THE WISEMAN WARRIOR 6 JULY 1944

BRIDGE OF SAN LUIS WISEMAN

Confounding the theory prepounded by ancient and modern scientists, Beach, local stargazer, recently proved to shipmates that the shortest distance between two points is a zig zag course. "If you don't believe it, look at my charts," said he.

WISEMAN CLINIC

#1

Doctor Cartwright, with dubious aid of his assistant Doctor Ashmore, yesterday diagnosed Rubenstein's case of recurrent illness. According to the Medic: Homesickness" aggravated by lovesickness, may cause severe cases of seasickness. It is my personal and professional opinion that Rubenstein could effect a permanent cure if he would refrain from writing love letters every day."

WISEMAN BAKERY:

Phillips, the Baker in charge of all the ship's dough, yesterday submitted a request for leave to commence upon the arrival in the States and to expire when the ship comes back from her next trip. Older and more experienced men today expressed some doubt as to whether this request would be approved.

Phillips, it will be recalled by plank-owners, relieved Macedo, as ship's Baker at the time when it was considered unsanitary when Macedo used to climb into the Galley tub, barefooted and jump, up and down on the dough to soften it for making bread. Many consumers of Phillip's bread readily admit that his product is the very best to be found between here and the United States; and it is known that many of the ship's company steadfastly refuse to eat any other bread.

THINGS WE"D LIKE TO SEE:

....Walsh sitting on an officer;s lap taking dictation.
....Gallier at the other end of the chow line.
....Van Sickle with his hands dirty.
....Barrette combing his hair with his hat on.

GUNNERY SCHOOL:

THE WISEMAN WARRIORS yesterday got their guns together and fired off dozens and dozens of shells at somewhat belated celebration of Independence Day. Johnston, Chief Gunner's Mate, vigorously denied the rumor stating that the Wiseman had postponed her firing on the Fourth out of consideration for Rubenstein, who was feeling unwell on that day.

GUN LOCKER:

When one of the Gun pointers was asked if he hit the target in yesterday's firing, the pointer replied: "TARGET?" Was there a Target out there???

(COVER)

THE WISEMAN WARRIOR 6 JULY 1944

WISEMAN EDITORIAL OFFICES

With complete confidence in the saying "Better late than never", the editor wishes to state that in the preparation of the recent holiday menu, much credit should go to Gordon, who would have helped with the typing if he hadn't been conveniently seasick ...

RADIO SHACK:

Close observers noted that during the past few days all the employees of the Wiseman Radio Station have been keeping tabs on Deisenroth, the fun loving radio boy. Close investigation revealed that Deisenroth had drawn a library book entitled "ON BEING A REAL PERSON", and associates were interested in the reader's development of character. However, no agreeable change has been reported to date.

WISEMAN FIRST PRECINCT

According to Patrolman Lefebvre has found no happy substitute for Battleship Bertha. Said Leffebvre: The only reason some guy ----??????.

FASHION NOTES

The wave of fashion swept over the bridge yesterday and its ebbing left behind an O.O.D. comfortably but briefly dressed in shirt and shorts. Fashion designers eagerly affirmed that the 0.0.D. was the envy of a wilted group of assocciate watchstanders.

