Collegiate 'Who's Who' Picks 38 Outstanding ECU Seniors

WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES has named 38 East Carolina students to its honored ranks.

The students were chosen by a committee composed of administrators, faculty, and students. Bases for the selection included citizenship, leadership, academic records, contributions and service to the University, and other factors.

Primary consideration is that of extra-curricular activities rather than just scholarship since the organization believes that the best index to a student's ability is through his extra-curriculars. The yearly list serves as a reference volume of authoritative information on the huge body of American undergraduates.

The motto for the national group is, "Student leaders today, business leaders tomorrow." Tuscaloosa, Alabama is the headquarters location for the organization.

There were 39 students selected from East Carolina last year also. Allocation of the number given to each school is decided according to enrollment figures.

Certificates of recognition for achieving membership in WHO'S WHO will be awarded to the following students at the Senior Banquet during graduation week. This year's 38 honored students are:

New Faces Make Teaching Force Larger Than Ever

With the addition of 25 new positions and a total of 112 new members, the faculty for the 1968-'69 school year at East Carolina University is larger than ever before.

There are 571 members of the faculty now. And Dr. Robert W. Williams Jr., Dean of Academic Affairs, is pleased with the newcomers to the staff.

"Over all," he says, "we have had a very successful year of faculty recruiting. We are very well pleased with the additions to the faculty for this year."

He explained, "We are particularly pleased to have filled so many positions with faculty members who have specialties." He cited such specializations as ancient history, biophysics, shallow water geology, child development, social work, tax structure and tax law.

Also, Dr. Williams noted, this year's faculty additions include some professors who have been given special assignments. They include a director of the community arts management program and a director of the Bureau of Business Research.

HEADS TRUSTEES—Senator Robert Morgan was recently selected by the Board of Trustees to head that body for 1969. Morgan was first elected Chairman in 1964, and has served in that capacity ever since.

School Trustees Again Elect Robert B. Morgan Chairman

East Carolina University trustees Monday unanimously re-elected Robert B. Morgan of Lillington to serve another one-year term as chairman. He begins his fifth straight term as chairman.

Morgan, State senator and Democratic candidate for attorney general in the Nov. 5 election, is an East Carolina alumnus who went on to law school at Wake Forest University. Morgan, 43, has served several terms in the State Senate.

Also elected were Reginald F. McCoy of Laurinburg, vice president, and Mrs. J. C. Lamm, secretary.

The trustees authorized an increase in the student health fee from $6 to $7 per quarter and approved two new degree programs—a bachelor of science in biochemistry and a master of science in physics. Both programs will be presented to the N.C. Board of Higher Education for approval.

Coupled with the BS in biochemistry is a complete revamping of the ECU biology curriculum to place more emphasis on molecular biology or biochemistry, according to Dr. Robert W. Williams Jr., Dean of Academic Affairs.

The higher health fee for students, trustees were told, is necessary to provide funds to employ another full-time campus physician next year, and perhaps other health personnel.

Vice President F. D. Duncan listed nine projects completed since last November at a total cost of $7,442,967. Twelve additional projects with budgets totaling $15,571,422 are in various stages of construction or planning, Duncan said.

In reports to the trustees, Dr. John H. Horne, Dean of Admissions, pointed out that the quality of the student body at ECU has increased rapidly during the 1960's. The "flunk-out" rate has fallen from around 25 per cent to 5 or 6 per cent, he said.

Club Making Most Noise Receives Weekly Recognition

The East Carolina University Sports Information Office and the cheerleaders have designed a new feature for football games, beginning with the upcoming contest with the University of Richmond Saturday night.

Under the new feature, any fraternity, sorority, club, or other organization would be allowed to choose and designate an area for seating at grid games.

The new plan was put into effect in an effort to increase the spirit of the student body at football games, and will allow cheering groups of any composition to band together in previously selected places in the stadium.

Any existing campus group, or any group banded together for that specific purpose, would be allowed to participate in the planned spirit sections, subject to approval by the cheerleaders.

The Sports Information Office and the cheering squad both stress that the plan is open to any campus group that wishes to participate, regardless of what type it is. Examples mentioned were the Arnold Air Society and the ROTC corps; fraternities, both social and honorary; and athletic teams other than the football squad.

The sections represented will be judged by the cheerleaders on the basis of the spirit shown, and a special award will be given to each week's winner.

Any group wishing to compete in this attempt to promote spirit for Saturday night's game should contact one of the cheerleaders for further details.

Dinner Honors Editor Henry Belk

Friends and admirers of Goldsboro editor Henry Belk and his wife will gather in Raleigh to pay tribute to him at a special dinner on Wednesday, October 30. The dinner is scheduled at the Sheraton-Sir Walter Hotel. Committees have been formed and are now at work on details for the occasion.

Henry Belk, senior member of the ECU Board of Trustees, is editor emeritus of the Goldsboro News-Argus. He is one of the leading newspaper figures of North Carolina and a consistent champion of progress and worthy causes for Eastern North Carolina and the entire state.

Recently he was honored by the establishment of the Henry Belk Journalism Library at ECU with the personal collection of Raleigh editor-author Jonathan Daniels as the beginning nucleus.

WEEKEND ACTION—The weekend promises to be a busy one for East Carolina socialites, as the Popular Entertainments Committee combines with the Athletic Department to provide plenty of excitement. Neil Diamond and the Lemon Pipers kick things off Saturday afternoon in Minges with a pops concert. Tickets for the show, which opens at two, are available at the Central Ticket Office. After the concert, the pigskin Pirates return to Ficklen for a game, as they take on the Spiders of the University of Richmond in football action.

Winning Spirit

East Carolina's football Pirates return home and attempt to return to the winning side of the ledger Saturday night, when they play Richmond.

The Pirates will need to amass a strong effort to defeat the Spiders, who presently lead the Southern Conference with a 3-0 record.

East Carolina's Bucs displayed winning form in their first game of the year. Since that time they have been plagued with losses, and hold a 0-1 conference mark.

One thing is certain; the Pirates will be going all out in Saturday night's game with the Spiders. However, just how much they improve over their most recent games will largely depend on how much support they receive from the student body.

The cheerleaders and the Sports Information Office have come up with a plan for providing an element of competition to the cheering at games. The plan would allow each campus group to pick an area from which to do its cheering at Saturday's game. The cheering squad would judge the cheering of each section, and provide an honor to the group showing the most spirit.

A large number of campus organizations, including fraternities, sororities, clubs, and other groups, claim to show the most spirit at athletic contests. Now is the time for the truth to emerge. Just who is responsible for the most of the cheering at athletic events? Can the brothers of Pi Kappa Phi outdo the Phi Taus? Can the APO's outyell ROTC? Can the track team beat any other group on campus?

The effect of this friendly competition could do wonders for the morale of the football team. It could, in fact, be just what is needed to help the grid squad regroup forces and come up with a winning spirit for the rest of the season.

The challenge is already issued. It only remains to see who will pick up the gauntlet.

Who's Who Thanks

Today thirty-eight members of the East Carolina University student body were named to the 1968-69 version of WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES.

Each of those was selected for his participation in extracurricular activities on this campus.

As one of those fortunate persons, it is indeed an honor for each of them. It is an award that will rank high among their college achievements.

It is not, however, an honor that could be decided on the basis of their work alone, for each person named to that select list was aided by a host of other persons, who in many cases worked as hard as the recipient.

Each of us who were selected to represent this university through this honor are indeed grateful and proud for the confidence placed in us with this award. Each of us are also thankful for the support and assistance we have received from all those persons who have worked with us. I am equally sure that each member of this group also realizes the immense responsibility that has been placed on our shoulders with the announcement of this honor, for our past work on the East Carolina University campus comprises only a small part of the responsibility we owe to the student body.

It is an honor that will forever link us to East Carolina University, and will serve as a stimulant to each of us in our future endeavors, both great and small, for our names are now placed as representatives of this university, and our individual success or failure will reflect on this institution.

Once again, speaking both as one of that group and, in a way, for that group, this Editor would like to express appreciation to each one who contributed the personal effort that made it possible.

Misunderstanding

Dear Mr. Paisley,

I found your letter very well written and true in many cases. However, I would like to express myself as Mr. Voorhees did — not as the athletic department but as an individual.

You ask why the other big universities in the South and the US have athletic teams made up of men who are in fraternities. This I cannot answer directly but two of my best friends played football for NC State and were members of Kappa Sigma Fraternity. Their association with football and fraternity life was good as I am sure it could be here at ECU. Here at ECU we advise the freshman football players not to pledge a fraternity their freshman year. This is because we want them to get settled in school and football before taking on other activities. The biggest reason, however, why we do not have many athletes (football players are all I can really speak for) in fraternities is because at the present time we are trying to build our football team into a close unit with a strong inner pride. By letting the football team live together, work together, and raise hell together, we have accomplished the same thing all the fraternities are trying to accomplish. I am sure that the brotherhood and lasting friendships of the football team members are as strong as any fraternity. Any man who sweats, bleeds, and beats on his fellowman will develop a respect that no fraternity can offer.

How many times have you, Mr. Paisley, come out and watched football practice here at ECU? If you knew what these men go through you could understand why they feel they have a different and closer relationship than that of a fraternity. Many times I have looked around the practice field and seen as many as ten Lambda Chi Alpha's just watching practice and the football players have come to know some of these men and get along with them fine. I am sure this could be true of all fraternity men if we would spend less time talking about what should or could be done and get off our hind quarters and do something towards making a better relationship between fraternity men and athletes.

Even though a ball player runs down fraternities don't think for a minute he does not appreciate them, for he knows that they are our strongest supporters at this university of poor school spirit.

I have never been a great admirer of fraternities in the past. This year, however, I have come to know many fraternity men whom I think are quite good guys. The biggest gap between fraternities and athletes is that fraternity men think athletes are animals and athletes think fraternity men think of themselves as super cool. If there were some way that fraternity men, sorority women, and athletes could get together socially then I believe that you would find both sides would hold much more respect for each other.

The Minority

Dear Miss Kissinger,

In reading your article "Who Is Civilized?" which was addressed to the Student Body, I noted some skeptical statements as well as noteworthy ones. You denounced those persons who placed group names such as "hippies," and

"drama majors" on the supporters of the demonstration. If you will reread your first paragraph you will find that you have committed the same fault. You termed this so called "mob" to be a "fraternity crowd," and some "business majors." I am sure that you will agree with me that hundreds of students stopped and curiously viewed the "sit in" during the day. May I ask then, how you were able to distinguish their social affiliations and particular majors? I know numerous students who paused to look on and are neither of these two group names. Furthermore, I am sure that those students who vocally expressed their opinions in the form of insults to the demonstrators represented only a small minority of the onlookers.

Concern Mr. Stouts I feel that he has every right to demonstrate peacefully, but not to defy the law. I wonder what his conscience would dictate if he were assured of an assignment in the U.S.? I respect your sense of patriotism and belief in the American flag, but what good are these concepts if the individuals of this country are not as willing to participate as they are to believe?

Student Columnist Says Duncap Goes To College

(ACP) — This business of a college education for everyone is a bunch of nonsense, says columnist Bill Welch in the University of Maryland DIAMONDBACK.

In recent public statements about higher education, nearly everyone from President Johnson on down has said a college education for everyone should be a national goal. No one has said anything about the intellectual fitness of those to be sent off to college.

In the Declaration of Independence our so-called founding fathers wrote, "All men are created equal." The context of that document makes clear that they were saying all men equally share certain basic rights. They were not declaring their belief in an absolute, point-by-point equality of all men.

Yet, in regard to higher education, some men want to take the equality statement literally. They would send off to already crowded colleges and universities everyone who wants to go, regardless of qualifications.

If this university is typical, many public colleges and universities already have far too many students who are not qualified for, nor interested in, an advanced education.

Time and time again I have been in classes with students who by their test grades, questions and conversation have shown themselves unbelievably dull.

With everyone and his brother going to college, the degree has been cheapened. Employers who used to require a high school degree for a certain job now insist on filling that same job with a college graduate.

Those who call for college for everyone miss the point. Because of all sorts of private and government scholarships and low-interest loans, there are few qualified persons who cannot go to college if they want to.

The point those calling for nationwide higher education miss is that primary and secondary schools are not producing enough students qualified for higher education.

Another part of the problem, of course, is the parent who refuses to accept the fact that his child is not college material. The overemphasis on a higher education produced by the college-for-everyone chant is a real disservice to the parent whose child is not capable of college-level work.

Many of the students in colleges and universities today should have been funneled off into trade schools, junior and community colleges. The failure of this nation to develop specialized schools above high school but short of the university is a near tragedy.

The WORD Speaks

By Bob Lindfelt

Today in our times the Bible is the most influential, yet controversial writing in existence. Bibles have been the "best sellers" for hundreds of years molding millions of peoples lives, while yet through these years people have hashed it to pieces, they have denounced it, and they have denied it.

No other piece of writing has lasted the test of time, and the changes of man's ways, to stay dynamically in front of any other work. Many people have praised the works of Plato, Socrates, Marx, Freud and others, but these have not made the impact as the Bible has. These philosophers and great thinkers have not caused the building of hundreds of thousands of temples, formed thousands of institutions involving many more thousands of men, and they have not caused the inspiration in the hearts and lives of men as the Bible has done through the years.

Why the prominence of one book? Why are so many people's lives influenced and affected by one piece of writing? The answer simply is that the Bible is the only major work in man's life that actually declares itself to be the true Word of God — that God Almighty, Creator of the heavens and earth had His will written to us in His inspired Word.

Why is the Bible a closed book to many people? It is because they have seen something that should fit perfectly, as God is perfect; hashed to pieces, cut up into personal theologies and thrown in the wind of religious speculation and doubts that have produced nothing but negativism and personal defeat.

From The Executive Desk

By David Lloyd

How many times have you sat in your dorm room, or apartment, bored because you had nothing to do? I know many of us can say that this moment has never arisen — yet. There are students on this campus who do have free time, if just an hour a day. There are many worthwhile organizations on campus that could use a great deal of help in the form of manpower. Your hour a day means and is going to mean, the success or death of many of these organizations.

Your government, the Student Government Association, is such an organization. We urgently need your help. Your ideas, enthusiasm, and imagination, will mean the difference between making your student government into more of a true governing body, rather than just a club to which one belongs.

Many are the times that ideas are brought forth in the SGA, but due to lack of enthusiasm and manpower, they regrettably have to be forgotten. All of these ideas are very vital to you, but again, the student body of East Carolina University must support these ideas. I ask and charge each of you in the upcoming week to take "your hour," and devote it to the SGA or other organizations on campus, because from now until we graduate or leave this school, the responsibility of its future rests on our shoulders. What we leave behind us for future generations, is now being molded in the various organizations on campus, and in your SGA.

I have had many people express a desire for a Vietnam war Christmas drive, in which the residents of Greenville, and the students of East Carolina will donate pints of blood, summer weight clothing, Christmas Cards, and fruitcakes to the American soldiers and the South Vietnamese people who need such articles. This project was undertaken a few years ago by the SGA and was very successful. If you would like to serve in any capacity or wish to express support for this project, please stop by my office and speak to either myself or Mrs. Alexander, the SGA secretary.

My sincere thanks for the wonderful turnout in the election for homecoming queen finalists, last week.

If I may be of any help to any one of you, please do not fail to call on me.

While the coming movie week offer nothing out of the ordinary, movie-goers will find a fair representation of today's standard movie subjects: secret agents, the Old West, the happy-ending comedy, and the rebellious younger generation.

The campus free flick (Wright, 7 and 9 pm) this Friday evening will be a substitute for the previously scheduled "Shenandoah," as marked on the school calendars. The film company that withdrew the film has sent as a replacement "Rough Night in Jericho," starring Dean Martin, George Peppard, and Jean Simmons. The film is a predictable western with a plot you've all seen before.

Starting today at the Plaza Cinema will be "Hammerhead," starring Vince Edwards ("Ben Casey") and Judy Geeson ("To Sir, With Love"). The film, which plays through Wednesday the 30th, is taken from the popular novel by James Mayo. Edwards portrays the secret agent, Charles Hood, who goes to Portugal for a confrontation with the master villain, Hammerhead. Hammerhead, who collects erotic art treasures, is suspected of wanting to steal a fool-proof nuclear defense system. Judy Geeson plays one of Hammerhead's luscious models with whom Hood gets entangled.

For those who like their comedy a la Doris Day, "With Six You Get Eggrill" will play at the Pitt Theater through Tuesday the 29th. Miss Day plays a widow who is urged by her sister (Pat Carroll) to invite a widower (Brian Keith) to dinner for ulterior motives. The dinner is a disaster, but the two somehow become attached and eventually married. Complications set in, however, when animosity arises between the wife's three sons and the husband's daughter. "Prudence and the Pill," an adult comedy starring David Niven and Deborah Kerr, starts Wednesday the 30th at the Pitt.

At the State Theater until Saturday the 26th is yet another of the films on our lost generation, entitled "She Devils on Wheels." Sunday and Monday, Raf Vallone and Maximilian Schell star in "The Desperate Ones." In it, two brothers escape from a Siberian labor camp and attempt to cross a range of mountains to Afghanistan and freedom. In a village near the border, they find work and a room while waiting for the right time to make their escape. Their plans go slightly awry when Schell falls in love with their landlord's wife. "Psych-out," a psychedelic LSD trip, begins Tuesday the 29th.

Delta Sigs Take New Brothers

Last Tuesday, Phi Alpha Sigma, a local social fraternity, became a colony of Delta Sigma Phi International.

Founded only a year and a half ago, on February 6, 1967, Phi Alpha Sigma expressed dedication to the principles of individualism, and the importance of maintaining balance between academic responsibility and active participation in campus and social life.

On October 15, brothers of Phi Alpha Sigma were officially initiated as pledges of Delta Sigma Phi. A celebration dinner was held at the Fiddlers Three. Present during the ceremonies and celebration were International President of Delta Sigma Phi.

CAMPUS SYMBOL—The symbol for peace has been greatly in evidence on the East Carolina campus throughout the past months. Here an interesting paradox is demonstrated, as the sign appears on a military jacket.

Angel Flight Holds Annual Fall Rush

East Carolina University's Angel Flight, coed auxiliary to the AF-ROTC Arnold Air Society has pledged 15 girls during fall rush.

They are Ellen Allman of McLean, Va., Linda Arrington of Red Springs, Gienda Cruise of Durham, Pat Eddins of Mt. Olive, Lynn Fisher of Fayetteville, Mary Foster of Plymouth, Barbara Hankovich of Jacksonville, Claudia Hart of Grifton, Nancy Hill of Deep Run, Virginia Leggett of Fairmont, Lynda Motton of Jacksonville, Catherine Noel of Durham, Gaile Ward of Windsor, Lee Williamson of Tarboro, and Florence Womack of Weldon.

Each pledge is presently undergoing a training period of 6 to 8 weeks. During this time the pledges are learning the history of the charter, their responsibilities as members, and are participating in pledge projects.

Movie Change

There has been a slight change in the campus movie schedule for this week. Instead of SHENANDOAH for October 25, ROUGH NIGHT IN JERICHO will be shown. The picture is a Western in color starring Dean Martin, Jean Simmons, George Peppard, and John McIntire.

National Merit Scholars Visit East Carolina University Nov. 14

Many of North Carolina's most brilliant high school seniors will assemble at East Carolina Nov. 14 for the fifth annual East Carolina University scholarship weekend.

The scholars are selected from among National Merit semifinalists and students with exceptionally high scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

The program is designed to acquaint participants with the academic programs and student activities on campus. Guides will be ECU academic scholars, most of whom have participated in previous scholarship weekends.

Student Government Association representatives will serve as escorts for a student government dinner on Thursday, Nov. 14. President Leo W. Jenkins will speak at a banquet honoring the scholars on Friday night.

The event originated with the gifted students committee in the fall of 1964 and has increased in popularity and effectiveness each year. Because of its growth, the mechanics of the program are now delegated to the division of student affairs with Assistant Dean Rudolph Alexander acting as chairman.

Members of the committee planning the event include Alexander, Dean of Women Ruth White, Dan K. Wooten, Cynthia Mendenhall, Mrs. Mildred H. Derrick, Mrs. Tennala A. Gross, Dr. Richard Browne, Robert M. Boudreaux, Dr. Patricia Hurley, Dr. William Byrd, Dr. James H. Pirates Draw Cornell Five In Classic First Round

East Carolina will face Ivy League power Cornell in the first round of the Eastern Carolina Classic, to be held this December in Minges Coliseum.

Tournament Director Dr. Ed Hooks presided over the session in which the pairings were drawn during a conference telephone call involving the eight schools. Earlier, the tournament rules committee set up the procedure for the drawings, with the four nearest schools, East Carolina, Virginia, Virginia Tech, and William and Mary, named as the four home teams.

Top seeding went to Virginia Tech, due to its record last year. East Carolina, as the primary host, was given the choice of the three remaining berths, and chose the seventh slot.

Virginia, which won the toss of the coin, picked the fifth spot, while William and Mary took the remaining third slot.

East Carolina officials acted as representatives for the four visiting schools. After a toss of the coin, the drawing for the four remaining berths was done in reverse alphabetical order.

The University of Delaware drew first and picked the second slot, and will oppose Virginia Tech. Cornell, drawing second, picked the eighth slot and will face East Carolina.

Baylor University drew next and picked the third spot and will face William and Mary, while the Air Force got the remaining berth, and will face Virginia.

There will be two sessions of basketball each day, one in the afternoon, the other in the evening. Each team will play three games as winners and losers advance into the proper brackets to play for all eight places.

In the first day's activity, Delaware will face Virginia Tech at 1:30 and Baylor will tangle with William and Mary at 3:30 p.m. In the evening session, the Air Force and Virginia clash at 7:30 with Cornell and East Carolina winding up the first day's activity with a 9:30 gametime.

The coaches agreed that Virginia Tech would be the team to beat in the Classic, with the Air Force and Virginia snapping at the heels of the Techmen. East Carolina was cast in the role of darkhorse for the tournament.

Most of the coaches sounded very optimistic about their chances and all believed that their teams would do well and would be representative teams.

Coach Tom Quinn said he was very satisfied with the draw for the tournament. "It went over very well," the Pirate mentor said. "I want to compliment Dr. Hooks and John Hendrix, our Sports Information Director, for their work in setting all this up."

"We have our work cut out for us with Cornell, and you can see that in advancing to the finals, we'll have to beat the winner of the Air Force - Virginia game too."

"Overall, it looks like a very good tournament."

Soccer Bucs Bow To Wildcat Team

Cliff Anderson scored two goals, including the winning tally for Davidson, as the Pirate soccer team lost to the Wildcats by 3-2 and saw their record thusfar drop to 1-3-1.

The Pirates jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first period of play. The Wildcats appeared done in by the early blitz but hung on doggedly for the win.

John Croom scored for the Wildcats in the second quarter for a 2-1 halftime score.

Davidson came out clawing in the third period and knotted the score on Cliff Anderson's first goal of the game with ten minutes left in the quarter.

Anderson applied the final touches with his winning tally with five minutes left in the game. Down by one point, the Pirates just missed tying the game as a last second attempt hit the pole and bounced away.

For East Carolina, Jeff McMillan and Jay Culbreth scored the two goals.

The Pirates next go into action against the William and Mary Indians on Saturday in another Southern Conference battle.

Freshmen To Meet Chowan

East Carolina's freshman football team goes after its third straight victory here Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. against the Chowan College Braves.

The Bucs sport wins over Davidson and N.C. State, while Chowan carries a 2-3 record, but lists among its defeats one to Lees-McRae Junior college, ninth-ranked in the country.

"They are big and tough, maybe bigger than N.C. State," said Coach Bill Cain of his Friday foe.

Offensively, the Braves are led by Dan Bayvault, a 6-0, 190-pound quarterback, Joe Holloman, 196-pound halfback from Ahoskie and Charlie Brandon a 6-0, 215-pound fullback from Brandon.

The Baby Bucs have had two outstanding games offensively. Passing, the Pirate yearlings have completed 19 of 40 for 194 yards and have gained 564 yards rushing for a total offense average of 379 yards a game.

Top passers are Pete Wooley with seven for 13 and 97 yards and three touchdowns and George Snyder with seven for 10 and 104 yards.

Bill Wallace has gained 187 yards in 52 carries and Ronnie Peed has picked up 127 yards in 31 carries to lead the rushing.

Speedster William Mitchell, who caught two touchdown passes in the opening game and ran a punt back for another has carried the ball but four times from scrimmage for 42 yards.

The game against Chowan will be the last one at home for the season for the Baby Bucs. They close on the road with Richmond and the Citadel.

GRID BUCS—Members of the 1968 gridiron Pirates will be seeking to even their Southern Conference slate when they take on the Spiders of the University of Richmond Saturday night. The Bucs will be out to accomplish a double feat in the tilt, as they hope to end a three game losing streak and win their first loop contest.

Spiders Invade Ficklen With Record Passing Team

Richmond University brings a record setting passing combination to town Saturday when the Spiders invade Ficklen Stadium for a game with East Carolina's Pirates. Buster O'Brien set three Richmond pass records in last week's game. Gillette set two and one Conference record as the Spiders belted Furman, 34-0 for their third straight Southern Conference win. O'Brien's three school records were four touchdown passes in a single game, 239 yards passing in a single game and 21 career touchdown passes.

Gillette caught three touchdowns, a school record, and his 198 yards on five receptions set a conference record. His longest catch was a 69 yarder. For the season, Gillette has caught 20 for 370 yards and four touchdowns.

"They are a very strong offensive team," said Coach Henry Vansant, who scouted the Spiders for East Carolina.

"They haven't shown a lot of running offense, but with a passing attack like they have, you can't very well expect them to do a whole lot of running."

"And Gillette isn't the only pass receiver they have. He just happens to be the best of several."

Richmond, which carries a 3-2 record into the East Carolina game, lost its first two of the season. The opener was against Toledo, a highly regarded team nationally.

"They lost it 34-14, but could just as well have lost it 17-14," Vansant said. "They gave them two easy touchdowns late in the game trying to win. And then they lost to West Virginia, 17-0. Since that time, they've really had the offense going."

The Spiders have scored 79 points in their last three games, getting at least three touchdowns in each game.

"They have a fine defensive team, too," Vansant said. "They have given up an average of less than two touchdowns a game in their last three."

Probably Richmond's outstanding defensive player is middle guard Dick Irvin, a 5-10, 217 pounder who is considered an All-America candidate. Other outstanding players are defensive end Mel Medvid, 6-3, 203 and linebackers Pat Turchetta, 5-11, 190 and Phil Bowman, 6-1, 210.

"They have good depth offensively and defensively," Vansant said.

Pirates Move Out Against Gridiron Jinx

East Carolina will be out to break a three game losing streak and Richmond goes after its fourth straight conference win and a virtual assurance of a leg on the Southern Conference championship here Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

And both coaches are wary of the job in front of them.

"Richmond has a fine football team, particularly on offense," Coach Clarence Stasavich said after viewing the Spiders in their 34-0 victory over Furman.

"These are tough people we're facing," countered Jones. "They're big and we know they've got the personnel. And they've had a long time to get ready. I don't think they'll be down after losing three because it's like starting a new season for them."

Although Richmond leads in the series, 5-4, East Carolina has won the last three meetings.

The Spiders are basically a passing team on offense with Buster O'Brien doing the throwing. His chief target has been Walker Gillette a sprinter on the track team, and between them, they set five school records last weekend.

O'Brien completed eight of thirteen in the rain for 242 yards and four touchdowns. The four touchdown passes and the 242 yards were school records and he now has 21 career touchdown passes for another school record.

Gillette caught three touchdown passes for a school record and with five catches, he gained 198 yards, setting school and conference records for yards in a single game. He now has 20 receptions for the season for 370 yards.

"Indications are that Richmond isn't as big as they are ordinarily, but they give outstanding protection to their passer," Coach Stasavich said. The Pirates, meanwhile, have perked up considerably during some hard work over the past two weeks. Several lineup changes have been made.

Fella Rhodes, who was the starting tailback in the opening victory against Parsons, has reclaimed the job for this one. Mike McGuirk, who was the starting fullback in the first two games but gave way to veteran Butch Colson who has recovered from an injury, has been shifted to starting wingback.

In the line Danny Wilmer has claimed the tight end spot, Wilber Sasser is starting at guard and

Dave Roberts has been installed at starting left tackle. The Pirates have spent considerable time on their passing attack in the past two weeks, but the running game has also drawn attention.

Sports Low Down:

Basketball Season Approaches

With the football season reaching the midpoint of its stay, the thump, thump, thumping of basketballs can be heard bouncing throughout the gyms of colleges around the country.

Like so many other schools, the East Carolina basketball squad has started their workouts. Head Coach Tom Quinn had the team off and running on the 15th of October and ran the team through their first scrimmage on the 19th. While this may seem a little early, the team reported in excellent shape, were raring to go, so the coach had'em battle it out in a squad scrimmage.

Enthusiasm Reigns

In talking with the Pirate mentor, it was very obvious that he was looking forward to this season. "Our practices have been very good and the enthusiasm is high," Quinn said. "Our early success is largely due to the excellent shape the squad reported in," Quinn added, "and with our overall team depth, the competition is much keener."

Also aiding Quinn are Kirk Stewart (assistant coach) who is also the freshmen coach, and Ed Burke, a graduate assistant.

Cage Baby Bucs — One Big Problem

The cage Baby Bucs have also been working out, and have one glaring problem; a lack of height. The overall speed and shooting ability of the squad is good, but the lack of height will hurt in the rebounding department.

Three Scholarship Players

This year's frosh have three scholarship players, two of them are guards, and the other is a center-forward prospect.

The two guards are Julius Prince and Greg Crouse, while Jimmy Fairly is the third scholarship player.

Prince is a good ballhandler and shooter, but according to Coach Stewart, is running about 20 pounds over his playing weight of 190. "Julius needs to adjust to the bigger sized player in college," Stewart said, "and could be an outstanding guard prospect."

Crouse, who like Prince stands in at 6-2, is one of the leading guard prospects. "Greg is a fine shooter, but he needs more work in his ballhandling and defense," Stewart said. "He had difficulty at first in adjusting to a more aggressive defense," he added, "but that is gradually being remedied."

Fairly, who stands in at 6-6 and 175, could sorely use the 20 pounds that Prince is shedding, and that's why he is on an extensive weight training program. "Jimmy should improve rapidly," Stewart said, "and the weight program should give him the added strength and weight he will need to play against some of the bigger boys on the schedule."

Likes non-scholarship Boys

Since no team ever has all of its players on grants, this makes the non-scholarship player who comes out on his own very important. Coach Stewart said he was very impressed with the boys who came out on their own.

One player, whom Stewart is high on, is Bill Combs, who is from the same basketball hotbed that produced Jimmy Cox, who starred here for two years before an injury knocked him out in his senior year. Combs is a 5-11 playmaker who really hustles and is a sparkplug on offense.

Tough Schedule

The schedule is a tough one, and that is the way it was intended. The purpose of the baby bucs is to prepare the boys for varsity play, and the tougher the schedule, the better the preparation. Last year's team graduated three boys to the varsity, Mike Dunn, Jim Gregory, and Bob McKillop, who should be of definite help this year.

The schedule for the Baby Bucs this year starts off with a game against the Duke Blue Imps and winds up against the North Carolina Tarbabies. In between, two games against William and Mary, and the University of Richmond also add toughness to the 16 game slate.

At the Cash Bash.

(and how to avoid it.)

The Cash Bash is a chronic hang-up that comes from carrying money around with you on campus.

Like discovering you left your wallet in the locker room . . . three minutes after somebody else does. Or finding yourself short on Saturday night because it was too easy to shell out all week. Or getting known as a soft touch for a loan because you're a walking cash box.

How to avoid these situations? Get yourself a Wachovia Checking Account.

Your money is safe, so you don't have that to worry about. And you're not as apt to spend it when it's not bulging out of your billfold. You have an accurate record of how much you spent and what for, so you can flash it for your father when he asks.

And when Max (or Millie) the Moocher shows up, you can honestly say all you have on you is a Canadian nickel. And hope he's not a numismatist.

Of course, you don't have to open your account with Wachovia. But we think you'll like us. After all, we wouldn't ask for your business if we didn't know how to treat you right. Right?
