; and other students are faced with "do-or-die" situations. In addition, however, the birth of this Spring quarter at ECU has been accompanied by the growing possibility of another revision of the Women's Dress Code.

Why has the Women's Residence Council found it necessary to re-evaluate the current dress code and its effects on campus? What are some of the predominant attitudes of administrators, faculty members, and students on the entire matter of dress codes?

According to one official who requested to remain unnamed, the WRC announced its decision to investigate the "problem" as a result of complaints from irate administrative officials. Allegedly, the dress of certain co-eds, particularly in the dining halls and on Sundays, was viewed as being in poor taste and embarrassing to the school "image". These complaints from the Administration, when coupled with grumbling from faculty members and students, were enough to spur the WRC to action.

One administrator, when questioned on the issue, suggested that any arising problems would, in actuality, be the result of a poorly worded code itself. He pointed out that any definition of good taste is subject to personal opinion and that the WRC, in its present dress code, failed to describe what it felt constitute good taste.

This administrator went on to say that, despite various interpretations of good taste, most people will agree that cleanliness is essential to any mode of dress. Furthermore, he suggested that people should, when choosing their attire for any day, consider the feelings of others.

He conceded that Sundays are not considered sacred by many, but felt that, out of courtesy for those who consider Sundays holy, women students could easily refrain from sloppy dress.

The handful of professors who were questioned on the issue appeared more concerned with a student's performance in class than with his appearance. The faculty members indicated that a student's reason for attending college is to gain an education, not to learn how to dress. However, they did agree that no harm would result from women students' dressing like "ladies" whenever possible.

Students were not as amiably disposed toward the issue as were administrators and professors. Many felt that any current problems were the normal results of rule changes and that the situation would improve with time. But, most students did not feel that the Administration should attempt to regulate any dress. One suggested that if the school were to control dress at all, why not issue uniforms so that everyone would look the same and all problems would then vanish.

Resident Composer Wins Awards

Gregory Kostek, ECU Composer-in-Residence, has won an award for his composition "Five Ogdan Nash Songs" for baritone and instrumental ensemble. The work was first performed here by faculty member Clyde Hiss for whom the piece was written. The award was presented to Dr. Kostek by the Pennsylvania Chapter of the National Society of Arts and Letters. Kostek's composition "Music for Brass and Percussion" was selected for performance this past weekend at the Southern Composers League Brass Music Concerts which were held at Agnes Scott College in Georgia. This work was also premiered at ECU, and has won an award from Ohio State University.

performed before college, public school, community, and television audiences. Involving sixty-one School of Music students, the choir actively shares with other sections of the State the accomplishments which are being made in music at ECU.

Director of Bands, Herbert Carter has been selected as president-elect of the Southern Division of the College Band Directors National Association.

Conventions Aren't All Politics

By BEV CARAWAN
What could possibly have interested an East Carolina coed in the North Carolina Republican Convention held March 1-2?

There were the experiences with the candidate whom she doesn't support for governor, including being asked to entertain his granddaughters and sitting with a group of his most avid supporters at the convention dinner.

There was the thrill of being assigned as page to the permanent convention chairman, and as such, catching the "behind the scenes" action on the platform.

Then there was the "hoopla" of the demonstrations for the two gubernatorial candidates. Reading about them in a certain Raleigh newspaper was better, though — the reportedly "rowdy and extremely youthful" backers of one candidate included her best friend's middle-aged mother.

There were familiar faces present. Dr. John P. East, associate professor of political science here, nominated the state chairman in his successful bid for reelection. Dean Wellington B. Gray was a delegate. Also acting as a page was Connie Whisnant, an EC freshman.

The enthusiasm was exhilarating. Senator Charles Percy (R.Ill.), Congressman George Bush (R. Tex.), and other dignitaries found their remarks welcomed by overwhelming responses.

Basically, since this coed has been actively involved in Republican politics from age fourteen, the idea that 3,500 Republicans convened in a capital city which has been controlled by Democrats for 67 years and vowed that "There'll be Republicans elected from the courthouse to the White House," was much more than interesting!

Dr. Robert E. Cramer, chairman of the East Carolina Department of Geography, will speak at a March 8 Chapel Hill meeting of the North Carolina Section of the American Institute of Planners. EC is one of six schools in the nation with an undergraduate program in urban and regional planning.

Farnham Exhibit

An exhibition of eighteen oils and ten watercolor paintings and drawings by Dr. Emily Farnham, professor and chairman of the art history department in the School of Art at East Carolina, will be on display at James Sprunt Institute near Kenansville, N. C., during the month of March.

A native of Kent, Ohio, Dr. Farnham studied at the Cleveland Institute of Art for a year before receiving the B. S. degree from Kent State University. She holds the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Ohio State University.

The paintings in the show at James Sprunt Institute represent various aspects of the artist's development from an early concern with academic realism through an interest in abstraction to her current experimentation with hard-edge minimal art.

The gallery will be open Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Dr. Ruth Boxberger of East Carolina has been appointed editor of the national Journal of Music Therapy.

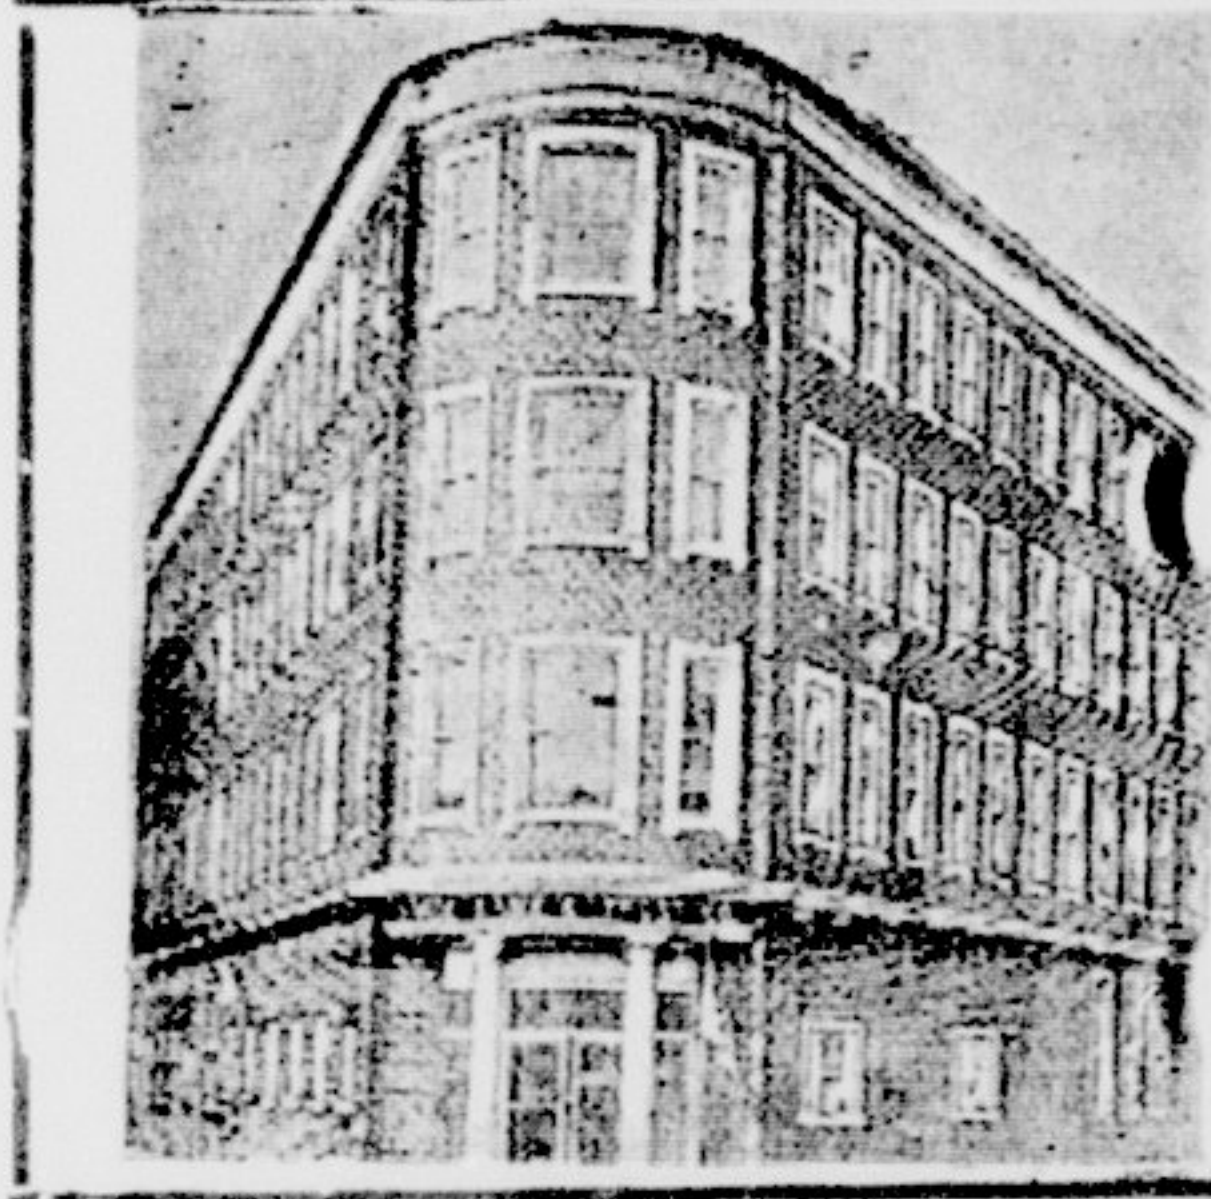

Selected by the executive committee of the National Association of Music Therapy (NAMT), she succeeds Dr. William Sears of Indiana University.

Dr. Boxberger is associate professor of music at EC and chairman of the Department of Music Therapy in the School of Music. She has served NAMT at treasurer and second vice president. She has also served on the association's editorial board and has been associate editor of the yearbook Music Therapy.

She has a BS degree from Kansas State College, a master's in music education from the University of Minnesota and a PhD from the University of Kansas.

Four prize-winning North Carolina writers, including EC author-in-residence Ovid Pierce, are to speak in Raleigh March 14, at the thirteenth annual North Carolina Literary Forum, at 8 p.m. in the Erdahl-Cloyd Union, North Carolina State University.

Authors Ovid Pierce, Louis D. Rubin, Jr., Thad Stern, Jr., Camilla Bittle will all discuss the topic "The Southern Writer: Who is he?" in a panel to be moderated for the thirteenth consecutive year by Raleigh editor and poet Sam Ragan. Open to the public without charge, the forum is co-sponsored by the Union and the Raleigh Woman's Club. As usual, the audience will be invited to ask questions of the writers and to have coffee with them following the program.

Professor of English at East Carolina, Ovid Pierce also teaches a class in Creative Writing. His novels "On A Lonesome Porch" and "The Plantation" have been widely read, and a new one "The Devil's Half" has just been published.

Coordinating the forum are Ragan, Henry Bowers and Mrs. William C. Pressly.

Fire Incinerates Art Works In Rawl

About 10:30 Wednesday night, February 21, fire in Rawl building destroyed a water-color on loan exhibit and a box of prints which were to be returned to art students.

The water-color, one of thirty in a travelling exhibition on display in the third-floor corridor of Rawl building, was valued at 150. It was the work of Ed Lancaster of the University of Illinois.

The fire was reported by two small boys to Mr. Ollie Mack Morning, janitor, who promptly extinguished the blaze.

Arson is suspected. Last year there were at least two cases of vandalism in the art building.

Popular recording artist Mitch Ryder readies for his performance at East Carolina next Wednesday night. The show, which is in Minges at eight p.m., will require tickets from the Central Ticket office.

Tickets Available For Mitch Ryder, Good Earth Trio

The Mitch Ryder Show, accompanied by the Good Earth Trio, will appear at EC on March 19, at 8:15 p.m. in Minges Coliseum. Tickets will be available from March 7 through March 13.

Ryder is currently one of the foremost purveyors of "blue-eyed" soul. He has had several popular records in the past few years including "Ginny Take A Ride", "Devil With A Blue Dress On", "Sock It To Me Baby", and "C. C. Ryder."

Born in Detroit, Ryder grew up singing rhythm and blues with many of the artists now with Motown Records.

Ryder first broke into Show business with a group called the Detroit Wheels. Together, patterning many of their songs after Little Richard, Ryder's boyhood idol, they became one of the most popular groups around.

Since then, Ryder has separated from the Detroit Wheels and has assembled his own ten piece orchestra.

Often compared to James Brown, Ryder appears in costumes costing $1,000 each, and he has his show choreographed by Jaime Rogers.

The Good Earth presents a wide variety of music, from show tunes to folk-rock. They performed at EC last summer and were well received.

EC Trackmen End Season; Fourth In Tough Conference

East Carolina University's indoor track and wrestling teams have posted their best finishes in Southern Conference history.

The Pirate trackmen finished fourth in the Conference championships and the wrestling team wound up third.

Coach Bill Carson's team scored two individual firsts in the indoor meet at Virginia Military Institute with Dennis Moody throwing the shot 50 feet and 10 inches for the title and Ed Whyte broad jumped 23 feet 3 inches to claim that title.

The mile relay team also turned in a good time of 3:28.4, which like the shot and broad jump efforts, was a school record.

"I am extremely pleased with the progress made during the indoor season and an encouraging note for the outdoor season was the performance of several of our boys," Coach Bill Carson said. "We consider ourselves first division now in track and still looking up."

Besides Whyte and Mody, Carson lauded Jim Cargill, Don Jayroe, and Charles Hudson. Jayroe finished sixth in the mile despite the fact that it was the first time he had been in competition in two months because of an injury.

Coach John Welborn's wrestling team came up with one individual winner and finished with three seconds. The individual winner was sophomore Tim Ellenberger in the 130 pound class.

Howard Metzgar, who was defending champion in the 123 pound class, finished second as did Tom Ellenberger at 115 pounds and Stan Bastian at 152 pounds.

The Pirates collected 51 points in the meet, compared to 15 last year, and the 7-2-1 record was the best ever posted by an East Carolina team.

"We have a young team and lose only one man so I'm looking forward to next season," Coach Welborn said. "We've come up a lot, but I'm still not satisfied. We can do better."

Harlem Globetrotters Perform Sunday In Minges Coliseum

The 42nd edition of Abe Saperstein's fabulous Harlem Globetrotters will be in town Sunday in Minges Coliseum for an afternoon of fun and entertainment. Sponsored by the East Carolina University Track Team, the Trotters will pause here while on their global journey which has brought entertainment to millions of people in 87 countries and six continents.

Led by the loud incessant chatter, crazy antics, and the all-around foolery of Meadowlark Lemon and his teammates, the Trotters will present a type of show never before seen in this area. The Trotters are laughter. Their antics on the court are wild, funny, and yet, there is enough basketball there so you can recognize the main sport being played.

Over their previous 41 years of existence, the Trotters have won 8,966 games while only losing 322 for a winning percentage of 96.5 percent. That also includes a winning skein of 1,491 games prior to this year's season. The competition faced in most of these games is a team from their own organization, the Washington Generals. For a team which is dedicated to playing it straight, and usually losing, the Generals' are comprised of players who are good enough to play for the pros.

East Carolina Swimmers Meet In Southern Conference Tourney

Defending champion East Carolina goes into the Southern Conference swimming meet Thursday with its ranks depleted by illness and the remaining members beset by complacency.

"I'm afraid we aren't taking the meet serious enough," Coach Ray Martinez said as he held his final stiff workout prior to the opening day of qualifying for the championships in the Minges Coliseum Natatorium.

Bob Gregerson and Bill King are suffering from mononucleosis while Dick Donahue, Steve Howard and Greg Haines have respiratory infections. Neil Winslow of the diving team has a bruised hip.

The Pirates won 15 of the 17 events last year in rolling to the title, with Owen Paris, an All-American and captain of the team, taking three individual championships.

Other leading members of the East Carolina team are Mike Tomberlin, defending champion in the backstroke events, Layne Jorgensen in the 50 yard freestyle and Jim Manchester in the 1,650 yard freestyle. Dick Tobin, runnerup to teammate Les Gerber last year, heads the Pirate diving team.

Season tickets for the meet are $3 for the six sessions. Purchased on an individual basis, they are 50 cents for each of the three afternoon sessions and $1 each for the night sessions.

Advance tickets are also on sale at Minges Coliseum for the National A. A. U. championships scheduled April 11-13. There are no individual session tickets available, only season tickets at $10 each.

Bucs Bow To WVU In 1st Round Of SC

East Carolina's cage Bucs were not expected to challenge West Virginia in the first round of the SC tournament, but the Bucs must not have taken note of the predictions as they proceeded to scare the daylight out of the Mounties before bowing by 76-71.

At the start of the game, the Mounties sputtered to a quick 6-0 lead only to see the Bucs score the next six points to tie the game at 6-6. The game was tied again at 8-8 before West Virginia pulled out to a 20-15 lead. The Bucs again refused to die as they authored a 8-0 spurt to take a 23-20 lead.

West Virginia then bounced back for a 26-25 lead on a Carey Bailey follow-up shot and a 23-25 lead as Jim Lewis hit for two points. The Bucs again battled back to take a 33-31 lead on two free throws by Jim Modlin. The two teams swapped the lead until West Virginia took it for good at 36-35. The Mounties pulled out to a four point lead at 39-35, only to see the Bucs come back and whittle the lead down to one point at 41-40 at halftime as Earl Thompson hit on a bucket at the buzzer.

In the second half, the Mounties began to pull away and had a five point lead at 55-50 after Vince Colbert hit on a three point play with 12:54 left in the game. In the next six minutes, however, the Bucs could only hit for one free throw as the Mounties built up a 64-51 lead. The Bucs refused to quit and batted back once more. With 1:12 left in the game, the Bucs had whittled the West Virginia lead down to six points at 69-63. With 35 seconds left, Thompson hit to cut the lead down to three points at 72-69.

But Norman Holmes sank four pressure free throws in the final 18 seconds to seal the Bucs' doom.

Modlin led the Bucs with 17 points, followed by Thompson with 15. Colbert with 13, Charlie Alford with 12, and Richard Kier with 10.

The Mounties were led by Carey Bailey's 22 points, followed by Bob Hummel with 14, and Norman Holmes and Jim Lewis with 10 each. Ron Williams, the Mounties' high scoring guard, was held to his season-low of nine points.

Youth Worker Sighted As Outstanding Football Player

Jimmy Shuffler was about the unlikely looking football player that ever showed up at East Carolina University.

He had a face like a choir boy and the stature that more befitted a sprinter than someone who could turn into 180 pounds of blocking fury.

"They told me if I made the team I could get some scholarship help," Shuffler said the other day after being named recipient of the Outstanding Senior football award, which is awarded not only for football ability but scholarship and character.

An indication of Shuffler's character on a football field can be found in his appraisal of his final season's opposition.

Seasonal View

"Oh, I played against one little guy all year," he said. "It was that fellow from Louisville. He weighed only 200."

The rest of the time, Shuffler was running into people like a 260-pounder from Parsons and another just a shade lighter from West Texas State.

Shuffler has approached his schooling much with the same determination and purpose as he did football.

Future Plans

The son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L.

Notice

Compulsory meeting of all candidates for Spring elections on March 11, in New Austin 132 at 7:30 p.m. Filing for all Executive Offices and College Marshalls is open until March 11, 1968.

Shuffler, 1401 Hazel Avenue in New Bern, he is studying for a degree in business and hopes to get into graduate work here next year.

"With a business degree you can do almost anything," Shuffler says. "I'd like to coach, too, if I get into graduate school, maybe working on the staff here."

"The big reason I came to East Carolina was that I figured I could play single wing ball. I played center in high school and I felt like I could do it here."

But there isn't a great demand for 175-pound centers on anybody's football team and although Shuffler quickly earned himself a starting spot with the freshmen, it took some convincing to prove to the varsity staff that he could take the gaff of the tougher competition.

"College football takes a lot of work and a lot of ambition," he says. "But it's worth it."

Gridiron Activity

As a senior, Shuffler played virtually every minute of offense and although it isn't common for centers on the single wing hiving the ball to some spot where nobody is standing, Shuffler pulled that only twice during the year.

"One time I put it way over the kicker's head and the other time there was a mix-up in the backfield," he recalled. "Nelson Grayatt and I sort of shared the blame for that one."

Shuffler, who is married, has two brothers and one sister. Currently, as he awaits the time when he will earn his bachelor's degree and the answer on his application for graduate school, he and his wife are in charge of the Methodist Student Center.

"I enjoy working with young people," he says. "That's why I would be interested in coaching."

EC Signs State Wrestling Champ For '68 Gridiron

Garland Ballard, a 6-0, 218 pound tackle who is the state high school heavyweight wrestling champion, has signed a grant-in-aid with East Carolina University.

Coach Odell Welborn, who signed Ballard, said the youngster is one of the top line prospects in the state. "We are very happy to get Garland," Coach Welborn said. "We feel he can have an outstanding career at East Carolina."

Ballard, who was coached at New Bern High by Roger Thrift, was lauded by his prep mentor as one of the hardest working boys he has ever coached.

"I feel he will do extremely well in major college football competition," Thrift said.

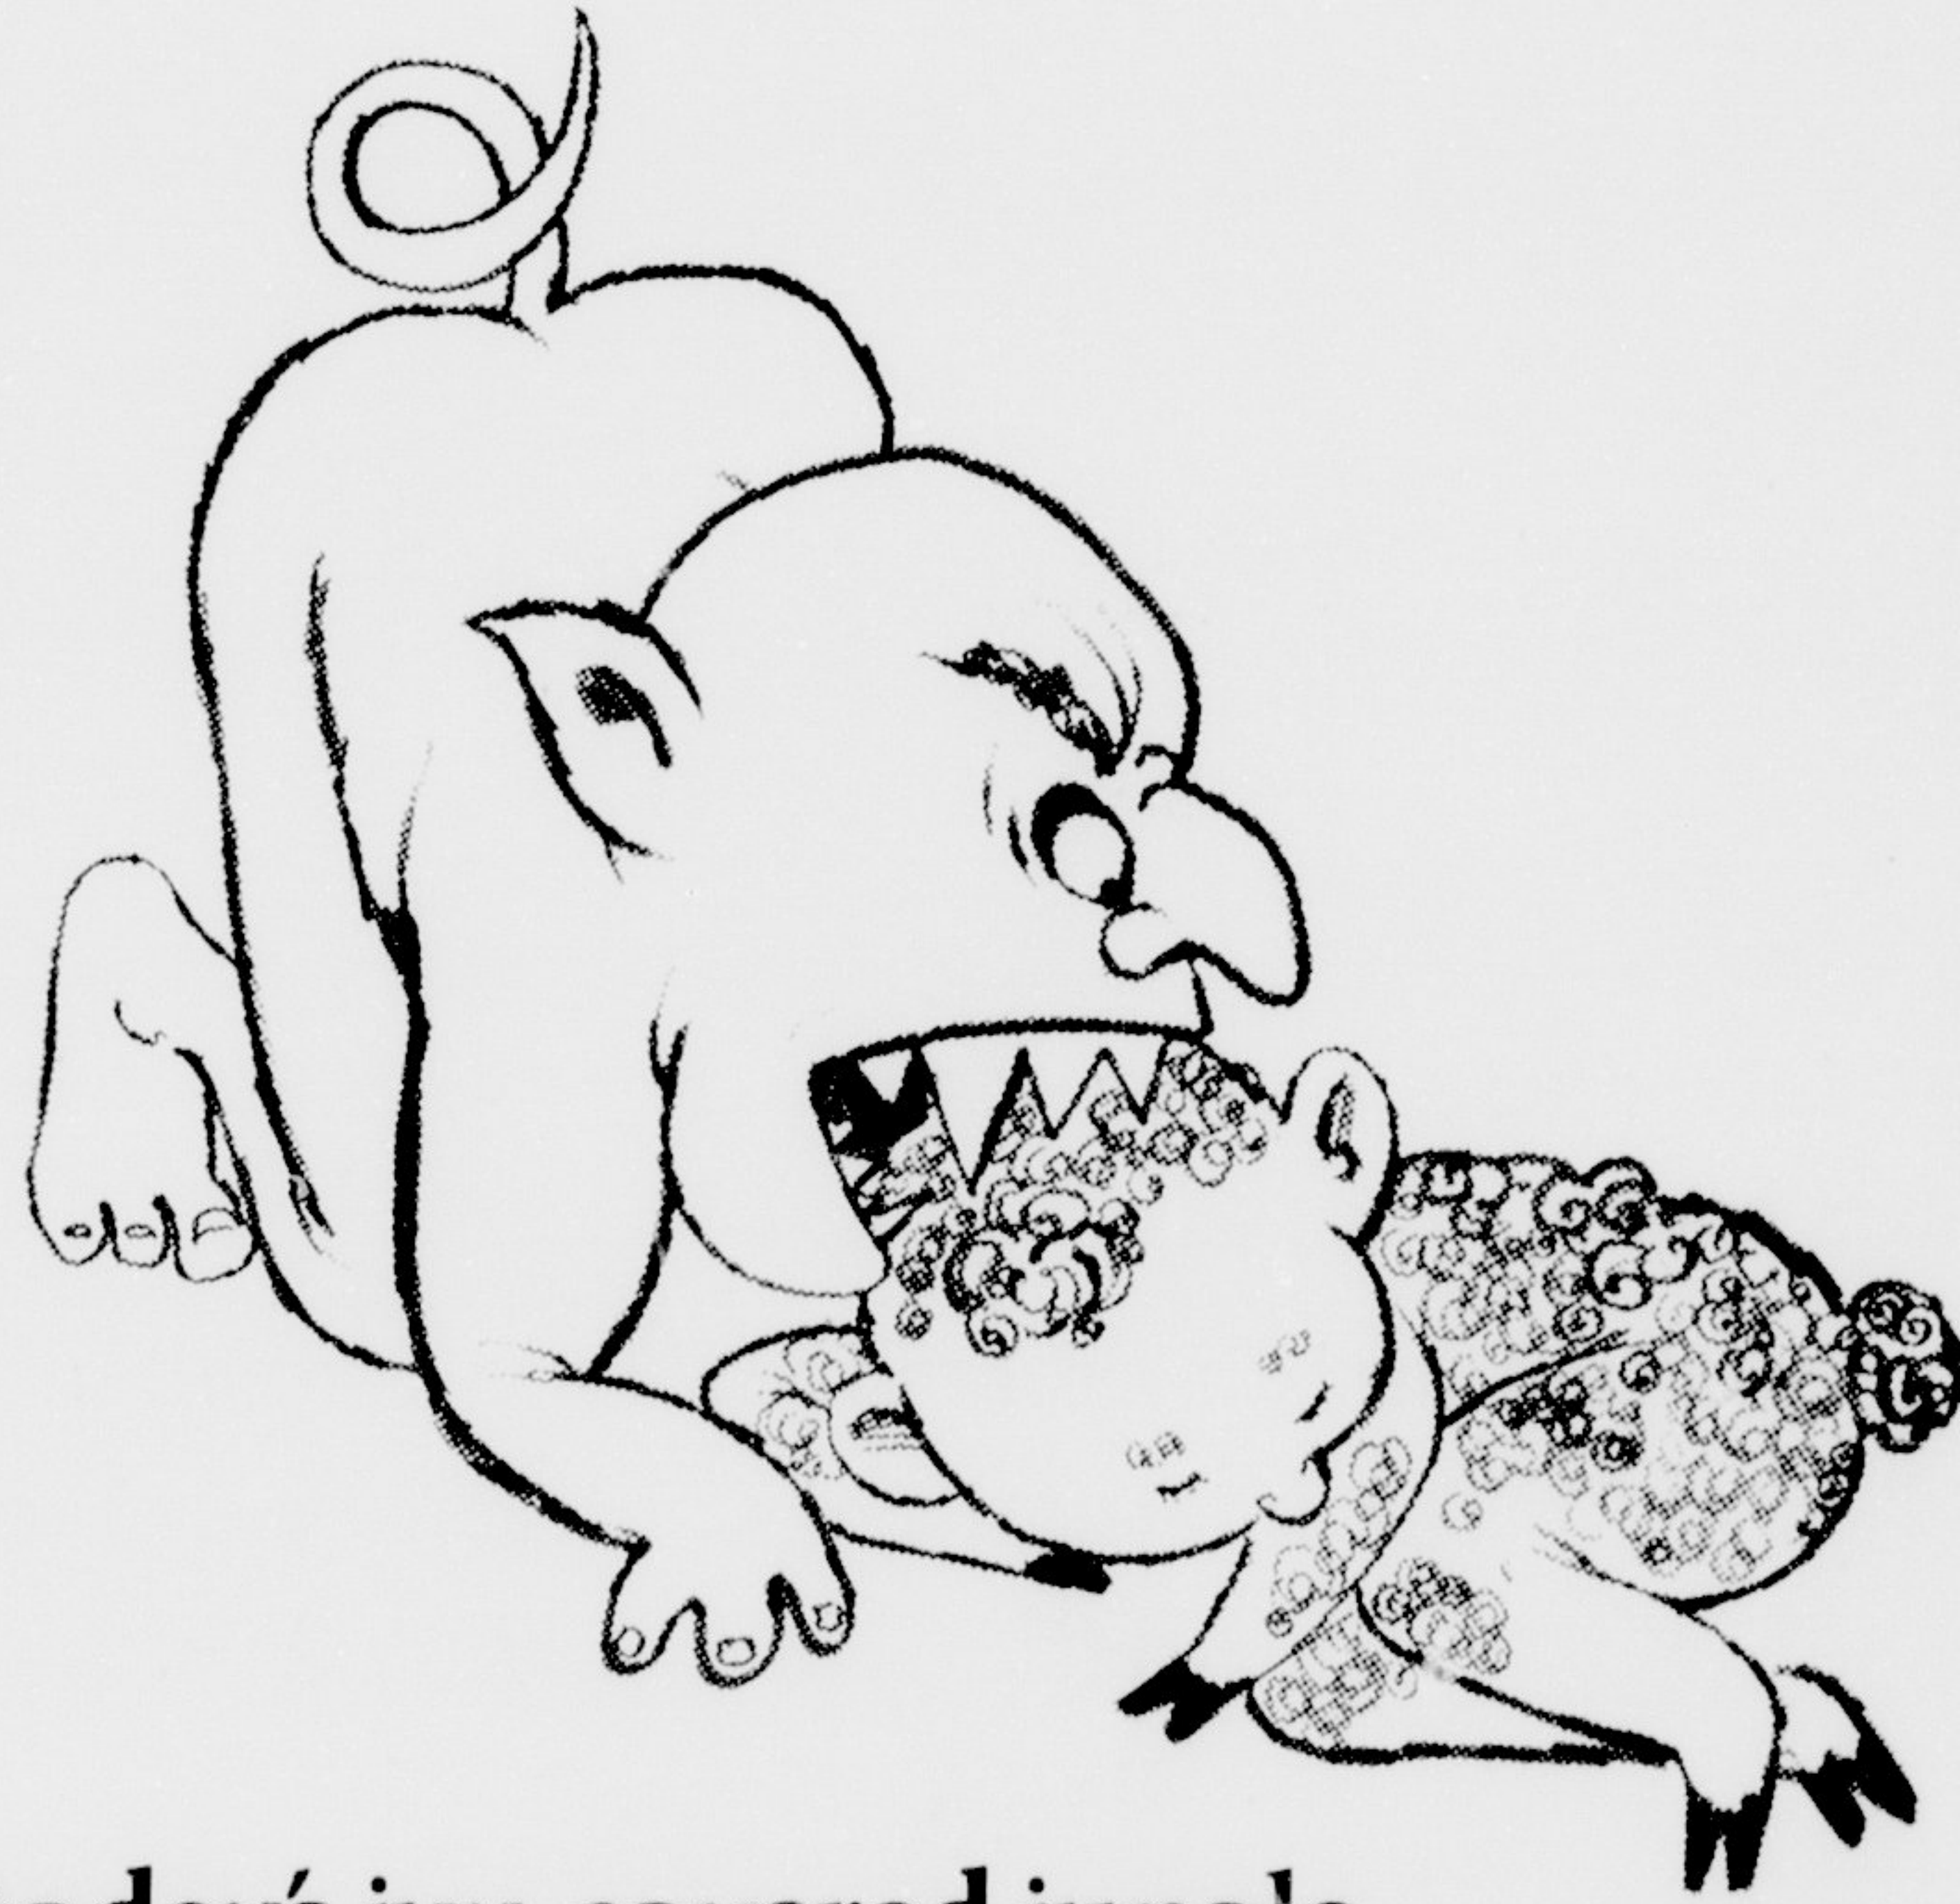

Ballard, an all-conference tackle as a junior, is also a track star and is conference champion in the shot put.

He has been named to the Shrine Bowl team, East-West teams and made honorable mention on the Prep All-America team.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland R. Ballard, he has good speed to go along with his size.

"I'm looking forward very much to going to East Carolina," he said. "I know it's a big jump from high school football to college football, but I feel I had good coaching in high school, and I hope I will be able to continue to improve."

SGA Evaluation

After more than 18 months of hard work, the 1967-68 evaluation has been completed, according to Frank Hardin, who headed the committee that prepared the evaluation.

The evaluation, which involved 202 professors and 202 students, was released around April 1. Hardin expects the 202 copies to be back by barring unforeseen problems. He says that the 10,000 copies distributed to students and faculty members.

There are 465 professors of which the 202 copies of the evaluation were distributed to low problems in communication, rather than the usual faculty membership.

Hardin offered that of the committee, say like to express my committee's appreciation to the professors who cooperated in the evaluation.

Members of the committee, including Curt Miller, vice chairman, secretary-treasurer, and Carolyn D. Dulets, who handled the many other aspects of the evaluation, assisted in distributing the results.

Hardin gave special thanks to the members of the committee.
