PREXY CANDIDATES—Three East Carolina men tossed their hats in the ring in the annual race for the Summer School SGA presidency. From left are Bill Diuguid, Student Party candidate; Cherry Stokes, who will run on the University Party ticket; and Johnny Williams, who has entered the lists as an independent, but who may be disqualified for an election foul. The candidates are planning to face the issues head on in a special debate Wednesday night.

Building Contracts Studied For New Classroom Edifice

East Carolina University officials will probably award contracts this week for construction of its largest classroom building, a 3-and 4-story home of the geography, history, political science and sociology departments.

The quadrangular complex is to be built between Memorial Gymnasium and the School of Music with a total construction-and-equipment budget of about $3.3 million. The 131,000-square-foot building is about twice as big as other classroom buildings built at ECU in recent years.

Pending routine approval by state officials, the university would likely award contracts to these low bidders: L. P. Cox of Sanford, $1,874,200 for general construction; Bieman and Rowell Company of Raleigh, $79,561 for plumbing; Bullock and Humble, Inc., of Greensboro, $377,777 for heating and air conditioning; Watson Electrical Construction Company of Wilson, $166,843 for electrical work; Southern Elevator Company of Greensboro, $34,867 for two elevators; NACO Electronics Corporation of Raleigh, $5,861 for the intercommunications system.

The low bids, received in a campus bidding session last Thursday, total $2,539,104. That figure is well within the budget of 3.3 million, which must cover architectural fees, contingencies and equipment.

Financing comes from a state appropriation ($23 million) and a federal grant ($1 million). If construction can begin soon, officials expect the 131,000-square-foot complex to be ready before the opening of the 1969-'70 school year. It will add substantially to classroom, laboratory and faculty office facilities on campus.

The complex will have four sections in a quadrangle enclosing a large courtyard. The south section, facing outward on East Tenth Street, will be a four-story structure for faculty and administrative offices. Each of the other three sections will be 3-story classrooms and laboratory wings.

Jesse Page and Associates of Raleigh, architectural firm for the project, gained greater construction economy by separating faculty offices from classrooms. For instance, corridors in the office wing need not be as wide as hallways in the three classroom sections.

Comedy Scheduled To Open 'Season Five' Summer Shows

John van Druten's hit comedy, "Bell, Book and Candle," will substitute for the play, "Gigi" as the opening production of "Season Five" of the East Carolina Summer Theatre.

Summer Theatre Producer-Director Edgar R. Loessin announced the change this week. Loessin said that "Gigi" is to be recalled for transformation into a Broadway musical and will no longer be available for production as a play.

In announcing the substitution, however, Loessin also noted the great success with which Druten's delightful comedy met throughout its long run on Broadway. Critic Brooks Atkinson termed the play as "completely enchanting."

Rex Harrison and Lilli Palmer starred in the Broadway production of the story, which later became a movie starring Kim Novak.

Commenting on the withdrawal of "Gigi," Loessin said the move was normal procedure whenever such a transformation is undertaken.

"Bell, Book and Candle" opens the 1968 season on Monday, July 1, and will play through July 6 with a matinee performance on July 3.

Summer Theatre Season tickets are still on sale, and reserved tickets were mailed out as of Monday, June 17. The Summer Theatre box office also opened on June 17, Loessin said.

Tickets are available from the Summer Theatre, Box 2712, Greenville, N. C., and orders may be placed by telephone to Greenville, 752-7565 or 758-3426, Ext. 293.

A recent participant in the Best Foods Cook-In during the 14th Annual National College Queen Pageant was North Carolina College Queen Linda Lucille Tetterton, a student at East Carolina University and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse W. Tetterton, 700 Willow Street, Greenville. During the Cook-In, each of the fifty girls prepared a main dish, following a recipe never before seen. In addition to the main dish, each girl frosted and decorated a cake using a motif symbolic of her state.

Students:
As Election Committee Chairman, I would like to urge each of you to actively participate in the summer school campaign of the Student Government Executive officers and student legislators. If for some reason you can not hold an office, you may still participate in the election. Thursday, June 20, from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. in the U. U. Lobby or in the Lobby of your respective dormitories, you may cast your vote for the candidate of your choice. Both your Activity Card and I. D. are required in order to vote.
My goal is to see that the election is run efficiently and that we have a clean, hard fought campaign by the candidates. The candidate's goal is to win. As students, you can help us achieve our goal by doing your part. VOTE!
Thanks
Dan Summers
Election Chairman

Stokes, Diuguid Vie For Summer Prexy

East Carolina's first summer session looks forward to an exciting election. There seems to be a lot of competition between parties.

Presidential candidates are Cherry Stokes for the University Party, and Bill Diuguid for the Student Party.

When asked to explain as concisely as possible their reason and purpose for running, Cherry Stokes stated that, "In the past few years that the University Party has brought to the students a better SGA than ever before. If elected, I plan to continue to bring to the students an active and prosperous Student Government. With today's changing university, an active not passive SGA is needed to keep students informed of their rights and privileges which they have and want. This I firmly believe. If elected I will keep my ideas in context with this belief."

Bill Diuguid stated that, "The main thing that I want to do, besides limited free tickets to the Summer Theater, and night swimming, is to have an open forum of interested students on such issues as the experimental college, with the pass-fail system; and consideration to the policies of student housing. Having the past three years on campus in student government, I have come to identify a number of problems which demand attention of the SGA. I'll be seeking the support of summer legislature for endorsement of recommended changes to be submitted to the regular term legislature in the fall."

Summer Session Offers Varied Class Spectrum

Some 4,300 students registered Monday, June 10, as the first summer school session got under way at East Carolina University.

Registration of students began Monday at 8 a.m. and continued through 5 p.m. Classes began at 8 a.m. Tuesday, June 11.

Over 400 courses in all departments and many special programs and workshops are being offered during the first session, which continues through July 16. Teaching the first-session courses will be 211 faculty members.

Together, the first and second sessions of summer school are the equivalent of a full quarter with respect to courses, credit, and quality of instruction. The second session begins July 17 and concludes with final examinations on August 23.

Special programs this summer include four summer institutes for elementary and secondary teachers; a program in chemistry for senior high school teachers; a program concerned with disadvantaged youth; programs in foreign languages, geology and library sciences; and the annual Summer Music Camp for qualified junior and senior high school musicians, July 14 through July 26.

Workshops include a two-week reading institute in June, a workshop on race relations, and others in music, sociology and education.

Welcome . . .

With this the first edition of the EAST CAROLINIAN for the 1968 Summer Session, the members of the staff take this opportunity to welcome you to the East Carolina University campus.

Many of the students here are old "ECUers." To them we express the hope that the upcoming session will be a pleasure and of definite scholastic benefit. However, there are also on this campus a number of students who have enrolled here for the first time this summer. To this group go our congratulations on having selected East Carolina University as the place to further your academic and social education.

We would also like to take this opportunity to acquaint you with what the EAST CAROLINIAN strives to accomplish on this campus. Our publication will come out once per week during the summer session and twice weekly during the regular school year. We attempt to provide news coverage for all major events of student and faculty interest on this campus, and to provide an outlet for the expression of student opinion.

Our offices are located on the third floor of Wright Building, where members of the staff are always willing to discuss with you the objectives and functions of this newspaper. We are also interested in talking with those of you who are interested in staff positions on this publication. Positions are still open for the summer edition in almost all phases of the production of the paper.

We sincerely hope your stay here will be a pleasant one this summer, and extend to you our desire to be of service in any way possible.

Wes Sumner
Editor-in-Chief

Vote Has Value

Election time has once again come upon the student body of East Carolina University, giving students the opportunity to express their desires as to the type of government they want for this campus.

All too often on this campus, elections for Student Government Association offices are overlooked by students as a way to better their lot while getting their all-important education. Plain apathy has been the culprit in robbing East Carolina University students of the positions of influence they so rightly deserve.

In the past, the SGA has been bitterly criticized by students as being a "do-nothing" organization. In many cases this criticism has been unjust. But it is sad to say that in others the attack has been well-founded. However, the blame must fall on the true culprits of this failure of the democratic process—those who lazily refuse to express themselves at the polls.

The elections set for Thursday are important events, not only to 1968 summer session students only, but to all those who will come here next year, or the year after that, for the kind of student government that exists here this summer will set a precedent for all that follows, not only this summer, but next fall, and next summer.

An excellent slate of candidates have offered themselves for positions in the SGA this summer. Each one has merits that should be strongly considered by each member of the electorate on this campus. The candidates have done their part by offering themselves as candidates for election. It is now the part of each student here to go out to the polls Thursday and express his or her choice.

Grades Are A Must

Summer School 1968 has officially begun with approximately 4,300 students enrolled for the term.

The reasons for that many students being on this campus for a summer session are diverse and plentiful. Some have come in an attempt to raise their grade averages to a point that will allow them to return to campus in the fall. Others have come to bring their hours up to the level prescribed by selective service requirements. Another group has come to get work finished this summer in order to hasten the time of graduation. Still another group, the incoming freshmen, have enrolled to get a head start on required courses and to make the upcoming fall quarter a little less painful.

Though the reasons for students enrolling in the 1968 summer session are many, the object they all seek is singular. Every student on this campus is faced with a need to obtain good grades, with passing marks the very minimum.

Summer sessions are very unique creatures for both students and faculty alike, as both groups try to cram in the most material in the shortest amount of time possible. Professors strive to assign and cover the same amount of subject matter in the short space of five weeks that they normally spend a full quarter to cover. While the amount of class time is approximately equal to that of the regular quarter, the point of conflict usually arises in assignments, which require the student to spend twice the normal amount of study time each day.

This is, to say the least, a problem. But it is a necessary cost of picking up hours in the "relaxed" atmosphere of a summer session.

It is also a problem that has but one plausible solution. Each student here must face the necessities of looking the problem squarely in the eye and putting forth the extra effort needed for obtaining those good grades in this hurried and pressure-wrought season of academics.

Having participated in Student Government activities for the past several years, I feel that I know the candidates running for summer school positions.

When marking your ballot in the forthcoming elections, beware of flashy banners and lengthy campaign promises. Often they are the height of a candidate's service and do not indicate the candidate's past service to you.

I feel that if you examine closely the past records of the two Presidential candidates that you will find that Bill Duiguid has served you best and will serve you best.

Your vote would be appreciated by Bill and the Student Party.

Sincerely,
Steve Moore

Stokes

Choice '68, this is the question. Who do you want to lead your Student Government Association? Of course, you want a president that is versatile and qualified in many fields. Cherry Stokes of whom I have known closely for three years is this type of man. Cherry has served your SGA as a State Student legislator for the past three years, parliamentarian of his fraternity, and on numerous other SGA committees throughout his career at East Carolina.

The president that you choose will serve many hours working for you as a public relations man, policy maker, mediator, and link between you and the administration. Cherry who is more than willing to serve you is exceptional qualified to fulfill each of these duties and the numerous others that are required of a president of such a large student body.

You want an active, progressive Student Government, and Cherry as your president will be able to help you acquire one. He has stated in his party and personal platforms what he will accomplish if elected. He only needs you, the voter, to elect him, and he will be able to serve you and complete his objectives to the best of his abilities.

In closing, I would like to use a quotation from the late President John F. Kennedy. "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country." Cherry Stokes is not the type of young man to ask his school or student government what it can do for him, but what he can do to further development, and growth of East Carolina University and your Student Government Association. I encourage you to exercise your right as a citizen of this great country of ours to vote Thursday, June 20th for Cherry Stokes, University Party candidate for President and an active progressive Summer School Student Government Association.

Sincerely,
David R. Lloyd
SGA President
1968-1969

Davis

Presently, I am serving as your SGA Treasurer for regular session 1968-1969. It has been a distinct and rewarding honor to serve the students of East Carolina University in such a capacity. The opportunity to manage a Student Government budget of a quarter of million dollars is a very demanding one. It requires a person with experience and knowledge in handling financial matters. I feel confident that I meet these standards. Although, I am running unopposed for the office of Summer School Treasurer, it is not a question that no one wanted to run against me. I feel quite sure that there are many capable and qualified students on campus who could do an equally efficient job. The fact is that it is more convenient for the present treasurer to continue to hold his office through summer session. The responsibilities of the treasurer are such that it is almost necessary for the same person to remain in office year round. In the future I am certain it is going to be made mandatory that the SGA Treasurer be elected on this basis. For this reason I don't feel that I will be holding an office of non-importance or given a title for the sake of having one.

It is with my most sincere desire to serve you, the Students of East Carolina, as SGA Treasurer. I ask for your support for myself and the other University Party candidates Thursday, June 20, for the continuation of a more effective Student Government.

Cordially,
Buford Davis

Stokes

For many years the Summer School Student Government Association has not brought to the students an effective SGA. There have been many promises made at campaign time that have been forgotten after elections. Many people after election are content to sit back upon the glory of their election, and do nothing for the students. I would propose an active not a passive Summer School SGA.

If elected, I would like to see later women's hours start second session, not just fall. I would also keep pushing for two all night women's dorms and a grill on the hill, something that is sorely needed. Since 76% of the students in school during the spring wanted a change in the drop-add system, now is the time for a solution to the problem to be found. I would also lay the groundwork for a student, faculty, administration committee, so that we, the students, could solve our problems before they become too large. I would like to see a more effective judicial system, and an updated constitution for Summer School.

To carry out the policies of David Lloyd, our present president, I would finish the soda shop remodeling and would start the work of preserving the bell tower of Old Austin.

The North Carolina Student Government Association, which is now being formed in part by David Lloyd, would benefit us, the students, greatly, and if elected I would contact other schools and keep the interest up.

There also needs to be better communications between the students and their Student Government. If elected, my doors would be open to any student, and I would give a weekly report to the newspaper showing the student what his Student Government is doing each week.

At election time you, the voter, are faced with many decisions. I would like to ask you to observe the candidates in their working environment. Judge us as you see us in your own eyes and choose the one that would best serve East Carolina University and your Student Government Association.

Through the years of experience that I have, I feel that I can serve you and your SGA by being your next Summer School President. Speaking of my experience in the SGA, during the regular school year, I am presently serving as Undersecretary of External Affairs. Also, I am chairman of the East Carolina delegations to be sent to State Student Legislature and National Model House of Representatives, where we will represent East Carolina. As a member of the Public Relations Committee and an alternate on Honor Council I am continuing to serve you, the students, to the best of my ability.

To become Summer School President and carry out my platform and beliefs, I need the support of you, the student. On Thursday, June 20, vote. Remember, it's your Student Government.

Thank you for your support
Cherry Stokes

Duiguid

Student government in the summer sessions is equally as important as the government of the regular term and the election of summer officers who are both, qualified, and interested in continuing good government, is therefore paramount. I have filed for the office of President with the intention of working towards those proposals and ideas which directly benefit the summer school students. (1) I would like to see that a number of free tickets to the Summer Playhouse be made available to the students. (2) Also, many students wish to use the swimming pool at night during the summer and I feel that this can be arranged as it was last summer. (3) We hope also to be able to organize a Summer School Dance.

This summer I would like to organize a number of committees to study the many grievances and proposals which have arisen from the student body in the past year. Proposals dealing with the experimental college, where a number of supplemental courses, seminar-type, would be offered this fall to all students. These supplemental courses would be graded on a pass-fail system so that students who wish to take courses outside their major may do so without jeopardizing their academic standing. In other words, students will receive credit on their grade sheets for having taken courses and will receive a grade of "pass" or "fail" but it will not be figured in the students grade point average. A "banquet table" analogy is often drawn to illustrate this system where a student simply takes what he wants to supplement his formal education.

I would like to revive and revitalize the committee in SGA which was working on seeing what could be done to bring about reductions in the prices of various commodities sold in Greenville. Many prices appear somewhat exorbitant in comparison to some of the larger cities in the state.

Also, a complete study needs to be conducted on campus housing policies. Many students have expressed concern over the plan which is everyday being perpetrated, of putting the women at one end of the campus and the men at the other end. Students would like to see these dorms built in the same area, some womens' and some mens' dorms so that they don't have to walk two miles to pick up a date.

We would also like to discuss the pros and cons of co-ed dormitories, operated under a system of one suite women and one suite men, or one floor women and one floor men. I would like to see that ample consideration be given to the idea of visiting hours for women in the mens' dorms.

Great changes have been made in student regulations in my past three years here and all of them have been made very peacefully. All it takes is for the students to decide what they want and properly present their ideas and not lose interest in carrying them through.

As far as qualifications for office, I have worked in the student government for three years serving on many committees, in the legislature, have attended State Student Legislature, and have served as Vice-Chairman and Chairman of the Student Party.

Having worked closely with the campus entertainment in the past year, I would like to mention the three fine entertainments which have been slated for the summer. On June 26, Bobby Vinton will perform; on July 8, Spanky and our Gang will entertain students; and on July 24, Flatt and Scruggs have been booked for our amusement.

I ask for both your support in the election for all of the Student Party candidates and for your participation in student government by serving on some of the committees that will be instrumental in obtaining the changes and concessions you are asking for.

Sincerely,
Bill Duiguid

'Roses' Boosts Vinton To Pop Music Success

"One of the most astounding success stories known to the music industry began with the release of 'Roses Are Red,' the single which sold over 3 million and won him his first Gold Record." In the past five years Bobby Vinton sold more single records than any other artist. He is always on the national best-seller charts and has received numerous awards from consumer and music trade publications. He has sung in just about every top club in the United States, often breaking existing attendance records.

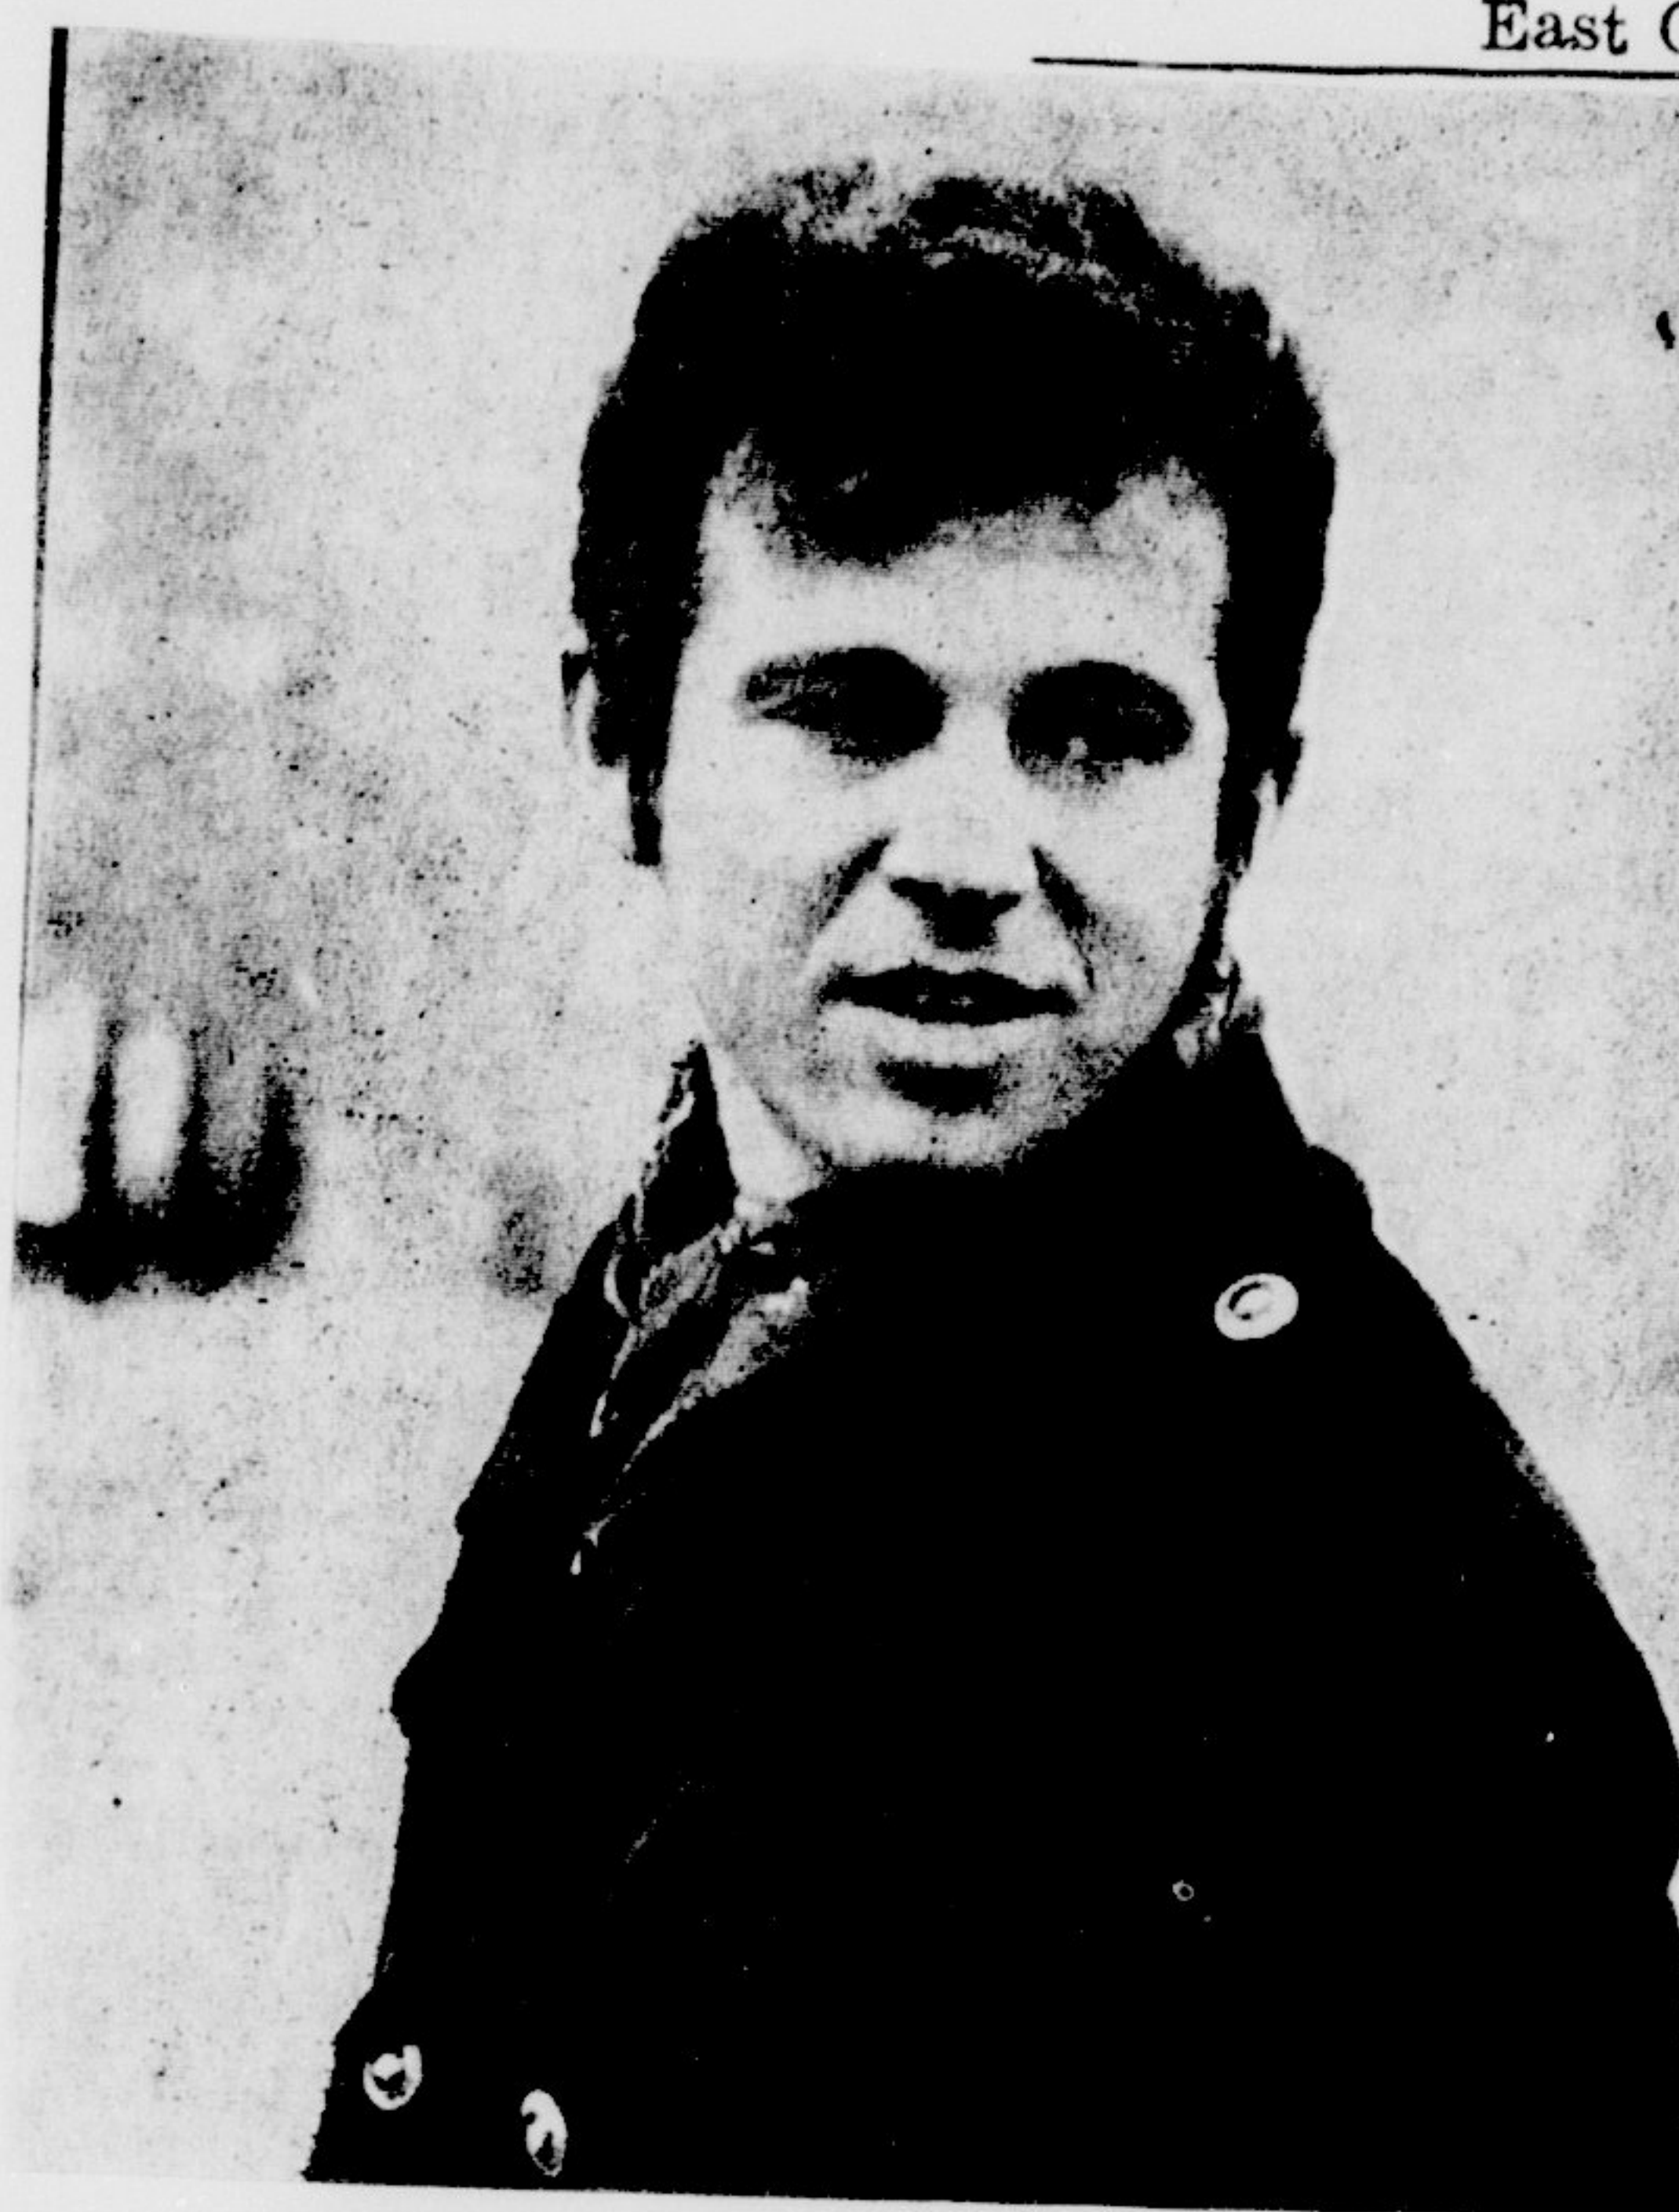

One reason for Vinton's enormous popularity is his unusual ability to reach a public of all ages. His special rhythm-styling is in demand by both old and young listeners, and his versions of rock, ballads and blues are all danceable. Born in Canonsburg suburb of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Bobby is the son of the area's most popular bandleader, Stan Vinton. Following in his father's footsteps, Bobby organized his first dance band at the age of fifteen, thus becoming the youngest professional bandleader in the business. Playing the "big-band sound" at such a young age astounded people; gradually the band acquired a good reputation in Pennsylvania and soon went on to appearances in nearby Ohio and other cities throughout the East and Midwest. During this time Bobby's band backed up name performers from Sammy Davis to Fabian. Although he received many offers to make extensive tours, Bobby decided it was important to learn more about this field he was growing to love. He enrolled in Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, received a Bachelor of Music Degree and began thinking about a career with the Pittsburgh Symphony. During his college years he became proficient in playing the piano, trombone, saxophone and clarinet, all self-taught. He still combines these instruments in his nightclub acts today.

His first big break came when Guy Lombardo saw the band at a local performance and took them on the TV Talent Scouts Show which led to a four-week stint for Bobby as guest host of a network TV show called "Saturday Prom." On this show Bobby sang for the first time and was heard by Epic executives who persuaded him to cut a record. That first recording, "Roses Are Red," was the beginning of Bobby's endless success as a recording artist. SRO audience crowd his nightclub and concert appearances throughout the United States and Europe. He is consistently strong draw at the Copa, throughout the year, as well as during the prom months. He also appears at such clubs as the Coconut Grove, The Fontainebleau, El San Juan and all other major nightclubs in America.

Off stage Bobby spends a lot of time relaxing at his home in Kings Point L. I., swimming in his heated pool or sailing his boat around Long Island Sound. (He commutes to New York by speedboat for business meetings tying up at the docks in the Wall Street area.) He is also a confirmed movie fan and enjoys the luxury of watching first-run feature films in his own projection room.

Today—multi-talented Bobby Vinton has achieved international fame as a singer and versatile performer.

BOBBY VINTON—noted pops and ballad singer made famous by his "Roses Are Red," will open the 1963 Summer School popular entertainment series next Wednesday night, June 26, at 8:15. The show will be presented on the University mall, and will therefore require no tickets.

Sing-Out Appears On EC Mall They're Out To Change World

"They're out to change the world" exclaimed Clarence W. Hall of Reader's Digest. Mr. Hall was referring to "Sing-Out," a group of young people who were organized through Moral Rearmament.

"Sing-Out '68" appeared on East Carolina's Mall Thursday, June 12. The talented group expressed their views and purposes through such songs as "Sing-Out is All You Can Do," and "Freedom Isn't Free."

The enthusiastic leader of the group, Mrs. R. H. Thurston, stated that "Sing-Out's purpose is to pull this country together. We decided that this country had to have somebody to care."

As Mrs. Thurston looked on the group with obvious pride, smiled broadly, and patted her foot to the tempo, she pointed out that the group represented 23 schools and colleges, plus a former Black Power leader, and a drop-out that had been referred to her by his community as "no good for anything."

Robert Williams, the "no good," freely expressed his opinion by saying that, "It most always takes a change to give one a purpose in life. Before one can change the world, one must change himself."

Dave Clarke, a member of Sing-Out and a junior at Macinac College next fall, emphasized that, "Popular opinion has been that college students have everything handed to them on a silver platter. What we need now is to get a vision for the entire generation over the world. The whole world is looking to young America for positive aim and direction."

"Sing-Out is an expression of all that America, with its many assets needs to give to the world."

The first Sing-Out group started similar groups all over the world. They always go back to the new to help them get going. There are now 250 groups over the world.

Sing-Out will appear at the National Tobacco Festival with such popular entertainers as Rowan and Martin's Laf In.

'Ridiculous' Fits Presley, Sinatra 'Speedway' Spoof

To quote Nancy Sinatra, "This is ridiculous," and that statement seemed to be more than appropriate for "Speedway," a movie dominated by racing, music, and Elvis. Presley. Elvis portrays his typical role as a nerveless race-car driver participating at the Charlotte Raceway (our condolences to Charlotte).

Elvis turns on, tunes in, and wrecks out his car on numerous occasions only to come out looking as though he has just taken a satisfying trip to the toilet. Nancy Sinatra, a spy for the Internal Revenue Service, is finally won over by Elvis in the end, but Bill Bixby, star of "Our Favorite Martian," has no such luck. Bixby portrays the lover of the group and provides us with the only true talent in the movie. In short, he saves the movie from total disaster through humor, style, and good acting ability. One other bright point was Nancy Sinatra's figure, which helps provide a more enjoyable and exciting movie.

There are several possible morals to the story; 1. Don't play games with the Internal Revenue Service; 2. Help your fellow man; 3. Manage your own financial affairs; 4. Drive to win; 5. Don't see this movie if you're looking for an Academy Award winner.

Buford Davis, University Party candidate for treasurer.

Robertson Wins In Myrtle Beach Beauty Contest

A pretty, petite 20 year old brunette and "Miss 1968 WNCT-TV" (Greenville, N. C.) was the selection of the judges at the "Miss Waves" contest held Saturday, June 8th during the Seventeenth Annual Sun Fun Festival at Myrtle Beach, S. C.

Sherry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Robertson of Petersburg, Virginia and a student at East Carolina University in Greenville, N. C. where she is majoring in Education. In 1967, she was selected as "Miss Cheer Leader U. S. A. and she graduated from Midway High School, Church Road, Virginia.

During Miss Robertson's stay in Myrtle Beach, she was honored at many functions, including the Coronation of Anne Blizard, Miss Sun Fun 1968-69 and at Myrtle Beach Mayor Mark C. Garner's luncheon honoring many visiting dignitaries.

Sherry, as Miss Waves, will be going with a delegation from South Carolina's Grand Strand to the Canadian National Exposition during August at Toronto, Canada. The purpose of the trip will be to promote tourism for the popular Grand Strand area.

MISS WAVES—East Carolina University's vivacious Sherry Robertson added to her list of accomplishments over the break, as she was crowned "Miss Waves" in a Myrtle Beach, S. C. contest. In addition to being "Miss Waves," she currently rules as "Miss 1968 WNCT-TV" and was the 1967 "Miss Cheerleader USA."

European Tour Begins With 19 EC Students

A group of 19 East Carolina University students left New York City Saturday, June 8, for a five-week tour of Western Europe in conjunction with a political science course "Political Processes: Western Europe."

The course, Political Science 233, offers nine quarter hours of undergraduate credit for the participants, who will tour Great Britain, France, the Federal Republic of Germany, and other principal states.

Dr. Hans Indorf, professor of political science at ECU, is group leader and instructor. The course will provide a field study of comparative political processes of the European countries and involves 10 classroom hours and 18 supervised research hours per week.

Aboard the ship, "Aurelia," which arrived in Southampton on Sunday, June 16, students have been scheduled to participate in a series of lectures and group meetings.

Browning Announces Resignation; Accepts Marshall Faculty Post

Dr. Elmer R. Browning, dean of the East Carolina University School of Business, is resigning 10 months before retirement to take a key post on the faculty of his alma mater, Marshall University at Huntington, W. Va.

Dean Browning, has worked at the helm of ECU's program in business instruction since 1936. His crowning achievements here came in 1966 with approval of a Master of Business Administration degree and in May 1967 when the School of Business won national accreditation. Only 112 of the 1,536 four-year schools in the nation have that accreditation.

Dr. Browning's resignation becomes effective Sept. 1 when he becomes professor of business administration at Marshall. Under state regulations he would have retired at East Carolina July 1, 1969.

University officials, in accepting Dr. Browning's resignation, praised his efforts and accomplishments here. They said a successor will be named soon.

President Leo W. Jenkins said Dr. Browning has made "many valuable contributions to the development of our School of Business" and has been "one of my best confidants." He added, "We will maintain contact with him to ask his advice as our business program continues to grow and develop."

Dr. Robert L. Holt, vice president and dean, noted that Dr. Browning's leadership in setting up the MBA program and in gaining for ECU accreditation by the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business has set the stage for further growth and development of the graduate program in business.

He added, "We certainly will miss him and we wish him well as he faces new challenges in his new position at Marshall."

Dr. Browning said he welcomes the new challenges of his work with Marshall's rapidly-developing business program. He also said he is "deeply grateful for the 20 years of inspired leadership and complete cooperation given me by Dr. Jenkins."

At Marshall, Dr. Browning will teach in the graduate program and serve as a key consultant in the university's efforts to establish soon an MBA degree program, to gain AACSB accreditation and to organize its business instruction into a new College of Commerce in the near future.

The Marshall appointment returns Dr. Browning, and Mrs. Browning, to their home state and their alma mater. Dr. Browning is a native of Logan, W. Va., and got his AB degree from Marshall. Mrs. Browning is the former Marie Bogness of Ripley, W. Va., and also has an AB from Marshall. They were married in Huntington's Fifth Avenue Methodist Church the day Dr. Browning graduated from the university.

Dr. Browning joined the ECU faculty January 1, 1936, after several years as principal of West Virginia high school. During World War II his ECU tenure was interrupted as he served the War Department as professor at Shreveport American University in England and Biarritz American University in France. He has served as a summer visiting professor at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro (1946) and at the University of Montana (1950).

He has an MEd degree from Duke University and an EdD from Colorado State College of Education.

He and Mrs. Browning, who has an MA from Duke and has taught at ECU, have one son, Robert R. Browning, a Greenville attorney.

Linda Plemmons, Student Party candidate for secretary.

Plemmons

As the Student Party's candidate for SGA Summer School secretary, I am highly interested in applying my abilities and qualifications towards serving the student body of East Carolina University. I am aware of the responsibilities which are related to the position of secretary of the SGA and feel that I have both the experience and desire that such a job dictates. Having served as a member of the student legislature and serving now as secretary of the Student Party, I have gained an insight into the responsibilities of efficient service. I have also served in the following capacities: Vice-President of the Junior class, SGA Homecoming Committee, SGA Budget Committee, Orientation Counselor, and member of the Buccaneer staff.

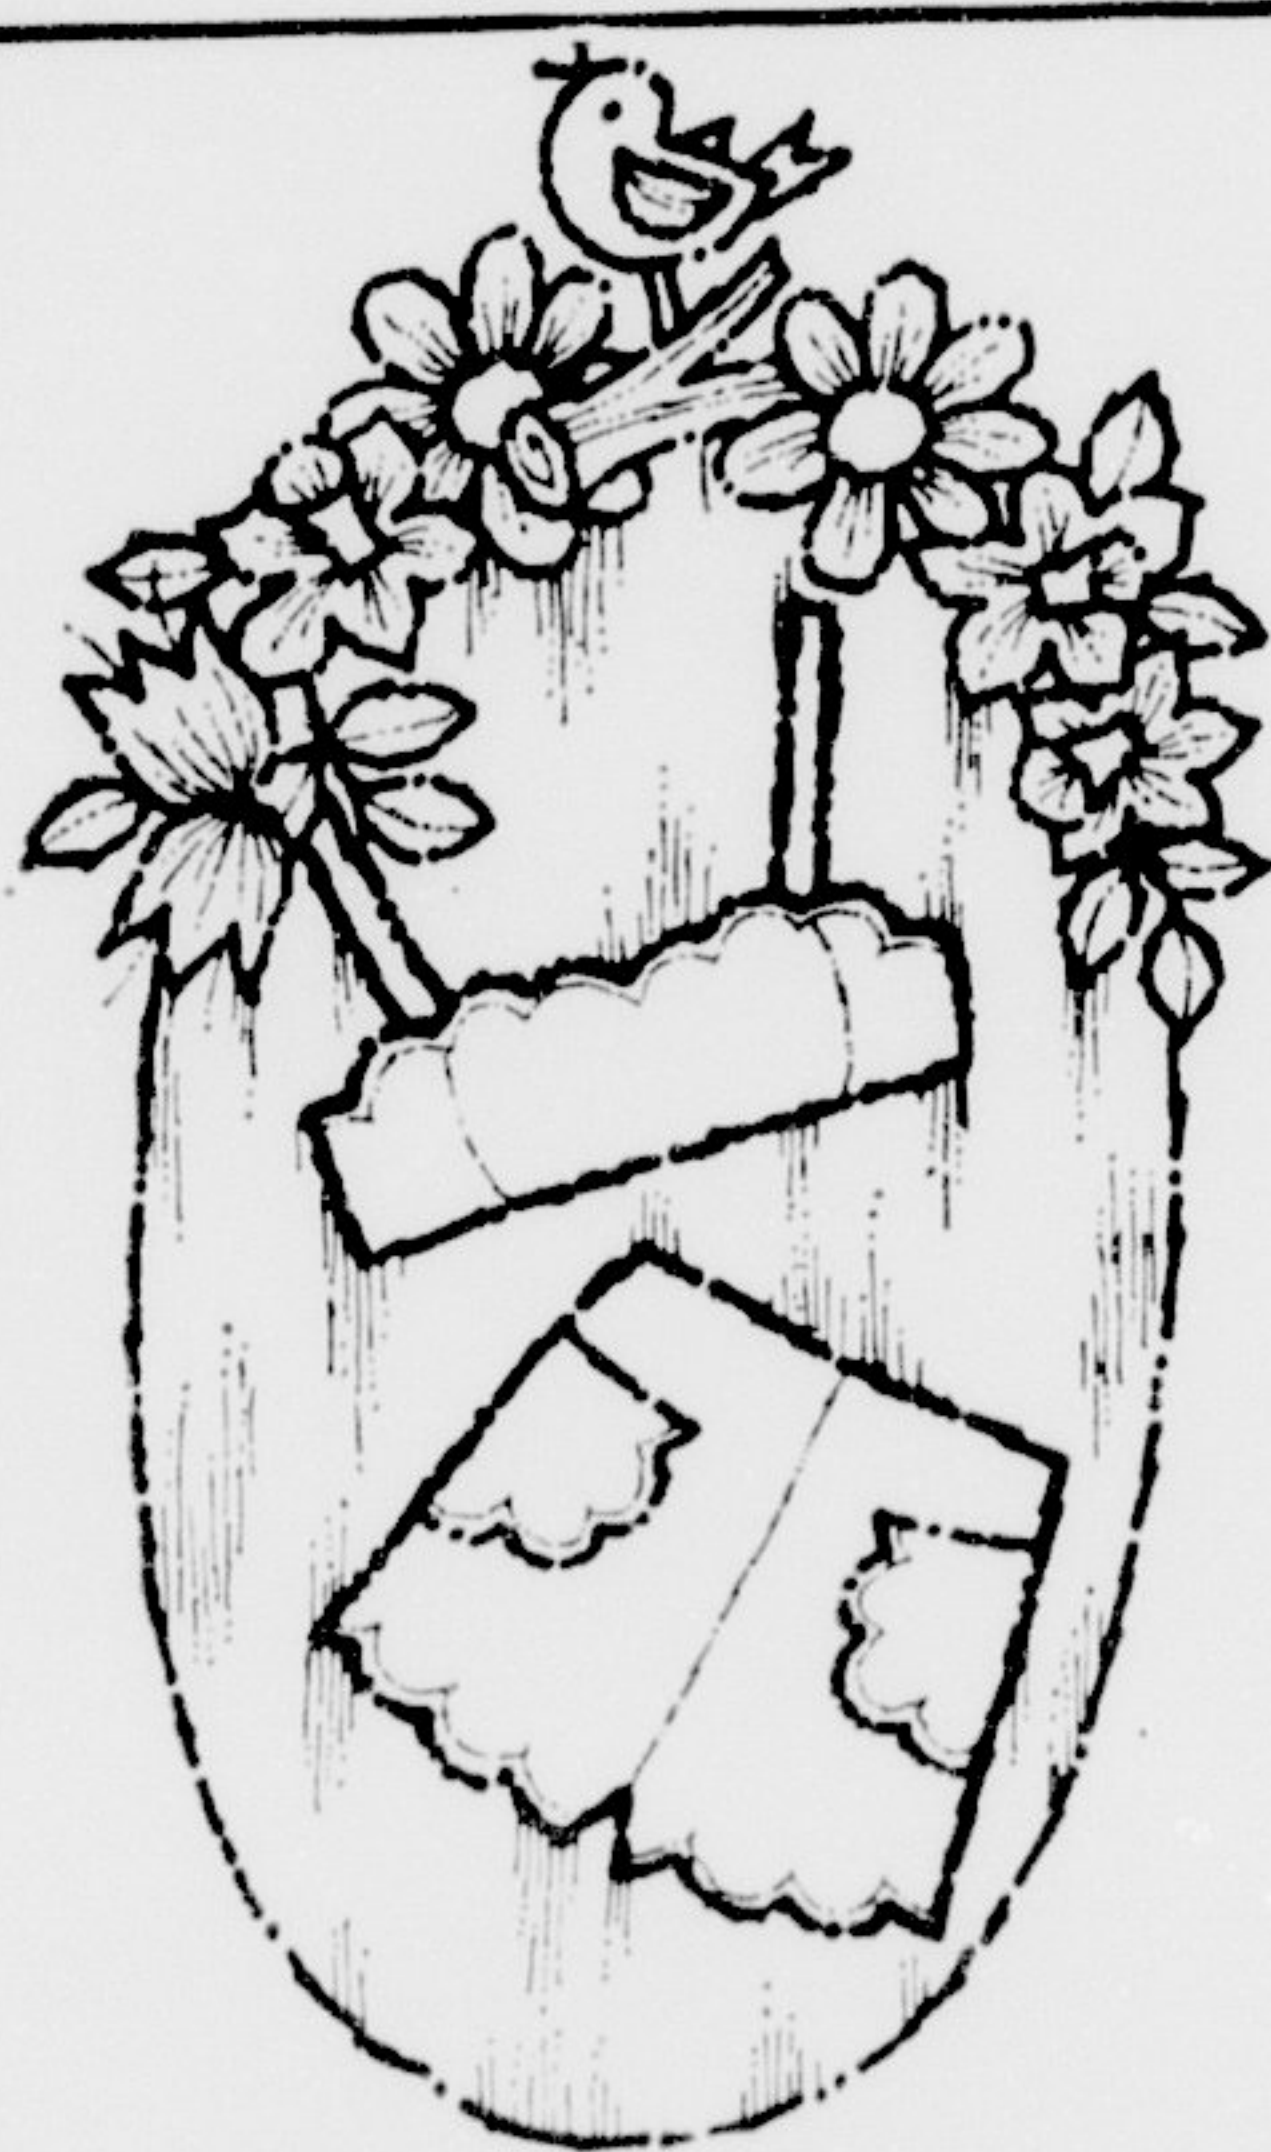

First let me explain that our platform is oriented to the service of the individual student. The Student Party candidates plan to work together to accomplish results which will directly benefit the summer school students, for example, regular night swimming pool hours, and free tickets for the summer playhouse. One area, that of effective communication between the SGA officers and the student body, has been neglected considerably. We plan to publish conclusion of the studies and proposals we are orienting in the area of Pass-Fail courses, student housing, and price reductions.

I ask that you vote; but vote conscientiously, weighing each candidate and his qualifications carefully. Student Government is just as important during the summer sessions as in the regular.

Sincerely,
Linda Starr Plemmons

Mosier

With the SGA elections tomorrow, I would like at this time to take the opportunity to recommend to you a candidate whom I consider worthy of your vote. His name is Bill Mosier and he is running for the office of the Vice-President of the SGA.

Why should you vote for Bill Mosier? First, he is qualified. Secondly, he has a sincere desire to serve you, the students. It has been my pleasure in the past years to have worked with Bill on the Men's Honor Council where he displayed a high degree of integrity, and a personal respect for the rights of others.

I know that if you consider carefully the many qualifications of Bill Mosier you too will agree with me that he is the caliber of person that we need to represent us as Vice-President of the SGA.

Respectfully,
John K. Meares

U. P. Candidates

On Thursday, we will be able to elect our Summer School executive officers and legislative members in which both parties will be offering candidates. In the spring election, you showed your support of the University Party by voting into office four out of five executive officers for next year. These four people have taken office, and as you have read in this newspaper, quickly undertaken the tasks that were promised you during the campaign. Much was accomplished during the last few weeks of school, however, many points need to be continued during summer school to set the stage for completion in the Fall. Keeping this in mind, the University Party selected four able-bodied candidates to continue to fulfill your wishes. Cherry Stokes for President, Chipper Linville for Vice-President, Buford Davis for Treasurer, and Diane Holland for Secretary will continue the policies, purposes, and platform that you showed support for in the spring.

A reversal in your support could mean a step backwards in achievement of our goals. I hope that you will join me in support of the University Party in Thursday's election.

Sincerely,
Reid Overcash

Linville

Electing candidates to a responsible office is serious business. You must take into consideration their capabilities and responsiveness. You must select a candidate that is an active, progressive responsible leader. Chipper Linville University Party candidate for Vice-President, is such a candidate. Chipper whom I have known for the past two years is the candidate for you. He has served as Vice-President of his class, and Pirate of the Varsity Cheerleaders. Chipper has proven that he is a responsible and capable leader.

In order that you have a well functioning Student Government, it is a necessity to have both President and Vice-President from the same party. It has been proved by past history that unless this is so there will be no actively functioning SGA which you need so badly. I encourage you to cast your vote for Chipper Linville for Vice-President and an active, progressive Summer School Student Government Association.

Sincerely,
Lee H. Blackwell, Jr.

Plemmons

As a past member and newly elected Chairman of the Student Party, I would like to recommend Linda Plemmons for the office of SGA Secretary of Summer School. I am writing this letter, although I am not in summer school, because I believe that Linda is the qualified candidate for the office. She is presently serving as secretary of the Student Party. She was elected a member of Legislature for the year 1967-1968 and has served on various legislative committees. She also served on the SGA Homecoming Committee last fall. She has served her sorority, Sigma Sigma Sigma as Vice-President and pledge trainer. She has also served as Vice-President of the Junior class, worked on the Buccaneer staff, and is presently a counselor in the freshman orientation program.

I feel that Linda's participation in student government as well as her participation in campus activities has been outstanding. For these reasons, I would like to endorse and recommend Linda Plemmons to serve you as Summer School SGA secretary.

Sincerely,
Carleen Hjortsvang

Mosier

Although the summer school student government is proportionately smaller than the organization during the school year, it is an entity of equal value and has relative operational designs. Summer school student government could be a time to solve some of the many problem issues of the long school year. With the formation of selected committees, the problems may be evaluated and proposals may be set forth, hopefully to be resolved.

Time being somewhat of a limiting factor, there is still great potential for the summer. With summer sessions rapid increasing enrollment, this potential should become more obvious. Additional students should mean increased talent and interest for an improved organization. Every student should take an interest in order to help determine the destination of his own money.

The SGA needs responsible and experienced officers to maintain and improve conditions for all students. Having served on the Men's Honor Council this year, I have become aware of the responsibility to the students whom I am serving. I have gained invaluable experience as President of the Kappa Alpha Order and as the Vice-President and President of the Interfraternity Council. This summer I am gaining experience as an orientation counselor, working with the new class of '72.

I would like to be your vice-president and help you receive the improvements you desire. Only an avid interest will achieve your needs. Help yourselves and vote for the Student Party and me.

Sincerely,
Bill Mosier

Linville

In my quest for the Vice-Presidency of the Summer School Student Government Association, I intend to uphold the platform of the University Party and to carry out the duties of the office with the understanding and efficiency demanded of that position.

Among these duties is the sale of class rings. In the past this sale has been conducted with the student's best interest in mind. The purchase of class rings is a most important part of the students college life. To fulfill this obligation one must be able to work effectively with people. I believe I have the ability to conduct the summer sale with the skill and knowledge required.

Dianne Holland, University Party candidate for secretary.

In addition to the ring sale, the Vice-President is responsible for the organizing of the dance to celebrate the crowning of the Summer School Queen. This duty will be carried out with the assistance of the Secretary of Internal Affairs.

In seeking the Vice-Presidency, I am campaigning with the students interest in mind. All of my actions will be directed toward this objective, whether in advising the President or appealing to the Legislature; in coordinating the preservation of the capola of Old Austin or in completing the remodeling of the Soda Shop.

Our party and its platform were founded to create interest in student government and to meet a need for political parties and political organizations. In selecting a Vice-President the student must decide upon the candidate best qualified. I have participated in student government as Vice-President of the Sophomore class and as a member of the External Affairs committee to establish a North Carolina Model General Assembly based on our own state system. I have also served on three other SGA committees: Public Relations, Institutional Improvement, and Student Poles. In dealing with the student body, I have been actively involved in school spirit, serving as the East Carolina Pirate and as a member of the Varsity Cheerleading Squad. On the State level, I am a delegate to the up-coming North Carolina State Student Legislature.

In closing, I would like to appeal to the student to exercise his right to vote in this election. The victors are products of the student's interest and support. The programs initiated and carried out will be an expression of the Student's desires. This will only become reality when the student realizes his role and fulfills it.

I have stated already what my duties will be. I pledge to carry them out to the best of my ability, and, I urge you, the student, to carry out yours, also.

Sincerely,
Chipper Linville
Candidate for the office of Vice-President, University Party

Quinn Signs Jersey Guard For Cage Grant-In-Aid

Greg Crouse, a 6-2 guard from Stratford, N. J., has signed a basketball grant-in-aid with East Carolina University.

Crouse, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Crouse, played under Coach Jack Collins at Sterling High School in Camden, N. J. and was recruited by Kirk Stewart, East Carolina's assistant basketball coach.

"He has the size and quickness to become an outstanding player against the major competition on our schedule," Stewart said.

Head Coach Tom Quinn said that although Crouse is the first youngster signed to a grant this year, he feels East Carolina's recruitment program of potential 1968 freshmen has been good.

"We have had the opportunity to be more selective this year, and it is taking more time to complete commitments because the key boys we have been seeking were naturally considering other schools," Quinn said.

"Currently there are other boys who are being processed for admission, and I honestly feel we have had a good year."

Quinn, who begins his third campaign as Pirate basketball coach next fall, said among the probable signees are three junior college boys.

"Although we are not overlooking the fact that the basis of a top program is to build with freshmen, the two outstanding players we have had since I came to East Carolina were junior college transfers, Vince Colbert, who was our captain last season as a senior, and Earl Thompson, who was our leading scorer and will be back next year, came to us from junior colleges."

"The fact that we are going to hold the Eastern Carolina Classic here in December, a top-flight schedule against some of the better teams in the country, the opening of Minges Coliseum and the addition of Kirk Stewart to our staff have brought about what I consider to be a vast amount of progress," Quinn said.

Cain Returns To ECU; Takes Coaching Post

Bill Cain, a former Pirate football co-captain, has been named freshman coach at East Carolina University.

The appointment was announced by Athletic Director Clarence Stasavich.

Cain, a native of Rockingham, is a graduate of Rockingham High where he played under Coach Bill Eutsler, who also coached Harold Bullard, another member of the East Carolina staff.

Cain comes to East Carolina with seven years of high school coaching to his credit, the last three at Albemarle High, where defensive backfield coach Bob Gantt served before joining Coach Stasavich's staff. Prior to serving at Albemarle, Cain coached at Suffolk, Va., for four years.

"Bill Cain is in a position to contribute significantly to the Athletic Program at East Carolina University," Stasavich said. "Since he will be responsible for the freshman football program, very strong consideration was given to his ability as an organizer and administrator. He is very devoted to football, and we look forward to having him on our staff and working toward the continued improvement in the type of football being played at East Carolina."

In the past, graduate assistants have handled the freshman team at East Carolina. Cain's addition brings the full-time football staff to six.

"I feel like this is a great opportunity working with Coach Stasavich and his staff," Cain said. "I hope I can contribute something to the program."

Two High School Athletes Sign EC Running And Jumping Grants

Two outstanding North Carolina high school athletes have signed athletic grants with East Carolina University.

Joining coach Bill Carson's team this fall will be Lanny Davis, an outstanding middle distance runner from Myers Park High in Charlotte, and Eugene Reeves, of Grimsley High in Greensboro.

"We consider Lanny possibly the top prospect we have recruited at East Carolina," Coach Carson said. "Due to his versatility, he will be a key man for us in the middle distances and in the mile relay. He has good speed and at the same time evidences outstanding endurance, typified by his fifth place finish in the state cross country meet this year. He is a very dedicated athlete and was recommended very highly by coach Stuart Allen."

Lanny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Davis, 3630 Conway Ave., Charlotte.

"Eugene Reeves will compete in the long jump and triple jump,"

Carson said. "He is considered a late-bloomer in that he achieved stardom at the end of his senior year. He capped the season with a jump of 23 feet two inches in the USTAFF junior meet in Atlanta last weekend."

"He is a very fine athlete who exhibits good strength and speed as well as spring, the attributes necessary to become a top jumper in college. We feel very fortunate to have signed him. I expect him to become a 24-foot jumper in the near future."

Reeves was coached by Bob Sawyer at Grimsley High, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Reeves, 3934 Madison Ave., Greensboro.

Pirates Sweep Southern Loop By Scalping Indians Twice

"Smith Looks Ahead"

Now, with the season only a couple of weeks old, Coach Earl Smith is looking to the future.

"With a little luck in recruiting," Smith said, "we could continue to be one of the better teams in the country."

"We have a lot of young boys coming back next year who had a lot to do with the success of this year's team."

Among the regulars who will be back next year are Dennis Vick, Richard Corrada, Stu Garrett, and Carey Anderson. Len Dowd, who alternated at catcher and led the club in hitting with a .369 average in ten games, also will be back and is considered the No. 1 prospect for the full time catching job next year.

Other players who return are infielders David Goings and Ken Graver, pitchers Mitchell Hughes, Ron Hastings, Sonny Robinson, John Weaver, Neil Kulp, Rickey Woodard, Rick Glover, and catcher Skip Taylor.

Two Players Signed

Some of that recruiting smk has already come, as Coach Smith has signed two highly touted boys. Mike Aldridge, a pitcher-outfielder from Greenville's Rose High, and Tim Bayliss, a lefthander pitcher from Whiteland, Indiana, have both been signed. Bayliss' team is currently involved in the Indiana high school playoffs.

Bucs Will Miss Seniors

Next year, the Pirates will be without their two top pitchers, Dennis Burke and Vince Colbert. Burke, the stylish lefty from Westfield, N. J., won 22 games, while only losing four games over four years of competition. He finished off his senior year by posting a 6-2 record with a brilliant 0.91 ERA. He struck out 66 and walked only 20 in almost 70 innings of work.

Colbert, nicknamed "the whip" because of his blazing fastball, finished up a fine season with a 4-1 record and a 1.91 ERA. In 66 innings, Colbert whiffed 78 batters, while only allowing 15 free passes. Florida State was so impressed by Colbert, that they called him the best pitcher they'd faced this year.

In addition to losing Burke and Colbert, the Pirates also lose the services of rightfielder Jim Snyder, who powered eight homers, drove in 27 runs, and batted .333, to lead the Buc regulars at the plate. The Pirates will also lose the services of outfielder Steve Fornash, and third-baseman Dave Winchester.

This past season was supposed to be a rebuilding season, but Coach Smith and his boys managed. "It wasn't a club with works of ability, but it had great heart," coach Smith said.

With that little bit of luck in recruiting, and the returning players from this year's squad, the Pirates should once again be prime contenders in the Southern Conference, and one of the better teams in the country.
