With the aid of computers like the one above the on-line registration system makes registering for classes a far less time consuming process than the one that has confronted students in the past which sometimes requirted waiting in line for hours.

If a student does not receive a course because all sections are closed and the course is required for the student (no alternates allowed), the student may obtain a partial schedule and seek special permission to be added to the course from the department involved. Registration will be completed in the department granting such special permission.

A drop/add period will continue to be scheduled at the beginning of each semester. Students may change their schedules at that time with their advisor's approval if the chage is precipitated by failing a course, not completing a prerequisite, completion of course since registration, course or section being cancelled or having a partial schedule.

Old System Inefficient

New On-Line System Big Improvement

By ELIZABETH PAGE

It is that time of the year again. Time to visit the advisor, and decide what classes are needed to graduate.

Fortunately, some students don't remember the hassel associated with the old process of preregistration — the lines, the cards, and the waiting. However, those who do remember the old system remember the fear of not endless hours.

ing in Communications, "I only wish that the system would have been here earlier."

According to Assistant Registrar Bobbie Austin. students as well as faculty like the new system, which has only been in effects since Spring 1985. "The new system is much quicker than the old system," said Austin, "the students just like it better."

One of the biggest problems with the old system of getting the desired class, or the preregistration was the fact that possibility of standing in the student didn't know if he got drop/add for what seemed his course. Under the new system, the student knows "Preregistration is a breeze whether or not he got his course compared to previous years," immediately. "The only way a said Lisa Huggins a senior major- student wouldn't get a course is if the section was cancelled," said Austin. "Knowing what course you have right away is the biggest advantage of the new system," added Austin.

Knowing what course a student has right away is not the only advantage of the system, according the Austin. The new system also helps to eliminate those lenghty lines at drop/add. Under the new system, there are only a few ways that a student can go through drop/add. According to Austin, a student can go through drop/add only if he failed a course, didn't complete a prerequisite, previously completed the couse, or an has an impartial schedule. "The only other way to go through drop/add is to get special permission from Dean Baily, Dean of the General College," said Austin.

One of the problems of the system is the fact that is doesn't guard against a student getting a class without the proper prerequisites. Austin said that it is up to the student and his advisor to insure nothing like this happens. Plans in the future call for such a guard on the system, added Austin.

Students will find 50 terminals located on campus to serve their preregristration needs.

LOOKING FOR THE PERFECT GIFT?

If you could buy time, this is the closest you'll ever get. An IBM Personal Computer can polish and fine tune your output. As the quality of your time goes up — your commitment of time decreases. It will allow you to go home for the holidays — guilt free. That's a real gift!

All Natura

You can be sure any choice from our wide selection of natural food products is a quality item that has been carefully chosen because it meets our standards of freshness and purity. We believe food should be whole. That it remains as close to its natural state as possible to ensure all the valuable nutrients are intact.
