Office of Senator Robert Morgan
Dirksen Senate Office Building
Room 2107
Washington, D. C. 20510

Dear Peggy:

It was good to have opportunity to speak with you earlier in the week. I had thought I would surely get information in the mail to you yesterday concerning Wayne Turnage. I don't always get done what I plan to do.

We are delighted that the Senator will introduce Wayne and serve as master of ceremonies for the eight o'clock concert. We have invited the Senator and Katie to join us for the annual book club dinner in Marshbanks at six. We will go from the dinner to the concert in Turner Auditorium. Following the concert we have a reception planned for the Fellowship Hall at Memorial Church. We hope the Senator will feel up to going to the reception. We are counting on that, but should he find the evening is getting too long for him, we want him to feel free to drop out at whatever point he feels he must.

Wayne's mother and father were married in the old Campbell House by Dr. J. A. Campbell. Mr. Turnage is hospitalized in Dunn and is really quite ill. In speaking with the family earlier in the week I learned that they have accepted the fact that his illness is terminal. There seems little likelihood that he will live until the date of the concert.

I think you can possibly glean as much from the enclosed copy of a newspaper article concerning Wayne as the Senator might need. If you find he has questions concerning Wayne that we might answer for him, just give me a call.

Sincerely,

Robert L. King
