

People sometimes falsely assume I'm weak when I say my superpowers are love and faith. I am inspired by the latest Wonder Woman when she says "only love can truly save the world. So now I stay, I fight, and I give for the world I know can be." As someone who loves the LGBTQ community, I vow to stay with you and fight for you, and give my time, talent, and treasure to create the world I know can be. A world where we can all live boldly, safely, lovingly, and wholly in our true, authentic identities. However, I will still be here, educating those who have ongoing questions about the LGBTQ community.

Ashley Cleland

Pronouns: She/Her/Hers

Intercultural Affairs

Associate Director for the Women and Gender Office