

SHERMAN D. PARKER, JR.

I embrace my diversity through my everyday actions—from how I dress to how I interact with people. I celebrate the many dimensions of my life through my creative outlets such as writing and my drag performances. Being a bisexual, African-American, Christian male may seem like a hard road to travel but, with the support of my family, my friends, and my boyfriend, my life has never felt more full and enriched with color and truth.

Sherman is a senior majoring in Industrial Technology.
