Jenkins travels on grant, will return in March

By WORTH WORTHINGTON
Special to Fountainhead

ECU Chancellor Leo Jenkins left Greenville on a Danforth grant shortly before Christmas, and is not expected back until March 1. What is the Chancellor doing?

Some interesting answers came from Dr. John Ebbs and Doris Lamm. Ebbs, from the English department, is campus representative for the Danforth Foundation. Lamm is a receptionist in the Chancellor's Office.

Ebbs did most of the work in obtaining the grant for Jenkins. When asked about this work he said, "I get all the publications from the Danforth Foundation. After looking through one book, I liked the leave grants for college administrators. I wrote to the Danforth office in St. Louis, emphasizing Dr. Jenkins' service to the community and the services he will do in the future. He was chosen by the foundation."

Ebbs was asked if Jenkins had expressed interest in such a program.

"On several occasions he remarked that he would like to visit 'pockets of excellence' in different areas. There are places that are known for a subject, area such as art, for example. He wants to gather ideas and bring them back to help ECU and eastern North Carolina."

Do you know of any of these places that Jenkins will visit?

"Not really," admitted Ebbs. Jenkins wanted to visit England, Germany, and Spain. However, because of his strong interest in ECU he decided to remain in the United States. That way he could come back here on weekends. I don't know any specific places, but you can call his office. Wherever he has gone, he is observing to help eastern North Carolina."

A call and a visit to Doris Lamm, Jenkins' receptionist, created an interesting situation. Lamm was asked if she had an itinerary of Jenkins' trip.

"He left one," she said, "but he is not following it—at least he hasn't sent any cards from those places. He said he was going to New Mexico and Arizona, but he hasn't been to either place."

Where is he now?

"As far as we know he is in Pompano Beach, Fla. That stop was not on the schedule he left us," explained Lamm. "He is due back March 1. He left sometime after Christmas and is supposed to be gone at least eight weeks."

Ebbs was questioned about the length of time Jenkins would have on leave.

"The grant," Ebbs explained, "is for a three-month leave period. Now this does not have to be taken all at once, but it must be taken within 18 months after the grant is awarded."

What are the other stipulations of the grant?

"The Danforth Foundation pays the winner $5,000," said Ebbs. "The university must agree to pay the administrator full salary during the period and must give him the leave."

This is the last year that the Danforth Foundation will offer this program to college administrators. Ebbs responded to a question about Jenkins' feelings on winning the award.

"Dr. Jenkins wrote me a letter thanking me and telling me how pleased he was. At the same time he submitted a proposal to the Smith-Reynolds Foundation for $25,000," added Ebbs. "This proposal which was accepted, is to provide similar grants for other ECU officials. During this year, eight or ten ECU officials will travel to areas where ECU could benefit from new ideas. In a way, the one grant to Jenkins has become a 'boomerang' thing."

How will new ideas be presented?

"All the trips will be finished by the end of the summer," explained Ebbs. "Next fall, Jenkins and other ECU officials who traveled will meet with many of the eastern North Carolina leaders. These conferences will hopefully sell many of these new ideas to the people of this area."

Antiwar forces skeptical of Nixon peace

(CPS)—Antiwar forces greeted President Nixon's announcement of the cease-fire agreements with skepticism, a sentiment echoed privately by several high-ranking government officials.

The consensus is that the accords look nice in print, but fail to resolve many of the basic issues which originally led to the war. The fear voiced here is any peace the accords may bring will not be long-lasting.

Figures in government asked to remain off-the-record, but leaders of the peace movement were highly vocal.

"A ceasefire is not an end to the war," said Tim Butz of Vietnam Veterans Against the War. "I think the 1954 Geneva Accords proved that."

"We have entered Phase Three of our struggle to end the war," said Dr. Sidney Peck of the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice (PCPJ). "We know Richard Nixon will try to run the same war by more quiet, less visible means. Billions of dollars of new weaponry have already gone to the Saigon regime."

Peck announced the formation of a "Watchdog Committee" to oversee implementation of the ceasefire. The group, led by Father Paul Mayer of the Harrisburg Defense Committee, will travel to Saigon with a special emphasis on seeking the release of the thousands of political prisoners held by Thieu. There is some doubt the political prisoners will be released since it is not specifically required by the accords.

"The accords are simply a scrap of paper," claimed Jerry Gordon of the National Peace Action Coalition (NPAC). Gordon felt the presence of thousands of "civilian advisors" and the massive number of U.S. planes and ships in Southeast Asia would inevitably lead to continued conflict. He also feared the resumption of bombing in Laos and Cambodia.

NPAC will continue to press for its demand of a total end to financial and military support of the regimes in Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos and Thailand, said Gordon.

PCPJ threatens further demonstrations if the accords are not followed by the U.S. government.

Albert Kennedy was selected Union president at a January 31 meeting of the Board of Directors. Among those making the selection were representatives of the MRC, WRC, Interfraternity Council and SGA. Kennedy will officially take office May 1, and will remain president through May 1, 1974.

Kennedy describes the circumstances of his election.

"I was just a member of a committee—the Special Concerts committee," he said, "and it seemed that none of the other committee chairmen would be able to run for the position of president."

"Gary Massie (former Union president) recommended that I apply for the position," he said. "I did so, and it was an election between two people—myself and a friend of mine."

Kennedy defined his general duties as Union president.

"The president is essentially supposed to direct entertainment and the committees which will be working in the next year," he said. These committees include Popular Entertainment, Lecture, Coffee House, Artist Series, Films and Special Concerts, among others.

"By now," said Kennedy, "I'm getting ready to attend the National Entertainment Convention as union president-elect." This convention has 1600 delegates from different schools, who met with bookers and booking agencies for entertainment. This gives students a chance to actually meet with the agents."

Kennedy emphasized two future needs of the various Union committees—clear definition of goals and reshuffling of committee duties.

"One thing I'd like to do," said Kennedy, "is get a definition of goals, since there seems to be a lot of overlapping in committees. Selection of the individual committee chairmen will begin March 5 through 12," said Kennedy, "when applications will be accepted."

"Four days before the end of this quarter, Gary Massie and I will get together and set up by-laws each committee will operate under. I'll choose committee chairmen after the application week."

"Then the chairmen will choose their own committees. They'll discuss the by-laws and will probably do some changing around, since my by-laws will just be my idea of what committees should do."

"We're also considering reshuffling responsibilities around," said Kennedy, "shifting responsibilities from one committee to another. This is still indefinite as of yet."

What other future plans has the new president-elect considered?

"I can't say yet," said Kennedy. "Right now I'm just trying to learn."

Cohen relives Leary, utopia, psychedelics

BY CHIP GWYNN
Staff Writer

Dr. Allen Y. Cohen's work in today's young drug scene and his own personal involvement have made him one of the most sought after speakers on the college campus.

Cohen's extensive background, includes a stint at Harvard University where he studied under LSD advocate Timothy Leary. It was during this time that Cohen began his experimentation with psychedelic drugs. He spent three years in a Mexican utopian community experimenting with LSD and other related drugs.

This three-year romp through wonderland gave way to a non-chemical alternate for Cohen in the form of the teachings of Meher Baba. Baba's universal teachings offered him an escape from the world of drugs. He has since become a follower of Baba.

Cohen's lectures usually stem from his involvement with drugs or his mystical revelation with Baba. His lecture topic is "The Psychedelic Underground: My Three Years in Wonderland". The lecture will be Mon., Feb. 12, at 8 p.m. in Wright Auditorium. Students will be admitted on I.D. and activity cards. Public tickets are $2.

Garrett may go co-ed in fall

Garrett Hall has a good possibility of being converted into a co-ed residence hall in the fall of 1973 according to Bill Bodenhamer, President of the Men's Residence Council of ECU.

The Men's Residence Council and the Women's Residence Council have been exploring the possibilities of establishing a co-ed residence hall. Bill Bodenhamer has received permission from Dr. Jenkins, Chancellor of ECU, to be on the agenda of the Board of Trustees' next meeting.

There are various reasons for the choice of Garrett Hall as the first co-ed dorm. Its central location, ability to house 304 inhabitants, large parlor, recreation and social rooms on each hall, and adaptability for the transformation into a co-ed dorm make it a prime choice.

Bodenhamer is now in the process of approaching the ECU's Board of Trustees. He stated letters have been sent out to the members of the board to mainly introduce the idea of a co-ed set-up. He said that later a set outline of the dorm would be put forth in a formal manner. This would include various arguments, statistics, and various studies.

Bodenhamer stated that one of his main arguments would be that most all of the major universities of North Carolina already have co-ed dorms and the results were very good.

A comparison of Activities and Behaviors in Coeducational and Non-coeducational Residence Halls will be presented to the Board along with the results of various questionnaires sent to approximately 18 universities in and out of state that have co-ed dorms.

Since the next meeting of the Board of Trustees will be sometime around the 1st of April, there is a definite time element involved. Room assignments for next fall will be made during the first few weeks of April. Bodenhamer's reason for contacting the Board of Trustees through mail is so the board can begin to consider the recommendation.

Like the University of Maryland, ECU will probably be granted their co-ed dorms on an experimental basis. This would require an up to date analysis of the result of the dorm's progress and how it would be measured.

Results from the Maryland analysis showed that there was a decrease in physical damages of the dorm. Programming, such as films, socials, and other events were on the increase. Finally, as a result of the co-ed system, study habits increased, the appearance of the inhabitants was much better, and the dorm as a whole was not nearly as noisy.

Along with these results, an argument that this will make more students attracted to dorm life, will be presented. This is important since Freshmen and Sophomores are required to live in dorms anyway.

Auto violations spark action

Drastic measures are about to be taken on cars that are parked illegally on campus.

According to Campus Police Chief Joe Calder, "students have been complaining of the lack of parking spaces but there is no real shortage. The present scarcity of places is due to students parking illegally." One day recently 35 unregistered vehicles were spotted on the hill. "This will have to stop," he said, "and in order to insure a place to park for students who have stickers, the unregistered vehicles will be towed 'unmercifully' seven days a week."

Calder stated that neither the police department or the university make any profit from having the cars towed away. "The only one who gains is the man who tows the car away," he said.

The student, of course, loses, because no one is liable for damages to the car while being towed. Calder went on to say that students who have registered their cars have right to the parking spaces and in order to insure this right illegally parked cars will be towed.

The problem of unregistered cars parked on campus is compounded by freshmen who have registered their cars but are only allowed to park on campus on weekends. "These vehicles have not been towed yet but they will be in the near future," Calder said.

Students who have visitors on weekends who will be parking on campus can pick up a visitor's parking permit free of charge at the campus police office. These stickers can be issued for a few days or as long as a week, depending on how long the visitor plans to stay on campus.

The Chief continued that the parking situation around the men's dorm is bad, and perhaps even worse around the women's dorms. Recently, however, several houses were demolished on Eighth St.; this will create new parking facilities by the spring for the women's dorms.

On the hill the problem is more serious. Calder suggested that the grassy area near the tennis courts may be cleared for a parking lot. Also, a road could be built behind Rose High School by the bicycle shed at the rear of Jones Hall.

"These measures, though, would take away area that is normally used for playing football and the like," he said. If the unregistered vehicles are removed from the hill, this will not be necessary.

Indian talk Tuesday

On Tuesday, Feb. 13, the Campus Ministry Forum will sponsor Ralph Eanes, a minister to the Indian communities of Cherokee and Big Cove in western North Carolina.

A group discussion will concern the new liberation of the Indians, civil rights groups, community problems and possible summer work projects in Cherokee.

Tuesday's meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Methodist Student Center, across from Garrett Hall, at 8 p.m.

A MEMORIAL SERVICE was held Wednesday at 3 p.m. for Jim Fairley, former ECU basketball player. Fairley, 24, and Peggy Joyce Nelson, 20, were found dead of shotgun wounds Saturday in a car north of Greenville. While attending ECU in 1972, Fairley had been named to the all-Southern Conference team, and was the conference's second leading rebounder. He had planned to return to school this fall to complete his studies.

Billy Taylor Trio Ensemble performs premiere

The Billy Taylor Trio and the ECU Symphonic Wind Ensemble conducted by Herbert L. Carter will present a world premiere performance of a piece written by Taylor entitled BLUES MONTAGE. This will be in connection with the Wind Ensemble Concert on Friday, February 9, at 8:15 p.m. in Wright Auditorium.

JAZZ IDOLS

When Billy Taylor arrived in New York in 1943, with a Bachelor of Science degree from Virginia State College and a desire to be a jazz musician, he immediately found an apartment around the corner from Minton's Playhouse in Harlem. That same night he was sitting in with some of his jazz idols at Minton's and two days later he was the pianist in Ben Webster's Quartet at the Three Deuces on 52nd Street.

JAZZ EXPONENT

Since then he has been such a busy exponent of jazz in every conceivable fashion as pianist, composer, disc jockey, program director, lecturer, author, teacher, executive—that whenever anything touching on jazz is being considered in New York one of the first persons called on is Billy Taylor.

Last summer he was the only musician appointed by Governor Nelson Rockefeller to the Temporary State Commission on the Cultural Resources of New York State, a group which he gave the Governor recommendations on how the state's cultural resources could best be used. He has served on Mayor Lindsay's New York City Cultural Council, on the advisory committee on jazz to Lincoln Center, on the Harlem Cultural Council and as president and musical consultant of Jazzmobile for which he gives lecture-concerts at New York City schools three mornings every week as well as conducts a workshop program on Saturdays. All this was currently incidental to his job as musical director of the David Frost Show on television.

FANTASY FOR TRUMPET

Larry Skinner, a well-known trumpet soloist, will perform a trumpet solo with the Wind Ensemble entitled FANTASY FOR TRUMPET by Claude Smith. Skinner is presently soloist with the U. S. Navy Band in Washington, D.C., and was soloist for 9½ years with the Army Field Band. The Wind Ensemble will also play pieces by the contemporary composers—Norman Dello Joio, William Schuman.

ALL-STATE CLINIC

The ECU School of Music is host to the All-State Band Clinic during February 9 and 10 and the Wind Ensemble Concert on Friday, February 9 is one of the highlights. The public is invited and there is no admission charge.

Marijuana study indicates change in sleep pattern

(IP)—The chronic use of marijuana changes sleep patterns—sleep patterns which, in turn, may affect brain functioning and basic physiology, as well as behavior—according to reports on human research under way at The University of Texas Medical Branch.

After the first seven days of daily marijuana (one joint a day), the human subjects were found to have significantly less of the deep stages of sleep which have been related to basic biological restorative processes.

Even after the subjects stopped smoking marijuana at the end of 10 successive days, their physiological responses indicate that the loss of the deeper stages of sleep remains significantly less than they normally get for at least seven days.

These human research findings have been confirmed by similar findings in sleep studies under way by researchers at the University of Florida as reported at the American Psychiatric Association meeting in Florida last May.

NORMAL PATTERNS

In human subjects, normal sleep patterns are checked for about four days and nights to establish baseline values. The subjects' sleep patterns are then monitored and recorded during 10 successive days of marijuana smoking plus a one-week recovery period. "National surveys show that about 5 percent of marijuana smokers smoke at least one joint a day, so this is not an unreasonable amount," the scientists explain.

ALTERS MOOD

After receiving a daily dosage for about seven days, the subjects studied to date showed a deprivation of stages three and four sleep. Stage 4 or REM (Rapid Eye Movement) sleep is the deepest level of sleep, in terms of arousal thresholds.

They also did not return to the baseline levels during recovery week. In addition, the human subjects complained to the researchers of being "tired and sluggish all the time," without prompting or questioning.

"Also, since marijuana is obviously a mood altering drug and since many mood altering drugs alter electroencephalogram (EEG) sleep patterns, further understanding of the effects of this drug or its metabolites on central neural processes could result from relating chronic marijuana usage to sleep patterns," the scientist hypothesizes.

Bucs hold on for win over Peacocks; Spiders expected to fall last night

By EPHRAIM POWERS
Asst. Sports Editor

The ECU Pirates met St. Peters in basketball Monday night and finally got by the stubborn Peacocks, 83-77, in a tuneup for last night's game with Richmond.

It appeared several times as though the Pirates would turn the game into a rout but each time they took a big lead, the Peacocks would fight back and keep the struggle close almost until the end.

St. Peters never led in the game but played in spurts well enough to make it a real contest.

The Pirates broke out to a 14-7 lead early in the contest but saw it narrowed to 14-13 behind the hot shooting of Juan Jimenez, who played very well all night.

The score was twice tied in the first half but the Bucs exploded to a 40-27 lead with 3:36 left in the half. The halftime score was 47-33.

As the second half began, Peacock Ed Cierski hit 15 points in a row to pull St. Peters to within five points with 16:30 left.

The Buc lead was cut to one but then the Bucs warmed up slightly to lead again by seven. It was 69-62 with 8:10 left. The last few minutes were just a matter of the teams trading baskets until the Bucs won by their six-point spread.

Dave Franklin led the Pirate assault as he broke loose for 28 points while Nicky White tallied 23.

The other Buc in double figures was Earl Quash with 10. For the Pirates, now 10-8 pending last night's results, Franklin grabbed 13 rebounds.

Jayvees hit century in ninth win of year

Coach Dave Patton's Pirate jayvee cagers rolled to an impressive 101-70 victory over the College of the Albemarle Monday behind the great play of Al Edwards.

Edwards tossed in a jayvee record 33 points and pulled down 19 rebounds to lead the Baby Pirates to their ninth win in 12 games.

All five starters for EC scored in double figures in the most complete team victory to date for the young team.

In addition to Edwards, Fred Stone tallied 19 points, William Hill had 15, Chuck Mohn tossed in 14 and Randy McCullen added 10. Hill and Mohn led in rebounding with 11 and eight grabs, respectively.

The Baby Pirates completely dominated board play, taking a 48-26 advantage in rebounding. They also hit 59.5 per cent of their field goals to 40 per cent for the guests.

Patton's squad next faces State Tuesday night in Raleigh before closing out the fine season Feb. 20 against Old Dominion in Norfolk, Va.

Parachute events scheduled for April

Sport parachute enthusiasts on campus will have a chance to participate in the North Carolina Collegiate Open and Meet in April.

The event is sponsored by the University of North Carolina sport parachute club and will be held April 6-8 at the Carolina para-center, Halifax County Airport, in Roanoke Rapids.

Several events in the novice, intermediate and advanced classes will be held with registration set for April 6 from 2 to 9 p.m.

Modest entry fees are required and trophies will be given for first, second and third place finishes in all events.

Further information may be obtained by contacting F.J. Hale, 1050 James Dormitory, UNC-Chapel Hill 27511; or Dan Stewart, L.43, 4216 Garrett Road, Durham, N.C. 27707.

Buc swimmers clobber Old Dominion; look forward to conference finale

To the swimming fan:

We appreciate your criticism in the form of a letter in our forum, I agree wholeheartedly that it was wrong on my part to omit the names of at least two of our record breakers.

After the story had been set, I found out I had less room on the page than I needed and part of the story had to be clipped.

My apologies to Charlie Kemp, who I agree turned in a super effort in the Virginia meet, and to the others I missed.

-Don Trausneck

"We swam extremely well considering it was a low pressure meet."

That statement by head swimming coach Ray Scharf has to be the understatement of the year. Monday afternoon, Scharf's tankers chewed up the Old Dominion swim team and then threw them away as ECU cruised to a 102-11 victory.

The Pirates placed first and second in every event as they raced to their fourth straight win and ninth of the season.

Five meet records fell during the non-conference debacle. Senior captain Paul Trevisan's winning time of 21.65 broke the old meet record in the 50-yard freestyle and Chris Vandenoever's time of 49.7 broke the old meet record in the 100-yard freestyle event.

Other meet records were set by senior Wayne Norris in the 200-yard individual medley, Charlie Kemp in the 200-yard butterfly, and David Kohler in the 200-yard breaststroke.

Jack Morrow was again the only Pirate double winner as he easily captured the one and three-meter diving events.

Head diving coach John Lovstedt praised the efforts of newcomer Tim Winslow. He has been diving excellently in his first four meets and he has only been practicing for about three weeks.

The Pirates are now 9-2 and are looking forward to the Southern Conference Championships, to be held later this month.

The Atlantic Seaboard Interscholastic Swimming and Diving Championships will be held Saturday in Minges Natatorium with some of the nation's finest high school swimmers and divers competing in the event.

The meet begins at 10 a.m. with more than 40 teams from seven different states participating.

The finals will begin at 7 p.m.

Interest is up

Crew season promising

By ROGER EDWARDS
(Fourth of a series)

Down along the Tar River these days one can pick up the sounds of men straining against oars and the bark of the coxswain, pleading for eight men to work as one.

No, the year is not 1890, and that's not the ol' boys of Harvard and Yale out on the water.

It's ECU's own crew team, rounding into shape for yet another fast approaching season. With the season opener against Morris Harvey set for March 16, Pirate coach Al Hearn looks toward that day with anticipation if not just a trace of concern.

"Some people are shaping up well but it's hard to say right now because most haven't been out on the water long enough to really tell."

Since late October the Buc skipper has been sending his hopefuls through their paces.

"The guys have really been working hard," says Hearn, "rowing four days a week, running laps, going through calisthenics, and lifting weights three times weekly."

Chances are the Pirates will need all this work, plus a little something extra, if last year's record of 16-6 is to be matched.

BUILDING YEAR
"We've got 45 people out, but with only two varsity lettermen returning from last year's team, I'd have to call this a building year," said the coach.

"Most teams we compete against have a larger budget and better facilities to work with than we do. Also, schools like Morris Harvey and the University of Virginia have people with 3-4 years experience rowing in high school before ever getting to college.

This added experience is a great advantage for them, especially when you consider that most of our guys touch an oar for the first time when they get to EC."

This year the Bucs will race freshman, jayvee, lightweight varsity and heavyweight varsity boats, and a varsity four-man boat.

"We have the potential for a good lightweight varsity and four-man boat. Also the freshman boat should be strong," Hearn notes.

Because of a lack of depth, Hearn doesn't expect a real tough heavyweight boat, yet this is where both returning lettermen row, team captain Ron Jenkins and Mack Byrd.

"We have five seniors returning along with several people from last year's jayvee who must produce if we are to compete with the toughies on our schedule," commented the coach.

Davenport wins

Pirates high in Relays

By DON TRAUSNECK

Walter Davenport was a repeat winner in the triple jump last weekend as the Pirate track team participated in the VMI Winter Relays at Lexington, Va.

Although no team scores were kept, the Pirates unofficially finished third of 28 teams entered in the collegiate division.

Several nationally-ranked athletes, including two Olympians, will be competing in the AAU 10-Mile Run Saturday.

A two-mile run and a special one-mile run for children will also be held. Registration for the 10-mile event will begin Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at the Bethel Middle School gym. The race will actually begin at Stokes at noon.

The other runs will be held in the afternoon. More than 75 awards will be offered for the top participants in the three races.

Davenport was the only individual champion for the Bucs but coach Bill Carson had words of praise for several other performers as well.

"(Larry) Hines and (Maurice) Huntley were fine performers in the relays," Carson said. "Larry Malone also did a good job in the 440 relay and the hurdle crew of Bobby Voight, Ron Smith, Sam Phillips and Bill McRee was excellent."

The coach also singled out Roy Quick, who finished second in the high jump (6-8) after "nearly making it at 6-10."

Four school records were broken. These came in the two-mile run (Gerald Klas finished third in 9:06.8), 880-yard relay (team finished in 1:32.5), shuttle hurdles (fourth in 30.5 seconds) and 440-yard relay (third in 44.2).

ECU's mile relay team of Palmer Lisane, Charles Lovelace, Huntley and Barry Johnson finished fifth.

In the high hurdles, Smith placed second while Phillips was fourth. John Pitts finished fourth in the high jump (6-4) to complement Quick's performance.

In the shot, school record holder Ivey Peacock placed fifth; while in the pole vault, Richard McDuffie finished fifth.

The Pirates are scheduled to compete in the William and Mary Invitational Meet this weekend.

The host Indians, favorites for the conference meet the following weekend, lost a heartbreaker to powerful Navy, another future outdoor foe for EC, recently.

Disgusting

Once more the SGA Legislature has proven their parliamentary attentiveness and concern for the student body. In Monday's Legislature meeting Rob Lusana had a bill introduced which would change the present judiciary system. The bill would have shifted the burden of proof in each judicial case, so that instead of the defendant being presumed innocent until proven guilty, he would have been assumed guilty until his defense could prove his innocence.

The bill would obviously have been against the United States Constitution, the SGA Constitution and the very notion of common law justice. Surprise-it passed. After hearing the intelligent opinions of the representatives of the student body, Lusana revealed that the bill was a hoax. It was designed to see if he could railroad any bill he wanted through the short assembly. Lusana tore the bill into shreds after hearing the decision.

This may seem to be an absurd action on the part of the SGA Legislature, but is in no way humorous. It shows the complete ineptness on the part of the body that handles $400,000 of your money each year. Let's not blame the representatives entirely, however. After all, they have met the stringent requirements of being a full-time student and having a 2.000 average. (The SGA is currently attempting to have the 2.000 qualification dropped.)

The real fault lies in the entire student body for electing officials on the basis of incumbency, popularity and Greek affiliation. Until the students on this campus feel some kind of consideration for how their money is being spent, they should silence themselves on the issues of the transit system, publications and the new student union. The only thing that excites ECU students is whether or not they can have their sexual partners spend the night in their dormitory rooms.

Every bit hurts

Dear Editor:

It comes to no great surprise to me that many people seemingly have little regard for the quality of our environment. So when I arrived at Minges last Saturday to watch the Furman game, I was not greatly surprised to see an individual (at that point unidentified) emptying his automobile ashtray on the ground-possibly he didn't realize that some of the synthetic materials in the cigarette filters would remain basically unchanged in the environment until 2554 (according to recent research from Penn State University). What did come as a surprise was the fact that the automobile carried an ECU sticker identifying the vehicle as belonging to a recently appointed Vice-Chancellor. Admittedly, this one incident contributed little to the total pollution of our environment-but as the saying goes, "Every litter bit hurts!" It would seem that the faculty and staff of ECU could set a good example in many little ways. Having been closely associated with environmental health activities since 1961, I feel that apathy toward the quality of our environment continues to be a real hindrance. One hopeful note however-young people appear to have a greater concern that was true even five years ago.

Come up to par

To Fountainhead:

A mistake was made by the FOUNTAINHEAD in changing the title of my article from "SMART" to "CADETS DISTINGUISH THEMSELVES FROM PUBLIC'S OPINION." This change in title implies that, I, Dennis Crawford, am a cadet, which I am not.

Only as a student of the Police Science Program at Pitt Technical Institute did I write this article, and I wrote it in all sincerity to show my support and understanding for the pride, integrity, and guts (PIG) of all policemen and cadets. This fact is the basic and only reason why I wrote the article, which was printed in the January 30 issue.

I hope all of you read the article and looked at it from a truthful and common sense point of view, for I hoped to get across the point that it is time for students and citizens of towns everywhere to come up to par with the police and to acquire an understanding of the police and their functions. Then, and only then, can meaningful communication and action be developed between the community and the police.

Fish have friend

To Fountainhead:

East Carolina's Varsity Swim Team had its biggest win of the season when they defeated the Virginia Cavaliers on Monday night, January 29th. Every single swimmer we have did an excellent job! Coach Scharf has a team to be proud of!

The turn-out at the meet was fantastic and enthusiasm was at its peak!

Freshman Charlie Kemp's varsity record in the 200 breast stroke went unheralded in your article. It seems a shame to mention a Navy swimmer over your own varsity record holders such as Freshman Larry Green who also broke the record in the 500 free.

You failed to capture the enthusiasm and spirit in you (sic) article. The win was a "great team win!". You failed pathetically in your attempt to capture its significance.

Let's try to get it together for next weeks home meets with Old Dominion and Catholic University.

Ban cars?

To Fountainhead:

I imagine that many people have noticed by now that the entrance to the street running by the glass doors to the Student Union has been changed from its impassible blockade to the more conventional poles. For whatever reason the University has done this, the change has benefited those of us who ride our two wheeled conveniences.

Sometimes the imaginative ideas of a few people here do benefit the needy student population that invariably get overlooked in the structural considerations on this campus.

Now if only we can get cars banned from campus so that people can ride the wrong way on the one way streets.

Cohen offers alternatives

To Fountainhead:

On Monday, February 12th, Alan Cohen will be speaking on 'contemporary materials useful for preserving personal sanity while braving the great technological wilderness.' Alan Cohen used to hang-out with Timothy Leary and the original LSD club but grew tired of the worn-out high from dope and drugs. Now - he lectures on real alternatives to drugs - and as Dick Gregory said: "You better find means of informing yourselves." Alan Cohen is THE most sought-after lecturer on non-chemical alternatives to drugs! Please be there! He is entertaining and speaks like Bill Cosby about his tremendous experiences.
