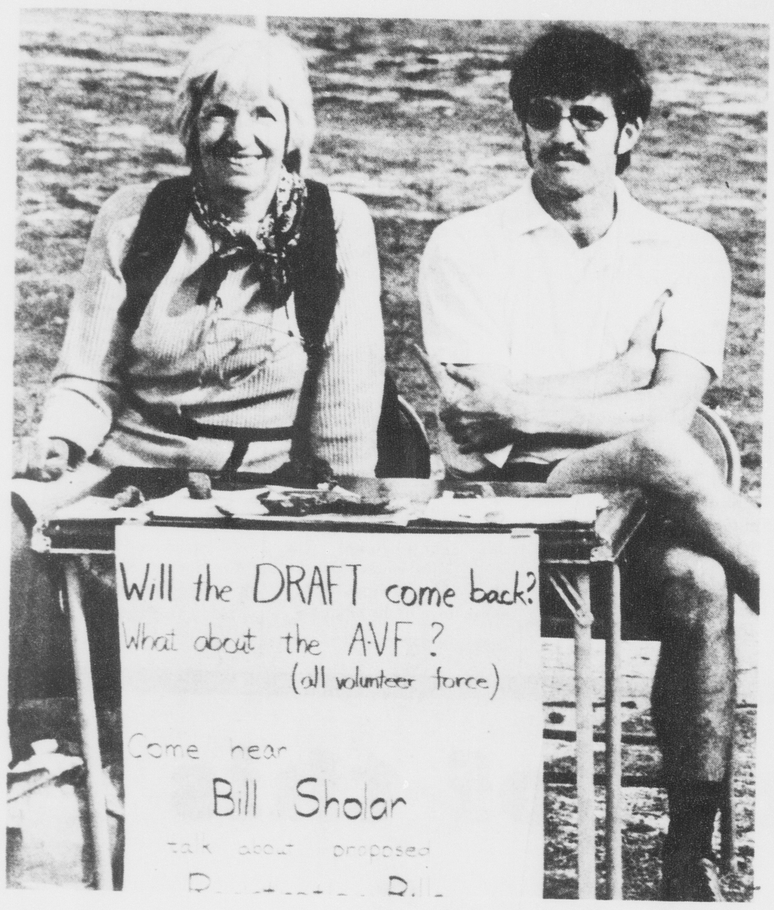
Fountainhead

Circulation 10,000 | East Carolina University | Greenville, North Carolina | Vol. 55 No. 118 | Thurs 19 April 1979



CONCERN OVER THE proposed draft legislation now pending in Congress was evident even at Tuesday's afternoon of activities, the Student Union sponsored "Barefoot on the Mall." For more photographis vignettes of the Festival, turn to page 5.

Groups start protest

Draft to be revived?

From News Releases and Wire Reports

The Army's top personnel officer has informed Congress that a return to the draft is inevitable.

According to Lt. Gen. Robert B. Yerks, the declining size of the reserve and increasing difficulty recruiting men and women into the active force leave the nation with no other choice. "The only question," said Lt. Gen. Yerks, "is when."

Until recently such military views were only expressed off the record, but increasing Congressional support for registration and the draft has had a dramatic effect on the Pentagon's position. As recently as December 28, the official Pentagon position was that the all-volunteer armed services were in satisfactory condition. But the changing political climate has encouraged the military's top officials to reverse their previous position.

Opponents to registration and the draft have called for nationwide protests on April 30th. A broad-based coalition, including the American Civil Liberties Union, the Students for a Liabertarian Society, and the United States Students Association will be holding an 'informative rally' on the steps of the Capitol Building in Washington, D.C., at twelve noon on April 30th.

The United States Students Association is already distributing buttons calling on youth to "Register to Vote: Don't Vote to Register."

The Students for a Libertarian Society has charged that: "In the hundreds of pages of Congressional testimony on the draft, not one Representative--either for or against conscription--makes any real effort to justify the global commitments that make a 2.1 million armed services necessary in peacetime." The SLS, a California-based organization, is holding a series of news conferences in major cities and is organizing a national resistance movement on college campuses.

The Friends Committee on National Legislation has established a Committee Against Registration and Draft which will help coordinate the national lobbying effort in Washington.

The Director of the Committee on Militarism in Education charges that our alleged need for more manpower is part of the same 'crackpot realism' that led us into Viet Nam.

According to Dr. Robert I. Rhodes, this 'need' rests on a series of dubious premises: "If the Russians start a conventional war in Europe ..' it doesn't quickly escalate into a nuclear war; if NATO airfields and ports are not destroyed in the opening battles; and if we can build an enormous naval fleet that does not now exist, then the million men stationed in the United States will be useful in the next war."

Since these premises are clearly absurd, Dr. Rhodes believes that the new call for registration and the draft will increase the power of the Pentagon and cold war tensions, and recreate the bitter campus protests that existed in the late '60's and early '70's, but will make no positive contribution to our national security.

Persons and groups wishing to participate in the resistance to registration and the draft should contact the following organizations:

Students for a Libertarian Society,
1620 Montgomery Street,
San Francisco, CA 94111;

United States Student Association,
1028 Connecticut Ave. #300 N.W.,
Washington, D.C. 20036;
Committee Against Registration and Draft,
100 Maryland Ave.,
Washington, D.C.

Major Attractions Committee begins student concert survey

By KAREN WENDT
Assistant News Editor

Randy Sessoms, Chairman of the Major Attractions Commitee of the Student Union announced yesterday, the development of a survey to determine the types of concerts students are most interested in having on campus next year.

"The purpose of the survey is to let the Major Attractions Commitee know its market in order to present concerts most suited to this campus, we must have a knowledge of the students preferences." said Sessoms.

This survey is also part of a wide range plan to achieve more recognition for the Student Union as an organization.

"On the ballot are a list of types of music and different artists to choose from. Because of limitations in programming at ECU, the ones listed are not ones that we will be able to book on this campus; they are on the ballot so students can identify the type of artists they would like to have in concert," according to Sessons.

Students are strongly encouraged to particapate in the survey as it will help to determine the concerts we will book next year.

A copy of the ballot appears on page 5.

"This is an opportunity for all students to have imput in the concert selecting process at ECU. The results will provide the committee with guidelines for programming next year. It's important for all students to participate."

Students are requested to return the ballots to the following places so that an accurate record can be kept:

Friday, April 20, 8:45 to 2:00p.m. the Croatan, The student store and Mendenhall Student Center from 6:30 p.m. -9:00 at Mendenhall Student Center.

Saturday, April 21, from 6:30 - 9:00 at Mendenhall Student Center.

Monday, April 23, from 8:45 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. at the Croatan, the Student Store and Mendenhall Student Center.

Tuesday , April , 8:45 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. at the Croaton, the Student Store and Mendenhall Student Center.

What's Inside . . .

☐ An ECU co-ed placed in the top fifth of finishers in last week's infamous Boston Marathon...see p. 10.

☐ Two new Pirate basketball players have signed with next year's team... see p. 10.

☐ The Warriors sound track is reviewed in Trends...see p. 7.

Draft speaker scheduled to appear at Mendenhall

By CHARLENE CARTER
Staff Writer

A national debate is developing concerning the renewal of the military draft. There are presently seven bills pending in the Congress which provide for various methods of regiatration and induction.

There will be a speaker on ECU campus on Thurs. April 19, to discuss the implications of the draft. Mr. Bill Sholar, who spent eight and a half years in the Army before being discharged as a conscientious objector, will speak at Mendenhall Student Center at 7:30 p.m. He is presently a counselor for military service-persons. His office is at Quaker House in Fayetteville, North Carolina.

When the draft ended in 1972, the Selective Service System went into "deep-freeze", or "stand-by". Proponents of draft renewal claim that the all-volunteer army is a failure and that the ranks are not filled. Some claim that if there was a sudden war, that the military would not be able to mobilize quickly enough to protect the United States.

The Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Secretary of the Army urge draft registration. There are many more proponents of activating the draft in the House and Senate Armed Services Committees.

Mr. Sholar doubts that national security will benefit by a military draft. He cites that opinions of experts who believe that any conflict involving a direct threat to the United States or Western Europe will become a nuclear war within days, and infantry troops will have little use. Sholar feels that an expanded, involuntary army would be used for military adventurism and quick-start wars in third-world areas.

Sholar will speak on the pending draft bills, and what the draft would mean to draft-age young men, and possibly young women as well. He will also tell about his experiences as a military counselor.

Mr. Sholar is in town at the invitation of the Greenville Peace Committee.

Christian band 'The Bridge' booked for concert

By LINDA PETERSON
Staff Writer

The Bridge, a contemporary Christian band, will appear at 8:00 p.m., Tuesday, April 24, on the Hill in front of Tyler Dorm. There will be no admission charge, and free refreshments will be served.

Bridge is an 8-member band of musicians from Greensboro who have been playing together almost six and a half years. They write and arrange almost all of the music they perform and use an enormous variety of instruments to produce a great sound which is uniquely their own. The group has already cut several albums and tours throughout much of the United States and Canada.

The concert is being supported by various Christian fellowships on campus such as Full Gospel Student Fellowship, Fountain of Life, and Inter-Varisty, and is sponsored by churches and other interested Christians in the Greenville area.

The idea for a Christian concert on campus started as an offshoot project of the monthly Prayer Breakfast where Christians on campus have been meeting together for fellowship, worship, and prayer.

A committee was formed in February. The members mailed close to 1,000 letters to churches all across the State seeking their support and inviting youth groups. Some members of the committee will be appearing on Carolina Today and Almanac 7 prior to the concert to talk about Bridge and their efforts.

What is the need or purpose for having such a concert here on campus? Mark Sexton, of Full Gospel Fellowship, states that it is to proclaim the Gospel to college students in a more contemporary way than the traditional church.

"So many times students are turned off by the stereotype of organized religion, that they don't want to have any part of it," Sexton said.

"Now, this is not to say that all forms of the so-called established church are wrong, for the Lord uses Christians in many different ways, but we feel that this concert is a fresh approach."

Stating another need for the concert, Sexton quoted the Bible, II Chronicles 7:14, which says, "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

Sexton also said, "The one thing I want people to know is that we on the concert committee and the Christians involved love the Lord deeply. We know that we're not perfect, and we don't want people to feel that this is something being done by a 'bunch of self-righteous' individuals. We know that Jesus is real. We also know that He is coming back soon and it is because of this as well as the new life we have found that we will proclaim Jesus and proclaim His name with love."

A big turnout is expected to hear Bridge, and the concert should prove to be well worth the time, according to Sexton.

CHRISTIAN MUSICAL GROUP The Bridge will bring their unique brand of gospel-flavored music with a pop sound to ECU this Tuesday.

FLASHES

Pool

Rudy Honeycutt went undefeated to win first place in the MSC Eight-Ball Billiards Tournament held Tuesday, March 27. Second place was won by Joe Root. Twenty players participated in the double elimination competition. Each match consisted of the best two games of three.

Joe Gaddis was the champion of the MSC Singes Tennis Tournament and Billy Collier was runner-up. the competition, held Tuesday, April 10, hosted a field of fifteen players. Gaddis came back to defeat Collier in two straight matches after losing to Collier in the semi-final round. Each match consisted of the best two games of three with play being to 21 points.

L Huntley was the winner of the MSC Mini-Bowling Tournament defeating three other weekly winners in the roll-off held Monday April 9. All four players had bowled the highest 3-game series across the four weeks prior to the roll-off. One game was bowled by each competitor, in the roll-off, to determine the winner.

Psi Chi

There will be a Psi Chi meeting Tues. April 17, at 7:00 p.m. in Speight 129. This meeting includes installation of new officers. All members are reminded to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Uniform

The representative from Nightingale Uniform Company will be in the School of Nursing building, Room 105, on April 18, 8:30 a.m. until 1 p.m to measure each freshman nursing student for uniforms. The total amount for each uniform will be as follow:
$70.65 for female students
$46.30 for male students

A money order for the exact amount must be submitted with the uniform order.

Please stop by the School of Nursing Office, Room 152, to make an appointment.

Talk

There will be a soul talk at 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday in which God's word will be examined as a solution to the daily problems of ECU students. Everyone is encouraged to take part in this discussion in Brewster D-309 (sponsored by Students for Christ).

Bio

Biology majors or minors who are interested in summer and fall employment through the Cooperative Education Program should contact the Co-op Office, 313 Rawl Building, telephone 757-6979 immediately. Information concerning interviews scheduled for Thursday, April 12 is available to students who wish to participate in the program. If interested, contact the Co-op Office immediately to complete the appropriate forms.

ECGC

The East Carolina Gay Community will hold its regular weekly meeting on Tuesday April 24 at 608 E. Ninth Street. All members are urged to attend and all interested persons are welcome.

The ECGC will be holding a Fund Raising event on Sunday April 29 from 3 to 9 p.m. This will be a cabaret type show with entertainment provided by various members. A cookout is also planned along with the Fund Raiser. The ECGC will receive 10 cents on every beer sold plus all the profits from food sales. This event will be held at the paddock Club on Dickinson Ave. the public is invited.

Softball

There will be a softball game Thurs, April 17 beginning at 4:00 p.m. All psychology students, Psi-chi members, graduate students and faculty are invited. The game will be the students versus the faculty. Along with the game ther will be a cookout with hotdogs, hamburgers and your favorite beverages. The cookout begins at 6:00 p.m. Stay tuned for further details.

Speaker

Miss Cornelia Tongue, supervisor of supervisor of services for the gifted and talented, N.C. Department of Public Instruction, will speak Thursday, April 19, 7:30 p.m. on the gifted and talented child in North Carolina. The public is invited to hear Miss Tongue at Room 129, Speight building, East Carolina University.

Miss Tongue, a native of Raleigh, is widely known for work in the field of education of the gifted and talented. She attended the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and taught for 24 years on the elementary, junior high and senior high school levels. Miss Tongue joined the Division for Exceptional Children, Department of Public Instruction, in 1970.

Miss Tongue's Greenville appearance is jointly sponsored by the Student Council for Exceptional Children of East Carolina University and the Chapter East Council for Exceptional Children. Miss Jane McDonald serves as president of the ECU chapter, while Mrs. Cheryl Adams serves as president of the Chapter East.

DAT

The Dental Aptitude Test will be offered at East Carolina University on Sat., April 28. Application blanks are to be completed and mailed to Division of Educational Measurements, American Dental Association, 211 East Chicago Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60011 to arrive by April 2. These applications are also available at the testing Center, Room-105, Speight Building, ECU.

Gospel

The ECU Gospel Ensemble will present their Spring Concert April 22, 1979 at 6 p.m. The concert will be held at Hendrix Theater in Mendenhall Student Center. The public is cordially invited to attend, and there is no admission charge.

Choir

The Plymouth Ministerial Asssociation will present the Westminister Chapel Choir in concert on april 20 at 8 in the First christian Church, Plymouth. The public is cordially invited and there will be no charge for admission.

Study

Psi Chi is funding two scholarships for the next school year: The Prewett Scholarship and the Wray Scholarship. The Prewett is available to Psi Chi members only. Applications for this scholarship may be obtained in the psychology office and should be turned in by the morning of April 23. The Wray is offered to any undergraduate with aspirations in the clinical field or to any graduate student already in the field. Applications may be obtained from the Psyc office and should be turned in by the morning of April 23. the Wray requires a written paper by the applicant.

Work

Students who may be interested in working at the Galleon Esplanade at Nags Head through the Cooperative Education Program should contact the Co-op Office immediately, 313 Rawl Building, telephone 757-6979. A recruiter will be on campus Thursday, April 12 to interview selected Co-op students. If interested, contact the co-op office immediately to complete the appropriate forms.

Logo

The Student Union is looking for a new Logo. If you want to enter the contest, just pick up a form at the information desk, Mendenhall Student Center, or room 234, Mendenhall Student Center.

A $50.00 prize will be awarded to the person who designed the Logo that's seleceted. You must enter by Friday, May 11, 1979.

Kappa

Kappa Alpha Psi will be having a Dance-a-thon for the NAACP on April 26 at Wright Auditorium from 8 p.m. until 8 a.m. If you are interested in participating in a worthwhile cause; Please call Chris Williams/John Dunlapp 758p7896 or Wayne Banks 752-9998. there will be prizes and certificates awarded to contestants.

Bowl

Every Sunday evening you can win a free game of bowling every time you make a strike when a red pin is the head pin. Try your luck at "Red Pin Bowling" from 7:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. at the Mendenhall Bowling Center each Sunday.

Days

The Student Union is now accepting applications for the two Day Student spots on the Board of Directors. Any Day Students interested in working on the Board should pick up applications at the Information Desk, Mendenhall Student Center or in Room 234 of Mendenhall. All applicants must return their applications by 5:00 p.m. April 27, 1979.

Teach

'eckankar,the most ancient of religious teachings known to man, will have an introductory talk by 5th intiate Kathy Webb at the Methodist Student Center, 501 E. 5th Street across from Garrett Dorm at 8:00 p.m. on April 23rd. There will be an information table all day in front of the Student Store.

SGA-SBP

The SGA presently has Student Buying Power Cards available to students. These provide a discount at The Tree House, The Bicycle Shop, Pet Kingdom and Headstrong Boutique & Clothing. These cards were given out last year but do not expire until December 1979.

These cards can be picked up in the SGA Office (Mendenhall 228) between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

Rebel

The Rebel will hold its last reading for this semester on Wed., April 25 at 7:30 p.m. in Mendenhall Coffehouse. Writers published in this year's Rebel will read their work. Everyone is welcome.Refreshments will be served.

Lae

All members of LAE turn in your money to Mr. Campbell by Thur. April 19 or bring money in an envelolpe with your name on the front to the mandatory LAE meeting at 4:30 101 Belk on April 19.

INDT

Everyone is invited to attend the next meeting of the INDT club. The meeting will be held in Flannagan 104 on Thursday, April 12, at 5:00. A large is vital to ensure a spring outing.

Cosmic

A strange and cosmic experience Carol A. Strickland presents her Senior Show for a BA in Communications Arts at the Baptist Student Center April 22-28.

Tired of this Logo?

EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY STUDENT UNION

Enter the STUDENT UNION Logo contest.

WIN $50.00 !

Pick up an application at the Information Desk, Mendenhall.

Deadline: May 11, 1979.

Classifieds

for sale

1976 500cc Kawasaki for sale, excellent condition. Has carryall rack and back rest. 2 new tires. $800. Call 758-0962 after 7 p.m. If you call earlier, leave name and no. with ans. service.

STEREO consultant is here at ECU to help you build the stereo system of your dreams. Bring quality sound to your home or car at low prices, all types of hifi eqpt. available. Michael, 752-2601.

FOR SALE: Electrophonic 4 channel stereo. AM, FM, 8 trk. Garrard SL 75 turntable. Very good condition. $80. 758-8383 or 758-8602, ask for Steve.

GOOD DEAL on 1978 Suzuki GS 400-X, six speed transmission less than 4000 miles. Call 758-8613.

BSR QUANTA 450 turntable, min condition - 5 mos. old, must sell, price negotiable. 758--9686.

FOR SALE: Pioneer SX-650 receiver, perfect condition, $175. Call 752-1524.

FOR SALE: Ampeg B25 Bass Amp. with speaker cabinet. $300 or best offer. Call 756-8587.

for rent

WANTED: 1 or 2 studious females to share house during summer. Rent and util. Call 756-5109 between 6-11 p.m.

TWO ROOMMATES needed to share 4 B.R. house !90 mo. plus 1/4 util. 5 min. from campus. Call 752-1235.

FURNISHED 1 B.R. Apt. at Tar River Estates to rent for summer. Call 758-7368.

ROOMMATE wanted to share 3 B.R. duplex starting in May. Rent $67 mo. plus util. Call 758-1714.

FEMALE HOUSEMATE needed - grad. student or studious undergrad. Available mid-May. Private unfurn. room, $75 mo., 1/3 util & telephone bill, 2 blocks from campus with screened in front porch. Call 758-2840.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for next year. Own room (unfurn.) in house 2 blocks from campus. Rent $50-67 mo. plus util. Call 758-3688 after 5.

NEED 2 females to share large 3 B.R. duplex starting May 1 - rent is $55 mo. plus 1/3 util. Call 758-7532 anytime, ask for Jill.

APT.FOR RENT: 1 B.R., furnished, $135 mo. Avail. May 8. Ideal for 2 people. 752-0112.

TWO BEDROOM fully furn. apt. available for the summer. Rent $210 plus util. Call 758-5338 after 10 p.m.

MALE ROOMMATE needed to share expenses in 2 B.R. apt., Tar River Estates beginning end of August. Call 758-4747 during the day.

MALE roommate needed to share 2 B.R. apt. at Kings Row for the summer. Apt. completely furnished. $210 mo. plus 1/2 util. 758-5338 after 10 p.m.

NEED PLACE to stay, in town, near school, beginning May 1. Call 752-0859 after 5 p.m., ask for Wynn or Tony or call Overton's Supermarket during day and ask for Tony.

FOR RENT: 2 B.R. duplex close to campus. $100 mo. Avail. May 1. Call 752-5170.

2 FEMALE roommates needed to share a 2 B.R. apt. with one other girl for both summer sessions. Call 752-0354.

NEEDED: 2 roommates to share 3 B.R. apt. at Eastbrook, summer and/or fall. $53.75 mo. plus util. 752-0632. Ask for Teresa.

2 ROOMMATES needed to share apt. at River Bluff May-Aug.$50 mo. plus util. Call Beth, 758-9374 or Cindy at 758-9973.

1 B.R. APT. for rent, furnished, 5 blocks from campus. $135 mo. Ideal for 2 people. Available May 8. Call 758-0112.

WANT TO RENT or sublease 1 B.R. apt. or room for summer and/or fall. Call Beverly, 752-0912.

ROOMMATE needed to share mobile home at Shady Knoll Trailer Park, beginning May 1. $75 mo. plus half utilities and phone. Contact Ronnie, 758--3615.

FURNISHED, 1 B.R. apt. available for the summer. Convenient location to campus. $150 per mo. Call 758-0642.

FEMALE HOUSEMATE needed for 1st session summer school - furnished room, 2 blocks from campus - $100 for the entire session plus 1/3 util. & telephone bill. Call 758-2840.

LOOKING for roommate - male, by May 1. Highland Trailer Park. 752-0859, ask for Tony or Wynn, or call Overton's Supermarket and ask for Tony.

TWO FEMALE roommates needed to share an unfurnished room in house 2 blocks from campus. Rent $50/mo. plus 1/4 utilities. Call 758-3688 after 5.

NEEDED: Female roommates for summer. 2 B.R. townhouse apt. at Stratford Arms. Furnished, $95-100 mo. incl. utilities. Call 756--9264.

NEED: A responsible female roommate to share a 2 B.R. apt. at Eastbrook. Rent $63. Call 758-5794 after 4 p.m.

personal

STUDENT needs housing around May 20 and into the fall. Preferably near campus with students or family. Gladly exchange child care or yard work for rent. Write Vicki Marder PO BX 486 Chapel Hill, N 27514.

NEED YOUR PAPER typed? Reasonable rates and excellent quality. Ask for Michele. 756-8328 or 756-1593.

WANT TO BUY: Cash paid for used furniture, appliances, and other misc. items. Will pick up. 752-1445.

NEEDED: 2 experienced bartenders to work full time in Atlantic Beach. Must be 21. Also need two experienced lifeguards; must have WSI. Call Tom at 758-5553.

OUTDOOR wilderness trips Eastern NC, 7-10 days. Canoe, sailing, cycling. Info. write Robin Hulbert, Rt. 5, Box 161, Washington, NC 27889 or call 1--975-2450.

HAMMOCK WEAVERS wanted immediately and thru summer. Apply in person. Hatteras Hammocks, 11th & Clark Sts.

Greek Forum

By RICKI GLIARMIS
Staff Writer

The last Greek Forum will appear in next Tuesday's paper, April 24. This final copy will be a wrap-up of this years events, activities, and achievements, for all fraternities and sororities. Let's try to get 100 percent participation for next week's Greek forum.

Turn in all articles by 12 noon Monday, April 23 in Dean Fulghum's office in Whichard Building. Be sure that you copy is in the Sigma Sigma Sigma Box.

Ammouncements:

The Sigma Phi Epsilon's would like to congratulate their 10 new brothers who were initiated on Thursday, April 12.

On Wednesday, the Sig-Eps inducted 12 new Little Sisters.

This weekend, the Sig-Eps are having their Beach Weekend at Ocean Drive, S.C. they will be staying at the Quality Inn.

The Lambda Chi Alphas have elected officers for the new year. They are Lloyd Whitfield, president; Jim Morgan, vice-president; Rob McGugan, secretary; John Greer, treasurer; Billy Lewis, educator; Dave Merrian, rush chariman; Chris Cheatham, ritualist; Roy Lamb, educational chairman; Joey McNeill, social chairman; Jay Hurst, alumni correspondent; Dave Parrish and Danny Hardee, house managers; Marlowe Powell, athletic chairman; Tim Dodson, IFC representative; and don vickers, Little Sister Advisor.

The Lambds Chis have iniated nine new brothers.

Their beach weekend will be held this weekend.

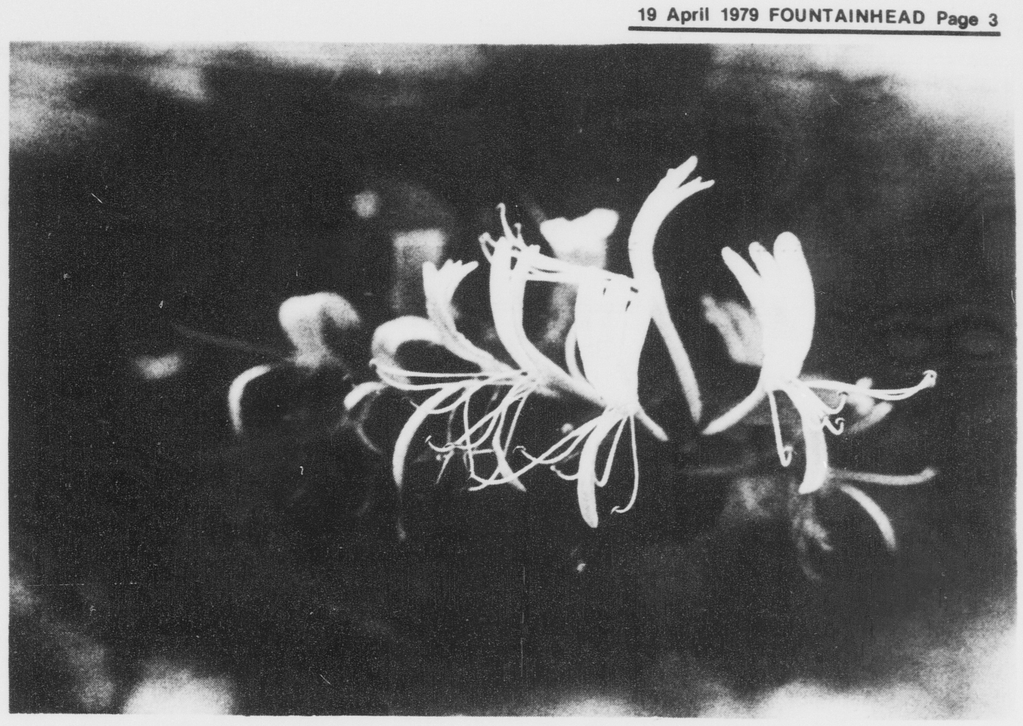
their chapter consultant, Pete Sthueth, will arrive at ECU on Thursday.

The Tri-Sigs held their Founder's Day Dinner last night at the Sigma House. Many alumni attended. They celebrated their 81st national birthday.

The Sigmas are having a social on Monday, April 23 with the Kappa Alphas and Alpha Xi Deltas. Theses groups will be host to the Sigma Nus from UNC-Chapel HIll.

The Delta Zeta Fall Pledge Class will be having a happy hour at the Elbo Room on Thursday, April 19 from 7p.m. until 9 p.m.

the Winter Pledge class would like to thank everyone for their support during their carwash.



SPRINGTIME BREEZES CARRY the scent of honeysuckle up the Hill, where it mingles with the aroma of burning herb.

ECU 'best' for deaf students

By LAURA WEST
Staff Writer

Can you hear this? Deaf people can -- they have to depend on their vision more than a hearing person. It's becoming more common to find interpreters, deaf, and hearing students in the same classes together. They interpreter's job is to convery the professor's lecture to the deaf student and to convey questions from the hearing impaired student to the professor.

Bob Coltrane, an interpreter, has been around sign language all of his life. Since his mother and father are deaf (and have been all of their lives) he knew how to use sign language for "milk" belore he could speak.

In 1976, ECU wa selected as the best university for the deaf because of its programs, facilities, and etc. ECUZ and vocational rehabilitation funds help support the program for the Hearing Impaired Students.

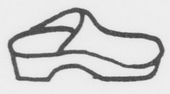
Mike Ernest is the director for the Hearing Impaired Students. he has been a councelor for the deaf in the counties of northeastern N.C for the last 7 yers. He and other members of the program have st set up a Sign Language Club. The president of the club, Eddie Burchette, is deaf. the club consists of 35 to 40 hearing and deaf members and its purpose is to provide practice for sign language student's and hearing student's skills to meet.

The Sign Language Club is planning to go to Gallaudet Colllege in Washington, D.C., the only liberal arts college for deaf. They are also sponsering a Signing Marathon at Spring Festival, April 17, in Mendenhall Student Center.

Some professors feel that interpreters help immensely when a hearing imparied student is in their class. The interpreter uses sign language foreverything that goes on in the class, so the deaf student doesn't miss anything in class. Another student takes notes on carbon paper for the hearing impaired students, so he doesn't miss out on the notes.

ECU is well-prepared for any situation that may arise concerning the hearing impaired. The Sign Language Club wants to encourage as many ECU students to become interested in sign language as they can

THE SHOE GALLERY
A GREAT CLOG SALE



Any Clog for $10.00
with this coupon
ALL NAME BRANDS
Offer good through April 26

ARMY NAVY STORE
1501 S. Evans
B-15, bomber, field, deck, flight, snorkel jackets. Back Packs.

Sherlock's Restaurant
On 5th St. across from the Book Barn
Good Food & Good People
Vegetarian diets respected.
Mon.-Sat. 11a.m.-9p.m.

SAAD'S SHOE REPAIR
113 GRANDE AVE.
at
COLLEGE VIEW CLEANERS

RIGGAN'S SHOE REPAIR AND LEATHER SHOP
New leather pocketbooks, belts, and belt buckles. Shoes repaired to look like new.
11 W. 4th St.
Downtown Greenville

ABORTIONS UP TO 12TH WEEK OF PREGNANCY
$150.00
Free pregnancy test, birth control and problem pregnancy counseling. For further information call 832-0535 (toll-free number 800-221-2568) between 9 A.M.-5 P.M. weekdays.
Raleigh Women's Health Organization
917 West Morgan St.
Raleigh, N.C. 27603

GRAND OPENING
Villa Roma's
NEW LOUNGE
CUSTOMER APPRECIATION
$1.50 Pitcher
All Day April 19, 20, 21
Lucheon Pizza Buffet $2.49
Mon.-Thur.
Late Night Buffet $2.75
Mon.-Thur.
Villa Roma
2713 E. 10th
758-1042

PITT COUNTY SHRINE CLUB
CHICKEN FRY
HELP CRIPPLED CHILDREN
WED. APRIL 25th, 1979
11 A.M. TIL 7 P.M.
— FOUR LOCATIONS —
★DOWNTOWN MALL—Cor. Evans & 6th Sts.
★FARMERS TOBACCO WHSE.—North Greene St.
★RAYNOR, FORBES & CLARK WHSE.—Across from Moose Lodge
★BETHEL, N.C.—Harris Super Market
DONATION 2.50 PER PLATE
TO BENEFIT
CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

EDITORIALS AND OPINIONS

A free press -here

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, or of the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

The preceding few lines, commonly referred to as the First Amendment to the Consitution, should be read and studied carefully by every citizen of this country, because we will lose it unless we stay in the battle.

A lot of people have trouble with the First Amendment--they take up a lot of time defining what freedom of the press is in the "outside world," and what it is on the college campus. There should be no confusion, however, freedom of the press is just as valid on the campuses of this nation as it is in the newsrooms of every so-called commercial newspaper.

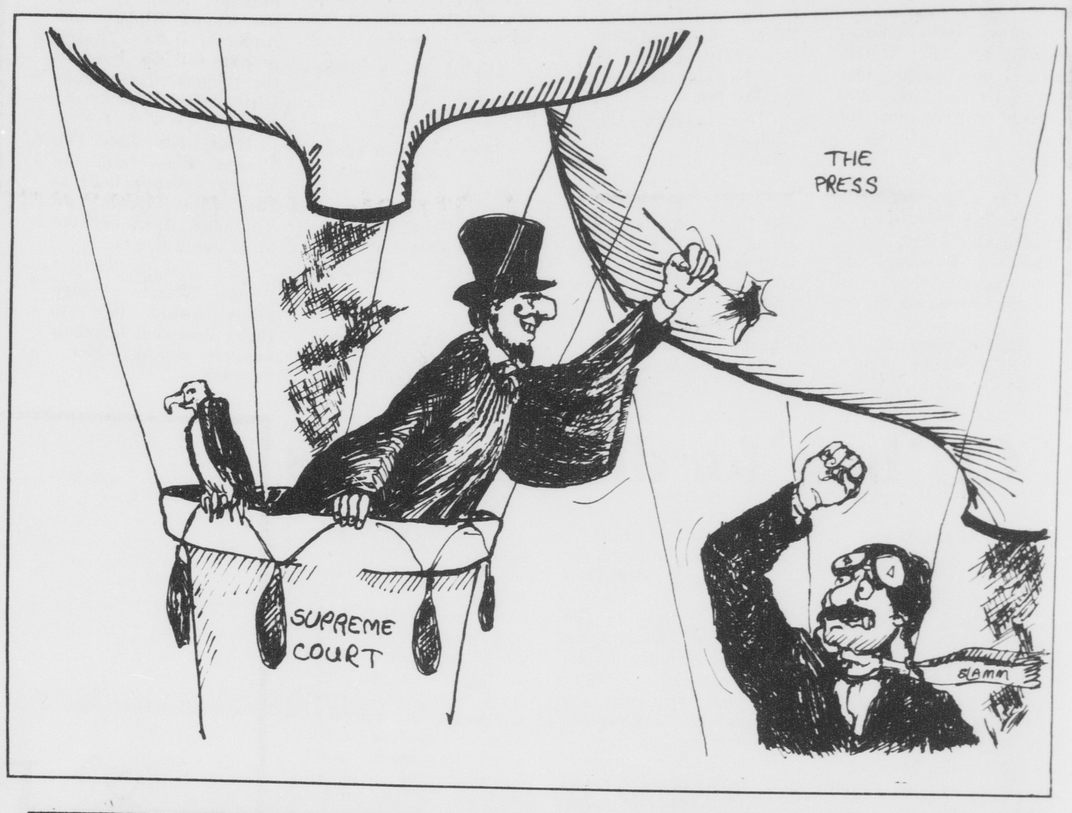
A number of court cases bear this out. In the case of Joyner vs. Whiting, (477 F. 2d 456-4th Cir. 1973) which occurred at North Carolina Central University in Durham, censorship of a constitutionally protected expression (the student press) cannot be imposed by suspending the editors, suppressing circulation, requiring imprimateur of controversial articles, excising repugnant material, withdrawing financial support, or asserting any other form of censorial oversight based on the institutions' power of the purse.

In terms of authority, college officials do have the right to regulate the student press whenever failure to do so would interfere with the requirements of appropriate discipline in the operation of the school; or would disrupt classes and schoolwork; or would involve substantial disorder, violence, or the invasion of the rights of other students, (16 ALR Fed 182, 199.)

Journalists have the right, and indeed the obligation, to fight for the freedom of printing what is, in their opinion, of a newsworthy nature. College editors have the responsibility to guard freedom of the press as jealously as does the publisher of The New York Times and The Washington Post.

College editors, you must understand, are going through a period of training. How, indeed, will they have the will, or the knowledge, to fight for freedom of the press after they get out of college, if they are not well trained in the battle while still on the campus? This can be carried one more logical step--if not for freedom of the press, would the tragedy of Watergate and the horror of My Lai ever be known to the American public?

Journalism is the watchdog of government. It informs you of when your tax dollars (or student fees) are being used for ridiculous purposes, it tells you the story when public officials accept bribes for influence buying, and by doing this, it gives you the information you need when election time rolls around. In a real sense, it keeps democracy rolling along--not always smoothly, mind you, but rolling.



Uppity Women

By CHARLENE CARTER

There is a broad area in direct relationship to the women's liberation movement, which is badly in need of cultivation women's liberation. The primary aim of the women's liberation movement is to expose the sex-related stereotypes which we human beings constantly try to measure ourselves against, and to make way for reality in human relationships. Stereotyped notions that a "real" woman has no other desires than marriage and children, and that a "real" man has to be tough, violent if necessary, and prepared for everything, are ideas that have little basis in reality; yet they plague the psyches of millions of Americans.

It is difficult to write about what men need to do to liberate themselves, for two reasons: 1) the macho-male stereotype is so deeply engrained in American men, that it is a rare occurrence for a man to confess to a woman the need that he feels to be free from rigid standards; 2) because I am a woman, I obviously have no firsthand knowledge of what it feels like to be a man.

I can imagine that it must be very difficult for a man who feels that he has no other options for his whole life than to be a work-horse for his sexual partner and the children they produce.It is no doubt a very isolated feeling when a man realizes that he cannot express his longings for "something more" to his wife, who would no doubt become deeply anzious, and possibly hostile; nor will his self-image allow him to express any possibly "un-manly" thoughts to his male friends, for fear that they might consider him less masculine. ("Unmanly thoughts" can cover a wide range, such as the need for a creative outlet, the need to be closer to one's children, the need to take an extended vacation. How "unmanly" such needs are perceived as, is usually in direct proportion to how rigid a sexual stereotype a man measures himself by.) Psychological counselling is perhaps the most degrading idea to the macho mind, because it would essentially mean admitting that you need help with something - a "real" man handles things on his own, in his own way.

Sadly enough, it seems that the "trapped" man often finds his needs for expansion stifled by his own unwillingness or inability to break out of the stereotyped image he has chosen for himself, and the only means of expression available becomes hostility toward those who have "trapped" him - his wife and children, or in the case of an unmarried man, perhaps women in gerneral, or women he is intimate with.

For a standard as prevalent as that of the "macho man" in American Society, there are surprisingly few benefits, and many drawbacks. It would be difficult to imagine any benefits that could come from holding one's emotions inside, day after day, year after year, until they boil over in hostility and aggression. The prospect of being evaluated as a person in terms of one's achievements, rather than who one really is, seems an equally dismal prospect.

Fountainhead
Serving the East Carolina community for over 50 years

ACTING EDITOR
MARC BARNES

PRODUCTION MANAGER
STEVE BACHNER

ADVERTISING MANAGER
ROBERT M. SWAIM

NEWS EDITORS
Marc Barnes
Luke Whisnant

Assistant Advertising Manager
Terry Herndon

Assistant News Editors
Richy Smith
Karen Wendt
Mike Rogers

Advertising Salesman
Paul Lincke

TRENDS EDITOR
Jeff Rollins

Chief Ad Artist
Jane Wells

Typesetters
Mary Storey
Sue Hufford

Assistant Trends Editors
Barry Clayton
Bill Jones

Proofreaders
Deidre Delahunty
Sue Johnson
Cindy Caveness

SPORTS EDITOR
Sam Rogers

Assistant Sports Editor
Charles Chandler

Cartoonists
Sue Lamm
Barry Clayton

FOUNTAINHEAD is the student newspaper of East Carolina University sponsored by the Media Board of ECU and is distributed each Tuesday and Thursday during the academic year (weekly during the summer).
Editorial opinions are those of the Editorial Board and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the university or the Media Board.
Offices are located on the second floor of the Publications Center (Old South Building). Our mailing address is: Old South Building, ECU, Greenville, N.C. 27834.
The phone numbers are: 757-6366, 6367, 6309. Subscriptions are $10 annually, alumni $6 annually.

American Journal

Train loss lamented

By DAVID ARMSTRONG

HARRISBURG* PA.-- Once there were dozens of passengers trains rolling through this city on daily runs to New York, Washington, Chicago and points west. Today, there are only six, and one of those, the Amtrak express to Philadelphia, is late. No one in the sparsely-attended station seems surprised by this.

The Harrisburg railroad depot is 92 years old. Not long ago, there were quality meals, barber shops and the like here for the convenience of travelers, but they are gone now. So are many of the polished hardwood benches installed in the heyday of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Pennsy's huge stone fireplaces still stand at opposite ends of the waiting room, but today there are no fires to chase the chill from winter riders.

Like many American communities, Harrisburg badly needs improved rail passenger facilities. But, like most it will not get them any time soon. More likely, there will be a tourist complex of shops and restaurants in the renovated shell of the old building. Or perhaps a new parking lot in its place. And no trains.

Instead of upgrading America's shabby railroads, Secretary of Transportation Brock Adams has proposed that 12,000 miles--43 percent--be slashed from the Amtrak system, while fares are raised by six to 10 percent. If Adams' plan is implemented, it will go a long way toward railroading Amtrak, the national rail passenger corporation formed in 1971, into oblivion.

That would be a pity, because there is more to railroads than whistle-blowing nostalgia. Trains, as the many foreign countries that seriously support them know, can be clean, comfortable, fast and energy-efficient. But they must also be subsidized. Nowhere in the world do privately or publicly operated passenger trains turn a profit, as Amtrak is required to do by law.

According to the federal Department of Transportation (DOT) Amtrak has lost more than $3 billion since 1971. Its current annual deficit is some $500 million. Adams aims to save $1.4 billion over the next five years by means of the proposed cutbacks.

If the recent past is any indication, however, cutbacks--like earlier austerity moves that eliminated popular runs, ended redcap service, downgraded food quality, allowed aging track to deteriorate dangerously and sacked once-grand depots like Harrisburg's--will only result in declining patronage--which means still greater subsidies--which will spark further cutbacks, ad infinitum, until passenger trains go the way of the passenger pigeon.

Moreover, Adams' proposals seem to fly in the face of the DOT's own studies. According to the newsletter of the National Association of Railroad Passengers, a rail consumer advocate group, DOT reports show that:

* "The biggest (rail) network would have the lowest deficit per passenger mile."

* "Rail, the only energy-efficient mode capable of attracting people out of their automobiles, could reduce the need of the United States to import oil."

* "An improved and coordinated rail bus urban transit network, by reducing reliance on the unsafe automobile, would cut down on highway accidents."

* "Track rehabilitation for both freight and passenger trains would lead to reduced highway maintenance costs."

When trains are running well, people like to ride the rails. A Louis Harris poll last year found thjat 60 percent of Americans favor improved, quality rail service.

Rebuilding the nation's railroads would cost money, to be sure. But then, we already pay billions in direct and indirect subsidies to airports and an interstate highway system that has cost nearly 10 times its original estimated pricetag. And it isn't even finished. A fraction of the $8.6 billion budgeted for superhighways next year could transform Amtrak from a national Toonerville Trolley into a respectable railroad.

The alternative to rehabilitation is more decaying rail centers like Harrisburg, where a traveler moves past rest rooms with blocked drains, down ancient iron stairwells coated with pigeon droppings, to an express train that is an hour and a half overdue.

Forum

Trustees 'heartless'

To Fountainhead:

A few weeks ago, the ECU Board of Trustees voted heartlessly to raise the parking fees for next year to 150 percent, from $10.00 to $25.00 for a parking sticker, that's $10.00 more than you pay for license plates. Still, you are not guaranteed a parking space, because there are three times the number of registered vehicles as there are parking spaces. It is designed that way so that the towing companies can get a piece of the pie, too.

If that makes you feel uncomfortable, that's too bad, because you need an additional $48.00 for your dorm rent. The reason for this being that the Board decided those roaches in your dorm share high inflation costs.

I'm sure by now you must be wondering how the money is going to be spent, right? Well listen to the good news! $36,000 of your hard earned money or those loans you and your parents signed for your tuition will be abused "to analize the campus parking situation."

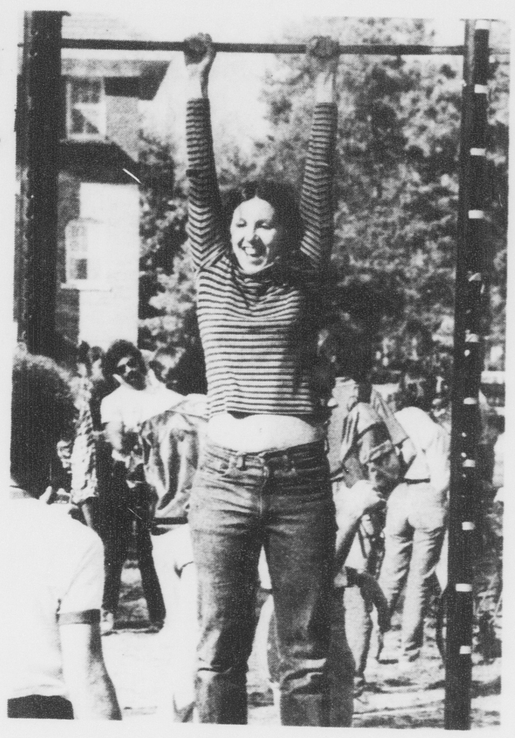
Come on you all. As a student you have the right to let your voice be heard in this matter, that affects us all.

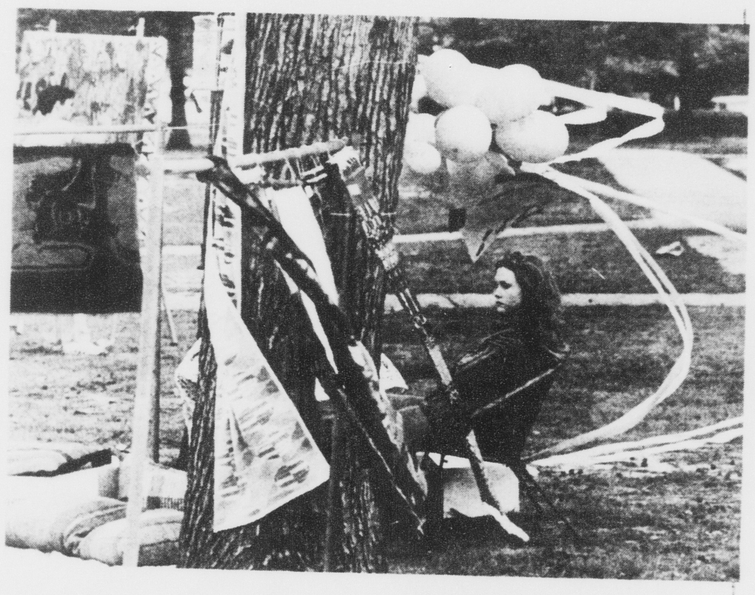
Should you decide, due to the epidemic disease in this campus (Apathy) to let sleeping dogs lie, well good night; but don't be surprised that within the next two years you will be paying $63.00 for parking stickers and who knows, perhaps $200,000 will be spent to study the sex habits of the roaches in your dorm while you lay there and suffer peacefully.

Andy Adiele, Jr.

Barefoot on the Mall

Barefoot on the Mall , presented by the ECU Student Union all Tuesday afternoon, featured Toad the Mime, Playfair, the Green Grass Cloggers, Marcella Ruble Rook, and the School of Music Jazz Ensemble. "A splended time was had by all."





Photographs by Chap Gurley

Student Union : Major Attractions Ballot

Which type of music do you like to have in concert?

☐ Hard Rock ☐ Country Rock ☐ Easy Rock
☐ Soul ☐ Jazz ☐ Country

Which artist best represents your taste in music?

☐ Ted Nugent ☐ Natalie Cole ☐ Charlie Daniels
☐ Billy Joel ☐ Willie Nelson ☐ George Benson

What day do you prefer to see a concert?

☐ Sunday ☐ Monday ☐ Tuesday ☐ Wednesday
☐ Thursday ☐ Friday ☐ Saturday

CANCER

It's no secret to some people,
but the government isn't telling us
that building nuclear weapons
is hazardous to our health.

Residents of Utah and Nevada
living downwind of A-bomb test sites are getting cancer.

People living near the Rocky Flats weapons plant in Colorado are getting higher rates of cancer.

Workers at the Hanford, Washington
Nuclear Reservation have increased levels of cancer.

The more bombs we build,
the more radiation exposure
and chance of increased cancer rates.

Support a moratorium on nuclear weapons.

FELLOWSHIP OF RECONCILIATION
Box 271, Nyack, New York 10960

Plaza cinema 1-2-3 756-0088
PITT-PLAZA SHOPPING CENTER

STARTS FRIDAY!

THE SILENT PARTNER ...ANYTHING BUT SILENT! ...THE SCREAMS YOU HEAR WILL BE YOUR OWN!

"One night when you come home,
you'll find me inside waiting...
and that will be the night
you'll wish you'd never been born..."

THE SILENT PARTNER
ELLIOTT GOULD
CHRISTOPHER PLUMMER
SUSANNAH YORK

...begins with a crime of sheer genius
and builds to a climax of sheer terror!

R IMPORTANT DON'T MISS THE FIRST 5 MINUTES!
PLEASE SEE IT FROM THE BEGINNING!

Shows 3:00-5:00-7:00- 9:00

THE STROH BREWERY COMPANY, DETROIT, MICHIGAN © 1978

"I don't know much about art, but I do know what I like!"

Stroh's
For the real beer lover.

Four ECU students receive tuition scholarships and academic awards

ECU News Bureau

Three outstanding senior students in the School of Business, East Carolina University, have been awarded 1979 tuition scholarships in recognition of academic achievement and leadership qualities.

The three are Steve Giorgi, a Business Administration major, from Wayne, Pa., winner of the Max R. Joyner Alumni scholarship, and Barbara H. Everton of Plymouth, N.C., and William G. Garner of Greenville, Account-ing majors, winners of the annual E.A. Thomas, Jr., accounting scholarships.

Awards were presented to the winners in ceremonies this week and congratulations were offered by the department chairmen, advisers and the dean of the School of Business, Dr. James H. Bearden, as well as the ECU Scholarships, Fellowships and Financial Aid Committee.

Giorgi, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Giorgi (172 Sullivan Rd) in Wayne, Pa., is a surfing enthusiast who works each weekend at an ocean front restaurant at Nags Head. Garner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie H. Garner of Greenville and is active in fraternal and community programs. Mrs. Everton is the wife of Ray I. Everton, Jr., and daughter of Mrs. Margaret D. Hawkins of Plymouth. She plans a career as a Certified Public Accountant.

Garner and Mrs. Everton are members of Phi Kappa Phi, honor society in business.

Cynthia Elizabeth Averette, an East Carolina University student from Oxford, is the 1978-79 recipient of the first Nell A. Stallings Award for Academic Excellence in the Department of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Safety.

The award of $200 and a plaque was established this year by the ECU Physical Education Faculty in honor of Stallings, a retired ECU professor of Physical Education. Professor Stallings retired in May, 1978, after 42 years of teaching, 36 of which were at ECU.

In qualifying for the award, Miss Averette Attained a 3.876 overall grade point average through the Fall Semester and received Deans List and Honor Roll recognition.

Her other achievements include being selected as Most Outstanding Woman in Physical Education in 1977-78 and memberships in Phi Eta Sigma, Gamma Beta Phi and Phi Kappa Phi Honor Societies. She was also the recipient of the June P. Galloway Scholarship Award from the N.C. Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley M. Averette of Oxford, Miss Averette is active in extra curricula dance and gymnastics programs at ECU and has been involved in summer recreational activities in her hometown.

FOUR ECU STUDENTS recently received scholarships or awards from their departments. Pictured above, they are Steve Giorgi, business administration major and recipiant of the Max R. Joyner Alumni scholarship [top left]; Cynthia Averette, first Nell A. Stallings Award for academic excellence, [top right]; William Garner, accounting major, accepting the E.A. Thomas accounting scholarship [bottom left]; Barbara Everton, accounting major, also awarded the Thomas scholarship [bottom right].

Positions open!

Editors: Buc, Fhead, Ebony Herald, Rebel; Head, Photo Lab; Manager WECU.

Contact Student Affairs office.

"I want a birth control method that's as spontaneous as I am."

"I refuse to use the kind of protection that always has me wearing something internally. Or following some strict schedule. Being spontaneous is too important to me.

"Conceptrol Cream is just great for women who feel the way I do. It's one of the most effective birth-control methods you can use without a doctor's prescription. And it comes in a disposable applicator–like a tampon–that's premeasured to provide the exact amount of cream you need. It's easy to keep handy, too. The applicator's small enough to fit into even a tiny evening bag.

"And Conceptrol acts right away. So there's no waiting. Nothing to spoil the mood.

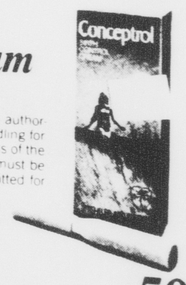
"You can tell that where Conceptrol's concerned, I've done my homework. But, after all, if you're going to be spontaneous, you have to give your birth-control method plenty of thought."

Ortho Conceptrol* Birth Control Cream
You only use it when you want to

50¢ Take this to your store now. 50¢

Save 50¢ On Conceptrol Birth Control Cream*
(6- or 10-pack size)

To our dealer: As a legitimate retail distributor of the brand size indicated, you are authorized to redeem this coupon as our agent. We will pay the face value plus $.05 handling for each coupon redeemed only if you and the consumer have complied with the terms of the offer. Invoices showing purchase of sufficient stock to cover coupons presented must be shown on request and failure to do so may, at our option, void all coupons submitted for redemption on this offer. This coupon is nonassignable and is void if presented by outside agents. Sales tax is to be paid by the consumer. Coupon is void if taxed, prohibited, or legally restricted. Cash value 1/20 of one cent. Mail coupon to Consumer Products Div., Ortho Pharmaceutical Corporation, P.O. Box 1369, Clinton, Iowa 52734. Coupon expires 9/30/79. Good only in the U.S.A.



50¢ Store Coupon CASS-41679-CCC 50¢

*Trademark © 1979 Ortho Pharmaceutical Corporation

Remember, no method of birth control of any kind can absolutely guarantee against pregnancy. For maximum protection, Conceptrol Cream must be used according to directions.

OSHKOSH B'GOSH creates a great overall impression on campus and on the go with Cone all-cotton Indigo denim. It's the fabric that just keeps getting more comfortable. His and her bibbed overalls with loads of pockets, waist sizes 24 to 36; 31, 33, 35 inseam. At your favorite campus store. Cone denim

Cone makes fabrics people live in.

CONE MILLS 1440 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10018

The Warriors is pulsating, driving'

By WILLIAM JONES
Asst. Trends Ed.

About a month ago, a film called The Warriors played here in Greenville. The film told the story of a "big city" gane "caught behind enemy lines" and their subsequent attempt to escape to their own turf.

Since it's release, The Warriors has been a smoking financial success, having grossed over thirty million dollars. But, the film has earned itself another, more dubious reputation as it plays across the country, a distinction etched in blood.

It seems The Warriors portrays the volatile gang life with such gusto as to incite the more radical members of the audiance to acts of violence. Three murders and numerous fights have occurred at theatres where the movie was playing.

The soundtrack of The Warriors has been made into an album entitled, appropriately enough, The Warriors. Like all sound tracks, The Warriors is designed to be heard with specific visual stimuli. And like most sound tracks, The Warriors loses a great deal of intensity and listenability when heard without the film. Still, the sound track does contain a few cuts worth hearing more than once. It even has Chevy Chase doing some background vocals on one song.

The Warriors' music is scored by Barry DeVorzon, who has successfully done the music for other films, such as Hard Times. It features cuts by currently popular groups such as "Mandrill" and "Desmond Child and Rouge." Plus a collaboration between DeVorzon and Joe Walsh.

Side one starts off with the "Theme From The Warriors." DeVorzon wrote, produced, arranged, and performs this song. It consists of nothing more than a hypnotizing, pulsating, driving beat, in syncopation with the rhythm of the jungle. It is survival in sound, audible life and death. The theme sums up the story of The Warriors.

The "Theme From The Warriors" is contrasted by the song which follows it, "Nowhere to Run." "Nowhere to Run" is a slick, unconvincing and downright boring number. Compared to "Theme. . .," it is as bland as unspiced Cream of Wheat.

The third cut on the album, "In Havana," is characterized by a funky, quazi-Latin rhythm. Rhythm arranger Neftali Santiago has teamed with Kenny Vance and Ishmael Miranda to Produce a light, enjoyable, well-put-together number. No doubt, the song's funky quality was in no way diminished by the background vocals and antics of Chevy Chase.

"Echoes In My Mind," the last song on side one is performed by Mandrill."Echoes. . ." is one of the better songs of the album. It is mellow and easily listenable. It's background vocals and harmonies are more complex and tightly done than any other song.

Side two of The Warriors contains only one song worth mentioning, Joe Walsh's "In the City." "In The City" is the only cut on the album containing any lyrics worth their salt. Walsh clearly relates the mind-bending pressures which the 'big city' is able to exert upon the individual.

All in all, The Warriors' sound track seems to have met the fate of so many other albumized film scores. It contains a few interesting cuts, but is hardly worth putting out cash for.

Two of The Warriors off the jacket of the movie sound-track

Holloway appears

Organist Clyde Holloway

ECU's Friends of the Library will be sponsoring an organ recital by Clyde Holloway on Tuesday, April 24, at 8:00 p.m., in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

The public is invited.

A native of Texas, Clyde Holloway began his organ study with Ruth Turner Caldwell; further early study was with Virginia Denyer Reese. He attended the University of Oklahoma as a student of Mildred Andrews and received the Bachelor and Master of Music degrees there.

In 1959, Holloway was granted a Fulbright Scholarship for work at the Amsterdam Conservatory in the Netherlands where he studied organ, harpsichord and chamber music with Gustav Leonhardt. Later he studied organ with Robert Baker as a doctoral candidate at Union Theological Seminary and served as assistant organist at St. Bartholomew's Church in New York City.

Clyde Holloway won many honors as a student, among them the National Playing Competition of the American Guild of Organists in 1964. The University of Oklahoma honored him in 1972 as an outstanding alumnus by electing him to Phi Beta Kappa for his professional achievements.

In 1974 he received the Doctor of Sacred Music degree from Union Theological Seminary. The subject of his dissertation was The Organ Works of Olivier Messiaen and Their Importance in His Total Oeuvre. During this lengthy study he worked with Messiaen on several occasions, examined his works at the organ of the Church of the Trinity in Paris, and performed under the composer's supervision.

Dr. Holloway has received high acclaim for his concerts throughout the United States. He has performed for the National Conventions of the American Guild of Organists in 1964, 1968, 1972 and 1978, the National Midwinter Conclave in 1968, and for numerous Regional Conventions.

He also has appeared in concerts in the Auditorio Nacional in Mexico City, at the invitation of cultural ministries of the Mexican government, in the West Indies, and in Europe. In addition to these engagements, he maintains an active schedule of workshops and master classes.

Dr. Holloway is Professor of Music, Chairman of the Keyboard Department, and Coordinator of Advanced Studies at The Shepherd School of Music, Rice University, and Professor of Music and Artist-in-Residence at Houston Baptist University. He also serves as organist of Christ Church Cathedral, Houston. Formerly, he was Professor of Music at Indiana University where he had been a member of the faculty since 1965.

Press

Washington--"Clyde Holloway revealed himself to be that rare type of artist who can play the widely different music and have each performance contain an authentic sound and style of its own. He eclipses the current crop of young virtuosos . . . penetrating musicianship." Evening Star

Chicago--"Playing the romantic music of Liszt and Reger perhaps better than almost any other of his generation, his performance of various styles was musicianly, clear-defined, free and rhythmically convincing." The Diapason

Houston--"In the season's lineup of organ recitals, Clyde Holloway's program . . . was a special event. Holloway, faculty organist at Indiana University, made it amply evident that he is a superb performer, combining impressive technique with a sensitive musical imagination to produce interpretations that are articulate, colorful and often majestic. Holloway's marvelous musical insights were equally apparent in several musical styles." The Houston Post

Miami--"To some

[See Holloway, p. 8]

School of Music slates busy schedule this month

Pianist Donna Lyn Roman of Utica, N.Y. and saxophonist John Lingo of Georgetown, Del. are scheduled to perform in recital here. both are advanced students in the East Carolina University Schol of Music.

Ms. Roman, a student of Henry Doskey of the ECU keyboard faculty, will perform Friday, April 13 at 8:15 p.m.

Her program will feature the Beethoven Andante in F, Liszt's "Mephisto Waltz", No. 1, Shcubert's Sonata in A Major, Opus post. 120 and the Aaron Copland Piano Variations.

She is a junior and a candidate for Bachelor of Music degrees in performance, pedagogy and music therapy.

John Lingo, a senior candidate for Bachelor of Music degrees in music and therapy and education, will perform in recital April 17 at 9 p.m.

Included in his program are alec Wilder saxophone sonata and a Lex Van Delden sonatina. He will be accompanied by pianist Diane Kolwyck.

Lingo is a student of James Forger and the son of J. Floyd and Nancy B. Lingo of Route 5, Georgetown, Del.

Both recitals will be held in the A.J. Fletcher Recital Hall and are free and open to the public.

Three advanced students in the East Carolina University School of Music performed in recent campus recitals. they are senior James Edwin Gilliam of Wagram, saxophonist (April 10), graduate student Victoria Iannotta of Pittsburgh, Pa., flutist (April 11) and junior Amy Elizabeth Moore of Charlotte, clarinetist (April 11).

Gilliam, a student of James Forger of the ECU music faculty, presented a program featuring a Londeix transcription of the J.S. Bach Suite No. 1, Bernard Heiden's saxophone sonata and several light selections assisted by "Shabazz," a student band.

Gilliam

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Gilliam of Wagram and a candidate for the Bachelor of Music Education degree.

Iannotta

Ms. Iannotta's recital included the J.S. Bach Sonata in E flat Major, Schubert's "Introduction and Variations," three Robert Schumann "Romances" and Jolivet's "Chant de Linos."

Her accompanist was pianist Arlene Schrut, a doctoral student at the University of Southern California-Los Angeles.

A candidate for the Master of Music degree in flute performance, Ms. Iannotta is a student of Beatrice Chauncy of the ECU music faculty and the daughter of Victor and Flora Iannotta of 417 Old Fram Road, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Moore

Amy Moore, a student of Herbert Carter of the ECU music faculty performed Milhaud's "Duo Concertant," the Mozart Trio in F flat, K. 498, and Szalowski's Sonatina.

She was accompanied by pianist Robin Porter and assisted by violist Fairya Mellado in the Mozart Trio.

She is a candidate for [illegible] of Music degrees in clarinet performance and music education, and a resident of 8903 Larchmont Circle, Charlotte.

Holloway

Organist gets publicity

[continued from p. 7]

listeners, a concert of organ music may seem like an invitation to aural fatigue. Clyde Holloway's Tuesday evening recital quickly dispelled this notion. A well-chosen and well-played program can be varied enough to hold the interest of the audience throughout, and this is just what he offered." The Miami Herald

Hartford--"Having already done a full week's lecturing, on Friday evening Holloway played the Meditations sur le Mystere de la Sainte Trinite, proving himself to be the ideal model of the scholar-performer. I cannot imagine a better performance." The Diapason

Rochester--"(Rochester Bach Festival) A SUBILANT BACH--Holloway has a nice sense of balance, a sensitive touch in the filigree of the organ, and an obvious desire to make Bach rather than himself the center of interest. The audience gave him a resounding ovation." Democrat and Chronicle

Toronto--"The next time someone asks me 'Who is really good among the organists in the U.S.A.?' I will answer 'Clyde Holloway.' The recital of March 12th was played from memory with full technical control, good registration and a fine musical sense." The Toronto Centre Bulletin

Appearances with Orchestra

Louisville--"(Regional Convention, American Guild of Organists)--The combination of beautiful organ playing with the lush big orchestra provided us with an unforgettable performance. Holloway and Penn presented the piece (Jongen Symphonie Concertante) beautifully with great depth of feeling, and brought the audience ot its feet with many shouts of appreciation. It was truly an electrifying experience!" Music

Phoenix Symphony Orchestra--". . . played with exciting and lyrical contrast in an extremely artistic and confident fashion. There is no doubt that the young organ virtuoso is among the front ranks of his art." The Phoenix Gazette

"Mr. Holloway's phenomenal technique carries him in good style through these three large pieces, and his choice of registration and his phraseology bring off the musical task in good style." The Diapason

"Mr. Holloway will convince you that American Organs and Organists are unsurpassed." Music

The great "RETURNS:"

The swallows from Capistrano returned!

Gen. MacArthur returned!

The Fifties returned!

The Sixties will return!

And now Inspector Clouseau returns

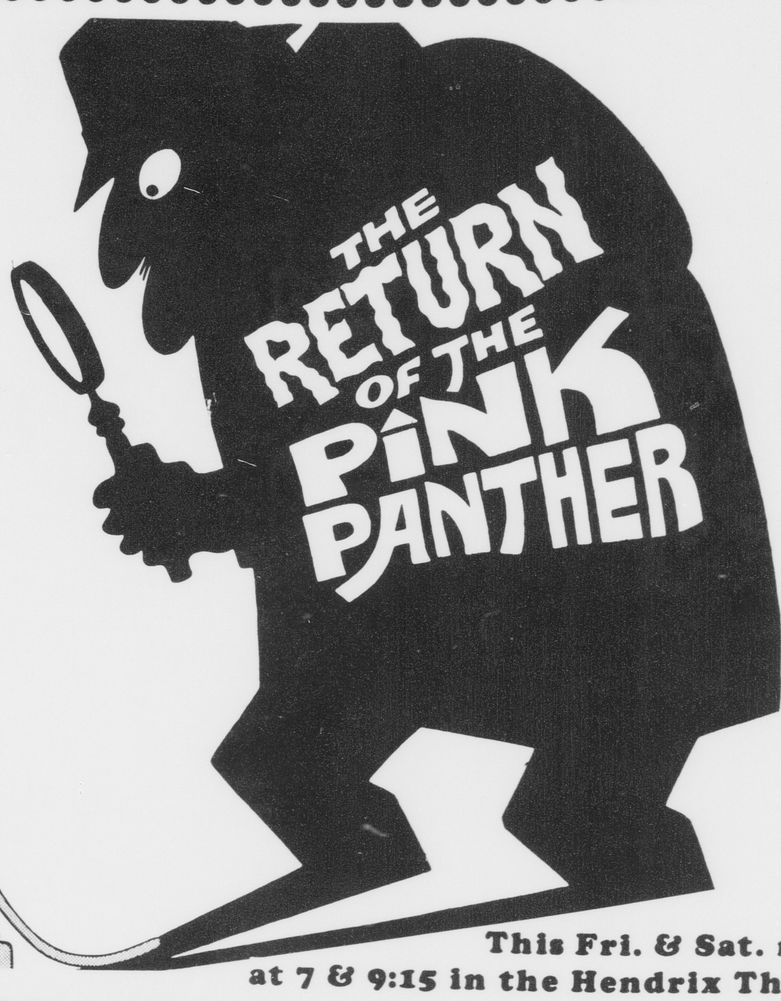
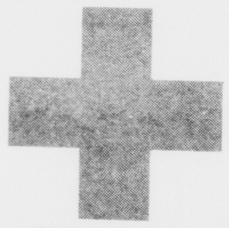
...in the greatest return of them all-



This Fri. & Sat. night at 7 & 9:15 in the Hendrix Theatre

Call Red Cross now for a blood donor appointment.



If it's sick to love a pen, then the world's going crazy.

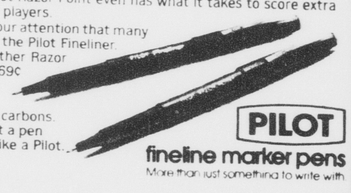
It happened to secretaries first. Then lawyers, bookkeepers, waitresses, cabbies, housewives, and businessmen succumbed to the beauty of our Pilot Razor Point and Fineliner pens.

Some people felt it was sick to get so emotionally involved with our pens. But is it really so crazy to love a Pilot Razor Point pen that writes with a sharp smooth line and costs a mere 79¢? Is it nuts to flip over its unique little metal collar that smartly helps to keep its point from going squish?

If it is crazy, it's going to surprise a whole lot of people. In fact, we understand that Pilot Razor Point even has what it takes to score extra points with football players.

It also comes to our attention that many coaches are fans of the Pilot Fineliner. Along with all the other Razor Point features, the 69¢ Pilot Fineliner has the strength and drive to go through carbons.

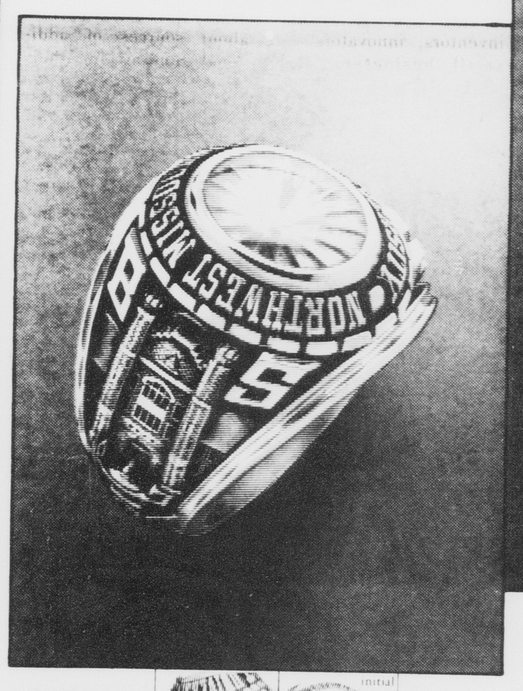
It's hard to resist a pen that holds the line like a Pilot.

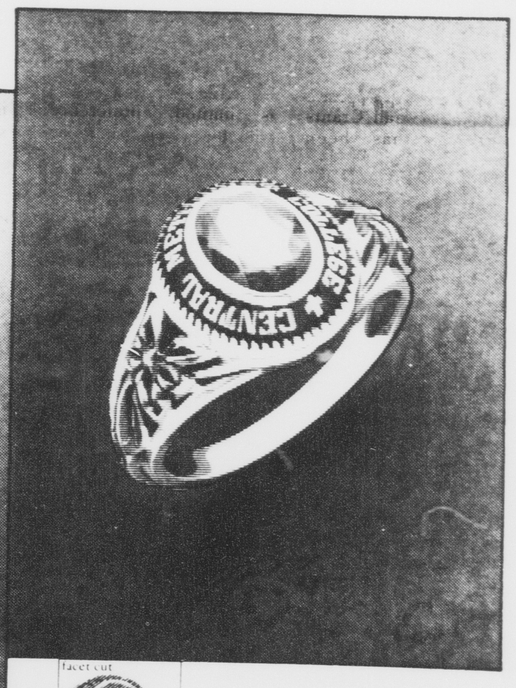


PILOT
fineline marker pens
More than just something to write with.

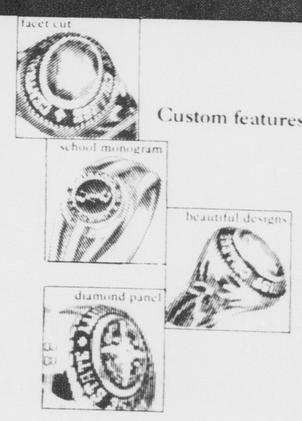
Official ECU Class Rings

sale $59.95 save up to $25*





Custom features for men



Custom features for women

On sale are our men's traditional Siladium® rings and selected women's 10-karat gold rings. These rings are custom-made individually for you. They are an exceptional buy. You get your choice of many custom features. Come see them today.

Large Selection of Gold Rings Available

Date APRIL 23, 24, 25 Place Student Supply Store Lobby

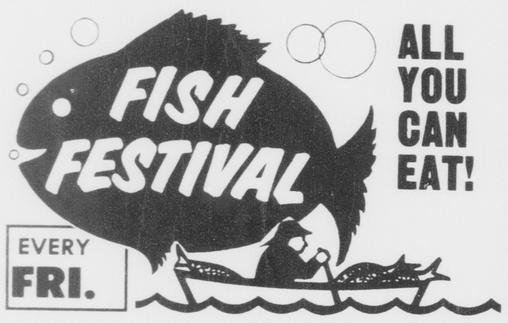
Deposit required. Ask about Master Charge or Visa. *Savings vary slightly from style to style.

ARTCARVED COLLEGE RINGS

3 days only!

STUDENT SUPPLY STORE

Wright Building



ALL YOU CAN EAT!

Flounder Dinner

All You Can Eat
Includes French Fries, Salad Bar, Tartar Sauces & Hush Puppies.
FRIDAY'S SPECIAL! $3.29

SHONEY'S

Located beside the Ramada Inn, 264 By-pass.

Western Steer Family STEAKHOUSE

"Flying Saucer" Special

no. 14 Steerburger and Fries or Baked Potato, Served on a Flying Saucer, You Can Keep!

Sun.-Thurs. 11:00a.m.-10:p.m.
Fri. and Sat. 11:00a.m.-11:00p.m.

$1.99

Banquet Facilities
33 Item Salad Bar

Ponti threatened with seisure

By EDWARD MAGRI

ROME AP - Sophia Loren's husband, film producer Carlo Ponti, is threatened with seizure of $24 million of his Italian property for transferring $11 million out of the country illegally.

Ponti, 66, was convicted in absentia Tuesday by a Rome court, fined $24 million and ordered to serve a two-year prison term. The court acquitted Miss Loren of charges that she was an accomplice in the currency violations and tried to smuggle $3.5 million worth of art works abroad.

A warrant for Ponti's arrest remained in effect, but there was no expectation that he would ever go to prison. He and his 44-year-old wife have become French citizens, and France does not extradite its citizens. But the government earlier placed a lien against his property in Italy, which is reported to be worth more than $40 million.

Also pending against Ponti in his native land is a fraud charge filed Jan. 12 alleging that he illegally obtained $1.1 million in government subsidies for film productions.

The Rome court also acquitted actors Richard Harris and Kenneth Ross and actress Ava Gardner of violating currency regulations by getting paid abroad for work in Ponti films made in Italy. Miss Loren's secretary, Ines Bruscia, was acquitted of trying to smuggle some of Ponti's financial records out of the country.

Two other defendants in the trial were found guilty. Robert Van Dahalen, a film agent, was sentenced to eight months in jail and fined $620,000 and Luigi Baldini, a bank official, was sentenced to 10 months in jail and fined $1.1 million.

They will not serve the jail terms under an amnesty provision that also cut Ponti's term from four years.

The currency investigation surfaced in March, 1977, when customs agents found several Italian Renaissance paintings in Miss Loren's luggage after she was prevented from boarding an airliner bound for France.

The couple moved to France more than 20 years ago and gave up their Italian citizenships after Ponti's Mexican divorce from his first wife was not recognized in Italy. They were married in 1957. Four years later Miss Loren won an Oscar for her performance in "Two Women."

Seniors of the Interior Design Dept. host open house next week

By WILLIAM JONES
Asst. Trends Ed.

The Seniors of the Interior Design Dept. at ECU are at it again! As they have for the past five years, they are transforming the house at 504 East Ninth Street (right behind the library) into a marvelous manifestation of architectural imagination.

In past years, "the house" has undergone complete refurbishments by each succeeding Senior class. It has evolved from an architect's office, to a restaurant, to a two-bedroom apartment.

This year's theme is the "great room' concept, whose most influencing factor is the idea of, "an interesting space with a contemporary air." This modern design has been developed by emphasis on special lighting. Light fixtures have ben concealed in the floor, and a sky light has been added. Another design nouveau idee' is developed by the fixed furniture. The furniture seems built in, a part of the house itself.

Because of the several levels of flooring and the fact that this is the most ambitious project yet to be undertaken by the Seniors, this years' experiment has been dubbed "A Step Above." The Seniors have worked all semester building floor platforms, hanging drywall and sewing cushions. With the help of an electrician, they have wired all of the lighting fixtures. Even the porch's facade has been altered. The walls have been angled inward toward the front door, giving the building a 'pushed in' look.

An open house has been scheduled for April 22-29, from 12-8 p.m. The public is most cordially invited to come and enjoy.

The Seniors working on the project include: Alan Carn-Ashboro; Randy Hight-Ashboro; Gaile Keith-Princeton, N.J.; Jamestown Karea Schadt-Jamestown; Leigh Smith-Burlington; Mary Charles Stevens-Greenville; and Beth Worth-Southern Pines.

Pianist Susan Beck presents recital

By JEFF ROLLINS
Trends Editor

Susan Owen Beck from Wilmington, NC, will present her senior recital April 22, 1979, at 3:15 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in Greenville. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Grady Beck of Rt. 3, Box 327 BE, Wilmington, NC. Miss Beck is studying under Dr. Irwin in the field of Music Education.

The program will consist of Bach's Fantasia in G Major and Prelude in b Minor, John Stanley's Trumpet Voluntary, Cesar Franck's Pastorale and Suite Breve Grands, Jeux Cantilene and Dialogue Sur Les Mixtures by Jean Langlaisa. Miss Beck will be assisted by Richard Duncan and on Trumpet Voluntary by John Stanley.

Seminar on energy scheduled for Wednsday April 18, at Rawl

A seminar, "Energy's Appropriate Technology Small Grants Program," has been scheduled for East Carolina University Wednesday, April 18, from 1 to 3 p.m.

The meeting will be held in Rawl Auditorium and is sponsored by the ECU Department of Industrial and Technical Education in cooperation with the N.C. Department of Commerce's Energy Division.

One of a series of seminars in ten North Carolina regions, the event is designed to bring together individuals and organizations who are participating in the state's Appropriate Technology Small Grants Program.

Interested persons are invited to attend, but since seating space is limited, preference will be given to those who have pre-registered.

The state's energy technology small grants program was created in response to increased citizen interest in developing small scale energy-related technologies that are "appropriate" to local needs and skills.

About $1 million in grant funds is available in the southeast, and inventors, innovators, small businesses and local non-profit groups may apply for grants of amounts up to $50,000.

According to Jon Parker, technical assistacnce coordinator with the N.C. Department of Commerce, persons participating in the seminar are able to meet others with similar interests, receive assistance in writing grant proposals and learn about sources of additional funding for their energy-related projects.

Further information about the program is available by telephoning 1-800-662-7131. More details about the ECU seminar are available from seminar coordinator Paul Waldrop at the ECU School of Technology, telephone 757-6744 or 757-6707.

Artist Hettiger exhibits

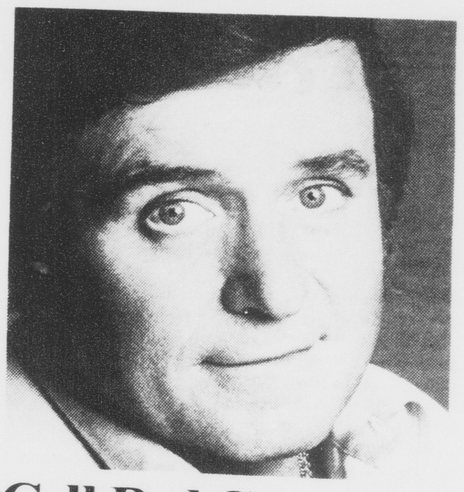
Art work in a variety of media by Julie Hettiger of Moravian Falls, senior student in the East Carolina University of Art, is on display this week (April 9-20) in the Kate Lewis Gallery here.

The show includes examples of her work in graphics, photography, painting, design, and advertising art. The photographs involve graphic techniques, and the paintings are abstract color fields of acrylic stains.

A candidate for the BA degree in communication arts, Ms. Hettiger is pursuing minor concentrations in photography and painting. She is a member of the Design Associates and the Visual Arts Forum Symposium Committee, and is supervisor of the campus crafts center.

Julie Hettiger is the daugher of Mrs. Harry Hettiger of Brushy Mountain Road, Moravian Falls.

Mike Douglas says: "Give a gift from your heart."



Call Red Cross now for a blood donor appointment.

NIKE

APRIL SALE

Specializing in Nike Footwear and Accessories

Phidippides

ATHLETES' FOOT-WEAR & ACCESSORIES

RUNNING — TENNIS — BACKETBALL — RACQUETBALL — SOCCER

Over 100 different styles of footwear.

PITT PLAZA
756-0309

10% OFF all footwear with this coupon good through May 1st

NAVY OFFICER.
YOU GET RESPONSIBILITY THE MOMENT
YOU GET THE STRIPES.

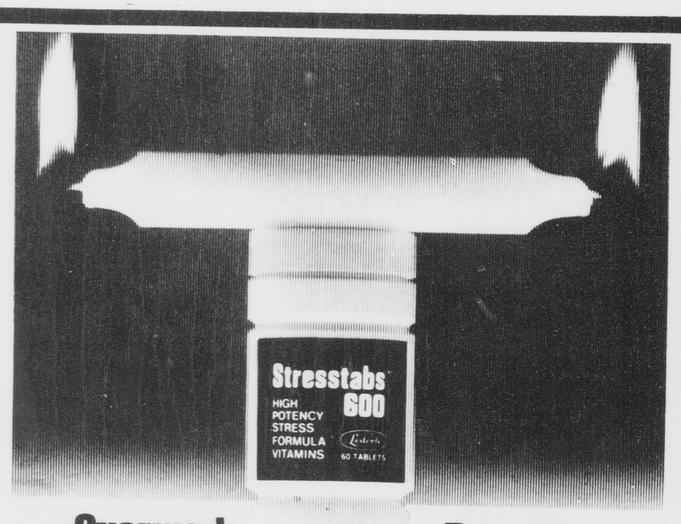
A lot of big corporations offer you a big title. But how many offer a young college graduate a really important job?

As a Navy Officer, you don't have to wait to do a job that counts. We give you one as soon as you've earned your commission. A job with responsibility for the lives of others, and for millions of dollars of complex equipment. A job that requires skill and leadership. A job that Navy Officers have been doing proudly for 200 years.

If that's the kind of job you're looking for, speak to a Navy recruiter. You'll find that Navy Officers have unequalled opportunities in fields like Nuclear Power, Aviation, and Engineering.
Or call toll free 800-841-8000. (In Georgia, toll free 800-342-5855.) Early responsibility. It's what being a Navy Officer is all about.

NAVY OPPORTUNITY INFORMATION CENTER B698
P.O. Box 2000, Pelham Manor, N.Y. 10803
☐ Send me information on Career Opportunities in the Navy (ØG).
☐ Call me at _____ (Area Code)
NAME _____ First (Please Print) Last
ADDRESS _____
CITY _____ STATE _____ ZIP _____
DATE OF: _____ Birth ‡College Graduation
†University _____ •GPA _____
CN 4/9

NAVY OFFICERS GET RESPONSIBILITY FAST.



Overwork Poor Diet
Both ends of the vitamin candle

STRESSTABS 600 contain high potency B-complex and 600 mg. of vitamin C – vitamins the body doesn't store. Plus the U.S. Recommended Dietary Allowance for vitamin E.

Formulated to help satisfy the body's increased need for B-complex and C due to stresstul conditions – defined as overwork, illness, fad dieting, smoking or any condition that places an unusual demand upon your body – at times when your diet may be inadequate.

Also available: STRESSTABS 600 with IRON (contains more B_6 plus folic acid).

Stress can rob you of vitamins!
Come in and ask us why.

Stresstabs with Iron
regular price $5.48

Regular Stresstabs either one for $3.98
regular price $5.34

Hollowell's DRUG STORES Inc

Quality • Competitive Prices • Service

"Serving Greenville For Over 35 Years Everyday Of The Year!"

No. 1
911 Dickinson Ave.
Phone 752-7105
8 a.m.-7:30 p.m.

No. 2
6th St. & Memorial Drive
Phone 758-6186
8 a.m.-10 p.m.

Pirates suffer double defeat to Wolfpack

By CHARLES CHANDLER
Assistant Sports Editor

After watching his team drop its second straight double-header, East Carolina baseball coach Monte Little could only stand in near speechless bewilderment. "I guess we'll see what these guys are made of in the next few games," said Little after the Pirates had dropped a twin bill at home to N.C. State.

"We can either just give up or we can show what kind of guts we've got," Little said.

Little's disappointment in the dual defeat did not deter his confidence in his club, though. "I know we can come back if we just put our minds to it," he noted.

Perhaps the only bright point for the Pirates all evening was Parker Davis' 3-hit pitching in the opening 1-0 loss. "Parker pitched great," Little said. "It's a shame he had to lose with that performance."

The loss was Davis' first of the season after he had compiled five consecutive wins.

Wolfpack pitching was also superb in the opener as Frank Bryant held the Pirates to but two hits.

State's lone run came in the fourth inning when first baseman John Isley doubled to score third sacker Tommy Crocker.

The nightcap, a 3-1 Wolfpack win, was marred by a controversial call that resulted in Little's ejection from the game.

The incident occurred with the Pirates down 1-0 in the sixth inning when, after Mike Sorrell had singled, Pirate second baseman Bob Neff laced a shot down the left field line. Sorre moved to third on the play while Neff became the go-ahead run at first base, or so everyone thought.

Home plate umpire Jo Collenda waited what seemedlike an eternity before calling the ball foul, sending Sorrell back to first and Neff back to the plate.

It was at this point that Little exploded from the Pirate dugout with an argument that seemed legitimate to even Wolfpack coach Sam Espisito. "He (Espisito) told me after the game that his third baseman said the ball was fair," noted Little.

What this incident did to PIrate chances is unknown but, says Little, "If that call had been reversed, I think the game may have come out totally different."

The first Wolfpack run scored in the first inning when Isley laced a two-out double to center to score Ray Tanner.

As in the first game, Wolfpack pitching was superb in the nightcap. Wolfpack starter John Skinner held the Pirates hitless until the fifth inning when ECU first baseman Macon Moye slashed a single to centerfield. Skinner allowed but three more Pirate hits after Moye's single.

The other two Wolfpack runs came on a single by outfielder Ken Sears in the seventh that scored Pat Sheehy and Ray Tanner.

Down 3-0 the Pirates seemed primed to make a run at the Wolfpack in the final inning when Raymie Styons' double scored Butch Davis and made batter Rick Derechaillo, the Pirates leading home run hitter, the potential tying run.

Yet Pirate hopes were ended when Skinner struck Derechaillo out looking and got first baseman Mike Sage on a pop up to left.

The Pirates, now 17-14, face Virginia Commonwealth tonight at 7:30 on Harrington Field.

The Boston Marathon

Holmes competes in grueling race

by JIMMY DuPREE
Staff Writer

The Boston Marathon.

The ultimate test of strength, endurance and intestinal fortitude. For one East Carolina University coed, the test was passed with flying colors.

Anne Holmes, a senior physical education major, traveled to Massachusetts Friday to rest and prepare herself for the grueling 26-mile trek.

Her training for the marathon began last summer, after the Henderson native placed first in the Charlotte Marathon with a time of three hours, eleven minutes. The prize for the victory was a trip to Boston and their prestigious race.

With running being one of the only ways to prepare for the event, Holmes has put in her share: "60-80 miles a week since Christmas," she reports.

In the week prior to the Marathon, conditioning intensifies.

"I tried carbohydrate loading--that's not consuming any carbohydrates for three days, immediately before the race you consume as much carbohydrates as you can.

"I really think that helped because it gives you more energy. There are four hills that started at the 17-mile marker, and that's where a lot of runners start to tire."

With around 8,000 officially registered participants, certain problems arose due to the crowded starting line.

"We were roped off according to our qualifying time," Holmes said. "It was over three minutes from the time the front of the pack started until my group reached the starting line."

'I would think that just about everyone would have finished even if they had to walk.'

Anne Holmes

Holmes stated that the weather in Boston was not quite what she had prepared herself for. "It was a lot colder there than it was here. It was 38 degrees when the race started " she said. "It was sleeting during part of the race. By the time I reached the finish line, my legs felt as if they were frozen."

Holmes' time of 3:13 placed her in the top fifth of the field of 513 women entrants. The winning time of 2:35 established a new American record.

"I tried to make up the time I lost at the starting line in the beginning," Holmes stated. "If I hadn't tried to do that, I think I could have finished faster."

Holmes related several unusual aspects of the annual Marathon.

"At the 12-mile marker, you pass by Wellesley College for women. They all stand out there and cheer for the women runners; not the men, just the women. I guess you could say they're for women's liberation."

About the wheelchair participants in the Marathon, Holmes said, "I thought they were very courageous. They were allowed to start before the runners so we didn't see that many of them."

"I met people from all around the country, and the world," she added. "There was even one guy who ran the race in a Superman outfit.

"I would think that just about everyone would have finished; even if they had to walk they would finish that race.

What does the future hold in store for the woman who twice lettered in track and once in field hockey here at ECU?

"I said after the race that I would never do it (Boston Marathon) again," she confesses, "but I already plan to run again next year. You have to set a high goal for yourself, like the Boston Marathon, to really test your abilities."

Pirates sign two players

New East Carolina basketball coach Dave Odom today announced the signing of two players to grants-in-aid to attend East Carolina next fall.

Michael Gibson, a 6-8 center-forward from Richmond, and Raymond Tyson, a 6-1 guard from Goldston, both inked with the Pirates Tuesday.

Gibson, a valuable member of the Truett McConnell Junior College team under Eddie Payne, helped the Danes into the national junior college tournament. He averaged 16 points and nine rebounds this past winter for the Cleveland, Ga. School.

"Michael gives us added bulk under the boards and brings some extra experience to East Carolina," said Odom. "He's a proven rebounder and a fine team player. He gives us flexibility, being able to move outside and play forward as well."

Tyson averaged 23 points and eight assists last season at Chatham Central High Schol under coach Kelly Craven.

"Raymond is an outstanding ballhandler and passer and should add a lot to our floor game," Odom said. "He's a very unselfish player, even with his high scoring average.

"Both of these young men are good people, people that we want to have at East Carolina. They are concerned about academic progress and athletic achievement as well.

Sports Medicine Conference opens Friday at ECU

by SAM ROGERS
Sports Editor

Over the last nine years, East Carolina Sports Medicine Director Rod Compton has built from scratch one of the finest sports medicine programs in the country.

And one of the most popular facets of the program during that period, the annual Sports Medicine Conference, opens for the ninth straight year Friday at the Allied Health Building on the East Carolina campus.

The two-day clinic offers high school coaches and trainers the opportunity to learn more about the treatment and rehabilitation of athletic injuries. The session opens Friday morning and concludes Saturday afternoon with 125 people expected to attend.

"We started out with just 19 people at our first conference in 1970 and every year after that it has continued to grow and impove," Compton said from his office in Scales Field House Wednesday. "We could take many more people for the conference, but we want to limit the number so that each person attending can get as much individual teaching as possible.

"We'll teach the basic skills of taping and bandaging injuries along with rehabilitation," he continued. "We're more concerned with teaching coaches and trainers exactly how to help injured athletes rather than the philsophical approach."

Compton, now in his ninth year at East Carolina heads the staff of lecturers with his two capable assistance Lix White and Jim Keating who both received their undergraduate training at ECU

Other lecturers who will speak at the conference this weekend include Dr. James Bowman, East Carolina's team physician, athletics trainer John Blake, and Ralph Stephenson, Attorney Laurence Graham, Lionel Kendrick of the ECU Drug Education Department, Dr. William Monroe and Dr. Cameron L. Smith.

East Carolina's student staff will also assist the chief lecturers at the conference.

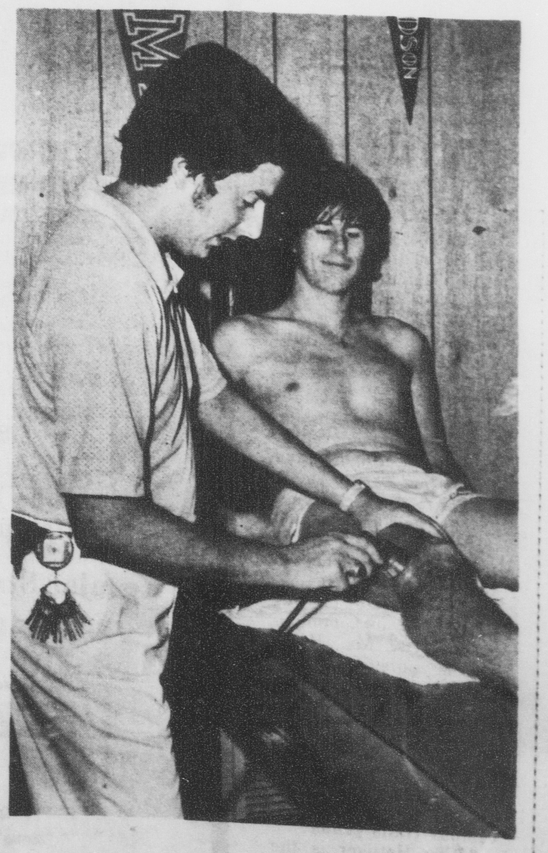
the major topic areas which will be covered in the conference are the treatment and rehabilitation of shoulder injuries, eye injuries and skin problems.

"We've kept our conference to an in-house type of thing rather than go outside and pay gigantic sums to other doctors," Compton noted."We've got an outstanding group of lecturers for the conferences and they do a great job every year. We try to give the people attending the conference as much lab work as possible and all of our instructors have really been helpful."

With an ever increasing of athletic injuries each year both on the high school and collegiate level, sports medicine curriculums are becoming more and more important on college campuses.

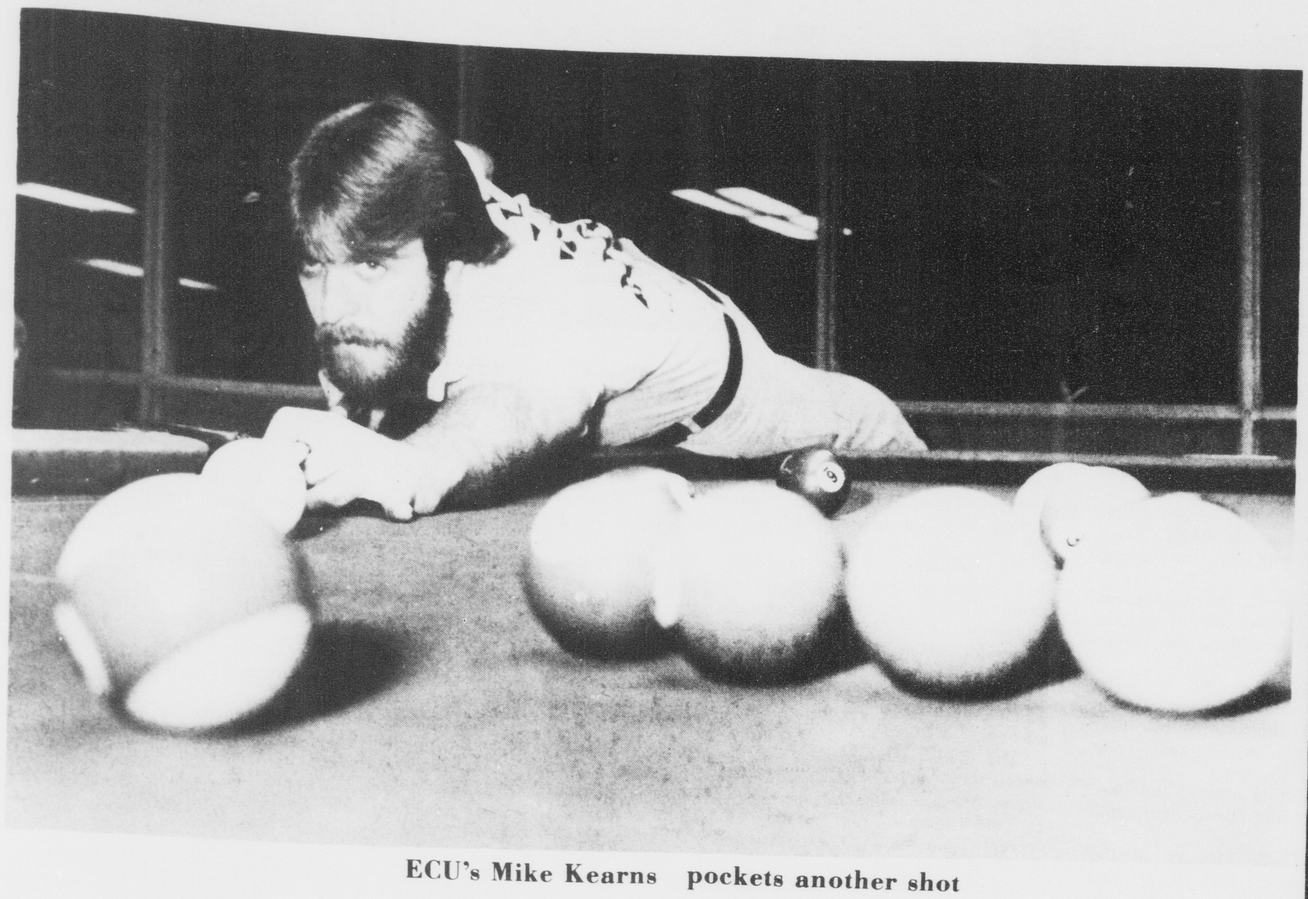
A bill is currently in front of the N.C. Legislature which will require high schools to hire a teacher-trainer for their athletic program. Another bill under consideratin by the house will require all college trainers to be licensed before they can become an athletic trainer.

"With so many injuries and deaths occuring in different sports around the country, it's awfully important to have a knowledgeable staff that can help athletes recuperate from their injuries,"said Compton, who also seves as the editor of the National Athletic Trainers Association Journal, a magazine which deals with athletic injuries. "At East Carolina we're developing a bigger and better program every year and we hope to continue to improve all aspects of the program each year. The Sports Medicine Conference is just another idea which has really benefitted the East Carolina program as well as alll the schools who have attended the conference."



Compton assists ECU athlete

EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY
SPORTS
1979
MEDICINE CONFERENCE



ECU's Mike Kearns pockets another shot

Kearns takes third in tourney

ECU News Bureau

After losing the opening round of the Association of College Unions-International Billiards Tournament held April 5-7 at the University of Michigan, 10th ceded Michael Kearns of East Carolina University compided a dazzling come - from -behind effort to finish third in this national collegiate event.

"The pressure was tremendous," said Kearns , a business administration major who learned to shoot pool back home in Philadelphia.

"I was really proud of myself...that I didn't choke," he said.

Twice in the ensuing five games of the three-day, double elimination contest, Kearns came from behind by as many as 56 balls to defeat his opponents in "straight pool" competition.

In one of those matches, after being down by 48 balls, he roused spectator recognition by making 4 consecutive shots to win.

Two of his other victories were against the first and second ceded players at the tournament which was staged in the Michigan Union Hotel Ballroom.

His two defeats occured once in the first round against Peter Lhotka of the University of North Dakota and later in the semi-finals to Bill Soules of New York State University.

Lhotka went on to win the collegiate crown while Soules a three times winner of the N.Y. Western Billiads classes, took second.

A total of 15 players parrticipated in the men's division. Each player had previously won a regional ACUI tournament and were champs in their respective schools.

Kearns qualified for the tournament by winning the regional (KY. NC SC VA, and Tenn.) championships in Knoxville last month and the ECU campus tournament in November.

Kinston tops ECU 4-2 in exhibition contest

By JIMMY DuPREE
Staff Writer

KINSTON---The ECU Pirates dropped a 4-2 exhibition here Thursday as they ventured into the realm of professional baseball versus the Class A Carolina League Kinston Eagles.

East Carolina quickly fell behind in the first as the Eagle third sacker singled and later scampered home on right-fielder Bob Silverman's RBI double.

Kinston, a Toronto Blue Jay affilitate, plated another run in the third when centerfielder Jessie Bardield beat a throw at the plate following a single be Silverman.

Eagle shortshop Pedro Hernandez scored in the forth and Barfield in the seventh to account for the victory margin.

The Pirate sticks came alive in the fifth inning following a pop out by Max Raynor.

Jerry Carraway reached first for the Bucs as Hernandez was unable to pick off his hot grounder. Second baseman Bob Neff and shortstop Mike Sorrell followed with walks to load the bases with one out.

Carraway raced home as Eagle reliever Jesse Flores' first pitch to Billy Best went in the dirt and to the backstop.

Best toppled a ground ball to the Eagle infield to push Neff home.

The Pirates had the rare opportunity to witness their coaches in action in the exhibition. Head coach Monte Little replaced designated hitter Rich Derechalio and impressed the skeptical audience with a hefty drive to deep right-center field in his first appearance of the contest.

Pitching coach Hal Baird, who once pitched in Class AAA minor league, took his turn on the mound and retired the top of the Eagle lineup in order.

Kinston possesses one of the biggest names in pitching history: Mike Cuellar. Of course, he's not the Mike Cuellar who helped the Baltimore Orioles to three consecutive World Series (including the 1970 World Championship), but that was his father.

Waste-Line
1-800-662-7952
Toll-free in North Carolina
Governor's Office of Citizen Affairs
Capitol, Raleigh, N.C. 27611

FREE ROOM
Part Time Jobs

We are looking for clean cut young men who are responsible and adult. Some of the benefits are free air conditioned room, within walking distance from campus, some part time work available.

See if you qualify for the best deal in town.

Call for appointment:
Don Wilkerson
Wilkerson Funeral Home
752-2101

RICK'S GUITAR SHOP
Downtown Greenville
Next to Newby's
752-2509

ANNOUNCES
GIANT SPRING SALE

- Alvarez Guitars - 40% off
- Garcia Guitars - 1/2 price
- Ibanez Guitars - 40% off
- Amps - 40% off
- GHS strings - 50%off off
- All strings and accessories 40% off
- Books 50% off

LIVE BLUE GRASS MUSIC
FRI· NITE
COME PICK WITH US

Fri. 20 10am-10pm
Sat. 21 10am-6pm

Patronize FOUNTAINHEAD Advertisers

WIN COLOR TV OR CASH

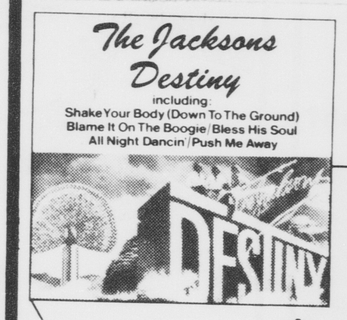
1ST PLACE-
Sigma Tau Gamma
2ND PLACE-
ECGC
3RD PLACE-
Alpha Kappa Alpha

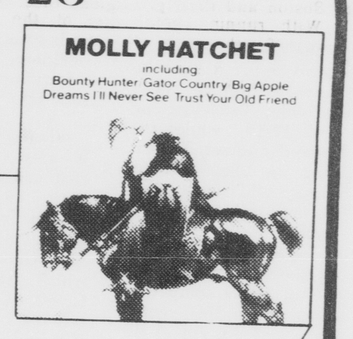
It's close - only 15 votes separate 1st and 3rd places. Many other organizations have received votes. It's your decision. Buy a WHOPPER® and cast your ballot for the best darn organi -- zation at ECU.

BURGER KING®
321 E. Greenville Blvd.

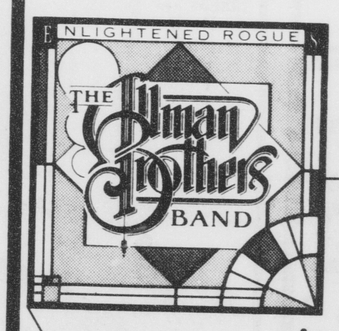
All organizations must have recognition by the university. Contest ends April 27, 1979

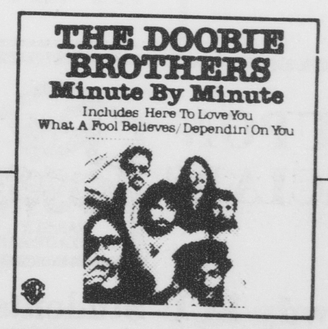
Super Sounds
On Sale April 17-26

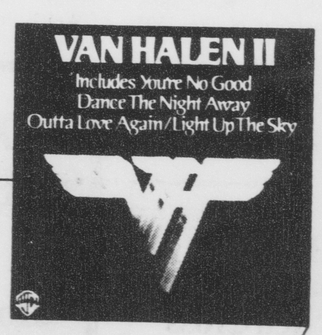




LPs $4.99 Tapes







LPs $5.99 Tapes

RECORDS & TAPES
Record Bar®
"SOUNDS DELICIOUS!"
Pitt Plaza

What to expect this season in the National League

by CHARLES CHANDLER
Assistant Sports Editor

A free agent signing has lengthened the gap between the top teams in one division while free agent losses has closed it in the other as the 1979 National League baseball season gets underway.

Philadelphia's signing of ex-Cincinnati Red Pete Rose along with its acquisition of ex-Cub second baseman Manny Trillo has the Phillies firmly entrenched as the team to beat in the East Division.

Meanwhile, in the West Division, the defending champion Los Angeles Dodgers lost ace pitcher Tommy John along with their two top reserves in Bill North and Lee Lacy, from a year ago. Also, the Reds, remember, must go this year without the services of Rose. These losses by the Reds and Dodgers makes San Diego and San Francisco legitimate contenders in what could be the closest West Division race in history.

The addition of Rose and Trillo gives the Phillies what some may call the best infield in baseball. With Rose at first, Trillo at second, Larry Bowa at short, and slugger Mike Schmidt at third, the Phils have plenty of everything a manager could want.

In the outfield the Phils are just as blessed. The starters are Greg Luzinski, Garry Maddox, and Bake McBride. Luzinski is one of the top sluggers in the league (35 homers and 101 RBI's a year ago) while Maddox and McBride are both capable of hitting .300 and provide super speed on the base paths.

The question mark on this Philadelphia team is their pitching staff. Injuries have beset this portion of the club during pre-season, leaving Manager Danny Ozark very concerned.

The staff is led by Steve Carlton, one of the best lefthanders in the game. Though he suffered through what was a disappointing season for him at 16-13, Carlton still finished with a 2.84 earned run average last season. It is important to the Phillies that he continue to perform to at least these standards.

Other Phillie starters include Larry Christienson (13-14 last year), Randy Lerch (11-8), Dick Ruthven (15-11), Jim Lonborg (8-10), and possibly aging Jim Kaat (8-5).

Only two teams in the East appear capable of making a run at the Phillies in their search for a fourth consecutive division championship.

Pittsburgh and Montreal could win if the Phils collapse or if they themselves have an ultra-super season.

The Pirates are blessed with the League's best player in Dave Parker (30 homers, 117 RBI's, and a .334 average last year) along with great speed and respectable pitching.

Second baseman Rennie Stennet, shortstop Frank Taveras and outfielder Omar Moreno are all demons on the base paths. All should be among the league leaders in steals this season.

John Candelara, Bert Blyleven, Don Robinson and Jim Bibby form a good Pirate starting rotation while Kent Tekulve (91 relief appearances last year along with 2.33 ERA), Bruce Kison and Grant Jackson make up a fantastic relief crew.

Pittsburgh has plenty of hitting also in the likes of Bill Robinson, John Milner and the incomparable Willie Stargell.

When someone speaks of the chances of the Montreal Expos this season, the first thing that comes up is the Expo outfield. The trio of Ellis Valentine Warren Cromartie, and Andre Dawson is the youngest, and the best defensive, outfield in the majors.

This trio's oldest member is 25-year-old Cromartie. All three have fantastic throwing arms and powerful bats.

Expo pitching is also strong. Ross Grimsley (20-11 last year) heads a staff that includes Bill Lee, Rudy May, Steve Rogers and reliever Elias Sosa.

Tony Perez, Gary Carater, and Dave Cash form the nucleus of a good infield.

The West Division race is by far the toughest to call this season in the majors. The Dodgers have better than average pitching and good hitting, but a porous defense. The Reds have superb hitting, excellent defense, but lack of quality pitching. The Giants have what may be the best pitching staff in baseball, but lack home run power. San Diego's Padres have an up-and-coming pitching staff, but still have holes in the field.

The Dodgers are the favorites simply because they appear to be the best rounded team in the group. Dodger pitching will survive without John, especially if Andy Messersmith can make a successful comeback.

At the plate, the Dodgers send up Reggie Smith, Steve Garvey, Dave Lopes, Ron Cy, Dusty Baker in which proves to be a nightmarish lineup to opposing pitchers.

The Reds' strong point is also at the plate, where they may be unparalled. When healthy, Red hitters are awesome. Injuries last season cut down on the team's run production and probably prevented the club from outdistancing Los Angeles in the pennant race.

Johnny Bench, Joe Morgan, George Foster, Dan Driessan, Ken Griffey and Dave Concepion spearhead the Red attack. The mere fact that six players of such caliber are on one team nearly erase the fact that, except for Tom Seaver and oft-injured Bill Bonham, the Reds really do not have a proven starting pitching corp. This fact may be the team's destroyer this season.

This is especially true considering the pitching strengths of the Dodgers, and the Giants. San Francisco has a young, yet superb staff. Starters Vida Blue, John Montefusco, Bob Knepper and Ed Halicki are all capable of 20-win seasons.

Giant hitting is not bad, though, except for Jack Clark, there is no real power. Bill Madlock, Darrell Evans, Terry Whitfield and Clark (25 homers, 98 RBI's and a .308 average last season) are the top Giant batsmen. Also, Willie McCovey is still around to pinchit on occasion.

The Padres have Cy Young Award winner Gaylord Perry (21-6 last year) and Fireman of the Year Rollie Fingers (37 saves and a 2.52 ERA) to compliment ex-Cy Young Award winner Randy Jones in what shapes up as a fine pitching staff.

Padre hitting is spearheaded by Dave Winfield (24 home runs, 97 RBI's, and a .308 average last season).

The Padres, though, do not figure to be a legitimate contenders as do the Giants, Reds, and Dodgers.

These three clubs could finish in any order depending on how each's weakness is overcome.

Look for the Dodgers to come out on top. Who will finish second? That's like asking which is better, the Reds' excellence at the plate or the Giants' superiority on the mound. Only time will answer this.

The Phillies should reach the World Series where they just may find the New York Yankees waiting to do battle.

Melvin , Rankins pace Pirates in Dogwood Invitational tourney

By DAVID MAREADY
Staff Writer

The East Carolina Men's and Women's track teams placed several individuals and relay teams in the top five places in two invitational track meets last week.

The Men's track team competed in the Dogwood Relays in Knoxville, Tennessee on April 12-13, while the Women's squad participated in the Carolina Relays held in Chapel Hill on April 14.

Despite a shortage of runners, the men finished a respectable 5th out of 69 competing teams in the 1600 meter relays and 9th out of 67 teams in the sprint medleys.

Pirate track coach Bill Carson was happy with his team's performance in the meet. "All of the guys we took up there did a real good job for us. We were a little bit shorthanded, but I think we id very well."

For the Men sprinters, Otis Melvin took the highest finish with a time of 21.11 in the 200 meter invitational, Marvin Rankins time of 13.8 seconds was good enough for a 5th place finish in the open competition of the 1500 meter sprint.

Bill Miller took a 3rd place finish in the 1500 meter sprint with a time of 3:53.25. Valentino Robinson placed 5th in the 110 meter high hurdles with a time of 14.14 sec. Tony McKoy also placed in the hurdling with a 4th place finish in the 400 meter intermediate hurles. His time in the event was 53.21.

The mile relay team captured a 3rd place finish in their heat with a time of 3:11.28, behind Villanova (3:06.36) and Tennessee (3(05.54);. Tennessee's time was the fastest collegiate finish in the country for a mile relay team this year.

Coach Laurie Arrants Women's track team also had a fine showing with two first and second finishes and one fourth place finish in the Carolina Relays which featured Atlantic Coast Conference schools, UNC-Chapel Hill and N.C. State.

Rox Major and Maria Gudjohnson finished first and second in the long jump event with jumps of 18 feet 8¼ inches and 17 feet 9 and three-fourths inches. Cookie McPhatter took the top spot in the 800 meter sprint with a time of 2.15, while Catherine Suggs posted a new women's varsity record in the 100 meter sprint with a time of 12.29 and a finish of fourth. The 400 meter relay squad finished 2nd. with a time of 48.40.

"We did pretty well considering our lack of depth," noted Arrants. "We've only got eleven girls on the team this year, but they're all good people. They've set a varsity record in every meet this year, so far."

The Women's next track meet will be at the NCAIAW championships. The men will be competing in the Norfolk State Relays this Saturday in Norfolk, Va.

Looking for a Summer Job?

Paul D. Osman

Northwest Mutual is looking for college agents and part-time jobs are available for the summer. If you think you can meet the challenge, call for an appointment.

752-4080

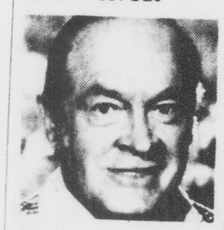
COUPON SPECIALS

Roy Rogers FAMILY RESTAURANT

" Howdy ECU Students "
Clip this coupon for good Western Eatin'

WESTERN FRIED CHICKEN
FRENCH FRIES
MEDIUM DRINK
$1.60
offer good 'til 4-28-79

Bob Hope says:
"Red Cross can teach you first aid. And first aid can be a life saver."



Head for the mountains.

© Anheuser-Busch Inc St Louis Mo