Admissions

Fall Applications Increase

By DALE SWANSON
Staff Writer

The number of applications and acceptance notices being received and given this year at ECU continues to top last year's figures for the same period by more than five percent, according to Director of Admissions Charles Seeley.

"These numbers are even more significant because last year's increase in applications cleared previous year's by over twenty-five percent," Seeley said. The only inconsistency with this year's application process, he said, is that actual paid deposits on tuition have remained somewhat lower than in past years.

Despite the six percent increase in applications, the Admissions Office has not seen a similar increase in paid deposits. "This may be because of the publicity of proposed cuts in financial aid to students," Seeley said. Even though such cuts would not affect loans and grants for next year, Seeley said he feels the negative publicity has scared many students and their parents into extra caution before making a financial commitment to the university. "This problem, though, has begun to reverse itself in the past couple of weeks," Seeley emphasized.

According to Dan Wooten, Director of Housing, deposits for dorm rooms are also down in comparison to last year's figures by twelve percent.

"It has been suggested that this may be the result of the uncertainty that is surrounding financial aid for next year," he said, though Wooten maintains that such an assumption is mere conjecture.

In conjunction with the increase in freshman applications, the new University Scholar Awards were very successful in drawing exceptional graduating high school seniors to ECU. The annually renewable $3,000 scholarships drew more than 150 applicants to fill the seven scholarships.

All top seven students who were selected from the field have confirmed plans to attend ECU this fall. Seeley also said Scholar's Weekend will be held this weekend for exceptional high school juniors. The program, according to Seeley, is an attempt to display to prospective applicants the academic possibilities available to them if they decide to attend ECU.

The University Scholar Awards will be presented to the recipients this weekend, Seeley said.

Student Government Leaders Protest Higher Tuition Costs

By JENNIFER JENDRASIAK
News Editor

SGA presidents from the 16 universities in the University of North Carolina system this weekend added their voices to others protesting a proposed 10 percent tuition increase for schools in the UNC system.

According to outgoing ECU SGA President John Rainey, the University of North Carolina Student Government Association met this weekend and discussed the situation. The UNCASG is composed of the 16 schools' SGA presidents.

On Thursday, the group's Student Advisory Council, which advises UNC system President William Friday, met and passed a resolution opposing the proposed 10 percent tuition increase.

Rainey said N.C. Gov. Jim Martin has proposed the increase in his budget and the group "wanted to be on record as representing the UNC system and opposing this."

Originally the group had also planned to meet with Martin, but he was unavailable. They did meet with one of his aides. The aide, Rainey said, "thought that the extra $45 wouldn't keep someone from going to college." However, Rainey added, "when added on top of tuition, fee increases and dorm rent increases, it will catch those at the lower end of the economic ladder."

"We wanted to express our concern through Gov. Martin's aide so he would be aware of it.

We think all the students in the system would be opposed to this increase," Rainey said.

Among the reasons for stopping the increase, the UNCASG resolution states that tuition has "increased 25 percent over the last four years for in-state students; and tuition for out-of-state students was increased 45 percent over the past four years." It also states that "this tuition increase coincides with proposed cuts in federal financial aid which would not only substantially reduce the amount of aid available to students, but also restrict the total amount one might borrow."

The UNC Board of Governors recently passed a resolution opposing the increase, saying "the denial of access resulting from any increase in tuition will be detrimental not only to the affected students but also to the State, which will be denied the full talents and increased earning capacity of these potential students."

Rainey said that the actions of the presidential selection committee were also discussed at the meeting. The committee will present a forum at ECU April 16 in order to obtain input on the selection of a new UNC system president.

"I'd personally like to encourage all students interested to attend," Rainey said. "No other school has had much student representation and we should put up a good showing."

April 11 Declared Senior Day

Senior Night Offers Information

By HAROLD JOYNER
Assistant News Editor

S.I.N. is running rampant across campus and Chancellor John Howell has proclaimed Thursday, April 11 as Senior Day. But what do S.I.N. and the chancellor have to do with graduating seniors?

Simply put, if ECU administrators have their way, graduating seniors will not leave the doors of ECU without at least a little knowledge of what the real world is all about and how to get along with the business world.

Organized by Senior Class President Melinda Davis and vice-president Sven VanBaars, Senior Information Night will inform anxious graduates about the facts of life — the facts of how to succeed in one's chosen career, that is.

"We will concentrate on situations that may not have been covered in class," Davis said. "It's a short, quick mini-seminar that's packed full of information concerning the graduate's future. I promise it won't be boring at all."

In addition to this special program, Howell's proclamation of Senior Day will "recognize the accomplishments of the senior class at ECU." He goes on to declare that since there are approximately 2,669 members of the Senior class comprising about 20 percent of the entire student body, this day will signify the achievement of endurance and hard work they have done.

The program will consist of various individuals from the campus and Greenville businesses speaking on topics such as looking for more than just employment, as well as fringe benefits a company has to offer.

Davis and Van Baars also said that students attending the seminar will hear from Edward Wheatley, chairman of the ECU Department of Marketing, who will speak to seniors about networking co-workers as well as dressing for success. Jim Lanier, vice chancellor of Institutional Advancement will tell students how to recognize good management in a business.

Nancy Frazelle, a Merrill Lynch stock broker, will offer ways a student may manage new money received from his new job. Managing time wisely will be Cindy Kittrell's topic for the evening. Kittrell is the annual support director for the ECU foundation.

Immediately following the seminar, which begins at 6 p.m., a wine and cheese reception will be held. "Seniors really need to come on over to Mendenhall tonight and hear what these people have to offer," Van Baars said.

Seniors, take the advice of your class president and vice-president, and find out what S.I.N. is about.

WZMB Baseball Broadcast Resumes

By JENNIFER JENDRASIAK
News Editor

WZMB, the campus radio station, will resume broadcasting ECU baseball games next week, according to Director of Athletics Ken Karr.

WZMB broadcast one game this semester with announcers Mike Kelly and Pamela Mitchell. Following the broadcast, Lee Workman, a Marketing Assistant in the Athletic Department, decided to cancel future broadcasts because Mitchell is an instructor, not a student. Workman said "the primary reason (for the broadcast) was to give the students a chance and get practical experience on the radio."

However, WZMB General Manager Susan Duncan said there were no other qualified employees to do Mitchell's work.

Kelly, head of WZMB's sports department, said Workman told him that he could continue with the broadcast as long as another student took Mitchell's place.

Karr, however, said he has reconsidered after review of the tapes from the game and "if they (WZMB) choose to broadcast, they can simply go on and call us."

Karr added that the Athletic Department changed its position because they knew there were not enough students interested in broadcasting the games. "We decided to modify our stance to help them get off the ground," he said. He added that he hopes students will get involved next year and that the department will reevaluate its position then.

Duncan said games will be broadcast April 17 and 24 at 6:55 p.m. with Mitchell and Kelly as the announcers.

"I'm really happy about it," Mitchell said. "I've always wanted to do the games and I'm ready to go." She added that she has been a baseball fan for many years and "this is a great opportunity."

"We both need advice and help from the Athletic Department," she said. "I hope everybody will take a positive attitude toward the broadcasts."

Minority Publication Debuts; Expresses Variety Format

By JENNIFER JENDRASIAK
News Editor

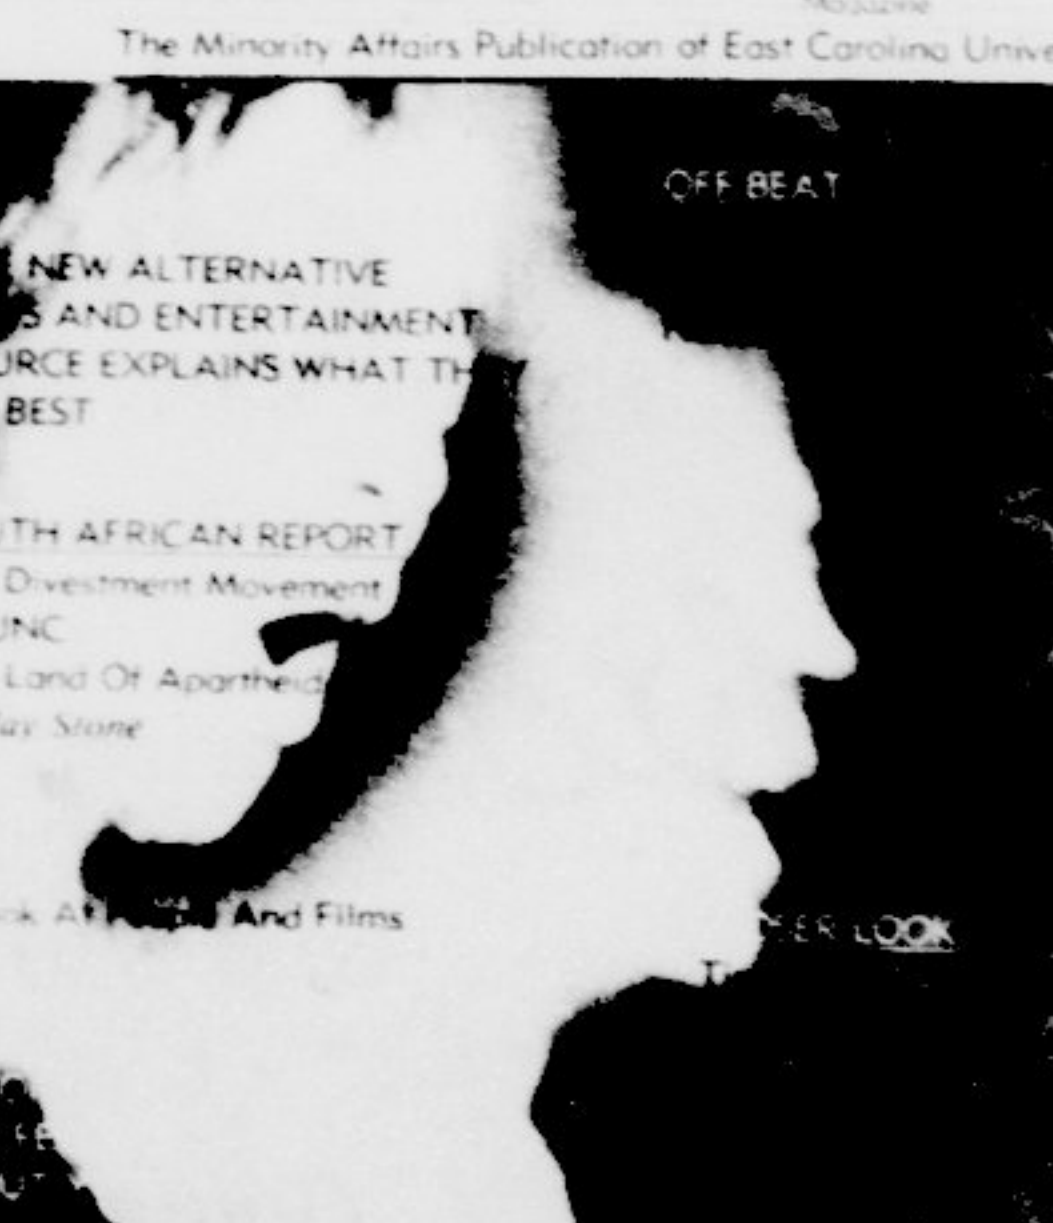

EXPRESSIONS

Expressions magazine, formerly The Ebony Herald, appeared on campus for the first time Wednesday and received a good reception, according to Expressions Editor Ruben Ingram.

The magazine, he said, is "the minority affairs publication redressed for minority students with the hope that the majority will find it useful."

The 24-page magazine features entertainment, fashion and "off-beat" articles, Ingram said. "We do what The East Carolinian can't do because they are a newspaper — we can give expanded coverage."

Student response has been "overwhelming" Ingram said. "A lot of people are really surprised."

Ingram added that the magazine needs student help to continue publishing and that he hopes "more students will get involved because of the improvement."

Group Presents Ideas For Parking

By HAROLD JOYNER
Assistant News Editor

Last week, a proposal was presented to Chancellor John Howell offering solutions to end the serious parking problem on campus.

This week, another group has approached the chancellor saying the only problem that exists is that students aren't utilizing existing parking spaces and measures could be taken by commuters, to end the headache of finding a place to park.

Harvey Bender, organizer of the proposal, said the problem could be alleviated if students would begin to take action. "Our proposal recommends that students should start exercising options that are already available to them," Bender said. Other supporters of Bender's group include ECU students Jeff Shipley, Catherine Smith and Dennis Ward.

One of the options Bender's group has suggested is that students driving to school leave for school earlier. The commuters may also start utilizing adjacent parking lots to the campus. "Even at peak times, parking spaces may be found behind Mendenhall and the library," Bender said.

"Of course other departments could take action in preventing the parking problem," Bender said. Believing that the SGA Transit is not doing an adequate job in serving the students, Bender said 51 percent of the students polled did not use the SGA buses. "It is very uncommon to see a bus over half full," he said.

"Why, then, are we using these huge gasaholic monsters. Can we not scale down the size and in turn offer more frequent runs, and perhaps increase the areas of coverage?" he said. "We feel that students should begin riding the buses, instead spending more money to buy additional ones." Bender added that schedules of bus routes were hard to find, as well as stopping places of the buses. "Where can you get a copy of the bus schedules? Sure at the Traffic Office, and maybe at the bus transit office, wherever that is."

SGA Bus Manager Marshall Tucker said that in addition to picking up schedules at Mendenhall, copies of schedules

Monk's Biographer Visits Campus

By DALE SWANSON

Michael Mott, author of a best-selling biography of a controversial monk, will be appearing at ECU Thursday through the efforts of the ECU Poetry Forum.

Before the biography was published, Mott remained relatively unknown outside writing circles, despite having numerous books of poetry published, as well as two novels and several essays, said Peter Makuck, director of the Poetry

Forum. The biography centers around Thomas Merton, a monk at the Abbey of Gethsemane in Kentucky. He was considered a mystic among Catholic scholars who were wary of his attempts to draw together Western Catholic Theology and Eastern Buddhist Theology.

Merton was a strong anti-Vietnam War activist. His death was ironic in that he died in Bangkok during an East-West Theological Conference and his body was brought back to the U.S. in an airplane carrying many American soldiers who did not survive in the very war Merton was opposed to.

Despite Mott's recent fame with the Merton biography, Makuck said Mott's best work is in poetry. "He is simply a wonderful poet," Makuck said.

Mott, a English professor at Bowling Green University, will read selections of poetry at 4 p.m. in Jenkins Auditorium.

Although Mott is a native of Great Britain, he received his education while living in the United States. Makuck encourages anyone interested in his work, and especially the Merton biography, to attend a special workshop and discussion session Fri. at 10:30 a.m. in 221 Mendenhall.

The Poetry Forum is also planning another reading before the semester is over, Makuck said. Welsh poet Leslie Norris, who recently came to the U.S. to teach at Brigham Young University, has been published frequently in The New Yorker and Atlantic Monthly.

Art School Invites Noted Illustrator

Matt Mahurin, a major illustrator in the New York City area, is coming to the East Carolina University School of Art on Wednesday, April 10 and will give lectures, slide presentations and demonstrations relating to his area of expertise through Friday, April 12.

Even at the age of 26, Mahurin is a well-known and respected illustrator. Print Magazine published an article on him and his works in their May/June '84 issue. Mahurin has had his work published in numerous magazines and other publications. Perhaps his most well-known work is a series of illustrations done for a special section on "Private Violence" in the September 5, 1983 issue of Time. Other work by Mahurin has appeared on the pages of Rolling Stone, Playboy, Mother Jones and the Los Angeles Times.

Mahurin's expressive, artistic style has won him numerous awards and his work has appeared in many American Illustrators Annuals. His illustrations are packed with emotion and his disturbing images of tragic situations often evoke a sense of pain and helplessness. Design Associates, a Communication Arts Organization in the School of Art, is sponsoring Mahurin's visit to ECU with funds made available from the SGA.

'Whereas'

Don't Raise Tuition, Guys

The "Whereas's" have been in full force lately as the University of North Carolina Board of Governors and the University of North Carolina Association of Student Governments broke out the resolutions to oppose a suggested 10 percent tuition increase. The two documents, both of which support the current budget request by the UNC system, bring up valid points the General Assembly needs to look at when considering the proposal.

First of all, the state constitution mandates that state higher education "as far as practicable, be extended to the people of the state free of expense." This means raising fees for expenses should be a last resort to finance needed improvements. Other means must be found and used first.

Tuition for in-state students has risen 25 percent over the last four years, corresponding with a 45 percent increase for out-of-state students. Another 10 percent hike is not fair to students, especially with the proposed cuts and ceilings that might be placed on federal financial aid.

The costs of attending even a state college are becoming prohibitive — books, room, board are all going up in price. What we will begin to see is an educational elite. Students without funds will be left by the wayside as the future passes them by.

Education, everyone cries out, is the backbone of a free society. Being aware and having the ability to discriminate between different information is essential. This will not be if the cost of learning only can be afforded by the rich.

With Reagan, and now Gov. Martin, we are being told that only the haves can have more. Well, we at ECU, and we everywhere for that matter, aren't having that. We'll have only one thing — and that's the right to an education as proscribed by North Carolina law and by democratic principles.

You shouldn't mess with a system that works, especially in a way that puts the system out of reach for those that need it most. The East Carolinian supports along with the Board of Governors, the system's chancellors and the SGA presidents all the "whereas's" to keep all North Carolinians educated.

Don't let tomorrow be taken away from North Carolina. Write our representatives in the General Assembly and tell them — "No Hike, Pal."

Parking...

Proposals for solving the parking problem on campus seem to be the rage these days. Within the last week, two different student groups have presented ways to alleviate the parking blues.

First off, we're definitely glad that students are getting involved to help other students with a student problem.

But, it is only fair to point out those ideas that will fly and those that won't. We've looked over both proposals and come to a few conclusions.

The idea that students should come to school earlier to get a parking space is not a solution. If everyone came to class earlier, the same problem would exist.

Under utilization of student transit buses is not a problem. The buses are used; sometimes, students are forced to stand during peak riding hours. If anything, more buses and more runs are necessary, with greater encouragement to use them being a key.

One proposal that we found sound is greater use of the allied health parking lot by out-of-town commuters. A shuttle service could pick students up and bring them to the main campus.

Secretary Says Thanks

Thank you so much for getting involved in the elections for SGA. It was so good to see that the student body is concerned about what is going on in your school.

I can't express to you how much I appreciate your support. I am glad to have the chance to work for you, the student body. Thank you for electing me as your SGA secretary. My office is located in Mendenhall Student Center. If any of you have any concerns that I could help you with, feel free to contact me. My door will be open to you.

Day Rep Needed

The Student Union Board of Directors is currently accepting applications to fill two day representative positions. Duties of board members consist of selecting the student union president and vice president, approving committee chairmen and budgets and setting Student Union policy. The board is designed to represent all facets of campus life to better serve student interests. Voting constituents already represented on the board include SRA, IFC, Panhellenic, SOULS, SGA and others.

The applications received thus far are from students whose organizations are presently represented on the board. If no other students come forth and apply, two qualified applicants will be selected without regard to organizational affiliations. We encourage all interested students to apply for these positions so we can best achieve our goals as a board of broad representation.

Student Union Board of Directors

Dave's Okay

This letter is written in response to the petition that is circulating questioning David Brown's suitability for the position as SGA president. All I can testify to is what I have seen. I have supervised David in his resident advisor position in Umstead hall for the past year. I can truthfully say that David is a model RA and has done an excellent job. I have never worked with a student who is as mature, conscientious, honest, fair and hard working. From day one, he has gone above and beyond the call of duty for the residents. He has very high moral and ethical standards and he stands behind them no matter what.

David's potential as a leader and his standard of excellence were demonstrated to me long before he became an RA. As a matter of fact, it was his leadership both on the hall as well as the news of his work in the SGA that impressed me enough to hire him. David's first concern has always been for the students' rights and welfare no matter what kind of opposition he was up against. David is definitely willing to fight for what he believes is right for the students, and he is committed to going straight to the students to find out what that is.

On the job or off, David's character has impressed me and is above any suspicion. From what I have seen for the past three years, I am confident that the students made the right choice for SGA president.

Nicaraguan Situation Exacerbated By Ron

By 1979, the Sandinistas had successfully taken power in Nicaragua. Yet they found that they needed help from the United States on an emergency basis. The country had lost 40,000 to 50,000 people in the revolution. One-fifth of the population was homeless and 40,000 children were orphaned. Somoza and the National Guard officers had plundered the economy, leaving behind a $1.5 billion debt. The Sandinistas, therefore, appealed to the Carter administration for aid.

From The Left Jay Stone

The U.S. responded in mid-1979 by sending in nearly $20 million in aid. North American businessmen re-entered the country, welcomed by the revolutionaries. United Brands and Standard Fruit resumed operations.

The fall of 1979, however, was the high-water mark of U.S.-Sandinista relations, according to historian Walter LaFeber's Inevitable Revolutions. Decline quickly set in. The Sandinistas gave the relationship a severe jolt when they postponed the elections. From Washington's point of view, the delay meant that the revolutionaries intended to impose a Communist-style regime on the country. From the Nicaraguan perspective, though, the announcement meant that the Sandinistas were splitting into factions; any election campaign could turn into a struggle that would fragment and even destroy the revolution.

Another serious jolt to the U.S. relationship with Nicaragua occurred after the Sandinistas accepted a $100 million aid package from the Soviet Union after waiting seven months for the Congress to decide on a $75 million package for the war-ravaged country. Finally, the Congress did pass the aid bill after learning of the Soviet aid deal.

The reasons for the bill's final passage were varied, but it involved two primary considerations: 1) A desire to maintain leverage on the Sandinistas and to counter Soviet bloc aid and 2) a desire by 120 of the largest North American, European and Japanese banks to avoid a Nicaraguan default on its $1.5 billion debt. In addition to the $75 million loan from the United States, the Sandinistas received $200 million in long-term loans from the World Bank and other lending agencies in return for imposing austerity measures on the Nicaraguan economy and rescheduling the country's debt payments to private Western banks.

The importance of this series of deals, all inter-related, could not be overestimated. Nicaragua had shown its willingness to move away from the Soviet Union and toward the private money market, thus aligning more closely with the United States.

Yet, no sooner were these deals completed when the U.S. and Nicaraguan governments resumed their collision course. Mistrust increased. Nicaragua's economy deteriorated despite the agreement with the bankers. Disillusionment spread within the country. After Reagan's victory in November, the Sandinistas tightened their control. Both sides, Nicaraguan and North American were to blame for the breakdown in relations that followed. Even if Jimmy Carter had remained in the White House, it is likely that relations would have deteriorated. The problems were historical and ideological, not personal or partisan.

Nevertheless, the Reagan administration did much to exacerbate trends that were already in place. By late February 1981, economic aid was turned off. In the summer of '81 Washington officials accused the Sandinistas of moving closer to the Soviet bloc. By the end of the year the president endorsed a CIA plan that aimed at destabilizing the Nicaraguan government. He also accepted a Pentagon program for rapidly building up Honduran forces.

Funding for the "contras" was justified at the time on the grounds that the Sandinistas were sending weapons to the revolutionaries in El Salvador. But since the Nicaraguans need U.S. economic help above all else, the United States was holding the high cards in any negotiations with the Sandinistas anyway. Only the Americans could provide the $3 million a day that one top Nicaraguan official estimated his country needed to survive. Only U.S. approval could open doors to international lending agencies or encourage other nations to help. Hence, funding of the contras was a superfluous measure in halting the flow of Nicaraguan arms to El Salvador when economic pressure would have sufficed.

Secretary of State Alexander Haig proved this in late January of 1981 when he announced that he was stopping $15 million in economic aid headed for Managua, as well as nearly $10 million of wheat, for 30 days to test whether the Sandinistas would stop helping the Salvadoran rebels.

In early April the State Department announced that no arms shipments had been detected going through Nicaragua for several weeks, adding that propaganda and other activities had been curtailed also. But then came a strange twist in logic. The State Department added that because "some arms traffic may be continuing and other support very probably continues," aid would be canceled anyway.

Thus, the only clear message the Nicaraguans got from the Reagan administration was it was again the uncompromising enemy. As a consequence, the Sandinista government moved sharply toward greater state control and away from any semblance of rapprochement with Washington. From these facts, LaFeber draws the conclusion that Reagan's policies are actually responsible for having further alienated Nicaragua from the United States.

This interpretation stands the Reagan administration's claim that Nicaragua was a Soviet-Cuban puppet government from the beginning on its head. Reagan's policies are actually responsible for pushing the Nicaraguans away from the United States. Even today the number of North Americans in Nicaragua (4,000) outnumbers the total number from Cuba and all Communist bloc countries combined (3,400), according to John Swomley of the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

Furthermore, on the subject of arms shipments to El Salvador — agent David MacMichael left the CIA, where he analyzed political and military developments in Central America, in July 1983. According to Harper's magazine September 1984, MacMichael denounced the Administration's covert aid to the Nicaraguan contras, stating that "the administration and the CIA have systematically misrepresented Nicaraguan involvement in the supply of arms to Salvadoran guerillas to justify its efforts to overthrow the Nicaraguan government. There has not been a successful interdiction or a verified report of arms moving from Nicaragua to El Salvador since April 1981."

Moreover, Amnesty International has consistently given the Nicaraguan government much higher marks in the area of human rights than it has either the Guatemalan or the El Salvadoran government — both U.S. supported. No wonder that in the latest Washington Post-ABC News poll, 72 percent of those interviewed are opposed to the U.S. government's attempts to overthrow the Sandinistas. Only 16 percent support it. It will be remembered as a defining characteristic of the Reagan administration that it still continues to twist arms in an effort to secure funding from Congress for the contras even in the last hour.

Illegal Mailbox Entries Reported During Holidays

More than 30 mailboxes were forcibly entered in Jones, Belk, and Scott dorms during the Easter weekend. A large amount of mail stolen from the boxes was recovered by Public Safety officers in the lobby trashcans and men's restrooms of the residence halls.

Entry was gained to the mailboxes by breaking the small glass windows in some cases while other boxes appeared to have been pried open.

"Thieves who break into mailboxes in the dormitories are usually looking for envelopes which are readily identifiable as greeting cards," said Lt. Gene McAbee, crime prevention officer of the Public Safety Department. "Relatives often send cash gifts to students along with these cards and they become easy targets for thieves."

McAbee stated that U.S. Postal Inspectors have been notified and will assist in the investigation.

Belk dorm was hit hard by thieves over the Easter break. Along with the mailbox larcenies, four rooms were burglarized on the second and fourth floors and thefts of stereo equipment, money and personal items were reported.

Public safety officers arrested 14 persons for various offenses during the past week.

One arrest not reported last week was that of James Scott Faulkner who was arrested on two counts of possession of stolen property. Faulkner reported to campus public safety that he was incorrectly identified, but this was not the case. He was released from Pitt County Jail on $500 bond and his trial has been set for June 16.

Incidents reported to the Department of Public Safety for April 3-5 include:

April 3, 1:25 a.m. — David Frederick Feast of Scott dorm was arrested and charged with DWI and a one-way street violation at Jones dorm. 6 a.m. — Michael M. Straine and Gregory J. Aroneo of Jones dorm were arrested by Greenville City Police for larceny. 10 a.m. — A video cassette recorder was reported stolen from Scales Fieldhouse. 11 a.m. — A vehicle was reported vandalized in the 3rd and Reade St. freshman lot. 3:35 p.m. — A resident of Fletcher dorm reported that a money order had been stolen, the endorsement forged and the money order cashed at the Student Bank. 7 p.m. — A break-in of a chemical locker was reported in the Flanagan building. A student from Aycock dorm was identified as the suspect in the incident as a result of a follow-up investigation. 8:20 p.m. — A wallet was reported stolen from the snack bar area of Slay dorm.

April 4, 7 a.m. — David Frederick Feast of Scott dorm was arrested for larceny in connection with a case investigated by the Greenville Police Department. 4 p.m. — A larceny of a check from a mailbox was reported in Clement dorm. The check was later determined to have been forged and passed at a local business. 5 p.m. — Jeffrey Morris Britt and William James Britt both of Umstead dorm were arrested for simple assault. 5:45 p.m. — A bicycle was reported stolen from the west side of Jarvis dorm. 9 p.m. — Reginald Fitzgerald Boyd of Greenville, a non-student, was arrested for the larceny of two tires and wheels from a vehicle parked in the 14th St. and Berkley freshman lot. The incident was reported on Feb. 28 and the arrest resulted from a continuing investigation. On April 9, Boyd pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of tampering with a motor vehicle and was sentenced to two years probation and required to pay $384 in restitution to the victim.

April 5, 1:45 a.m. — Norman Michael Hatfield of Jones dorm was arrested for DWI on the south side of Memorial Gym. 2:40 a.m. — Phillip Scott Stanley of Dunn Apartments was arrested for DWI on the south side of Belk dorm. 1:10 p.m. — A third floor resident of Umstead dorm reported the larceny and fraudulent use of an automatic are available at most off-campus housing complexes, as well as the Allied Health building and medical school.

"Most students know the buses run every half hour," Tucker said, "and where the bus will stop." He also said rider surveys are constantly taken as well as rider counts. "The buses are running at full capacity. Out of three buses, we have two that run the same route. We are definitely carrying more people now than we've ever carried," he said.

Lack of money is preventing the SGA Transit to expand its services right now, Tucker said, "there's a lot of things we'd like to do, but don't have the money to do them."

Bender's proposal began approximately two months ago when his group realized that spending more money was not the answer to the parking problem. He also supported SGA Speaker of the Legislature Kirk Shelley's proposal to make adjacent streets one-way, thus providing more parking spaces. Shelley said the proposal would take months of preliminary studies before anything could be brought before Greenville City Council members.

Last week a different group of students talked with the chancellor and told him of a plan that would use shuttle buses from the allied health building to the main campus to transport students parking in unused parking spaces. Andrew Joyner said the proposal would cost around $148,000 the first year, but added that a considerable amount of money and land would be saved, justifying its cost.

"Chancellor Howell seemed very receptive and willing to work with us. I think he has a fair grasp of the situation and is open to any possible solutions," Joyner said.

Four Bucs Hit Homers

Pirates Smash Wolfpack

By TONY BROWN Staff Writer

The Bucs finally tasted victory against the Atlantic Coast Conference this year — and it was sweet-tasting indeed. The final score was ECU 18, N.C. State 6.

A homerun derby was the order of the day in Raleigh as the Wolfpack hit three and the Pirates' four. Alex Wallace, Mick Billmeyer and Andrew Fava did it for NCSU, while Mont Carter, Chris Bradberry, Jay McGraw replied for ECU — plus Winfred Johnson's single-season record 19th of the year.

Johnson also drove in six runs to increase his recently-set ECU single-season record RBI total to 57. Mike Christopher kept his unblemished pitching record intact in gaining his seventh win of the year.

The Pirates blasted out to a four-run lead in the top of the first behind a three-run shot by Johnson. A homerun by the Wolfpack's Fava cut the margin to three, but Chris Bradberry's solo homer in the third made it 5-2 ECU.

NCSU scored a run in the bottom of the inning and then tied it up with three more in the fifth, the main damage coming on a two-run homer by Wallace.

The Pirates responded to the challenge quickly, scoring two in the top of the sixth on a RBI single by Mark Cockrell. He then came in on a wild pitch to give ECU a 7-5 lead.

They added to that lead with a two-run Jay McGraw roundtripper in the seventh, then turned the game into a rout with six runs in the eighth. Johnson's two-run single was followed later by a double by Jim Riley that scored two more.

A single by Johnson in the ninth added a Pirate run, then Mont Carter finished the ECU scoring at 18 with a two-run homer. NCSU's Billmeyer had a solo blast to make the final score 18-6.

For the Pirates, Johnson went 5-for-6 in the game, with a homer and a double, while Carter had three RBIs on four hits, including a two-bagger and a homerun. McGraw added two RBIs on three hits, including a homer.

The Wolfpack was paced by the roundtrippers of Wallace, Billmeyer and Fava, while Fava and Jim McNamara went 3-for-5 in the game.

The win raises ECU's season mark to 24-9, while the Wolfpack fell to 25-14.

April 5, 1985

ECU bounced back from the loss to UNC to defeat ECAC-South rival American University twice in a doubleheader last Friday.

Pirate pitcher Mike Christopher allowed only three singles and one run in the opener, while striking out six and walking none. His season record went to an unblemished 6-0.

Christopher had plenty of support from the ECU bats as the Pirates bunched four runs in the third and three in the fourth.

ECU got on the scoreboard in the third with plenty of help from American. A walk and two errors loaded the bases, then Jim Riley doubled to right to drive in two runs. Mark Cockrell singled to score Robert Langston and another run came in on a ground out for a 4-0 Pirate lead.

ECU got the rest of their runs in the fourth. Greg Hardison knocked a homerun, then Winfred Johnson followed Chris Bradberry's single with another homer to make it 7-0.

American's lone run came in the fifth on two singles and a sacrifice fly.

In the nightcap the Pirates were pushed to the limit, but edged American 9-8 in a game that saw much improved hitting and numerous errors by both sides. It took three ECU hurlers to finally overcome the AU batsmen, who pounded out eight hits, including two doubles and a homerun.

Pirate starter Daniel Boone was tagged for all eight of the American runs before giving way to reliever Craig Van Deventer with two out in the sixth. Van Deventer gave up a single, then ended the AU scoring threat with a strikeout.

Mike Christopher, ECU's starter in the first game, then came on in the last inning to fan two batters and hold AU scoreless.

An ECU runner beats the tag at first base on an attempted pickoff in a game earlier this week. The Pirates will entertain N.C. Wesleyan today at Harrington Field at 7 pm.

Young, Softballers Looking Good In 1985

By SCOTT COOPER Staff Writer

Senior pitcher Pam Young currently 12-4 but provides the Lady Pirate softball team with clutch hitting as well as dedication and desire.

Young has an ERA of 1.03 and is fourth on the team with a .242 batting average (through the first 30 games of the season).

"Pam has been a leader for us," ECU coach Sue Manahan said. "She shows a great deal of hustle, desire and motivation."

"I try to go out there and have fun," Young said. "If I start thinking of the pressure, I'll play terrible. I try not to put pressure on myself."

Young, a transfer from Anne Arundel Community College in Arnold, Md., is known as a "junk" pitcher. Differing from the hard-throwing Robin Graves or the spot-pitching of Stacey Boyette, Young has found success by outsmarting her opponents.

"Where I'm from, you have to outsmart people," Young remarked. "Robin and Stacey are both stronger than me. Robin throws harder than anyone and Stacey is the best placement pitcher I've ever seen. We really back each other up (on the mound)."

Young is known by the team for her leadership qualities and her desire to motivate others to do well.

"I am very verbal, it's just the way I am," Young commented.

"Muffin (Lisa Zmuda) is another verbal leader — but it just takes one spark to ignite the team."

"I'm a senior and I've had some fast-pitch experience," Young added. "Everybody plays their part — we are a team."

Off the field, Young is an exceptional student. She is a dean's list student as a computer science major. Young is proud of the fact that the softball team has one of the highest ranking GPA's as any varsity team on campus.

Coach Manahan feels the same way as her star pitcher and feels that she (Young) is terrific both on and off the field.

"She (Young) has an innate desire to be successful," Manahan stated. "In athletics as well as in academics — all around the board."

"She works very hard," Manahan continued. "She's not a person who has a great deal of talent, but she uses what she has very well."

During an impressive career at Andover High School in Ferndale, Md., Young was selected all-county in '79, '80 and '81. Her team won three county championships, one regional championship and was second in the state. In junior college, Young was named all-JUCO, all-conference and was all-state.

However, the unselfish Young doesn't like all the individual honors to be focused her way. She feels that the credit should be directed toward the team, instead of an individual.

Pam Young has been a Lady Pirate mainstay with her 12-4 record. Young and the Lady Bucs will next see action at Methodist College.

Pirates Add Three Additional Players; Baker Feels Quarterbacks Strong Point

By RICK McCORMAC Staff Writer

ECU football coach Art Baker has added three more players since the Feb. 13 national signing date, bringing the total number of signees for the 1985 season to 20.

When the original list was announced, Baker said that he was saving his remaining scholarships for players who played the defensive line and wide receiver positions, areas that needed some added depth.

Two of the three were exactly what Baker wanted, as the Pirates signed a wide receiver and a defensive lineman as well as a linebacker-fullback.

Heading the list is 6-1, 190-pound wide receiver Harry Howard. Howard a native of Miami, Fla., caught 28 passes for 495 yards during his senior season with six of his receptions going for scores. He was named all-Inter-City Miami and was named his team's most valuable receiver in his senior year.

Todd Drugac also fills a need in the defensive line area. Drugac, a 6-2, 255 pounder from Danville, N.J., was a three year letterman for Boonton High School. During his senior year, Drugac had 60 tackles, with 18 of them being unassisted, and five quarterback sacks.

The third most recent addition to the Pirate fold is Roby Robinson. Robinson is a 6-1, 220-pound linebacker-fullback from Mt. Olive, N.C.

Baker, despite getting a late start on the recruiting trail this year due to the coaching change, has added players who can help the Pirate football program in the future.

"We signed a number of quality people. We helped ourselves in some areas," Baker said. "I feel we've signed two exceptional quarterback prospects."

ECU added three players who are listed as quarterbacks with all of them having an impressive list of past accomplishments.

Heading the way is Berke Holtzclaw, a 5-10, 165-pound quarterback from Valdosta, Ga. Holtzclaw quarterbacked the No. 1 high school team in the nation, as voted by the USA Today. As a two year starter, Holtzclaw led Valdosta high to a 15-0 mark his senior season, while passing for 1,400 yards.

Another bright prospect for the Pirates at the quarterback position is Brad Walsh, who guided his Summerville High School team to three straight state championships, amassed a 40-2 record as a starting quarterback. Walsh was the starter for the South Carolina team in the 1984 Shrine Bowl and was highly recruited by Clemson and North Carolina. During his senior year, Walsh threw for 13 touchdowns and passed for 1,150 yards.

Travis Hunter is the third signal caller the Pirates added in the 1985 recruiting campaign. Hunter hails from Winter Garden, Fla., where he earned team MVP honors two consecutive seasons. As a senior, he passed for 732 yards and seven touchdowns while rushing for eight more scores.

Hunter, along with Holtzclaw and Walsh comprise a promising trio of quarterbacks for Coach Baker to work with.

The following is a list of the rest of the 1985 recruits, with their height, weight, position, home town and a brief summary about their high school careers.

All players will be freshmen unless otherwise noted.

Terrel Britt, 6-1, 221, linebacker, Hampton, Va. — Britt joins his brother John, who was a freshman linebacker for the Pirates last year. He earned all-district, all-region, all-Tidewater and honorable mention all-state honors. Was his team's most valuable defensive player, and captured his school's headhunter award seven of the 10 times it was given in 1984.

Carl Carney, 6-2, 235, defensive lineman, West Columbia, SC. — Carney was selected to play in the 1984 Shrine bowl and was a consensus all-State pick his senior season.

David Carr, 6-5, 220, tight end, Reisterstown, Md. — Carr was named all-Baltimore and all-county his senior season. He holds his high school's record for most receptions in a season with 30 and TD's with 11.

Steve Englehart, 6-1, 224, linebacker, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. — Englehart was named all-state, all-city, all-district, all-

Hopefully some of Art Baker's recruits will be able to help replace some of the graduating seniors like former defensive lineman Chris Santa Cruz (66) shown here.

IRS To Honor Standouts

By JEANNETTE ROTH
Staff Writer

The intramural department needs your input in deciding this year's Player and Employee of the Year.

Each month an outstanding player and employee are selected from the mass number of people involved with intramurals. They represent the department and are honored in Tennis Shoe Tidbits.

During the IRS year-end picnic, the Player and Employee of the Year will be recognized. You can help by dropping by room 204 Memorial Gym with your nomination. The following is a list of the year's Player and Employee of the month:

Players: Scott McCarroll, Nan George, Garry Allmon, Chip Bunn and Scott Powers.

Employees: Toni Kenney, San Gore, Kevin Williams, Rick Barham and Paul Moore.

Aerobic fitness instructor tryouts for the intramural department fitness program will be held April 13. Anyone interested in changing the shapes of his/her fellow East Carolinians is urged to attend.

The clinic will take place in room 108 Memorial Gym at 11-12:30 pm. Instructors are required to attend in order that they may participate in the 1985-86 program.

The IRS is recruiting students to assume leadership roles as advisory council members. The advisory council is comprised of a president and various representatives from the participation divisions within the department. Interested persons may obtain advisory council applications at the IRS office in room 204 Memorial Gym.

Drop-in and get into shape with exam time fitness classes. Mark Brunetz, Kathleen Moore, Kim Boyles and Lucy Mauger will take you on a fit trip beginning April 23 through May 1. The classes will be held in room 108 Memorial Gym at 4 pm and 5:15 pm. Shape your exam blues away!

Don't forget to sign up for this year's home-run derby to be held on the Lady Pirate softball field. Registration ends tomorrow for this year's 'slugfest'. You still have time to beat the defending champions in this all-or-nothing affair. Registration will be held in room 204 Memorial Gym.

Pirates Sweep Twinbill From American

American seemed headed toward a win several times, but the Pirates refused to fade. AU took the lead with two in the top of the first. A hit batsman, a single and a double brought in one, then a double steal gave AU a 2-0 advantage.

ECU came back right away in the bottom of the frame. Mark Shank walked, Greg Hardison doubled, then Chris Bradberry singled in both runners to tie it up.

AU went ahead with a run in the second on a double and an error for a 3-2 lead, but Bradberry and Johnson once again hit consecutive homers in the third to put the Pirates in front. Mike Sullivan then doubled and came in when Mark Cockrell deliberately got hung up between first and second to increase the ECU lead to 5-3.

The lead changed sides again in the fifth, as AU scored four runs for a 7-5 advantage. The main blow was a three-run homer by Richard Vile. American added what appeared to be an insurance run in the top of the sixth. Van Deventer relieved Boone with two on, then gave up a run on a single, but struck out the only other batter he faced to end the rally. Christopher held AU scoreless, which was just enough as it turned out.

The Pirates then tallied four runs in the bottom of the sixth to take the win, 9-8. Cockrell opened with a walk, then Shank doubled. Greg Hardison slapped a single up the center for two runs. Then after Winfred Johnson was intentionally walked, Mike Sullivan knocked in the winning run with a single.

Bradberry paced the Pirate offense, with a homer, double and single, plus a stolen base — while driving in four runs. Hardison and Sullivan went 2-4 in addition to Johnson's homer.

Van Deventer's one-third of an inning was enough to give him the win to raise his season mark to 2-0. Christopher was credited with a save.

The Pirates return to action at Harrington Field on Thursday, hosting N.C. Wesleyan in a 7 p.m. contest.

Johnson Selected Player Of The Week

ECU's Winfred Johnson was named the first ECAC South Player of the Week for the week ending April 7.

In six games during the week, Johnson batted .500 by going 10 for 20 including four home runs, two doubles and 18 runs batted in.

The junior from Elizabethtown, NC, broke the school's previous single-season RBI record of 46. With his 19th homer of the year, he broke ECU's single-season home run mark of 18 — which he set last year. And in just his junior season, Johnson has already surpassed the career total bases record for any Pirate baseball player.

Johnson followed Chris Perry's single with another to make it 7-0.

American's lone run came in the top of the second on a fly to two singles and a double.

The nightcap the Pirates pushed to the limit, but edged American 9-8 in a game that featured improved hitting and fewer errors by both sides. It took three ECU hurlers to finally get out the AU batsmen, who led off with eight hits, including two doubles and a homerun.

starter Daniel Boone struck for all eight of the AU runs before giving way to Craig Van Deventer in the sixth. Van Deventer gave up a single, then the AU scoring threat with a double.

Christopher, ECU's ace pitcher in the first game, then pitched in the last inning to fan the Pirates and hold AU error. For the Lady Bucs, the game was 1-3. Ozment went 1-3 and Phyllis went 1-3.

April 5, 1985

A rain storm cancelled the St. Invitational Tournament. Coach Sue Manahan led a doubleheader with the Cavaliers of the University of Virginia.

opener, two Lady Pirate pitchers in the fifth inning was to defeat UVA 2-1 behind the bat of Pam Young.

In the fifth, after Jeannie Murphree and stole second, Murphy sacrificed her to Murray then scored on a Franks' single. Franks that Murray did and stole base as well. Young led with a single that scored from second.

Lady Pirates fell short in the final game by the score of 1-0. Young picked up the loss.

Boyette started on the mound for the Pirates. She went 4-0 before being relieved by Young.

In the sixth innings the score was 1-0. Both teams scored one run in the eighth and ninth.

In the tenth, UVA scored with four runs to take advantage. ECU came out in the bottom of the frame short by two runs.

Lady Pirates are now scheduled to play on Thursday April 18.

Baker's Initial Recruiting Class Profiled

Continued from page 10. summit and all-league for his play in his senior season. He played on two state championship teams in four years.

Joe Holmes, 6-4, 220, defensive end, Manteo, NC. — Lettered four years in football, three in basketball and two years in track. He was all-conference and all-Albemarle in both 1983 and 1984.

Mike Gainey, 6-0, 210, tight end, Suffolk, Va. — Gainey is the only junior-college player the Pirates signed this year. While at Ferrum junior college, Gainey was a second team all-conference pick and was a first team all-regional all star.

Willie Lewis, 5-9, 175, running back, Valdosta, Ga. — Lewis was the starting halfback on the No. 1 high school team in the nation at Valdosta High School where he was a teammate of Berke Holtzclaw. Lewis gained over 800 yards his senior year and was named a first team all-state selection by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

Compton McCurry, 6-1, 220, linebacker, Summerville, SC. — McCurry along with teammate Brad Walsh, played on three straight state championship teams. McCurry was named all-state, and captained the South team in the North-South all-star game.

Reggie McKinney, 5-10, 185, running back, Mt. Olive, NC. — McKinney rushed for over 2,000 yards as a senior at Southern Wayne High School. Was named both all-state and all-east and played in the North Carolina-South Carolina Shrine bowl game.

Lynn Porcher, 6-2, 189, defensive back, Rembert, SC. — Porcher played quarterback and free safety in high school but will be a defensive back at ECU. He played in the 1984 Shrine bowl and was named all-state and all-area in addition to being named to the all-southern team by the Orlando Sentinel.

Cedric Ray, 6-3, 215, linebacker, Fayetteville, NC. — Ray was all-conference, all-county and an honorable mention all-east selection in 1984. He was a three-year starter at E.E. Smith High School.

Steve Salva, 6-3, 235, lineman, Dunwoody, Ga. — Salva was picked as one of the top fifty prospects in Georgia, and was selected to play in the Georgia all-star game. Started both ways in leading his high school to their first two playoff appearances in his junior and senior seasons. Stewart Southall, 6-1, 248, offensive line, Milledgeville, Ga. — Southall earned all-city honors his senior year and was selected as one of the top-15 prospects in central Georgia.

Ricky Torrain, 5-9, 170, defensive back, Rougemont, NC. — Torrain was an all-mid-state selection both his junior and senior year at Orange High School, where he helped the panthers to a conference co-championship.

Tim Wolter, 6-3, 190, defensive back-punter, Wendell, NC. — Wolter holds the state record for most interceptions in a season with 13 in 10 games. Was an Associated Press first team all-state selection, and was an honorable mention all-America pick by the USA Today.

A MESSAGE FROM THE RECORD BAR FAMILY

MUSIC CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE

The music community has come together in a fight to save lives and relieve suffering. You have given your time, talents, and resources to the cause of African Relief. And you have shown the world the power of music to benefit humanity.

To the artists who spearheaded this vital project, to CBS Records, and to the many people whose support and generosity have made it a reality—thank you. All of us in the Record Bar family are proud to be part of this effort.
