

THE WISEMAN WARRIOR 2 July 1944

WISEMAN UNIVERSITY!

Kirk, former Quiz Kid from West Virginia but now employed as a CPO caterer, yesterday was stumped for a reply to a question put to him by another shipmate. The question: "Who lies buried in Grant's Tomb?"

GALLEY!

Alsdorf, a cook from the old school,, and Oliver, a cook who never went to any school, yesterday got their heads together in an attempt to figure out how they could supplement the Menu by serving cream peas without peas. "There's gotta be some way out of it," mused Aldorf. "We make omelets with out eggs...and chicken soup without chicken....mmmm....let's see..."

WISEMAN CAFETERA!

Dawes, fugitive from a Beauty Parlor, recently took up his new duties as a mess-cook. "I didn't have any political influence to obtain this new position," said he, "and I am firmly convinced that someone in power has finally recognized my talent for the duties upon which I am about to embark." Observers noted with great satisfaction that Dawes made his debut in an immaculate suit of whites.

LONELY HEARTS CLUB!

Culligan, male mail orderly, after hearing that his best girl married another man, yesterday seriously considered stopping his allotment to her.

WISEMAN CLINIC

As a result of his recent mediacal inspection of abbreviated appendages, Doctor Ashmore preclaimed the crew of the WISEMAN to be physically fit. However, Ashmore could not be induced to commit himself concerning the Mental Status of the majority of the crew. According to uninformed sources, yesterday Barrett, local electrician, vigorously denied the rumor that he became an electrician because of the light work involved.

UNDATED

In a special interview recently, Brown, mess caterer par excellence, admitted that he believes in the primordial methods of jungle love. "Jungle Love," says he, "is when a man and a woman monkey around..."
