See Boswell, Speight & Co's advertisement.

Notwithstanding the weather is bad the warehouses have had fair breaks to-day.

Mr. R. L. Humber is preparing to build a new residence on the corner near his present home.

We hear of several inquiries about houses from people coming to Greenville the first of the year.

Mr. J. L. Wooten's handsome residence is nearly completed. It will be the prettiest house in town.

The Board of County Commissioners will visit the county home for the aged and infirm next Saturday.

Mr. John S. Harris, near Falkland, lost a gin house and twenty-five bales of cotton by fire one night last week.

Look Leg Bail,

Thursday a colored man named Jim Staton was being tried before B. S. Sheppard, Esq. for larceny. The negro attempted to escape by running and was pursued by Deputy Sheriff H. T. King and Mr. L. B. Harding who fired a few shots at him. Jim was captured near the bridge.

GOLD! GOLD!!

It Has Been Found in Greenville.

We have always thought that Greenville was a gold mine, if properly worked, but had no idea that the shining metal itself was hid beneath the soil of our hustling little town. But it seems to be so. Mr. G. W. Hodges, of Hyde county, was sinking an artesian well on the premises of Maj. L. C. Latham, and when at a depth of 147 feet shining particles like gold came out with the earth and water. Mr. Hodges gathered up samples of the metal and will send them to an assayer for examination.

Married.

CONGLETON-KEEL - At the residence of Mr. W. T. Keel, in Carolina township, on Wednesday afternoon, 5th inst, Mr. H. F. Congleton and Miss Hattie Keel were married by W. R. Williams, Esquire. They were attended by Mr. R. O. Congleton and Miss Allie Keel, Mr. J. T. Keel and Miss Jessie Rawls, Mr. W. E. Fleming and Miss Vickie Everett, Mr. Joe Everett and Miss Della Roberson. After the ceremony the bridal party went to the groom's father's, Mr. H. S. Congleton, where supper was served and a reception held.

Wonderful Curiosity.

As great a curiosity as we ever saw was brought the REFLECTOR Monday night by Mr. S. M. Daniel. A colored man was opening some oysters for him, and when one of the shells was parted instead of containing the usual oyster he found a live fish about three inches long. The fish resembled the variety known as drum fish, and had eaten every particle of the oyster. We tried to keep the fish alive but it died during the night.

Rain last night and gloomy to day.

DAILY REFLECTOR.

D. J. WHICHARD, Editor.

Subscription 25 cents per Month.

Entered as second-class mail matter.

In speaking yesterday of the field officers recently elected for the First Regiment of the State Guard, we should have also stated that Mr. W. B. Rodman, of Washington, was elected Colonel.

The Western North Carolina Conference held at Statesville, adjourned to meet at Reidsville next year. There are 191 local preachers in the Conference, 63,951 whites and 64 colored members. The total amount raised during the year was over $165,000. The summing up showed there was a total deficit in salaries of $17,000—that much less paid than was assessed for the support of the ministry. There were 2,205 infants baptized during the year. Sixty-two Epworth Leagues have been organized in the State.

Major H. Harding, who has filled the Register's office for the past two years has been one of the best officers Pitt county ever had. Not the slightest complaint was ever heard while he was in the office. He was at all times courteous and obliging to everybody. He leaves the office in perfect order with all the work well done, and with the respect and confidence of the entire citizenship of the county. It ought to be a pleasure to everybody to honor such a man. In every station of life Maj. Harding is a true man and has the esteem of everybody.

It is always refreshing to meet a cheerful man—one who looks on the bright side and always takes everything as happening for the best. Such a man is Elder Samuel Moore, of Bethel. He called in for a social chat with the REFLECTOR man on Monday, and when the conversation turned to late political reversals he said, "Oh! the Democratic party is not hurt by the recent defeat. It can no more be kept down than can truth be crushed to the earth and kept there. Its principles are as lasting and as bright as gold—the more you rub the brighter it shines. And we need a little rubbing sometime to make us shine the brighter." Comforting words these, and every whit true. Our good friend carries a level head on the financial question, too.

Methodist Preachers Are Heroes.

Talk about preachers if you will, the man who goes to Conference with twenty dollars in his pocket as the net proceeds of his year's work, gives three-fourths of that to help another preacher buy a horse, laughs half the week over his own troubles, and cries the other half over other people's and then stands up without a murmur and receives his orders to move two hundred miles to a broken-down, fifty-cents-on-the-dollar circuit—if that man is not a hero, it is because the age of heroes has never come.—Richmond Christian Advocate.

In a few days 50 more convicts will be sent from the Penitentiary to the farm on the Roanoke, making the number there over 1,000. This great force of convicts will be kept on the farms all the winter.

Two of a Kind Wanted.

A farmer living up Crosby Creek, a small stream running near this city, is dissatisfied with his faithful beasts of burden and has posted the following notice in a certain business place on the outskirts of the city: "Notis—Wanted to trade a hoss for a mule, or a mule for a hoss. don't make difference which. The idee is that I have got a mule and a hoss, and I want two of a kind. Appli to Mr. —, Crosby Creek. —Buffalo Times.

Cotton in the Fields.

The people in this section do not remember to have seen so much unpicked cotton in the fields as there is now in this county. Usually at this season of the year the fields are picked clean, but you can drive in any direction now and see field after field white with cotton. Low prices has been one cause for the delay in picking and a good crop has been another cause for the remaining cotton in the fields.—Weldon News.

A Curious Little Mill.

A water clock and a sun-dial, this last marked out on the side of his landlady's house when he went to boarding-school, were made by Sir Isaac Newton, who as a little boy was always inventing something. He contrived a curious little mill, the arms of which were made to move by a pair of mice imprisoned in the mill's tower. Though for a time at school he was rather a lazy boy, when later he went to live on his mother's farm, he shirked his daily duties often to stop and build wonderful little waterwheels by a brook's side and lie under a shady hedge and study out long mathematical problems.

The course of 1894 is almost run. Are you making arrangements to commence the new year with a clean balance sheet? You cannot do this if any of your obligations remain unfulfilled.—Salisbury Herald.

What sort of morality is that which satisfies itself in the non payment of a debt because the creditor is presumed by the debt or not to need what the debt calls for?
