

In the good old days, a man could depend on his Each year, we find and process the type and tomorrows being just like his yesterdays. But today, ours is a world of change. The entire industry faces a turbulent marketplace. But today, ours is a world of grade of leaf you need, wherever it is grown. So while it may be difficult to depend on anything from one day to another, those who business, time seemed to move more slowly. Those who came before us could always

Back then, for the people in the tobacco count on their markets growing. Competition from other countries wasn't so tough.Interest rates weren't so unpredictable.

Even so, you can still depend on Monk to deliver the choice tobaccos your blends require, and always at a competitive price.

rely on quality tobaccos at a fair price still rely on Monk. \ \Onk

A.C. Monk & Company, Farmville, North Carolina, U.S.A.